

Asst. Secretary of State Francis Travis shows Pricilla Morse, who is entering registration data into the computer, that just over half of the two million eligible Kentucky voters have reregistered as the September 24th deadline rapidly approaches.

Re-Registration Deadline Is September 24th

Secretary of State Thelma Stovall cautions eligible Kentucky voters that the deadline for reregistration is rapidly approaching.

Although a Morgan County farmer, Earl M. Leach, of Exel, was recorded as the one-millionth registrant recently, there are still over a million eligible Kentuckians who have not reregistered.

Mrs. Stovall asserted that "as the September 24 deadline is set by state law, absolutely no extensions can be granted."

She pointed out that the upcoming November election "is an important one since most state legislators and county officials are to be elected, and still, half of the eligible voters have not bothered to reregister."

As of August 31, the state Board of Elections showed that only 40 percent of the eligible female voters had reregistered, as compared with 44.9 percent of the male voters who have registered.

A breakdown by race indicates that only 27.1 percent of the blacks in the state have reregistered, as compared to 43.5 percent of the whites.

Reregistration of all Kentucky voters was ordered by the 1972 Kentucky legislature. Computerization of the voter lists will virtually eliminate purging problems - since changes such as death, failure to vote, and changes of address will automatically kick out disqualified voters when the proper time comes.

BICENTENIAL BRIEFS

The 200th birthday of the Commonwealth in 1974 will be honored by the largest and smallest communities. It will be an exciting event after another around the state with all Kentuckians joining in to commemorate Kentucky's first permanent settlement at Harrodsburg and the 100th running of the Kentucky Derby.

Many communities have set their wheels in motion on a number of special projects.

Bullitt's Lick Salt Works To Be Reactivated for '74.

Bullitt Countians are reactivating Bullitt's Lick Salt Works, which according to Robert E. McDowell, editor of The Filson Club History Quarterly, was the first industry in Kentucky, and the first salt works west of the Alleghenies. Salt, authentically produced as it was in 1773, will be packaged and sold. Its first day of operation open to the public during the Bicentennial year is June 7, 1974.

1785 Survey Book of Barren River Area Found

Much excitement has generated from the finding of the original "Edmund Rogers Survey Book" of 1785, which is considered by many historians to be the oldest and most valuable document in Barren County. Rogers was one of the first military surveyors in the barrens and surveyed the major portion of the lands between Little and Big Barren rivers in South Central Kentucky. The book is in the possession of Dr. Lewis Dickinson, Glasgow, and plans are being made to exhibit the book before the public at a Bicentennial event in 1974.

History on Tape From Living Kentuckians

Kentucky's history is partly unwritten tradition and often best told by people who lived through the early years. Their memories can now become historical record. At least three Kentucky colleges, Alice Lloyd College, Pippa Passes University of Louisville, and Western Kentucky University, have oral history projects in operation to save these experiences for future generations.

Tapes will record experiences, tales and descriptions which preserve technical knowledge that otherwise might die with the narrator's generation. Subjects include folk histories, the impact of the depression on mountain folks, Kentucky arts and crafts and an interview with a family in the Doe Run Valley of Meade County whose ancestors date back to pre-Revolutionary days.

Information for ordering these tapes for presentation during Bicentennial events may be obtained by writing Joyce Todd, Public Relations, Kentucky Historical Events Celebration Commission, Room 1005, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort 40601.

Museum of Coal Considered For Hopkins County

"Bicentennial Planners in Hopkins County want to establish a permanent museum of coal," states Tim Cantrell, county coordinator. "We will also incorporate the Bicentennial theme with the 1974 Kiwanis Fourth of July celebration, the Dawson Springs barbecue, an antique car show at the Nortonville Homecoming, the Eastington Homecoming, and the Hopkins County Fair.

More Kentuckians Entering Real Estate Field

High interest rates on loans and a shortage of money haven't yet discouraged the many Kentuckians seeking a future in the real estate business. The State Real Estate Commission, which issues and renews all real estate licenses each year, reports that 4,555 brokers and 4,520 salesmen from across the state renewed their licenses in June. These figures include 181 new brokers and 1,492 new salesmen who received their initial licenses in fiscal year 1972 (July 1, 1972 through June 30, 1973). Five years ago, a commission official said, there were only about 5,000 agents (brokers and salesmen) in the state. There has been a steady increase of about 1,000 per year for the past several years, and the commission is predicting a total of 10-11,000 active agents by the end of fiscal year '73. Since July 1, 635 new agents have received licenses.

Robert J. Enos, commissioner of real estate, said the main reason for the increase in agents over the past years is the favorable financial picture. But with the current tightening of money, he sees a possible leveling off of the increase.

"To be successful in real estate, three ingredients are needed. These are property, buyers of property and money. In the past five or six years, we had all three," he said, "except a possible shortage of residential property."

Now mortgages are becoming harder to get. The prime interest rate (from the Federal Home Loan Bank) is 9 1/2 percent, and Kentucky's savings and loan associations can charge no more than 8 1/2 percent to individuals. Money isn't as available as it used to be, Enos said, and this situation will affect the number of buyers and, possibly the number of people entering the real estate business.

Enos said another reason for the recent increase in agents is that real estate is a "fairly easy business to get into." There are no educational requirements for an agent, but he must pass a test before receiving a license.

The commission gives the test six times a year to a maximum of 600 applicants per test. Both last year and this year an additional test was scheduled to handle the overflow of applicants. Nat Sanders, education counselor for the commission, said, "This is an all-time high as far as the number of people taking exams is concerned."

About 50-60 percent of the applicants pass the test, he added.

Although courses in real estate aren't required for a license, an agent must take a total of 30 classroom hours within two years to keep his license.

Until recently, few colleges and universities in the state offered courses in real estate, but in cooperation with the commission and the Kentucky Association of Realtors, more schools are adding real estate to their curriculums. This fall, 15 colleges and universities, including most of the state community colleges, will offer an associate degree program in real estate.

The commission is "shoot[ing] for higher standards" in the profession, Enos said. "It is hoping that both present and prospective agents in all parts of the state will take advantage of the new educational programs."

CARD OF THANKS

We the family of John W. Gill want to thank Mt. Vernon Hospital, Dr. Arvin and the nurses and all the staff for what they did for our husband and father during his stay in their care. They always be remembered in our prayers and especially do we want to thank the Dowell and Martin Funeral Home for their kind and efficient service during the sickness and death and all our neighbors and friends for their kindness and especially also do we wish to thank the Flatrock Choir for the beautiful songs which were sung. May God's richest blessings rest on all. We also wish to thank Bro. Wayne Harding and Edward Males for their kind words of sympathy at the funeral.

CARD OF THANKS

From Frances and the family of Roy C. Cummins we wish to express our heartfelt appreciation to our many friends and neighbors who were so kind and helpful during the illness and death of our loved one. We want to thank each and every one for the flowers, food and kindness shown us in so many ways, and our special thanks to Bro. Lester Arnold and Bro. Lorraine Wilson, the ladies from Livingston who sang, also the Dowell and Martin Funeral Home.

In remembrance of Johnny Wayne Childers, who God called home on September 22, 1972. Death is just another one of God's planned steps that we all have to take in life's changing ways for we know for God took our beloved one Johnny a year ago, Saturday, September 22, 1972 to live's changing ways to live there with Him forever more.

Parting from him was so hard to bear, but we would know. He was there, watching over us. We didn't even get to say our goodbyes, but it's a comfort to know that he's waiting there with God on in His blessed shore for all his loved ones to join him there forever more.

Only God knows how we miss his shining face, for there's no one who could ever fill his place. Only God has fixed a plan in our journey here on this land that will lead us to that promised land to join our Loved ones.

God's plans are only that through death can we set our loved one's shining face once more over on that shining shore. Sadly missed by his Mom, Dad, Sisters and Brothers.

Always our minds do wander to a grave not far away. For the one we loved so dearly. In who we couldn't see - we didn't know the pain he had before God called him on his way.

Nor heard his final sigh. We only know God called you away without a last goodbye.

We think of you in silence, no one knows our grief we bear, but many a silent tear we shed while others are asleep.

May God and His angels watch over your kids he's left behind without a daddy to call their own, and keep them from all harm and let them know you miss you so and send all their love to you forever more.

Son John David, and Daughter, Diana.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to take this opportunity to express our gratitude to each and everyone of you who were so kind during the death of our baby son, especially Cox Funeral Home, Bro. Harvey Pensol, The Crowmer Sisters, also the Rockcastle County Hospital, and those who sent flowers and food.

Chapter Two
"IT HAPPENED HERE IN ROCKCASTLE COUNTY"

JESSIE D. WILSON
MCKEE, KENTUCKY 40447

Company "T" of the 3rd Kentucky Infantry was undoubtedly raised in Rockcastle County. Many persons living in Rockcastle County have written me about men in this Company. I get most of my information about men in the Civil War from the four volumes Report of The Adjutant General of The State of Kentucky. The following regimental history is from Volume I (Union) Pages 627-28-29 of the Report. Published 1866 at Frankfort.

A History Of
Third Kentucky Volunteer Infantry

The Third Regiment, Kentucky Volunteer Infantry, was organized at Camp Dick Robinson, under Colonel Thomas E. Bramlette, and mustered into the United States service on the 8th day of October, 1861, by General George H. Thomas, United States Mustering Officer, and it has marched as follows: On September 18th, 1861, to Lexington, Kentucky; October 1st, to Camp Dick Robinson; October 23rd, to Round Stone Creek, Rockcastle County, Kentucky; and thence to Crab Orchard, on November 1st, to Somerset; November 13th, to A. R. West's, in Wayne County, Kentucky; 14th, returned to Camp Wolford near Somerset; on November 19th, to Columbia, Kentucky, its effective strength then being a little over five hundred. The regiment was much reduced by sickness at Columbia, and marched from there, January 7th, 1862, with less than three hundred effective men, to the mouth of Rennieck Creek, Cumberland County, Kentucky. On January 16th it marched to the mouth of Greasy Creek, Russell County, Kentucky. Here the health of the Regiment improved rapidly, and on the 18th day of March it embarked on steamers for Nashville, Tennessee, about nine hundred strong. On March 29th it marched by way of Franklin, Columbia, Waynesboro, and Savannah, Tennessee, to the field of Shiloh, where it arrived on the night of April 7th. From there it moved, by gradual approaches, to Corinth, Mississippi, and invested that place. On June 1st it marched, by way of Iuka, Mississippi, to Tusculum, Alabama, and from thence, by way of Courtland, Decatur, Mooresville, and Huntsville, Alabama and Fayetteville, Shelbyville, and Winchester, Tennessee to Decher's Station, where it arrived July 22nd. Remaining at this place until August 14th, it then marched by way of Manchester, to Verrilla, Tennessee. On August 24th it marched to Altamont, and returned to Verrilla on the 26th. On the 27th it went to McMinnville; on September 3rd it marched in the direction of Murfreesboro, and continued the march through Murfreesboro, Nashville, and Gallatin, Tennessee, and Franklin, Kentucky to Bowling Green where it arrived September 11th. It marched from there on the 16th, by way of Bell's Tavern, Munfordsville, Cave City, Bacon Creek Bridge, Elizabethton, and West Point, to Louisville, Kentucky, where it arrived September 28th. October 1st it marched, by way of Mt. Washington, Bardstown, Glensville, Springfield, Haysville, Perryville, Danville, Stanford, Crab Orchard, and Mt. Vernon, to Round Stone Creek. October 22nd it marched back, by way of Mt. Columbia, Kentucky, where it arrived October 25th. On the 30th it marched by way of Edmonton and Scottville, Kentucky and Gallatin, Tennessee, to Silver Springs, Tennessee, where it arrived November 10th, 1862. On the 11th it went to Lebanon in pursuit of Morgan, and returned to Silver Springs on the 16th. On the 19th of November it marched to Stone River, and on the 25th to Nashville. Remaining there until December 20th, it marched to Murfreesboro, where it remained, doing fatigue duty, until June 24th, 1863, when it marched to Manchester and Hillsboro. It remained at the latter place until August 16th, when it marched across the Cumberland Mountains, by way of Pelham and Tracy City, to Thurman, in the Sequatchie Valley. On September 1st it marched, by way of Jasper, Shell-Mound, Chattanooga, Lee and Gordon's Mills, to the field of Chickamauga, Georgia, and from thence back to Chattanooga.

On its return from the pursuit of the enemy after the battle of Mission Ridge, it marched to Knoxville; thence to Strawberry Plains and back to Loudon, where it remained on fatigue duty until April 18th, 1864, when it marched, by way of Sweetwater, Athens, Charleston, and Calhoun, to Cleveland. On May 3rd it commenced its movements against the enemy stationed at Dalton, Georgia. It marched, by way of Blue Springs, Red Clay, and Coatsosa Springs, to the summit of Rocky Face Mountain. On May 13th, it marched, by way of Dalton, to Resaca, and on the 16th, by way of Calhoun, Georgia and Adairsville to Kingston. On the 23rd it marched on the Dallas road to Pumpkin Vine Creek, and skirmished around Dallas and the field of New Hope on Pumpkin Vine, until June 6th, and on the 6th, began moving gradually around the left, by way of Ackworth Station, skirmishing and fortifying night and day. Proceeding, by way of Muddy Branch and Cedar Mountain, it arrived at the base of Kenesaw Mountain June 20th. It skirmished around Kenesaw Mountain until the battle of Kenesaw and Morag, in which the regiment participated. It skirmished around that part of the country until July 3rd, when it marched, by way of Marietta, to Vining's Station, and on the 9th of July, marched to Roswell and forded the Chattahoochee River. On July 12th it went to a point on the Chattahoochee near Vining's Station and on the 13th crossed that river five miles above Vining's Station. From there, skirmishing and fortifying continually, it proceeded, by way of Nancy's Creek, Buck Head, and Peachtree Creek, to within one and seven eighths miles of Atlanta, where it took its position, and fortified it, on the right of the road leading from Atlanta to Peachtree Creek. It skirmished with the enemy continually during the siege of Atlanta, which lasted until August 25th, 1864. At midnight of August 25th it commenced the movement around to the right of Atlanta; crossed the Atlanta and Chattanooga railroad, between Atlanta and the Chattahoochee River, and marched towards Jonesboro; reached the Atlanta and Montgomery Railroad fourteen miles below Atlanta, and destroyed the track for several miles; struck the Atlanta and Macon Railroad near Rough and Ready, and marched down the same, destroying the railroad for eight miles; reached Jonesboro, and it was then, relieved and marched back to Atlanta on the 4th of September.

On the 9th of September it started by railroad for Nashville, Tennessee, and arrived there September 12th. It remained at Nashville doing picket and fatigue duty (and settling its business preparatory to being mustered out) until the 6th of October, when it proceeded by railroad for Louisville, where it was mustered out on the 18th day of October, 1864. A portion of this regiment re-enlisted as veterans in the month of March, 1864. When such of them as had survived the casualties of war were at Nashville, on that date, transferred to the 1st Kentucky Battery.

The 3rd Regiment Kentucky Infantry participated in the following named battles and skirmishes, in which loss was sustained: viz. Waynesboro, Shiloh, Corinth, Mississippi, May 24th, 1862; McMinnville, Tennessee; Munfordsville, Kentucky, September 21st, 1862; Bardstown and Perryville, Kentucky; Stewart's Creek, Tennessee, December 29th, 1862; Stone River, December 31st, 1862; and January 1st and 2nd of 1863; Chickamauga, September 20th, 1863; Mission Ridge, November 23rd, 24th, and 25th, 1863; Rocky Face Ridge, May 9th, 1864; Resaca, Georgia, May 14th, 1864; Pumpkin Vine Creek, May and June 1864; Cedar Mountain;

CONSUMER COMMENTS

By Ed W. Hancock
Attorney General of Kentucky

A man recently called our Division of Consumer Protection with a complaint concerning charges he incurred while having a bathroom installed in his home.

This consumer, whom we shall call Mr. Unaware, wanted to have a bathroom installed in his home for the least expense possible. He decided to get several estimates. His first estimate was for $450, his second for $500, and his final estimate, $300.

Mr. Unaware was excited at the prospect of having the work done for $300, a price almost one-half the cost of the highest estimate. He had finally found someone to install his bathroom for what he considered a true bargain, one too good to pass up.

Mr. Unaware made an oral agreement with the low bidder to complete the work for $300. But, after the work was completed, Mr. Unaware received a bill for $1,325. Upset about the large amount, he called the man to clear up the obvious mistake. Mr. Unaware found the bill was indeed $1,325 and if he did not pay, the contractor was going to sue him for the amount. Mr. Unaware had no written record of oral agreement and therefore could not prove an estimate had ever been made for the sum of $300.

Be cautious of estimates seeming too good to be true, and of oral agreements with individuals you are unfamiliar with. You may end up in the situation Mr. Unaware found himself in and you may be unable to get out of it without spending a lot of money. Always know who you are dealing with, and if you make an oral agreement, have it put in writing to back up your understanding of the agreement and prevent future legal hassles.

For answers and suggestions to aid in consumer problems, call the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division between 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, at 1-800-372-2960, or write the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Div., 309 Shelby Street, Room 110, Frankfort, Ky., 40601.

No Town Board For Brodhead???

For the first time, that I know of anyway, there will be no Town Board race in Brodhead - because, there are no candidates. No one wanted the office evidently, and the outcome of what the next step will be, when the present Board's term expires, is not quite certain.

Brodhead City Attorney Jerry Cox said that, after researching the law on this question, if the entire present Board vacated their offices the first Monday in January, as they are scheduled to do, then it would be up to the County Judge to appoint a Board.

In Livingston, the situation is a little different in that five candidates originally filed for the Board but one of them resigned shortly thereafter and no one else filed for the office. In this case the procedure will also be for the County Judge to appoint a fifth member to the Livingston Town Board.

The present Mt. Vernon City Council, all of whom filed for election will be unopposed.

In the three towns police judge, races, all three incumbents have opposition.

Jesse Baker, 55, of Mt. Vernon, has filed for the office of Police Judge of Mt. Vernon, subject to the General Election November 27, 1973. Mr. Baker will oppose Mrs. Virgie Sowder, who earlier announced as a candidate for the office.

Mrs. Sowder is presently serving out the unexpired term of her husband, Walter Sowder. Livingston's incumbent Police Judge William "Bill" Gifford will also face opposition in the form of James E. Eversole; and in Brodhead, incumbent Police Judge Ed Brown will be opposed by Lee A. Taylor.

JOHN H. RAMSEY

John H. Ramsey, 96, of Route 4, Mt. Vernon, passed away Wednesday, September 19, 1973 at the Berea Hospital. He was born on November 3, 1876 in Rockcastle County, the son of the late Thomas and Betty Herrel Ramsey. He was a retired building contractor, a member of the Buckeye Christian Church, and had been a member of the Ashland Masonic Lodge #640 F. & A.M. for fifty-seven years.

Survivors are four sons, Cecil of Frankfort; Russell of Mt. Vernon, Aden of Route 4, Mt. Vernon, and Dempsey of Boynton Beach, Florida; one daughter, Mrs. Ella Dowell of Liberty; four step-sons, Monroe and Arvin Purcell, both of Dearborn, Michigan, Everett and Bernard Purcell, both of Route 4, Mt. Vernon; two step-daughters, Mrs. Christine Ramsey and Miss Dorothy Purcell, both of Route 4, Mt. Vernon; two half-sisters, Mrs. Annie Adams of Hamilton, Ohio and Mrs. Ella Oliver of Kalamazoo, Michigan; five grandchildren and thirteen great-grandchildren also survive. He was preceded in death by his wives, Mrs. Lucy Adams Ramsey and Mrs. Florence Roberts Purcell Ramsey.

Funeral services will be held at 2:00 p.m. Friday, September 21, at the Rose Hill Christian Church, with a Masonic Service at the Graveside. Officiating will be Bro. Cecil Dally and Bro. Bill Coffey. Burial will be in the Mt. Vernon Masonic Lodge Interment which will be in the Rose Hill Cemetery. Arrangements by J. J. Cox Funeral Home.

Local Taxable Property Is $3,010 Per Capita

What is the assessed value of property in Rockcastle County? To what extent has this total, which serves as the base for local taxes, changed in the last few years?

With people all over the country concerned over their steadily mounting property taxes, a look at the local assessment situation is in order. Such a look has just been taken by the Census Bureau as part of a nationwide survey of state and local government operations that it makes every five years. The findings, just released, are contained in its "1972 Census of Governments."

They show that, in Rockcastle County, where the property tax is the principal source of revenue for local government needs, the assessed value of property subject to such tax amounted to $37,631,000. This compares with the total reported five years ago, $30,004,000.

It was an increase of 25 percent. Elsewhere in the United States assessments went up 43 percent, on average, and in the State of Kentucky, 34 percent.

Assessed valuations are not to be taken as true market values. It is noted, since property is assessed in most communities for tax purposes at something less than actual value.

The tax rate that is applied to the assessed value is the other factor in determining how big the tax bills are.

In terms of population, the tax base in Rockcastle County was equivalent last year to $3,010 in taxable property per local resident.

Throughout the Southern States, the average was $2,772 per person. Property assessments, as well as tax rates, have been increased in most parts of the country in the last few years as local communities, confronted with bigger operating costs, were forced to seek additional revenue.

Nationally, the assessed valuation of locally-taxable property has jumped from its 1967 figure of $442 billion to a total of $841 billion.

As a result, property taxes collected by local communities in the past year amounted to $36.7 billion, a 46 percent increase over the $25.2 billion collected five years ago.

Jailer Resigns

Rockcastle County Jailer Frank DeBorde submitted his resignation to County Judge Charles Carter Monday, effective October 1, 1973.

Mr. DeBorde, who was hired as a City Policeman at the September 13th meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council, effective October 1, gave no reason in his resignation letter to Judge Carter for resigning. He has served as jailer since being elected in 1969. Prior to that, Mr. DeBorde served as Deputy Sheriff for four years.

According to Judge Carter, it is his Judge Carter's responsibility to appoint someone to serve, as Jailer until the November General Election at which time Ivory Anglin, who won the primary race and is unopposed in the general election, would have to take office. Judge Carter said he had contacted Mr. Anglin in regard to his taking the office October 1, but Mr. Anglin would not assume the duties of the office that soon. Judge Carter is in the process of trying to find someone else, but told this reporter that if he is unsuccessful in obtaining a replacement by October 1, then, according to Kentucky Statutes, the duties of the office of Jailer fall back on County Court Clerk Clifford Bales.

No Cost To Parents

There are absolutely no strings to this invitation nor are there any charges to the parents... they do not have to be subscribers or even readers of this newspaper to participate. Neither are the parents obli-

JOHN NICHOLS'

Frankfort Watchline

Reorganization is likely to be just a big bore to the average reader, but allow us to talk about it just a little bit more. Now that all the paperwork is just about finished, we find ourselves with several super-agencies taking the place of dozens of departments. Each superagency, naturally, is headed by a sort of supersecretary who coordinates a cabinet program.

We could needle the whole process with a county bumpkin approach by saying, for example, that the reorganization charts are really nice-looking in color, but the people look pretty drab. But, seriously, we're not saying that is the rule. We're just repeating that the proof is in the pudding. The whole thing is untested.

And we say again that adequate consideration of the human element - both with regard to the delivery of services and to the state workers - will make this regrouping or break it. Get top flight folks as your superburgeaus, pay them plenty and the concept might just sprout wings and fly.

The last major phase of reorganization announced the other day gives us hope. The prison agency and state police essentially have been merged into a department of justice and the boss is Henry Magdoff. We used to be a deputy attorney general, he's now with Louisville Mayor Frankfort Burke and he strikes us as an excellent choice.

Oh, by the way. Missing from this last announcement were those socks, whimsy combs and the like, this being the "greatest-evil," and so on.

In fact, Gov. Wendell Ford came on rather quietly and, if it means anything, did not for a change claim the reorganization of justice was going to save any money for the state. He said something better than that.

It will, he hopes, save lives, property and welfare. We think we agree. This agency, for example, can follow a man in just all the way from search and apprehension to the end of his rehabilitation.

The training aspect of this new agency follows along the same lines. It takes in not only police, but prison officers and even some judicial workers.

It makes sense.

Endless Medicaid? - Maybe not enough people paid attention to a story the other day about the possibility that the state's Medicaid program will grow to undreamed-of proportions.

More than 300,000 welfare recipients get a variety of free services now and the total yearly cost runs into the scores of millions of dollars.

Now comes an advisory medical council recommending that as many as 100,000 more folks join up - if and when they obtain state welfare aid. The idea is that if someone needs cash aid from the state, surely he and his family also need medical benefits.

As a compassionate and logical argument, who can quibble with that? So, what's our point?

It's this. Where does it stop? What we seem to be seeing, albeit in slow stages, is a form of statewide rationing if you prefer commitment to give medical services to every man, woman and child who can show the need.

In the process, the physicians are not forgetting "ole number one." They think their fees are much too low under state Medicaid and want what they label "usual and customary" fees, which of course would make the program doubly expensive.

Yet, who's to say that the doctors shouldn't be making the higher fees they do under federal Medicaid?

If all this keeps us, you are going to be faced with a tremendous state outlay for free medical services within a few years - one which could rival certain aspects of our program of public education.

Where They All In The Kitchen? - At another of Gov. Ford's recent news conferences the other day, a whole sackful of courtly judges, their representatives and other assorted politicians were on hand to get a share of some disaster relief money.

The room was crowded, the television lights were hot; and as the eve came to an end, an oldtimer at the press table asked the governor if someone couldn't turn on the air conditioning.

Without a pause, Ford made himself some friends quickly. Gesturing to his guests, he said: "Look at these nice folks. They haven't broken even into a sweat. Just shows they must be in the right business...they can really stand the heat."

1974 Chevrolet A better-than-ever way.

When the wheel belongs to you, the road goes anywhere you say. And it's so much better with a '74 Chevrolet.

Caprice Classic. Introducing an elegant motor car, just asking to be enjoyed. Outside: an imposing new grille, and on the roofline, a distinctive new coupe line. Inside: peace, quiet and convenience. With standard power steering to do most of the turning, standard power front disc brakes to do most of the stopping, and a standard Turbo Hydra-Gmatic transmission to do the shifting. If you want the luxury and comfort of a car that leaves little else for you to do, enjoy the ride, you don't have to look beyond the '74 Caprice Classic. However, the freedom of the open road begins with the freedom of choice:

Vega GT. This year's version of last year's Motor Trend Economy Car of the Year, a 4-Door Car and Driver Readers' Choice as Best Economy Sedan for the last three years. With a reshaped nose, bigger bumpers, nicer carpeting, new stripes and new colors. Plus more good things to make it better. See what it's like to drive a winner.

Camaro. The way it looks is the way it goes. Quick, sleek and nimble. With a low, wide stance, responsive steering. And comfort that's rare in a car that handles so well. Plus classic new styling, and plushness from the Fut-pile carpeting up.

Malibu Classic. A luxury Chevelle, new this year. With full foam seats. A fold-down front armrest. Wood-grained vinyl accents. Elegant inner door panels. Extremely tasteful upholstery and cut-pile nylon carpeting. That's just inside. The exterior is just as classic, in character and in detail, as the interior. Yet, it remains mid-size. News and Views from your Rockcastle County Library

The "pet explosion" in recent years, with household pets in the U. S. are numbering over 700 million, has brought a rush of requests to the Rockcastle County Library for books on all types of pets, according to Librarian Mrs. Davis.

"Inquiries range from material on dogs and cats to exotic fish and snakes," Mrs. Davis explained.

General guides to pets of all types include "Pets," by Leon Whitney; "Pets: A Complete Handbook On the Care, Understanding, and Appreciation of All Kinds of Animal Pets," by Frances Christie; "ASPCA Guide To Pet Care," by Diana Henley; "Unusual Small Animals As Pets," by Wes Benson; "Pets," by C. B. Colby; "Home Book of Animal Care," by Esther Guthrie, and "How to Keep Your Pet Healthy," by Elizabeth Charles (Sterling, 1972 $3.95).

Wild animals as pets are discussed in Paul Villard's "Wild Animals As Pets" (Doubleday, 1972 $9.95), Richard Mathews' "Wild Animals As Pets," and Robert Leslie's "Wild Pets."

Suggestions for names for pets can be found in "Names for Pets," by Alfred Kotlich, and "Pet Names," by Jean Taggart.

Dogs, a favored household pet, are treated in "The Complete Dog Book," by the American Kennel Club (Howell Book House, 1972 7.00); Joseph McCoy's "The Complete Book of Dog Training and Care," Michael Fox's "Understanding Your

The Human Side of the Library

Charles F. Hinds, State Librarian

Jesse James Robbed A Bank Which Later Served As A Library Shortly after World War II, the Logan County Public Library occupied the historic Southern Bank of Russellville, the location of what is now believed to have been Jesse James' first important bank robbery. For a long time some researchers contended there was reasonable doubt that Jesse participated in this particular robbery, but in 1966, the University of Missouri published a Jesse James biography by Dr. William A. Settle, Jr., which concluded that Jesse participated in this raid and that this was the first of Jesse's major bank robberies.

Mrs. Theodocia Graham, librarian in the bank building for twenty years until the library moved into its present, well-lit and well-stocked facility on West Sixth Street, never had any doubts that Jesse James robbed that bank. In a small, dingy space illuminated by a single light bulb suspended from the ceiling, Mrs. Graham took great pride in relating the Jesse James bank robbery to library patrons and to curious visitors.

For the skeptical, the Logan County librarian was pleased to show the bullet hole left behind by the famous robber.

The parents of Jesse James met while his father was attending Georgetown College as a ministerial student and his mother was studying in a Roman Catholic Convent in Lexington, Kentucky. Soon after their marriage, however, the future parents of Jesse moved to Clay County, Missouri.

The father, a Baptist minister and a prosperous farmer, joined the gold rush to California and he died away from his family at the age of thirty-two.

Jesse's mother remarried twice during the embittered years before the Civil War. The James family sympathized with the South, and when the war came and Jesse's second stepfather was left for dead upon the hangmen's tree by Union raiders, tradition has it that Jesse joined up with Quantrill's guerrilla forces operating in Missouri and Kentucky. Jesse was twice seriously wounded in the chest, so seriously that his survival was considered miraculous.

After the war the Jameses at first appeared to live law-abiding lives as farmers; though several of their friends contended with their lawlessness encouraged by the War. It is difficult to know just when Jesse became active in the band of outlaws, but it is quite probable that his first active participation in a major robbery came on March 20, 1868, at the Bank of Russellville. When the president of the Southern Bank, Nimrod Long, offered resistance, his scalp was creased by two bullets, fired, Long was convinced, by Jesse James himself as the two grappled in a hallway of the building.

Jesse James lived the life of an outlaw for more than 16 years following the robbery of the Russellville Bank, until at last, as every school child knows, on April 3, 1881, he met his death, shot in the back of the head by Bob Ford, a member of Jesse's infamous gang.

Today, the Logan County Library, taking advantage of a deGratified Foundation grant and federal and state aid, is housed in modern quarters. Instead of curious visitors examining a bullet hole made by Jesse James, they now read about him in one of the several biographies available in the library on the subject.

With the archery deer season opening within a few weeks, many of our modern day Robin Hoods are getting ready to hunt the elusive whitetail. While some are scouting out the best area to take a stand others are practicing how to hit their mark once the opportunity presents itself.

With newcomers to this wonderful sport each season, there are some rules and regulations that each and every archer should know.

Bow hunters may take either sex deer in all counties except Jackson and Oswley, (which are closed to all deer hunting) from October 1 through October 31 and from Dec. 1 through December 31. The limit is one deer per season, whether by gun or bow. A hunter who has already taken his deer may assist others provided he has his hunting license and deer permit and carries neither gun nor bow. The deer permit, which entitles the hunter to use either gun or bow, is required in addition to a valid hunting license. After a deer is taken the metal tag on the permit must be attached to the deer in such a way that it cannot be removed without mutilating the carcass and must remain attached to the deer until it is processed. If the hide is removed from the deer, it must also be tagged (the hide tag is also a part of the deer permit). Hides may not be bought or sold.

All hunters must have a license and deer permit except resident landowners and their dependent children hunting on their land, tenants and their dependent children residing upon said land, residents over 65, and servicemen on four or more days furlough hunting in their home county. These exempted hunters must still notify the Department of Fish and Wildlife of their land, tenants and their deer to be transported they must attach a free identification tag (obtained from the local conservation officer) to the deer.

Archers must use barbed arrows with broadhead points, at least 7/8 inch wide. The requirement applies to all arrows shot from crossbows, (minimum 80 pound pull) which are permitted only on the Pioneer Weapons Wildlife Management Area.

Bow hunters are not permitted to carry any type of firearm while hunting, nor are they allowed to use any type of chemically treated arrows or attachments containing chemicals. The use of boats, vehicles, or any type of domestic animals (including dogs) is also prohibited.

These are some of the most important regulations for deer hunters to remember. For a pamphlet with the complete regulations for gun and bow hunting, as well as seasons and special regulations which apply to certain management areas, write to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.
