Clow Corporation, on U.S. 150 between Mt. Vernon and Brodhead, is an industry which plans an important part in the economic life of Rockcastle County.

At present, there are fifty-two employees of the publicly owned company, which has its home office in Chicago, Illinois. Except for three, these employees are all local workers with over one-half of the welders having been trained at the local vocational school. These employees account for the approximate $400,000 payroll which the company, at present, pays annually in this county.

Billy P. Cass, plant superintendent, is also at present in charge of the plant's 8,000 feet expansion which is scheduled to be completed soon. After completion of the expansion, the plant will cover 35,000 square feet of its twelve-acre site. This is the second time the plant has been expanded since it was originally built with 17,000 square feet.

The local plant manufactures waste disposal plants of varying sizes for cities, subdivisions, trailer parks and industries and has outlets all over the United States and in several foreign countries.

Norman Marik, who moved here from Chicago when the company bought the business (then known as Cass Metals), serves as Plant Manager and makes his home in Lexington. Clow is at present the second largest employer in the county (next to Kentucky Stone) and certainly the largest manufacturing facility. With the expanded facilities now being planned by the company, the number of employees will, of course, increase.

The company's division office is located in Florence, Kentucky and is the division office for three plants. The company as a whole is made up of thirty-seven plants and, as of December 31, employed 3,533 workers.

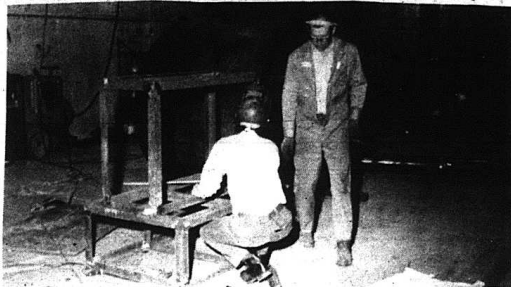

Besides the economic factor, the company's attitude toward the community is a good one. As Plant Superintendent Billy Cass expressed it, "Clow Company would like to make it clear that they are here to stay and wish to be a part of the community."

TEEN WEEKEND CAMP TO BE JUNE 22-24

Teenagers (14-19) of Rockcastle County will be able to attend a weekend teen camp at the J. M. Feltner Memorial 4-H Camp at London. The camp will begin at 3:00 P.M. on Friday, June 22 and end at 3:00 P.M. on Sunday, June 24, 1973.

Special features of the camp include discussion groups on the responsibilities of marriage and after school, a cook-out, swimming, dance, as well as other traditional camp activities of recreation and crafts. The fee for the camp is $8.00.

The camp is open to all teenage youth who wish to participate in the camping experience such as: boating, archery, group sports, crafts, nature studies and campfires. Here is an opportunity to meet new friends, new sports and take part in relevant discussions in teenager's interests and their needs of the future. Campers do not need to be 4-H members.

For more information or to register, contact Cheryl Witt, County Extension Agent for Home Economics, Courthouse, Mt. Vernon.

WHAT MAKES A MEAT PATTY?

If you make meat into patties ahead of time and freeze them, you can save time on the day you need them for dinner. You know what kind of meat you purchased or perhaps even ground yourself—so you know what's inside your patties. Sometimes, however, you may even feel it worth the slight additional cost to buy meat "patties ready-made. But when you do, do you know what's in them?

A new U. S. Department of Agriculture proposal—which you can comment on—could help. It would set up two categories for these products, with specific ingredient and labeling requirements for each. First, there would be products labeled as "Meat Patties." These would be made of ground meat (which could contain up to 30 percent added fat plus seasonings). If the meat is of one particular type, such as beef, the patties could be called "beef patties."

Patties in the second category would be called "patties with meat." They would have to contain at least 60 percent meat, and not more than 30 percent of the meat content could be fat. These patties could also contain other ingredients, like meat byproducts, poultry products, soy products, water, cereal, and starches. Again, seasonings could be added.

The Rockcastle FFA recently participated in two district contests. On May 10, three boys, Gary Bullen, Steve Towery and James Parsons, all shown in the above photo, participated in a district welding contest held at Madison Central High School. There were 12 FFA chapters participating in the contest with Rockcastle County FFA receiving an excellent rating. The other contest was on Land Judging and was held May 17 at Stanford. Twelve chapters also participated in this contest and the county team received a superior rating. The four boys entering the contest from here were Gary Bullen, Steve Towery, Roger Reynolds and Jeff Gayler.

Most important—labels on "patties with meat" would have to list the percentage of all ingredients (although spices and seasonings could be combined). And, these products would have to contain at least 13.5 percent protein of a quality to ensure that they have at least 90 percent of the protein equivalent of a "meat patty."

That means you could buy "patties with meat," possibly at lower cost than "meat patties" with confidence that you are still getting a nutritious product. And, USDA officials say, the minimum protein requirements for "patties with meat" could also prevent nutritionally deficient products from being sold to consumers through institutions and restaurants, for example, where consumers have no access to labels or ingredient information.

FOOD CLIPS:

Did you know that coconuts and chestnuts contain little protein?

Use your imagination for "company fare" of plain food.

Serve sour cream with nuts on meat or baked potatoes or add chopped nuts to your vegetables. Why not roll scoops of ice cream in nuts? Or sliced nuts in your tossed vegetable salads?

Storage counts. If you keep peanut butter in the refrigerator instead of at room temperature, the peanut butter will keep its quality longer. And—roasting or toasting nuts enhances the flavor and color of nuts. Spread nuts on a shallow pan or baking sheet and heat oven to 350° F. put nuts in oven for 5 to 12 minutes, or until lightly brown. Stir occasionally.

An unopened can of citrus juice may be kept on a shelf until used—but once it is opened, it should be kept in the refrigerator. Your fresh citrus fruit will keep longer if placed in the refrigerator.

Making cheese waffles? Just add one cup shredded, sharp cheese into the dry ingredients before adding the liquid—but slightly reduce the amount of fat in your basic recipe.

Cooked dry beans freeze especially well. Because freezing, like cooking, softens beans, somewhat. Cook them until barely tender for the best quality frozen product.

Do you know The principal potato varieties? They are: Russet Burbank (long russet), the White Rose (long white), the Katahdin (round white), and the Red Pontiac (round red). A round red one called Norland is becoming increasingly popular also.

No, you do not need to wash potatoes before you store them. Dampness increases the likelihood of decay.

If using a meat thermometer to check your turkey for doneness—insert the thermometer into the center of the inner thigh muscle of whole turkeys.

If the mat on your turkey splits down the breastbone or on the legs, poultry is likely to be overdone and dry. Excessive shrinkage is another sign of overdone poultry; only a small amount of shrinkage is expected in well-cooked meat.

Use nuts in family meals—most common nuts contain about 10 to 25 percent protein and can be an added source of protein in meals. Peanuts are highest in protein with about 25 percent. *****

ARE YOU PLANNING TO ATTEND 4-H CAMP?

If you or your youngster are planning to attend 4-H Camp this summer, remember, the deadline for registration is June 1, 1973. The fee for the regular camp for 5th to 8th graders is $15.00, the fee for 4th graders is $12.00, and the fee for the teenage weekend camp is $8.00. Bring your registration and fee to the County Extension Office in the Courthouse, or mail to Cheryl Witt, Post Office Box 297, Mt. Vernon, Kentucky, 40356.

FOOD PRESERVATION WORKSHOPS-JUNE 7

Have you set out a garden? Do you can or freeze fruits and vegetables from your garden? With the rising prices of food you cannot afford not to do so. To insure the best quality and the safest products and to eliminate costly wastes, proper canning and freezing procedures must be used. Learn the newest and safest methods of home canning and freezing.

A workshop in food preservation will be held on June 7, 1973, at Our Lady of Mt. Vernon Catholic Hall in Mt. Vernon (across from the grade school play grounds). There will be two classes, one beginning at 10:00 A.M. and lasting until 2:00 P.M. The second class will begin at 7:00 P.M. There will be demonstrations of procedures as well as question-answer periods. The workshops are sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service and open to all who wish to attend. If you are interested in attending, please call Cheryl Witt, County Extension Agent for Home Economics at 256-2403. *****

If there is one topic that will plague the next general Assembly again, and surely won't be resolved for any time, it's property taxes. If you're an optimist on that, you should have been at a slative committee meeting other days when the myriad property tax problems was used.

Of course, the assessor is elected. Of course, that puts him under all kinds of pressures to ease up on the people he expects to re-elect him - if he eases up.

Raybourne got some laughs

We liked the presentation Jack Raybourne, the president of the Property Valuation Administrators Assn. (A PVA he real name for the tax assessor. Good public relations, know his "tax" or "assessor" in the new title to find the tax payer.)
 Now, Raybourne is what we would call a good ole boy, but he made his persuasively and pulled no punches before the legislators - used to be a state senator, by way.
 As Raybourne seemed to it, the situation is in a mess will get worse if the state continues trying to impose 100 cent or fair cash value assessments on property for titon.
 First, he pointed out, no really knows what 100 per cent really is. That's for others, but enough to condemn situation if no other coments were voiced.
 But wait, Raybourne ed about loopholes in the erty tax. Hmmm, we ight all those loopholes were come taxes.
 For instance, you're supd to bring in to the assessor it of your household goods valuation every year. Do we thought not. Neither we. Neither does anyone.
 But it's the law.
 Then there are mobile es sprouting up - all over tucky like dandelions. Rayne says nobody can tell re they are without driving nd a lot of flying above. So, course, the mobile home- er pays no property tax, but do.
 How about cars? You ably know that's almost a in some counties. Maybe get billed and pay the tax, how many thousands don't? Ah, how about certain ks - like coil trucks which I not about a license any icular time of the year? So, get one conveniently after tax assessment rolls close the year.
 Raybourne also said that to for 100 per cent assessment hatever that really is - itably results in overassess- t. Why? Well, for one thing - home usually is assessed r the system at more than cash value - because the sment often includes ehold goods and furnis- h.
 But, when you sell the e you usually don't sell the iture, too, right? Therefore, true sales price and 100 per cent assessment are not neces- sarily the same thing.

Raybourne went on and on, liling the woes of the PVA - I just call him the tax sator for convenience.

when he said he was trying to carry out 100 per cent assessment in his county - Washingt - "but not this year because I have an opponent."

That's right. He also told of a farmer whose land is assessed much lower than 25 of his neighbors. Raybourne wants to raise all the assessments in that area, but the neighbors have told him they won't hold still for it unless the low-assessed farmer is raised that way, too. The result: a deadlock.

There are things that can be done to equalize assessments - that's the key word, equalization - and maybe the 1974 Legislature will consider them. But there's one heck of a lot to do.

We were just talking about the normal run of property taxation. We're not even delving this time into the relationship of property taxes to education, an even bigger problem they touch on, later.

 The Records, Please In the continuing saga of All American Voters of Frankfort, which has tapped the state for $428,000 to do some moving into the new office building and a few other tasks, the Capital Press Club almost stepped into the picture.

Seems Finance Commissioner Charles Pryor won't let go the records he has until he decides if he should. That's against the law.

The controversy involves one Jimm Creech, an aide in the campaigns of Gov. Wendell Ford and U. S. Sen. Walter Huddleston. He runs a moving company. Newsmen invariably fail to get Creech on the phone. Some invariably fail to get access to the Finance records in the case. So, a resolution was drawn up last week by the Press Club - an unusual step - in effect demanding public access to those records.

 Oh, well, just like the state bureaucracy - so far the Press Club has not acted on the proposed resolution.

THANK YOU!

At this time, I wish to thank those who voted for and supported me in my independent bid for the County Judge's seat.

I pledge my cooperation with those elected over the next four years, but do feel the race would have come more nearly to reflecting the voter's intent if there had been less interference by organizations which seek to control our county government.

However, I do appreciate the support shown me and the cooperation I have enjoyed from you, the voters, over the last four years.

TO THE VOTERS OF ROCKCASTLE COUNTY:

I wish to take this opportunity to express my heartfelt appreciation for the confidence you have shown in me by electing me as your County Attorney.

A public office is a public trust, and an office holder is a servant of the people. I have always been and will continue to be mindful of this when I assume the duties of the County Attorney's office.

Rockcastle is a good County, and we have made progress, but much remains to be done. Therefore, I hope all of us will work and strive together to realize our common goal - that being, a better County in which to live and raise our families.

Again, thank you for the trust you have placed in me, and come in and see me when you can.

As ever, your friend, JAMES W. LAMBERT

LETTER TO THE CITIZENS OF THE FIFTH DISTRICT

It was victory in the Mason camp by a small majority in the magisterial race in the Fifth District.

This is Ernest M. Mason with the words of thank you. Since the election there has been so many people's names running through my mind that I should thank you for this

Since the election there have been so many people's names running through my mind that I should thank you for this victory. Instead of using names, I would like to use two words - voter and togetherness.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank each and every one of you, the voters, who encouraged me to be your candidate and now you have chosen me to be your Magistrate of the respective Fifth District.

I would also like to thank the voters for exercising their rights for voting for my respective opponents.

I would also like to say to all the citizens and to all the voters of the Fifth District and of Rockcastle County when I become your magistrate by taking the oath of office that I'll welcome your request and respect your advice on any constructive programs that will face us in the next four years.

By using the words togetherness and working together as friends and neighbors, we will make Rockcastle a better and a more beautiful County in which to live and to rear our families.

Thanking every one of you, Your friend,

Ernest M. Mason

Vacation time is here. Your public library has books and films on places to go and things to do. Michael Frome's Better Vacations for your Money tells about family vacations in all parts of the United States. State parks as well as commercial attractions are discussed. Vacations in U.S.A. by the National Geographic Society offers beautiful color pictures and background material on attractions all over the United States. Our National Parks in Color describes the Great Smoky Mountains and all the national parks and monuments and tells how to get there and where to stay. Rockcastle Countians live in the Appalachian Mountains but there is much to see in their mountain chain that stretches from Maine to Alabama. Discovering the Appalachians gives many of the legends as well as describing the land itself.

Rockcastle Countians live in the Appalachian Mountains but there is much to see in their mountain chain that stretches from Maine to Alabama. Discovering the Appalachians gives many of the legends as well as describing the land itself.

Hiking, camping, and driving information is also given. 16 mm films on national parks are available from the Kentucky Department of Libraries through your Rockcastle County Public Library. Camping information is available in several books. Information is given on equipment, places to go, and skills necessary in camping. Wood-off Trailing Parks and Campgrounds lists all known campgrounds and give accurate rates.

For those who decide camping is not their thing, Leahy's Hotel-Motel Guide and Travel Atlas, 1973 lists hotels and motels and rates. Road maps are also given.

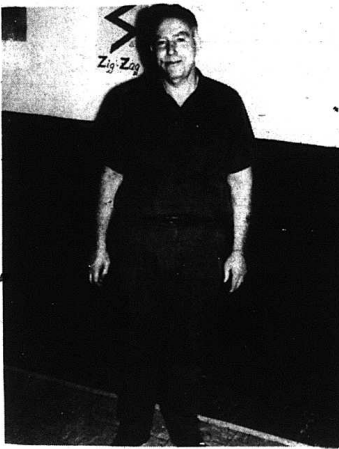

We appreciate very much two books we received from Mrs. Josie Cox, Tampa, Florida. The books are Bible stories for children and Quilchwood Memories. Mrs. Cox, being the author of the books, made them seem more personal and valuable. She is a native of Rockcastle and Jackson Counties, having taught school in Jackson County in 1918. We would like to say thank you to Mrs. Cox.

hot sunlight and expect her to produce. Plenty of shade should be available close to the pasture. Don't overlook a clean fresh water supply. Plenty of water is the cheapest way to improve production and the cows should not have to walk very far to get it. Otherwise, valuable energy needed for milk production will be wasted in exercise walking, and more water consumption will result if it is close to the pasture.

ALL USES OF DES HAVE BEEN BANNED:
 Recent research has shown that even after 120 days, traces of DES were present in the livers of cattle that had been implanted with the material. Consequently, all uses of DES have been banned. Beef cattle specialists with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture list the following materials as substitutes for DES. For implants they recommend Synovex H for heifers, Synovex S for steers, and Raigro for both heifers and steers. These materials have essentially the same effect as did implanted DES or DES in the feed. Their cost is four to five times higher than DES, but research has shown they will return 10 to 1 on your investment. One material, MGA, is still approved for use in feed, but it is specifically for feedlot heifers. For more information on the use of substitute materials for DES, contact the Department of Animal Sciences, UK College of Agriculture, or your local County Extension office.

KENYUCKEE BEEF:
 The total number of beef cattle and calves in Kentucky has reached a record high of over three million head, according to Nelson Gay, Extension Beef Specialist at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. In fact, Kentucky now ranks tenth in the nation in the number of beef cows on the farm.

SOLID WASTE - Five pounds PER PERSON DAILY:
 Five pounds of solid waste per person is produced daily in the United States. By 1980, this will increase to eight pounds per person, predicts Charlie Dixon, Extension Development Specialist.

41,000 Trees Planted In Rockcastle County

According to Steve Bullen, Rockcastle County Ranger with the Kentucky Division of Forestry, over 41,000 tree seedlings were planted on abandoned fields, eroding hillsides, old strip mines, etc., by Rockcastle County landowners this spring. Mr. Bullen said that this number of trees were planted on about 41 acres. There was a great deal of interest in planting trees this spring according to Mr. Bullen and he received many inquiries and orders for tree seedlings. In all 42 orders were received. These seedlings, grown in State Nurseries, are made available to Kentucky landowners at less than cost by the Division of Forestry. Division of Forestry records show that over 200 acres in Rockcastle County which are not stocked with timber trees and are not being used for any other purpose should be planted in trees. The goal of the Division is to get this area planted within the next ten years. "This year's planting program will be a good start toward that goal," said Mr. Bullen.

the energy content of the ration must come from "cool" concentrate feeds.
 3. Rotate and Clip Pastures. Pasture grasses and legumes, if handled right, will provide an abundance of good forage all summer. Two things must be avoided, overgrazing and seed production. Having three or more pastures to rotate the cows will give the plants time to recover and produce high quality feed. If they are clipped before they produce seed, then they will remain in the vegetative stage, when growth is rapid and nutrient content is high. Legumes such as clover and alfalfa are necessary in the pasture mixture for good, season-long feeding value.

AVOIDING THE SUMMER SLUMP:
 For many dairy cows, production is never quite so high as when they are first turned out on grass in the spring. But inevitably, there comes the summer slump. Although this sequence can't be completely avoided, here are some ways to keep cows milking in dry weather.
 1. Treat for Flies. Face flies can be controlled by using a syrup bait applied to the forehead with ciodrin or vapoona as the active ingredient. Horn flies on the shoulders and back can be controlled by using ciodrin dust every three weeks. The legs and flanks must be sprayed daily with a mixture containing vapoona and ciodrin. Barn walls should be sprayed, and breeding places such as manure piles eliminated. Fly control is relatively inexpensive compared to the drop in production if they aren't controlled.
 2. Increase grain Feeding. As the pasture becomes more mature the fiber content increases. Digestion of fiber results in more body heat production. Therefore, as pasture becomes more mature and weather gets warmer more of
