Baker & Williams

Raymond Baker - Dennis Williams - Owners

In this day and age when every car maker has such a wide selection of models to choose from, it is really difficult for you to decide where to go for a new car. All the companies advertise that their cars are the best, but who is to say which car really is. Obviously all the cars on the market today must have their good points and they wouldn't have survived the ups and downs of the business. We, therefore, can conclude that the real difference in buying a car is the dealer you buy it from.
The ideal dealer to buy a car from offers a fair price on the new unit, as well as an honest dealer for the car you trade in. However, the most important factor is the service that you receive on your new car year after year.
The writers of the 1972 Review would like to point out a dealer that considers the most important part of selling a car the quality service he can offer you after the sale. We are talking about Baker & Williams at U.S. 25 North in Berea, phone 986-3173, dealers of the famous Buick-Oldsmobile-Motors automobiles and International trucks. See them today for a new or quality used car, and you'll see why we say "Customer Consideration" is their byword.

By stocking only items manufactured by well established and only recognized home furnishing concerns, they have won and held the confidence of their many patrons. They now serve the people of this area, and we, the writers, clients of satisfied customers.
No progress report would be complete without recommendation to the people of this area, and we, the writers, do so in our 1972 Town and Country Review.

AAU Tournament To Be Held At Laurel Co. HS

By Dave Thompson
State News Bureau

FRANKFORT, Ky.—For the second consecutive year, the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) has voted to hold its national championship basketball tournament at the Laurel County High School gymnasium in London. The dates for the event are March 24-28.

Last year's tournament in London was the first try at smaller communities by the AAU. Previously, they had gone to larger cities but limited public response resulted in the meet being moved several times.

The London Boosters Club made the bid for the 1971 tourney and the turnout so impressed the AAU, that they offered London a second tournament.

"We had a packed house for four sessions," said Joe Brown of the local newspaper, the Sentinel-Echo.

Lawrence Kuhl, director of the Boosters Club, told AAU officials before last year's tournament that the Southeastern Kentucky residents were "basketball-loving" and he said, "they were excited when they were over."

"Why, the crowd cheered more for this tournament than they do in college or professional basketball," Kuhl said.

AAU officials are seeking a permanent home for the event. Kuhl said it is still being held on a year-to-year basis. "If we have the turnout this year like we did in 1971, they may offer it to Laurel County again in 1976."

Special attention will be placed on the tournament this year since the Olympics will be held this summer and the United States is sending a 10-man team to Russia in April on a good-will tour.

Kuhl said, "The 10-man squad will be chosen from the players in this tournament and some Olympic players will also be selected."

Kuhl didn't overlook the fact that professional scouts will also appear for future draft choices. Last year, the scouts included Ray Auerbach of the Boston Celtics and Wayne Embry, of the Cincinnati Royals.

Although 16 teams will compete in the five-day tournament, only five have been invited for the meet. The other teams won't be known until early March, when the regional tournaments are held.

Those already selected include Marathon Oil and the Southeastern All-Stars, both of Kentucky, the All-armed Forces team (the defending champs), an NAIA all-star team and California Junior College All-Stars.

Marathon Oil, runners-up in last year's meet, recently returned from Brazil where they won the intercontinental Cup against Russia, Poland and Brazil. Their attack features former University of Kentucky stars John Adams and Scotty Basler and Cecil Tuttle and Kenny Davis, who played for Georgetown College.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

- Q) I sold my home last December at a $5,000 profit. Do I have to report this as income when I file my 1971 return?
- A) Not, if, within one year before or after the sale you buy and occupy another residence that costs as much or more than the sales price of the old residence. Additional time is allowed if you construct the new residence or you were on active duty in the U.S. Armed Forces. In such a case, the tax is postponed, not forgiven. Any gain not taxed in the year you sell your old residence is subtracted from the cost of the new residence giving you a lower basis to be used in the event of a later disposition. If you sell the new residence in a later year, and again replace it, under similar circumstances, any tax on the gain you realize may continue to be postponed.
- Q) I won a new car last year in a radio contest. Do I have to pay tax on this prize?
- A) Yes. Prizes and awards got free in goods or services must be included in value at their fair market value.
- Q) I paid my daughter's medical insurance premiums last year. Do I include these premiums in the amount of support I furnished her when figuring out whether or not I can claim her as a dependent?
- A) Yes. You may include as an item of support medical insurance premiums you paid, as well as other expenditures you made for her medical and dental care. However, the benefits received from medical insurance policies are not included in support.
- Q) After four years of attending college full-time and working part-time to help pay for it, I graduated last year and took a full-time job. Can I use income averaging to reduce my tax?
- A) Before you can consider income averaging, a basic requirement is that you must have furnished 50 percent or more of your own support during each of the four years prior to 1971. IRS Publication 506, "Computing Your Tax Under the Income Averaging Method," explains all the details of income averaging. It's available free by dropping a postcard to your IRS district office.
- Q) I used to recover damages for injuries I incurred in an auto accident. I settled for $7,500 before we ever got to trial. Is the $7,500 tax-free?
- A) Yes if it is compensation for personal injury or illness. Such compensation is not taxable, whether you receive it after trial or through settlement.
- Q) Where can I get a copy of the IRS Booklet, "Your Federal Income Tax?"

- A) You can buy it for 75 cents at larger Postal Service stations, IRS district offices, and branch bookstores of the U.S. Government Printing Office throughout the country, or by mail from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.
- Q) Are there any limits on how much you can deduct as a charitable contribution?
- A) Yes. In general, contributions to most charities, such as churches, educational organizations, hospitals, etc., may be deducted up to 50 percent of your adjusted gross income. However, contributions to certain private non-operating foundations, veterans organizations, fraternal societies, and cemetery organizations are limited to 30 percent of adjusted gross income. The organization itself can tell you which of the two categories it falls into.
- There are also certain limitations on contributions of property, such as stock. For details, see IRS Publication 526, "Income Tax Deduction for Contributions," available free from your IRS district office.
- Q) I had two jobs last year and I think my employer withheld too much for Social Security. How can I get this back?
- A) If you worked for two or more employers during 1971 and received more than $7,800 of wages subject to Social Security tax, you are entitled to claim the excess Social Security tax withheld as a credit against your income tax. Check your tax return instructions for information on how to compute the credit.

Your Kitchen Stays Cooler with an Electric Range

The whole idea behind cooking is to get the food hot in your kitchen or the people in it! That's why a clean, flameless electric range is your best buy for cooking comfort. A flameless electric range cooks with less heat... Keeping your kitchen cooler and more comfortable. Your kitchen is no longer a "torture chamber" during dinners.

Electric range burners fit flush against the bottoms of pots and pans. The heat is transferred directly to the cooking surface. No flames or hot air can escape up, out, or around the side of the pan to dirty your walls or make cooking miserable. You get the heat where you want it — on the cooking utensil!

Remember... an electric range means safe, clean, spume-free, flameless cooking. And because it's electric... it's cooler.

Electricity — the cleanest energy you can use.

Capitol Digest

G. Wendell H. Ford announced the appointment of Charles J. Holmes, formerly of Jeffersonville, Ind., as the new commissioner of Corrections, replacing John C. Taylor.

Though a native of Akron, Ohio, Holmes spent much of his early life in Kentucky, graduating from Allen County High School and obtaining his bachelor of arts degree at Western Kentucky University in 1960.

Holmes has served as assistant to the commissioner of the Indiana Department of Corrections and as a director in the Indiana Criminal Justice Agency.

He also has served as director of Indiana Youth Rehabilitation Facilities and conducted research in corrections for Notre Dame University.

REVENUE CHIEF URGES UNIFORM COAL TAX

State Revenue Commissioner John Ross says any severance tax on coal must be uniform across Kentucky no matter how the coal is mined.

Ross made the comment while addressing the Joint Legislative Committee on Appropriations and Revenue which is holding hearings on Governor Ford's proposed 5 per cent severance tax.

Underground mining operators argue that, since their production costs are much higher than those for strip mining, the same tax on both would discriminate against deep mining.

"The tax is being laid on the severance of coal, a commodity which does not lend itself to subclassification as to the manner of method by which it is produced," Ross said.

"It is therefore believed that the tax on coal must be uniform with regard to the area in which, or the method by which, it is produced," Ross contended any attempt to subclassify the tax by area or method of production would "raise serious questions concerning the constitutionality of the classification method" and force a court test.

PARKS' EMPHASIS TO BE FAMILY, CAMPING FACILITIES

State Parks Commissioner Ed Johnson, who last December announced an end to construction of large resort-style parks, says future emphasis will be family recreation and camping facilities.

Johnson told a joint legislative committee on Appropriations and Revenue large parks are "nice but we can take the same money, put it elsewhere and take care of many more people."

He said other states soon will be competing strongly with Kentucky's park system and the state will have to move into other areas such as camping and recreation.

Johnson told the legislators large numbers of Kentuckians use the park system and about 37 per cent of the lodges and cabins are used by the state.

He also promised efforts to improve food served at the parks and investigation of modular construction to cut building costs.

"We're trying to get down to where the mass of the people are," Johnson said. "Maybe we can build cabins that will cost $18 a day instead of $30 a day... maybe the family could bring their own linen."

He said the department basically has a continuation budget for 1972-74 with no room for park facilities or lodging.

PANEL WILL CHECK DELINQUENT TREATMENT

State Child Welfare Commissioner Evans Tracy announced he will appoint a citizens' committee to investigate treatment procedures at the state's institutions for delinquent youth.

The committee is an outgrowth of the recent death of Dennis Buttry, 17, who died of injuries reportedly sustained during an impromptu group therapy session at Woodland Boy's Camp in Morgan County where he was a resident.

The Kentucky Assn. of Professional Psychology (KAPP) recently asked Governor Ford to investigate the incident by Tracy said his decision was made before that request.

He said the committee will be formed "for the distinct purpose of objectively examining our philosophy and methodology regarding the treatment of delinquent youth."

Tracy said investigations indicate Buttry "was not hit by anyone."

THE Death of Dennis Buttry was the latest in a long fashion connected with "Mississippi" or "punishment" by either staff or boys," he said.

"The boys must be being restrained after he had become angry," Tracy said.

FUND RECEIPT JUMP

PERMITS 'IMPRESSIVE'

State Revenue Commissioner John M. Ross announced General Fund receipts for the first seven months of fiscal 1971 increased 13 per cent over the same period last year, totaling $365,477,494.

Ross said the increase reflected the state government activities with the exception of highway improvements which are financed by the federal government.

There tax receipts jumped 10.4 per cent during the period.

Ross said the General Fund increase is no impressive, a mere 7.8 per cent increase during the remaining five months will achieve the total year estimate of $628.5 million.

"If the collection trend for this fiscal year continues at the current high rate, the department's estimates as reflected in the governor's budget will be exceeded," he added.

"The economic indicators confirm that the recent upward revision in General Fund revenue estimates was justified," he added.

FORESTRY OFFERS PINE, HARDWOOD TREES

State Forestry Director Ronald C. Schreman announced his division's annual sale of tree seedlings will begin the last week of February and said about seven million young trees will be sold.

The division's three tree nurseries produce millions of seedlings each year to reforest like areas in Kentucky.

Schreman said orders for seedlings will be filled on a "first come, first served basis" and order forms are available at any forestry office, county extension office or soil conservation office.

"Kentucky has nearly one million acres of idle and eroding land that should be planted to trees," he said. "The erosion from these acres constitutes a major source of silt in our streams and Kentuckians must make a major effort to reduce this shameful waste of our natural resources."

Cong. Tim Lee Carter Comments

Congressman Tim Lee Carter today stated, "The President of the United States is going directly to the source of many of our Asian fears. His visit to the Peoples Republic of China is an attempt to normalize relations between our two nations, and to reestablish the important channels of communication that have far too long been blocked."

"Let me point out," explained the Fifth District Representative, "that we must always guard against the threat that Communist governments pose to our free system; but if we fail to communicate effectively with our adversaries, we shall certainly face the even worse threat of world destruction."

"We cannot continue to say with the Chinese, 'China does not exist, and I support the President's efforts to eliminate the black blot of diplomatic, trade, and informational exchange between our two peoples.'"

Congressman Carter continued, "It is an example of the dips and curls of history that the President has moved forward in this crucial step of reaching the lines of communication between Washington and Peking. He appears to be sufficiently pragmatic to recognize the need for peace. Peking has played and will continue to play in world affairs."

Kentucky's Fifth District Representative said that "we can only speculate on the long range effects of the President's visit, but perhaps the greatest immediate effect of our renewed communications will be the opening of China's enormous market potential to our business, labor, agricultural, and industrial concerns. I submit that it would be a grave mistake to underestimate the value of this new area of trade would have for our economy. In a larger sense, we shall look forward with great hope toward a day when peoples of all nations will have a new understanding for each other. We must begin by relating to our world neighbors, and the President is making that effort. The future demands it. The future depends on it."

HUNTING & FISHING

The old-timers know it as the newlight; in some areas it was and is called the crapple bass, speckled perch or old-papercrappie. It is a crapple, pronounced as if there were an O in place of the P.

And whatever the local or proper names, to Kentuckians the crapple is one of the finest fish to inhabit the lakes, streams and ponds and indeed is sought after by perhaps as many fishermen as any other species.

At the big lakes of Kentucky they are commonly called slabs because they grow larger in these impoundments and when hooked after a brief fight, glide through the water as they are retrieved, much like a slab of timber.

The slab commoner came about, however, only after the big impoundments became popular. In this regard it is to that they were the target of many fishermen in the streams and ponds, but they seldom reached the great slabs there they attain in the larger lakes. If a fisherman caught a stringer of handsize newlights in the old days he was prone to brag about his feat a bit. They just do not seem to reach the size in smaller bodies of water as they do in the large shallow lakes.

The crapple-fishing season begins in February, although they can be caught throughout the winter by fishermen who are well acquainted with the bottom features of the lakes. With the warming trend most fishermen are able to find crapple around submerged brush piles, fallen tree trunks or in the bushes alongside the edge of the lake.

This hunt and fish method is productive but the prime time for catching crapple in the major lakes is when the water temperature reaches about 60 degrees. It is then that the spawning urge hits these fish and they move into the shallow waters to deposit their eggs, usually a round some sort of cover.

This spawning procedure are able to find crapple "crapple run" which every Kentuckian knows about and which is usually directed toward the Crappler Capital of the World—Kentucky.

Lake." From this area it is not uncommon for fishermen to boat their limits of 60 in a few hours when the run is on in full force and their catches quite commonly reach the two pound average.

Minnows fashioned into a wase pole line and fished into the shallow water around the smaller stickup or weed beds are the favorite lure. However, in this particular area of Kentucky neighboring Barkley lakes, a dog is a favorite lure for the crapper, especially whitecrapper. The dog is a miniature dolly rigged behind a floater, two or three feet distant, which is pulled down into the water by a light sinker. By casting this rig over a brush pile or stump, the fisherman can work in large crapple cast after cast.

Kentucky Lake may well be called the "Crapple Capital of the World" as it is by no means the only area in Kentucky where limits of crapple are taken. Each of the lakes has its own crapple spawning run, and while it may require a different fishing procedure from the Kentucky Lake, crapple can be taken regularly. Were it not for the phenomenal catches at Kentucky Lake, many of these other impoundments could be labeled real hotspots for crapple fishermen.

Federal Job Info

Can Be Called Free

Senator Marlow Cook has advised Kentuckians that the Federal Job Information Center in Louisville has established a toll-free telephone service by which a person may determine current Civil Service job opportunities, obtain veteran employment assistance and be advised as to how to apply for jobs for which the person is qualified.

Senator Cook stated that interested parties should know what type of positions they are interested in and be prepared to answer questions regarding their personal qualification and education when they call for the best service.

The information center can be reached by dialing 1-800-228-4585. In Louisville, a person only needs to dial 262-5350 to reach the center.

Only State Tournament Team In Mt. Vernon History

Friday Night Is "End of an Era" For Basketball at Mt. Vernon School

The end of basketball for Mt. Vernon High School will come this Friday night when the Red Devils take on Williamsburg High School. It will also mark the end of a twenty-five year tenure of Jack Laswell as coach at Mt. Vernon High School. This is one of the longest careers of any coach in Kentucky High School Basketball at one school.

Basketball really started at Mt. Vernon with the completion of the high school in the fall of 1927, and the first basketball team to play in the local gymnasium was a good one, the 1927-28 team.

This team was composed of Robert Sparks, Omer Hamlin, Ballard Clark, Carl Davis, Victor Hysinger and Bill Cox and was coached by Jack Garrett. This team lost to the famous Carr Creek team in the regional tournament at Richmond by four points. In 1930, Marvin Fairchild was coach. On his team was Bill Cox, Pete Sowler, Oscar Hayes, Stack Baker and Bobby Oldham. The best team of the 30's was probably the 1932 team coached by Charlie Perkins. This team went to the regional tournament where they lost to Waco.

Starting group for this team was Stack Baker, Carl Baker, Oscar Fain, Bobby Oldham, Jim Hessel, Vernon Clark and Charlie Hines.

Bill Landrum, now assistant principal at Mt. Vernon School, coached from 1935 to 1941 and his 1940-41 team was outstanding until riddled by sickness and injuries just before tournament time. On this team were: Med Noe, Totise Noe, Jim Davis, Buddy Childress and Millard Talbert.

Coach Jack Laswell came in at the start of the 1947 season and it was during the 50's that Mt. Vernon had outstanding teams, especially during the Earl Noe - Ken Cornelius years. During this period, the Devils went to the regional tournament eight straight years.

The team that was the pride and joy of Mt. Vernon and Rockcastle County was the only team to ever represent Mt. Vernon in the state tournament, the team of 1953 composed of: all-state center Earl Noe, Charles Baker, Charles Shepherd, Mannel Shepherd, Earl Pittman and a freshman starter Kenneth Cornelius. Cornelius was selected four straight years as an all-regional player and in 1956 as an all-state player. The 1953 team won the right to go to the state tournament by defeating the favorite Lily team, 77-56. In the state tournament, they played a great game against Newport Catholic but lost in overtime. Earl Noe scored 39 points in the game, a record that would stand for many years, and made the all-tournament team. Newport went to the semi-finals.

Coach Laswell feels that the 1956 team was one of the best to ever play for Mt. Vernon. In the regional tournament they defeated the two favorites but were defeated in the finals by Monticello. This team was composed of Ken Cornelius, Billy Gregory, Billy Chaney, John Dale Helton, Keith Kincaid, Billy J. Hessel and Bobby Sigmon. This team defeated the number one team in the state that year when they beat Berea High School.

The list would be too long to mention here, but there have been outstanding players to play for Mt. Vernon since basketball came in at the local school. Coach Laswell stated, "During my 25 years at Mt. Vernon, I have had the privilege of coaching some fine boys. There have been a lot more victories than defeats - but to me all boys who played the sport and worked hard to develop their basketball skill were winners. During my years as coach, I have had wonderful cooperation from fine administrators such as Clyde Linnville, Mrs. Neureul Miracle, Clouston Saylor and Charles B. Parsons." "I certainly appreciate the fine support given my teams through the years by the students of Mt. Vernon High School and the people of Rockcastle County," Coach Laswell went on to say.

Fans of Mt. Vernon basketball are urged to help make history Friday night by attending the last basketball game of Mt. Vernon High School - and also make plans now to attend the first game next November of the new Rockcastle County High School and to follow and support our new school as we begin a new era in basketball in Rockcastle County.

Trooper Danny Coleman Shot By Fugitive

Trooper Danny Coleman of Rockcastle County was injured last Wednesday evening, February 16 in a gun battle between another State Trooper and a rape suspect.

The incident began sometime Wednesday afternoon when Melvin Eugene Moore, 35, and the vehicle he was driving were being sought for investigation of an alleged rape of a 16-year-old girl. The State Police didn't know that it was by name, Moore, they were seeking but only had the description of the auto to go on.

About 6:10 p.m., Trooper Danny Coleman found the car which appeared to be vacant and abandoned, approximately nine miles south of London in a secluded area on Cromer Ridge Road.

He walked up to the left front door of the car and Moore struck a gun out and snarled the trooper. However, before leaving his cruiser, Coleman had radioed another trooper that he thought he had spotted the wanted car and this trooper headed in his direction.

Within minutes, Trooper Scharf was there and as he approached, Moore ordered Coleman into the trunk of his (Moore's) car. Scharf picked up his microphone to radio for assistance but was told by Moore to put it down or he would kill both troopers. At this point, Moore's attention was distracted and Scharf was able to get to his pistol and get out of the cruiser. Moore turned toward him (Scharf) and began to fire, one of the shots from Moore's gun struck Coleman in the right wrist and Moore was then killed in the exchange.

A Laurel County Coroner's Jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

Saturday, February 20, the largest private construction contract that it is believed has ever been let in Rockcastle County was completed at the Bank of Mt. Vernon between Alpha Smith and Renovo Valley and Bromwell-Kesterson Construction Co. of Knoxville, Tennessee after 18 months of negotiations. The contract, for more than one-quarter of a million dollars, calls for the construction of a forty-unit double-deck motel, a swimming pool and sewer and water lines on the property. The motel is scheduled to be in operation by June 15 of this year. The motel is located on the site of the former Renovo Valley Lodge and Restaurant behind the Texaco Service Station. When the project is completed, Mr. Smith's facilities in Renovo Valley will consist of the forty-unit motel, thirteen cabin units, the pool and a dining room in the Lodge which seats over 200 people. The above photo shows the present lodge. The new motel will be located just adjacent to it. A portion of the hill in the background of the picture will be cleared for large signs that will be visible from I-75.

Cox Held To Grand Jury; Bail Request Refused

Woodrow Cromer of Brodhead was the first witness called last Friday in the examining trial of Bill Cox, also of Brodhead, charged with willful murder in the death of Bennett Dean Lear last night.

Mr. Lear was shot fatally Friday night, February 17 at Cox's Saddle and Gun Shop in Brodhead.

According to Cromer, he and Woodrow Williams, also of Brodhead, had been working part-time for Cox for several days taking down an old furnace to be moved into the Corner Restaurant at Brodhead. Cromer said that he, Woodrow Williams and Lear had returned to Cox's shop after moving a furnace between 6 and 6:30 p.m. Cromer said he went over to a couch and sat down on it and Lear followed him over and also sat on the couch next to Cromer's at that time made the remark to her, "why didn't you marry a good-looking man like me?" He said he was sitting in a chair next to the couch at that time. Lear then asked to wash his hands and Cox told him that he could wash in the kitchen. Cromer then related that when Lear returned he said he was in a hurry and wanted to know who was going to pay him and was told by Cromer that Cox would pay him. Cox then asked Lear how much he owed him and Lear said $10. Cox told Lear that was too much and then Cromer told the Court that Cox said, "I will pay you now" and got up. Cromer said he then noticed that Cox had "something" in his hand and then recognized it as a pistol. Cromer said he also got up and stood next to Cox and started talking to him asking him (Cox) not to "shut" Cromer said that Lear stepped in behind Woodrow Williams and Williams later testified that Lear "covered" the back of the couch just seconds before Cox shot.

Both men testified that Lear was unarmed, to the best of their knowledge.

One other witness, Bill Dowell, Rockcastle County Coroner, testified during the trial. County Attorney Bill Gregory then rested his case and defense attorney Ed Dowell of Lexington asked for a short recess to discuss the case with his client and when they returned to the courtroom, Mr. Denney told the Court that his client (Bill Cox) had decided not to take the stand during the examining trial and to waive the case to the March term of the Grand Jury.

Mr. Denney asked for bond for his client but Judge Carter declined to set bond and Cox was returned to the Rockcastle County Jail.

Not everyone noticed it, but that scratchy little debate the other day in the state Senate over the so-called How Ripper Bill might have been a forerunner to the kind of dialogue we'll be hearing between candidates for the U.S. Senate.

To begin with, Democratic frontrunner and Senate Majority Leader Don Huddleston of Elizabethton moved the previous question on the bill which allows Gov. Wendell Ford to immediately oust Personal Commissioner Ralph Howe, a Republican holdover.

That cut off all amendments and Republican Ray White of Bowling Green had a couple he wanted to offer.

So, Huddleston and White argued about it awhile, but the bills were well-greased and stood to pass easily.

Next day, however, White accused Huddleston of using the parliamentary ploy to keep from blenishing his record before Senatorial voters by lining up against White's "good" amendments.

The same theme was being sounded by House Minority Leader Harold DeMarcus of Stanford, another GOP stalwart with an eye on the seat being vacated by John Sherman Cooper.

Perhaps these arguments against Huddleston have some merit. As it stands now, they seem a bit too politically inspired, especially if it's an Art-Democrats are scratching their heads in slight puzzlement over state Rep. Art Schmidt's unexpected strange attack on the administration's congressional redistricting bill.

The Cold Spring Republican wrote a pattern of such snake-like maneuvers attributed to Democrats that the old Medieval conliver, Machiavelli, would have been proud of them.

Schmidt's basic theme was that the master plan of cutting Northern Kentucky in two was aimed at delivering Kentucky's 47 delegate votes to Sen. Edmund Munkie at the Democratic national convention.

Of course, no master plan can be alleged without mentioning the chairman J.R. Miller, whose purported influence with Gov. Wendell Ford spans all kinds of rumors.

Those who know say that Miller shook his head in bewilderment at Schmidt's charge about delivering the delegation—which by the way already is all but delivered through Ford's earlier endorsement of Munkie.

Miller also is reported rather chagrined and disappointed with news media for bothering to carry what he considered a needless charge that should not have been dignified. We won't argue that point, but getting back to Schmidt, how does "Schmidt for Congress" sound? Why not? The Republicans are sorely in need of a candidate in the 6th District with some identity, integrity and previous legislative experience.

At the risk of sounding a bit serpent-like ourselves, we will consider Schmidt a potential contender in the 6th when the reapportionment dust finally settles.

Gone to the Dogs?—"Eminently quotable." That's how Kentucky AFL-CIO executive Sam Exelle is labeled by one veteran Frankfort watcher. And we've got to agree.

Why just the other day the fiery labor spokesman spat out the week's best line. He was arguing against the Louisville home rule bill's provision that allows the city aldermen to increase taxes—a role now reserved for the Legislature.

To the momentary establishment of the members of the House City Committee and Louisville Mayor Frank Burtis, Exelle quipped: "That's like putting the beagle hounds in charge of the bratwurst."

Tight Squeeze—Senate Minority Leader Norman Farris of Somerset recalls warning Majority Leader Huddleston not to antagonize the Republicans, undermanned 11-27 this session. "If you give us any problems," Farris said, "we'll caucus in a phone booth."

Kentucky Legislative Report

Sen. Chris Cornett, D-Hindman, has introduced a bill in the General Assembly which he says would "strike down" several Court of Appeals decisions upholding broad-form deeds for strip mining coal.

The measure would: Hold mine operators and mineral rights holders liable to surface owners for damages caused by improper reclamation of the land.

Ban all strip and sugar mining on slopes of more than 14 degrees without the surface owners' written consent.

Cornett, a former circuit judge, said his bill contradicts "court decisions freeing miners from liability (to surface owners) ... and will supersede court rulings ..."

Opponents of efforts to outlaw the broad-form deed have argued that no contract can be canceled by a state law.

But Cornett added, "It is my theory of the law there is no contract for the purpose of destroying property."

Job Discrimination By Age, Sex Subject of Davis Measure

The Kentucky Senate's only woman member, Louisville Democrat Georgia Davis, introduced a bill that would prohibit age and sex discrimination in employment. Drafted by the Kentucky Commission on Human Rights, the measure would include the words "sex" and "age" between 40 and 65 in sections of the state civil rights act dealing with employment.

Sen. Lacey Smith, D-Louisville, a co-sponsor of the bill, said he plans to offer amendments to bring existing and public accommodations under the measure.

Since human rights commissions in other states have found that their caseloads grew with the advent of sex-discrimination legislation, Senator Davis's bill includes requests for $60,000 during the coming biennium to handle the expected increase.

No-Fault Insurance Gets Six-Hour Hearing

No-fault auto insurance came under some stiff questioning and even stiffer criticism during six-hour Senate Judiciary Committee hearing on the controversial insurance system.

Basically, no-fault provides for payment to accident victims by their own insurer, rather than by the company of the driver determined to be at fault.

Advocates of the system were asked whether it would reduce premium rates as promised or if Kentuckians would be sacrificing the right to sue in exchange for unproven claims of quick payments.

off-track betting only on a local-option basis. Rep. Bruce Elythe, R-Louisville, who cosponsored the bill, called it a "realistic, no-silly-making venture" and not a moral issue. The most opposition to the bill is expected to come from the Kentucky horse-racing industry which believes off-track betting would cut both attendance and betting at tracks.

However Kleier's bill contains two sections designed to compensate race tracks. They would:

Require off-track operations to pay out-of-state tracks one per cent of the gross amount wagered on races at those tracks. Require off-track hand-book operators to provide space at no charge for any Kentucky track to operate its own betting window. Computer Firm Offers Lighter Voting Machines

A lobbyist for a West Coast electronics firm which manufactures computer voting systems is pushing for legislation that would allow use of such systems in Kentucky elections. Terry Holland, a registered agent for Computer Election Systems, Inc., of Berkeley, Calif., asked the large Jefferson County legislative delegation to support such a bill. Holland told the legislators an electronic system would replace voting machines with a computer-like operation using punched cards automatically tabulated when the polls close.

"The advantages of the system are ..."

3,583 Receive Stamps In Rockcastle In December

There were 3,583 low-income Rockcastle County people on the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food Stamp program in December as compared to 3,507 the previous month, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service reports.

At the state level, it was noted, Kentucky's 1968 low food assistance programs in December dropped 14,282 from November's 353,549 to 349,267. This was said to be the largest decrease of any state in the Southeast.

Most of the decrease was in the food stamp program, now operating in 78 Kentucky counties. In December, 297,693 people were issued over $7.4 million in food coupons. Of this amount, over $5.5 million was in free or home stamps. This represented an increase of 11,881 over November's total of 306,374. An annual average of $1000 from the Kentucky River to the Governor's Mansion which will be used by Scout and 4-H groups.

Each year a portion of the pool's receipts, which are collected by the Kentucky Department of Public Information, is used to provide a $250 scholarship to a worthy horticulture student at the University of Kentucky. The Garden Club of Kentucky annually matches that sum to provide scholarship for a second student.

The rest of the money is given to public institutions which serve children and is donated "to whoever needs it the most," according to Mrs. Cullen.

While it has not yet been determined which institutions will receive funds this year, in the past the money has provided for such things as recreational material for the county. $1,604 needy people were given more than 1.7 million pounds of USDA-donated food.

At the national level, FNS Administrator Edward J. Heckman reported that 14.8 million people were on USDA food assistance programs in December. Of this number, 11.2 million were on the food stamp program, while 3.6 million received donated food.

Holland also revealed a proposed copy of a bill that would authorize any Kentucky county to purchase or lease electronic voting machines.

He can then sign a bill, veto it or simply take no action in which case it becomes law 10 days later.

BREAKS THE ICE - It's just a start, but the few coins that Mrs. Robert Cullen dipped from the Floral Clock pool this winter day, will be added to greatly when warm weather thaws the ice. Where Does Money Go That's Tossed In Pool?

By Frank Coats State News Bureau

FRANKFORT, Ky. - If you've ever taken a scenic tour of the State Capitol grounds in Frankfort, you may have wondered what becomes of all the coins tossed in the pool at the base of the Floral Clock.

If you don't lime it, why plant it

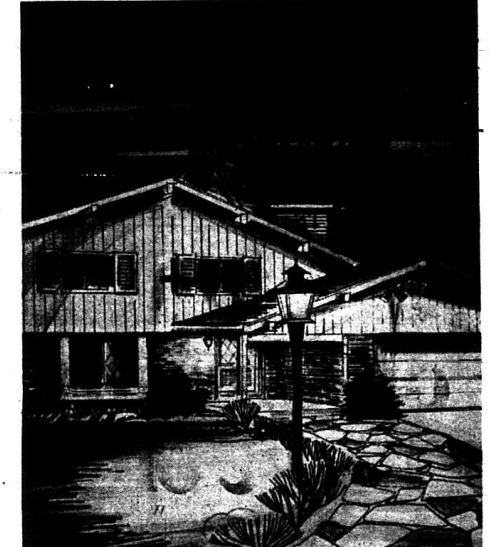

Why Soils Need Lime

Only a few crops grow well on acid soils because they require calcium and magnesium which are replaced by applications of agricultural limestone. This material not only corrects the soil acidity, but also supplies the plants with the needed calcium and frequently magnesium.

Soil pH, which is a measure of the acidity or alkalinity of the soil, affects the availability of all elements which influence crop-production. An application of liming material to an acid soil increases the availability of plant nutrients which are important to crop production. Among these are nitrogen, phosphate and others. Liming reduces luxury uptake of potash by the plants and reduces the availability of aluminum and iron manganese which are harmful to plants if they are present in sufficient quantities in the soil. Liming also helps increase the number and activity of beneficial soil bacteria. It helps improve the physical condition of the soil by supplying the calcium needed by leguminous crops to increase their growth. It increases root development and permeability of the soil.

Lime is the most economical factor involved in crop production on most soils in the humid areas, as they are acid in varying degrees. The application of needed fertilizers is also one of the most economical factors in crop production. The wise use of water - both rainfall and irrigation - is still another factor involving crop production. However, the one which is most frequently by-passed is the application of agricultural limestone and this is the first step in a sound fertility program on most soils in the humid area. Failure to apply this material limits crop production and wastes fertilizer dollars as well as the producer's capital investment and his labor in crop production.
