STATE POLICE INCREASE TRAFFIC ENFORCEMENT

The Kentucky State Police have launched an accelerated highway law-enforcement program at the state's 1972 traffic death toll continues to run ahead of the total for this time last year.

From his hospital bed in Houston, Governor Ford ordered Kentucky's 16 State Police post commanders to begin concentrated patrols on all high-accident roads and to organize special units to move from county to county in a coordinated, statewide drive to arrest traffic offenders.

The program is a continuation of the Memorial Day Week and campaign which saw troopers donning black armbands to focus motorists' attention on Kentucky's spiraling death toll. Maj. R.F. Norworthy, State Police field commander, said all troopers participating in the program are equipped with radar and VASCAR-equipped vehicles and are being backed up by the patrol's aircraft. Roadblocks and moving traffic surveillance are also being used, Norworthy said.

RACING COMMISSION FINANCES TO BE PROBED

Rep. Lloyd Clapp, D-Wingo, chairman of the Audit Committee of the Legislative Research Commission, says his committee will examine the finances of the Kentucky Racing Commission. "They are a creature of the legislature so it's only logical that we have the authority to investigate the Racing Commission's finances," Clapp said. During the recent special session of the General Assembly, Rep. Harold DeMarcus, R-Stamford, House minority leader, asked for such an investigation. Clapp said the commission apparently is precluded to cooperate in the investigation, which is expected to be ordered when the LRC committee meets in Frankfort July 20.

ADOPTION WOULD END OBJECTIONS TO LEADEN WATER

Adoption of some proposed tighter restrictions would make Kentucky's interstate water quality standards "Fully approvable" by the federal Environmental Protection Agency, according to Jack E. Ravan, administrator of EPA's Atlanta region. Gov. Wendell Ford recently urged the Kentucky Water Pollution Control Commission to adopt those stricter standards in an effort to meet federal objections to the state's water quality regulations.

The conflict began last year when the state commission proposed recreational water standards for 40 per cent of the Ohio River in Kentucky, despite an EPA recommendation calling for such classification on all of the Ohio as well as the Big Sandy River. The Ohio River, flowing along Kentucky's northern boundary, is considered Kentucky territory, subject to Kentucky regulations. Recreational and public water supply standards are the two highest of five classifications into which rivers are put for pollution control purposes.

Under the latest proposal, the commission would apply recreational standards to all of the Ohio River in Kentucky, the Big Sandy River, and the Top Fork and Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy. Ravan told a recent commission hearing that adoption of the regulations would end all federal objections to the Kentucky water quality plan.

He also requested the commission to give recreational classification to 27 minor streams which cross into Tennessee, by no later than Jan. 1, 1973.

COURT DECLINES STATE WELFARE CASE

The U.S. Supreme Court has declined to hear a plea that the state be required to grant all welfare recipients a hearing, whether requested or not—before cutting off benefits. The appeal was filed by Clinton County Fred E. Wilson and the Louisville Legal Aid Society, after the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati rejected a similar suit last February.

Upholding Kentucky's right to terminate benefits without an evidentiary hearing unless the hearing was requested, the Circuit Court also backed the state in stopping benefits after such a hearing. Wilson's lawyers contended that, though most welfare recipients do not understand the legalities involved in objecting to discontinuance of their benefits or in requesting a hearing, all would "understand" a simple written statement of proposed termination, and notice of a fair hearing." The state maintained that "the process does not require the conduct of a hearing unless it is in some manner, formally or informally, indicated by the recipient that he desires to be heard."

Continuing payments until all appeals, judicial and administrative, have been exhausted, the state argued, would be exorbitant.

kate are likely not to be popular with young children. Here's a three-point test of a good breakfast:
1. It gives you protein, vitamins and minerals - minerals needed to build and repair the body and to help keep you healthy.
2. It provides fuel for body energy.
3. It tastes good.

A good breakfast pattern could range from a simple fruit, cereal or bread, milk, or other beverage to a hearty breakfast fare of fruit, cereal or bread, eggs with meat or fish and beverage. Sound planning would be to have at least one-fourth of the day's food at breakfast. And for the "do-it-yourself" it would be helpful to remember not to strain citrus juice because if you do you'll miss the vitamins and minerals found in the pulp. And, if you are counting calories, you should know that one piece of toast "toasted" with butter is only about 100. Spend calories wisely.

GOVERNOR FORD UNDERGOES SUCCESSFUL HEART SURGERY
Gov. Wendell Ford recently underwent successful heart surgery at Methodist Hospital in Houston, Texas, for removal of a section of the abdominal aorta, according to heart specialist Dr. Michael DeBakay.
Dr. DeBakay termed Governor Ford's health an excellent after the one-hour operation, during which a three-inch section of his abdominal aorta was removed and replaced by a Dacron tube.

The aorta is the main artery pumping blood from the heart to branch arteries.
The abnormality, diagnosed by DeBakay as "aneurism or enlargement at a point in the artery, was discovered at a Lexington hospital following a back injury the Governor sustained in Owensboro.
DeBakay said no blood transfusions were required during the operation and that a bypass of the heart was not necessary. He said only glucose was administered.
The renowned heart surgeon described the surgery as "standard curative procedure" for the condition, a weakening of the arterial wall that could have ruptured had X-rays during back treatment not spotted the abnormality.
Governor Ford, who is expected to remain in the hospital for about 10 days following the June 26 operation, possibly will attend the Democratic Convention July 10 in Miami Beach, Fla.
"While in Texas, Governor Ford can be as physically active as he has ever been, or more so," DeBakay said. He added there is no way to determine how long the aneurism had existed, but

Linville Named As Telethon Chairman

The appointment of Mt. Vernon political leader Howard Linville, Democratic Convention Chairman as local chairman of the Democratic National Telethon was announced today by Carroll H. Ladt, executive director of the Kentucky telethon.

"We asked Mr. Linville to serve in this position because of his dedication to the preservation and advancement of our party and because of his position of respect in the community and the Commonwealth," Mr. Ladt said. "In accepting, he shares responsibility for the success of one of the most unique—and perhaps most important—political innovations in our nation's history."

This innovation, conceived as a means of restoring the Democratic National Party's financial strength, is the creation of Kentucky business leader John Y. Brown, Jr., who directed the phenomenal growth of Kentucky Fried Chicken Corporation prior to its merger with Heubels, Inc., last year.

"The telethon provides individuals an opportunity to participate in the financing of our political system, a system which is being too greatly influenced by the wealth of special interest groups," Mr. Brown said.

He said that while the National Democratic Party has substantial numerical superiority, special interest groups have provided the opposition with a stronger base to finance the upcoming Presidential election campaign.

"The response from individuals in Kentucky and across the country during this telethon will determine, to a large extent, the future strength of our party not only at the polls in November, but in the years ahead," Mr. Brown said. "The dedication of volunteer workers such as Mr. Linville is critical to this program's success, and we are fortunate to be working with leaders of his caliber."

The telethon, which features an array of movie and television stars, will originate from Los Angeles, Las Vegas, Nashville and Miami as an ABC network presentation beginning at 10 p.m. Saturday, July 8, and concluding at 5 p.m. Sunday, July 9 (EDT). Viewers who wish to pledge contributions should call 1-800-368-3561. Those with MasterCard or Bank Americard credit cards may charge their contribution to their accounts. Contributions are 50 per cent tax deductible.

More than 2000 National Guardsmen from across Kentucky poured into Fort Knox recently for their annual summer camp to practice military skills learned in year-round weekend training. During the two-week camp they endured the heat, dirt and hard work of bivouac in the field before donning dress uniforms for the traditional Governor's Day Review. DON'T FORGET TO REPORT SALES TAX

Kentucky Department of Revenue District Manager Raymond Lovett reminds area residents conducting garage sales, yard sales, flea markets and other such temporary or one-time selling activities that they are required by law to report and pay Kentucky sales tax.

Mr. Lovett also pointed out that the public sale of tickets by civic, charitable and religious groups for chili suppers, ham breakfasts, pancake breakfasts and similar functions open to the public, are also taxable sales under Kentucky law.
Persons conducting or sponsoring such activities should first obtain a temporary sales tax permit from the Department of Revenue office, 404 East Center Street, Corbin.

Lovett said that Department of Revenue personnel will be visiting sites of many sales to answer questions and provide taxpayer assistance where required. He added that penalties are provided by law for failure to comply with law.

County Agent's Notes

By: H. Lee Durham

The Pesticide Use and Application Law

At the 1972 regular session of the Kentucky Legislature a "Pesticide Use and Application Law" was passed. This law is to be administered by the Director of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. It becomes effective on January 1, 1973. As the subject indicates, the law is for the purpose of regulating the use and application of pesticides. It requires that persons who, for hire, apply such products (except structural pest control operators who are regulated by another law) to the lands of another shall take an examination and secure a license to do this.

The University of Kentucky Division of Regulatory Services is now in the process of compiling information pertaining to this law. Persons or firms interested in such information should contact the local Extension Office or a request for further information will be sent to the Division of Regulatory Services, University of Kentucky.

Beef Cattle Day Set at UK Farm

Kentucky cattlemen will be able to get the latest information on beef production at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture's Beef Cattle Day on July 19. The event will be held at UK's Coldstream Farm near Lexington.

Kentucky has a beef cow population of about 1,136,000 head, and the income from the sale of cattle and calves in the state in 1971 was some $283 million, according to Nelson Gay, Extension beef specialist at UK. However, Gay says there is room for a large increase in both these figures if cattlemen improve their management practices and adopt the latest in beef production technology. This technology is changing rapidly, and the program is designed to help beef producers keep abreast with the latest developments.

Since Kentucky's beef industry is oriented toward production of feeder cattle, the program will emphasize management of cow-calf operations. There will be a report on the five-year cow-calf production research project which has been underway for three years. The project includes studies of spring versus fall calving, bluegrass versus fescue pastures, and creep feeding versus no creep feeding. New methods of harvesting and handling forage will receive considerable attention with demonstration of equipment such as hay stackers and balers for baling large and small round bales.

7,000 acres. The effects of this feed and forage increase, coupled with participation in intensified feed and livestock programs developed by the Cooperative Extension Service, have resulted in a tremendous growth in beef and milk production.

Data taken from Livestock Industry Contract Buyers show that between 1968 and 1971, sales from beef cattle in the area increased by over three million dollars. Dairy production increased by almost the same amount. Gross receipts from three grand feeder calf sales conducted last year exceeded one-half million dollars.

Tobacco sales in the area, said Pope, once represented about 50 percent of the total farm income. Now, however, tobacco sales represent slightly more than 30 percent and the major emphasis is being placed on beef production and dairying. Poultry and swine production, bringing in about four million and two million dollars respectively each year, remain about the same.

All of this seems to prove, as Pope said, that agriculture of the family farm type, in his area, at least is not only a good way of life, but also profitable. As an indication that the area take this "way of life" seriously, last year by actual count, 16,740 persons participated in Extension-planned programs and received direct educational information and help in carrying out farm and home practices. In the Wilderness Trail Extension Area, the farmers who still possess a lot of vitality.

There are facts and figures to prove it.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Joe Hopkins and family of Cincinnati, Ohio have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Hamlin and Mr. and Mrs. Willie Taylor.

It was christened the "Rockcastle Queen" in honor of the great, meandering river that will be its home.

So others could see the craft, the "Queen" was displayed throughout East Tennessee. And she was even pictured in local Tennessee newspapers.

After the exhibition, the "Rockcastle Queen" faced her first voyage: a long trip on the river of asphalt highway leading from Tennessee, across the winding Clinch Mountain, and into Kentucky toward her Fort Sequoyia home. The beautiful red and white

"Queen" is now moored to the dock on the Rockcastle River, eager for the new Fort Sequoyah to open so she can spend her summer taking visitors on exciting ventures into the past. And, just perhaps, before the summer is over, some small youngster will perch himself on the bow; and, as if probing the depths of the river, he will yell "Mark Twain!" as they did so many years ago.

After all, the "Rockcastle Queen" is quite a boat.

THE STONEMAN FAMILY

Stonemans Will Entertain At Annual R.E.C.C. Meet

These Singing, Swinging, Stomping, Sensational Stonemans will headline an outstanding selection of entertainment for this year's annual membership meeting of the Jackson County R.E.C.C. The meeting will be held at the Jackson County High School, 2 1/2 miles South of McKee, on Monday, July 17, 1972.

As in the past, there is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend. Membership registration will begin at 6 p.m., with the program getting underway at 7 p.m.

The Stonemans you'll remember are the family group that featured, up until a few years ago, Pop Stoneman and his talented and highly entertaining group of children. They started in their own television show, as well as appearing across the country in hundreds of live performances.

After the death of Pop Stoneman, the group stayed together and continued their incomparable success on special TV appearances, stage shows and a string of hit records. They bring to the annual RECC meeting a versatile entertainment package. You will enjoy the folk music and the modern Nashville sound creations as well as that good "old-time" Bluegrass styling from Pop Stoneman's day.

Also providing entertainment at this year's meeting will be Kentucky's finest Gospel Group, the Minnans from Bowling Green. This group is fast becoming famous throughout the gospel music field. Their precision and close harmony sound the increasingly popular sound of gospel music.

Always one of the major attractions of the rural electric annual meeting is the beauty contest to select the young lady who will reign as Miss Jackson County RECC during the coming year. Approximately 15 girls are expected to join in the fun and fellowship of this year's competition. The winner will receive a lovely silver award, the winner's cash, a $150.00 clothing allowance and an expense-paid trip to the state finals of the Miss Kentucky RECC Beauty Pageant to be held during the State Fair in Louisville, in August.

The winner of the state pageant will represent the rural electric of Jackson County RECC at the Dallas, Texas, next February.

According to Jackson County RECC manager, Luther Farmer, this year's annual meeting will be one of the most important ever held. Several significant developments have occurred during the past year that directly affect Jackson County RECC. At the business session of the annual meeting, members will be brought up-to-date on how these developments affect the local rural electric system.

Fiscal Court Sets Tax Levy Of 19.5¢ For 1972-73

A tax levy of 19.5¢ per $100 assessment for real estate and tangible personal property was set by the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court at their June 30 meeting.

The levy is 1.2¢ higher than 1972 due to the Homestead Exemption Act which lowered the 1972 assessment figure a net total of $200,000.

The 19.5¢ levy breakdowns as follows: General Fund, 13.7¢; Library Department, 4.3¢; Library Fund, 1.5¢; Agriculture Department, 1.75¢ and Soil Conservation, .25¢.

The school tax rate was also raised from $4.40 to $6.70 per $100 assessment on all property and a poll tax, for school purposes only, of $2.00 was also set for all male citizens between the ages of 18 and 65.

The state taxation stayed the same at 1.5¢ per $100 assessment on real estate; 15.0¢ on tangible property and 25.0¢ on intangible property. Also staying the same was the 3¢ per acre tax on all privately owned forest land in Rockcastle County.

This is the first time in four years that the tax levy has had to be increased over the previous year's levy. In fact, in 1970, 1971 and 1972, the levy was lowered due to the increase in assessment.

In other business Friday, a motion was made by Sherman Sargent and seconded by J.R. Cromer that "burount to HB 478, an act relating to compensation for services on fiscal courts, the salary of each magistrate shall be set at $160 per month beginning July 1, 1972. This shall replace the present system of all salaries, fees and expense accounts that the magistrates are representing operating on." The motion was passed unanimously.

The Magistrates also voted to accept and approve the 1972-73 budget as set-up by the budget commissioners and approved at Frankfort.

Four Rural Schools Sold At Monday Night's Board Meeting

Saled bids were opened for three rural school buildings and grounds and one rural school building without grounds at Monday night's regular meeting of the Rockcastle County Board of Education.

Successful high bidder for the school buildings, which will be phased out this year with the advent of consolidation in the county, were: Climax School, Sam Mullins, $2,210.00; Owen Ridge School, Matt Powell, $900; Cave Ridge School, Ruby Gibson, $120.00 and Johnetta School (no grounds), Frank Abbey, $150.

The Board also set Saturday, July 15 at 2 p.m. as the date to sell the Red Hill School by public auction. Estle Bullock was named by the Board to act as auctioneer. A decision on selling Cove School was delayed until the August meeting of the Board.

During the meeting, the Board also established the Elementary School Districts. In establishing these lines, the Board decided that if parents wished to send their children to a school outside of the district in which they live, that they (the parents) must transport the child themselves. In other words, children will not be allowed to ride a bus to a school outside of the district in which they live. The lines established for the school district by the Board were: dividing line between Livingston and Mt. Vernon Elementary School to be Amos Owens' residence; dividing line between Rockcastle and Mt. Vernon Elementary School to be Hummel Road at Reinro Valley and dividing line between Brodhead and Mt. Vernon Elementary Schools to be Highway 461.

The chances are good that the upper deck bleacher seats will be in the new gymnasium by the basketball season begins. At Monday night's meeting, the Board voted to approve the advertisement of bids for the seats. Approximate cost of the project will be $17,000.

The Board also approved a contract with Barney Miller, Inc. to install a sound system in the gymnasium at a cost of $2,305.95 as approved by the architect and engineer, Superintendent Parsons told the Board that he had already received a contribution of $100 to help pay for the sound system and the Board approved the acceptance of further contributions on the project.

A request by Forbes-Morris Construction Co. to lower their bid on the new school building to $105 held on by the Board was discussed. The lower fee had been approved by the architect and by the contractors bonding company. However, the Board felt that since there were several items that they wanted corrected at the new school that they would keep the bid at 105% (or $190,000) for the present.

In other business, the Board: accepted School Service Co.'s bids on 60 square cafeteria tables at $43.90 each and 10 round ones at $51.90 each as recommended by committee; authorized Title I ESEA application for 1972-73; authorized Adult Education Program for 1972-73 at Brodhead and Blue Springs; authorized superintendent to make necessary transfers and replacements of teachers as necessary to begin school, to accept a leave-of-absence for Connie Hamm and Yvonne Taylor for 1972-73 school term; accepted resignation of Barbara Norris, teacher Livingston Elementary; approved employment of additional teachers (John Hale, subject to certification at elementary level, Ruth Ann Allen and Deborah Watson); employed secretaries: Shirley Mullins-Livingston School, Patsy Baker - Title I and Bessie Burdett-Central Office; employed ARCS janitors: Lester Cromer and Ruth McClary; approved leasing a trailer to Pulaski County on yearly basis at $800 a year; Pulaski is to move and return trailer; authorized a rummage sale for used school furniture such as tables, stoves, refrigerators, etc., date and place of sale to be advertised in Signal and declared a state of emergency on furnace repairs at Mt. Vernon School if it appears that bidding on a new boiler will prevent repairs before school opens.

Paddle Wheeler Was Problem For Ft. Sequoyah

Anyone wanting to buy an old-time paddle-wheeler like the ones that once plied the Mississippi River in bygone days, would quickly discover that they are difficult to find and almost impossible to buy.

That, at least, is what Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Carlotta discovered when they decided to buy a riverboat for Fort Sequoyah Indian Village and River Boat Town, their family-owned tourist attraction located near Livingston on U.S. 25.

A paddle-wheeler, they reasoned, would be an unusual attraction that would offer an enjoyable experience for Fort Sequoyah's visitors as they ride the Rockcastle River.

But where were they to turn to find a riverboat?

It didn't take long to discover that there are about as many riverboat factories in America as there are stage coach lines. In fact, it had begun to look as if a paddle-wheeler for Fort Sequoyah was merely a dream.

Then Loest and Stanley, Inc., an East Tennessee engineering firm that was helping Mr. and Mrs. Carlotta redevelop the attraction, came to their aid. Since a boat couldn't be found, Loest and Stanley, Inc. built one. And the result is a modified version of the old paddle-wheelers with many built-in safety features to protect the riders.

What it is hardly as large as the Belle of Louisville, it is an authentic replica of a riverboat except for safety modifications. And it's just as much fun.

When the boat was completed, (Cont. To 10)

Brodhead Threatened With Fire Rate Re-Classification

Because of the age of Brodhead's present fire fighting equipment, the City of Brodhead, Chairman, Board of Trustees of Brodhead, has been notified by Insurance Services office of Kentucky of the impending re-classification of Brodhead to a tenth-class city. Brodhead presently has a seventh-class rating.

The re-classification, slated to occur within the next thirty days, was brought about following a recent inspection by a representative of Insurance Services of the facilities.

To the individual property owners, the re-classification to a tenth-class city would mean a doubling of present fire insurance rates.

There has been an alternative proposed by Insurance Services to the City and that is if a creditable first-line apparatus (fire truck) is purchased in order within 30 days, there would be a resurvey and evaluation of the City's fire protection facilities including the new water supply and water distribution system changes scheduled following the arrangements for a new apparatus and the City's fire insurance classification based upon the results of this survey.

What it all boils down to is that unless a new fire truck is placed on order by the City of Brodhead within the next thirty days, the re-classification of Brodhead to a tenth-class city will be accomplished with the rates raised to property owners within the city accordingly.

THRILLS AND SMILES—Mostly spills such as the one above kept the several hundred people in attendance laughing during last Friday night's Lions Club Baseball Game held at Mt. Vernon School playground.

The New "Wilderness Road" Opens In Berea

"Wilderness Road," Paul Green's prize winning outdoor drama, premiered in a new production Thursday evening, June 29 at Indian Fort Theatre in Berea, Kentucky. The performance was threatened all day by possibility of rain, and at one point the first act was delayed temporarily because of a sudden shower.

The audience of 304 people included such dignitaries and guests as Kentucky's Lt. Governor and Mrs. Julian Carroll, Publisher Barry Bingham, Colonel Harlan Sanders, and famed songwriter and folksinger John Jacob Niles and his wife. They were also among the guests at the reception and dinner held for press representatives and invited out of town guests. The dinner was hosted by President and Mrs. Willis D. Weatherford, Berea College, and George Mal-lones, the managing producer of the drama.

Kentucky's first outdoor drama when originally produced by Berea College in 1955, "Wilderness Road" has been revised by the author, Paul Green. Considered the best of Mr. Green's outdoor historical dramas, "Wilderness Road" was awarded the George Washington Medal from the Freedom Foundation for promoting a better understanding of the American way of life.

The new version of this Civil War drama is directed by native Kentuckian Jay Huguley. The musical director is Rolf Hovey, chairman of the Berea College Department of Music. The new production calls for more music than the original, including the use of musical instruments such as the guitar, banjo, fife, and fiddle. Authentic mountain dances are also a part of the new show.

"Wilderness Road" is the story of the people of Kentucky caught in the conflicts of the War Between the States. Perhaps, in no other state was the division so intense and personal as that in Kentucky. People were divided family against family, brother against brother. That tragic part of American history is recreated in the drama.

The show is performed in scenic Indian Fort Theatre, which has been given an authentic out door look by Gordon Pearlman, production designer.

"Wilderness Road" plays 8:30 nightly (EDT) except Mondays, through September 4. For information and reservations write: "Wilderness Road," CPO Box 2355, Berea, Kentucky 40403, Box Office Telephone: 606-986-9403.

An Editorial

Effective July 17, Rockcastle County will be enriched medically by the opening of the Dr. Orson Arvin, a graduate of the University of Kentucky Medical School. On that date, Dr. Arvin will begin his practice here at his office on Lewis Street. Anyone living in this county immediately realizes what the addition of another doctor to the present number means but it also means a great deal more to those of us who use the Rockcastle County Hospital facilities. With the advent of Dr. Arvin, there will now be a doctor on call at the hospital 24-hours a day. This is a goal which the present board at the hospital has been striving for ever since taking over the hospital's operation some months ago.

But, this is not only one goal which the hospital board (made up of Attorney James Lambert, Bill Bailey, Wayne Stewart and Robert Cromer) has realized. At the time of their take-over, the hospital was in perilous condition. They had already been cut-off from receiving Medicaid funds and had been notified that they were in the process of being cut-off from Medicare funds. In these days of almost socialized medicine, this would have spelled disaster for the hospital. They would have had to shut their doors. But, these four men took over the hospital's operation, brought the facilities, record-keeping and other areas up-to-date as required by Medicaid and Medicare and the hospital was restored to both programs. Of course, they did not accomplish this feat singlehandedly, but theirs was the guiding hand that brought about the fulfillment of demands of operating a modern-day hospital.

Now that the hospital has been so thoroughly revamped, including the addition of several pieces of much-needed equipment, the Board felt that it might be a good time to re-introduce the hospital to the community through the pages of our paper. Therefore, the issue of July 13 will be devoted mainly to a picture feature of the improvements and additions to the hospital facilities. Every business in the county will be solicited for advertisement for this issue by a member of the Rockcastle County Jaycees and the money will go to the hospital to further improve it in the form of central air conditioning, a project costing approximately $15,000.

We urge each business in the county to seriously consider participating in this project when contacted by the Jaycees. One advertisement from each business would not run into a lot of money individually but totaled up, a well-supported county drive would mean so much to the hospital. A well-run hospital is essential to the progress of a community and this county and with the coming of Dr. Arvin, with the almost certain coming of 2 or 3 more doctors within the next two years, and with a well-run, properly equipped hospital available, we will be in much better position medically than we have ever been.

One final word I think is in order here. The board which presently runs the hospital is set-up as a non-profit corporation. This means exactly what it says. They receive no recompense for their time devoted to the hospital, and it has been considerable in the past months, nor do they receive even expense money.

In the event, that any businessman is misled by the Jaycees and wish to participate in this project, you may do so by calling the Signal office, 256-2244.

Capitol Digest

The Kentucky Turnpike Authority has sold a $109,385,000 bond issue as part of an initiative plan to refundance some toll-road bonds sold in 1970 and 1971 at record-high interest rates.

The plan, developed by state Finance Commissioner Donald Bradshaw, will save the Kentucky Highway Department about $42.3 million in interest costs between 1981 and 2010, the final maturity date of the 1970 and 1971 bonds.

The $60-million 1970 bond issue and the $100-million 1971 issue were sold to finance then Gov. Louie B. Nunn's toll-road building program, and cannot be paid off until 1981 under their original terms.

Under Bradshaw's plan money from the latest bond sale will be invested until 1981 in Federal National Mortgage Association debentures. The temporary investment will yield the state about $40,000 per year for the early retirement of the 1972 bonds.

In 1981, Kentucky will sell the debentures and use the proceeds to pay off the 1970 and 1971 bonds. Then, in succeeding years, the state will use previously established annual payments from the (Cont. to p. 6)

MR. AND MRS. ALBERT ALLEN DISHON

Adams - Dishon

The marriage of Miss Janet Lee Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Adams of Brodhead, to Albert Allen Dishon of Radcliff was solemnized Saturday, May 27 at the Ottawa Baptist Church.

Rev. Donald Roberts, pastor of the church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Vows were exchanged before a bridal arch entwined greenery and lily of the valley, flanked on each side by baskets of white gladioli and cathedral lapers in branched candelabras.

Mrs. Lavona Payne of Mt. Sterling, aunt of the bride, presented a selection of nuptial music at the piano. Some of the music selected by the bride were "O Perfect Love," "A Time for Us," "Theme from Love Story," "Love is a Many Splendored Thing," and others.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white sate-peau with an empire silhouette. The bodice and long sleeves were of re-embroidered alencon imported lace and clusters of tiny pearls. The separate matching cathedral mantilla was of silk illusion and re-embroidered alencon lace appliques. It was held in place by a cap of lace and pearl clusters.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, lily and eleo-phantus centered by two white orchids. The gown and mantilla were designed and hand made by the bride's mother.

The "something old" worn by the bride was a lace handkerchief that belong to the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Peter Stork, of Darmstadt, Germany.

Miss Susan Moore of Covington, served as maid of honor. Miss Sheri Taylor, cousin of the bride, served as bridesmaid. Their identical floor length gowns were of flocced, floral silk, lavender, pink and mint green and they wore picture hats in matching shades. Both attendants carried french bouquets of pink baby roses, purple statua and baby's breath.

Miss Allison Rae Payne of Mt. Sterling, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a pink dress with puff sleeves and empire waist identical in style to the other attendants and carried a white basket filled with rose petals.

Mike Shelton of Radcliff served as best man. Ushers were David Seillon of Elizabethtown and Michael Adams, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Adams, the bride's mother, chose a dress of pink lace with white accessories. Her corsage was pink cymbidiums.

The bridegroom's mother wore a beige knit dress with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow cymbidiums.

The bride's table was covered with a lace table cloth, hand made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Grace Adams. The table was centered by a floral arrangement and tapers. A three-tiered wedding cake topped with a bride and groom was at one end of the table and a crystal punch bowl was at the other end. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Patsy Daugherty and Miss Edna Adams of Brodhead and Mrs. Mike Shelton of Radcliff.

Miss Margie Dishon, sister of the groom, kept the guest book.

For traveling, the bride chose a blue a-line dress. Her corsage was two white orchids taken from her bridal bouquet.

After a wedding trip in the south, Mr. and Mrs. Dishon will make their home in Richmond where Mrs. Dishon is employed as secretary on the Eastern Kentucky University campus and Mr. Dishon is a student at EKU.

species of mosquitoes transmit diseases such as malaria to men, encephalitis to man and horses, and heartworm to dogs. Mosquito eggs cannot hatch unless they are in water. Keep that in mind. First, look for the standing water you premises; eliminate (if at all possible) all "standing" water. Then check your premises for: Any receptacle where rain water or any run-off water could accumulate. Any temporary water containers. Flatten or dispose of tin cans. Place discarded bicycle and automobile tires 12 inches where water cannot get into them. Tightly cover cisterns, cesspools, septic tanks, fire or rain barrels and tubs where water might be stored. Check your birdbath - empty it and thoroughly wash it at least once a week. Clean out rita-guitars. Check the plants potted in soil - that won't need mosquitoes, but enough water for breeding may accumulate in saucers under the plant.

PLANNING MENUS! Pre-school youngsters to feed at home? You can use all your originality, imagination and knowledge to plan menus for small children - and you'll find, it's still quite a challenge. Creative menu call for advanced planning and appetite appeal. Variety is the key. You should try to include foods with different sizes and shapes. Foods should be easy to manage - such as bite size food or finger foods, include foods with contrasting color. Mix colors such as green (beans) and red (tomatoes) with white (potatoes). Try to include a cold food in a hot meal and vice versa. Use crisp foods in combination with soft creamy ones. Use new foods one at a time - and only offer a small amount at first. Allow time for the children to look at and examine the food. Set a good example; young children refuse adult attitudes towards foods. Strong flavored vegetables such as broccoli, cabbage or

Take A Tip From Italy: Serve A Hearty Summer Soup

There are times when a light summer supper just won't do. So take a tip from the Italians of Milan. A specialty of the area is a rich, nourishing soup made with chick peas, ham, pasta, and subtle seasonings. The traditional version of chick pea soup takes hours to prepare, but here's a version guaranteed to get you out of the kitchen fast. The time-saving ingredients are canned convenience foods which cut down on preparation time, but not on flavor. Quick Chick Pea Chowder begins with chopped onion and green pepper sauteed with garlic and rosemary. Next come cans of Macaroni 'n' Beef in Tomato Sauce. This delicious combination of enriched elbow macaroni and mild tomato sauce with ground beef blends superbly with the final additions of ham, canned tomatoes, and of course, chick peas. Just simmer this thick soup for a few minutes and ladle into steaming bowls for a quick-fixin', hearty main dish. Keep Quick Chick Pea Chowder in mind, too, for an upcoming camping trip. It's great for a tiny camper's kitchen - preparation is so easy and you only use one pot, so cleanup chores are kept at a minimum.

QUICK CHICK PEA CHOWDER

- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 1 medium clove garlic, minced
- 1/4 teaspoon crushed rosemary
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 cans (15 ounces each) Macaroni 'n' Beef in Tomato Sauce
- 1 can (20 ounces) chick peas, drained
- 1 1/2 cups cubed cooked ham
- 1 cup chopped canned tomatoes

In saucepan, cook onion, pepper, and garlic with rosemary in butter until tender. Add remaining ingredients. Heat; stir now and then. Makes about 7 1/2 cups.

Two wheels are better . . .

Or so members of the Bluegrass Wheelmen Bicycle Club will tell you. Once considered fun for youngsters only, bicycling is enjoyed nowadays by more and more grown-up Kentuckians as an ideal light exercise and a chance to escape freeway traffic for a leisurely view of the countryside. Today's bicycling craze is the third to sweep the country in the past century.
