

Letter To The Editor

(Eds. Note: Normally, it is not our policy to print unsigned letters to the editor. However, we are printing the following signed Concerned Rocketeers' letter mainly because we want the editors to answer it. jma.)

Dear Editor: I would like to express my sincere concern for the Rockcastle County Football team. When the Rocketeers win, it is, or do considerably well in a game, you usually print a lot of paragraphs and do a pretty sizeable write up about them. But, when the Rocketeers lose by a lot or make quite a few mistakes, you barely mention them or their efforts. I think this is a great mistake on your part as a faithful Rocket fan. You should, as we do, stand beside them in all wins, losses, or ties. Sometimes our Rocketeers put in more effort in their losses as they do in their wins. This is because the teams are much harder to beat, and our players know they have to play harder to win. Our Rocketeers Football team has worked hard for their losses as well as their wins. I think the team should also be praised for their efforts in all games. The newly coaching staff should also be congratulated for the fact that the team hasn't lost a game this year without scoring any points. This shows the improvement of the offense in recent years of football in this county. So in all managers we should give the Rocketeers team all our encouragement and support in all games, whether they are wins, losses, or ties. Maybe by writing this letter we will take notice of our fine football team and go to the next game and give them their support. By doing this, maybe we can make a winning season this year.

Sincerely yours, Concerned Rocketeers Fans

P.S. We would also like to see a few pictures of our Rock-addicts and Cheerleaders.

Thank! (Editor's Note: First of all, we were flattered to get a letter, and, at what we think is an unfair attack on our coverage of the Rocketeers. We have striven long and hard to boost the Rocketeers through the pages of our paper and thought you weren't doing badly. There really isn't much to say except that for the Lynn Camp game, when we were out of town, and one other loss - when our picture didn't turn out, we have covered the losses of the Rocketeers as well as their wins. The Georgetown game, when they were defeated by some 22 points, there were several pictures and a huge write-up concerning what we felt was good play by the Rocketeers, even though they had to be the best job possible; and if some think that isn't good enough - well, that's beyond our control, I suppose. jma.)

4-H Activities Are Making Comeback

With so many outdoor activities in church, school, and the community, today's young people have plenty of organizations to join these days. One of the oldest youth organizations, 4-H, is often considered old-fashioned and outdated. But in Rockcastle County, Kentucky, 4-H is on its way to being revitalized.

One influence in the comeback was the reorganization of the school system in the county. As with many counties in Kentucky, most of the 4-H clubs are school clubs. Either teachers or community volunteers or parents are leaders of the clubs with club meetings held during school hours. This type of 4-H club permits a greater number of youth to participate. Consolidation of school districts often means the elimination of school 4-H clubs, but in Rockcastle County it was an advantage to the 4-H program. A county-wide high school was formed and all the one of the county's other schools were closed.

Each principal of the four major schools in the county was willing to allow 4-H work in the classrooms and to expand the number of classes. In his or her classroom, the schools, individual teachers could decide if he or she would work with the 4-H program in his or her classroom. The response was very good. In the grade schools, thirty-one teachers - grades 4 through 8 - are working with 4-H clubs in their rooms. Most of the children did not have an opportunity to be in 4-H before now.

Each of the 901 4-H'ers in the county have had at least one learning experience through 4-H during the year. Most have had more. The 4-H'ers have made speeches, given speeches and demonstrations, presented talent, and planted trees as activities outside of the classrooms. Fourth grade classes are taking one 4-H project in classrooms together. All others are working at least one 4-H project outside school work. There are clothing project groups set up in three communities meeting after school last spring. All grade school 4-H clubs have a club meeting and program each month.

The 4-H club program is now reaching 64% of the grade school youth; ages 9-13. Two years ago there were only nine 4-H clubs with 329 members. Membership in 1973 not only included grade school clubs but also a high school club, one community club and a project club with the Mental Health Day Care Center.

More parents are showing an increased interest in 4-H program. With the experiences 4-H offers the youth of Rockcastle County, the county will have better leaders and citizens for the future to come. To quote Lloyd Cain, Rockcastle County 4-H Council President, "This is more like 4-H than we've seen for years."

The first half of the 1973 archery deer hunting season will begin October 1 and continue through October 31, with the remainder of the split season running from December 1-31.

Bow hunters may take either sex deer in any of 118 counties. Jackson and Owsley counties are closed to all deer hunting.

Archery hunters must use long bows and barbless arrows with broad head points at least 7/8 inches wide. Hunters may use crossbows only on the Pioneer Weapons Wildlife Management Area in Bath and Menifee Counties. Crossbows must be of at least 80 pounds pull and crossbow arrows must be barbed and have broad head points at least 7/8 inches wide. Archery hunters must have an annual Kentucky hunting license and a deer permit. The resident hunting license is $3 and the non-resident license is $27.50. The deer hunting permit, required of both resident and non-resident archers, is $10.50.

The limit on deer is one hunter per year, whether the deer is harvested by gun or by bow. All deer hunting is restricted to daylight hours only. Archery hunters may not carry any type of firearm.

Each hunter who harvests a deer must immediately attach to the deer the locking metal tag provided with the deer permit. The tag may be attached to any portion of the deer provided that it cannot be removed without mutilating the deer carcass or damaging or destroying the locking tag. The tag must remain attached to the deer until the carcass is processed and packaged by a locker, butcher or by the hunter.

The ear portion of the deer permit must be separated from the metal tag when tagging the deer and retained in possession of the licensee.

All hunters under 18 years of age must be accompanied by an adult while hunting deer. After harvesting a deer, a hunter may assist others in tagging deer provided he or she does not have archery equipment in possession at the time. Any persons assisting others in taking deer must have a valid Kentucky hunting license and deer permit in their possession. Residents of other states whose laws prohibit Kentucky residents from hunting deer in their state during open season will be denied permits to hunt deer in Kentucky.

New cars are again in the news and most have a higher cost than last year's models. Car-buying motivations vary from individual to individual, but the basic motive should always be transportation at the lowest possible cost to the consumer.

The following information may be helpful when purchasing your next new car. Every new car must carry a sticker price according to federal law. Ask to see this sticker, and when bargaining with a dealer, figure what the car cost him.

A method to calculate dealer cost is to take the bottom figure on the official price sticker and subtract the transportation charge, which is also listed on the sticker.

Then, for a subcompact, a compact sedan, or compact specialty car, multiply by .85.

For all intermediates, with a few exceptions, multiply by .815. For all other full-sized cars, multiply by .78. Finally, add back the freight charge and you have the dealer's cost within about one percent. Mark-up usually depends on the area in which you buy the car, be it rural or suburban, and supply and demand.

Cut Household Noise Pollution with an Electric Water Heater

If you're about to buy an electric water heater so you can say "Good bye" to the noises of pilot lights, combustion chambers and burner units, take time to find the heater that's best suited to your family's needs.

- A GOOD WATER HEATER has both pressure and temperature relief valves. Be sure you understand the safety devices.
- SAVE on piping and operating costs by placing the heater close to the point of greatest hot water use. Hot water left in pipes is wasted.
- THINK about surface space. Table top models can be a real help in kitchen or laundry areas.

Prowler Leads Police A Merry Chase

An unidentified man, in his early thirties, tried unsuccessfully, late last Wednesday night, to enter a residence on Richmond Street. The man, driving a blue Volkswagen, pulled into the driveway of the residence and went to the front door. The door was locked but he tried to force it open. The residents called a neighbor across the street, Ralph Sigmom, for help and Mr. Sigmom scared the man away but got the license plate number and a good look at the man.

Deputy Sheriff Manuel Shepherd and City Patrolman Kelly Richards were driving out Richmond Street when they were told of the attempted entry. They proceeded on toward Renko Valley, thinking he might have gone that way but then received a call that he had tried to gain entry at the hospital through the rear emergency room door. When they got to the hospital, he was gone but they were told that he had gone toward a sewer plant. When they got there, the Volkswagen was there with the man in it. As they approached the car, the man took off, attempting to run down Patrolman Richards. Both officers fired several times under the car attempting to hit a tire. They then gave chase to the Taylor residence on Newcomb Avenue where the man abandoned the car and left on foot. The officers gave chase but in the darkness he eluded them.

Later, when the men checked the car's ownership, they found that it was registered in the name of a Starred resident, who told officers that he had sold the car two years earlier but never transferred it to the purchaser, whose name he did not know.

HYNSINGER FARM SOLD AT PUBLIC AUCTION

The forty-nine acre farm of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hysinger at Bridle Ridge was sold Saturday, October 6th at Public Auction to Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Reams of Conway for $68,500. The sale was handled by Ford Realty and Auction Company of Mt. Vernon.

City Council Meets

The Mt. Vernon City Council voted at its Monday night meeting to change their procedure on reading water meters. The Council decided to only read meters every two months (instead of monthly), thereby making every other bill water customers receive an estimated bill.

The action was taken due to the fact that it takes two men five days each month to read all the meters (80 man hours). Thus, this many man hours would be saved by reading meters every other month.

The practice is used in other communities and the only drawback to it would be for householders who have leaks in their system after it leaves the meter. Now, the leaks cannot run over thirty days before being detected by the City, whereas with the new practice they could run up to sixty days.

Other action, the Council took no action on a request by City Policemen for a raise but did agree to furnish winter uniforms sent to the Reading and Sewer Committee a request by Dr. Orson Arvin that a water line be run to his residential property on Greenway Drive (Bill Bailey Hill) and tabled action on Dr. Arvin's request that his property be annexed to the City; approved a request by

Winners Announced In DAR Essay Contest

During the month of September, the Rockcastle Chapter, DAR, sponsored an essay contest in the Government and American History classes at Rockcastle County High School. The subject of the essay was the American Constitution and its role in contemporary society.

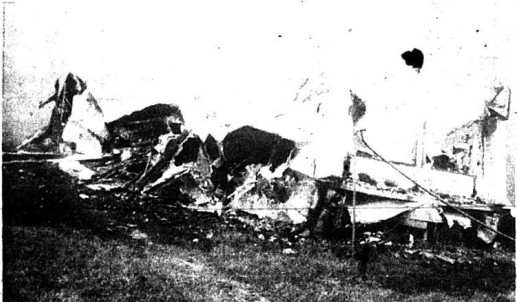

First prize winner was Randall Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hurley, Route 3, Mt. Vernon. His essay states that "the Constitution is not just a historical document, but a plan of government that is working."

It is yours to know, to use, to defend, for you are one of 'the people of the United States.' He goes on that "whatever fault the people find in the Constitution can only be blamed on the people."

Second prize winner was Johnny Boone Saylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ceston Saylor, Brodhead. In his essay, Johnny remarks "governments make it possible for men to live and work together; provides rules of conduct; guarantees us all rights and freedom."

That our nation's form of government is based upon people's approval and on the consent of the governed.

Jack Lawell and Ronnie Cash co-ordinated the contest in the classes. Mrs. Elbert Eversole is the former Chairman of Constitution Week.

Bev Setser of Livingston died early Wednesday morning of smoke inhalation when the above trailer, in which he was sleeping, caught fire and burned. (See story elsewhere on front page.)

Kenny Burton, No. 14 for the Rockets, is shown being tackled after a long gain Tuesday night in a game with KSD. Burton scored the Rockets' only touchdowns against Whitley County last Friday night, once coming on a runback of the second half kick-off, and the other on a run of about seventy yards. The Rockets extra point attempts failed and Whitley County won 14-12.

Rockets Beat KSD; Lose To Whitley

The Rockete Rockets narrowly lost last Friday night to Whitley County 14-12.

Statistically, the Rockets were outplayed by Whitley since they only gathered seven first downs to Whitley's 14 and 137 yards rushing to 229 for Whitley but their offensive scoring punch Kenny Burton came through in style with two long touchdown plays.

The first score came on a kick-off return by Burton of 87 yards for the touchdown and the second six were added via a pass from Clontz to Burton for 82 yards.

Defensively, the Rockets were led by Billy Baker with eleven tackles and eight assists. Jerry Pense was next with 9 and Billy Brook and Paul Travis each were credited with 7 tackles.

The Rockets' outstanding punter, Mark Bray, averaged over 33 yards per punt. Today's night, the Rockets journeyed to Danville to take on KSD and came away with their second win of the season, 32-8.

Once again Kenny Burton starred on the offense carrying the ball 12 times for 139 yards and an average of 11 1/2 yards per carry.

And, once again, Mark Bray punted the ball four times for an average of 33 1/2 yards.

Billy Baker once again led the defense with 13 tackles and 6 assists, followed by Jerry Pen-son with 7 and 4 and Paul Travis got 7 individual tackles and 11 assists. Friday night, October 19th, the Rockets travel to Estill County.

Candy Sales To Benefit Kidney Foundation Now In Progress

Ann B. Mullins, Mt. Vernon, Chairman representing the Kidney Foundation of Central Kentucky says that, according to Directors at the Kidney Foundation, nearly 1,000 Kentucky residents die from kidney related diseases each year. With proper preventive and medical treatment, it is possible that many of these lives could have been saved.

The Kidney Foundation dedicates its efforts to the support of research to find ways to prevent kidney disease, to improve treatment, and to make today's treatments available to more patients.

Kidney Transplants - Kidney transplants are successful. More than 5,000 have been performed in the United States. The University of Kentucky Medical Center has done about 100. About 10,000 patients each year need a transplant, but fail to receive one because of lack of donor kidneys, facilities, and trained personnel. Success depends on the support of each of us.

The chief source of funds for the Kidney Foundation is the annual Halloween Candy Sale. The candy is packed in a colorful, reusable bank filled with delicious individually wrapped candy and gum. It sells for $1.00 per bank.

Anyone interested in helping with the candy sale, please contact Ann B. Mullins, Mt. Vernon or Mrs. John Holbrook, Brodhead.

To someone with kidney disease, your dollar could mean the gift of life.

JOHN NICHOLS'

Frankfort Watchline

Until the last few weeks we shared the prevalent belief of many political observers that Gov. Wendell Ford will not run for the Senate in 1974. Now we're not so sure.

In fact, without any good information contributing to any switch in opinion, we're leaning slightly in the other direction. Maybe the best way to portray our feeling about the situation at this point is to guess that Gov. Ford doesn't know if he's going to be a candidate.

In any event, we don't think this particular political game will be played out until some time next spring - after the 1974 legislative session.

Meantime, it's fun to watch the cat and mouse antics of both Ford and Lt. Gov. Julian Carroll as they jockey for the best post in a marbles tournament, but of course it's much more serious than that.

First, if Republican incumbent Marlow Cook decides to seek another term - and we'll bet about that in maybe a month - he'll be the most formidable foe for any Democrat, and no, ha, ha, about it. Secondly, if neither Ford for the Senate despite pressure from Ford and State Party Chairman J. R. Miller. Looks like Miller would at least like the Lt. Gov. out of the way and not available for the governor's chair in 1975, and that's what Carroll is after.

A Kenton County Democratic group wants to draft Ford for the Senate, ha, ha, and Carroll says he's delighted the Northern Kentuckians settled on such a strong political candidate, ho, ho. To which Ford says he'll complete his term, stay with it until it's over in November, 1975, ha, ha? And he adds that if this keeps up he'll help start a draft - Carroll for Senate movement, ho, ho, ho.

Looks like a couple of kids jockeying for the best post in a marbles tournament, but of course it's much more serious than that.

Jefferson County Judge Todd Hollenbach, assuming that he's successful in his reelection bid next month, is still a common live stranger in much of Kentucky and an unknown factor in the hinterlands.

What we're saying is that if Cook runs, it might well be because the Democrats to get Ford into the race as extra insurance of victory. And there's no assurance that even Ford could beat Cook.

For example, any state administration scandal or embarrassment could, and would hurt the Democrats. So might the natural tendency of the voter to help the political underdog - which certainly is the GOP these days.

Therefore, if there is really anything resembling an actual political draft, Ford could be the recipient. Of course, there's the obstacle - to Ford Miller's of leaving all the gubernatorial marbles to Carroll by Ford having to resign if he wins a Senate seat.

And to that we say there have been more surprising compromises in Kentucky's crazy-quilt political history.

Forgone Conclusion - If anyone was in doubt as to whether the 1974 Legislature would enact a new statute imposing the death penalty, the hideous killings in Lexington and Palmox by two federal fugitives ought to erase it all.

Lawmakers we talked to have said they would be supporting capital punishment anyway, but the gruesome murders underline their case.

A Job Grab Bag - Lt. Gov. Carroll is quite proud of the new patio-garden recently finished in the rear of his Frankfort residence the Old Mansion. He's proud, coz of his relative lack of expense to the state.

Tons of brick and masonry, hundreds of plants and flowers, masterful electrical and plumbing work, and the whole thing laid out in excellent taste.

Carroll opened a few eyes the other day when he revealed that practically all of the work was done by prison labor recruited from LaGrange Reformatory.

"Carpentry, masonry, plumbing, architecture, gardening, all by LaGrange trustees," the Lt. Gov. told some guests the other day. "And I guess if we had needed doctors and lawyers we could have gotten them there, too."

AN EXPRESSION OF GRATITUDE AND CONFIDENCE

Early years are a great part of a firm's life, and Rockcastle County is a great place to live them. We know, because our firm was founded in Mt. Vernon sixty-five years ago and through these years we have found friends here who have shared with us our hopes, joys and ambitions. So it is, that our heart is full of love for our city and our pride in it and loyalty to it seems to grow with the years.

This month we begin our sixty-sixth year of business in Rockcastle County in the field of funeral service.

But one thing has not changed, and that is the heart, soul and spirit of Rockcastle County. And so, as we begin another year of business, may we express our whole hearted gratitude - to the hundreds of families in this community who have shown their faith in our firm; to the banks who have supported our plans and efforts; to the newspaper whose columns have been invaluable to our progress and to all the countless friends, whose company and encouragement have made our lives exceedingly worth living. Through these sixty-five years, whatever Rockcastle County has made it possible for us to earn has remained in Rockcastle County - in investments that reaffirm our confidence in Rockcastle County's continued growth and prosperity.

In continuing with the history of Rockcastle County schools, we come to the very difficult subject of rural schools in the county. I have been utterly unable to find any official records of the formation of any of the school districts around this time. This may be partly explained by the fact that county schools were destroyed by fire around 1928; presumably to cover up certain alleged irregularities in the purchase and sale of teaching jobs. There is, however, no record or record to be kept up this supposition. At any rate, there are no records available on the county district schools, and we are forced to rely on the memory of the older people in the county for such information as we are able to gather concerning them.

From what has come in so far, I am unable to state, with any degree of certainty which was the oldest district school in the county. Since the state system of public schools was not adopted until 1880 the only schools in Rockcastle before that time, the academies previously referred to, were the only institutions of learning available here. Rockcastle, according to Norton's thesis, was one of the first counties in the state to comply with the provisions of the legislative act of 1837-1838 to set up a county school system and was the only county to comply with the request of the state superintendent of Public Instruction to furnish a census of the number of children between the ages of seven and seventeen who were unable to read. Incidentally, this census showed an illiteracy average of more than 53 percent.

The State Board of Education appointed a board of commissioners for each county. It was the duty of this board, with the help of the county judge, to divide the county into districts, each containing not less than thirty nor more than one hundred children between the ages of seven and seventeen. Rockcastle County's first board of directors consisted of Charles C. Carson, John D. Bryant and James Wilson. This was in 1840 and the report for 1842 showed a total of 829 pupils enrolled, with school terms of three months being observed, the county receiving the sum of $831.60 for the school year. In 1846 a proposal was made to add a two-cent property tax for the support of the school system of the state. In Rockcastle County the vote was 238 against the tax and 345 for it.

By 1853 there were 26 school districts organized in Rockcastle County and the school census showed an enrollment of 1306 students.

In 1875 teachers salaries averaged $24.38 per month for men and $19.75 for women. The next forty years did not bring about much increase in teacher's salaries. In 1915 taught school in Livingston for $40.00 per month. This may explain why old-timers cannot sympathize deeply with today's teachers who consider themselves sadly underpaid.

I can account for the following district schools in Rockcastle County, all of which, I believe, have now been closed.

While we have no record of what was the oldest district school house, we are inclined to believe that Buckeye and Oak Hill are among the oldest. In a recollection of the county, one named Dollins, taught from a primitive, handmade arithmetic that was later in the possession of Willis Sigmon, one of his students, but its present whereabouts is not known. It would make a valuable exhibit in an early school house museum and I am hopeful that it will turn up someday, as I cannot imagine anyone deliberately destroying such a book. We have no actual dates on the establishment of either of the above schools. It is logical to believe that one of the oldest district schools would have been established somewhere on Skaggs Creek, since many of the earliest settlers in Rockcastle settled along Skaggs Trace, the first trail across Rockcastle County in pioneer days.

I am fortunate in having early records on Redbud School House, having learned much from my father who, like myself, attended his first term of school there. I remembered Mr. Booth Purcell as being the oldest living student of Redbud and when he came back to Rockcastle County in 1905 to attend the funeral of his son, Cecil, I made it a point to talk with him. He was at that time 96 years of age but possessed of all his faculties, together with a wonderful memory. He said that the land on which the school house stood was donated by Jack Henderson, then living on what is known as the George Burton Place, and John Purcell, Booth's grandfather. He said he started to school there in 1875 and the school house was then an old building. In a recollection of the county, one named Henderson, of Fairfield Nursing Home, Hamilton, Ohio, he says his grandfather, Andrew Jackson Henderson, who was the first postmaster at Wildie, was the one who donated the land for Redbud School and said that he had bought it from a man named Purcell.

The old Redbud School House is the last log schoolhouse still in usable condition in Rockcastle County and very likely in the whole state of Kentucky, if not in the nation. It is maintained just as it was when I attended school there more than seventy years ago, and so far as I know, I am now its oldest living student, unless that honor belongs to Johnny Rowe of Mt. Vernon. We'll have to get together and compare notes. Its oldest living teacher is Miss Maggie Hassel, now living in Louisville, Kentucky. Until his death sometime ago, Felix Bowman was possibly the second oldest. I got a good picture of the two of them, posed in front of the old schoolhouse a short while before his passing.

I am still in need of information on the old county schools before writing our school history into the proposed book and would like to hear from anyone who has information that would be useful. In a future article, we will go into the subject of early teachers in the county, and here again any voluntary information will be gratefully accepted.

County Agent's Notes

By H. Lee Durham

Bell Pepper Production:
Dr. C. R. Roberts, Extension Vegetable Specialist, University of Kentucky, recently made these statements concerning the production of Bell and Pimiento pepper production in Kentucky.

"There has been a good deal of concern on the part of some Extension Agents and others about the results being realized with peppers in Kentucky this year. There have been at least four factors seriously affecting pepper yields in our state this year. These factors are:

1. Heavy rains early in the season. These rains prevented pollen release and thus fertilization of the ovules. As a result we had 'blossom drop.' This means to occur more so on plants that were held over for some time after the plants were received. There was a short period of warm, sunny weather early that allowed the early planted plants to set fruit. Growers who took advantage of a break in the weather and got their plants in had reasonably good fruit set in most cases.

2. Bacterial leaf spot diseases defoliated some fields. A prolonged period of rainfall and high moisture conditions made this disease a serious problem. As the weather cleared and the rains ceased new foliage came out and the disease was curtailed. Some damage was done, however, because of sun scald to exposed fruit and the lack of leaf area to produce food to develop new fruits.

3. The European corn borer has been especially bad in many fields across the belt and pimiento producing area. All indications are that this can be more serious eventually than bacterial leaf spot. This problem affects quality of fruits as well as yields.

4. Excess nitrogen applications - some growers have experienced this problem. The foliage is dark green but no flowers or fruit.

Some of the things that might resolve these problems are: select a well-drained site for growing peppers, control European corn borer, avoid sites of exceptionally high fertility and fertillize according to soil test results.

It is understood that Moody-Dunbar wants to increase their acreage of pepper considerably in 1974, and will pay $10 more to the ton. Mr. Robert Hubbard, Station Manager for Moody-Dunbar Company, now has contracts ready to be signed for the production of peppers next year.

Carpenter, ADA Manager. A discussion period and election of an ADA Board Member for a two-year term will follow.

DAR Harvest Tea Planned In Paris

Members of the Rockcastle Chapter DAR and their guests are invited to attend the annual homecoming and harvest tea at Duncan Tavern in Paris Wednesday and Thursday, October 24 and 25, 1973. The state officers of the Kentucky Society, Daughters of the American Revolution and members of the Duncan Tavern Board will hold open house from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Miss Laura Dickerson of Williamstown, state regent and Mrs. Richard L. Roberts of Fort Thomas, chairman of the Duncan Tavern Board will welcome visitors to the old-fashioned get-together.

Door prizes will be given every hour both days, and Thursday afternoon a drawing will be held for a crocheted bedspread.

The newly-enlarged John Fox, Jr. Memorial Library will be open for research or browsing. Members of the library committee will be present to assist with solving problems.

Miss Elizabeth Steele, Lexington, is chairman of this committee.

The Homecoming is planned by the Ways and Means Committee of the Duncan Tavern Board, assisted by the members of the Board and the State Officers of the Society. In 1788 four years before Kentucky received statehood and was still a part of Virginia, Maj. Joseph Duncan built his inn on what is now the public square at Paris. Duncan Tavern consists of twenty rooms and stands three stories high. The inn is an original example of the use of limestone which was quarried by primitive methods in the western wilderness. When it was erected, all the surrounding buildings, including the Bourbon County Courthouse were constructed of logs. After continuous use for more than a century and a half, the building was offered by the city of Paris to the Kentucky Society, DAR, on condition that the Society restore and maintain it as a shrine and open it to the public. The offer was accepted and the work of restoration was begun in 1940. Bourbon County Fiscal Court contributed to this undertaking. The blue ash floors show their antiquity; the heavy doors have the original English and early American locks and there are handwoven mantels and stone fireplaces. Here is housed a fine historical and genealogical library, honoring John Fox, Jr., author and native of Bourbon County. The original manuscript of his "Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" and some of his possessions are part of this collection.

A garden honoring patriots of recent wars has been developed. Here the old Bourbon County Court House gate of wrought iron, with surmounting spread-eagle, flanks the building and leads the way to the garden kitchen where visitors see an old butter door with a crude original carving of the name Aaron Burr. Duncan Tavern was dedicated to Miss Mary Deah of Lexington, one of the four founders of the National Society. Daughters of the American Revolution.

CONSTRUCTION BEGINS ON NEW PARK

Kentucky's extensive network of state parks is scheduled to receive another addition in late July, 1974. Construction has begun on E. P. "Tom" Sawyer State Park by Robert Struck and Sons, Louisville. The firm submitted a low bid of $1,495,000 for the Jefferson County project, comprising about 819 acres, adjacent to Central State Hospital, according to Donald Peneger, director of planning, Kentucky Department of Parks. The main attraction at "Tom" Sawyer State Park will be a complex containing an outdoor Olympic-size swimming pool with a diving well of three boards, a wading pool and observation deck. A large bathing will house restrooms and dressing rooms, as well as provide space for such events as family reunions and company picnics. A small raised stage located at the end of the area can be used for local drama productions. Peneger said that four tennis courts might be included in the complex. He estimated that 1,000 to 1,500 people can be accommodated daily during the summer season. Vending machines will be provided and picnic tables scattered around the area can be used by those who choose to bring their own meals, he added.

The facility is named in honor of former Jefferson County Judge Ervin P. Sawyer, who was killed in an auto accident in 1929. Over 1,600 delegates are expected to attend the 82nd National 4-H Congress in Chicago, November 25-29, 1973. The 4-H winners from across the country and Puerto Rico, will be accompanied by some 250 4-H leaders and greeted by over 300 representatives of 4-H donor organizations and some 200 members of the press. Total Congress attendance is expected to top 2,400 persons.
