AUCTION

SATURDAY, FEB. 26 10:30 A.M.

MR. VIRGIL DEBORD'S 30 HEAD OF HOLSTEIN CATTLE

Located just off Hwy. 461 (The Somerset Road) on the Debord Rd. Watch for the signs.

Since Mr. Debord has changed his farming plans he has decided to sell these cattle at auction. This herd consists of 30 head of Wisconsin heifers to freshen with first calf. They were raised locally on the farm and are approximately 25 to 30 months old. Most are heavy spinners and will calve shortly. Others are bred to calve later. Some of these heifers are bred to a Holstein bull, others are bred to a Hereford bull and could be used to run with calves.

These heifers would make excellent replacement or additional cows for a dairy herd. All cows will have been tested and vaccinated and have necessary health papers by sale day.

If you're in the market for some good heifers don't miss this sale!
Terms - Cash or Good Check

Canned Beans Solve Budget Blues

Putting money aside in separate envelopes is a great way to make sure you've enough for all those incoming bills. But, there's always one envelope that seems to be neglected. That's the one marked FOOD.

When you find there's not much left to spend in the grocery store, you have to watch every penny. Canned bean products can be your best menu friends in times like these.

For instance, turn what's left of Sunday's chicken dinner into savory individual casseroles. All you need is a little leftover chicken and cranberry sauce. Combined with a can of Home Style Pork & Beans, you've a main dish that's hearty enough to please any hungry man.

CHICKEN-BERRY CASSEROLES

- 3/4 cup chopped celery
  - 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
  - 1/2 cup packaged herb-seasoned stuffing mix
  - 1 can (16 ounces) Campbell's Home Style Pork & Beans
  - 1/2 cup cubed cooked chicken
  - 1/4 cup whole berry cranberry sauce
- In saucepan, cook celery in butter until tender; stir in stuffing mix. Meanwhile, combine remaining ingredients. Pour into two individual baking dishes (10-ounce size). Stuffing mixture around edges of dishes. Bake at 400° F. for 20 minutes or until hot. Makes 2 servings.

One out of three families will have someone in the hospital this year—and it may not be your neighbor.

You don't plan on it. But shouldn't you plan for it?

Plan your family's protection with Blue Cross® and Blue Shield® quality health care protection to help meet today's health care costs.

BLUE CROSS offers a variety of plans that pay from $25 to $40 a day toward your hospital room, plus comprehensive benefits that pay in full all covered hospital services.

BLUE SHIELD has two plans. Schedule C provides allowances up to $270 and Schedule D provides allowances up to $405 for surgical expense, both include in-hospital medical, x-ray and anesthesia allowances.

With comprehensive Blue Cross and Blue Shield, Schedule C or D, you are eligible to apply for additional protection available through the Extended Benefits Endorsement. This Endorsement adds and increases specified benefits out-of-hospital, during hospitalization and following hospitalization.

"Programs" are available for college students, growing families (includes maternity benefits), individuals, even a plan for those over 65 that supplements but does not duplicate Medicare. Send today for details of the plans that fit your needs. No obligation—No salesman will call.

VOLUME 83 - NUMBER 23

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1972

City Council Meets

The Mt. Vernon City Council met Monday night with only routine items of business on the agenda.

The Council voted to sell the Scout truck of the Water Department to John Houston for his high bid price of $15,000; voted to ask the Department to install a flashing light at the site of the new high school; approved the renewal of a lease with the L & N Railroad for the parking lot site at $50 per year for the five years and also voted to hire the street sweeper presently employed and to hire a man for $200 who will furnish his own help and truck.

ATTEND THE JAYCEES GRADE SCHOOL TOURNEY

Last Tuesday night, seven parking meter heads were stolen on Church Street and this occurrence prompted a discussion by the Council on buying additional meters. The seven meter heads stolen had been supplied not too long ago and Clifford Pittman, city policeman, told the Councilmen that the take on all the meters was probably between $5 and $10. The Council then authorized Water Department Superintendent Jack R. Craig to make a trip to Richmond, Indiana to see about the purchase of about 50 used meter heads which are being sold for $10.00 each.

Wild Rivers Bill Goes To Senate

A revamped version of last session's ill-fated "wild rivers" bill successfully passed the Senate and was sent to the House for final approval. The bill, approved unanimously, would classify certain sections of the Cumberland, Red, Rockcastle, and Green rivers for preservation in their natural state.

Last session an almost identical bill was introduced but weakened with amendments, never passed.

Senate Majority Leader Walter (Ope) Huddleston, D-Ellisabethown, who introduced the new bill, said it would "preserve for future generations some of the magnificent beauty that we're blessed with here in Kentucky."

Under the measure the commissioner of Natural Resources would have two years to determine how much space to include within the stream areas.

The commissioner then would be empowered to acquire the land which would be excluded from all strip logging, timber cutting, dredging and construction in the area.

Any stream included in the system then could become part of the National Wild and Scenic Rivers system.

Tigers Down Tigers! Now Who's Best In District?

The Brodhead Tigers really showed their stuff Tuesday night when they defeated the Clay County Tigers 54 to 47 in a game that was close all the way until the final minutes of the fourth quarter. Fans from Brodhead, Mt. Vernon and Livingston were on hand to fill the packed home gym.

They knew would be a thrilling game and they weren't disappointed.

The Clay County Tigers are ranked 19th in the state and were a 21-point favorite over Brodhead, but Coach Bill Riddle and his team showed that they don't believe in laying down and playing dead for any team. Brodhead took the opening tip-off and were never headed in the game except once by one-point, 29-28. The lead was never big for Brodhead, mostly one or three points although at one time in the first half they were ahead by five. But the Tigers just stuck to their game plan of a "stall offense" as Coach Riddle put it and refused to play Clay County's run and shoot "saw saw" strategy.

No one player can be singled out for game honors, since they all did so well what they do best but Clayton Cash must be mentioned for his ball-handling, Tommy Mullins for his beautiful rebounds, Terry Burton for his excellent outside shooting and Ronnie Brown and Dennis Harris for their consistent play. The starting five, incidentally, went all the way for the win.

Brodhead was on top by three (15-12) at the first-quarter stop; by two (on a beautiful long last minute shot by Terry Burton) at half time (27-25); by one at the end of the third quarter (37-36) and really hit it on in the final minutes, when they led by as much as eight points, for the

Gunshot Fatal To Bennett D. Lear, 36, Bill Cox Charged

Bennett Dean Lear, 36, of 109 Leader Avenue in Lexington, was fatally shot about 6:15 p.m. Friday night at the Cox Saddle and Gun Shop in Brodhead.

Charged with willful murder in the shooting is Bill Cox of Brodhead. Cox is lodged in the Rockcastle County Jail without bail pending an examining trial scheduled for 9 a.m., Friday morning.

According to Rockcastle County Coroner Bill Dowell, Lear was shot once in the neck with a .38 caliber Smith-Wesson special pistol. Dowell listed the cause of death as a massive hemorrhage due to a severed left jugular vein due to a gunshot wound.

Witnesses to the shooting were Woodrow Cromer, Woodrow Wilson and Mr. Cox's wife.

Mr. Lear was born in Rockcastle County November 4, 1935, the son of Chas and Mattie Frith Lear of Brodhead.

His father's parents, he is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Taylor Lear of Lexington three sons, Michael

Basketball Tourney Begins Feb. 29 At Clay

Fourth District Basketball Tournament play gets underway Tuesday night, February 29 at 7:30 p.m. when the Livingston-Boyle take on last year's tournament winner Jackson County at Clay County, this year's site of the tournament.

Brodhead will take on Oneida and Mt. Vernon will meet Amvillia at 7 p.m. and 8:45 p.m., respectively on Wednesday night in the second round of tournament action.

The championship game will be played Saturday night at 7:30 p.m.

Admission to the games will be $1.00 per person. There will be no advance ticket sales.

The trailer home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bradley was heavily damaged by fire, smoke and heat about 10 a.m. Monday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Bradley, nor any of their children, were at home at the time of the fire. The fire apparently started in the center of the trailer which was located on Fairground Hill outside of the city limits of Mt. Vernon. The County Fire Department extinguished the blaze. There will be a benefit show at the Combs Grand Theatre Monday night to aid the family. Admission will be any donation (clothes, food, etc.) to the family.

Frankfort Watchline

"I got a call yesterday from a fellow in northern Kentucky who asked if I minded if he put out about a thousand bumper stickers with my name on 'em. I said I was all right, it's okay with me."
That came recently from a Kentuckian who says he'd be the best candidate for the Republican nomination to the United States Senate among those whose names are being tossed around.
And what makes Kentucky House of Representatives

Minority Leader Harold DeMarcus mad is that he hasn't been seriously considered by those looking for potential candidates.
As ex-Governor Louie Nunn looks more and more to be out of it by his own choice, DeMarcus is sounding more and more like a candidate. He gives apparent front-runner Robert Gable, a Nunn Administration commissioner for 21 months, poor grades as a choice to replace retiring John Sherman Cooper.

DeMarcus says Gable has a lot going against him... a millionaire coal operator from Eastern Kentucky, born and raised in New York... a relatively short stint in public office... and what DeMarcus calls a "reputation factor."
The 58-year old veteran of 9 years in the Kentucky Legislature says a recent re-election poll taken on Republicans in state politics showed him running a close second behind Louie Nunn. "They didn't know what it was I did in many cases," he concedes, "but they knew I was in Frankfort... and they knew my name and that's important."

And the Stanford banker-farmer feels he could beat Gable hands down in a head-to-head race.

But will he run for sure? "I'm waiting till the end of the legislative session and see how I look then in terms of support. I'm not a rich man... course I'm not actually poor either... but I don't want to break myself if this thing doesn't look pretty good by then. I've got to see some daylight."

HISTORICAL VOLUME—Gov. Wendell H. Ford was recently presented with a special copy of "Valley of the Ohio," a Kentucky history of the period 1748 to 1791, by renewed early historian Mann Butler, Jr. of the Kentucky Historical Society, presented the manuscript, never previously offered in book form, to the governor. (C. Mitchell Photo)

all streams, both interstate and intrastate in Kentucky.
Approved 37-0, the measure now goes to the House for final passage.
Sen. Scott Miller, Jr., R-Louisville, introduced the bill and said it contains "the same quality standards just have been adopted by the Water Pollution Control Commission for interstate streams."
He added there is presently some doubt whether the standards also would apply to intrastate streams and the bill "would establish uniform water quality standards throughout the state."
Comparison of Scott's bill with existing water quality regulations shows it is weaker in some areas, more strict in others.
Scott's measure is more lenient in the size of industrial waste "outfalls" allowed and in maximum water temperature standards.
However, the bill would allow less acidity and require streams to be "free of" substances which form sludge deposits while current standards say only "substantially free of" such substances.
Panel Approves Ethics Measure
The House State Government Committee favorably reported out a financial disclosure bill for state legislators and elected officials.
One of several measures introduced this session to upgrade the General Assembly, the measure roughly corresponds with a legislative ethics code introduced by Sen. Tom Carroll, R-Danvers.
Under the measure all legislators, officials elected statewide, Court of Appeals and circuit judges, commonwealth attorneys or candidates for these offices, would be required to file annual financial reports with the Kentucky Registry of Election Finance.
Failure to file a report, or filing fraudulent information could result in the registry voiding an election.
Those covered by the measure would have to report all interests of more than $1000 held by themselves or their spouses. Also, they would be required to list various offices, directorships or employment except ties with religious, political or charitable organizations.
The bill now goes before the full House for approval.

ATTENTION FARMERS

If you don't lime it, why plant it

Why Soils Need Lime

Only a few crops grow well on acid soils because they require calcium and magnesium which are replaced by applications of agricultural limestone. This material not only corrects the soil acidity, but also supplies the plants with the needed calcium and frequently magnesium.

Soil pH, which is a measure of the acidity or alkalinity of the soil, affects the availability of all elements which influence crop production. An application of liming material to an acid soil increases the availability of plant nutrients which are important to crop production. Among these are nitrogen, phosphate and others. Liming reduces luxury uptake of potassium by the plants and reduces the availability of aluminum and iron manganese which are harmful to plants if they are present in sufficient quantities in the soil. Liming also helps increase the number and activity of beneficial soil bacteria. It helps improve the physical condition of the soil by supplying the calcium needed by leguminous crops to increase their growth. It increases root development and permeability of the soil.

Lime is the most economical factor involved in crop production on most soils in the humid areas, as they are acid in varying degrees. The application of needed fertilizers is also one of the most economical factors in crop production. The wise use of water - both rainfall and irrigation - is still another factor involving crop production. However, the one which is most frequently passed is the application of agricultural limestone and this is the first step in a sound fertility program on most soils in the humid area. Failure to apply this material limits crop production and wastes fertilizer dollars as well as the producer's capital investment and his labor in crop production.

Kentucky Legislative Report

The Kentucky House of Representatives gave final passage to the administration-backed consumer fraud bill without change, despite an hour-long debate over two proposed amendments.
The bill, which outlawed "false, misleading or deceptive" sales practices by businesses, already has been passed by the Senate.
The debate centered around two amendments supported by the Kentucky Retail Federation.
The first would have ruled out using the law in class-action suits in which a lawyer uses a business in behalf of a large group or "class" of consumers.
The second amendment would have made it more difficult for the attorney general to obtain injunctions against questionable business practices.
Backers of the bill said the amendments would only weaken the measure and delay its passage.
Both amendments were defeated and the bill passed 78-13.

Miss Lamb Wins Essay Contest

Marcia Lamb, Route 3, Mt. Vernon, was the winner of the Conservation Essay Contest for 1971. She was recognized as the winner at a dinner meeting at Broadhead High School, Friday night February 11, by Lloyd Cain, treasurer of the Rockcastle County Soil Conservation District Supervisors. Miss Lamb will receive a $25.00 United Savings Bond for her first place award. This Savings Bond is given by Radio Station W.H.A.S., The Courier Journal and the Louisville Times.

Other winners to the high school were second place, Clinton Winstead, Broadhead, $10.00; and third award, $7.50 went to Catherine Vesta Allen of Livingston.

Winners of the grade school awards were Susan Poyner, Blue Springs, and Shellia Faye Robinson, Livingston. They received $7.50 and $5.00, respectively.

These winners first had to win their school contest and then were chosen as county wide winners. Other winners of the individual school essay contests were: Bonnie Whitaker, Broadhead Grade School; Janice Ann Miller, Maple Grove; Donna Sears, Roundstone; and Martha Jane Coffey, Mt. Vernon Elementary. They received a $2.00 award for winning their own school essay contest.

The title of the essay was, "Land Use - It's Effect on our Environment." There were 1,328 essays written in the county in this twenty-eighth annual Conservation Essay Contest.

The winners were given their awards at a recognition banquet given by the Supervisors of the Soil Conservation District, and attended by the winners, their parents, teachers, and superintendent of schools, W.E. Proctor, Chairman of the District Supervisors, presided at the

Love Is... Hamatini Supreme

LOVE! Love is a juicy, red tomato. A tomato? Of course! The French call tomatoes "love apples," and it's easy to see why. Tomatoes do such lovely things to so many dishes. Pizza pies would be nowhere without them. Lasagna would look a little pale. And Hamatini Supreme just wouldn't have the same old-fashioned grated Parmesan cheese and onion, the soup is used full strength as a sauce for spiral-shaped noodles called rotini. Savory boiled ham rolls-up stuffed with a cottage cheese, spinach, and horseradish mixture are arranged over the noodles before baking. It's a truly superlative way to perk-up hum-drum menus! Love is a piping hot Hamatini Supreme!

HAMATINI SUPREME

1 can (10 1/2 ounces) Campbell's Condensed Tomato Soup
1/4 cup water
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons finely chopped ham
1 cup large curd creamed cottage cheese
1 cup cooked chopped spinach
1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
8 slices (1/2 pound) boiled ham
2 cups cooked rotini (spiral-shaped noodles)

In shallow baking dish (12x8 1/2"), combine soup, water, cheese, onion, and rotini. In small bowl, combine cottage cheese, spinach, and horseradish. Place about 1/4 cup mixture in center of each slice of ham roll-up. Arrange rolls side-by-side in baking dish. Cover with foil; bake at 400°F. For 20 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

KU To Spend $76,500,000 On Facilities In 1972

Kentucky Utilities Company will spend more than $76 and a half million dollars during 1972 on new and improved facilities to serve its nearly 270,000 electric customers.

W.A. Duncan, Lexington, KU president, said the construction program, largest in KU's 60-year history, involves mainly building and installing major facilities required for the company to maintain reliable service and adequate power reserves.

A total of $56 million dollars or 76 per cent of the 1972 construction budget is for work on the 510-megawatt generating unit at the Chest plant in Carroll County where the plant is nearing the half-way mark in its construction. It is scheduled to be in commercial operation by April, 1974. The structure of the plant will be completed this year together with most of the equipment including the electrostatic precipitator designed to eliminate 99 per cent of particulate matter in the stack emission. This air pollution-control device will cost $1,220,000. Additional clean-air protection will be provided by the 600-foot stack which is at the maximum height permitted by state aviation authorities. The exterior of the stack is completed.

Part of the 1972 expenses at the Chest plant will be in advance payments for the cooling tower to be installed at a cost of $1,000,000. The cooling tower is an environmental control device to avoid the addition of heated water to the Ohio River from the Chest plant.

Another environmental control program to get underway this year will be the installation of electrostatic precipitators on the company's generating units built during the 1950's and 1960's before electrostatic precipitators were generally considered necessary for plants outside metropolitan centers.

Electrostatic precipitators will be installed on all of KU's coal-burning units by mid-1975 at a cost of more than $14,000,000. The precipitators will replace the mechanical dust collectors which are designed to remove about 80 per cent of the particulate matter on the units at the Green River plant, near Central City, the Pineville plant, the coal-burning unit at the Tyrone plant, in Woodford County, and the first two units at the Brown plant.

The 1972 construction plans call for spending $11,303,000 for transmission and distribution lines and other facilities to strengthen and improve service to meet today's increased demands.

Capitol Digest

State revenue officials estimate the tax proposals contained in Gov. Wendell H. Ford's $3.5 billion 1972-74 budget will save the average Kentucky family about $65 per year.

The newly proposed budget would remove the current five per cent sales tax on take-home groceries and impose a two-cent-a-gallon in the state gasoline tax.

In addition it includes a five per cent severance tax on coal with a minimum of 30 cents per ton and removal of the state exemption on federal income taxes for corporations.

State Revenue Commissioner John Ross said the proposals would save a family of three $45 per year, a family of four $65 and a family of five $80. The average family of four would pay $80 less in taxes and about $15 more for gasoline, Ross said.

ENVIRONMENT--BUDGET SEEKS NEW IMPROVED REMEDIES

Gov. Wendell H. Ford recently proposed 1972-74 state budget has some new proposals to protect Kentucky's environment, and some improvements on old remedies.

Strip mining, which presumably will come under control of the proposed new Environmental Protection Commission, received the most attention.

To improve current regulatory measures, Governor Ford would add 33 new inspectors to enforce strip mine regulations because "the law is adequate, enforcement is poor."

Also the strip mine enforcement program would receive its own operating funds, ending its current partial dependence on fees collected from strip-mining applicants.

The new proposal would provide $500,000, to be matched by federal funds, to purchase, reclaim and resell "orphan land" -- areas stripped before current reclamation laws were enacted.

In other environmental areas the budget would provide increased funds to reduce air and water pollution and improve solid waste disposal.

The governor also recommended creation of a Kentucky Pollution Abatement Authority to help construct sewage treatment plants.

PUBLIC HEALTH STUDY CALLS FOR REFORMS

A study by the Kentucky Public Health Assn. indicates health care in the state is "fragmented, spasmodic and ineffective," and calls for urgent reforms.

The recently released study is based on a three-day tour of Kentucky by association officials last September and its recommendations will be given to Governor Ford and the General Assembly.

Officials participating in the study expressed shock at the conditions in some areas and not all complaints were limited to rural parts of the state. Medical care in the Louisville area also came under stiff criticism.

Among the study's recommendations were:

- Incentives to attract physicians, dentists and other health professionals to areas with dire needs.
- Regional allied health education centers for paramedical and health personnel.
- Training for minority groups in the health fields.
- Adoption of stronger housing and sanitation codes.
- Improved enforcement of strip mining regulations, violations of which threaten water supplies.

STUDY CITES FEE SYSTEM SHORTAGES

The fee system under which most of Kentucky's county officials are paid should be revamped to guarantee them a livable income, a Legislative Research Commission study says.

More money would be required because the counties' main source of income, the

TELEPHONE RATES CHANGE EFFECTIVE FEBRUARY 22, 1972

Kentucky Telephone announced today that effective February 22, 1972, there will be an over-all change on the telephone service in the Brodhead, Livingston, and Mt. Vernon exchanges.

W.W. Thomason, President of the Company, said the change is due to the calling scope (the number of telephones a customer may call toll free) having grown to over 2,251. This is the dividing line between the current and the new rates. Presently, the Brodhead, Livingston, and Mt. Vernon exchanges have a calling scope of 2,298.

The increase will be $.75 per month for private line residence customers, $.50 per month for private line business customers, $.25 per month for 2-party line and 4-party line customers, and $.50 per month for those who have multi-party service.

The present charges for extension telephones and other telephones will remain the same.

Home Line

Food Clips
 Have you ever prepared a cream soup the curdled? Curdling results when casein, a protein of milk, coagulates or clumps together. It's caused by acids in foods or a high salt content.
 Do not use whipped butter as a substitute for butter in a recipe since the curdling power is not the same for unwhipped butter.
 Save those trimmings! When boiling vegetables, put only until tender in order to insure the best flavor, color, texture, and food value. Overcooked vegetables not only look unattractive but have a marked loss of flavor and food value.
 What is beef "brisket"? It's the cut on the inside of the shank which is most frequently made into corned beef.
 Veal comes from very young animals - usually three months of age or younger. It has a grainy, lean look which is very smooth and velvety and usually has very little fat. Veal is prized for its delicate flavor.
 In general, cuts from the back of the animal are naturally "meat tender" and palatable. They include the "ribeye" or loin eye muscle - the largest muscle in the animal. The smaller one is the tenderloin.
 Now's a good time to serve your family potatoes because they included in the Consumer and Marketing Service's plentiful foods list for February. Plan to stock up on potatoes while they're plentiful supply. Store potatoes in a dark, dry place with good ventilation. The temperature should be about 45 or 50 degrees. Under these conditions, potatoes may be held for several months. Remember that potatoes cooked in their jackets retain most of their vitamin and mineral content. If you pare potatoes, keep the peels as thin as possible. And if you boil potatoes, use as little water as possible.

Clothes Buying Dilemma

You are going into a dress shop or department store to buy that dress you've been wanting. What do you look for in the dress? Ask yourself: Is the dress in my price range? does the color, fabric and design fit my wardrobe and my personality; is the material of good quality; is the construction good, seams straight, buttonholes made well, fasteners attached securely; have the raw edges been finished if needed to prevent fraying; is there room in seams or hem to alter if needed? does the tag or label give needed information including care instructions; is the dress comfortable and flattering to your figure? does the dress fit well, and how much will cleaning cost be?
 If your answer is yes to all these questions, then the chances are you have made a good buy and you will be happy with your new dress.
 Some evidences of poor quality are: seam allowance less than 1/2" seam chain stitched, top-stitching uneven, long stitching, poor tension, thread not matched, loose thread ends, holes punched at end of darts, hems of sleeves made before underarm seam, puckers in bindings or facings, skimpy pleats, uneven hems, cheap grade hem tape, sleeves tucked or do not hang straight,

Your Kitchen Stays Cooler with an Electric Range

The whole idea behind cooking is to get the food hot . . . not your kitchen or the people in it! That's why a clean, flameless electric range is your best buy for cooking comfort. A flameless electric range cooks with less heat . . . keeping your kitchen cooler and more comfortable. Your kitchen is no longer a "torture chamber" during dinners.

Electric range burners fit flush against the bottoms of pots and pans. The heat is transferred directly to the cooking surface. No flames or hot air can escape up, out, or around the side of the pan to dirty your walls or make cooking miserable. You get the heat where you want it — on the cooking utensil!

Remember . . . an electric range means safe, clean, smoke-free, flameless cooking. And because it is cooler . . . it's cooler.

Electricity — the cleanest energy you can use.

County Agent's Notes

By: H. Lee Durham
Alfalfa Making Comeback in Kentucky

With ever increasing beef cattle numbers in Kentucky bringing more and more need for high quality feed, alfalfa is making a comeback. Not since the early 1960's has there been more need to increase seedings of alfalfa in the state.

The quality and yield of this crop has never been questioned. However, for the past five years, the invasion and control of the alfalfa weevil has been a problem. Seeding in the spring is a good way to get by the establishment year without the problem of the alfalfa weevil. The weevil seldom hits new spring seedings the first year.

The best time in the spring is the best time to seed. Most farmers like to seed between March 15 and April 15, especially when making a new, clean seedbed. However, successful seedings have been made as early as February 15 when the seedings were made in a renovation program.

A well drained soil is valuable in making new seedings successful. This soil provides for the best growth of alfalfa plants. A deep top rooted system if the root growth is not restricted.

It is important to test the soil and apply needed fertilizer and lime.

Seeding alfalfa with small grain to reduce competition from weeds is no longer recommended because of the competition from the small grain species. When herbicides are used as a pre-emergent application, unless otherwise stated on the label, grass should not be seeded at the same time but rather drilled in the following fall.

A firm seedbed and good soil seed contact help provide a uniform stand. The firmness of the seedbed also controls the depth of seed. A planting depth of one-fourth to three-fourths inches should overcome irregular seeding. Each pound contains over 200,000 seeds—enough for five seeds per square foot if uniformly distributed over an acre. Under ideal conditions, 12 to 15 pounds per acre is the normal recommendation. Under less favorable conditions, such as poor timing or poor seedbed preparation, more seed is needed.

When seeding is done in the spring, it is important not to harvest the first year crop too early. Spring seedings should not be harvested for hay until late June or early July unless growth has been exceptionally good. In that case, earlier harvest at full bloom may be possible. Weeds may be a concern, but alfalfa is a perennial and will survive better than annual weeds, especially when mowed closely. To allow 45 to 60 days between the first and second harvest. A third cutting or grazing may be made after the freeze down or about November 1.

In 1971, Kentucky had a little less than 200,000 acres in alfalfa, with an average yield of 3.5 tons per acre. The yield was the best in the United States, except for the irrigated Southwest. When harvest systems are correlated with growth and maturity, and fertility is removed as a limiting factor, yields of five to seven tons per acre are not unusual in Kentucky.

A four-color brochure covering alfalfa production in detail is available at the Rockcastle County Extension Office. The brochure was produced as a joint effort of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture Cooperative Extension Service and the Certified Alfalfa Seed Council, Inc. The brochure contains information on seedbed preparation, selecting varieties, irrigation, grazing, and harvesting.

Renovate for More Hay, Better Pasture

Better pastures and more hay next spring and summer—that will be the reward of farmers who renovate their grasslands this winter. Because of the state's expanding cattle industry, there has seldom been more need to improve pastures and hay fields.

With the small amount of snow this winter, fertilizing, excellent grazing season, most Kentucky farmers have been able to leave animals out for longer than normal periods of time. Pastures have been grazed closer than at any other time in the past decade. Therefore, conventional renovation by liming and fertilizing, mechanical tillage, and smoothing and seeding of legumes will be easier this spring than in past years.

If conventional renovation is not possible due to shortage of labor, equipment or time, there is another way to get legume seed into the ground. There has been close grazing, especially of orchardgrass, timothy and bluegrass, and in many cases fence, farmers can seed the legumes after fertilizing and liming and then let the animals tramp the seed into the soil.

Seeding should be done between February 10 and March 20. A legume combination of red clover and ladino will work best for either conventional renovation or tramping. For the conventional method, six to eight pounds of certified Kentucky red clover seed and one to two pounds of ladino clover seed per acre should be used. In the top seeding method, use 10 to 15 pounds of certified Kentucky red clover seed per acre.

seedling rate should be increased by at least 50 percent.

Now is the Time to Choose Tobacco Varieties

It's time to think about choosing tobacco varieties for 1972. Selecting a variety that best meets the needs of your farm is important, according to J.H. Smiley, Extension tobacco specialist at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

If you are getting satisfactory yields and net return from your present variety, stick with it, advises Smiley. However, he recommends trying a stick-root test every year with one of the new varieties. Some may be superior or better adapted to your farm than the one you have been using.

Disease resistance should be considered in variety selection, especially if disease has been a problem. Some of the more troublesome diseases are black root rot, fusarium wilt and black shank.

If your farm has trouble with black root rot, fusarium wilt or wildfire, Smiley recommends KY 14. When black shank is present, Smiley says crop rotation is the best bet. Seed the field to grass or legumes, clean your equipment, and move to a new field. However, the disease can be controlled as a last resort if crop rotation is not possible. Black shank resistant varieties include B21 x L6, KY 12 x L6, B37 x L6, KY 14 x L6, B37 and 349.

Smiley mentioned the characteristics of some other burley varieties. He said Burley 37 is a fair yielding, broad leaf, standup type, which matures uniformly and is good quality. It is moderately resistant to black shank.

KY 14 is a standup, high yielding variety of good quality. It holds its bottom leaves and is useful where black root rot and fusarium wilt are problems.

MS Burley 21 and KY 10 is a hybrid of two acceptable and satisfactory varieties. It produces high yields of good quality smoking tobacco and has good resistance to wildfire, tobacco mosaic, and medium-low resistance to black root rot and fusarium wilt.

The Science of Chiropractic

Chiropractic is a philosophy, science and a way of things natural. It was discovered some 75 years ago by D.D. Palmer. It was a new concept in the field of healing based on the mechanical and physical approach to a disease. This discovery brought about untold changes in treatment. It has now become the second largest healing profession in the world. The Chiropractors with the use of X-Ray can find and adjust spinal subluxations in order that those trunk nerves may be free from pressure. Chiropractic has today over 30 thousand doctors in the field treating approximately 50 million people, with almost 2 million people changing to chiropractic each year. The patients with the success of chiropractic itself have definitely established the merits of this profession. Dr. James W. Blacklock is located at Trade Winds Shopping Center in Somerset, phone 679-4655 for more information.

Somerset Scrap Metal Company

Dexter Burton & Paul Hall - Owners

The Somerset Scrap Metal Company located at South End of Ferguson in Somerset, phone 679-2448 buys all kinds of scrap metal. Here they also feature an extensive selection of new and used steel. Scrap metal is worthless to the man who is just cluttering up his yard, but with little effort it can be converted into dollars in your pockets. It would be wise to take inventory your yard today and gather up all scrap metal and bring it in to the Somerset Scrap Metal Company where it can be put to good use. Almost all metal can be sold as scrap metal, so why not have the money in your pocket instead of the junk lying around. This firm has a reputation for being fair in all their dealings so you can be sure that you are doing business with a reliable firm when you come here. For former their location or price quotations or any information call them and they will be glad to assist you. The compilers of this 1972 Town and Country Review suggest you take advantage of the service offered by this trustworthy junk dealer.

QUIT KIDDING YOURSELF

Sure, we'll write you a ticket if that inspection sticker has expired. That's our job. But we can't drive the family sedan to an inspection station for the annual safety-check. That's something you'll have to do yourself. You can count on one thing though: ignoring the law might cost you a lot more than a slap on the wrist in traffic court. Did you ever experience a blowout at 70 m.p.h. on the tollway? If not, take our word for it-spend the two bucks for an inspection. It's cheaper than the price of a one-way trip to the graveyard, or facing a criminal indictment for killing someone else in a highway smash-up.

Ford's budget message draws House minority leader's fire

By State Rep. WILLIAM HAROLD DEMARCUS

IF WENDELL FORD's consumer fraud bill had passed the state legislature on Wednesday, Feb. 2, his budget message of Thursday, Feb. 3 would have been illegal.

It was false. It was deceptive. It was misleading. Of course, it was also perfectly consistent with Gov. Ford's fall election campaign.

Wendell Ford's budget message has conclusively proved that he deliberately deceived the people in his campaign for the governor's chair. No thinking citizen believes Ford could have won if he had told people then that he was going to break his promises and raise taxes by $250 million.

ITEM: Last August, candidate Ford demanded the "immediate" removal of the sales tax on food. Now, Gov. Ford proposes the tax stay on until October 1972, a course of action which is the twofold advantage of bilking the citizen for $15 million in extra taxes and minimizing the political impact of its removal for his faithful traveling companion, and J. Miller's hand-picked Senate candidate, Walter Hudspeth.

ITEM: Candidate Ford repeatedly said he "opposed any increase in taxes, period" and "Economic Ford has proposed a 40 percent increase in the corporate income tax, a 20 percent increase in the gasoline tax, an 11 per cent increase in the automobile tax, a 20 per cent increase in the income tax, and a 10 per cent increase in the individual income tax." It is this lack of intelligence or intellectual honesty that he does not know what he means when he says it.

ITEM: Less than a week before the election, candidate Ford told a statewide television audience he would not raise

Opinion

State Rep. William Harold DeMarcus, 57, R-Stanford, is minority leader of the Kentucky House of Representatives. A House member since 1964, he represents a district that takes in Lincoln and Rockcastle counties. He is a farmer, real estate appraiser and owner of the Stanford Monument Works.

This article is another in the continuing Viewpoint series in which knowledgeable persons in the region are given an opportunity to comment on current issues.

tuition at Kentucky's colleges. Gov. Ford now has proposed a tuition increase of nearly 50 percent.

ITEM: On dozens of television commercials, Candidate Ford, the self-proclaimed "proven tax cutter" assured the people that "Democratic license plates" cost just $3. This has turned out to be a lie; they still cost $12.50.

ITEM: During the campaign, candidate Ford prescribed open heart surgery for Kentucky's supposedly faltering economy. Now, they, Ford admits the economy grew a whopping 11 per cent this year and estimates growth of 9 to 10 per cent for the next two years. Either Kentucky's economy has made a remarkable recovery since November or Wendell Ford totally misrepresented the facts. In other words, he either lied in the campaign or he is lying now.

One can only speculate upon the damage that such a cavalier disregard for the truth does to a political system like ours or a political career like Julian Carroll's. The Democratic lieutenant governor is clearly concerned that his career will be ruined by the deceitful Ford budget. He has already risen up in righteous indignation to denounce Ford's gasoline tax increase. "I personally have been committed as a candidate against any increase in taxes and I mean all taxes. I am very much opposed to an increase in the gasoline tax," said the lieutenant governor.

'Carroll could help'

On the other hand, Carroll has not lifted a finger to prevent this tax, or any other, from getting through the legislature he supposedly leads. The question facing Kentucky is whether Carroll has the courage and the clout to prevent Ford's program from getting through the legislature, which the party dominates with such a huge majority. Republicans alone cannot stop Ford. But Julian Carroll can help if he has the guts.

While Carroll ponders his choice between political expediency and personal integrity, let us examine Governor Ford's deceit in somewhat more detail:

The food tax—In August 1971, Ford demanded that Governor Nunn repeal the tax on food, claiming he could pass a repeal in a "few days." Now, Ford claims he cannot implement the tax removal until he has been in office for 11 months. Yet he can implement a completely new severance tax on coal in 60 days. Also, Ford proposes to leave the tax on many food items. Under his restrictive definition of food, you are paying for items that welfare recipients can purchase with food stamps. Apparently some food that is practically free for those on welfare rolls will carry a Ford tax for working people.

The gas tax—Former Gov. Combs and former Democratic Highway Commissioner Henry Ward cautioned Kentucky's voters that additional promises of roads would mean higher taxes. Wendell Ford knew they were right. He has been in Frankfort almost continuously for the last 12 years. He has voted for the toll roads we have. But Wendell Ford has never been one to let the truth stand in the way of winning an election. He wouldn't tell the people his highway promises were so vast that it would take a 20 per cent gasoline tax increase to pay for them. Now, Ford admits he knew all along that he would have to raise this tax.

The auto tax—Ford didn't even have the courage to mention this one in his budget message to the legislature, much less in the campaign. Now, this "proven tax cutter" would have you pay a tax on the full sticker price of your car even if you actually pay far less.

The corporation tax—Ford's own tax revenue estimates indicate Kentucky experienced a great industrial boom under Gov. Nunn. One reason for this was Kentucky's favorable tax climate relative to immediately surrounding states. Ford will change all that. He will "reform" us right out of our advantage and, according to his own figures, essentially stop the increase in Kentucky's industrial growth. Perhaps this was what he meant by the campaign slogan "a break with the past."

Government re-organization—During the campaign, Ford promised to save $35 million each year by "re-organization." This has to rank with the "Veterans Bonus" as the greatest hoax in the history of Kentucky politics. The budget reflects no savings whatsoever from re-organization. It does include several hunreds of thousands of dollars for huge pay raises for Ford's new commissioners. It does include well over a million dollars for similar huge increases for other political hacks whose hiring will be facilitated by gutting the Merit System. And, wonder of wonders, the budget includes $4 million to "set up" reorganization. For the life of me, I don't understand why Ford doesn't just admit his original $35 million savings was an outrageous fabrication and save the $4 million. He might even apply it toward the teacher's retirement fund he robbed as lieutenant governor and has neglected as governor.

The Nunn surplus—Ford's own revenue estimates now show that he has inherited a $50 million surplus from Gov. Nunn. For the past few months Ford has tried very hard to make the surplus disappear. In fact, he even put it under his pillow one night in hopes the Good Fairy would take it away and leave one of J. R. Miller's false teeth behind. It didn't work. The embarrassing surplus is still there. Now Wendell Ford has had to spend it as the greatest hoax in the history of Kentucky politics. The budget can justify raising taxes to pay his political debts. There is proof of this in Ford's own budget document on page 183. Note that Ford will spend 70 per cent of the capital construction outlay for the biennium before it actually begins. That's right, he is going to use $20 million of Gov. Nunn's surplus before the next biennium even begins in a clumsy attempt to justify his broken promises.

If you are upset by these revelations, please don't write me or any other Republican member of the legislature. The Miller-Ford machine has bragged that the Republicans have so little power that we couldn't get "My Old Kentucky Home" chosen as the state song. They have such a grip on the Democratic legislators that any tax raise they want, they can get.

But a protest must be made. If a man elected on a crystal clear "no tax increase" pledge and on the basis of credibility can break his pledge and deny his credibility without protest, then the voters count for nothing. So write my Democratic colleagues who stood for re-election on candidate Ford's false promises. Write Lt. Gov. Julian Carroll who promised no tax increases. Ask them if they are going to stand by and let Ford make frauds of them, too.

You & The Draft

This week's column is good news for "draft" registrants who faced possible induction in February or March. The "Draft" boards have been instructed by Selective Service Director Curtis W. Tarr to cancel outstanding induction orders for more than 11,000 young men who are now in a postponed status. They, as well as all the 115,000 members of the 1972 extended priority selection group, become eligible to be moved into the reduced selection group, thus ending the possibility of their receiving

"draft" orders, except in the event of a national emergency. This action by the national director followed an earlier announcement by the Secretary of Defense that there will be no draft call in February or March. "Affected by the order you did not read or hear Dr. Tarr's important announcement, we are repeating it as follows: "Affected by the order on canceling induction notices are those young men whose original 1971 induction dates were postponed to the first call in 1971, or until further notice," as well as those whose postponements of induction were scheduled to terminate on a specific date prior to April 1. Initial postponements which were extended to date later than March are not affected by the directives. "The 1972 extended priority selection group consists of men who became eligible for induction in 1971, but did not receive induction notices. These men had to be at least 20 years of age and 1-A on Dec. 31, 1971, and have lottery numbers lower than RSN 126. "Under Selective Service Directives, registrants with lottery numbers lower than the highest number reached during the year (RSN 126 in 1971) who become 1-A and liable to induction too late in the year to fill draft calls have their liability to induction extended to the first three months of the following year. Thus, because there will be no draft calls in the first three months of 1972 there will be no induction from the 1972 extended priority selection group. "The Selective Service director also set RSN 200 as a temporary administrative processing ceiling for the men facing possible induction during the remaining months of 1972.

Men who reach age 20 during 1972 who are in 1-A with RSN's of 200 and above as well as older men, with RSN's of 200 and above who drop or lose deferments—will be reclassified into Class 1-H, an administrative holding category, and will not be processed any further for possible induction. "Tarr emphasized that the RSN 200 ceiling was a temporary measure and that the 1-H processing ceiling would be lowered to date later than processed. Those with RSN's above the 1-H cutoff, such as those in the 1972 pool, will be reclassified into Class 1-H and will not be considered further unless there is a major change in military manpower needs. "This action in no way relates to the lottery drawing held Feb. 2, 1972, since that lottery dealt with registrants eligible for induction in calendar year 1971."

Each registrant whose induction order is canceled will be receiving a letter from his local board informing him of the cancellation. If your induction was postponed and you have been required to report for induction prior to April 1972, and you don't receive such notification shortly, we recommend you contact your local board. *****
