hope the School Board takes note of the strong interest in this game among fourth, fifth and sixth graders and will obtain the services of a coach for them. Again, our hats off to Mr. Hammons.

It seems I am never going to shut-up this week but I do have one more item that I think fits here and no where else in the paper. If you parents will remember that back in July or August a photographer for the Walls Photo Company came to town to take pictures of children which were to be published in the Signal under the heading "Rockcastle County Citizens of Tomorrow." First of all, those pictures were later than anticipated getting to the paper and were not complete when they arrived. However, after contacting the photo company Tuesday, we learned that the other pictures would be forthcoming, we have decided to publish the pictures at the rate of 6 or 7 a week beginning this week and continuing until all the pictures have been published.

NEWS SUMMARY

APPOINTED -- Gov. Wendell Ford has named Woodford County Attorney Anthony M. Witko as Kentucky's first Public Defender. The public defender program was authorized by the 1972 General Assembly to provide free legal counsel for indigent defendants charged with a felony or a crime punishable by six months in jail, a fine of $500 or both. Governor Ford said the program is scheduled to get underway in Kentucky's 53 judicial districts in 90 days.

AMBULANCES -- The Interim Committee on Health and Welfare says it will look into drug abuse and ambulance service needs in Kentucky. The suggestion to do so was made by committee chairman Rep. Darvin Allen, D-Royalton, who said he would name a subcommittee to perform the investigation. The subpanel apparently will concentrate on a bill to have the state license ambulance services and perhaps the personnel who run them.

MAGISTRATES -- A Justice of the peace cannot hold court, take pleas or sentence a defendant inside the county jail, according to the state Attorney General's office. That opinion went to Johnson County Sheriff Ray E. Preston, who said magistrates in his area often come to the county jail to take pleas and fine defendants.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles Runyan, who wrote the opinion, said a jail setting "is not one calculated to promote judicial objectivity or respect for the justices' court."

OFFICIALS -- State Atty. Gen. Ed Hancock says a city council can give its mayor or chief of police a cost of living pay raise at any time, under the Court of Appeals' flexible dollar principle. Hancock's opinion modified or withdrew orders which were issued in 1968 and 1969 under his predecessor, former Atty. Gen. John B. Breckinridge.

strings or restrictions from Washington," Stolz said. "However, there are some provisions in the bill that, on their face, look like they may pose problems. But, it is hoped in administering this program, we will be able to reduce their impact."

Stolz believes the two potentially most troublesome provisions of the bill involve the priority expenditures list, and sections that call for the payments to be deposited in trust funds.

The categories of priority expenditures include ordinary and necessary maintenance and operating expenses; public safety; environmental protection; public transportation; health; recreation; libraries; social services for the poor and aged; financial administration; and a broad category of ordinary and necessary capital expenditures authorized by law.

"The important thing to notice is that there is no maintenance of effort provision; by this I mean there is no prohibition of the substitution of funds on the local level," Stolz said. "It is mainly conceivable that you could put the revenue sharing funds into an existing category of expenditures to free up funds for a category that may not be on the list."

"The Treasury Department will rely solely on certification by local officials that the funds have, in fact, been expended for these categories. We will not in the normal course audit or perform any other activity to insure that the funds have been spent for these categories."

Stolz called the absence of education in the list of maintenance and operating expenses, "a glaring omission."

He was asked for the rationale behind this decision. "All I can do is give you the answer that Wilbur Mills (the representative from Arkansas who submitted the joint House-Senate Conference report) used because he's the one who insisted on the exclusions. He said education is a problem that should be handled separately by an education Bill.

"He was very concerned that what was going to happen in exactly what's happening in some parts of the country. Teacher organizations are negotiating five per cent increases. If the community doesn't receive federal revenue sharing and eight or nine per cent if the community does."

The bill also stipulates that revenue sharing payments be deposited in "trust funds."

"Although we haven't made a final decision on this," Stolz said, "I am confident that we will not require a physical segregation of the funds in a separate bank account. What is contemplated is a separate accounting entity with separate financial accounting statements, that would detail the expenditures of the revenue sharing funds."

"It is my own feeling that we will be able to develop a system that will be burdensome, one that will require a minimum of additional accounting at the local level. I think this effuses a very important purpose—separating the revenue sharing funds from the general funds of the states and localities—because the co-mingling of the funds, in my view, would result in undue auditing and interference by the General Accounting Office, and possibly by other federal agencies with the non-revenue sharing activities of the states and localities."

Stolz said the bill using the funds for matching—either directly or indirectly—other federal programs. Should this occur, penalty provisions of the bill call for funds to be withheld in the future along with a 10 per cent repayment.

"This isn't going to be occasioned by the Treasury Department, unless it is a blatant violation," Stolz said. "We are going to accept certification from the state and local officials."

According to the bill, revenue sharing funds must be expended in accordance with laws and procedures applicable to the expenditures of state and localities over revenues.

Stolz said the first checks will be going out on Oct. 26 or 27. The next checks will be distributed Jan. 2-5, 1973, covering a six-month period. After that, the checks will be

All towns that are duly incorporated are entitled to receive sharing funds.

Gov. Wendell Ford has scheduled a series of regional meetings Oct. 30-Nov. 3 to help local officials with the federal revenue sharing program. The meetings, to be conducted by the state Finance Department, Kentucky Program Development Office, and University of Kentucky, will be held at Madisonville, Elizabethtown, London, Lexington, General Butler State Resort Park at Carrollton and Jenny Wiley State Resort Park, near Prestonsburg.

Of the total, 677 persons, including children, received assistance in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) category and 577 persons received money payments under Aid to the Aged, Blind and Disabled (ABDD).
Statewide in July, 224,095 Kentuckians received public assistance money payments totaling $10,106,276.

EXEMPTIONS - A state Revenue Department official says the March 1972 deadline for applications for tax exemptions under the "Homestead Amendment" cannot legally be applied if taxpayers apply for exemptions before county tax books are closed. James Caboun, general property-tax supervisor for the Revenue Department, said many county officials have sought guidance in the deadline situation. He said the March deadline was set primarily for administrative reasons. The amendment grants an exemption of up to $6,000 on the assessed value of a single-family taxpayer.

John S. Johnson Slain At Residence In Berea

John Stanley Johnson, 30, of Route 1, Berea was shot six times Friday night, October 20 at his home on the Airport Road near Berea. According to Madison County Sheriff C.S. Curry, Johnson was shot with a .32 caliber pistol at about 8:30 p.m. Friday night. Curry was called to the Johnson home very early Sunday morning by Richmond City Police. Pine Hill Rural Station To Be Closed October 31

THE Pine Hill Rural Station will be closed at the close of business October 31, according to James O. Smith, Mt. Vernon Postmaster. Mr. Smith apologized for the short notice to patrons of the station but said that the station will be closed by telephone Wednesday morning, October 25, from Lexington that the office would be closed on October 31. Mrs. Doris Cash, postmistress of the station requested that she be relieved of her duties over six weeks ago and there is a possibility that the station will be re-aid at a later date. Patrons of the Pine Hill Rural Station should make other plans immediately to receive their mail. They may do this by putting up a box on Route 2 or by making arrangements with another nearby post office to receive their mail there. Whatever is decided by the patrons, Mrs. Cash, at 266-2884, the carrier on Route 2 or the Mt. Vernon Post Office at 266-2778 should be notified of the arrangements in order to make the changeover as smooth as possible. Mrs. Smith said there were boxes available for rent at the Mt. Vernon Post Office.

Local Governments Should Receive Funds This Week

Unless there is an unexpected delay, state and local governments can expect their first returns from the federal revenue sharing bill around Oct. 26, according to Otto Szolz, special counsel to the Undersecretary of the Treasury. Kentucky's share of the $5.3 billion State and Local Fiscal Assistance Act of 1970, ratified by Congress last week, should amount to $87.3 million. State government will receive approximately one-third of the funds with county and local governments sharing the remaining two-thirds. Szolz said the total each state receives will be based on tax figures obtained from a 1967 Census Bureau report. "These were the best estimates we could come up with at this time," Szolz explained. "There will be no recalculation prior to the time checks go out. But we are constantly verifying our data and the basis for redistribution will be recalculated on an annual basis." Szolz, who was attempting to explain the restrictions and limitations of the bill so that state and local officials will be aware of them by the time the checks arrive, is anticipating some early problems. He is particularly concerned with the provision in the bill that deals with restrictions on spending. "Basically, our objective was to reduce the federal involvement in the program and rely on local accountability with no (Cont. to 13)

JOHN NICHOLS'

Frankfort Watchline

No matter how reluctant Gov. Ford really is to call a special session, there are too many intruding factors these days to rule one out.

Therefore, if such a session becomes inevitable, the governor seems likely to throw in three subjects.

The overriding topic lately is the federal revenue sharing bill, which would give the state more than $29 million to spend, probably in the next 18 months.

If the state must actually spend the money and not just earmark it for later, a special session would be necessary. And if so, then Ford probably would wait to learn if school financing—namely the property tax—also should be taken up.

The Supreme Court has begun hearings on the equality of opportunity issue as regards education. Maybe this would dovetail in timing with the revenue sharing matter and both could be handled by the same session.

The third item is capital punishment, apparently forbidden by the Supreme Court, with rehearing petitions turned down.

Atty. Gen. Ed Hancock has expressed his desire for a special session just to get some death penalty statutes on the books in line with the Supreme Court rulings—which may not rule out capital punishment for certain crimes. The governor may go along since he has indicated he believes in such penalties for the worst types of felons.

So, if we were guessing at the moment—and events have a way of overtaking guesses these days—we would venture you'll see our lawmakers back in the Capitol before the year is out.

That's The Spirit!—Sen. Mike Moloney, D-Lexington, who heads the interim subcommittee that reviews administrative regulations, took a dig at the press the other day. Moloney noted the presence of one wire service reporter, and also noted he was the first to show up for a session since the subcommittee started meeting earlier this year.

Furthermore, he noted, the newsman was interested only in a regulation on beer. "Wouldn't you know the press would show up only when alcohol is the subject," Moloney quipped.

No More Assessments — It seems a little incredible, but the Democratic administration really is not taxing state workers for the customary political funds.

More than that—the governor sent a kind of task force around the state to tell the employees about the policy and assure them he means it.

We don't view everything this administration does with gullibility. We think there's a political angle to a heck of a lot said and done, in fact. But we must admit the no-assessment pledge is for real.

And, you know, there was no other way to stop it. Taking the matter to the state Personnel Board, for example, would have been a joke in the past decade. It was only the governor who could stop the practice, and he did honorably.

Beer Drinkers, Unite!—That ABC board regulation which makes a brewer post the same price—and keep a given trade area—for all distributors smacks of special interest.

The announced intention is to maintain "order" in the industry, prevent "piracy" and treat everyone fairly.

Everyone, we believe, except the fellow who hops the beer at a retail outlet.

The ABC advocates haven't said so—but although they have all but admitted it obliquely—the new regulation will have the effect perhaps of ending beer bargains in stores.

As one administrator put it, it would hinder or prevent beer price wars.

What's wrong with beer price wars, by the way, at least for the drinker? Nothing more than is wrong with gas price wars for the motorist, we think.

The Republican Pledge—Tom Baker, the 4-year-old son of state Senator Walter Baker, R-Glasgow, seems as devoted to the party as his dad.

One day during the last legislative session, after watching an educational television program, the child ran to his father and proudly announced he could recite the pledge of allegiance.

"I pledge allegiance to the flag," the boy said, "and to the Republicans for which it stands."

Letter To The Editor

By: Robert E. Robinson

Vote! It is amazing to hear people say, "No, I didn't vote in the last election." "I didn't have the time." "Forgot about it." "What's the use." "The Politicians are all a bunch of crooks." "Are all a bunch of thieves and forgot their campaign promises as soon as the election is over if they win, so why should I waste my time by voting."

Friends, believe me voting is a great privilege especially in this great country of ours. Maybe you don't think your one vote amounts to much but there have been several instances where elections have been won by just one vote and it could have been yours. I have often thought of the person who fails to exercise his right to cast a vote for his choice of the candidates running for election were to suddenly be placed in an airplane and deposited into any number of countries in this world and were immediately told by the officials that he could not vote in any of the elections or have any choice as to how he is to be governed.

Friends, there are millions of people in this world of ours who live everyday that have no say in how they are to be governed. I know this to be true from personal first hand experience obtained in my travels all over this world. It doesn't matter which political party you are an individual prefer when you pull that curtain behind you in a voting booth. The important thing to remember is that you are exercising a privilege granted to you by our constitution.

Written by great men over two hundred years ago. Vote my friends! And once you have cast that ballot for the man of your choice you have then earned the right to praise, glorify, condemn or cuss if the results are not to your liking. But if you haven't cast that ballot, you have lost that right to comment on the results or how you are to be governed by those that have just been elected. Remember you have been granted the privilege by the law of our land and you have the choice of whom to vote. Now if that isn't a privilege, what is? Exercise that privilege. Vote! Vote! Vote! *****

Q) I am planning to attend a convention sponsored by my employer. Can I deduct travel expenses to and from the convention?

A) You may deduct the unreimbursed travel expenses, including the cost of meals and lodging, you incur in attending a convention, but only if you can show that your attendance benefits or advances the interest of your own employment or business. The agenda of the convention need not deal specifically with your official duties. It is sufficient if the agenda is so related to your duties and responsibilities that attendance for a business purpose is indicated.

If your wife accompanies you to the business convention, that portion of the expenses attributable to her travel, meals, and lodging are not deductible, unless you can establish a bona fide business purpose for her presence. Incidental services, such as typing notes, assisting in entertaining customers, etc., are not sufficient to warrant the deduction.

Q) Several of my friends and I are setting up an investment club as a partnership. How will we be taxed on partnership earnings?

A) A partner must include as income on Schedule E of Form 1040 his distributive share (as defined in the partnership agreement) of all partnership earnings, gains, losses, deductions or credits, regardless of his actual withdrawals. The partnership, although it pays no tax, must file an annual information return, Form 1065. This shows the results of the partnership's operations for its tax year and the items of income, gain, loss, deduction, or credit affecting its partners' individual income tax returns.

For more information on investment clubs established as partnerships, see IRS Publication 550, "Tax Information on Investment Income and Expenses." It's available free by dropping a postcard to your Internal Revenue district office.

Q) My son is paying his own college tuition this year. Will this have any effect on whether or not I can claim him as a dependent?

A) Yes. Payments for educational expenses are counted in determining total support. If you and your son furnish his total support for the year and your son spent more on support items, such as food, shelter, clothing, education, etc., than you spent for his support, you will not be able to claim him as a dependent.

Q) Is it possible for me to reduce the amount of tax withheld from my pay?

A) Yes. This is done by filing a new W-4 form with your employer, claiming all the exemptions to which you are entitled. In addition, you may also qualify to claim the new special withholding allowance. For details, see your employer or call your local IRS office.

An Apple A Day National Week October 26 - November 4
An apple a day may not keep the doctor away. On the other hand, an apple a year, makes a pleasant, 10-calorie snack or dessert. And, like other fruits, apples contain some vitamins and minerals. A medium-size apple contains about 70 calories.
This is the season for most apples, except the Winesap and Yellow Newtown varieties, which come into the markets usually after the first of the year. Red delicious, Jonathan and Rome Beauty are three of the better-known varieties which are now readily available in the marketplace.
Where would America have been without the apple? Apple-less, you might say. But the significance of apples in our history is far greater than one might think.
Methods of budding and grafting the apple tree were well known from the Caspian Sea to the Atlantic Ocean more than 2,000 years ago. Europeans cultivated apples long before America was settled. But it wasn't long before they brought apple seeds to the New World. And, apples spread rapidly from settlements in Virginia, the Carolinas and New England to America's heartland, as pioneers pushed westward.

Wherever apples went, they proved to be friend winners-in trade, diplomacy, at the table, under the tree, or at informal get-togethers.
Early Americans literally drank their apples-as apple juice, cider and applejack. For the first 200 years of our history, much of every apple crop was pressed into liquid of varying degrees of alcohol.
Apple cider was so important it often served as "coin of the realm" to the doctor, lawyer and even the schoolteacher. Of course, early homesteaders also used apples to make sauces, pies and puddings. And some of the distinctive apple dishes they created still serve us well.
This year, you'll miss a good bet if you don't follow the example of pioneer women, and serve apples in all of the delicious ways you can think of. Why not give your trick or treat a healthy apple for a treat.
Be sure to buy good-quality apples that are mature when picked. They should be firm and crisp, have a good color, and be free from defects. Most apples are marketed by grade, and many retail packages show variety, grade and size. U.S. Extra Fancy is best, and the U.S. Fancy, U.S. No. 1 and combination of these grades, U.S. No. 2 is a less desirable grade.
How about Hot Apple Cider? Nog for a welcome treat after an active day in the season's Who's helping you hold down health care costs?

Here's what KENTUCKY BLUE CROSS' and BLUE SHIELD' are doing:

We represent the consumer in matters relating to the cost of health care. Even if you are not a member of Blue Cross and Blue Shield you benefit from what we do to encourage cost consciousness in providing health care services.

It's true that the price of health care has gone up, like most other prices. Some increases couldn't be avoided if we are to continue to improve our medical facilities and services, and we all want the best health care possible when illness and injury strike.

We work closely with the providers of health care to make sure only needed and necessary increases are implemented.

But if you're concerned about health care costs, there are ways you can help. Don't ask your doctor to put you in a hospital unless it's really necessary. Don't stay longer than you must. Every day someone spends in a hospital unnecessarily raises the cost of health care for everyone.

You are not alone in the struggle against high health care costs. Blue Cross and Blue Shield are with you.

Our only business is helping you get good health care you can afford

County Agents NOTES

By: H. Lee Durham

Cluster Files
A few kinds of insects invade homes for shelter, but except for their annoying buzzing or presence, they are not harmful. The best example of this type insect is the cluster fly. These flies move into the houses for protection, but usually occurs during the early fall months.

Cluster flies look like large, green house flies and they get their name from their habit of clustering in attics during the winter. They may find their way between walls, and on warm days will emerge through small openings into the lower portions of the house where they are attracted to windows. The main nuisance is their buzzing and the accumulation of their dead bodies on window sills. They do not feed on anything inside the home. Outside the home they are parasitic on earthworms. The cure for a cluster fly problem is to screen the means by which they get into the house. If this is not practical, insecticide treatment of the attic may be used. Following are some treatments that may be used: (1) Hang 20% dichlorvos (Vapona, DDVP) resin strips in the attic at the rate of 1 per every 1,000 cubic feet. (2) Apply a 2% Chlorthane spray to rafters and other areas where flies cluster. Prepare spray by mixing 11 tablepoons of 45% emulsifiable concentrate per gallon of water. (3) Apply a 5% malathion spray as above. Prepare the spray by mixing 1 1/2 cups of 55% emulsifiable concentrate per gallon of water. (4) For quick knock-down of flies that enter the living quarters, use an aerosol bomb containing pyrethrin. Spray must hit the flies to be effective.

Grassland Renovation
Now is an excellent time to test soil on most grass fields that you are planning to renovate this winter. Not only does heavy equipment move over fields easier now, but also applications made during fall and winter do just as well or better than those made in the spring.
If you are planning to renovate some grassfields, November is the best time to start. Here is the Process. Till, plow, and harrow the fields you plan to renovate now while the grass is tawny. Sugars are still high in the grasses and will stay high for several weeks. Keep livestock confined to small areas so they can eat the top growth quickly. Five to 10 head of cattle per acre will graze a heavy growth fairly clean in a week to 10 days. Take soil test, and apply needed lime, phosphate, and potash. Fall and early winter liming and fertilizing is easier than that in the spring, and is just as productive as spring applications. Besides, you will likely be too busy to get to this job next spring.

Turn out half or more of a good sod by using a field tiller, cultivator, or disk. Or rolling land, till on the contour. Leave the ground rough. Till to expose 40 to 60 percent of the soil surface.
If these three steps are done now, the odds of succeeding with early spring seedings are greatly increased, because: (1) the grass was removed in the fall, leaving a prime nutritional quality, (2) fertilizer and lime was applied when it was easiest and most convenient to do, and (3) tillage was done when the grass was in a dormant stage.

The case of the disappearing paycheck and what to do about it.

Some people learn the hard way. Paychecks disappear fast.
Day-to-day living expenses eat up a lot. And maybe part goes in the savings account for this year's vacation or another immediate goal.
A good chunk of that money seems to disappear by itself.
So it's no wonder that when it comes to long-term goals, or when an emergency comes up, there simply aren't funds to meet the need.
Unless there was a nest egg building up all that time.
A good way to build that nest egg is with U.S. Savings Bonds. The easy way to buy them is to sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. An amount you specify will be set aside from your paycheck and used to buy Bonds.
And while you're going through grocery bills, car repairs, vacation weekends, kids' toys and nights out on the town, you'll know you're saving money too.
That's a good to know.

Now U.S. Bonds pay 6 1/2% interest when held to maturity of 5 years. 10 months if it's the first year. Bonds are redeemable if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is subject to state and local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.

Don't forget that this Saturday night, you set your clocks back one hour before going to bed because fast time leaves us at 2 a.m. Sunday morning. It's not a chore that I appreciate because it heralds the approach of the long, cold winter just as in the spring when you move the clock up an hour heralds the approach of Spring and the long, hot summer. The only good thing about it is that I can always use an extra hour's sleep provided that my children's inner clock gets wound back an hour and they don't get up at the same time....

I have really been having some fun out of finding out the origin of area names in the County. David G. Singleton of Ohio proved a veritable fount of information last week. Of course, he started off by telling me that I goofed when I said that the Three Links area was named for the Masonic Symbol when it was actually named for the Odd Fellow symbol. Sorry, all Masons and Odd Fellows. Mr. Singleton went on to say that the Odd Fellows lodge was located over the old Sycamore Church. I was right, however, in my surmise that after their oldest daughter. Of course, Roundstone (as anybody should have known, even me) was named for a big round stone lying in the Creek which runs from Boone's Gap to Livingston. My husband, who is a native of that area, tells me that there are more than one scattered throughout the creek, that the name, Mr. Singleton also told us that Quail got its name from the bird population in that area and that Red Hill was named after the color of the soil and sand on the hill. Mrs. Frankie Brown added a little information to the origin of the name Quail. She told us that her grandfather, W.G. Proctor was a storekeeper in the area when the Post Office was named (and was it's first postmaster). A group of residents got together and picked out two or three names to call the Post Office (Quail was not one of the original names chosen) and submitted them wherever you submit these names. They were told however that their first choice was a duplication of an already established post office so Mr. Proctor talked the group into calling it Quail because of the number of birds in the area. Mrs. Brown's daughter, Mrs. Phillip Davis, also added a little information about Will-lalls to the effect that she had always heard that it was named for the first postmaster, Will, who was always ailing. Mr. Singleton also cited us in on the name Singleton Valley which was originally called Boone Valley. Mrs. Singleton bought a first land there, built a house and changed the name of the area. You don't know how interesting this information is and it is really appreciated. If you have any knowledge of the names we haven't covered, please call us....

wees for the past six years without any recompense. Mr. Hammons is one of those rare people nowadays who will take the time from his business several months a year, daily, to help youngsters learn and enjoy a sport that would not have been available to them otherwise. Since Mr. Hammons has said that he will be unable to continue coaching the Peeewees after this year, we (Cont. to 12)

VOTE FOR KENNETH ADAMS SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER

I would like to take this means to appeal to the voters of East Mt. Vernon, Conway, and Roundstone Precincts to keep me on the board for another 4 years.

I want to stay on the board another term so that I can help carry out the educational programs that are planned for Rockcastle County.

If you will take time to consider the improvements that have been made or started during the past four years you will notice that the present board and school leaders have not dragged their feet. To cite a few examples:

1. We have put a fine Vocational School into operation.
2. We have built one of the finest high schools in the state. This was evidenced by Dr. Guger on his recent visit to Rockcastle County.
3. We have added a total of 15 new passenger school buses to the fleet - making it safer for the children.
4. We have expanded services to children through Title I, including art, music, reading, counseling and special education.
5. We have closed all the one-room schools giving every child an equal chance for an education.

VOTE FOR A MAN WHO GETS THINGS DONE.
VOTE FOR A MAN WHO PUTS CHILDREN FIRST.
VOTE FOR A MAN WHO LIVES UP TO HIS PROMISES.
VOTE FOR KENNETH ADAMS

A vote for Kenneth Adams is a vote for a progressive and harmonious school system.

Kenneth Adams
