SEAMEN GET RAISE - ADMIRALS DON'T: An interesting consequence of the January 1 pay raise for government employees and the military is that everyone in the Navy will receive a 6.7 per cent boost in basic pay except four star Admirals. The reason for this, according to Chief Petty Officer Ben Holbrook, Rear Admiral-in-Charge of the Navy's Richmond Recruiting Station is that there is a ceiling of $3,000 per month on military pay. Four star Admirals already are earning that figure and thus are ineligible for any raise until public law is modified to raise the present pay limit.

Another result of this raise Chief Holbrook stated is that hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of printed literature and publicity must be destroyed. Since November, 1971, the Navy has published the fact that new recruits earn $288 per month in addition to free food, clothing and housing. The current pay boost changes this easy to remember figure to a more unwieldy $307.20. "Even though the number is not as easy to remember," Chief Holbrook said, "no have had any complaints."

To illustrate the magnitude of the pay increase in the past few years, Chief Holbrook pointed out that the new starting salary for recruits is almost exactly that which a commissioned officer just graduated from the Naval Academy earned just 4 1/2 years ago. "We believe that with this latest raise," Chief Holbrook vented enthusiastically "our salary and benefits package is competitive with civilian pay."

Rockcastle Recollections.....

By John Lair

Mrs. Etta Coffey Hayes, now 90 years old, of whom you will hear much as this work progresses, sent us a very complete account of the Solomon Griffin family and along with it a clipping from the Signal of several years ago concerning the Old Solly Griffin mill. The article had been written by Lee Proctor, a descendant of Solomon Griffin and also a grandson of John W. Riddle, The article follows:

"Some time about the year 1800, Solomon Griffin, born 1777, and his wife, Mary, born 1780, came from the state of New York to Rockcastle County, Kentucky to live and located between Mt. Vernon and Livingston on the Wilderness Road (now Dixie Highway) where the Calloway Schoolhouse is today and later moved 5 or 6 miles from that place and settled on Cove Branch, near its head. They both lived to be 93 years of age and raised a family of 12 children, all of whom lived to ripe old age. Their names were: John, Joe, Issah, Adam, William, Kate, Betsey, Anne, Tamar, Easter and Nancy. Nearly all the Griffins and many other people in Rockcastle and Pulaski County today are descendants of this family. Solly Griffin was a first class Mechanic and woodworker. There is still evidence of his workmanship in existence today in the way of old-time spinning wheels used for wool and flax, reela, chairs and different kinds of house furniture, including old corner cupboards, etc. Mr. Griffin erected an overshot water power grist mill near his home on Cove Branch about 300 yards of the old Boone Spring. The water used to run the mill was run through troughs for a distance of 125 yards from the large cave spring. These troughs were hewn from squared yellow poplar logs about 20 inches in diameter and 20 to 30 feet in length, with the ends overlapping and supported by bents at the proper elevation to run the water over the top of the large wheel, which was 15 feet in diameter, hence the name "overshot wheel." This mill was used mostly for grinding corn, though there was a bolting cloth operated by handpower from which very good flour could be made. In 1825, this mill changed hands, from Mr. Griffin to John W. Riddle, a grandson, and remained in the Riddle family until a few years ago when it was torn down and abandoned."

To illustrate this article for use in our story, Jim Taylor, our official photographer, has reproduced the accompanying photograph from an original belonging to Mrs. Annie Engles. Shown in the picture are John Riddle, J.W. Riddle, Green and Charlie Riddle and Bob Jackson (on horse). Picture was taken about 1900. James Taylor also has a picture of another old mill which he has not yet been able to identify. By the way, if you have old pictures suitable for the history and don't want to take a chance on loaning the original, Mr. Taylor will make copies of them, free of charge.

A report just received from David Singleton, long an acknowledged historian of Rockcastle County, talks about several early mills, including both sawmills and grist mills run by different applications of water power. First, he writes of a whirpool post sawmill operated by Madsin Mullins on Rockcastle River between 1805 and 1815, assisted by his four sons. Singleton says Mullins moved this mill from near Falmouth to its location on Rockcastle River. This was the first such mill in the county. The second was built and operated on Roundstone Creek north of Muffins Station. This mill could grind saw lumber or grind corn and was built and operated between 1865 and 1875 by James Henry (Dort) Mullins and Gardner Mullins. Between 1845 and 1860, Ballinger Mullins operated whirpool post grist mills at two places on Crooked Creek, one about 50 yards below where Boone Spring Branch enters Crooked Creek, the other up the creek about one mile, near where Powder Mill Hollow approaches the creek. Phillip Singleton, David's great grandfather and his brother also operated a grist mill on Crooked Creek about a mile above the north entrance of Great Saltpetre Cave. John Alcorn, Sr., operated a whirpool mill at the mouth of Morris Valley during the Civil War, before and after he and his son, Sam, served in the Union Army. Another son, John R. Alcorn carried on the operation until about the year 1920. The only horse or ox-drawn pin pole grist mill Singleton remembered hearing about was operated at Singleton Valley, just above Matt Singleton's place, by Maret Singleton, about the year 1852. Singleton says the pivot cup is still there in the bedstone.

This is, of course, by no means all the old mills in Rockcastle County but it's certainly a good start and maybe the rest will come in from time to time.

With reference to the inquiry concerning Long Hunter James Dycart, I have learned that he probably has no descendants in Rockcastle. His son, writing from his home in Missouri in 1847, said that all of his fathers six children were then dead, except himself and one sister. We are still anxious, however, to find the descendants of Long Hunter John Baker, discoverer of Great Saltpetre Cave, who died in Rockcastle around 1820. We suspect that Uncle Willie Baker, who died on Crooked Creek at an advanced age, might have been one of them. Who can furnish us with the history of the Baker family in Rockcastle County going back to the early days of settlement?

City Council Opens Bids On Boat Dock And Truck

The first regular meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council for 1972 was held Monday night at City Hall with Mayor Roland Mullins presiding and all councilmen present except Dennis Halcomb.

Mayor Mullins called the meeting to order and one of the first items of business taken up was a discussion with a group of residents of Green Street in the Horseshoe Bend area concerning a water line to their homes. Dewey Alcorn acted as spokesman for the group and told the Council that there were about 25 residents on the road who would sign up for water and pay the $300 connection fee. After discussion, the Council decided that while a cost survey of the project was being made, the bid would be readied so that if, according to the survey, the project was feasible, the project would be started.

Mayor Mullins told the Council that Dave McGill, State Local Finance Officer, was scheduled to be at the meeting to have received the bid from the Mayor Mullins said that he was contacted by Mr. McGill late in the afternoon Monday and told that owing to the weather he would be unable to attend but would come to the Council's next regular meeting scheduled for February 12. Since the deadline for questioning the amount February 12, the Council authorized Mr. Mullins and City Clerk Errol Cromer to meet with Mr. McGill before February 12 and take whatever steps should then be indicated.

As the next order of business, the Council opened two bids which had been received for the Renfro Valley Boat Dock and facilities. High bidder was William R. Ramsey of Belleville AFB, Arkansas, $4,300 per year for five years with option to renew for another five years. The second bid received was from Renfro Valley for $3,000 per year for five years and the same option.

William R. Ramsey of Belleville AFB, Arkansas, $4,300 per year for five years with option to renew for another five years. The second bid received was from Renfro Valley for $3,000 per year for five years and the same option.

County Receives More Revenue Sharing

The county received $37,705 as their second installment of Revenue Sharing funds for 1972. This figure is about $1,900 less than the first check received in December.

City governments, which received their checks, fared about the same with the Mt. Vernon receiving $5,256 and Livingston getting $655.

According to Bobby Proctor, a member of Brodhead's Town Board, Brodhead has received with the county $1,000 in revenue sharing.

DEADLINE SET FOR WOOL INCENTIVE APPLICATIONS

January 31 is the latest date on which 1972 wool applications may be filed in order for producers to receive incentive payments in April, according to Homer Hale, Chairman, Rockcastle County ASC Committee.

"To file for incentive payments on 1972 marketings of wool and unborn lamb sold the producer must provide sales documents and fill out an application form," Mr. Hale said. Sales documents should include: Name and address of the seller; date of sale; net weight sold; live weight and number of unborn lambs sold; gross and net proceeds; and name, address and signature of the buyer of the marketing agency making the sale.

The incentive payment level has been established at 72 cents a pound for wool.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced that the wool payment program will continue unchanged for 1973, with the same level of incentive prices, comments Mr. Hale. This is according to law.

Eligibility for participation in all programs administered by Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service is established under law without regard to race, color, creed, national origin, or sex.

Denver Miller Will Be Primary Candidate

Denver Miller, 36, of Mt. Vernon has announced that he will be a Republican candidate for the office of Rockcastle County Clerk.

Mr. Miller, a native of this county, is a member of Ashland Lodge 640 F.A.M. and a member of the First Church of Jesus Christ at Sand Springs. He was formerly a maintenance superintendent with the State Highway Department and presently owns and operates the Hen House Cafe in Mt. Vernon.

Mr. Miller is married to the former Glenna Graves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Graves of Sand Springs and they have three children: James Everett, 15, Teresa Faye, 12 and Penny Sue, 9.

County Receives More Revenue Sharing

The county received $37,705 as their second installment of Revenue Sharing funds for 1972. This figure is about $1,900 less than the first check received in December.

City governments, which received their checks, fared about the same with the Mt. Vernon receiving $5,256 and Livingston getting $655.

According to Bobby Proctor, a member of Brodhead's Town Board, Brodhead has received with the county $1,000 in revenue sharing.

DEADLINE SET FOR WOOL INCENTIVE APPLICATIONS

January 31 is the latest date on which 1972 wool applications may be filed in order for producers to receive incentive payments in April, according to Homer Hale, Chairman, Rockcastle County ASC Committee.

"To file for incentive payments on 1972 marketings of wool and unborn lamb sold the producer must provide sales documents and fill out an application form," Mr. Hale said. Sales documents should include: Name and address of the seller; date of sale; net weight sold; live weight and number of unborn lambs sold; gross and net proceeds; and name, address and signature of the buyer of the marketing agency making the sale.

The incentive payment level has been established at 72 cents a pound for wool.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced that the wool payment program will continue unchanged for 1973, with the same level of incentive prices, comments Mr. Hale. This is according to law.

Eligibility for participation in all programs administered by Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service is established under law without regard to race, color, creed, national origin, or sex.

New Project Planned For This Area

By Kenneth C. York
U.S.D.A. Soil Conserv. Service

A Resource Conservation and Development Project, or an RCAD Project, as it is called, has been proposed for an eight-county area which includes this county. The eight counties are Rockcastle, Laurel, Jackson, Hart, Meade, Wayne, Bell, and Gallatin. The project will be called the Cumberland Valley Resource Conservation and Development Project.

Plans are being made to submit an application to Congress in May of this year to secure government funding for this project. We realize that there are a lot of cuts in government spending at this time, but it will probably be 1975 before any money is spent on any of the project measures which will go along with this program. In this respect, the project is still in the planning stage. But this RCAD program still seem good, and because of this, we are seeking local support for this project. When you are spending government funds, the kind and types of project measures are limited, but here are a few general things that RCAD Projects try to accomplish. They aim to speed up conservation work on both public and private land, and to improve markets for farm crops, forest products and livestock.

RCAD Projects aim to improve, build, or bring into the area needed community facilities such as hospitals, schools, sewage treatment plants, fire fighting facilities and roads. They also aim to reduce the pollution of air and water. This includes such measures as sanitary garbage disposal. These projects also want to carry out measures for water-battered protection and flood prevention which could include the construction of floodwater retaining structures and/or stream channel work. Money for project measures can be spent for other things too, but these are projects which I thought would be of greatest interest to Rockcastle County. One of the things that makes an RCAD Project different from other government projects is, that it will be initiated, sponsored and directed by the local people in this eight-county area. The people in this eight-county area will decide how this government money is to be spent.

To understand how local people are involved, you must know how the project is set up. First of all, the project must be sponsored by three groups who represent the citizens in each of the eight counties. These groups are: (1) your lo-

The Rockets had an easy time with the Crab Orchard Cubs leading all by soundly trouncing Crab Orchard and Garrard County.

Larry LaFavers came off the bench Tuesday night to turn in what was probably his best performance of the year. As the above picture indicates, he was high above the smaller Lions from Garrard County grabbing rebounds and getting close baskets with assists from his teammates.

Troy McClure, No. 14 in white, Rocket forward, did it all Tuesday night -- rebounding, hitting on several shots from outside and also in close, McClure has turned in over 20 points each game in his last two outings. Travel with the Rockets to Berea this Friday Night.

Frankfort Watchline

It's too bad that the constitutional controversy over Tom Harris' appointment to head the state's new environmental superagency has been eclipsing the fact that Gov. Wendell Ford could have done far worse in the appointment. Critics of Ford's allegedly skirting the state constitution have focused on the governor's maneuver to get Harris into the post, not on Harris' qualifications.

And those qualifications are good. Harris is a former state senator, from Worthville, and has been regarded in past years as a comfortable cog in the middle-class farm-oriented establishment.

So, when Ford named him Natural Resources commissioner after the last regular legislative session, there were doubts among conservationists whether Harris would bend pliantly for special interests.

But, in a matter of weeks, the new commissioner had the state's strip miners losing the line with regard to their current mining practices, and their past and future reclamation activities.

At his insistence, department regulations delaying silt collection, seeding, sowing, fertilizing and the like were put in harmony with the needs of the mountains and Western Kentucky.

On past performance in reclamation, Harris hurt the pocketbooks of some operators. As Ford commented the other day: "Tom has gotten the attention of a lot of people." Now, who has taken the appointments' validity to court? Certainly not the environmentalists. Ironically, it is a Republican lawyer whose party was criticized by Ford during the campaign for laxity towards strip mining operations.

COMPLAINT DEPARTMENT
 —A couple of weeks ago, we found one reporter asking for an appointment with the governor for a first-year-in-office interview.

We pointed out our survey covered only those of us on Press Row in the Capitol. Well, press secretary Tom Preston wants us to know that Ford ~~has~~ have been in for the looking had been granted all private interviews requested: one from Frankfort, one from Paducah, three from Louisville, two from Lexington and one from Huntington, W. Va. *****

WAIT, THERE'S ANOTHER—
 And the item we had the same day on an attorney general's opinion about shooting "Pidgeons" from the Clay County courthouse roof.

We forgot to point out that, though repeated in the opinion, the misspelling originated in the request. How's that for a qualified beg your pardon? *****

FREEBIE— That interim legislative committee meeting held in the governor's office the other day — with no announcement and travel expenses for the members — reminds us of a former state superintendent of public instruction.

He used to call meetings of school administrators — with Louisville the site and coldest state high school basketball tournament.

The administrators got travel expenses. Gee, maybe they even got to see some basketball games! *****

Let the stormy winds blow!

Just insulate them away with electric heat.

You can convert to electric heat easily — right now. Even to a baseboard or ceiling cable system — one room at a time. And then what a winter of comfort you'll have given your family. With economy too. The same proper insulation that fights off the cold holds the coziness in — saving electricity.

Another economy if you have individual room controls anytime a room is not in use, down with the thermostat. And the cleanliness and trouble-free performance of electric heat lead to other economies — less redecorating, little if any maintenance.

Call us now for a free estimate.

SS BENEFITS INCREASED

Senator Marlow Cook said recent calculations made by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington show that Social Security beneficiaries in the Commonwealth of Kentucky will receive an additional $64 million in calendar year 1974 as a result of legislation which passed Congress in 1972.

Senator Cook noted the total amount—based on old-age, survivors and disability insurance benefits plus Medicare payments—would be $1,016,000,000 for 1974.

In the same year, the Senator estimated 17,000 Kentuckians are to get benefits, or additional benefits, by reason of a liberalized "retirement test," while 58,000 widows or widowers are to get increased benefits under new provisions for computing their benefit amounts.

Also, 37,000 people will gain hospital insurance protection under new Medicare provisions.

Cook concluded that none of the figures take into account benefits of the new Supplemental Security Income program which provides for the needy, aged, and the disabled through an income base of $120 a month for a single person, or $185 for a couple, which will become effective January 1, 1974. (This program will be financed from general revenue funds rather than Social Security taxes). *****

KENTUCKY GRASSLAND - LIVESTOCK CONFERENCE

The 1973 Kentucky Grassland - Livestock Conference will be held at the Agricultural Science Center, University of Kentucky, January 16, 1973.

Prime emphasis will deal with the major problems facing forage production and use in Kentucky.

Registration will start at the Seay Auditorium at 8:30 a.m.

Outstanding speakers on morning programs will deal with such topics as: "Mobilizing Kentucky's Forage and Livestock Resources," "Handling Hay from Field and Storage," and "How Can I Handle My Hay Crop."

After a dutch lunch at 12:15 p.m., the afternoon session will be devoted to "Beef Production," "Dairy Production," "Forage Crop Production."

Those attending will be especially interested in hearing Wendell Bowers from Oklahoma State University report on his research leading to the selection of hay making equipment based on site of farming operation. Also, the report of experiences by farmers on how they have solved the hay harvesting and handling problem on their farms.

The conference will end with a Dutch Banquet scheduled for 6:30 p.m. at the Springs Motel. The banquet speaker is Charles Scruggs, Executive Editor of The Progressive Farmer, co-founder of the Southern Beef Council. This conference is designed for professional recommenders and farmers alike.

FARMERS TAX GUIDE

"The 1973 Farmers Tax Guide," now available at the Extension Office, explains tax rules that are of particular interest to farmers. It is designed to help farmers prepare their federal income tax returns.

This year's edition has been expanded to include a chapter on Investment Credit, which was restored by the Revenue Act of 1971. And, for the first time, it has a separate chapter on sales and other dispositions of depreciable property and certain farm land.

Examples throughout the booklet show how the tax laws apply to actual situations and filled-in farm records and tax schedules illustrate how carefully kept records can help a farmer prepare an accurate tax return. *****

Duckling with Presidential Flair

Andrew Jackson, our first "Frontier President," came into office with a reputation for 20,000 — and left eight years later with another for 10,000. A bit ambitious for most of us, but "Old Hickory" was well-known for his generous hospitality and his taste for good food. Wild duck and other game were especially dear to his palate, and he served with a flourish. Here's how to make duckling with apricot dressing. Featuring chopped canned apricots, chopped walnuts, and bread cubes, the stuffing also includes part of a can of drippings. Beef gravy is served with pan drippings and syrup from the apricots, becomes a savory pour-on at serving time.

HERMITAGE DUCKLING WITH APRICOT DRESSING

1 duckling (about 5 pounds)
Salt
Pepper
1 can (about 8 ounces) unpeeled apricot halves, drained and chopped

1 can (10 1/2 ounces) Beef Gravy
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
4 cups dry bread cubes
1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Season cavity of duckling with salt and pepper. Drain apricots, reserving 1/2 cup syrup. Combine 1/2 cup syrup, 1/4 cup butter, and seasonings; toss with bread cubes, apricots, and walnuts. Fill body cavity with neck cavity of duckling with stuffing; secure with skewers. Prick skin and place breast-side up on rack in roasting pan. Roast at 325° F. for about 3 hours (20 to 35 minutes per pound or until tender). Baste with drippings during the last 30 minutes of roasting. In saucepan, combine remaining gravy, 1/4 cup apricot syrup, and 1 tablespoon butter. Heat; serve with the duckling and stuffing. Makes 4 servings.

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. George Burton were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anglin and Nancy, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Burton and Sheila, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Owens and Elizabeth Stokes.

Floyd Stokes has been confined to his bed since the flu.

Sheila Burton is able to be out after having the chicken pox.

ON DEANE'S LIST

Four Rockcastle County students enrolled at Eastern Kentucky University have been named to the Deane's List for the fall semester just completed. One of the students, Phyllis Noe, attained a perfect 4.0 academic standing, for the semester.

Besides Miss Noe, others on the Deane's List are Debra C. Bunch, Thomas S. Parsons and Edward K. Smith.

NAMED CHAIRMAN

Today, Mrs. C.C. (Betty) Lovey, State Honorary Chairman named Mrs. James Anderson, Jr., 1973 Rockcastle County Campaign Chairman for the March of Dimes.

"Birth Defects I've become the No. 1 child health problem in the United States," Mrs. Anderson stated. "They may happen in your home, next door or down the street. We need your financial support to help eliminate these tragedies that stricken some 250,000 babies every year — some 5,000 right here in Kentucky," she says.

"The National Foundation — March of Dimes is making every effort to attain its ultimate goal — prevention of birth defects," notes Mrs. Anderson. "Progress in recent years now enables medical science to act against certain kinds of congenital damage before birth, thereby growing information about the causes and conditions of these diseases, and skilled techniques of diagnosis, treatment and prevention, already are making their impact."

She adds that contributions to the March of Dimes also will help in establishing more prenatal programs for Mothers with high risk pregnancies and intensive care nurseries for the critically ill newborn.

"Remember, birth defects are forever — unless you help," she says.

FOOD CLIPS

Reconstitute means to re-store concentrated food. Frozen orange juice is one good example -- add water, and you have the whole product. Dry milk, same way, reconstitute-- following the directions.

Using fresh brussels sprouts or broccoli? Soak them first in cold salt water (two teaspoons salt for each quart of water).

Yes, the transparent wrap on prepackaged meat, poultry, fish is designed for the refrigerator storage at home for one or two days.

Why not get your vitamin C from fruit or juice, as melon or strawberries at breakfast? Grapefruit, orange, lemon and tangerine, cantaloupe, guava, honeydew melon or mango.

Looking for less expensive kinds of foods? Try chicken instead of beef ribs, non-fat dry milk instead of fresh milk, carrots instead of broccoli and bread instead of seeded rolls.

Yogurt, ice cream and ice milk can replace milk in diets-- but at added cost. An example might be -- one cup of ice cream may cost three times as much as the 1/2 cup of milk it replaces.

Perishable foods -- even at bargain prices -- to amounts that can be used while they are still good.

Trim those leafy vegetable like lettuce and cabbage sparingly. Use the darker leaves they are especially rich in nutrients.

How can you prevent green-ness in a cool, dark place. Yes -- ham, frankfurters, bacon and sausage can be stored in their original containers in the refrigerator. Use within a week for best flavor.

Using solid fats? Be sure to pack fat firmly into cup or smaller measure and level off top with straight, thin edge of spatula or knife.

How many beans? One cup of uncooked beans yields about 2 1/2 cups of cooked beans.

A cooked onion (about 2 1/2 inches diameter) is about 92% water but provides calcium and vitamin A and other nutrients.

CLOTHING WORKSHOPS TO START IN FEBRUARY
You can learn the basics of sewing or improve your sewing skills for more professional -- looking garments, here is your chance.

Classes in Basic Clothing Construction and in Advance Clothing Construction will be held for 2 weeks during February and March.

For novices or improving your basic techniques, there will be two sessions of a basic clothing construction class, one on Monday nights from 7 to 9 p.m. and on Tuesday afternoon from 1 to 3 p.m. These classes will include buying fabrics, selecting and altering patterns, cutting and marking patterns, collars, sleeves, hems and zippers. The first session will begin February 5 and 6. There will be an opportunity to construct a garment during the session.

For those who wish to improve their sewing, there will be an advanced clothing construction class on Thursday ferent subject will be treated each night. You may attend all or just one of the sessions. The classes will be: February 8 - Patterns and Fabric Selection; February 15 - Pattern Changes and Driftcut Alterations; February 22 - Linings and Interfacings; March 1 - Round Buttonholes; March 8 - Working with Knits; March 15 - Sewing for Men; March 22 - Pockets, Waistbands and cuffs; March 29 - Couture Touches and Trims.

All of these sessions will be held at the Harry Sparks Vocational School and taught by Cheryl Witt, Extension Agent for Home Economics. There will be no fee charged. You may sign up for any of these classes by calling 322-2403.
