

Miss Sherry Ezell

State Dairy Princess Warns of Milk Shortage

A beautiful, blue-eyed blonde, with a trim figure and peaches and cream complexion that speak well for dairy products, is carrying the milk pail for the dairy industry this year. Kentucky's State Dairy Princess is Miss Sherry Ezell, Route 1, Gracey, Kentucky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lenard Ezell.

In talks before statewide groups Miss Ezell is telling the public that... "It's frightening to realize that in the last few years, farmers have had to mortgage their homes and land to buy the necessary equipment needed to keep business operations with interest payments, high feed costs, and added taxes, he has barely been able to keep going. Today, land prices have become tremendous... cows can be sold for beef at record money and at last a farmer can see a way to get out from under, make a nice profit, and give up the headaches of a job that demands his entire life and that of his family. No one can blame him for looking at this way out, particularly when the public does not want to pay him a fair price for his product.

It is only because today's dairyman has been so efficient that he has been able to keep pace with rising costs. Now, even his efficiency can't hold up to inflation. Unless we are prepared to have a severe milk shortage, the price of milk must keep pace with other parts of the economy."

Kentucky's Princess knows her subject. She lives on a 234 acre farm producing one million pounds of milk each year. And... she's no foreigner to the show ring.

A graduate of Christian County High School, Sherry is a Sophomore at the University of Kentucky. She attended Alik Adams School of Modeling. She has been an active 4-H Member, was the 1972 winner in the State 4-H Fashion Revue, and participated in the National 4-H Revue in Chicago.

In addition to her knowledge of dairying and farming, Sherry Ezell is a relaxed and accomplished speaker who "really likes people" and it shows it in her activities as a Dairy Princess. She is a full time summer employee of American Dairy Association of Kentucky.

Kentucky's Dairy Princess program this year is sponsored by the Adas auxiliary of American Dairy Association of Kentucky, with a board of directors representing, A.D.A., Adas, Dairy Council, Dairy Products Association, and Kentucky Department of Agriculture.

HEWITT JONES THANKS VOTERS OF FIRST MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT

I have been a little slow in thanking the voters of my District for their support and help, for which I apologize. I do thank each and every one that helped me in any way.

I have been Magistrate of the First District for the past four years, and could possibly have been re-elected if I had gone along, as two of the benchmen for one of the reorganizations propositioned me, but I wouldn't agree to their proposals, so was cast aside.

As Magistrate for the past four years, I worked hard to make my District outstanding as to roads, law enforcement, and our County a better place to live.

I have been criticized for fining some of the law violators, for which I do not apologize, every person that was fined by me was a law violator and I owe them no apology.

I defy anyone to say the roads in my district are not in better shape now than four years ago.

I helped the schools in every way possible.

I spread rock around the new school building so people could get in and out of the school grounds and attend the basketball games during the fall and winter without additional cost of one penny to the taxpayers or schools.

Did the school officials appreciate that? NO!

In closing, I ask God to have mercy on our schools.

Trends Of The Dairy Industry

By R. W. Hemken
Professor & Dairy Coordinator

Milk and dairy products are among the favorite foods of most Americans. Milk is valued as a basic food for the infant and is almost as important for the elderly. It is one of the best sources of protein because it has very high quality protein while many of the plant proteins are of lower quality. It also is a main contributor of many of the other major nutrients.

Just how much do we depend on milk to provide us with our basic needs? In 1971 the average American ate 557 pounds of milk equivalent as fluid milk, cheese, evaporated milk, butter, ice cream, and other dairy products. This provided the average consumer about 22 percent of his protein; 12 percent of the food energy and vitamin A; 10 percent of the thiamin; 42 percent of the riboflavin; 36 percent of the phosphorus; and 76 percent of the calcium in the total food supply.

The percent of the food dollar spent for dairy products is below the percent contribution of these major nutrients to the diet.

The average consumer is changing the type of dairy product they buy and selecting dairy foods which provide more protein and less milk fat. Low fat milk sales continue to increase and replace whole milk in the diet of many. Cheese consumption continually increases while butter consumption has dropped drastically in the past twenty years. Cheese is one of the best and most economical meat substitutes for the housewife.

In Kentucky, dairy products provide the third most important source of agricultural income to the farmers. The potential for increasing production is very good. The dairy cow can convert pasture and hay into a good source of income when she is managed and cared for properly.

Because dairy cow numbers are down and consumer demand is high, the future for dairy farming in Kentucky looks very good. Markets are available for both the production of Grade A milk and for the production of manufacturing grade milk.

The biggest change in markets for dairy farmers has occurred in the manufacturing grade market. Farmers who deliver milk from bulk tanks have had a large increase in the price they receive for milk and the prospects for increased prices looks like it should continue. Much of this can be traced to the increased consumption of cheese by consumers. Since Kentucky is the fifth leading cheese producing state, this market should remain strong.

It is important for Kentucky to grow and increase in importance in the dairy industry? Yes, because it provides one of the best uses of the rolling lands of Kentucky's farm and also provides work for many people in the dairy processing business. Both of these factors contribute to the healthy growth of Kentucky's economy as well as providing an economical source of food to the average citizen.

Many experts in determining the best use of land resources in the United States predict that Kentucky has the land and the climate suited for the economical production of milk. Kentucky and Tennessee can provide milk, cheese, and other dairy products economically to the states southeast from this area. We all have a stake in the development of a strong dairy industry in this area. We all can support the industry by encouraging everyone to buy dairy products as an economical as well as a nutritious food source. *****

Rockcastle Recollections

While we are by no means ready to leave the earlier days of Rockcastle County, we thought it might be well to begin on the subject of the Civil War as it affected the residents of our area. We have said from the beginning that we will rely on Jess Wilson, over at Jackson County RECC Office, for a lot of help and would like to see him to take over this column for a few weeks to go further into the subject. I do not know whether or not he can do the time to do so. Although Jess is not a Rockcastle County man, he has turned up a lot of information on soldiers from this county while conducting research for Jackson and other counties his company serves.

For instance, he has sent me the following list of officers of the Union Army from Rockcastle County, which I might never have run across without his help. The following give their addresses as Mt. Vernon: Capt. Milton Frazier, Co. I, 3rd Infantry; Capt. John S. M. Saret, Co. I, 3rd Infantry; Capt. George W. Roberts, Co. K, 3rd Infantry; Capt. James H. West, Co. G, 4th Infantry; Capt. Peter James Hatt, Co. B, 4th Infantry; Capt. Richard L. Moyes, Co. G, 4th Infantry; Capt. Isaac Taylor, 6th Cavalry; Capt. Joseph J. Carson, Co. F, 3rd Infantry.

Captain James W. Barnett, Co. K, 3rd Infantry, Captain Joseph Ballow, 12th Infantry, were listed simply as being from Rockcastle County, while Captain Thomas W. Hardiman, of the 55th Infantry, gave his address as Mullins Station.

Other officers from Mt. Vernon were: Major Alfred Smith of the 14th Cavalry; 1st Lt. George W. McClure, Co. K, 3rd Infantry; Capt. L. C. Duncan, Co. G, 4th Infantry; Capt. J. F. Baugh, 7th Infantry; William Carson, 4th Infantry; 2nd Lt. Henry S. Brannan, 49th Infantry; and 2nd Lt. James M. Duke, Co. B, 4th Infantry.

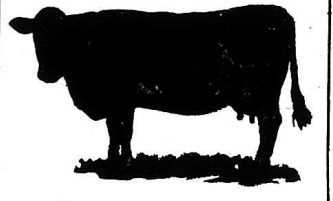

And while we're giving names, here is the roster of the Home Guards formed in Rockcastle County and Laurel County to guard the telegraph lines and army trains near Danville, Kentucky, to Wildcat Battle grounds on the road leading to Cumberland Gap. The record from which these names were taken is the payroll for the period from May 7th to July 8th, 1860, by order of Brigadier General Morgan. This paper was in the possession of William Fish December 20, 1861, and came into my possession along with other papers purchased at the Hesse Fish estate sale several years ago.

Although above company was listed as Rockcastle and Laurel County residents it seems that we can recognize every name on it as being that of a Rockcastle resident. In fact, the majority of them seem to have come from around Wildie, a name later given to the community following the advent of the railroad some years later. Also remember that the "Army trains" they were supposed to guard were not railroad trains since no tracks were laid through the county at that time. These army trains were long strings of army supply wagons, generally pulled by four army mules through this section of the country, although it was customary to "double up" in pulling through the mtry road running through a big swampy section of what is now Mt. Vernon. In some places this road was so bad that it had to be corduroyed to make it passable. This was done by placing logs across the road, side by side, forming a sort of log bridge over which the wagons could be dragged. Many years later parts of this old road was dug up in front of the present Christian Church from a depth of many feet.

Uncle Jim Arnold and Uncle (?) Baker were wagoners in the Union Army and drove through Mt. Vernon many times in hauling supplies to the Union Army after they invaded the South. Both lived to a ripe old age and talked freely of their army experiences. Ralph Griffin, in particular, copied down many of the tales Uncle Bill related and thus preserved them for future generations.

Probably a good way to get at the story of the Civil War as it affected Rockcastle people would be to have readers of this column send in any stories or information they may have concerning their own relatives or neighbors. In almost every family in the county there must be treasured up at least one good story concerning a father, grandfather or uncle who took part in the war or had contact or experience with those who did. Probably the best accounts of all have to do with the experiences of the wives and families who tried to hold the home together while the men and boys were away at war. Any story you know of even the small happenings during this regrettable conflict would be most welcome. It would be impossible to include them all in this history but we can certainly use some of the more interesting and unusual.

As soon as possible I will get in touch with Jess Wilson and see what he can do to help us, and if he can't find time to take over this column for a few weeks, I am certain he will make his files and especially his list of names of soldiers from Rockcastle, available to us. And remember, we make no distinction between Federal and Confederate soldiers. Both fought for the side they thought was right and owe them an equal debt of gratitude and equal honor and respect.

Cooking With Milk

By: Cheryl Witt

Milk is one of nature's most perfect foods. Not only is it nutritious, but it can be used in a variety of ways. Milk and milk products provide food energy, protein, calcium, vitamin A and the B vitamins. Adults need two or more glasses of milk each day. Growing children need three glasses and teen-agers need four glasses of milk each day. Not everyone will consume that much milk each day, but they can obtain milk's nutritive cheese, ice cream and other high milk content foods.

Although milk is consumed in large amounts as a beverage, it is also used in large amounts in food preparation. In many recipes using milk, the milk is first heated or scalded before adding to the rest of the ingredients. This prevents the curdling of milk in the cooking process. Often times, the milk white sauces, eggnog, custards and puddings.

Enriched milk can be used in some products such as creamed soups, gravies, mashed potatoes, bread, cakes, puddings or custards.

When buying and storing milk, here are some points to consider. Milk is usually less expensive when packaged in large containers. Fresh milk, cream and cheese retain their flavor and nutritive value best when they are kept clean, cold and tightly covered. Milk and cream should not be left exposed to light because this causes an off-flavor when riboflavin. Put the milk in the refrigerator as soon as possible after it is purchased and keep it out only long enough to pour the amount needed. Do not mix old milk with new nor pour milk back into original container after it has been handled. Canned milk can be stored at room temperature before it is opened. Once opened, it should be refrigerated. Dry milk should be stored in a cool (75 degrees F or lower) dry place until reconstituted and then treated as fresh milk. The package should be tightly closed immediately after using to prevent lumps and staleness.

Enjoy using these money-saving recipes containing milk during this month.

animal. It must be high quality. Alfalfa is the "king" of legumes when properly managed. It must be fertilized, limed and sprayed. These are cheap compared to the price of soybean oil meal.

More total digestible nutrients can be produced on an acre at less cost through good corn silage than most any other crop. When harvested at the dent stage, chopped fine and properly stored, silage is an excellent feed. It can be further improved by adding ten pounds of urea per ton of silage to the top of each wagon load and thoroughly mix it as you blow it and pack it into the silo. Thus, as much as $1,000.00 can be saved on supplement costs in one year for a herd of fifty (50) cows.

Many of our Rockcastle County soils are most adapted to forage production. By using the best known forage management practices such as: No-till, proper liming and fertilization, correct herbicides and insecticides, pasture renovation and management (rotation grazing, clipping, etc.), high quality hay and silage production, these can help us to end the year with more dollars with which we can have a better life for the entire family.

June—The Month of the Cow
 By: Nivyle Shackelford
 UK College of Agriculture

June has been set aside as Dairy Month with the cow as reigning queen. This seems highly appropriate because, from the beginning of the ages, Old Bosny has ranked first among all animals serving man and, according to one authority on this subject, probably contemporary with man's transition from savagery to the first primitive civilization.

In recognition of this, man has ever celebrated the cow in his art and his literature. We find her likeness carved in tablets of stone that record the exploits of events of civilization. We read accounts of her in the Scriptures and in other ancient writings and know from these and other mighty tones, that, in time, she has been an object of pagan religious worship.

Meanwhile, she has served as a source of food, of clothing, a beast of burden, and a provider of power. She has been called nature's most efficient food factory, the number one soil conservationist, and an important adjunct to the spread of prosperity and civilization. It was in search of green pastures for his cow that man ranged farther and farther over the earth, establishing new homes and spreading his culture.

Aside from all this, milk from the cow is said to be the nearest thing to a perfect food. According to Ron Wendland, Extension Dairy Specialist at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, more than 700 nutrients have been identified in milk. It contains a remarkable combination of high-quality proteins, several important minerals and some of all the vitamins known to be needed to maintain good health. It is a basic food in any diet, whether one is attempting to gain or lose weight. Milk helps maintain sturdy bones and sound teeth, and, on it alone, man can live longer than on any other food.

Although milk is a liquid, Wendland points out that it contains an average of 12 to 13 percent solids, an amount comparable to the solids content of many other foods. A pint of whole milk, he adds, provides approximately 17 grams of protein, 24 grams of carbohydrates, three grams of minerals, plus water-soluble vitamins and 17 grams of highly digestible fat.

It is said that the first cow in North America came with the Norsemen in the year 1,000. Now, there is approximately one cow to every 10 Americans, according to USDA statistics, and, the cow is still, as history suggests she has always been, a chief source of food for man.

So, it seems both proper and fitting that the month of June has been set aside in honor of the gentle, patient creature that has been of such great service to the health, welfare and prosperity of mankind.

COOPERATIVE EXTENSION SERVICE NEWS
 University of Kentucky
 By Dr. Ronald Wendland

Dairy farming is big business in the Commonwealth. Kentucky's 325,000 dairy cows produce the third largest source of Agriculture income in the state. Gross farm income from dairy products in 1972 was $145 million. The sale of calves and cul dairy cattle added an estimated $45 million. Last year Kentucky ranked fifth in cheddar cheese production and seventh in total cheese production in the United States.

With all this milk being produced there must likewise be a great deal of feed produced for the dairy cow. Did you know that the dairy farmer must have a good deal of knowledge about nutrition if he expects to make a reasonable financial return from his dairy cow? In order for top levels of production a dairy cow must be fed the right level of energy, protein, calcium, phosphorus, magnesium, salt, trace minerals and vitamins. But most of all she must have plenty of water to drink. A cow that is producing fifty pounds of milk and eating dry feed may drink two hundred pounds of water in one day. Many different feeds are used for dairy cows, but milk, hay, silage, pasture and grains provide the bulk of her diet. To give you some idea of how much they consume, a dairy cow will eat about two percent of her body weight per day in hay and an additional one to two percent of her body weight in the form of grain. If we take a cow that weighs 1500 pounds, this means she eats thirty pounds of hay and fifteen to thirty pounds of grain a day. You can see why dairy men must have such large feed storage facilities. Giving the cow enough to eat is not too difficult but giving her the right proportion of all the different nutrients in order to get maximum production becomes very difficult. Dairy men are constantly adjusting the amount of protein and minerals in their ration in order to provide the correct amounts for the cow. Protein level is extremely important because it is needed in high enough levels to maintain production yet it becomes very unprofitable when cows are overfed on protein.

STATE TROOPER Grover Schooler points to a dent in the car of Brodhead Police Chief Lloyd Albright of Brodhead where his (Schooler's) shotgun pellets, fired at a bank robbery, struck. There also are marks just below the window. The car rolled off the gravel road, just south of Airport Road in Lincoln County, after the gun battle.

Two long-haired, bearded men, using Brodhead, Police Chief Lloyd Albright as hostage, robbed the Brodhead Citizens Bank early last Friday morning and made off with about $72,000. Events leading up to the robbery, according to Mr. Albright, were as follows.

About 2 a.m. Friday morning, Albright was awakened by a man who lives near the Brodhead Piney Grove Cemetery, that a suspicious car was parked in the cemetery. Albright went to the cemetery and checked on the vehicle (a Lincoln Continental) and found no one around it. He found a new car price sticker in the window with the name of a dealer in Somerset on it and, thinking the car was probably stolen, checked with the Somerset police to find out if it had been stolen. Albright, awaiting word from the Somerset police, left the Cemetery but returned there about 4 a.m. along with a passenger, David Brock, also of Brodhead. When they arrived at the Cemetery, the second time, two cars were parked there - the Lincoln and an older model car with two men in it. Albright left his cruiser to look things over again and said he was approaching the older car with his pistol in one hand and a flashlight in the other when one of the two men opened the door, pointed a rifle at him and ordered him to drop his weapon. They then ordered Albright into the trunk of his cruiser where he was left for some time.

After Albright was finally released from the trunk of his cruiser, the robbers forced Albright, with Brock still a passenger, to drive one of the men to Crab Orchard while the other man drove the older car there, to apparently be used as a get-away car later on. Another person was added to the party, however, before it left Brodhead in the person of Coyt Brock, father of David Brock, who was picked up on the street in Brodhead. Albright said he had no idea where the car was parked in Crab Orchard as the other robber was picked up from a street in Crab Orchard.

Everyone then returned to Brodhead where Albright was forced to drive by his home and leave a note on his door stating that he had had to make a trip to Lexington and would return about noon. Albright also said that at one point, he was directed to make a trip to Brodhead where a satchel, which had been hidden in some weeds, was picked up.

During this time, and during the absence of one of the robbers from the car, Albright said he fought with one of the robbers trying to get the upperhand and the gun went off. He was subdued by the robber and later, everyone returned to the Brock home, across the railroad from the bank where they waited until the Bank opened. The robbers then tied the two Brock men to a bed, took Albright back to the cruiser and drove through some streets before parking beside the bank. Albright and the two robbers then entered the bank where Albright was forced to lie handcuffed on the floor in the director's room. The men then pointed a gun at the building and the employees inside the building, which included: R. C. Anderson, President; Mr. Proctor, and three tellers, Delores Phelps, Violet Cash, and Karen Bullock.

BANK EMPLOYEES FREED

The Brodhead Townspeople were alerted to the fact that all was not well at the Bank last Friday when, as the two robbers and Mr. Albright were walking away from the Bank, Albright failed to respond to a greeting from Donnie Fraine, owner of Donnie's Market. Mr. Fraine became suspicious and returned to his store where he obtained a pistol and along with Everett Bradley, went to the Bank. There they found the Bank locked and the sign stating it was closed for an audit. They flagged down the Bank's janitor, who happened to be driving by, and obtained entry into the Bank. At about the same time, Mr. Proctor's wife, Clara, was sitting in a downtown beauty shop when Keith Rigby walked in and began kidding her about the Bank being closed for "another Holiday." Mrs. Proctor, realizing instantly that something was wrong, left the beauty shop and went to the Bank. There, she was admitted by Mr. Fraine and Mr. Bradley and located the air vent into the vault. Her husband, whom she could see through the vent, told her what had happened and that everyone was alive. Later, State Police troopers Glenn Dalton and Paul Elvins released the employees after learning the combination to the vault from Mr. Proctor.

MONEY RECOVERED
Approximately $72,000 of the approximately $76,000 taken in Friday's hold-up of the Bank has been recovered, according to Bobby Proctor, Executive Vice President of the Bank. The money was found beside one of the robbers, Eugene Donald Fish, who was located on a farm in Lincoln County early Friday afternoon.

Nathaniel Roberts Killed In Tractor Accident

Nathaniel Roberts, 49, of Route 1, Brodhead, was killed instantly last Thursday when he lost control of his tractor and hit a tree on his farm on the Chestnut Grove Road.

According to Coroner Bill Dowell's report, Mr. Roberts and his 14-year-old son were on the tractor going to an adjacent farm, also belonging to Mr. Roberts, to tend cattle. They were going up a steep hill when the tractor apparently hit a large rock causing the front end to rear up. At this point, Mr. Roberts lost control of the tractor and it went over a steep hill into wooded area. Mr. Roberts told his son to jump and the tractor proceeded down the hill and hit a tree. Coroner Dowell said Mr. Roberts died instantly of a broken neck but it cannot be determined whether it was from the impact of the tractor hitting the tree or from his being thrown from the tractor.

Mr. Roberts was born in Rockcastle County, May 30, 1924, the son of the late Albert and Thannie Rigby Roberts.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Gladys Roberts, he is survived by two sons, Sammy and Teddy Roberts, both at home; five brothers, Phil Roberts of Seaford Cane, Bob Roberts of Route 3, Crab Orchard, Tom Roberts of Mt. Vernon, Charlie Roberts of Florence and Jim Roberts of Brodhead; and two sisters, Mrs. Katie Doyle and Miss Ella Roberts, both of Route 3, Crab Orchard.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon, June 23 at the Dowell and Martin Funeral Home with Bro. Charles Shovel and Bro. Raymond Offutt officiating. Burial was in the Oak Hill Cemetery.

HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT PLANNING MEETING SET

An early coordination planning meeting has been scheduled by the Bureau of Highways with local officials and public agencies concerned with improvement of KY 461 from Pulaski and Rockcastle Counties to discuss a proposed highway improvement project.

The proposed project concerns improvement of KY 461 from the end of the section under construction north of KY 80 to the I-75 Renfro Valley Interchange. The Bureau believes this section is inadequate for present and future traffic volumes.

The meeting will be held in the Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church, located on KY 461 approximately 0.1 mile south of the Pulaski-Rockcastle County line on Thursday, June 28 at 2 p.m.

Bureau planning engineers hope to gain information that will aid them in developing proposals for all possible alternatives. Their efforts will be compiled for a project planning report, for an environmental impact statement and for presentation at a public hearing to be held at a later date.

The public is urged to participate in the planning process by asking any questions or providing ideas or comments on the proposed project.

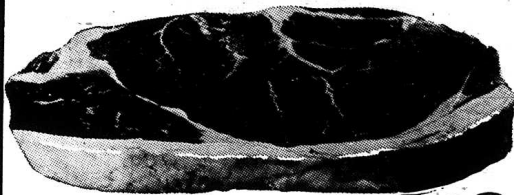

The public can do this by visiting the Bureau of Highways

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE Dairy Industry

This month is a good time for all of us to take a closer look at our Dairy Industry. One thing is certain, it has become big business and is getting bigger every day. And our dairy farmers have done an excellent job in increasing production to meet growing demands. They are using the most modern, up-to-date equipment in rigidly controlled modern plants. We salute them for a job well done!

Birth of the Ice Cream Cone

It happened only yesterday at the 1904 World's Fair in St. Louis — midway between the ice cream concession and the waffle stand. It was love at first sight when ice cream met a cute cornucopia-shaped waffle. . . and the ice cream cone was born. It seems that Mr. Ernest Hamwi was busy making Zabibis, a sugary wafer-like waffle, when he heard a disappointed moan from the crowd at the ice cream booth next door. He looked up to see the dejected face of the ice cream vendor who had just run out of bowls for his ice cream. Quickly, Mr. Hamwi folded a waffle into a cornucopia and handed it to his neighbor. The ice cream man promptly plopped a double-dip into the hollow cone. He offered the treat to the first nickel he saw, then watched as the customer happily consumed ice cream, cone and all. Since that day, the whole world has shown its love for ice cream in the edible container by eating them at the rate of 10,000,000,000 cones per year.

The Saga of the Soda

Soda water was recognized in the 1800's as a health drink which would not only quench the thirst but provide vitality and long life, too. It was definitely in popular demand at the Franklin Institute Celebration in Philadelphia in 1874. One of the concessionaires ran out of flavorings for his soda water. He made a quick ice cream purchase intending to melt it down and substitute it as a flavoring. However, the customers were buying the soda water so fast that the ice cream didn't have time to melt. The concessionaire took things in stride and served the soda water with the floating chunks of ice cream. . . much to the delight of his customers. Thus, the ice cream soda was born.

Never On Sundae

At the turn of the century, many people thought that soda water was actually intoxicating. Perhaps the basis for their judgment was the giggling and smiling ice cream soda sipping inspired. Whatever the reason, Evanson, Ill., took action and passed a law prohibiting the sale of ice cream sodas on Sunday. One clever fountain operator found a way to get around the law by serving "ice cream plus syrup minus the soda water. Dubbing his creation ice cream "Sunday" probably doubled his weekend business. But the pious townfathers objected to naming an ice cream dish after the Sabbath, so the spelling was later changed to sundae. . . a treat to be enjoyed any day of the week.

ROCKCASTLE COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY

By Aleyne Davis

One of the most famous documents in the world is the Declaration of Independence adopted by the Continental Congress in Philadelphia in July 1776. Actually, the Declaration of Independence was not signed on July 4, 1776. On that day, Congress ordered the Declaration to be printed. But the document was not ready to be signed until August.

Even though July 4 has been celebrated ever since then as Independence Day, Congress did not declare the date a legal public holiday until 1941.

Every year on the Fourth of July, Americans celebrate their national holiday with parades, patriotic speeches and programs and fireworks in the evening. It is an occasion also for families and friends to go on picnics, at least to be outdoors, since this day is generally very hot.

The origin of this holiday, as well as others, are found in books at your Rockcastle County Library. Some of these are:

The Days We Celebrate by Robert H. Schaeffer.
National Holidays Around the World by Lavinia Dabler.
Why It's a Holiday by Ann McGovern.

The Book of Patriotic Holidays by Marguerite Ickis.
Celebrations by Robert J. Meyers.

STORY HOUR

There will be a Story Hour in the Library beginning July 7 and continuing through the 28th from 2 to 3 p.m. each Saturday afternoon.

Films will be shown and new books read to the children.

Bookmobile Schedule
The Rockcastle County Bookmobile Schedule for July 2 through the 5 will be as follows: July 2, Livingston, Lamero and Ft. Squerah, July 3, Brindle Ridge and July 6, Fairview.

Electric Heating and Proper Insulation - A Money Saving Comfort Team

There are steps you can take to ensure that you get the clean, efficient warmth and comfort expected from electric heating. You'll save money, too.

- PROPER INSULATION of ceilings, walls and floors prevents heat loss and also helps keep you cool on hot summer days.
- STORM DOORS and windows help, too.
- WEATHER STRIPPING of windows and doors helps prevent cold drafts.
- THE PROPER SIZE heating unit for your home is important.
- TURN DOWN the thermostat when you leave the house unoccupied over night.

Electricity is too good to waste. Contact your Rural Electric system for money saving, electric saving hints.

The electric way is clean.
