been established as customary in Medicare records."

Medicare pays 80 percent of the reasonable charges for services covered by the medical insurance program, after the $50 annual deductible has been incurred. If the doctor and patient agree, the doctor can file the Medicare claim and payment will be made directly to him. "In that case, the doctor also agrees to accept Medicare's reasonable charge as full payment for the service," the social security spokesman said, "and can bill the patient only for the 20 percent of reasonable charges which Medicare does not pay."

"If the patient submits the claim himself," he said, "Medicare will pay 80 percent of the reasonable charge directly to him, and he is responsible for the doctor's full bill even though it is more than Medicare pays. The patient may file his claim either before or after he pays the doctor."

Rail Best Place To Store
Leftover Tobacco

Some Kentucky tobacco producers are finding that they grew too much of the golden leaf this year. When their crop is weighed for marketing they find they have gone over their poundage allotment and must take some of their tobacco back home.

What should farmers do with this leftover tobacco once they get it back home? The best thing to do is to put it back on the rail in the tobacco barn.

And the tobacco should be covered with canvas or plastic to keep the dirt off. A year from now it will be ready to go back to the auction.

During the past year Joe Smiley, has studied two methods of handling tobacco which was not sold during the last marketing season. One method was to put the stripped tobacco back on the sticks and hang it on the rail. The other was to store the leaf in solid bulk form.

Smiley found that the tobacco stored in bulk developed a strong fermentation odor, while the tobacco left hanging did not have nearly as strong an odor.

Smiley said a grower can expect to lose 12 to 15 percent of the weight of the tobacco during its year of storage. He said the federal grade may go down slightly, but the main loss is from the reduced weight of the tobacco.

The U.S. Specialist said the tobacco hung in the barn can be taken down and put back in solid bulk form before the new crop is ready to go into the barn.

Hybrid Tea Roses

Hybrid tea roses should have special care for the winter. Now that frost has removed the leaves, they should be raked and removed. Black spot lives over winter on these old dead leaves.

If the rose plants have grown to be 3 feet or more tall during the summer, it will be well to cut them back until they are 18 to 20 inches high. It is not necessary to use special care in cutting them, just straight across the top is all right.

Hedge shears are a good tool for this.

To protect the rose plants during the winter, soil may be brought in from the outside and mounded up around each plant about 15 inches high. Tobacco stalks can be mounded around the plants and they will give protection as well as food for the plants. Straw or hay can be used provided it is held in place with wire netting or something to prevent its blowing away. Leaves are not good because they become wet and pack, and hold moisture that often injures the rose stems, especially when the leaves freeze to the stems.

The good rose grower will either spray or dust the plants just before they are given the winter protection, whatever it is.

Over 1/3 of People Getting Social Security Checks Are 72 or Over

Over one-third of all people getting monthly social security checks are 72 years old or over, according to social security officials here. "Social security pays monthly retirement, disability or survivors benefits to over 23 million people a month," a spokesman said. "About 10 million of the beneficiaries are 72 or over." Of the 10 million, 6 1/2 million get retirement payments based on their own work under social security. About 1 million get payments as dependent wives or husbands, about 2 million as the widows and widowers of workers, and about 500,000 as people 72 or over who are covered under a special provision of the law because they had very little opportunity to earn social security credit during their working years. "Beneficiaries age 72 and over can keep working, earn any amount, and still get the full social security check they're entitled to every month," the spokesman noted. Beneficiaries under 72 will lose some benefits if they earn over $1,680 in a year. "But no matter how much they earn in a year, they can be paid the full benefit they're entitled to for any month in which they neither earn wages of more than $140 nor perform substantial services in self-employment," the social security spokesman said. The average social security benefit paid to a retired worker 72 or over is about $161 a month. A total of 13 1/2 million retired workers, 62 and over, get social security benefits, and the overall average payment is $160 a month.

MENTAL HEALTH TRAINING AVAILABLE TO STUDENTS

The Cumberland River Mental Health Center and area colleges have collaborated in planning and developing programs that will provide students with a training program in the mental health field.
As part of this total training program, students are involved in a variety of mental health programs. The degree of their involvement is based upon the educational level and goals.

Some students, for example, spend a few hours a week at the Center in an "orientation" a "Community Mental Health" program. Others may work one or more days a week as part of a practicum.
Graduate students are doing their intern-work at the local Center. This requires full-time involvement.
Each student is closely supervised by a mental health professional. They receive college credit and are graded by their field-work supervisor.
Many other students volunteer their services. For this they do not receive college credit but they do gain valuable experience in the field of "human services."
At present there are five students, from three area colleges, training under the supervision of the Social Services Department.
In the orientation sequence, Catherine Martin and Laura Lee Holland are assigned to the London Office and Hazel Marshall at Mt. Vernon. All are from the Somerset Community College.
James Deaton, a senior practicum student from Union College, is training at the Phoenix House in Corbin.
Lydia Roberts, a second year graduate student in social work from the University of Tennessee, is now doing intern-work in the children and adult services at Corbin.
Several other students have received training under the supervision of other departments. Some work in Day Care Centers, Adult Activity Units, College Student Program, Children's Services, Partial Hospitalization, Alcoholism, Drug Abuse, Psychology Department and Clerical. They perform a wide variety of functions: outreach, referral, information gathering, individual and group counseling and therapy, and liaison and consultation with the community.

PHONE CALL CAN ESTABLISH APPLICATION FOR SS PAYMENTS
People can now establish an application filing date for monthly social security payments in certain circumstances by making a telephone call to any social security office, according to social security officials here.
"Dates of application for benefits should be established when it appears you may not be able to return a signed application to social security until the following month and may lose some benefits," a spokesman said. "And when you call, you must express your intention to claim benefits."
"The date you apply for social security benefits can be important," he said, "especially if retroactive payments are involved."
People who fail to apply for social security payments at the time they become eligible may be able to get back payments—but only for up to 12 months before the month they apply. "The date of application helps determine how many months can be paid in back payments," the spokesman said.
Previously the date was established by the postmark on a written inquiry about benefits or the time a written application was received in a social security office.

MEDICAL ASSISTANCE IMPROVEMENTS SEEN
FRANKFORT, Ky.—Better management control and more effective administrative procedures in Kentucky's Medical Assistance Program (KMAP) have led to very significant improvements in services rendered to Medicaid recipients, Gov. Wendell Ford has announced.
Results of an intensive survey conducted in August by medical assistance research analysts show that over 97 percent of all Medicaid recipients are receiving all the medical services for which the KMAP is billed, Governor Ford said.
"We've learned three very important things from the investigation," he continued. "Recipients are receiving medical benefits of high quality for the Medicaid dollar being spent in their behalf. Funds are not being abused and the Medical Assistance Program does not and will not

DEMO MEETINGS CALLED FOR DECEMBER 2

Howard Linnville, Democratic Chairman for Rockcastle County, announced today that the precinct meetings to elect new precinct committeemen, women and youth will be held on Saturday, December 2 at 10 a.m., at the polling places used by your respective precinct in the last Presidential Election (November 7).

At these meetings, registered Democratic voters from each precinct will choose their representatives to the County Meetings on Saturday, December 9, to elect the new County Executive Committee.

Industrial Prospects Discussed At Improvement Council Meeting

Two industrial prospects for the county were discussed at Monday night's meeting of the Rockcastle County Improvement Council.

According to Council President Roy Brown, the Tansy Corporation of Florida recently sent another inquiry concerning the price of industrial sites in Brodhead, Livingston and Mt. Vernon. This corporation manufactures toilet compartments. Also, Mr. Brown read a letter to the group which the Council had received from a party interested in locating an air conditioning feeder part business here. The letter detailed the three men involved intent and also said that when they began manufacturing there would be from three to ten persons employed the first year; thirty the second year and from 400 to 500 by the fifth year.

The men are interested in coming to Mt. Vernon to talk to community leaders more about the possibility of locating here.

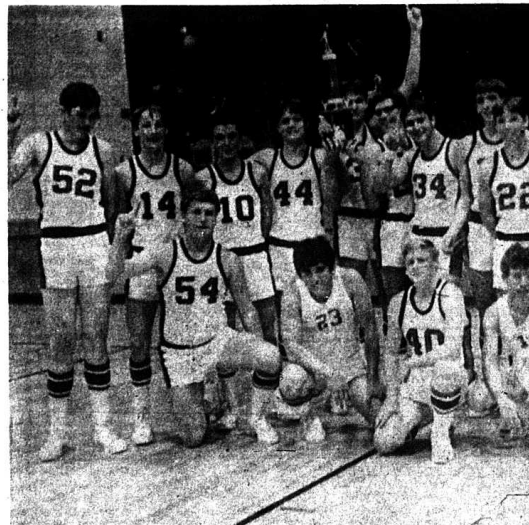

Also discussed at the meeting were the Child Development Centers being set-up in the county under the KIPP program. Cumberland Area Development District Director Galtiff Craig told those assembled that the program is progressing since the staff has been hired and present plans are to have at least one and possibly two of the centers in operation in Rockcastle County by the first of the year. Mr. Craig said that the center at Brodhead would almost assuredly be open then and possibly the center at Maple Grove. On question, Mr. Craig said that presently the centers were set-up for children of active welfare cases only. However, he did say that he did not expect this ruling to last. A training session for workers in this program was held in Mt. Vernon this week for a four-county area.

Getting back to the discussion on industry for the area, Mr. Craig mentioned to the Council that although he did not think the time was right for an attempt to be made to establish an Industrial Park with all the expense thereof, he did think that it might be a good idea if an engineer was hired to do a preliminary study of sites available and to help draw up specifications on the sites so that information would be available to prospective industries.

Mr. Brown gave a report on the progress of the Western Rockcastle County Water District. He told the group that signers for the project, which will cover all parts of the county feasible, are in the process of being obtained and that anyone can still sign up for a $75 deposit which will put a water meter to the customers water line. Mr. Brown also stressed that to make a road feasible, there must be at least eight signers to a mile and after the line is put in it would cost a potential customer a-

TIME FOR CHRISTMAS—Saint Nick is fast approaching, so workmen have begun decorating Kentucky's Floral Clock for the holiday season. Evergreen clippings cut from shrubs on the Capitol grounds and painted silver, green, and red are used in the display. Christmas lights will be added to the clock by Dec. 10, when Gov. Wendell Ford officially lights the state Christmas tree.

The Rockcastle Rockets proudly display their championship trophy after winning the first annual Thanksgiving Tournament at Rockcastle County High School last Saturday night. The Rockets downed Lone-Jack by almost 30 points in the final game after beating McKinney in first round action. The RHS cheerleaders also won the cheer-leading trophy for the tournament.

Renfro's Christmas Party Will Be Sunday Dec. 24

This year's Renfro Valley Christmas Party for Underprivileged Mountain Children will be held Sunday, December 24, Christmas Eve, one day before Christmas in the Big Barn at Renfro Valley beginning at 9 a.m. in the morning.

The Rockcastle County Jaycees will again this Christmas pick the children up by school bus and transport them to the barn and also help with distributing the gifts.

Readers who contemplate having a part in this year's party through contributions of clothing, toys or money are reminded that the sooner all such contributions are received at Renfro Valley, or by the Rockcastle Jaycees, the sooner plans can be made as to the number of children to be invited.

BALLGAMES AT MV THIS THURSDAY NIGHT
There will be a doubleheader grade school basketball game at Mt. Vernon Elementary School Thursday, November 30.

The first game will be between Livingston and Roundstone and will begin at 6:30 p.m. The second game will begin at 8 p.m. between Brodhead and Mt. Vernon.

Admission to the game will be 50c for students and 75c for adults.

The staff at Renfro Valley reminds readers that these mountain children are not the only ones to whom your generosity can be extended at Christmas time. There are children everywhere who need your help but if you don't know who they are and want to help some underprivileged child enjoy Christmas, donations to the Christmas Party will help pass on to a needy child in this part of the mountains a little part of Christmas.

Invitations will be sent to the children as soon as possible.

Rockets Get Launched; Win Thanksgiving Tourney

The Rockcastle Rockets got it all together in style last Saturday night to win the first Thanksgiving Tournament at Rockcastle County High School.

After being behind 7 to 0 with three and one-half minutes of the first quarter gone, Troy McClure sunk an outside shot to get the ball rolling. A couple of bad calls in the first few minutes of the game got the Rockets back up and they went into action. After McClure's score, guard Clayton Cash stole the ball from Lone Jack but missed the basket; however, Ronnie Brown rebounded and sunk it for two. From then on the Rockets played exciting but steady ball and at the end of the first quarter were only behind two points 18 to 16.

During the second half, they steadily increased their lead for a third quarter score of 54 to 38 and really turned on in the fourth to beat the Mustangs 81 to 56.

All five starters "did their thing" well. Center Larry LaFevre blocked several shots and threw the Mustangs off of several more ust by having his looming six-foot-six frame in an intimidating position. Roger Thomas a player who has not been known for taking unnecessary shots, decided to try it and it worked like a charm to make the second-high score for the game with 17 points. He has no special favorite position, just a ball, as basket and a piece of floor. Cash, who moved sometimes it seemed with lightning speed, besides getting 12 points of his own, accounted for several steals and his perfectly timed passes to the open man, usually Ronnie Brown, were superb. Brown picked up several of his 16 points that way. Brown accounted for more than his share of rebounds under both the offensive and defensive baskets. Of course, Troy McClure wasn't any slouch. He also had a hot hand and was the game's leading scorer with 15 points. The Mustangs undoubtedly felt pure frustration with him at one point in the game when he stole the ball three times straight under Lone Jack's basket.

The Rockets had gotten into the finals by advancing McKinney 62 to 49, Lone Jack downed by an easy win over Crab Orchard 57 to 41 and by beating the Consolation game Saturday night. McKinney had an easy time with the Cubs beating them 83 to 56.

The Rockets now have a 4 and 1 record, sustaining their only loss at the hands of Clay County Tuesday night, November 21. The Rockets led all of the first three quarters but went cold about half-way through the fourth to lose their first home game to the Tigers by a ten-point margin.

Just prior to the Rockets game with Clay County, the "B" teams of both schools played a "best of three" game. The undefeated Rockets were behind seven-points but they had other ideas about the outcome. In the fourth quarter they took the lead in an exciting game, and went on to win. The encouraging thing about their performance is that all of the "B" team members are freshmen or sophomores and the material they will provide for the varsity team is fantastic. John Clontz was one of the key players in their come-from-behind victory with his hustling style that robbed the Tigers of the ball several times. Of course, Barry Vanhook's effort cannot be overlooked since in the last quarter of the game, he shot nine times and made eight of them. But the entire team played well and they promise to keep things interesting for basketball fans in the county for the next couple of years.

This Friday night, the Rockets host the Beres Pirates, next Tuesday Crab Orchard comes to town and Friday night the Rockets travel to Laurel County.

JOHN NICHOLS'

Frankfort Watchline

By the time you read this, Gov. Wendell Ford probably will have made an announcement about state reorganization—a progress report and may be some details.

Reorganization is one of the main staves of the current administration. It's a promise Ford made repeatedly in both his primary and general election campaigns last year.

Voters' memories usually are short about most things—except the promise of no taxes. So, not many of us may remember that Ford estimated a savings of $25 million or more a year when reorganization was functioning.

We'll wager he isn't saying "anyone." We'll also bet the administration isn't going to save anything, and may wind up with more state employees as a result of reorganization.

The fact is that every time a plan is made to restructure a function of a state arm or agency, there seem to be logical reasons to add certain supervisory or other employees to carry out the change.

Anyway, enough to offset any theoretical savings in workers. The fact is that despite the ideal situation on paper, the competent staff bosses to get reorganization going are hard to find.

The fact is that no matter what politician promises when he's running—such as cutting the fat from the state payroll—politics and inertia work against any such solution.

The fact is, as former Gov. Bert Coombs once said, that state payrolls have been rising since the coming of the Mayflower and will continue to do so.

Having cited the negatives of all this, let's be fair and say the governor probably is thinking more in terms of efficiency than savings.

In that respect, right on. There is widespread duplication of functions and personnel in many agencies. There are employees who lose while others are overworked. There are agencies with basically the same table of organization for 30 years which have not adjusted with the changing times.

It is to be remembered that Ford was saying during his campaigns aside from that elusive $25 million a year in estimated savings.

He was talking about someone from Paducah or Pikeville or Corbin coming to Frankfort and having to consult a half dozen persons before finding out where to go to resolve his problem, and that often is only the beginning for the stranger to state government.

There is nothing more frustrating for a Kentuckian than to be sent from pillar to post when he tries to get services from his servants here.

Makes no mistake, state workers are yearning for Ford, with all his possible administrative shortcomings, has indicated a devout belief in their role as servants here.

So, we're guessing that when all the hoopla about reorganization is over and some kind of over-all plan takes effect, the average citizen—without connections or a PhD—will find the Capitol and other state buildings contain officials more responsive to his needs than previously.

Come to think of it, that may be what reorganization is all about.

TIME MARCHES ON—If you do not have time to find a solution to your problem, don't forget to stop at the floral clock between the Capitol and Amex.

Combs was responsible for the clock a decade ago and shortly after it became a tourist attraction—beyond his expectations—he predicted his role on the clock would be remembered more than most of his achievements as governor. We don't know if he was joking.

ELECTION CAUTION—As Dee Hudleston kept gaining on Louie Nun a despite the huge NI on margin on election night, one television network in New York simply refused to call the race.

In fact, we don't believe the TV boys ever gave it to Hudleston.

It proves that with all the computerized projection data, the rigid human element still held sway.

We don't know what happened at the network's headquarters, but perhaps something like this went through its collective mind:

If Republican Nixon is hundreds of thousands of votes ahead of his rival, how can Democratic Hudleston win against Republican Nun? It just can't happen, so let's wait.

We're told Hudleston sure knew it was happening, and fairly early in the evening. But not even Hudleston knows why.

ramblings....

by: perline m. anderson

With last week's issue, we completed the running of Rockcastle County's Citizens of Tomorrow. The pictures run were the only ones sent to us by the company who took the pictures back in the summer.

We realize that several children's pictures, who were named, were not run but these we did not receive from the company. Realizing that we had not received all of the photos, we called the company in Oklahoma several weeks ago to inquire as to why we had not received the rest of the photographs.

We were assured at the time that the first shipment was only a partial one and the rest would be forthcoming. So, we decided to begin running the ones we had feeling certain that we would have them all by the time we got to the end of the first shipment. But to date, we have not received another shipment. We apologize to the parents who took their children to this company to be photographed and we did not receive the photos. But you can be assured, that come next summer when the same program is in the office to set-up the same routine again, he will be given the routine.

Received a very nice letter this week from Opp Russell, Jr., a native of Mt. Vernon, now Supervisor of Schools for Anderson County. Mr. Russell told us that he had enjoyed very much our recent foray into finding out the how the smaller communities in our county to their names had had to see the subject dropped without being completed. In his letter, Mr. Russell pointed out that through this method is about the only way that a history of the community may someday be written and how that it helps to authenticate the community names. With his letter he enclosed another on a few of the communities and we will pass it along here for your benefit. "When citizens applied for a post office at what is now Disputanta, the petition was returned from the Postal Department several times asking that some other name be used instead of the one already suggested. D.N. Williams suggested that in as much as there was a "dispute" over the matter, the post office should be called "Disputanta," and it was so named. Ironically, there is also a Disputanta, Virginia. There is also a Quail, Texas. Wad was named for W.A.B.D. Davis and Hunt got its name from General Hunt, Mullins Station and Langford Station were named for the Mullins and Langford clans of whom there are numerous ones in the county. Willie was named for Will and Dee Albright, by D.N. Williams in 1882 -- Mr. Williams was the father of Casper C. Williams. Another source claims that it was named for two sons of a locomotive engineer by the name of Mr. Lunnon whose sons were named Will and Dee. Conway got its name from Mr. Conway, a member of Conway and Taylor, land patent owners, who exchanged points from Boone's Gap to Gum Sulphur. The community of Copper Creek derived its name from Copperheads, of which at one time, there was a superfluous supply of the unwanted, venomous reptiles in that area."

Switching subjects completely we have been wanting to comment on the Rockcastle County High School Band directed by Bob Pfyas. We (why do I say

Rockcastle County's Elem. Feeder System

The people of Rockcastle County are expecting strong athletic achievements out of our new school, therefore, it behooves us to set-up an efficient and smooth functioning program of athletics that will do justice to the total school program and at the same time be a source of pride to Rockcastle County.

The goals of a feeder-system are many and varied, basically however, the major objectives are as follows:
 (1) To send up players well grounded in fundamentals.
 (2) To teach players the basic knowledge and skills.
 (3) To teach players the rules of the game.
 (4) To give players game experience.
 (5) To send up a sufficient number of talented players so that year in and year out Rockcastle will not have to take a back seat to anyone.

In football it was agreed by administrators and coaches to have one consolidated elementary team with each school sharing the expenses. The players were transported to Mt. Vernon for practice and games. The high school shared their practice equipment and transportation setup. Some eighty young people participated in the Fee Wee and Jaycee program. Five regular games were played.

The cooperation of the parents, local press, principals, school officials, coaches and players has been fantastic and has certainly been appreciated by the coaches.

The more experienced Mt. Vernon players were very helpful as they gave tips and pointers to the inexperienced players from other schools. Signal Publisher, Jim Anderson, went above and beyond the call of duty as he was when he aided the "Changang" in a freezing rain. These are just examples of the cooperation that Coach Hammond, Coach Hansel and the other coaches received. Our thanks and appreciation is extended to the coaches.

In the near future the football feeder-system will be reevaluated with the idea in mind to strengthen the program.

In basketball a fourteen game regular season schedule has been set-up. The teams will also participate in the Jaycee Tournament and a county championship tournament.

*Beginning with the games on January 1st, the teams will be holding for the "little brown hat" which will be presented to the team winning the most games the rest of the season.

New uniforms have been ordered or are already in for the teams and with great emphasis being placed on the teams, I feel that the fans will enjoy the type of ball that will be played. We cordially invite all fans to come out and look at the future stars of Rockcastle County High.

The total program is being coordinated with the wishes and desires of Coach Polly and Coach Riddle.

we when you all and I all know it's only I have been noticing the band's performance at the basketball games held in the new high school and just as we feel that the Rockets are hard to beat we also feel that the Rockets band is one of the top ones in the state. Mr. Pybas is obviously doing a super job with the band we thought this was a fine opportunity to tell him and the band members so...

Staying with the Rockets theme, I have to mention their play Saturday night against Lone Jack, no pushover. I didn't get to see them in action the previous night against McKinney but the game Saturday night was one of our enjoyment from three and one-half minutes in the first quarter on through. The boys really put on quite a display of guarding, shooting, blocking, stealing the ball and teamwork. They were all good and win or lose they are an exciting team to watch in action. Of course said win or lose but are really expecting it to be much more of the former instead of the latter. Haven't written this column for several weeks and can't seem to shut up but altho this will also come in handy to help fill up our big paper this week. At this writing it looks like an eighteen pager to initiate the Christmas season in the area and when you're used to getting copy up for 10 or 12, it works the old noggin a little to come up with the extra. Anyway, guess I have rambled long enough for one week...

State Police Warn Against Fake Soliciting

State police are warning the public to be cautious of anyone attempting to sell them advertising space in an out-of-state publication identified as the State Peace Officers' Journal.

The announcement came in the wake of recent reports by at least two Kentucky businessmen who said they were solicited under the guise that advertising in the journal would benefit state police.

State Police Director Larry G. Boucher said both solicitations were made by telephone and, in one instance, the caller reportedly identified himself as being a Kentucky state trooper. He urged that anyone being contacted by a salesman for that publication contact the nearest state police post.

"The Kentucky State Police have not authorized anyone to use their name in connection with the solicitation of any paid advertisements, nor do the state police derive any benefit from such activities," he said.

Boucher said the offices of the State Peace Officers' Journal were thought to be located at Houston, Texas although they also may be using a Washington, D.C. mailing address.

This latest warning by state police was similar to another issued more than two years ago when almost identical tactics were used by salesmen to solicit advertising space for another Houston-based publication which was variously identified at that time as The Police Recorder or State Law Enforcement Officers' Record.

Frontier Christmas In Kentucky's Washington

Washington, Kentucky, the first town in the United States to be named for President George Washington, will again celebrate "Frontier Christmas." The town is being restored to the way it looked in the 1800's, when Simon Kenton and Daniel Boone surveyed its land. This year's Frontier Christmas will be a two-day open house celebration, December 2 and 3. It is now an annual event, with decorations and activities as they would have been in 1790, two years before Kentucky became a state.

"Frontier Christmas in Kentucky" is notable for the people walking through the six buildings now restored and watching the ancient art of arrow making and various other crafts. These include candlemaking, broom making, weaving, quilting, woodcarving, handbasketry, and in addition, the art of portrait painting.

The Valley Bowhunters will be making their own arrows on Saturday, which they will shoot next day during their marksmanship exhibition, to be staged at 2 p.m. Sunday afternoon.

As a result of its location, just south of the Ohio River (in present-day Mason County, southwest of Maysville), Washington was a main stop for various settlers. Travelers left the Ohio River at Independence Landing and traveled four miles south to Washington, where they were safe from attack by the savage Indians.

Both Saturday and Sunday, country ham, transparent pie and other home-cooked food will be on sale. At 4:30 Sunday afternoon, December 3, all the bells in the village will ring, calling visitors to a candle vespers service in the old church museum. The Mason County Men's Chorus will sing spirituals. The congregation will join in traditional Christmas carols, to bring Washington's tourist season to a close.

Washington's restored buildings are open daily from May through Labor Day and weekends only until December 1. Prospective visitors can contact the Cane Brake Shop, Washington, Kentucky 41000, for special tours.

1974 BICENTENNIAL EMBLEM ANNOUNCED

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The Kentucky Historical Events Celebration Commission has adopted an official emblem for the state's 1974 bicentennial celebration, according to Charles J. Hellman, the commission's executive director.

The emblem is in the shape of a shield, approximately six inches in size, with a statue of Daniel Boone in the foreground, flanked by a figure of a Minuteman.

"The statue of Boone was featured because his name is so synonymous with Kentucky pioneers and the opening of the West," Hellman explained. "The Minuteman represents the type of people who responded to the call in the nation's fight for independence."

The emblem emphasizes the combined "Split of 74-78" theme the commission is using, relating the state celebration to the national bicentennial in 1976. Also on the emblem are the official seals of the state and national celebrations. The emblem has a mixed background of blue at the top with vertical stripes of red and white, representing the American flag.

"We felt a celebration of the 'split' had to have an official emblem," Hellman said. "It will serve a variety of purposes as a commemorative memento."

The surviving company will be the Kentucky Family organization. If approved by the stockholders of both companies, the merger will become effective Dec. 31.

CUT-STATE—Deputy Health Commissioner for Environment Ralph Pickard says that, in 1972, Kentucky will receive less than one-half the federal money it got last year for construction of sewage treatment plants. Pickard blamed the cut on President Nixon's decision to make available only $1.9 billion for sewage treatment nationwide. The recent Congress authorized $5 billion for that purpose.

Rice—A Food Fit for Kings, Presidents, Emperors, and you. Rice is one of the most versatile and economical foods known to man. As a result, rice turns up on the tables of kings, presidents, and emperors—as well as the average working man.

Yet, because of its plenteity, it has become one of these gifts from nature that like the sunset, or the change of seasons that we take for granted.

Even though rice is the primary source of nutrition for over half the world's population and is a well known dish in virtually every country in the world, few people are aware of just how marvelous rice really is.

For instance, one-half cup of plain cooked rice only contains 90 calories—yet this same serving also contains 2 1/2 grams of the essential amino acids which enables protein to be effectively utilized.

Rice is also a source of calcium, iron, thiamine, niacin and riboflavin. What's more, its low fiber content makes it 98 percent digestible. In fact, studies indicate that rice requires only one hour for digestion while other foods require two to four hours to digest.

Other aspects of rice that makes it especially suited for restricted diets are that it has only a trace of fat, is low in cholesterol content, is gluten-free, is low in sodium and is non-allergenic.

Considering the versatility and economy of rice, it should be good news to consumers that the U.S. Agricultural Marketing Service reports that rice is especially plentiful supply right now. So take advantage of this plentiful supply and try one or more of the following recipes:

HONEY RICE PEACHES
3 large canned peach halves
1 cup cooked rice
3 tablespoons honey
1/8 teaspoon ginger
2 tablespoons slivered almonds
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Drain peach halves, place rounded side down on baking sheet. Combine rice, honey, and ginger. Spoon into peach halves. Insert slivered almonds into rice. Dot with butter and broil about 5 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Beef and Rice Casserole
1 cup uncooked rice
1 package (1 1/2 oz.) dehydrated onion soup mix
2 cups boiling water
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

2 cups chopped cooked beef or 1 can (12 oz.) canned beef
Spread rice in a shallow pan and toast in 400 degree oven, stirring occasionally until golden. In a 1 1/2 quart baking pan, combine the toasted rice, soup mix, water, butter or margarine and beef. Stir well. Cover with a lid or heavy duty foil and bake in a 350 degree oven for 35 minutes. Makes 6 servings, 275 calories each.

Low-Calorie Rice Pudding
2 envelopes low calorie vanilla pudding

2 cups skim milk
2 cups cooked rice
1/2 cup raisins
1 teaspoon vanilla
Prepare pudding with skim milk as package directs. While hot, stir in rice, raisins and vanilla. Chill. Makes 4 servings.

WARNS—The Kentucky State Police are warning citizens to be wary of anyone trying to sell them advertising space in an out-of-state publication called the State Peace Officers' Journal. State Police Director Col. Larry Boucher said two persons have been contacted by salesmen who claimed purchases of space in the journal would benefit the state police. Boucher stressed that the state police have not authorized such a sales campaign and that troopers do not derive any benefits from such activities.

Peruvian Christmas Fare Brightens Yule Season

Ever wonder what it's like when Christmas comes in the summertime? South of the equator, in Peru, it's the occasion for the great bling of the year! December 25 is a day of games, spectacular street processions, and of course, feasting.

But don't expect a turkey with all the trimmings! Anticuchos (barbecued beef hearts) are much more popular. Instead of beef hearts, we've used chicken livers and transformed them into Peruvian Christmas Kabobs. Simply alternate the livers with sliced sweet potatoes, brush with olive oil, and broil a turn.

For the sauce, start with a can of pantry-friendly Chicken Gravy. Team it with the pep of onion cooked with crushed red pepper and ground turmeric, the crunch of chopped peanuts, the tang of orange juice, and the spunk of sliced ripe olives.

PERUVIAN CHRISTMAS KABOBS

2 packages (8 ounces each) frozen chicken livers, thawed
3 medium sweet potatoes (about 1 1/2 pounds), cooked and cut in 1-inch slices
Olive oil
1/4 cup sliced onion

Generous dash crushed red pepper
Generous dash ground turmeric
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) Chicken Gravy
1/4 cup sliced ripe olives
1/2 cup chopped peanuts
2 tablespoons orange juice

On 4 skewers, arrange livers and potatoes; brush with oil. Broil 4 inches from heat 15 minutes or until livers are done, turning often. Meanwhile, in saucepan, cook onion with pepper and turmeric in 1 tablespoon oil until tender. Stir in remaining ingredients. Heat; stir now and then. Serve with livers and potatoes. Makes 4 servings.

You & The Draft

With the goal of an all-volunteer army by July 1, 1973, recent newspaper articles may have given the impression that the draft will end on June 30, 1973. An article of this type is incorrect and only the induction authority expires on that date.

Young men still will have the obligation to register. Local boards will continue to assign "lottery numbers" after the national drawing and classify and order registrants for physical examination.

Congress has placed upon the system a requirement that it maintain an adequate pool of acceptable and available manpower in the event that the armed forces are not able to maintain the voluntary force, or other circumstances should require a rapid build up through other methods than voluntary.

Recently there have been isolated instances in which young men have been late registering for the draft. Their lack of interest in complying with the law generally has been that the draft will expire shortly, and why take the time to go to a board and register?

This column is intended to caution young men that they have a responsibility to comply with the draft law with respect to timely registration, even though the authority to induct may not be extended after June 30, 1973.

Failure to register is a serious violation of federal law and carries a possible imprisonment and fine if convicted.

A young man has 30 days before and after his 18th birthday to register. He may go to any Selective Service local board or location designated for registration. The address he gives at the time of registration will determine the local board of jurisdiction and he remains under this board at all times.

A young man who registers with his local board, on time normally will receive a Notice of Classification. The class is I-R. This is an administrative holding classification. Only the local board of jurisdiction can classify.

A registrant born in 1954 will receive his lottery number from the drawing to be held in 1973. The "neck of the draw" will determine whether an individual born in 1954 will remain in Class I-R or whether he will be ordered for physical examination and subject to further classification action.

The National Director of Selective Service established an administrative processing number and those having a lottery number above the administrative processing number can assume that they will remain in I-R unless there should be a change in circumstances. *****

Medicare Term, 'Reasonable Charges,' Explained by Social Security Official

The voluntary medical insurance part of Medicare helps pay "reasonable charges" for physicians' services and other medical services covered by the program.

"We have had some difficulty getting people to understand just what a reasonable charge is," a social security official said here.

"A doctor's charge is looked at from two different viewpoints in determining how much of it Medicare can recognize and pay as a reasonable charge," the official said. "First, the law requires examination of the doctor's customary charge—that is, what he usually charges his patients for the service. Medicare reimbursement cannot be more than the customary charge. Second, the law requires a determination of the prevailing rate among physicians in the locality for the same service and prohibits Medicare reimbursement exceeding that rate."

The health insurance organization which handles Medicare claims in this area keeps records of charges for services and determines the reasonable charges for those services.

The prevailing rate is determined according to regulations issued by the Social Security Administration.

"Under those regulations," the social security spokesman said, "the prevailing charge for a service is what 75 percent of the physicians in the area customarily charge for the service. If the physician's charge is his customary charge and is no higher than the prevailing rate, Medicare will pay 80 percent of the charge. If, however, the charge exceeds the prevailing charge, Medicare pays no more than 80 percent of the prevailing rate. "If a doctor's charge is higher than the Medicare reasonable charge," the spokesman said, "it could mean one of three things: (1) that the charge exceeded his customary charge; (2) that the charge fell among those made by doctors in the area whose charges exceed the 75 percent prevailing limit; or (3) that the doctor has increased his charge but the increase has not been in effect long enough to have
