You & The Draft

To paraphrase the cliché, "a dog bites man, it is not news; when man bites dog, that is news," you could say when a young man is erroneously inducted by the draft board, it is newsworthy, but a last-minute save from the military draft is not. Quite frankly, Selective Service must accept its proven share of responsibility for any erroneous induction. On the other hand, the public should know the vigilance exercised by local boards to see that every man is treated with the same fairness, based on information he has provided.

A young man does not have liability under that draft law until he reaches the age of 18. Royden was born Aug. 12, 1952, and he became of draft age Aug. 12, 1970. His registration as required by law was timely. In his first completed questionnaire, he indicated that he was married on Feb. 15, 1970, and his wife was expecting. It is important for you to remember that, at the time of his marriage, he did not have draft liability.

In September 1970, he furnished the board with a doctor's statement of his wife's pregnancy. The doctor indicated the expected date of birth to be December 1970. Royden did not follow up by furnishing the local board with evidence of a live birth and maintaining of a bona fide family relationship.

Before making an initial classification action, the draft board

4-HPERS IN ACTION

This Saturday, May 6, 1972, you can see Rockcastle County 4-HPers in action at the Roundstone School. 4-HPers from all over the county will be modeling the items they have made in their clothing, knitting and crocheting projects. Those taking grooming projects will also be able to model their "best."

The Style Revue will begin at 7:30 p.m. The 4-HPers are to come at 6:30 p.m. for rehearsal. Local county entertainment will be presented from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. and after the style revue.

Four 4-HPers who enter the style revue will be eligible to enter the state style revue in July at Lexington.

The Loyal Clavers 4-H Club and many other 4-HPers are planning and putting the show together. Be sure to attend for an entertaining evening and to help support your favorite 4-HPers. No admission will be charged.

They laughed when I bought my first Bond.

In my neighborhood everyone was poor. Most of us were lucky if we had enough food to eat or clothes to wear. So like most kids we spent a lot of time talking about the things we wanted out of life. Things like owning a big car, wearing fine clothes and going to all of the best places. Boy, we could hardly wait to grow up. Like the other kids I had little odd jobs in grammar school but I got my first real job when I started high school. I was a junior clerk in a big department store. That's where I first heard about U.S. Savings Bonds. My boss asked me if I wanted to join the Payroll Savings Plan and I said yes. A month later I got my first bond.

When my friends found out they really had a good laugh. Imagine buying U.S. Savings Bonds when there were so many other great things to buy. Well, they kept laughing and I kept saving all through high school. After graduating some of us wanted to go to college. And that's when my Bonds really came in handy. They not only helped pay my tuition, but also helped buy some books.

Well, I'm a senior now and looking forward to graduation. Unfortunately, a lot of my friends never even got started. And to think, they laughed when I bought my first Bond.

Now U.S. Bonds pay 4-1/2% interest when held to maturity of at least 10 years. Bonds are redeemed if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When you need them be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America. Buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

Foresters Begin Pilot Tree-Planting Project

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Acres of idle Franklin County land, once covered with briars, weeds and brush, are being turned into potentially productive forests in a new federal-state tree-planting program.

The state Division of Forestry is providing tree seedlings and labor while the U.S. Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) furnishes funds for the project, which could grow statewide if successful.

The division is charging landowners $6 per acre for planting the trees and is concentrating on idle, unused and marginal land, according to Forestry Director Ron Schureman.

Actual cost of the planting is about $30 per acre. The ASCS pays the 80 percent not covered by the farmer's fee.

Schureman said the program, which is the first of its kind in Kentucky, was begun in Franklin County because of easy accessibility to state personnel will simplify evaluation.

"We knew a few landowners in the county who were interested in planting trees on their property and they helped us contact others," Schureman explained.

"When the planting is completed in May we expect to have about 100,000 trees, 100 acres worth, planted on 18 farms."

If the pilot project is successful, Schureman plans to seek $600,000 from the next General Assembly to purchase tree-planting equipment and expand the program into other counties.

Forestry officials estimate about 1.5 million acres in Kentucky are suitable for tree planting. The job could be done in 30 to 35 years if adequate labor and equipment can be provided.

The division sells thousands of seedlings to landowners each year, but labor shortages have prevented many people from planting their land.

"By furnishing the labor and semi-mechanical planting equipment under this new program, we can get many idle acres productive," Schureman said.

He said planting trees not only improves the soil, provides windbreaks and shade erosion, but improves the wildlife habitat.

COLONEL AT LAST—During his years as a state official Lt. Gov. Julian M. Carroll has helped many deserving people to membership in the Honorable Order of Kentucky Colonels. MC CAULEY NAMED HUDDLESTON CHAIRMAN

David McCauley, Egg Deale, today was named Rockcastle County campaign chairman for Walker Dee Huddleston, candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States senator.

The announcement was made by Judge A.J. Jolly, state campaign chairman for Huddleston. Judge Jolly said that the naming of the chairman would be the first of several appointments to be made in the county for the Huddleston campaign.

McCauley, who has been active before in political races, cited the outstanding qualifications of Huddleston as one of the primary reasons for supporting him in the U.S. Senate campaign. "Dae Huddleston has the background we need in a United States Senator," he said. "He has shown his leadership ability in the State Senate and is the only man in the race, Republican or Democrat, who has this type of experience."

"Sen. Huddleston also has shown his ability in the world outside public life. He is a successful radio executive and has done well in everything he has attempted. I think we are fortunate in having a man like Dee Huddleston to support for our Senate seat."

Huddleston is one of five Democrats in the primary race but in reality has only token opposition. None of the other four are given any chance to win by political observers.

GABLE CAMPAIGNS IN ROCKCASTLE COUNTY

Bob Gable, who faces former Governor Louie Nunn in the May 23 Republican Senatorial Primary, was in Mt. Vernon and in the downtown area of both towns to shake hands with the citizens.

The same day, Shelle Mullins of Mt. Vernon, announced that he had accepted the position of Rockcastle County Chairman in the Bob Gable for United States Senate Campaign. In making his announcement Mr. Mullins told the Signal, "During the past few years a few people have been taking over the Republican Party. They have done some things in their public and private lives which belie what many of us who are long time Republicans, I know for sure that Republicans can be proud of Bob Gable.

The American Cancer Society urgently needs your support to help wipe out cancer. Help yourself with a checkup and others with a generous check to the ACS.

The Company wishes to make the maximum contribution to cover all 4-H club work through the awards program. Awards check for top performance in completing 43 fall projects and doing the best over-all job in 4-H Club work to the Local

School Board Meets; Teachers Hired For 72-73

The Rockcastle County Board of Education met Monday night for their regular monthly meeting and there were mainly routine items of business on the agenda. Bids for home economics and science equipment were opened at the meeting and for the home economics equipment, Faulkner-Clark Material Sales Inc. was low with a bid of $11,847. Low bidder on the science equipment was School Service Co. with a bid of $7,360.

Superintendent Parsons reported to the board that the State Department of Finance had approved the refinancing of the school bonds as discussed by the board at their April meeting. Mr. Parsons, along with a representative of Dupre and Co., fiscal agents, were to go before the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court Tuesday to get their approval before matters could be carried further.

The board also voted to authorize the advertisement for bids on janitorial supplies. The bids will be opened publicly Thursday, May 18 at 2 p.m.

A trade of two and one-half acres of land is in the offering between the Rockcastle County Board of Education and County Surveyor Buster Gentry. The trade involves a portion of the land which the board originally purchased from C.H. Noe for an equal amount of land behind the new high school. The acquisition of Mr. Gentry's land would enable the property lines of the school to lay more evenly and would also move the present line further back from the school.

Of course, any trade will have to be sanctioned by the State Department of Building and assign all qualified teachers and staff by June 1 with any transfer in administrative personnel to be discussed at the June meeting. An extension of the Rehabilitation Program, directed by Tommy Harold Mink, was also approved by the board at a cost of $4,000. The state matches local funds approximately 5 to 1.

PANTS WORKSHOP TO BE OFFERED
Having trouble fitting pants and slacks? This is a difficulty many boys face.

Pants for women are seen everywhere today - from the backyard to the street, to a party. And it seems as if this added freedom for women is here to stay - at least for a while.

Pants are easy to make. Most women can wear pants; if they choose the proper style and fabric for their figure type. However, the problem comes into fitting them so they will be comfortable and flattering.

Home sewers, here's good news for you. A workshop on fitting women's pants will be held on May 15 in Mt. Vernon.

This date had to be rescheduled so more persons could attend. Mrs. Cheryl Witt, County Extension Agent for Home Economics, will be teaching the lesson. It will begin at 10 a.m. and continue until 3 p.m. for one day only. Illustrative materials and samples of pants from the Vogue Pattern Company will be used. Choosing appropriate styles and principles of fitting will be discussed in the morning session. Actual fitting of pants will be done in the afternoon.

The workshop will be held at the PCA Building's new meeting room. The class will be for those who have had sewing experience. If you wish to attend the workshop you must pre-register by calling the county extension office at 256-2403.

1972 Assessment Is Down $238,460 From '72

According to the 1972 reapportionment by Property Valuation Administrator Robert Cromer, Rockcastle's total assessment for 1972 is $48,239,625. This figure is $238,460 less than 1971's assessment of $48,478,085. However, the drop is not as much as was originally expected when the Homestead Exemption Act was passed and put into effect this year. Under this act, homeowners $5 and over qualified for a $6,000 exemption on their dwelling. 596 homeowners in Rockcastle County qualified for the exemption for a total loss in the assessment of $2,926,050.

Helping to make up the difference somewhat was the fact that 37 new homes were built in the county last year and the total assessment on these homes was $18,000,000.

A breakdown of the assessment follows with the 1971 figures in parentheses: total residential $29,384,930 ($30,888,795); total tangible personal property $6,858,405 ($6,714,935); manufacturing machinery $8,170,825 ($8,600); manufacturers inventory of raw materials $336,125 ($302,000); livestock $2,400,000; machinery $3,343,800 ($3,214,970); stocks and bonds $2,404,375 ($2,419,370); annuities $35,605 ($37,710) and bank shares $685,215 ($638,690).

If the 1972 tax rate is the same as last year's, the actual revenue loss to the county will be $1,238.45.

John Nichols' Frankfort Watchline

Who is the public's protector on the Public Service Commission? A valid question, especially since the makeup of the PSC has changed drastically within the past year and its membership has been expanded from three to five members.

Moreover, the utilities seem to be doing right well whenever they come around for a big rate increase. The PSC isn't very interesting to read, especially when it involves reading dull reports, masses of figures, complicated projections.

But the PSC's decisions affect the rates we pay for such services and electricity and telephones for much of our lives. When an increase is granted, you can be sure you'll be paying at least that much and probably more in a few years--there rarely are rollbacks.

At the moment the PSC is dealing mainly with two major rate raise requests.

Kentucky Utilities, which seeks about $14 million a year, keeps saying in press releases it is asking only $7 million (after taxes). Well, when someone asks your salary, do you give it with an after-taxess figure? The KU request is hanging fire.

The other biggie is South Central Bell. It once asked for about $14 million, then set ambitious and sought about $25 million--and incidentally has never disclaimed the original $14 million request.

Those of you who look at your phone bills will realize that the new expanded PSC already has granted South Central "emergency" approval of its increase--pending final outcome of the case.

True, this was done by the "old" three-member PSC on its last day and the only hold-over is Hershey Sturgill. However, Sturgill and the four new members fired Ed O'Rear, the veteran chief engineer and the city's one, of the best of our knowledge, who could come near qualifying as a public protector. Not an auspicious start. In addition, it's common knowledge the PSC was expanded so the current Democratic administration could dispense additional political appointments.

However, we'll reserve judgment--at least until the South Central outcome.

Who should put up a word for the attorney general's office, apparently the only state agency which feels compelled to demand real proof of whether the rate increase is justified? Mrs. Laura Murrell, an assistant attorney general, is fighting a valiant battle for the public, right or wrong.

GOOD OLD DAYS--Imagine the shock of Kentucky House Clerk Addie Stokley when she pulled open an old bill-filing drawer a few weeks ago and found original copies of laws introduced--and many passed--during the first legislative session held in the new Capitol in 1910.

Like a good citizen, Mrs. Stokley notified the Kentucky Historical Society of her find. She reports the society responded less than enthusiastically. We're guessing that if someone hangs on to the old documents a while longer, the society will be buying them for hundreds of dollars each.

FRANKFORTH EMPLOYEE--Clipped to a letter to Gov. Wendell Ford was a crisp $100 bill, with a handwritten note from a former state worker. She explained her conscience has been bothering her for accepting pay for an excessive number of hours she really had not worked. The money was put into the

General Fund

A WASHOUT--A new Frankfort resident, returning from another state at the time of the Frankfort flood, was puzzled and shocked when she was halted at a roadblock and told by a state trooper there were too many tourists in the city.

Not knowing about the high waters, she wondered why Frankfort was turning away sightseers, doubling the city was that popular. Both finally understood their misunderstanding and the woman was let through.

Cong. Tim Lee CARTER COMMENTS

Kentucky's Fifth District Representative Tim Lee Carter stated that it is clear "the American people have grown weary of the long and tragic conflict in Southeast Asia. No one can deny that our nation has suffered losses of inconceivable magnitude."

"I have always opposed our involvement in this war," Carter stated. "I have spoken out repeatedly for withdrawal while we were yet winning, indeed, our being there in the first place has never made common sense."

Congressman Carter continues, "North Vietnam borders the Peoples Republic of China, but our supply line to South Vietnam is a grossly overextended 10,000 miles. Our entrance into this war was the most disastrous blunder in our military history."

"Under the program of Vietnamization, we have approximately 70,000 American men remaining in that country. From over a half million American soldiers in Vietnam in 1966, we have made withdrawals over the years to the present troop level; and the President has announced plans for continuing this program."

"But North Vietnam," Congressman Carter pointed out, "has now taken advantage of our withdrawals, and they are using every available combat division and regiment. They possess modern Russian tanks and equipment."

"The onslaught has been massive, and it appears to me that the South Vietnamese are wavering. It is clear that our remaining forces are in danger. Instead of five hundred prisoners of war, the United States could very well suffer the capture of its soldiers who are in the process of being withdrawn."

"I submit that every bomb should be dropped and every shell fired that will save American lives. Saturation bombing of military installations may be necessary. Every means to save our sons from capture or death must be employed now. Their backs are to the sea; we are faced with a second Dunkirk, but without ships to remove the men, or a nearby island on which to load them.

"The threat to our men is immediate. We cannot retreat and we will never surrender."

Capitol Digest

Gov. Wendell Ford called on President Nixon "to exercise firm leadership" to help eliminate shipping accidents on inland waterways like the Ohio River.

In a formal statement, the Governor said federal regulations are lax for large inland water craft.

"There seems to be more interest in policing light pleasure craft than on protecting us from the calamitous domination of heavy shipping," he said. Governor Ford cited recent accidents on the Ohio--which "have claimed death, injury, property damage, inconvenience to citizens and tremendous expenses heaped on the individual taxpayer."

"I am calling on the President to exercise firm leadership in prodding Congress to help eliminate additional problems on the Ohio as well as other navigable streams," Governor Ford said.

ALL BUT 18 LOBBYISTS FILE EXPENSE ACCOUNTS The attorney general's office reported all but 18 registered lobbyists made the April 18 deadline for filing statements of their expenses during the 1972 General Assembly.

State law requires lobbyists and their employers to file expense statements with the attorney general within 30 days after adjournment of the legislature.

Lobbyists and their employers also are required to register with the attorney general. Atty. Gen. Ed Hancock said an extra day was added to the filing period because this office was closed on day during recent flooding in Frankfort.

He added that, under a regulation of his agency, he must report the names of those who did not file statements to Franklin Circuit Judge Henry Meigs and Franklin Commonwealth's Attorney William Brooks within 40 days after the session closed.

Hancock said he has no authority to prosecute late filers. Lobbyists' expenses include rooms, meals, transportation, postage, entertainment, refreshments and--in a few cases--laundry.

KY. VILLAGE WILL REOPEN HOUSE 200 INMATES

Gov. Wendell Ford announced that Kentucky Village, closed since last fall as a facility for juvenile delinquents, will be reopened as a multi-purpose correctional center for about 200 adult prisoners.

Governor Ford said the center will be in full operation by next March, providing treatment and education for selected first offenders, pre-release services for prisoners returning to the Central Kentucky "Bluegrass" area, and housing an inmate work and maintenance unit.

The center is being opened to ease overcrowding and other problems now facing the Department of Corrections at its other facilities.

The Governor said Kentucky's correctional institutions now are operating about 50 per cent over (Cont. to 6)

MRS. DARRELL DEE COLLINSWORTH

Carloftis-Collinsworth

The marriage of Miss Koula Ford Carloftis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Carloftis of Livingston, to Darrell Dee Collinsworth of Mansfield, Ohio was solemnized Saturday, March 11 at the Livingston Baptist Church.

Rev. Head officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Vows were exchanged by candlelight before an altar of pink and white kiltion daisies edged in blue entwining a bridal arch, flanked on either side by baskets of white kiltion daisies and cathedral spires in branched candelabras.

Miss Laura Lee Durham, pianist, presented a program of musical music and accompanied her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lee Durham, vocalist. Mr. Durham sang "Beacon" and Mrs. Durham sang "Oh, Promise Me." During the ceremony, Mrs. Durham sang "The Wedding Prayer" while the couple knelt on a white prie dieu.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white de-lustered satin fashioned with an empire silhouette. The bridesmaids were in re-embroidered alenon lace edged with pearls, high scalloped neck line and long lantern sleeves. The A-line skirt was designed with a detachable chapel train. Her veil of tiered silk illusion was held by a lace bonnet high tapered sleeves. She selected a white orchid worn in the back of her hair for her flower.

Mrs. Collinsworth, mother of the groom, chose a blue day length gown with a wedding ring neckline and long tapered sleeves. Her flower was a white orchid worn on the shoulder.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship room of the church. The bride's table was covered with an appliqued and cutwork imported linen which was a family heirloom passed on to the bride from her grandmother Carloftis. The arrangement of white marguerite daisies centering the table was surrounded by silver candelabras with lighted tapers. Serving at the reception were Mrs. Estill Hensley of Manchester, Mrs. Gary Smith of Renoir Valley and Mrs. Mary Evelyn Leach of Livingston. Mrs. David Osburn presided at the guest book. Rice bags were distributed by Miss Lisa Wise.

businessman, is not in a position to pass these costs on to the buyer of his products in the form of higher prices," Butler said. "Inflation has hit the farmer harder than just about any segment of our country."

KEY POSTS FILLED IN MENTAL HEALTH AGENCY
Dr. Lawrence R. Mudd, former director of Central State Hospital in Louisville, has been named to head the Kentucky Department of Mental Health's new program for mentally ill criminals.

The newly established Division of Forensic Psychiatry will begin operations with a $46,229 grant from the Kentucky Crime Commission.

Mental Health Commissioner Dr. Dale H. Farabee, in announcing Dr. Mudd's appointment, said competent psychiatric services for offenders are becoming increasingly important because of the number of court decisions relating to the rights of lawbreakers.

Dr. Mudd said his division not only will attempt to rehabilitate criminals, but will offer help to those beginning to run into trouble with the law.

Dr. Farabee also announced two key appointments at Central State Hospital, naming Dr. Raoul Alonso as director of clinical services and John Clayton as director of administrative services.

Farmer Certification Is Essential Step

Farmer certification is the essential step preceding estate's payments to producers participating in the U.S. Department of Agriculture 1972 estate program for corn, grain sorghum, barley and wheat according to Harold Ballinger, farm program official. He urged farmers who have questions about certification to call or come in and discuss their farm problems with the office personnel in the ASCS office.

"It's important that a farmer know exactly what he is certifying before he signs his name," said Harold Ballinger, ASCS Executive Director. Final certification dates this year are June 1, for barley and wheat; July 15 for all other program crops. Certification may be made as soon as a farmer has his program crops planted and knows he is in compliance with the programs, Mr. Ballinger said.

As soon as a producer certifies, the county ASCS office begins processing the data for payment which will be made soon after July 1.

"While it spends payments to get certifications in early, producers should also remember that mistakes can be costly. Once certification is made, no acreage adjustments can be made. A farmer has to be in compliance with program regulations when he certifies. That's why we're urging producers to call or come in now if they're not sure about what is required for certification," Mr. Ballinger said.

When a producer certifies, he reports exactly what acreage he has in self-settle land and what acreage he has in the program crops he signed up for.

He also certifies he has complied with all program regulations and will continue to comply throughout the year.

An error in certification can result in loss of some or all of the set-aside payment. Spot checks are made each year on farms participating in the program.

County Agent's Notes

By H. Lee Purham

What To Do In May

Beauty has its own reason for being, or as Victor Hugo said, "Beauty is the only thing that is its own reward." It is the most useful. It is the great French writer got his inspiration from the month of May.

For it is in May that the iris, Creeping Phlox, and Candytuft reach their peak. Jack Peony flowers bend to the ground... Lily-of-the-valley scent the air... Blazing Star is in flower against the lush green of the grass... and Virginia Bluebells, Blue Phlox, and Myrtle flash their beautiful hues of blue in the shade of new-formed tree canopies.

May is a time of revitalization. Also a month that causes one to dream. It is a period when nature's output exceeds gardening input. But put aside your nostalgic mood for a time. There are insects to kill, shrubs to prune, weeds to pull, and lawn that are hungry for fertilizers.

Overworm feeding starts in May. Eggs that have overwintered in the bags hatch and the larvae begin feeding. It is at this active stage that sprays of sevin or malathion should be applied, recommends Darrel Apple, Extension horticulturist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Apilids also appear on many plants in May, especially on roses, pyracantha, columbine, and crabapple tree. Sprays of malathion are usually quite effective although repeated applications are necessary on many plants. The county agent advises checking the label on the spray to be sure it is approved for the plant on which you intend to use it.

Borers are always a problem with dogwood, rhododendron, lilacs, and mimosa. Carefully inspect the bark on these shrubs for holes and sawdust residue. If holes are present, a couple of drops of carbon disulfide injected into the holes and then blugged with chewing gum or clay will kill them. Retreatment can be reduced by spraying the trunk and limbs or stems with malathion about every 10 days.

Adult flies of the holly leaf miner will be busy laying eggs during the first half of May. Sprays of diazinon will kill most of the flies and reduce new larvae problems.

There is still time to spray the lawn with sevin. A combination of 3-4-D and silvex will do the trick. But if this treatment is used, Appa will have to be used. The label and follow directions carefully. Otherwise, neighboring trees and shrubs could be killed along with the weeds. It is usually best to wait until early October when most trees and shrubs are dormant to apply herbicides for controlling broadleaf weeds.

If you don't fertilize your grass this spring, you can do so now. Slow release urea-form (38 percent nitrogen) is very effective summer fertilizer. If applied at about five pounds per 1000 feet. Ammonium sulfate (33.3 percent nitrogen) is a less expensive fertilizer but must be applied at no more than three pounds per 1000 feet. It should be placed on dry grass just before for a rain. If the anticipated rain doesn't come, water it with a sprinkler. Otherwise, it may burn your grass.

Other things to do in May, according to Appa, are these: Start planting gladiolus bulbs early in May. Plant at weekly intervals in order to have low flowering period. Also consider planting dahlias tubers as late as June 10. Prune back iris, perennial allium, and augs after they bloom. Prune deutzia, spirea, forsythia, and lilacs after they bloom, taking out one-fifth of the old stems at ground level.

Add nitrogen fertilizer where you have used mulches that tie up nitrogen; dibble peonies for exhibition-sized blooms, pinch maples; stake tall growing plants like delphinium cut away old blooms as they fade, and prepare containers for the patio with annual flowering plants such as begonias, geraniums, and petunias. Also if you have a dry spot in full sun where other plants seem to perish, scatter portulaca seed for a striking summer display.

Economic Information

The March 23, 1972 pig crop report indicated reduced hog production will continue to decline through most of 1972. While hog prices have weakened some from their winter high they are expected to move back up in the $25 - $26 range by July. The March 23, 1972 pig crop report suggests there may be little seasonal decline in hog prices during the last half of 1972.

Feed grain prices during 1972-73 will likely be more stable than the previous year. Prices in November 1972 should average above the relatively low level at harvest time in November 1971. If farmers do not exceed their March 1972 intentions corn production in 1972 should be about 5 billion bushels which will be only slightly above anticipated use during the feeding year 1972-73.

Feeder cattle prices will likely continue strong during the spring as demand for larger feeders' to go on grass increases.

Slaughter cattle prices during the next several weeks are expected to continue strong, since significant changes in volume are not anticipated.

Farm production cost will continue to rise in 1972 and farm prices will average higher than in 1971. Overall net farm income per farm should average higher in 1972.

Most of the seasonal rise in corn and soybean prices has already occurred. It may be advisable to plan to move corn and soybean to market since their seasonal rise in prices may not pay storage cost.
