 This week, the Signal is going county-wide - which means that every home in the county, whether they want it or not, will receive a copy (we hope). We take this chance a couple of times a year to reach those who do not presently subscribe to the Signal and hope we can entice them to want to further the acquaintance by subscribing. Anyway, here it is and we hope you enjoy it.....
 Had a call last week from

Mrs. Della Seals, who was for many years Executive Secretary of Local Board 85. Mrs. Seals is retired now and wanted to tell me a little bit about the caution lights which were recently installed at the intersection of Highway 461 and U.S. 150. It seems that, prior to Mrs. Seals' retirement, she was coming from Somerset with a sister, who was ill, when she had a narrow escape with another car at the intersection. Naturally, she was highly incensed at the lack of proper traffic signals at the junction and proceeded to call the Highway Department and inform someone there of her feelings. As those of you who know Mrs. Seals can attest to - we feel sure there was no doubt in anyone's mind at Somerset of her exact feelings on the subject. Anyway, Mrs. Seals remarks were reportedly taped, with her knowledge, and used in some meetings on the subject. The lights are now installed and perhaps we should all take a lesson from Mrs. Seals who was not afraid to express her opinion fully where she felt it would do the most good - instead of just to one another.....

Roy Brown, Route 1, Broadhead, was elected Vice-President of the J. M. Felner Memorial 4-H Camp Corporation at its semi-annual meeting Monday, October 1, at the 4-H Camp at London. George Kelley, Jackson County, was elected President and Keeson Turner, Jackson County, was elected Secretary. The Corporation is made up of two delegates from each of the nineteen counties who use the camp. The Corporation evaluates the 4-H camping program as well as made recommendations for camp improvements. Attending the Corporation meeting from Mt. Vernon were Mr. Brown and Cheryl Witt, Rockcastle County Extension Agent for Home Economics.

While I was talking with Mr. Hilton today relative to the new caution lights on Highway 150, I asked him what the status of our interchange lighting was. Mr. Hilton said that in the past months, there had been a better type of lighting found for interchanges situated in cuts, as both the interchanges for Mt. Vernon are, and that the decision was made to redesign the lighting for these interchanges using this new type lighting. He also said that the contracts for the lighting would not be let until sometime in 1974.....

You know this year for the first time, I really worked hard on growing and preserving vegetables and also fruit, although I had to buy it. I got scared early by the predicted shortages (who wouldn't with five children to feed?) and decided that I was going to have a little stockpile at least. So, all summer my husband (I wanted him to help, too, of course, so he felt a part of things, you know) broke beans, blanched corn, capped strawberries, did to tomatoes whatever you do to them and numerous other things. I will have to give most of the credit for raising the vegetables to him, though. I went up the first day and helped put the garden space we rented out, and two hours later I was badly in need of aid to walk to the car while he was still going strong. Anyway, we have a little bit to show for it and it's a pretty good feeling.....One benefit derived from it on my part was the fact that now I can sit with a group of women and hear them tell how many quarts of this and that they preserved, without feeling like telling them to get a-ho-ho-ho. Now, at the drop of a hat, I can quote quart for quart how many green beans, tomatoes, peaches, etc. I have a slower away, I don't hesitate to do so either. I figure this year that my canning, though, was about like mine and my husband's fishing. I always have felt that if the weight of the fish we caught were weighed against the expense incurred in catching them - they would be worth roughly the price you get an ounce. But, like fishing, the canning was fun and we have plans for bigger and better things next year.....

Applications are still being accepted for evening classes at the Harry Sparks Vocational School. The evening classes being offered are: Electricity, Welding, and Office Practice. If anyone is interested in these classes, call 256-4340 between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

VOTE REPUBLICAN
 Elect
HUBERT THACKER

JUDGE ROCKCASTLE COUNTY

NOVEMBER 6TH (Election Day)

Fellow Rockcastle Countians:

As you know, our next County Judge will be elected about five weeks from now. I hope that everyone realizes the importance of exercising his right to vote.

As we look to the future, we must think not only of what our County has, but what our County needs. I have said that I believe that your County Judge should have an active interest in all public services that might be available to the people. For example, I still believe that we will have to make an extra effort to keep our good and dependable ambulance service. With your help and cooperation, we will do this. We must be prepared to give aid and transportation to our sick and injured.

Also, you can be assured that I will give my full cooperation to all efforts to increase job opportunities for those of us that are unemployed.

Finally, I pledge that I will cooperate and work with our law enforcement officers to insure that we have a respectable county and that gangs of outlaws will not feel free to disturb and interfere with the rights of people.

I know that you are interested in the future of our County. Don't neglect to vote November 6th; and if you vote for me, I will do my very best to serve you well.

Sincerely,
HUBERT THACKER

P.S. Remember to VOTE November 6th.

Local Home Agent Attends UK Workshop

A familiar Rockcastle County personality is missing from her office, home, and favorite local haunts last week. Along with twenty-nine other county Extension Agents for Home Economics from all over the state, Cheryl Witt was attending a special four-day clothing workshop at the University of Kentucky.

Emphasis at the workshop was on many different aspects of children's clothing. She also received advanced training in clothing construction and in teaching people how to select, sew and care for special fabrics like knits, leather, and fake fur. There were sessions on clothes for the handicapped child, buying children's shoes, and on the social-psychological aspects of clothing (how children feel about their clothes).

Helping low-income families take care of their children's clothing needs was another topic covered. Storage and care of children's clothing also got its fair share of attention, along with both sewing children's garments and selecting ready-made for them.

A review of federal laws and regulations affecting children's clothing and a how-to-do-it work period on constructing their own teaching samples rounded out the program.

State clothing specialists John Schickel and Wazette McKee were in charge of the workshop. Helping them with agent training were a dozen other clothing professionals and educators: Sue Schaefer, educational representative, Coats and Clark; Dr. Patricia Horridge and Mrs. Janet G. Jones, Department of Textiles, Clothing and Merchandising, UK; Dr. Katherine Thornburg and Dr. Oneal Weeks, Department of Human Development and Family Relations, UK; Carolyn Rainey, Extension Specialist, Kentucky State University; Anne Lee Brumby, buyer of Children's Wear, McAlpin's; Dr. Lewis Sutherland, Podiatrist, Lexington; Janette Chapman, Louisville, Area Clothing Specialist; Lola Sirkland, Home Economist, Viking Sewing Machine Company; Lucy Hammond, Extension Clothing Specialist; and Dr. Doris Tichnor, Assistant Extension Director for Home Economics, UK. Agents attending represented all fourteen organized Extension areas blanketing the state. Returning to their own counties, they will be setting up various clothing workshops and meetings for homemaker clubs, 4-Hers and other local groups. They will also train lay leaders to help with the teaching load in their own and adjoining counties.

Homemakers in Rockcastle County will be able to obtain this information in an open workshop in the first part of the year. Cooperative Extension is giving increasing emphasis to reaching young families, and we are making concentrated effort right now to help them with their clothing needs and problems.

DEDICATION AT MT. ZION BAPTIST

Dedication of the new addition to the Mt. Zion Baptist Church will be held Sunday, October 7 at 11 a.m.

Principal speakers for the occasion will be Dr. D.M. Aldridge from Clear Creek Baptist School in Pinewille and Bro. Henry Farrot, Rockcastle County Baptist Missionary.

Following the dedication, dinner will be served.

CADEC MEETING

The first County Alcohol Drug Education Committee will be meeting on Tuesday, October 9, at 7 p.m. The meeting will be held in the County Court-House. Anyone interested in becoming an active member should attend.

ANNUAL REUNION AT UNION BAPTIST CHURCH

Union Baptist Church at Red Hill will be observing its 94th year Sunday, October 7. This is an annual reunion and all past and present members of the church and other friends are cordially invited to join us for a day of singing, preaching, eating and fellowship.

Sunday School will begin at 10 a.m., worship services at 11, and dinner on the ground and a period of fellowship will be until about 2 p.m. Then, there will be special singing and a short message to close out the day.

C.K.E.A. MEETING FRIDAY, OCTOBER 5 This Friday, October 5, is a holiday for students but not for teachers. All teachers and administrators from Central Kentucky including Rockcastle County are to meet in Richmond at Eastern Kentucky University for their District Meeting. Outstanding speakers have been invited to the CKEA to participate in the day long program.

Delina VanWinkle, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William VanWinkle of Orlando, is shown applying a pillow top which will be sold in the Appalachian Fireside Craft Shop at Berea. Miss VanWinkle and her mother both work in conjunction with a Save the Children Federation program.

Stain-Removal Tips - If something is spilled on a rug, carpet, or upholstery fabric, blot it up immediately. Then remove the stain at once before it has a chance to set.

Most stains on carpets made of synthetic fibers will wash off with plain water, and with a mild suds. When using water or water compounds on wool-rugs, try not to get the rug too wet, and blot up as much moisture as possible with paper toweling. Brush the pile erect while it is still damp.

Following are six stain-removal tips that should help you do a good job:

- (1) Blot liquids immediately with clean, white cloth, paper towels, or white tissue. Scrape up semi-solids with a spatula.
- (2) Work from edge of spot toward center. Blot, don't rub.
- (3) Test formula before using to be sure it is safe for rug dyes.
- (4) Be patient. Some spots may need repeated treatments.
- (5) Wet only the carpet pile.
- (6) Blot dampened area thoroughly, then cover with a weighted pad if clean white cloth or paper towels are completely dry. (Rinning the electric fan directed on the area will speed up the process.)

Stain-Removal Tips - If something is spilled on a rug, carpet, or upholstery fabric, blot it up immediately. Then remove the stain at once before it has a chance to set.

Most stains on carpets made of synthetic fibers will wash off with plain water, and with a mild suds. When using water or water compounds on wool-rugs, try not to get the rug too wet, and blot up as much moisture as possible with paper toweling. Brush the pile erect while it is still damp.

DOUGLAS B. MULLINS

Douglas B. Mullins, 27, of Mt. Vernon passed away Wednesday, September 26, 1973, the result of a fall while at work near Ghent, Ky. He was born in Rockcastle County on April 18, 1946, the son of Rollie B. Mullins and the late Geneva Singleton Mullins. He was an employee of the Central Line Company and a member of the Bible Baptist Church.

Survivors besides his father are: his wife, Mrs. Linda Sue Franks Mullins of Mt. Vernon; two daughters, Sonya Lee Mullins and Melissa Sue Taylor, both at home; his stepmother, Mrs. Betty Mullins of Mt. Vernon; four sisters, Mrs. Emily Escobee, Mrs. Flora Griffith, and Mrs. Rose Schneider, all of Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. Linda Moody of Dayton, Ohio; one brother, William Mullins of Moraine, Michigan; four half sisters, Louise, Pam, Gail, and Renee Mullins, all of Mt. Vernon; two half brothers, Donnie and Ricky Mullins, both of Mt. Vernon; three step sisters, Mrs. Carolyn Harrison of Hattwell, Ohio, Mrs. Doris Bullock of Mt. Vernon, and Mrs. Martha Fletcher of Lockland, Ohio; one step brother, James Mason of Mt. Vernon; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Mullins of Orlando and Mr. and Mrs. Matt Singleton of Mt. Vernon.

Services were held Saturday, September 29 at 2 p.m. at the Cox Funeral Home Chapel with Rev. Harvey Penson officiating. Interment was in the Elmwood Cemetery.

MRS. BETTIE LOU HURST

Mrs. Bettie Lou Hurst, age 56, passed away recently in Indiana. She was born in Rockcastle County on March 5, 1917, the daughter of the late Sam and Rebecca Purcell and was a member of the Baptist Church.

She is survived by: her husband, Granville Hurst; one daughter, Mrs. Darlene Finkle of Brambridge, Indiana; three grandchildren, Jackie, Bryon, and Bill, Jr.; three sisters, Mattie Laswell of Brodhead; Pearl Brown of Conersville, Indiana; and Nellie Bullock of Mt. Vernon; one brother, Sam S. Purcell of Brodhead; two half sisters, Mrs. Edna Earl of Stanford and Nine Jessa of Lexington; one half-brother, Senate Purcell of Woodworth, Ohio.

The funeral was conducted at 2 p.m. September 22nd, 1973, at the Baker Funeral Home in Danville, Indiana, with Rev. C. Raymond Ritsler officiating. Burial was in Brambridge Cemetery.

AT MEETING....

County Court Clerk and Mrs. Clifford Bales were in Corbin last Friday to attend a meeting at the Holiday Inn with other County Court Clerks and members of the State Election Board.

The meeting was held to instruct the clerks on the new election law, especially its effect on this election and the effect on this election and the effect on this election.

Mr. Bales says he will call a meeting soon of election officers to instruct them in their duties under the new law and urges all to attend since it will be a very important meeting.

Under the new law, voters, who have received a card from Mr. Bales stating that there is an error in their re-registration, should respond to the notice as soon as possible since all corrections must be in Frankfort by October 10th or those voters will not be eligible to vote this fall.

CLOSING OFFICIALLY OCTOBER 15th - The Mt. Vernon City Dump will be closed officially Monday, October 15. The action by the Mt. Vernon City Council came after a letter from Jerry L. Hurst, Program Director Field Program, Environmental Protection Agency, was received by Mayor Roland Mullins which stated that in order to comply with the Kentucky Solid Waste Law, the dump must be leveled and covered with two feet of earth. After the 15th, individuals must take trash to the privately owned landfill of Kenneth Cromer and Guy C. Martin, five miles South of Mt. Vernon.

Soil And Conservation Essay & Poster Contest

A Poster Contest for students in grades one through five has been added to the Conservation Essay Contest this year. The topic for this year's contest will be "Fish and Wildlife Conservation: What Can I Do?" The Contests are sponsored by the Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times in cooperation with the Kentucky Department of Education and the Kentucky Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

The new poster competition is open to all elementary students in grades one through five. The Essay Contest is also open to students in these grades, but students may not enter both the essay and the poster contest during the same school year.

A special reference tabloid on "Fish and Wildlife" will soon be distributed to the schools for use by students and teachers. If for some reason your school does not receive copies of this reference material, contact your local Soil Conservation office.

For Rockcastle County, this office is located on the second floor of the County Courthouse.

Mr. Hilton said that upon completion of the study, the next stage would be a public hearing to officially select the corridor felt most desirable and then approval of the corridor by the Federal Highway Administration.

There will be $4,050.00 in Savings Bonds awarded to winners of the essay and poster contest. The writer of the top essay in the state will receive a $500.00 bond. The second place essay winner will receive a $200.00 bond and third place will earn a $100.00 bond.

The state winner in the poster contest will be awarded a $100.00 Savings Bond. The second place poster winner will receive a $75.00 bond, and the third place award will be a $50.00 bond.

The three state winners in each contest, their parents and teachers will be guests of honor at the newspaper's Annual Farm Award Luncheon in Louisville next March. Prizes will be awarded at the luncheon.

Each essay contest winner in the state 121 Conservation Districts will receive a $25.00 bond and a wooden plaque from the Louisville daily newspapers. District winners in the poster contest will receive a wooden plaque from the newspapers. Certificates will also be presented to the District winners and runners-up in both contests.

In addition to the state awards, the Rockcastle County Conservation District will present cash awards to the second and third place Rockcastle County winners in the essay contest and the first and second place Rockcastle County winners in the poster contest.

For The Holbrook Family Ginseng Is Profitable Business

Mr. and Mrs. John Holbrook are shown with a portion of their crop which they harvest from their ginseng plants. According to Mr. Holbrook, an acre of ginseng requires about one hundred man-hours per year per acre to cultivate. In the bottom photo, a portion of the older Holbrook's crop of ginseng is shown. Notice the man-made arbor overhead which helps provide a natural setting for the ginseng.

"Digging a little seng," long a tradition in the hills of Kentucky, has been turned into profitable business by one Rockcastle farm family.

John H. Holbrook of Brindle Ridge and his son, Charles, have presently three and one-half acres of ginseng under cultivation and, although it is a crop requiring a substantial investment at first and the patience to wait for the return, the returns from it are more than adequate.

The process works something like this, the cost of buying the seed (which sells for $10.00 a thousand) is approximately $1,000 per acre. The seeds are mixed with flour and broadcast over the beds lightly covered with dirt, then the beds are mulched with rotted hardwood sawdust, leaves, etc. After two years, the seeds are transplanted into other beds where they are left undisturbed until they are ready to dig.

After the roots are dug, they are thrown into a washing machine to clean them and then spread on screens in a heated room where they will cure out. The price for cultivated ginseng root is now $34 a pound getting hard to come by. An acre of cultivated mature roots will yield about a ton.

In addition to selling the root, both Mr. Holbrook and his son market seeds and seedlings. The latter two, he sells to other producers and wholesalers throughout the United States and Canada. The seeds bring $10 a thousand; first year seedlings are $16.50 per hundred; and second year plants bring $22.50.

Both Mr. Holbrook and his son grow their crops in arbors built mainly from posts and lath with cedar brush piled on the top of the structure. Ginseng must be grown in as near a forest setting as possible and the arbor provides about 75 percent shade for the crop, but an arbor isn't really necessary since a person with just a wooded lot with a slight slope and good soil and drainage can grow the herb. (Cont. to 13)

Board Refuses To Hike Milk Prices

Mainly routine items of business were taken up at Monday night's meeting of the Rockcastle County Board of Education. However, the Board did refuse to approve a price increase of one cent on a 1/2 pint of milk to school children. The increase was considered after Southern Belle and Chappell Dairy, the two milk suppliers to the schools, had said that they were going to raise the price of milk to the Board by one cent on the half-pint. After discussion, the Board felt that the dairies should abide by the bid price of their milk at the beginning of the school year which was seven and one-half cents a pint. The Board voted not to increase the price of milk to students unless additional money was passed on to the school lunch program from the state or federal level.

In other action, the Board: Approved the Close Estimate Budget for 1973-74; approved the 1973-74 salary schedule; approved the rental of a service truck from Edd Reynolds at $30 per month; approved the application for PL-574 funds for 1973-74 and named Supt. Parsons as the authorized representative of the Board to file the application and for related matters.

Approved a contract with Dr. George Griffith to serve as medical advisor and consultant to the Title I School Health Program for 1973-74 at $200 per year; made three changes in bus drivers: Edd Reynolds, Maple Grove run, Harry Lee Holland - Roundstone run and Hershel Nicely - Sand Hill; authorized the sale of several used fuel oil stoves at an established price on a first come basis after advertisement; approved Mrs. Doris Towery, Registered Nurse, as School Health Coordinator for Rockcastle County Schools; and approved three substitute teachers, subject to certification: William Parsons, Glenda Osborne and Michael W. Bryant.

TITLE I FUNDS STILL IN QUESTION

According to School Superintendent Charles B. Parsons, "Right now, we are running the Title I program on faith." Mr. Parsons was, of course, referring to the fact that funds for the program had only been allocated until September 31 and, as of yet, Congress has taken no action on budgeting more funds for the program.

MENEW ELECTED ASSISTANT CASHIER

At a recent Board meeting of the Bank of Mount Vernon, Paul McNew was elected Assistant Cashier, which will be in addition to his present duties as Secretary of the Board.

Mr. McNew has been employed by the Bank of Mount Vernon since March 1, 1973. He is a resident of Conaway, and a graduate of Mt. Vernon High School, Berea College, and Harvard School of Business.

MONK CHARGED

Bennie Doan, of Sand Springs, is listed in critical condition at a Lexington Hospital, after being cut several times with a tobacco knife Sunday night at Hamm's Drive Inn on U.S. 150.

Charged in the incident is Leroy Monk of near Sand Springs, with "cutting and wounding." Mr. Monk was arrested Tuesday morning and lodged in the Rockcastle County Jail.

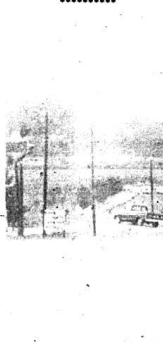

According to reports, Mr. Doan was hit three times in the head and once in the hand with the tobacco knife. He underwent brain surgery Monday and is reportedly in the intensive care section of the Hospital.

Monk was freed on $2,000 bail Wednesday, after waiting a preliminary hearing to the Grand Jury.

HIGHWAY STUDY NEARING COMPLETION

District Highway Engineer Evans Hilton said Tuesday that the Route Planning Study being prepared for a new Highway 461 was nearing completion.

Mr. Hilton said that upon completion of the study, the next stage would be a public hearing to officially select the corridor felt most desirable and then approval of the corridor by the Federal Highway Administration.

A study by the Divisional Traffic Department, on a request from District Highway Engineer Evans Hilton, resulted in the caution lights shown above being installed at the highly dangerous intersection of Highways 150 and 461. Mr. Hilton said he made the request because he felt that the traffic control through the intersection was large enough to warrant the study.

FRANK ON CREDIT STATION

THE CITY OF MT. VERNON acquired a new member of the City Police Force and a different cruiser at about the same time. Former Jailer, Frank DeBorje, far left, assumed his duties Monday, October 1. He is shown with Police Chief Clifford Pittman and Patrolman Kelly Richards, standing in front of the used police cruiser which the city recently purchased.

JOHN NICHOLS'

Frankfort Watchline

At first glance it looks as if Kentucky Republicans got the short end of re-registration. That's based on the tentative estimate that the GOP, formerly outregistered 2 1/2 to 1, now seems down by at least 3 to 1. But wait. Since there were fewer Republican primaries and local races in an off-year for politics, there naturally would be fewer GOP registrants under the new law. As chairman Charles Coy says, it's a two-year proposition for his party. The re-registration effort will resume with fervor, no doubt, for the 1974 Senate race.

Even so, no Republican who wants to retain two strong parties in the state can afford to be overoptimistic. Further registration will take money, time and personnel, none of which that party has in abundance from what we can judge.

And while we're at it, what about the 1974 race? We have indicated previously and we repeat it now that incumbent Marlow Cook is no pushover. We'll put it more strongly: the Democrats will have to produce a strong candidate or they're in for a rude awakening.

But hold it, again. This is all based on the assumption that Cook, despite the potential of GOP defeat in Louisville and Jefferson County next month, will decide to go ahead and seek another term. If so, remember that it's tough indeed to unseat an incumbent U. S. senator in Kentucky. An occurrence like that has been a rare one in this century, according to our casual research.

Remember, too, that although Kentuckians elect Democrats by and large to the governorship, they've shown an increasing inclination to go Republican in the U. S. Senate. We don't regard the defeat of former Gov. Louie Nunn by Dee Huddleston as typical.

And what about Cook?

Objectively speaking, he seems to have stayed on his feet in the midst of the Watergate and such. Cook has not been associated in any fashion with national GOP scandals. He has not been pegged as a lackey of President Nixon - recall his opposition to one Supreme Court nomination - and yet he's been loyal to the party and to its leaders.

Also, where Louisville residence used to be considered a handicap for statewide major races, it might just be the other way around these days. That metropolitan area accounts for at least a fourth of all state votes and furthermore the country-versus-city syndrome is fading as Kentucky becomes more industrialized and politically sophisticated.

STUDENT LOANS-Commissioner of Agriculture Wendell P. Butler, presents checks to Charles Cornett, Jr., left, and Dale Stevens, center, the first recipients of student loans under a program sponsored by the Kentucky Rural Rehabilitation Fund. Students may apply with county offices of the Farmers Home Administration, vocational-agriculture teachers or superintendents of county schools. An applicant must be from an agricultural family.

Satirical Follies - That big fund-raising banquet held by Democrats legislators the other day at Lexington was chock full of political satire and fun - though some targets of those darts may not think it so funny. Maybe the most cutting remark of all - and we wonder here a bit about good taste - was made about a fellow Democrat, State Sen. Carroll Hubbard of Mayfield. Comedian Mark Russell referred to Hubbard as a man whose favorite painting is "Benedict Arnold crossing the Delaware."

"Ouch! You'd have to be an insider to grasp the full significance of that one, but even so, maybe it's a bit too much."

And Don't Forget - The menu at that dinner had something to say, also, about some of the lawmakers not mentioned by Russell. Here we call just a few:

Tom Garrett (Paducah member of the Senate leadership who may aspire to be floor leader) "This sport may finally get the floor without having to ask for it every time."
Noahet Blume (House speaker so highly incensed when Republicans loosed a turkey on the floor) "The biggest gobbler in the House."

John Swinford (House majority leader) "Who can't wait 'till January to renew his friendship with DeMarcus."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:
As is well known, I enjoy reading the "Signal" each week. It's like a letter from your friends in the old home town. It keeps us emigrants to other counties, states and countries in touch with the home folks.

Having both emigrants and home folks in mind, I wonder "HOW IS THEIR MEMORY?" Below I have jotted down several things to test our memories. I hope you can find space to print my letter with the things I have set down. 1. When you let your home or business, you could leave the front door open. (Cont. to 4)

HOW TO TAKE CARE OF UPHOLSTERED FURNITURE

Routine Vacuuming - The best way to remove dust and dirt from upholstery is with the upholstery nozzle of your vacuum cleaner. A whisk broom is sometimes used, but this stirs up dust which settles elsewhere in the room. Care is routine if you keep upholstery clean and free of moths.

Go over all the surface carefully, using the slender nozzle to get down into the crevices. Clean cushions on all sides. The hardest parts to keep clean are the head and arm rests. It is a good idea to have extra pieces of your upholstery or slipcover fabric to protect these points. Remove and clean the extra pieces from time to time.

Shampooing - You can send upholstered pieces to a commercial cleaner for shampooing or dry cleaning, or shampoo them at home.

If you are doing the job yourself, the important thing to remember is not to let the fabric get wet. If it does, the color in the lining or padding may run and stain the upholstery fabric.

You can shampoo flat fabrics such as tapestry, frieze, and rep. But do not shampoo pile fabrics such as velvet or velour.

First, clean upholstery thoroughly with the vacuum cleaner. Try to identify the cause of any stains and remove them according to directions.

Don't rub or brush spot any more than can be helped. Begin at outer edge and work toward the center of the stained area.

If you use a chemical to clean the article, test it on a place where it won't be noticed. Make sure it will not affect the color or otherwise damage the furniture.

Good Cleaning Compounds - Homemade Solutions - The following homemade remedies are recommended by the National Institute of Rug Cleaning, Inc. You can make them easily with three things you probably already have on hand: detergent, vinegar, and ammonia. The formulas are mild, but will usually remove stains.

Formula I - Mix one teaspoon of non-alkaline detergent (such as one used for washing delicate fabrics) with one cup lukewarm water. To use, apply a few drops to the spot or stain and blot with a damp cloth or cellulose sponge. Apply clear, lukewarm water, and blot again. Repeat until spot is gone, then blot and dry.

Formula II - Mix 1/4 cup white vinegar with 1 1/2 cups lukewarm water. Apply to the same as above, but leave vinegar solution on the spot for two or three minutes before blotting and rinsing.

Formula III - Mix one tablespoon of household ammonia with 1/2 cup of water. Use this solution with caution and only with very tough stains.

Commercial Cleaners - Four types of commercial rug and upholstery-cleaning products are available. Always follow manufacturer's directions carefully for best results.

(1) Liquid shampoos - These do the most thorough job on a variety of soiled and stained furnishings. Don't let rugs and upholstery get too dirty between cleanings.

(2) Absorbents - These are brushed into the rug, allowed to stand, then removed with a vacuum cleaner.

(3) Drycleaning fluids - Many of these are flammable, and some have poisonous fumes. Be sure to check on how to use, and follow directions carefully. Have windows open so liquid evaporates quickly, because you must not breathe in the fumes.

(4) Aerosol foam shampoos - This usually is a liquid detergent cleaner in foam form.

AN EXPRESSION OF GRATITUDE AND CONFIDENCE

Early years are a great part of a firm's life, and Rockcastle County is a great place to live them. We know, because our firm was founded in Mt. Vernon sixty-five years ago and through these years we have found friends here who have shared with us our hopes, joys and ambitions. So it is, that our heart is full of love for this city and our pride in it and loyalty to it seems to grow with the years.

This month we begin our sixty-sixth year of business in Rockcastle County in the field of funeral service.

But one thing has not changed, and that is the heart, soul and spirit of Rockcastle County. And so, as we begin another year of business, may we express our whole hearted gratitude - to the hundreds of families in this community who have shown their faith in our firm; to the banks who have supported our plans and efforts; to the newspaper whose columns have been invaluable to our progress and to all the countless friends, whose company and encouragement have made our lives exceedingly worth living. Through these sixty-five years, whatever Rockcastle County has made it possible for us to earn has remained in Rockcastle County - in investments that reaffirm our confidence in Rockcastle County's continued growth and prosperity.

News and Views from your Rockcastle County Library

Books which give advice to women on beauty, hair care, make-up, skin care, and weight control are available at the Rockcastle County Library, according to Librarian Mrs. Davis.

"Few subjects receive more widespread or sustained interest than beauty and charm," the librarian explains.

Excellent recent guides include "The Mala Rubenstein Book of Beauty," by Mala Rubenstein (Doubleday, 1973, 8.95); "A More Beautiful You in 21 Days," by Eileen Ford (S & S, 1972, 4.95); "The Glamour Beauty Book," by the editors of Glamour magazine (S & S, 1972 rev. ed. 12.50); "The Beautiful People's Beauty Book," by Luciana Pignatelli; "Beauty Is No Big Deal," by Donna Lawson; "Beauty and Health the Scandinavian Way," by Gunilla Knutson; "The Golden Door Book of Beauty and Health," by Edmond Szekely; "The Secrets of Health and Beauty," by Linda Clark; "Eileen Ford's Book of Model Beauty," by Eileen Ford; "Always Ask A Man," by Arlene Dahl; "Take It From Eve," by Eve Nelson, and "Professional Beauty Secrets," by Lisa Morrow.

Hairstyles and hair care is covered in Miriam Cordwell's "The Complete Book of Hair Styles, Beauty and Fashion," Ernest Tasho's "Hair Styling for Women," and Miriam Cordwell's "Hair Design and Fashion," advice about skin care is available in "More Than Skin Deep," by Thomas Sternberg; "Skin Health and Beauty," by Milton Ross; "The Skin Game," by Colette Dowling, and "Your Skin and Hair," by Earle Brauer.

Figure control, frequently requested, is covered in Toni Beck's "FASHION Your Figure," Redbook's "Wise Woman's Diet and Exercise Book," by the editors of Redbook; "Eat and Stay Slim," by the editors of Better Homes and Gardens; Morris Fishbein's "Your Weight and How to Control It," Maryhelen Vannier's "A Better Figure For You Through Easy Exercise and Diet," Irwin Stillman's "The Doctor's Quick Weight Loss Diet," Jean Nidetch's "The Weight Watcher's Cook Book," and Dr. Theodore Rubenstein's "The Doctor's Diet."

The library also has beauty books for the teen-age girl and the black woman. Rockcastle County Library has an interesting collection of books at its window. Would you like to add some guides to our collection?

LITTLE KNOWN FACTS ABOUT BABIES

"Everybody loves a baby," but for centuries, few people, even parents knew very much about them or their care.

Egyptians surrounded the new mother and child with serpentine fumes. The Greeks gave junior goat milk, ground wheat and honey through the pottery nipple of a jug-like pottery bottle.

Infants in the infant United States drank out of pewter bottles and ate off spoons fitted with covers, to keep them from knocking off the food. They rested on coral and wore canvas slippers. Their country cousins, out on the frontier, had it even rougher. They had to drink out of wooden bottles, gourd, or cow horns!

Even today, people have many misconceptions about a baby's needs. Wailing needs' always be a cause for alarm. According to Dr. Philip C. Jeans, M.D., crying "is a form of exercise, and constitutes a large part of the exercise a young baby gets. Also, in the very young, crying helps to expand the lungs and keep them expanded, overcoming the state of collapse which is normal before birth."

Rh factors are another worry of prospective parents. Although an Rh-negative woman can become sensi-

Hazel Gentry in West Chester, Ohio. A speedy recovery is wished for her.

Mrs. Geneva Gentry has been in Ohio with her mother, but has returned home. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Norton of Cincinnati and William Norton of Phoenix, Arizona are here visiting his mother Mrs. Julia Norton and Grover.

Mrs. Julia Norton remains about the same in Sunrise Manor Nursing Home at Somerset.

Mrs. Annie Taylor has undergone surgery at Somerset City Hospital. A speedy recovery is wished for her.

NEWS SUMMARY

State Government's Week of Activity In Brief

Southern Governors Conference - Gov. Wendell Ford delivered an address recently at the national economic crisis at the Southern Governors Conference which he attended last week in Point Clear, Alabama. The governors also discussed the energy crisis and political reform.

No-Fault Insurance Bill - The state legislature's no-fault insurance advisory committee has directed the Legislative Research Commission to draft a bill that would provide for payment up to $1,250 in medical benefits to automobile accident victims regardless of fault. The bill would also ban suits for recovery of damages unless medical expenses exceed $1,250.

Mail Privileges Broadened - U. S. District Judge Charles M. Allen has ruled that no restrictions may be placed on the number of persons that prison inmates may write to or receive mail from. The judge said the state Department of Corrections has been violating the prisoners' constitutional rights and ordered that the department no longer inspect inmates' outgoing mail.

Nearly all of the 21 million people 65 and over in the U.S. are eligible for Medicare.

ROCKCASTLE CIRCUIT COURT Civil Action File No. 2402

NAOMI HALL and her husband, TALT HALL, PLAINTIFFS
V. NOTICE OF SALE
MAE MAGGIE THOMAS, single, ET AL., DEFENDANTS

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Rockcastle Circuit Court rendered on September 28th, 1973, in the above cause, a partition action, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court House door on Main Street, in Mount Vernon, Kentucky, to the highest bidder, at public auction on October 20th, 1973, at the hour of 10:00 A.M., or thereabout, the following described property, to-wit:

Tract No. One:
Located in Rockcastle County, Kentucky, on the waters of Little Clear Creek, between North 76 West to county road; thence with county road to a white oak and chestnut oak on south side of road in Roberts line; thence with the Roberts line, South 55 East, distance not known, to the Grin line; thence with Grin's line to Hays' line; thence North 5 East 10 poles to a stone; thence South 89 West 32 1/2 poles to a stone; thence North 45 West 10 1/2 poles to a sugar tree; thence to the beginning.

Tract No. Two:
Beginning at a white oak and chestnut oak on the east side of the county road, corner to Mary Thomas' land; thence her line, South 55 East 20 poles to a stone with black oak and hickory pointers in her line; thence North 55 East 16 poles to a pine; thence North 55 West 20 poles to a stone at the road; thence with the road, South 55 West 16 poles to the beginning, and containing two (2) acres, more or less.

The tracts shall be sold separately, and shall be sold to the highest bidder on terms of ten (10%) per cent of the purchase price in cash at time of sale, the balance in six (6) months, with the purchasers being required to execute bond with surety thereon to be approved by the Commissioner, to secure the unpaid balance of the purchase price; said bond to bear interest at the rate of seven (7%) per cent per annum from the date of sale until paid. The purchaser shall have the privilege of paying all of the purchase price in cash, or paying said bond before maturity by paying the principal amount thereof, together with all interest accrued thereon until the date of such payment.

successful in their jaunts into the outdoors often are fast to put the blame on the weather, their gun, a different brand of shells, the scarcity of game. However, under similar conditions other hunters are successful. What's the difference? Possibly one reason is that the successful hunter has a good knowledge of the habits of the game he seeks and is also a good marksmen.

There are a few tips that may help the frustrated hunter: If the scatter gun is your choice, check to see if it points where you are looking. This may be done by looking at a spot on the wall, without closing either eye, and throwing the gun to the shoulder in a shooting position. Now close your left eye (if shooting from the right shoulder). Your right eye should be looking down the barrel and the barrel should be pointed at the exact spot.

Try this exercise several times to determine if the gun fits. If the gun is pointing anywhere except where you are looking, then take it to a gunsmith and let him alter the stock.

Now that the gun fits, the next thing to do is to pattern it with various shells, using different size shot and powder loads. Try shooting at 40 yards at a 36-inch circle. After each shot study the pattern made where the shot passed through the paper. With 7/8 size shot the inside of the circle should be uniform, and by placing your hand in any spot, several shot holes should be covered. If this is not the case, then try the next size smaller shot (8's) and see if this improves the dense pattern.

Either of these shot sizes are recommended for quail or doves. Next try patterns with No. 5 and No. 6 shot sizes. The overall pattern will be less dense but targets as large as a grouse, duck, rabbit or squirrel would be unable to escape without being hit by several of the larger pellets.

Accuracy may be improved by shooting clay birds, skeet, trap or hand trap. Try high and low targets, left and right angles until you hit far outnumber the misses.

Get to know your rifle, too. Zero in the sights and know where it shoots. Try varied shells, bullet weights and powder charges until the most suitable is found.

Learning about the habits of game will not be as easy as learning to be a better shot. However, one approved method is to take tips and suggestions from a good hunter. Where one may be an expert on rabbits, another will be an authority on squirrels. After some time and some practical work in the field you should be locating more game.

Water Power

Kentucky's many streams and rivers used to be dotted with 1,000 grist mills, of which only seven are known to remain standing. McHargue's mill (right), a turbine mill which has been carefully restored, is today part of Levi Jackson Wilderness Road State Park. It operates on occasion for the benefit of tourists and is the focus for the Library of Mountain Millstones. Mill Springs (left), featuring a 40-foot high overshoot water wheel thought to be the largest in the world, stands in disrepair in a roadside park a few steps from Lake Cumberland in Wayne County.

Some hunters are very successful in hunting rabbits with the aid of a good dog. Rabbits rest much of the day above ground in beds. They depend upon their color fleeciness of foot and the fact that they are inconspicuous in their beds unless forced to seek other cover.

A big mistake most lone hunters make is walking too fast and at a steady gait when trying to jump rabbits. In this case many rabbits may be passed over unseen.

If a hunter covers less area, walks slower and stops often many more rabbits will be jumped.

Keep the protected side of briar patches, hills and other places where rabbits are found. Cold weather doesn't bother them but north winds, snow and rain will cause them to move to more protected areas.

Also look for food-odd corn fields, clover patches and other choice treats of the cottontail. They will be found nearby.

If grouse hunting without the help of a dog, use the same techniques of walking slowly and stopping often. This practice makes the grouse nervous and it is more likely to flush from its place of hiding.

If a bird flushes and you miss, watch closely where it alights after its short flight. Go to the spot where you think that it touched down and hunt even slower and stop more often. This will cause him to take flight again. Some birds may even be raised by a shooter three or four times if the hunter misses that often and keeps an eye on the bird.

Choice foods for the grouse consist of wild grapes, beech and acorn mast, other small nuts and fruits. A hunter would do well to look for this bird where the food is available.

CONSUMER COMMENTS

Attorney General of Kentucky

Buying a car takes a large portion of every person's income. Consequently, consumers should consider a number of factors before purchasing an automobile.

If a large, luxurious, late-model used car is being considered, it should be noted that this car is likely to cost more in tires, fuel, parts, and repair costs than the upkeep costs on a medium-sized new car.

Similarly, a newer, originally lower-priced vehicle is

26th Boone Festival At Barbourville Oct. 9-13

Mountain music, folklore, coonskin caps and stringed longtrifles will soon again be a part of the landscape in this Southeastern Kentucky community as the 26th annual Daniel Boone Festival draws near.

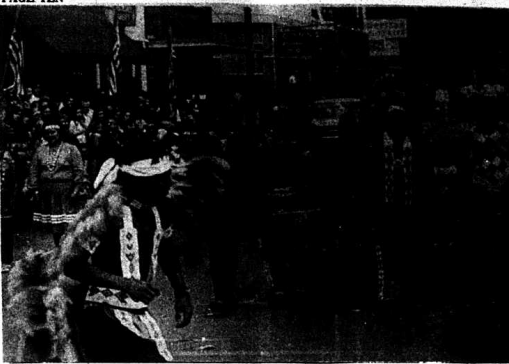

The festival, with events scheduled from October 9-13, will be emphasizing "pioneer dress" by all participants, with Kentucky's Educational Television network filming various segments of the festival.

Official opening of the festival will be on Tuesday, October 9, at 7:30 p.m., as the Barbourville Junior Study Club sponsors a variety show at the Barbourville High School Gymnasium. Admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

The coronation of Daniel Boone Festival royalty will be held on Thursday evening at 7:30 in the Union College Physical Education Building.

A well-attended activity in the festival, the Barbecue Feast, is slated for 5:30 Friday at the National Guard Armory. Pork, beef, ham and venison is prepared for days over glowing hickory logs for the big dinner. Tickets are $2.50 for adults and $1.25 for children.

Also on the Friday night program will be the traditional signing of the Cane Treaty with the Cherokees, where symbolic Indian dances are performed.

Saturday marks the longest day of scheduled activities, beginning with a pancake breakfast from 7:30 to 11:00 in the morning. The breakfast, sponsored by the Barbourville Kiwanis Club, will be held in the basement of the Christian Church.

The annual long rifle shoot, featuring sharpshooters from Tennessee, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, will begin at 9 a.m. at Lay Field, across from Knox Central High School.

Hofeshoe pitchers from around the state and region will also vie for glory, beginning at 10 a.m. at Lay Field.

Climaxing the festival will be the annual Boone parade on Saturday afternoon, beginning at 2:30. Floats, bands, and other units will comprise "one of the biggest and best parades in the history of the festival," according to Jim Prichard, chairman of the festival committee.

Other events on Saturday include old-fashioned Indian raids, hog calling, a gospel music program, square dancing and a teen dance.

FALL FIRE SEASON

FRANKFORT, Ky.—As soon as the dead leaves begin falling, Kentucky can expect fires to start occurring in her fields and forests, and this fall will be no exception. The sad part is that most of the fires will be man-caused and preventable.

In anticipation of the fall forest fire season, the Division of Forestry, Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, has been conducting a series of training sessions for its personnel. Forestry Director Harry Nadler said that all the field men have received training in the basic fundamentals of forest fire suppression. The sessions provided new employees their initial training, and provided a review for older employees.

Nadler said that as a result of comparatively light fire seasons the past two years, many newer personnel have not had sufficient experience in fire suppression to cope with a bad fire season. The additional training should help bring all personnel up to the desired training level.

During the training sessions, special emphasis was placed on the construction of fire lines to bring a fire under control. This included proper location of the line to bring the fire under control in the shortest possible time. Practice fire lines were constructed with mechanized tractor plow unit as well as hand tools.

The fall fire season, as designated by law, runs from Oct. 1 to Dec. 15, but weather conditions may be such that fires occur before this date. At the present time several areas of the state are dry enough for fires to start. During this period it is unlawful for any person to set fire to any flammable material capable of spreading fire, located in or within 150 feet of any woodland or brushland, except between the hours of 4:30 p.m. and 12 midnight.

To avoid being stuck with a troublesome car, there are a few precautions the consumer can take before buying.

The consumer should take the car for a roadtest and listen for unusual sounds such as a "knocking" or "bumping" in the engine. It should be ascertained whether the car has good engine pickup, whether the braking is sound and if the heating and air conditioning systems work well. Steering should be well adjusted with very little play.

These precautions are just a few of the many in which consumers should be interested. Save your money as well as your life by purchasing wisely.

For answers and suggestions to aid consumer problems, Kentucky residents may call the Consumer Protection hotline, toll-free, 8:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., EDT, Monday through Friday, at 1-800-372-2960, or write the Attorney General, 309 Shelby Street, Room 110, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

OSHA SEMINARS UNDERWAY—Associated Industries of Kentucky (AIK), the state's largest employer association, began their fall series of state-wide seminars in Lexington at the Hospitality Motor Inn. A team of AIK staffers and State OSHA officials will report on the new Kentucky Occupational Safety and Health Act and present tips and instructions on meeting the standards. Speakers and panelists included in the seminar are (from left): J. Bradford Block, M.D., medical consultant for occupational and environmental health; Carl A. Merritt, director, Division of Education and Training; Barry K. Holder, assistant director of education and training; Michael D. Ragland, coordinator of Kentucky's OSHA program; Edward L. Holloway, vice-president, Associated Industries of Kentucky; Bob Lindon, director, Occupational Safety and Health Compliance and John O. Pasco, director, Occupational Health Program.

The Human Side of the Library

Charles F. Hinds, State Librarian

Thanks to federal and state funds, the libraries of the three state prisons have been upgraded. The inmates have been encouraged from the beginning to participate in the selection process as it was quickly realized that books selected by the prisoners would be more likely to be read and used.

This policy has worked well, but, the requests have sometimes produced unexpected titles and publishers. One such was a book requested by an inmate who insisted that the publisher was "MacMillan."

When asked if he meant Macmillan, he replied, yes, that is what he said, "MacMillan," and he needed that book in a hurry, as he was getting out soon. Another title suggested was a book on commercial frog farming. Reasoning that frogs could be raised cheaply in the several ponds on his father's unproductive farm, one enterprising inmate looked forward to the time of his release. No such book existed in the prison library or in the standard book order catalogs. Finally, through the state-wide interlibrary loan system, a government document on frog farming was located at the University of Kentucky. It was photocopied and sent to the requestor.

Books which have been quite popular at LaGrange and Eddyville are those in the areas of etiquette, science fiction, mystery, best sellers, western, black literature and news.

The most sought-after books in the Kentucky Correctional Institute for Women are gothic fiction, books about the nature of women, accounts of prison life and poetry.

What do inmates think about the library? Some typical quotes from prison library users: "Best spot in the joint—I enjoy reading." "Library is a good source of learning, but a large, good selection of non-fiction is needed to further one's education." "It is an extremely limited resource center, but it's the only thing available; so I make use of it."

In Gilmore vs. Lynch (1968), the federal courts ruled that prison libraries must contain, or have access to, law materials for the use of poor and rich alike. A cursory check at the Kentucky institutions by the State Library staff indicates that the law collections at the three separate locations are growing—and are being used extensively by inmate "lawyers." Eddyville has the best collection in both federal and state law books, while the law books at LaGrange and the Women's Correctional Institute probably compare favorably with similar institutions in other states.

The State Department of Libraries, through its KEN-LIP, Kentucky Library Information Cooperative Project System, backs up these legal and other requests. Grover Page, the Director of its Institutions Division, assists the prisoners in their collection-building efforts.

"Four or five days' pickings" are represented in the above barrel, according to Mr. Holbrook. The barrel contains about 30 gallons of red berries which have the seeds inside them. The thirty gallons of berries will net him about eight gallons of seed.

"HOLBROOKS"

Ginseng is a specialty crop - rooted in Chinese superstitions or what may be superior knowledge. It eventually finds its way to the Orient where it is used as medicine, good luck charms and a "defense against impotency."

The Chinese, the older Mr. Holbrook explained, chew the root or make it into tea and believe that the herb produces a mild sedative, a tonic for the nerves and improves blood circulation in the brain. Very high on the list of supposed riches is the common cold and that slowdown that comes with aging.

Mr. Holbrook said that he'd been around ginseng all his life, helping his father gather wild plants ever since he could walk. "And in Hoover, times, (the depression during the administration of President Herbert Hoover), I cultivated wild ginseng to keep bread on the table," he added.

"Why, if I were a young man, I'd put a log cabin on a hill and plant ginseng (around it)," the 68-year-old retired schoolteacher said. His operation, together with that of his son Charles, is the largest commercial operation in Kentucky, but Holbrook firmly believes that other Kentucky farmers could "cash in on a crop that doesn't need to be propped up with government support."

"Eight years ago, I was $50,000 in debt, but since then I've paid it all off and have money in two or three banks - and ginseng has done most of the work," Mr. Holbrook asserted.

While Mr. Holbrook acknowledges the root has probably done more for him financially than medically, he casts his lot with the believers in its therapeutic powers.

"I chew a little of it and think that U.S. scientists will find, say, 200 to 300 years discover what the Chinese have known for centuries," he said. "There's no question about it, it's good for stomach aches and you take a man my age - it just makes you feel like a young man," he added.

classes for amateurs who meet racing qualifications, both personally and with their craft. Dowell and Martin Funeral Home will furnish ambulance service for the event and Dr. Jack Lewis will again be the attending doctor.

No alcoholic beverages will be allowed in the spectator areas and it is requested that all moved boats be taken out of the lake prior to the race. Of course, the lake will be closed for the day to all pleasure boating, fishing, etc.

Admission to the event will be $2.00 for adults and children under twelve admitted free. Mr. Ramsey, manager of the boat dock, stated that they hoped to have as many, if not more, than in the previous boat race.

SECOND DRAG BOAT RACE TO BE HELD OCTOBER 7

For the second time this year, The Southern Chapter of the National Drag Boat Association will present Drag Boat Races at Renfro Valley on Lake Lanville on Sunday, October 7th.

The races will begin at 1:30 p.m. with classification at 7:00 a.m. and time trials from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

There will be fourteen classes with professionals only participating including a Blown Fuel Hydro Class which will go in excess of 170 m.p.h. in a 1/4 mile race.

There will again be several

HOWARD BARNES

Howard Barnes, age 64, of Route 2, Mt. Vernon, passed away Monday, October 1 at Central Baptist Hospital in Lexington. He was born in Rockcastle County on January 8, 1909, the son of Edd and Eliza Jones Barnes, and was a retired miner.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Rissie Barnes of Route 2, Mt. Vernon; one son, Judson Lee Barnes of Louisville; one brother, Earl of Route 2, Mt. Vernon; three sisters, Mrs. Thelma Jackson of Independence, Mrs. Georgia Mae Holling and Mrs. Sadie Parrett, both of Route 2, Mt. Vernon; and two grandchildren, Timothy Earl and Christian Edward. Funeral services for Mr. Barnes were conducted on Wednesday, October 3rd at 2:00 p.m. at the Pine Hill Baptist Church with burial in the Elmwood Cemetery in Mt. Vernon.

Arrangements were by Dowell and Martin Funeral Home.

"Employ The Handicapped" Week Proclaimed

Gov. Wendell Ford has proclaimed October 7-13 "Employ The Handicapped Week" in Kentucky.

"Handicapped workers have made important contributions to Kentucky," said Ford. "They have deservedly earned a reputation for being diligent employees, returning excellent standards of production to their employers despite their disabilities."

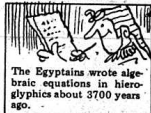

The signing of the official proclamation marks the 26th year Kentucky has participated in the program. Governor Ford urged all citizens of the Commonwealth to "join in the observance and proper recognition of those persons."

"In Kentucky there are 22,500 physically or mentally handicapped residents between the working ages of 16-64," said

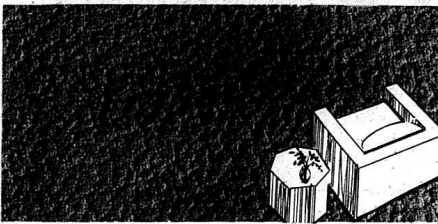

Mrs. Mary Louise Sandman of the Kentucky Commission on Employment of the Handicapped. "This figure represents 13.4 percent of the state's working-age population," she added.

National "Employ the Handicapped Week" activities are a part of the year-round promotional programs conducted by the Kentucky Commission on Employment of the Handicapped. Since its initiation in 1948, the commission has conducted programs of a public education nature to encourage job opportunities for handicapped Kentuckians.

What About These Weeds in The Lawn? During the hot summer months we have been telling people not to spray to control broadleaved weeds in the lawn. Now with the approach of fall and cooler weather, it is an excellent time to start a weed control program.

New Seedlings - Turpans (siduron) is the only herbicide that can be used selectively in new fall seedings of lawn grasses. Although we usually think of applying Turpans in the spring, an application during fall seeding will prevent many of the weed seeds from germinating and crowding out the new grass before freezing weather in late fall and early winter sets in.

Established Lawns - Start your lawn weed control program now. Many broadleaved perennial weeds such as dandelion, plantain, wild garlic, wild onion, and ground ivy can be controlled by chemical treatments in September, October, or early November. Winter annual weeds such as chickweed and henbit can also be controlled by fall applications.

Recommended materials for general broadleaf weed control are 2,4-D, silvex, or banvel. These herbicides are sold under various trade names as single materials (2,4-D for example) or as combinations (2,4-D and silvex). For controlling chickweed in the lawn, one of the products containing silvex or banvel should be used. For rates to use, follow directions on the label of the container in which the material is purchased.

Care should be taken to avoid spray drift to desirable plants. Full applications for these herbicides often do not act as rapidly as in the spring, when weather conditions are more favorable, but they will be effective if properly applied.

Although annual weeds such as crabgrass and foxtail can be seen in the lawn now, good control can't be obtained this late in the year. Wait until early next spring before treating to control these latter two weeds.

Dwarf Apple Trees - When ordering dwarf apple trees, be sure you know what you are ordering. There are several dwarfing rootstocks that dwarf the top to varying degrees. In addition, there are dwarf trees that are formed by inter-stem pieces. This article will deal with those produced by dwarfing rootstocks. Most varieties may be purchased on any one of the rootstocks. There are a number of these, designated by the letter M (Malling) or MM (Merton Malling). Only the most useful ones will be discussed here.

MM is the most dwarfing of the commercially available stocks and it restricts the growth of the tree to about 40% of that of a standard rootstock. MM25 rootstock is less brittle than MM, and the tree requires support only during the first few years. This rootstock is suited to about the same uses as MM. It is also precocious in bearing and care should be exercised that early bearing does not stunt it.

MM dwarfs the top to about 60% of that of a standard rootstock. It also promotes very early bearing and care should be taken not to stunt it with premature fruiting. MM is also precocious in bearing and care should be exercised that early bearing does not stunt it.

MM106 is slightly larger than MM. It is also productive and promotes early bearing. It usually does not need support. MM106 is more subject to crown rot in heavy soils than the rootstocks previously mentioned.

MM111 rootstock dwarfs the top only about 25%. The tree is about 3/4 as large as standard. MM111 rootstock promotes early bearing and is well anchored. It does better under drought conditions than most other stocks. MM111 is also woolly aphid resistant.

KBA Fee Schedule Revisited - The Kentucky Court of Appeals has approved a resolution passed by the Kentucky Bar Association (KBA) striking down its own suggested fee schedule. The current fee schedule, which has been in effect since May of 1971, suggested minimum fees lawyers were to charge for certain services.

High game and series for the week were both taken by the Buckaroo with a 741 and a 2,147, respectively.

Kentucky's Dropout Rate Is Decreasing

Kentucky's school systems are working to improve attendance figures and reduce the dropout rate and, according to recent reports by the State Department of Education, more students are staying in school.

A report on the holding power of public high schools, based on statistics obtained from high school principals, showed that 70.7 percent of the total ninth grade enrollment in 1968 graduated from high school in 1972 - Comparable holding power for the class of 1950 was only 62.8 percent. No figures are yet available for the 1973 graduating class.

Dr. D. E. Elswick, director of educational research for the State Department of Education, pointed out that the figures do not account for students who transferred in and out of the system.

Other departmental research shows the statewide dropout rate for grades 7-12 was 4.77 percent of the total year's membership during the school year 1971-72. This dropout rate includes only students who left school permanently because of physical and mental disabilities, marriage, expulsion or attainment of age 16.

A statewide rate is not available for 1962, but the individual school figures show an overall decline in the yearly dropout rate since that time. For example, in the Frankfort school system, approximately 11 percent of the total 7-12 grade enrollment dropped out of school in 1962, as compared to seven percent in 1972. The Louisville school system's rate decreased from 7.5 percent in Individual highs were as follows: high series, men: Hulen Simpson, 557; Bobby Proctor, 504 and Sam Mullins, 496.

High game, men: Hulen Simpson, 215; Gary Meece, 206 and Milton Barron, 197.

High series, women: Sharon M. Simpson, 505; Betty M. Simpson, 463 and Virginia Winstead, 452.

High game and series: Sharon M. Simpson, 185; Betty M. Simpson, 171 and Evelyn Mullins, 165.

from 7.7 percent to 7.7 percent in the ten-year period.

Lee Tyler, director of the education department's Division of Pupil Personnel and Accounting, said the department became aware of a dropout problem after a statewide study in 1963. This study showed the main reasons for leaving school to be lack of interest, marriage and lack of scholastic success.

A combination of factors are reducing the problem, Tyler said. Some of these are improved study programs, school social worker programs, school health services, better roads and bus service, and programs for married students and teen-age parents.

A new juvenile delinquency prevention program, sponsored by the State Department of Education and the Crime Commission, will also help prevent dropouts, Tyler said.

David Jackson, director of the Office of Juvenile Delinquency Prevention and Rehabilitation, said the program will include early diagnosis of problems exhibited by young students and alternative school and special curricula for students showing problem behavior. (Cont. to 16)

REVIVAL AT NEW HOPE...

Revival services began Monday night, October 1, and will continue through October 14, at the New Hope First Church of God on Highway 39, five miles South of Crab Orchard.

Bro. Oral Denny of Monticello is the evangelist for the services which begin at 7:30 each evening.

There will be special singing nightly with a special invitation to all sinners to come and participate.

Elmer Stevens, pastor, and the congregation cordially invite the public to attend the services.

About 600,000 students, 18-22, get monthly social security payments.

SILT DAMS—Hundreds of silt dams on strip mining operations throughout Kentucky prevent dirt from running into nearby streams. According to Thomas O. Harris, commissioner of the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, regulations passed by the Division of Reclamation in the last several years have reduced the causes of erosion and silt dams have caused most of the run-off to be retained on the mine site.

FAIRVIEW

A large crowd attended worship services at Fairview Sunday and one hundred and twelve persons were present for Sunday School. Thank God for each one.

Several from the Fairview Church attended revival services at the Conway Baptist Church Monday night. We pray the revival there and elsewhere will be very successful and souls will be saved.

Mrs. Thurlia Blair returned home Saturday from Covington following a short visit at the home of her daughter Mrs. Allen Williams, Mr. Williams and son David.

Mrs. Flossie Stephens and son Donnie were in Covington Saturday due to the illness of her sister Mrs. Allen Williams (Mary Ann) who underwent surgery at the Booth Hospital that day. May God grant her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Stephens of Taylor Mill visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stephens of Scaffold Cane Tuesday. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Reynolds of Macedonia and Mrs. Stephens' parents Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Cameron and her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Aus Bullets of near Berea.

Friday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Alexander of London were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander of Fairview.

NATIONAL FOREST TIMBER FOR SALE

Sealed bids will be received by the Forest Supervisor, 27 Carol Road, Winchester, Ky. 40391, up to 11:00 a.m. local time at the place of bid opening on October 30, 1973, and opened immediately thereafter. All timber marked or designated for cutting is located on an area of about 300 acres within the Daniel Boone National Forest, located on Wind Cave Branch, Berea Ranger District, Jackson County, Ky., Compartment No. 68, estimated to be 367 MBF of sawtimber.

Minimum acceptable bid by species including sale-area betterment is: Southern Yellow Pine, Sawtimber, $46.77; Yellow Poplar, White Oak, and Northern Red Oak, Sawtimber, $45.88; Mixed Oak and Mixed Hardwoods, Sawtimber, $47.21.

A certified check, bank draft, cashier's check or money order, in the amount of $500.00 payable to Forest Service, USDA, must be deposited with each bid to be applied on the purchase price, refunded or retained as damages, according to conditions of the sale. Applicable purchaser road credits are $123.30. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved. Before bids are submitted, full information concerning the timber, the sample contract, the conditions of sale and submission of bids should be obtained from the Forest Supervisor, Winchester, Ky., or the District Ranger, Berea, Kentucky.

An additional deposit of $392.83 will be required for maintenance on 6.5-miles of Forest Service Roads #4, Elster (Turkey Foot) and #345 Wind Cave Rd.

Thursday. Mrs. John T. Stephens of Scaffold Cane who had eye surgery a few days ago at the Patis A. Clay Hospital in Richmond, is reported doing well. Thank God for her improvement.

Mrs. Liddie Reppert of Mt. Vernon spent the weekend with her daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Chasteen.

Sunday guests at the Chasteen home were Mrs. Reppert, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Chasteen and family and Mr. and Mrs. James Seals and daughter Kim and Robert Chasteen, all of Berea, Mrs. Janet Adams and children of Newby, Mr. and Mrs. John Church and daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Tip Reppert and Melody of Scaffold Cane.

Saturday night visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Chasteen were Mr. and Mrs. Junior Chasteen, Edwin and Rodney of Berea and Gerald Alexander of Fairview.

The barn of Delbert Alexander (located near Fairview) burned Wednesday afternoon. It was a great loss to the family as it contained his tobacco crop and a lot of hay.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Cope and Buddy visited Mr. and Mrs. Bluford Sexton of Climax and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cope and family of Disputanta Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Helen Powell and son Dwayne of Berea visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. Willie Cope Friday evening.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Cope in Berea Monday were his brother Willie and family of Fairview.

Donnie Cope, son of George Cope of Berea, was seriously injured in an automobile wreck early Sunday morning in Madison County and is now in a Lexington Hospital.

May God grant Mr. Cope a speedy recovery.

Clara Paters and daughter Beverly visited Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Reppert of Conway Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Gabbard and daughter visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Anderkin Sunday night.

Buddy Gabbard and daughter Gail Lee visited his mother Mrs. Laura Gabbard Sunday afternoon.

Revival services are scheduled to begin Sunday, October 14th at the Fairview Baptist Church with Rev. Don Cummins as the evangelist. Nightly services begin at 7:30. Our pastor, Rev. Ray Dean, and the congregation wish to invite everyone to attend these services.

Let's all remember to pray for the revivals now in progress. Please remember Church and Sunday School - and thank God for all the wonderful blessings of life. God bless you all.

We extend our sympathy to the Lamb, Spurlock, and Hartley families of Berea and Richmond who lost loved ones in a car wreck Sunday morning. May God bless and comfort them in their sorrow.

Now is the Economical Time to Plan Your Conversion to Electric Heat

You know winter's coming, so why not plan ahead? To take full advantage of electric heating, consider these factors:

- A WIDE VARIETY of electric space heating equipment is available. Ask for advice on the right type and size for your home.
- INSULATION. Again, a variety is available. Be sure to get the right kind for your home and your heating system. It helps air conditioning, too.
- WEATHER STRIPPING. Important for doors and windows. Like insulation, weather stripping pays for itself through increased heating efficiency.

Electricity is too good to waste. Contact your friends at your Rural Electric system. They'll give you money saving, electricity saving suggestions.

The electric way is clean.
