Kentucky Afield

By Hope Carlston
Dept. of Fish and Wildlife

Each year, Kentucky's ardent hunters look forward to the opening of the various game seasons. In fact, many of the approximately 270,000 license holders like to plan their vacations around the opening dates of the species that they choose to harvest.

The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources over the years has been able to set many of the seasons far in advance, in many cases aiding the sportsmen who plan trips afield far in advance.

The 1973 upland game and deer season is virtually unchanged from that of last year. However, some new and important regulations have been added to deer hunting.

The first one states that all gun hunters will be required to wear some visible article of "hunters" orange clothing as a safety factor. In previous seasons sportsmen were allowed the choice of either red, yellow or orange clothing, but hunting safety studies have shown "hunter" orange to be the most effective.

Another change in the deer hunting regulation requires all gun hunters who have harvested a deer to leave the head attached until the carcass is processed by a locker plant, butcher or hunter. This requirement was made to ease enforcement of the "bucks only" rule.

Opening day for Kentucky gun deer hunting has been standardized as the first Saturday following the first Thursday in November, but the length of the season may vary from year to year, according to Fish and Wildlife Commissioner Arnold Mitchell.

The 1973 gun hunting season will open on November 8 and will continue through November 7.

Gun deer hunting will be allowed in all counties except Jackson and Owsley. Only bucks with a forked antler (or antlers) may be hunted. The limit is one deer per year, whether taken by gun or bow and arrow.

The archery deer hunting season will be the entire months of October and December and deer of either sex may be taken by the archers. This season will open in all counties except Jackson and Owsley.

The upland game seasons and limits are as follows:

- Squirrel - August 18 through October 31, November 15 through December 31. Daily Limit 6, Possession Limit 12.
- Rabbit - November 15 through January 31, 1974. Daily Limit 6, Possession Limit 12.
- Quail - November 15 through January 31, 1974. Daily Limit 10, Possession Limit 20.
- Grouse - November 15 through February 28, 1974. Daily Limit 4, Possession Limit 8.
- Purbeckers - November 15 through January 31, 1974. No Limit.

Seasons for waterfowl and dove hunting will not be set by the commission until the migratory bird season framework is submitted to the state by the U. S. Department of the Interior. This is usually done in mid or late summer. Special seasons for military reservations and other management areas also will be announced at a later date.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF ROCKCASTLE CO. LIBRARY

We are pleased that we have a good prospect for a new library building. It will probably be six months to a year, if everything goes all right, before we are in the new building. We appreciate the efforts of those that are making this possible.

We hope to give even better service in the new building, where we will have more room, better arrangements of shelves, rooms for special meetings, which will be available to any club, church, or civic organization, and ample parking space.

We will be having a poster contest on gun posture, in the next two weeks, sponsored by Kentucky Chiropractic Association and by Dr. Noble. We usually have from fifty to seventy-five good posters, some of the most unusual themes which are the thinking of the children. The winners will be picked by three judges and they will go on to a state contest. They will be on display in the library and we urge you to come in and see the work of the children.

We would like to have some clean magazines. Now would be a good time to discard magazines - as you clean out wardrobes in housecleaning time. The magazines would be passed on to people that do not have magazines and also the bookmobile needs magazines to give to people at the stops, and also school children use magazines in their school work.

We have a pretty egg tree in the library. Did you ever see an egg tree? This is in recognition of Easter. The eggs on the tree are ten years old, they were colored by school children in the fourth grade and have been used every year since they were given to us by a fourth grade teacher.

Any special book or request that we cannot fill will be sent to the Department of Libraries and they will send us the material we ask for at a very small fee to you. These books or materials are then used and returned to the library, and we then return them to Department of Libraries. Many are given to us by the Department of Libraries.

Library week is April 8 to 14. We will have no charge on overdue books regardless of how long they are overdue. If the books are overdue from the Bookmobile, just bring them in or drop them in our deposit box, free of any fines for the entire week.

Bring your books in so that other people can use them.

A shipment of new books has been received from the Department of Libraries. Among them are:

ALASKA, THE LAST FRONTIER, by Bryan Cooper. An authoritative work on Alaska, one of the last wilderness frontiers.

APPOINTMENT WITH YESTERDAY, by Cella Fremling. Milly Barnes appears reliable and refined, but she has left behind a life of unspoken horror.

HAVE BIBLE, WILL TRAVEL

If a man is seen carrying a Bible and pickin' a guitar, follow him to the Wildie Christian Church where he will be conducting a Youth Crusade, April 18-22. Ken Henderson, director of Teen Mission, U.S.A., Lexington, will be well-armed with the tools that will enable him to communicate the Gospel of Jesus Christ to all age groups. Services will begin at 7 p.m. each evening and at 10 a.m. on Sunday morning.

Bro. Henderson is a graduate of Cincinnati Bible Seminary, and he has been involved in youth work since then. He is an internationally known Christian entertainer and singer, and he has shared the wonderful story of Jesus with over one million young people in high schools and churches across the U.S.A. and overseas. He is a singer, speaker, writer, recording artist, guitarist, minister, composer, and a funny fellow.

Appearing during the Youth Crusade will be singing groups composed of young people from Mt. Vernon, Brodhead, and Wildie. Glenn Polly, football coach of the Rockcastle County Rockets, will appear one night to give a personal testimony.

Don't miss this opportunity to hear this man of God. You'll laugh some, enjoy the singing, and you will appreciate the message of Christ's love for you. Kenton Parkey, minister at Wildie Christian Church, extends an invitation to all to attend the services. Come, expect to be blessed, and you'll receive a blessing!

ROCKCASTLE COUNTY GROCERY DISQUALIFIED FROM FOOD STAMP PROGRAM

Ella Robinson - a Rockcastle County food store - has been disqualified from the federal food stamp program for violations, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) reports.

The grocery, which is owned by Mrs. Ella Robinson and located in Mt. Vernon, was disqualified from the food stamp program for one year starting March 27 after being charged with redeeming USDA food stamp coupons that had been accepted in violation of the food stamp regulations.

A regional official of the Food and Nutrition Service said that the store may apply for reinstatement in the food stamp program to take effect at or after the end of the disqualification period. Until the store has been reinstated, however, he said it will not be allowed to accept food coupons.

Food stamps, by law, can be used only to buy food, he added.

Mount Vernon Signal

THURSDAY, APRIL 12, 1973

VOLUME 84 - NUMBER 51

MOUNT VERNON, KENTUCKY 40456

Mt. Vernon In Highest "Market-Basket" Price Area

According to a recent feature article in the Louisville Courier-Journal & Times, residents of this area pay the highest "market-basket" items of any area in the state. The article, "Contrasts in Costs," reports on a survey conducted by eleven Courier-Journal reporters, covering sixty-eight stores in thirty-two Kentucky towns ranging from New Castle (pop. 750) to Louisville (pop. 358,000).

closest point of the survey to Mt. Vernon, the average was $17.44; the same items, with minor exceptions, cost an average of $16.28 in seven Western Kentucky towns; Louisville prices, based on surveys at six large chain supermarkets, ranked this highest - behind Southeastern and Central Kentucky - with an average basket cost of $16.70.

The major argument of Eastern Kentucky merchants is that added transportation costs account for some higher prices in the region. However, the survey reasoned, all retailers, have transportation costs and a merchant's ability to pass them on to the consumer depends on local competition.

JOHN GRIDER FILES FOR CONSTABLE

John Grider of Mt. Vernon was the last candidate to file for office in the upcoming May Primary. Mr. Grider, last Wednesday afternoon, filed for the office of Constable of the First District on the Republican ticket.

Mr. Grider, 27, is Sales Manager for Radio Station WRVK and is married to the former Janet Halcomb, daughter of Mrs. Ada Halcomb of Mt. Vernon.

IN ERROR
Last week's Signal, it was incorrectly reported that John Hansel had filed for Magistrate of the First District. The office filed for by Mr. Hansel was that of Constable of the First District.

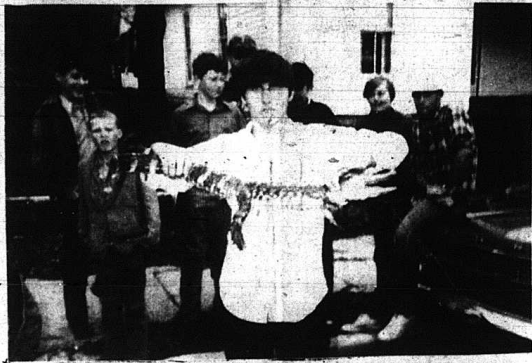

The Signal regrets this error.

FIRST FATALITY-Miss Ruby Penzin, 17, of Garrett, Indiana became Rockcastle County's first traffic fatality of 1973 Tuesday night, when she was struck and killed by a transfer truck on Interstate-75 at Burr. According to reports, Mrs. Carol Bell, driver of the car shown above, was traveling north on the Interstate when she lost control of the car on the slick bridge at Burr. The Bell car struck a truck and came to rest sideways in the right lane. Mrs. Bell said that she and Miss Penzin jumped from the car and Miss Penzin was struck by another truck. According to Coroner Bill Dorell, death was instantaneous due to severe head injuries. Other passengers in the car were Tammy, Greg and Angie Bell; Mrs. Norma Howard and Tony Howard. No other serious injuries were sustained.

FIRST PLACE WINNERS-These three students at Harry Sparks Vocational School were first place winners in the FBLA Regional Conference held Saturday, April 7 at Eastern Kentucky University. In the above photo are, seated: Paula Barnett, Senior Stenographer; Alberta Hasty, Accounting; and Pam Burke, Data Processing. In the back row are the girls' advisers. They are, from left: Miss Shelby Fothergill, Donna Hopkins, and Patricia Broughton. In addition to individual events, the Chapter placed first for having the largest chapter membership in the Region and second in the scrapbook contest. All first and second place winners will advance to the state competition which will be held at the Seaboard Hotel in Louisville April 26-28. State winners will go to the National Conference in Washington, D.C. in June.

YES FOLKS-IT'S TRUE-There was an Alligator roaming the highways south of Mt. Vernon last Sunday afternoon and the above photo proves it. The baby? Alligator, held by Robert Earl Newcomb of Route 2, Livingston, was captured by young Robert Earl and his dad, Robert Newcomb on U. S. 25 between Livingston and Ft. Seaway. The reptile was 41 inches long and is now residing in the Dept. of Fish and Wildlife's Game Farm at Frankfort. There were varied accounts as to how the Alligator got all the way up here, but the most favored seemed to be the story of the trucker, who piled the road between here and Florida, bringing in Alligator up and releasing it in Roundstone Creek at Mullins Station. I don't know how it got here, but it was here.

Rockets Beat Whitley In Opener 11-1

The Rockcastle County Rockets successfully opened their baseball season last Friday afternoon by easily dominating Whitley County 11-1.

Johnny Saylor opened on the mound for the Rockets and pitched a fine game. Using a good curve ball, he held the opponents to just 2 hits in 5 innings of work, walked 3 and struck out 7. Dennis Payne, who pitched the last 2 innings, allowed one hit and no runs.

The Rockets rounded out 13 hits with Ryan Piddie the hitting star - going 4 for 4, including a home run with two men on in the 5th inning. Troy McClure had a good game, going 3 for 4 and Casey Carroll was 2 for 4.

The Rockets got off to a good start in the first inning when Carroll drew a walk, Riddle singled him to second and both came home on a double by Troy McClure.

Next week's home schedule will see the Rockets hosting Laurel County on the 16th and Clay County on the 19th. Home games begin at 4:30 p.m. at Mt. Vernon Elementary School.

SADDLE CLUB RIDE TO SALTPETRE CAVE

Sunday's Rockcastle County Saddle Club ride will be to Saltpetre Cave and will be under the direction of Joe Adams, Glyn Bullock and Ed Rigby.

WEEK END REVIVAL AT FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Young people and adults alike in Rockcastle County will not want to miss the upcoming nights of inspiration and challenge presented by Don Todd, Youth Director for Revival Fires of Joplin, Missouri. The scheduled program will be held at First Christian Church in Mt. Vernon beginning Friday night, April 13 at 7 p.m., will continue on Saturday morning at 9 a.m., again Saturday night at 7 p.m. and will conclude with services beginning Monday at 10 p.m. and evening service at 7 p.m.

Those attending may expect a very dynamic presentation of music and message! Don sings the new sounds of "modern Gospel" music which is sweeping the country. By pre-recorded stereo tape, Don is accompanied by the Bar-Man orchestra and the New Direction Singers. Don will also have his 12 string guitar to conduct a sing-a-long.

During the past several years, Don has toured extensively in the United States, as well as several foreign countries and has become well-known in his travels. Many of the songs in his record albums he wrote himself. Don is a regular feature on the weekly Revival Fires TV program, seen on 156 stations and is privileged to work with top names in entertainment such as Art Linkletter, Stuart Hamblin, Donna Kay Van Dyke and others.

Since Don works full-time with youth, he is well informed with "what's happening" today. Don shares personally with youth of the "Jesus movement," those with drug problems; and youth in numerous churches and schools. These subjects, among others, will be discussed during the program.

When Don first steps to the microphone, you know he is sincere, dedicated and talented and that you will receive a great

Log Cabin "Thieves" Are Roaming Again

The log cabin thieves have struck again, this time on land belonging to Mrs. Hazel P. Owens of Mt. Vernon.

The theft on Mrs. Owens' property on the Rockcastle River was discovered by her son, Terry, who had brought some students from the London Vocational School, where he is an instructor, to help move some logs.

Terry, his brother, Floyd, and a nephew, Denver Baker, had torn down two old cabins and were in the process of building a larger cabin when the logs were stolen.

Mr. Owens said the logs were hand hewn, being flat on 2 sides, about 8 inches thick, 18 inches wide and 12, 14 and some 16 feet long. He said the cabin was about "half-way" up.

The thieves were determined since they had to cross Skaggs Creek at a wide point, climb a bank and go through the woods about three-fourths of a mile to the cabin site.

Last year, Robert Cromer, local Property Valuation Administrator, reported the theft of a log cabin from his property.

JOHN NICHOLS'

Frankfort Watchline

You get the feeling that Kentucky education leaders would not have been unhappy to see the U. S. Supreme Court rule that every child must have absolute equality in educational opportunity. The high court didn't, of course, in recently deciding on what's known as the Rodriguez case. Specifically, it refused to abandon the property tax as an allegedly unequal way of collecting money for schools. The contention was that wealthy areas give their children the best in education and poor areas are inherently discriminated-against financially. So we're back-at least in Kentucky-to where we started anyway. But maybe not quite, not if educational and citizen interests have their way. Right now the state Education Department, in its ponderous way, is sponsoring a massive study of the Minimum Foundation program, which is the conduit through which the state finances in part 190 local districts.

SO THAT'S HOW IT USED TO BE—The displays at the Kentucky Derby Museum at Churchill Downs contain many memories of the great horses, trainers, jockeys, and races of the past. There are a few of the 190,000 visitors the museum receives each year from all 50 states and more than 100 foreign countries.

There have been reams of releases, studies in unnecessary depth by outside consultants and many meetings, with a 100-member advisory committee doing the spadework. But backing them up, so the state education agency says, are 5,000 concerned citizens volunteering their views to help refine the final foundation report, due this summer.

The other day at a news conference, the citizens' council came up with proposals which go some way towards the Rodriguez concept. To oversimplify, one of the main suggestions for the state to subsidize the poorer districts so that their pupils in effect are backed by the same tax power as the richer ones.

As an example, one penny in tax in Jefferson County goes a much longer way towards educating a child there than the same penny imposed in Wolfe County. The tax ratio is the same, but the expenditure per pupil varies widely.

So, under the proposal, the state will make sure Wolfe County's penny yields as much educationally as Jefferson County's penny.

Ah! How much will it cost? Nobody is guessing at the moment. If the matter ever reaches the 1974 General Assembly, we'll find out soon enough.

The other important phase of the citizens' council plan has been coated over in a sense, or at least not held out for what it is.

Remember in 1965 when the Legislature allowed each taxing district to go up 10 cents each year for two years before a ceiling was set on taxes?

Well, the council is suggesting much the same thing again in different words. In essence, it would force each school district to go in two yearly steps beyond the minimum tax rate authorized under the foundation program. Let's say a district was at the minimum-which now is 30 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

The district would be required to raise this perhaps by 10 cents each of the following two years-no option as in 1965. Then, still following the example, every district would be at least at the 50-cent level and the state would boost the actual per pupil expenditure of the poorer districts which in reality don't give their children that much despite the figures. Complicated, yes. Progressive, yes. It shows compassion, concern, humanity.

And it would sock the taxpayer. And for this reason we predict-if the "refined" package of proposals finally includes the plan-that chances of even partial success are doubtful.

WHAT'S IN A WORD?-A woman telephoned the Highway Department district office at Pikeville to report what she called a great need on Marrowbone Creek.

"Right below John Rowe's bottom in' that stiff curve we need some glancers awful bad," she said.

"I'm sorry, ma'am, I'm afraid I don't understand exactly what you mean," Victor Tackett said.

"Glancers," the impatient woman said. "You know, them things you put up on the edge of the bank and when you hit 'em you glance back off the road."

Rockcastle Recollections...

By JOHN LAIR 1973

Who has a copy of the oldest newspaper published in Rockcastle County and what is its name and date of publication? We are told that the Mt. Vernon Signal was established in 1887 and that James Maret was its first editor. Apparently it was first known as the Mountain Signal, as I have a copy of the Mountain Signal published in 1896. It was listed as the Mountain Signal in 1888. It was still being published under that title. Who was its name Mt. Vernon added to its title and who was editor at that time? Apparently the same man, since I have a copy of The Mt. Vernon Signal issued in 1896. Maret listed as editor. I have not yet gotten around to more thorough research, but I seem to recall that there was a paper published under the name of Mountain Eagle, published first at Livingston by a man named Smith, who at a later date purchased and edited the Mt. Vernon Signal and later took over a paper in Richmond, Kentucky where, I believe, he was shot and killed. Maybe some of you old-timers can tell me more about it and thus save the delay of me having to search out the facts for myself when I do get around to working on the history of the Signal.

By the way, I suppose I have the largest collection of old Signals in the county. Some I have dug out myself over the years and by the bulk of my collection was gotten together by Ralph Griffin and given to me at his death by his wife, Anne, who will be affectionately remembered by a vast circle of Rockcastle friends. A great number of Signals from this collection have been preserved and are in the Margaret King Library, University of Kentucky. They expect to copy the remaining Signal, sometime in the near future, at which time they will have an almost complete file, which will be available to the general public for examination and study. James Anderson, of the Signal, and I are giving serious consideration to purchasing the necessary equipment for showing the film which the library will furnish me in exchange for allowing them to film the originals and making it available for research at the Signal office. Or, better still, maybe we could get donations from others to help buy the video camera. Mt. Vernon Library and set it up there for the convenience of all users of the library. Incidentally, I have a roll of film on the Renfro Valley Bugle given me by the Margaret King Library when they filmed my old file of Bugs. This I would also be glad to donate to the Mt. Vernon Library.

I am looking forward to spending a lot of time checking through my old Signals when I eventually get around to doing it. In hurriedly running through them this morning in search of the oldest Signal I have, I found that the Mountain Signal for 1888 offers a rather complete check on the everyday affairs of the county during the year ending February twenty-fourth of that year. The Mountain Signal for that year was an eight-page affair, of the old "Boiler plate" layout so common with small weekly papers in that day and even to the present time. By this plan, the editor buys four pages already printed, containing outside news and standard national ads with four blank pages, including the front and back, on which he printed local news and advertisements which he himself had secured from local advertisers and for which he got paid, if he was a good collector.

The Mountain Signal for 1888, mentioned above, carried display ads for Newcomb Hotel; Brodhead Marble Works, run by W.H. Colyer; Mt. Vernon Furniture Factory; Maret, Vowels and Co.; Propp, L.B. Adams, Men's Clothing; Moses W. Langford, Langford, Ky.; General Merchandise; J.E. Vowels, Farm Machinery and sewing machines; C.W. and J.W. Ping, General Merchandise; Albright and Co., Brodhead, dry goods, groceries and drugs; George Livesay and W.D. Livesay, and Ky. General Merchandise; M.J. Miller, General Merchandise; Chestnut and Kitts, Orlando, Ky.; General Merchandise and dealers in groceries and coal; Mullins and Singleton, Withers, Ky.; General Merchandise and dealers in tanneries and crockery; J.E. General Merchandise and country produce; F.L. Thompson, General Merchandise; J.L. Whitehead, drugs, tobacco and Jewelry. Among ads for professional services were J.W. May, architect and builder, with Maret, Vowels and Co., specializing in designs for fancy verandas; Dr. A.G. Lovell, Physician and Surgeon; J.B. Brown, M.D., Physician; S.C. Davis, Physician and Superintendent of Schools; Dr. I.S. Burdette, Oculist and Aurist; J.W. Brown, Attorney; Law, W. McClure, C.C. Williams, Attorneys; J.C. Carter, Attorney; James R. Cook, Attorney; J.E. Allen advertised as Undertaker and Real Estate Agent; John Boen, as boot and shoe maker; Thomas Taylor as blacksmith and horseshoer; J.W. Nesbit, was advertising for 250 short staves, 44 inches long, 500,000 36 inches long, 200,000 36 inches long, 500,000 oil barrel staves 35 inches long and 300,000 red oak staves 35 inches long. All these were wanted for immediate delivery.

In addition to the above Rockcastle County advertisers, this issue of The Mountain Signal carried the following advertisements: Anderson Hotel, Barboursville, Ky., with hackline to Pineville and livery stable in connection; Jackson House, London, Ky. C.W. Metcalf, Jr., Barboursville, Ky.; General Merchandise Agent; Louisville and Nashville R.R., Through Trunk Lines South and West; Livery, Feed and Sale Stables, London; Stanford Marble Works, Stanford; Vandpool House, Crab Orchard; B.K. Wearon, Stanford, Castles, Mt. Vernon, Mt. Vernon Furniture Co. advertised for cabinet makers, chair makers and painters and varnishers to work in factory and become stockholders in the company. Griffin Mills, Mt. Vernon, Mt. Vernon Flouring and Wholen Mills, had taken on a new partner, T.J. Hansel, a resident of Rockcastle County. The announcement was signed by Willis Griffin, a pioneer businessman of Mt. Vernon who had brought in many firsts in her business activities.

In addition to editorial comment by editor James Maret, this 1888 issue of the Mountain Signal carried local news and letters from news correspondents and reporters from the following localities: in and out of the county - Crab Orchard, Pine Hill, Woodstock, Wab. Paint Lick, Livingston, Brodhead, Mareburg, Withers, Proctor's Store, Disputanta, Orlando, London, Pleasant Valley, Conway, Plato, Marydell, Mullins Mill, Roundstone. Several of the correspondents had a style of humor all their own. The Pine Hill scribe, for instance, advises a friend complaining of the toothache that if he will fill his mouth with water and sit on the stove until the water boils that it will take his mind off his tooth. He reports that a group of youngsters had recently gathered at the house of Bud Suttles, who was very sick, to set up with him, as was the custom of the day. He states that they turned what was supposed to be a sad affair into a dance, had a good time and were looking forward to a still better time when they would set up with his corpse if things didn't go well for him.

The Orlando correspondent tells of a big cave on Crooked Creek that runs all the way through the hill, has several rooms and a passage called the Devil's Race and that there is something that comes out of copper paint lick, Livingston, Brodhead, Mareburg and tastes just like good corn whiskey. The cave in question is, of course, Great Saltpetre Cave and in another issue of the Mountain Signal, there is a story of two revenue agents who raided two one hundred gallon stills inside the cave, where they found a big box of human bones but were unable to find any distillers. Editor Maret comments that this sounds like the usual exaggerated report of happenings in the mountains of Kentucky, but John Mullins, a resident of the county and himself a revenue agent, verifies the story of the raid.

From reading this old paper and others like it, we are struck with the fact that in 1888 Mt. Vernon had four doctors and five lawyers to take care of a population far less numerous than that of today, which might seem to indicate that there were more lawsuits and fights back then and more doctors were needed to patch up the victims.

To further add to the picture of Mt. Vernon and Rockcastle in the 1880's, we expect to publish in this column next week Bill Davises written account of the town and its people as he found them upon his arrival here to make Mt. Vernon his home. This account, a most interesting one, has been loaned to me for the forthcoming county history by the Davis Family.

FBLA ELECTS REGIONAL OFFICERS

Miss Lori June Kindred of Mt. Vernon was elected Vice-President of Region 5 FBLA. The election took place on Saturday, April 7 at the Regional Leadership Conference at Eastern Kentucky University.

Lori is a member of the FBLA at the Harry Sparks Vocational School where she currently serves her chapter as President. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kindred, she is a junior at the Rockcastle County High School.

The office of Vice President is the highest regional office that a student may hold, being no president except at the state level. The election to this office automatically places Lori on the State Executive Board of FBLA where she will assist the State Officers in making plans for the State FBLA Organization.

Miss Beverly Peters, also a member of the Harry Sparks Vocational FBLA chapter, was elected Secretary at the Leadership Conference. Beverly, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Peters, is presently secretary of her local FBLA chapter at the Vocational School and also is a junior at Rockcastle County High School.

Due to the fact that the State FBLA guidelines will not permit any two regional officers to be elected from the same school, Beverly resigned her office as this was the lower office won by her chapter. Congratulations are in store to both of these girls on their accomplishments.

During the month of April, the County Court Clerk's office will be open each Tuesday and Thursday night from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. This is being done to facilitate the registering of persons who wish to vote in the May Primary but are unable to come in during regular office hours.

ROCKCASTLE CO. 4-HERS IN WASHINGTON

"Good citizenship, with all its history and oratory, really boils down to just two words — Self Government — and we must learn to practice self government in our own everyday lives," Kentucky 4-H Older Youth Conference delegates were told April 8.

Speaking on the topic "Citizenship Begins With Me," Dorothy Emerson, National 4-H Foundation consultant, told the 245 Kentucky 4-Hers: "Citizenship's only hope lies in making democracy work, and the basic principles of democracy are equal and mutual responsibilities. Our chief business is to educate ourselves for responsibility."

Three 4-Hers from Rockcastle County are among the Kentucky young people attending this annual event in Washington, D. C. this week. They are: Wayne McClure, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McClure, Blue Springs; Maria Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stewart, Wildie; and Laura Lee Dupham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lee Durham, Mt. Vernon.

Representing every area in the state, the conference delegates are receiving advanced training in citizenship and leadership during this conference, planned especially for Kentucky youth. Those attending are freshmen and sophomores in high school and, when they return home, they will share what they have learned with other 4-Hers and with their high school classes.

The delegation left Kentucky by chartered buses Saturday (April 7) for the National 4-H Center, where they are spending the week, and will return home Saturday, April 14. The 4-Hers began their week in Washington by attending services Sunday Morning at the Washington Cathedral, Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, and other well-known churches in the area.

The conference opened officially Sunday afternoon with an assembly previewing plans for the week. Highlighting the conference are speeches, discussions and tours related to the heritage of a U. S. citizen. Each delegate also is serving on a conference committee, and committee meetings completed the Sunday afternoon program.

Diane Cabot, with the local Mental Health Association, was the speaker at the Monday morning assembly. Her topic was "You, Youth, and 73." In the afternoon, the 4-Hers took their first tour, going to Arlington National Cemetery, the Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials, and the two Jima Marine Memorials.

During the visit to Arlington, the group took part in a special wreath ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknowns. Representatives of the delegation placed a wreath there on behalf of the Kentucky 4-Hers. The delegates also saw President Kennedy's grave and the Custer-Lee Mansion while at Arlington.

Back at the 4-H Center Monday night, the 4-Hers heard J. Yarmouth, of Kentucky Senator Marlowe Cook's office, discuss the legislative process. Tuesday was spent on Capitol Hill, where the 4-Hers visited their Congressmen's offices and saw Congress in session, the Capitol, the Supreme Court, and the Library of Congress. They also visited the National Archives and saw original copies of many documents affecting U. S. History.

As a special treat Tuesday night, the delegation attended the his stage play, "Godspell." At Wednesday morning's general assembly, J. Morris McClure, with the University of Maryland's College of Education, discussed parent-teen relations.

A boat ride down the Potomac River on Tuesday afternoon took the delegation to Mt. Vernon, where they toured the home of the first president. At the 4-H Center that night, Paul Harris, formerly a member of the National 4-H Center. In the afternoon, the delegates will go to Washington Monument, the Smithsonian Institute and other points of interest in the Mall Area.

A special banquet, to which Kentucky's Senators and Representatives have been invited, is planned for Thursday night. The banquet speaker will be Hope Daugherty, 4-H Program Leader with the Federal Extension Service. Her talk on "What Difference Do I Make?" will concern how the 4-Hers can use the training received in Washington when they return home.

A farewell party will end the delegates' final night at the 4-H Center. Before leaving for home late Friday afternoon, the delegates will spend more time in the Mall Area and visit the White House. They also will stop at the National Historical Wax Museum before boarding buses for home.

Attending the annual Kentucky Home Economics Association Convention, April 6 and 7 at the University of Louisville, Kentucky was Cheryl Witt, County Extension Agent for Home Economics. The week of April 1 through 7 had been proclaimed Home Economics Week in Kentucky by Governor "Pat" The theme for the first convention was "Progress Through Involvement." Approximately 350 Home Economists representing business, teaching, extension, and homemaking heard Mr. Arthur Nelman speak on "How the Changing American Family and Home Economics." The Friday evening banquet speaker was Mrs. Jean Baugh, wife of a missionary in Tanzania, East Africa. Specialists in various areas of Home Economics stressed need for members to become involved in current issues involving families.

Preceding the convention was a Consumer Education Workshop sponsored by the Electrical Women's Round Table and the Kentucky Home Economics Association. Featured speakers were Dr. Mary S. Pickett, Professor of Housing and Equipment of the State University, Ames, and Dr. Elsie Fetterman, Vocational Education at the University of Kentucky.

FOOD CLIPS: The sweetest, thickest sugar syrup used in canned fruits is called "extra heavy syrup." Canned fruits may be packed in light, heavy, or extra heavy syrups, in water, or in slightly sweetened water. The heavier the syrup, the sweeter the fruit and sometimes the higher the price.

What is graded fruit? U. S. grade name on a can or frozen package of fruit can help you decide how to use the fruit. Top quality is usually used for dessert or fruit salad for a company dinner. A Grade C fruit, for instance, would not be as sweet or as uniform in appearance as would normally be used in puddings, jams, or frozen desserts.

Most frozen fruits are packed with dry sugar or sugar syrup.

Remember to add a little warm liquid to slightly beaten egg before combining the egg with a hot liquid or mixture.

Rye flour is always darker than wheat flour. Bleaching has little effect on the color, but improves the baking properties.

Pie crust may be frozen in bulk, rolled in circles or fitted and fluted in a pie pan. Circles should be packed with two pieces of wax paper between layers so one may be removed without thawing the whole batch.

Numbers of bacteria increase as milk ages or stands at room temperature. Milk which has been taken from its carton should not be returned to it if it has remained at room temperature for any extended period.

You'll discover so many ways to make electric heat as economical as it is comfortable

With radiant electric heat, you can have as many different temperatures as you have rooms. Keep it a little warmer in the bathroom, cooler in the bedrooms. While you're thermostatically dialing extra comfort, you're also dialing extra economy... because you're not wasting electricity — and money — overheating some rooms.

And if you decide on an electric heat pump or furnace, you can still economize and assure yourself of more efficient heating... by insisting on proper insulation. So before you build, call any of our offices and ask for a free electric heat estimate.
