Down On The Farm

By: Ray G. Brown
Assistant Vice President
Cumberland PCA

We are visiting today on the farm of Kenneth Stewart and W. S. Stewart at Williams. Their farming operation consists of 75 cows being milked each day giving over 3,000 pounds of milk. They have 57 dairy cows and 90 dairy heifers. In addition to their dairy herd, they also have 112 head of beef cattle. Their crops consist of 31,000 pounds of tobacco and 90 acres of corn and soybeans along with plenty of hay and pasture.

In the above picture is Kenneth G. Stewart and your writer, Ray Brown, examining a roll bale of hay that was baled in 1973 on their farm. Kenneth was the first farmer in Rockcastle County to own the new type Vermeer Baler which makes round bales of about 1,200 pounds per bale. We examined the hay and only about two inches were damaged on the outside of the roll after being in the weather all winter. This is a labor saving device of putting up hay on some farms that have a lot of hay, but with a labor shortage. W. S. Stewart and Kenneth Stewart are excellent farmers doing an extra good job "Down On The Farm."

Schools Eligible for Disaster Aid - Kentucky schools sustaining damage from the April tornadoes, not covered by insurance, will be eligible for U.S. disaster aid, two federal officials recently announced.

They noted that federal law provides that funds be used to replace any school-owned property not insured. The initial grant will be 75 percent of the total cost with the rest coming later. Because some schools received more damage than others, attention will be given on a priority basis.

Horse Education Gets Boost - The State Racing Commission recently passed a new rule requiring Kentucky's five thoroughbred racing associations to schedule at least four races for two-year-olds during each week of racing, beginning next March.

The new rule resulted partly from a budget increase authorized by the 1974 General Assembly.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Danny Ford and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Randolph attended the Kentucky Auctioneers Convention held at the Galt House in Louisville over the weekend. During the meeting, Mr. Ford was elected to the State Board of Directors of the Organization.

Well, the fish weren't biting worth a darn so Harry and Charlie decided to take the kids out Saturday afternoon for a little "Cow Pasture Pool" while their wives, Mabelene and Floxythis, sunbathed on the park bench with pool stick in hand threatening what they would do if Harry and Charlie should fail to mind the kids.

Vacation ended with Harry and Charlie weary and embarrassed because they said the fish just weren't biting - regardless of the fact that one smart aleck had caught twenty big bass didn't mean a thing. We think Harry and Charlie had been slipping a little bass fishing in.

Brodhead Fire Dept. Is Reorganized

The Brodhead Volunteer Fire Department was reorganized in January of 1973, under the direction of Chief Everett Bradley. The Department was previously a volunteer one, as it still is, but no training or meetings were ever held. The Department now meets twice monthly, and has raised its membership and ability to fight fires over the past years. The Department has also received a new fire engine in this time span and has a new building to house the equipment and meeting place for its men.

The main objective of the Brodhead Fire Department is the same as any other fire department: to save property and lives. As of this date, the Brodhead Fire Department has responded to a total of ten fire calls for 1974 - five county runs and five city runs.

The BFD is probably equipped with fire fighting apparatus and protective turn out gear equal to any other department. They have two trucks, a 1946 Chevrolet pumper with a 500 gallon tank and the new truck which is a 1973 Ford pumper with a 750 gallon tank. The men on the Department are equipped with turn out gear which consists of coats, hat, gloves, and boots. As of this time, the Department has 83 percent of its men who are fully equipped with the gear.

The Department has a total membership of 21 men. These men are protected by insurance with the Kentucky Firemen Association, Incorporated. This covers any one of the men if they are injured while on active duty with the Department. Membership has been increased by 50 percent since January of 1973. Ages of the firemen vary from 20 to 48 years of age.

Members have completed 330 man hours of comprehensive training, during 1973, by an instructor from the State Fire Department.

Members of the BFD have a method of notifying each other of a fire by the "Call System." There are three numbers that can be used by citizens in reporting a fire. These numbers are 758-8113, 758-8411 and 758-8637. When a call comes in that particular person calls the chief who, in turn, calls one person and this person calls the next number on the list. This is carried out all the way down the list by the man calling the name after his until all members have been notified. This calling is sometimes done by the fireman's family while the men are on the way to the firehouse.

The Fire Department has begun making county runs with its old truck since the purchase of the 1973 pumper. These county runs are made in the Brodhead area unless Chief Bradley and his men think it necessary to go to another area.

The Department also has five men designated a month to work forest fires. The Department has been equipped with certain equipment to fight forest fires by Steve Bullen, our local State Fire Warden.

The Department, as stated previously, is a volunteer organization, and new members are welcome. The only requirement is that a member must be 18 years of age and is placed on probation for six months or must complete the state 20-hour course a year training, whichever comes first. Members of the Brodhead Volunteer Fire Department are: Everett Bradley, Chief, Ronnie Bradley, Assistant Chief, Bryan Russell, Billy B. Bussell, Roy Denny, David Cash, Charles Bullock, Johnny DeBorbo, Lawson Whit, Keith Rigby, Everett Albright, Dee Bussell, Larry Taylor, Gary Gentry, Harold Taylor, Billy Gentry, Frank Martin, Bobby Proctor, Johnny Wilcox and Lloyd Albright.

These members would like to thank the people who have helped to make this reorganization possible. These people are too numerous to mention.

Anyone needing the assistance of the Brodhead Volunteer Fire Department, call the Department, and they will try their best to be of service to you.

Visitors are welcome to visit the department's meetings on the second and fourth Thursday of every month.

A Voice For America's Property Owner.....

The REALTOR® - A Voice For America's Property Owner, is the 1974 theme for REALTOR® Week. REAL-

TOR® Sam Ford, President of the Dix River Board announced today.

REALTOR® Week is part of a nation-wide observance during April 21-26.

This year's observance emphasizes the positive role a REALTOR® performs as a voice for property owners on the local, state, and national level. "At present," REALTOR® Ford said, "seven out of every ten families own their own homes; and it is imperative that their voice be heard."

REALTOR® Ford pointed out that home ownership is and always will be the stable foundation of America.

"It is the single most important investment that most families will make, and certainly the best one," he added.

REALTOR® Ford stressed the fact that there was never a more opportune time for all REALTORS® to point out the advantages of property ownership. "The achievement of home ownership is a fundamental right," he explained. "REALTORS® and property owners are united to preserve that right."

FROM THE ROCKCASTLE CO. LIBRARY

The influence of books at a certain stage of life is more than can be well estimated. The principles which they instill, the lessons which they exhibit, the ideals of life and character they portray, root themselves in the thoughts and imaginations of young men and women. We can help our young people by providing them with the opportunity of good, wholesome reading. That is precisely what we are striving to do at the Rockcastle County Public Library. We have the books in the library available to them. Why not bring them in or encourage them to stop by and become users of the library?

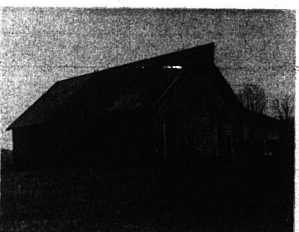

Also, the library is starting a crochet class in the library every Tuesday afternoon from 1 to 2:30 p.m. This class will start April 30th. Be sure and come in ready to have a lot of fun and learn crocheting from the bottom up. If you have never crocheted in your life and want to learn how, this class is for you. If you are an expert at the craft, it is for you also as we will be trading patterns and designs. We'll be looking forward to seeing you on April 30th.

"WHERE THE BOONEWAY JOINS THE DIXIE"

THE MOUNT VERNON SIGNAL, MOUNT VERNON, KENTUCKY 40456

VOLUME 87 NUMBER 33

THURSDAY, APRIL 25, 1974

THE LOSS WAS HIGH Saturday when The Attic, located on Richmond Street in Mt. Vernon, was completely destroyed by fire. A spokesman for Christian Appalachian Project, which runs the store, said that the loss was not covered by insurance. City Firemen said the blaze was out of control when they were called to the scene and that the fire evidently started in a coal bin located adjacent to the rear of the store. About ten employees were inside the store when the fire started but no customers were on the premises. Mgr. Beiting said Monday that plans are to construct a new building on the site.

Local Families Maintain Living Standards

What effect has inflation had, during the past five years or so, on Rockcastle County residents? Did they stop buying luxury items and limit themselves to bare necessities? Not so you could notice. There is little evidence that the cost of living pinched or restrained them to a great degree. On the contrary, judging by the amount of money they spent in the period for cars, new household equipment and other costly durables, they have been maintaining their normal standard of living.

An indication of the way families in general have been adjusting to inflation is contained in a nationwide survey made by the Department of Commerce, covering the five years ending January, 1973. It reveals how much was spent in various parts of the country for major durable products. It shows, as would be expected, that such discretionary expenditures were closely related to income.

In Rockcastle County, where average income, and therefore purchasing power, has been greater than in many areas, the outlay for cars and other durables was about $3,966 per household, based upon the government report and upon local income and spending data.

The biggest part of it was for cars, new and used. Local expenditures in this direction in the five years averaged $2,740 per family, it is estimated.

Another $381 per family went for furniture, $178 for color TV sets, and $104 for refrigerators and freezers.

The remainder was spent for washing machines, clothes dryers, kitchen ranges, hi-fi equipment, air conditioners and other appliances.

The figures show that most families spent a far greater amount for cars in the five-year period than for all the other durables put together. No less than 70 percent was for such purchases.

The government report notes that America's spent over $125 billion in the period for the 40 million new cars they bought and $67 billion in the purchase of 68 million used cars.

In contrast, for the other 13 durables listed, their outlay was only $83 billion.

Among other things, application for licenses will be distributed along with supporting information for those persons who may desire to apply for licenses under the grandfather provision of the Statute. Everyone who is interested in this new law is urged to attend this meeting so their questions may be answered and where first-hand information is given.

LIONS VOTE TO PROMOTE CIVIC PRIDE

Three projects to promote civic pride, were voted on at the last regular meeting of the Mt. Vernon Lions Club, one of which was an essay contest for high school students with cash prizes for first, second and third place winners.

Project One called "Clean up Pains up Fix 'em" where the Lions Club encourages local people to take pride in their homes, business places, and in their yards and lots. Lion President Joe Clark stated that since Mt. Vernon and Renfro Valley attracts a lot of tourists, the local and county people should let them know we are proud of our town and county, and to "put our best foot forward." President Clark appointed Lions Estil Hodges and Larry Travis as co-chairmen of the project.

Project Two was to co-sponsor the Rockcastle Improvement Council and to encourage county people to join the organization to help promote industry for Rockcastle County. The council meets first Monday at Roy Mews's office and the dues are $5.00 per year. The Lions Club wanted to stress that membership was not limited to business people only, but to anyone interested in helping promote Rockcastle County. President Clark appointed Lee Durham and Lloyd Cain as Lions Club representatives and to help promote the organization.

Project Three was to assist the local Bicentennial Committee.

June 10 Deadline For Federal Assistance

Senator Marlow Cook has issued a warning to residents of disaster-affected counties to pay close attention to the deadlines of the federal agencies providing assistance in Kentucky.

The Senator said the Small Business Administration (SBA), as an example, has two sets of deadlines for filing for assistance based on their regulations for loan applications.

June 3 is the SBA deadline for Anderson, Breckinridge, Clinton, Cumberland, Franklin, Hardin, Henry, Jefferson, Lincoln, Madison, Meade, Nelson, Owsen, Scott, Warren and Whitley Counties. June 10 is the SBA deadline for Boone, Boyle, Bullitt, Clark, Grayson, Green, Harrison, McCreary, Pulaski, Rockcastle, Simpson, Taylor, Wayne and affected areas adjacent to those counties.

Cook suggested that anyone confused about this matter or who has questions about any federal assistance program could call his office, free of charge, from anywhere in Kentucky by dialing 1-800-292-5589 at any hour of the day or night.

Temporary Ambulance Service Restored To County Until May 15

Residents of Rockcastle County are assured of an ambulance service, at least until May 15th. The action came from an informal meeting in the County Courthouse Monday between County Judge Hubert Thacker, County Attorney James Lambert, representatives of Dowell and Martin Funeral Home and Cox Funeral Home, Hospital Administrator M. H. Hoskins and Mgr. Ralph Beiting.

The meeting was held to hear a tentative proposal from the funeral home representatives as to a way out of our present dilemma of no ambulance service. Attorney Jerry Cox, acting as spokesman for the group, told Mr. Thacker and Mr. Lambert that the proposal roughly amounted to an ambulance service being set up and administered by the funeral homes with the billing, collection and housing of the ambulances being taken care of by the Hospital, if they were agreeable. Mr. Cox said that the funeral homes had decided that if this plan could be implemented the cost to the county to subsidize the operation would be approximately $1,000 per month.

Of course, without the entire Fiscal Court, no action could be taken on this proposal but, at the urging of Buddy Cox, a committee was appointed to (1) set up a temporary ambulance service and (2) provide a detailed cost analysis of the operation of an ambulance service. Appointed to the committee were Mr. Cox, Bill Dowell, Mgr. Ralph Beiting and Mr. Hoskins.

The temporary service is being operated out of a building located behind Our Lady Of Mt. Vernon Catholic Church. Two ambulances are in use and salaries for the two men operating the vehicles are being provided by Father Beiting through the Christian Appalachian Project. The county is providing gas and oil for the three-week period.

At a called meeting Wednesday morning, the entire Court met and discussed ways and means of providing something permanent for an ambulance service even to the letting of a franchise to individuals.

Nothing definite was decided at this meeting either and it was adjourned until 1 p.m.

At a called meeting Wednesday morning, the entire Court met and discussed ways and means of providing something permanent for an ambulance service even to the letting of a franchise to individuals. Nothing definite was decided at this meeting either and it was adjourned until 1 p.m.

At the second meeting Wednesday, Mr. Lambert told those present that during the interim between the two meetings, the Court had met with individuals interested in obtaining a franchise to operate an ambulance service in the county. Mr. Lambert said that the Court had decided to hold off on a decision as to whether to take in attempting to provide the service until the next regular meeting of the Court, Tuesday, May 7th.

As matters now stand, ambulance service is available 24 hours a day by calling 256-4250.

PROPERTY SOLD.....

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Carter's house and lot on West Main Street in Mt. Vernon sold at Public Auction Saturday, April 20th, to Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Mink of Mt. Vernon for $15,200.

The sale was handled by Ford Realty and Auction Company of Mt. Vernon.

City employees worked hardy Sunday and Monday to repair a leak in a main water line which threatened, at one point, to cut Mt. Vernon and surrounding areas completely out of water. The break was discovered on Sunday morning under the entrance ramp to Interstate 75 at Beaufre Valley. Since the state prohibited the City from cutting the road to get to the break, the work had to be done from the sides. Residents on high elevations in Mt. Vernon were without water for some time and residents in surrounding areas where there are no storage tanks were also out of water for some hours.

JOHN NICHOLS'

Frankfort Watchline

It didn't take much of a wizard to guess that Senator Marlow Cook's name would find its way onto the May Primary election ballot despite his troubles... but, you'll recall, we made that forecast last week.

Excuse the personal howling, but we're so rarely right, we've got to tell someone when we're lucky.

Yes, as expected, Franklin Circuit Judge Henry Meigs, himself a Republican and certainly caught between a rock and a hard place in this case, ruled that Senator Cook was in compliance with the law and that his name should be placed on the May voting list.

That issue is now in the Court of Appeals, before there by Secretary of State Thelma Stovall with the promised help of Attorney General Ed Hancock.

Mrs. Stovall had been insisting that the law which she was accusing Senator Cook of ignoring was very simple... and very mandatory. It was her opinion that Judge Meigs had but two choices: to ignore the law and rule Senator Cook off the ballot... or to disregard the statutes and do what he did.

It was a tough task for the judge to try because, being a Republican, he'd be criticized by one political side or the other, regardless of his decision. But, to us, his decision made sense.

In the view of most Kentuckians with whom we've discussed this thing, it was a case built on a technicality.

The Judge's ruling was simple: Senator Cook violated no law... did no damage to the public good... and that the law with which he was charged with ignoring had more to do with informing the public about campaign finances than with candidate qualification.

It's our opinion that except for the Secretary of State and the Attorney General, most Democrats familiar with the case are breathing easier now that Cook's on the ballot. Many worried that Cook's bad luck would be construed by the voters as a plot by the Democratic Party to clear the field for its Senate front-runner, Gov. Wendell Ford.

Indeed, the governor on the afternoon of the ruling issued a statement expressing pleasure about the development. We believe he would have been a lot more pleased if the case had never reached its ugly head.

Belatedly, too, the governor expressed hope that there would be no appeal of this case. Surely, he'd like to see the whole thing gone and forgotten.

It appears to us to be the hub around which a good deal of Marlow Cook's May-to-November campaign will be wrapped... a "dirty trick" as he's been heard to describe it... an effort to thwart his bid for renomination and re-election.

The sympathy vote has to be a part of this whole picture and we'll not know until election day in November just how much a factor it was... how effectively the Republican turned the thing around to Cook's favor.

A surprising element in the hearing last week was the testimony of a reporter who said he was alerted by someone he wouldn't name to Cook's filing discrepancy, researched the law on it and discussed it with Mrs. Stovall, before the filing deadline.

And since no story had been forthcoming after all of this, Cook is jumping on that for all its worth. That, too, should provide him with some campaign fodder.

Newsmen in general are not among Cook's favorite people. We can see hard times ahead for some reporters involved in the coverage of the November campaign for the U.S. Senate in Kentucky.

An individual close to Ford tells us that the anticipated outpouring of sympathy is not indicated in a popularity poll recently done... presumably by the Democrats. He says that Ford's alleged margin over Cook had, indeed, grown since word of the Senator's filing troubles began to spread.

That's tough to accept... of course, you can read anything you want into a poll, but for now we're content to stay with this assessment: The developments of the last few days will serve to improve Cook's chance for re-election and make the runoff with Ford an even closer race than earlier expected.

Well, Never Know - At one point during the testimony of that reporter in the Cook case, he began to refuse to identify an informant. Judge Meigs appeared to be anticipating some trouble, but Cook's attorneys withdrew the question.

"That's good," said the judge, "and jaller you can relax," he grinned at one of the bailiffs in the courtroom. Surely he wouldn't have... would he?

Frisky Case - Mrs. Stovall's attorney, Frankfort lawyer Joseph Leary, had called the reporter to the stand. Leary, himself, had occasion to criticize the press. He told the court that he had been misquoted earlier when describing the law he was changing Cook with not having obeyed. "Imperative" was the word he had used. "Imperative" was the way it came out in the local newspaper here. Hardly the same thing.

The story the electric company doesn't tell you.

The electric utilities have talked a lot of people into believing that by switching to electric appliances they'll be ready for the day when we run out of fossil fuels.

What they don't tell you is that more than 80 percent of all the electricity generated in the United States is produced by steam turbines that burn gas, oil, or coal.

Not only does the electric company make electricity with these "fossil-fuels", they waste about 70 percent of the fuel energy they use in the process, and spew that wasted heat into the very atmosphere we're trying to clean up. What's their preferred source of energy? Gas - because gas burns clean and is economical.

When the electric company asks you to switch your home heating, air conditioning, water heating, cooking and clothes drying to electricity, they are asking you to use two or three times as much gas, at two or three times the cost, to do a job that gas can do better by coming straight to your home.

So it really doesn't make much sense to ask electricity to do jobs that were meant for gas, does it? Go ahead and use electricity for your light bulbs and mixers and toothbrushes and can openers; but count on gas to cook and heat and dry and cool. All the jobs that gas does best.

To preserve gas... use gas.

CAP Asks Help For Tornado - Stricken

Magr. Ralph Betting, president of the Christian Appalachian Project which since 1951 has successfully striven to help poverty-stricken Eastern Kentucky help itself, has thrown the full weight of his organization's multi-faceted resources - money, clothing, shelter, transportation, building aids, volunteer labor - to help those "mailed destitute" by last week's killing tornadoes which devastated parts of five states transforming them into national disaster areas.

Asking for "people-to-people aid" to make Easter and Spring into days of resurrection for the destitute, Magr. Betting stated in a letter already mailed to 500,000 CAP supporters.

"The recent tornadoes that ripped through the Ohio Valley have reaped unprecedented destruction in our part of Appalachia. Those who died unquestionably represent the greatest tragedy. Yet those who still live face a monumental task of rebuilding. In many cases devastation was total. So much is needed - emergency food, volunteer workers, transportation, medicine, shelter, clothing, and the wherewithal to begin again. Won't you please help them?" the brief letter concluded.

"We're opening our doors and emptying our pockets and storage bins for the 'stricken people of all faiths,'" says Magr. Betting, "all that we have is being made available to individuals, to churches, to private and governmental agencies at work helping those made helpless by tornado violence."

This CAP appeal, says Magr. Betting, may not only aid us through the Christian Appalachian Project: "We ask generous people to give to us - to help us help those who are suffering. If you can, CAP will be grateful to receive anything sent to us for distribution and application to the needs of the poor. That's our regular business. But this appeal is not for CAP alone; it is our absolute belief and experience that Almighty God will multiply that which we give just as he did with the loaves and fishes."

To determine the precise shape and scope of the need outside of the regular Christian Appalachian Project territory, CAP's General Counsel in Washington, Robert M. Donih, polled all members of Ky.'s Congressional Delegation to query needs in their districts and to prefer CAP's aid.

Although CAP founder Magr. Betting personally heads the Ky. Mountain Deaconry of the Southern Baptist Church, CAP is neither church supported nor managed. It is non-sectarian in both operation and application of its aid. For his participation in CAP's work, Magr. Betting was once named Kentucky Citizen of the year. Later he received the Lane Bryant national award for humanitarianism and last year he was designated "Good Samaritan of the Year" by the National Catholic Development Conference.

LITTER CLEAN-UP COSTS TAXPAYERS $2 MILLION

Approximately $2 million was spent last year picking up litter along state maintained roads.

J. Rex Cook, chief civil engineer for the Bureau of Highways, Division of Maintenance, said that an estimated 144,000 cubic yards of solid waste material is gathered up each year, enough to cover 27 football fields three feet deep.

Maintenance crews pick up litter on a priority basis, with the interstates and parkways at the top of the list.

"This not only involves collecting trash from the disposing bins along the highways and at rest areas but also picking up papers, beer bottles and other litter along the roadways."

The litter is then disposed in a local incinerator or on landfills. "In most cases the Bureau of Highways has to pay for disposing of the litter in this manner," says Cook, "but there are a few communities who allow us to dump free of charge."

One of the biggest problems according to Cook is that residents in a community without garbage pickup have the tendency to dump their sacks of garbage at roadside barrels on their way to work. "This is not tourist litter but household garbage," says Cook. "We are in danger of becoming a garbage collection agency."

Cook points out that although Kentucky statutes call for a fine between $25 and $300 for littering, enforcement is difficult. And, the Bureau of Highways is not an enforcement agency.

ATTORNEY GENERAL OPINIONS...

Nonresident Witnesses Should Receive Expenses - According to Asst. Atty. Charles W. Runyan, if a nonresident witness is summoned to testify for the state in a felony case he should receive 10 cents per mile travel expenses and $5 for each day he requires a hotel room, if he is a witness. He should also be paid for other necessary expenses.

The information was requested by W. F. Shafar, supervisor, County Fiscal Finance, Executive Department for Finance and Administration.

University May Not Receive Bids If Trustee Is Stockholder - Asst. Gen. Carl Miller said that a university may not receive bids on its group life insurance program from a company in which a member of the board of trustees is a stockholder or corporate officer. The opinion was issued in response to a question submitted by John D. Darius, Jr., special council, University of Kentucky.

County Fishing Licenses Can Be Sold By Nonresident - This was the opinion of Asst. Atty. Gen. Ann DeLaney. She pointed out that this could be done only if the county clerk appointed the nonresident as a deputy. The question was asked by Leamon Perry, Honeybee.

Dear Sir: I am writing a letter on a matter that should be of concern to everyone in Rockcastle County...

My husband, our son and myself decided to try our luck white bass fishing and left for Little Creek on Cumberland last Friday afternoon. Upon our arrival, my husband launched the boat and took the car to park it and the trailer, leaving my son and I to hold the boat. We didn't pay any attention to the boat...

Jim was too quick for it and managed to keep it from going under. We arrived at our new spot and my husband immediately got a bite on the rod to which he had transferred the reel from the broken rod...

A FISH STORY OR: HARRY AND CHARLIE TAKE THEIR FAMILIES-VACATIONING..... [Editor's note: This story wasn't written by me but rather by the fish and the fisherman. No real names are being used but as they say, "If the shoe fits, men, wear it." pma]

Harry and Charlie decided that while the kids were off for Spring Vacation, it would be a good time to take their sons crappie fishing. Now, you must understand, Harry and Charlie are proud Bass fishermen, belong to the Bass Club and all that junk, but they thought just once, they would lower their dignity and take their families and wives crappie fishing...

To begin with it took them two hard days work to get their gear ready. Charlie had to borrow a minnow bucket from his friend the Game Warden and Harry bought one that would self-destruct in two days. As soon as they arrived and were checked into their cottages, Harry and Charlie were ready for blast-off. Both bass boats were launched and Charlie was having difficulty getting his motor started when he realized that motors start better when the fuel line is connected to the fuel. Their first stop was at the dock to buy minnows where it was discovered that Harry, not used to a minnow bucket, had forgotten his and had to go to the truck to get it and come back carrying it right out in public.

All that was finally lined out and it was off to the crappie hole - except that in the blast-off, Harry lost his hat and had to turn around and go back for it where at long last he got a chance to use that big fish net. After fishing awhile in one

BROODHEAD CHRISTIAN CHURCH

According to Richard Rigby, now well along in years, recollecting what he learned from his father, Per Rigby, who lived to an advanced age, the first church in the Broodhead area was located near Potts Graveyard, on Brindle Ridge, but the date of its founding is unknown. Some time later a new church was built at Boone's Fork and the congregation was moved there.

The Boone's Fork Church gained considerable prominence among early church-goers and some of the more important exhorters of the Christian faith held revivals there from time to time. Among these the most noted was a man, who later, during the 1830s, attracted attention, was Raccoon John Smith, one of the early supporters of the doctrinal changes of Alexander Campbell and Barton W. Stone, founders of the Christian denomination. Since his greatest activity in preaching around among outlying churches seems to have been around 1828 and 1830 it seems reasonable to assume that the church at Boone's Fork must have been there at about that time.

After the coming of the railroad the settlement around Boone's Fork seems to have drifted toward the railroad station and in 1889 the church followed suit. The Boone's Fork building was abandoned and the present Christian Church building at Broodhead was erected, on land given for the purpose by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Woodyard. Early members after the removal of the church to Broodhead were Thomas Stanfield Frith, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cherry, and Mr. and Mrs. Fullen Francisco, Mrs. Bettie Tharp and Mr. and Mrs. Martin. There were many others, of course, whose names were not remembered by my informant.

We hope to be able to learn more about the Broodhead Christian Church, especially in its earlier days.

PROVIDENCE CHURCH OF CHRIST

Providence Church of Christ, long one of the strongest Christian Churches in Rockcastle County, has a long and interesting history. It, like so many others in the county, was begun as a Baptist Church, prior to 1839. Records would seem to indicate that the change to the Christian denomination was made in that year, when the constitution of Providence Church was recorded. The minutes indicate that they followed the old Baptist custom of meeting on the third Saturday of each month for conducting church business and on the following Sunday for religious services. Mention is also made of a meeting in 1867 which continued for ten days of both day and night services.

In 1880 a new set of records were begun, setting up the church as New Providence Church, the records continuing to 1914, and records the deed that was made in 1911 to the present church property. Since the ledger for the Providence Church started in 1839 terminates in 1881, one year after the organization of New Providence in 1880, we may assume that this represents a division within the church body, which terminated in 1919, when all joined together as the present Providence Church of Christ.

The first and oldest deed to the present property of Providence Church was recorded in 1885 and again in 1900. This deed called for one half acre of ground to join the old two-acre church tract. This deed was from Daniel and Alice Brown. Another deed, adjoining, a one-acre deed, was made by Shadrick and Eliza Herrin in 1886. This was probably covering the old and original church house. The Daniel and Alice Brown deed was written so that a new place of worship could be built, which it seems was done in 1896 and is the church building now in use. The various old deeds vested property rights in the church by reversion, but a change in Kentucky law prohibited such practice, so the 1911 deed from Daniel and Alice Brown was making the property to trustees John A. Proctor, J. W. Craig and S. L. Cummins and their successors. This deed, as did many other ones of like nature, prohibits any instrument of music being used in the church or any social or other practices unauthorized by the New Testament.

In January of 1973 the congregation of the Providence Church of Christ published an attractive directory of its membership, showing the names and likenesses of all present members, with special pages for its elders and deacons and the five ministers who conduct services there on alternate dates.

Providence Church of Christ can boast a present congregation including some of the best people of Rockcastle County and its ancient and large cemetery—one of the largest in the county—records the last resting place of many who figured prominently in the older days when the Christian Denomination was struggling to establish its place in Kentucky.

BUCKEYE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

There are no existing records on Buckeye Church back of its organization, or re-organization, in 1840. However, so many of the older folks are of the impression that it is one of the oldest churches in the county that there is a possibility there may have been a Baptist church there in earlier days. It has been said that the Buckeye Church furnished many members to the congregations of both Mt. Vernon and the beginning church in the Wildie area.

There are records to the effect that James Proctor and James Chestnut were the first elders. These two were among the very early settlers in Rockcastle County. Anderson Proctor and Madison Ramsey are given as first deacons. Some of the first ministers are listed as Martin Owens, Bill and O. V. Asbill, James Chestnut, James Hatt, John Masters, John Lunsford, Bowman, Carmichael and Croly.

The first church at Buckeye was known as Bethlehem, but was later changed to Buckeye by reason of both the church and the school house being built of Buckeye logs. Johnny Ramsey, when in his nineties, recalled attending an all-day meeting at Buckeye in the late 1890's when an overflowing crowd was in attendance. A bad storm arose and so many people crowded into the church building that the floor broke through, but none were seriously injured.

On January 11, 1899, the church records were destroyed by a fire in the home of G. C. Fish and it was agreed to re-roll the names of members, officers, etc., which was done on January 24th and 25th of that year. On June 25th of that same year Brother M. G. Fish was ordained as a minister in the Church of Christ and preached there for many years, as did Brother James Riddle.

Jones B. Proctor, now of Richmond, Ky. remembers attending church in the old Buckeye log church in his childhood and recalls an instance when Brother Mart Owens stood in the open doorway of the church and preached to several people on the outside who were not able to get in the building. He says that in the early 1900's the old church was torn down and a new one built by Jimmy Coffey. Logan Bryant remembers that when the old church was torn down his father bought the logs for ten dollars and built a barn with them.

RENFOV MEETING HOUSE

This house, which has long since disappeared, leaving only a few foundation stones to mark its location in a grove directly across from where the old Redford School now stands, was erected according to direction contained in its Articles of Incorporation. It was thirty feet wide, forty feet long, with a door in each end, three windows on each side and two windows in each end. It was built on land deeded to the public by Josiah L. Ramsey as a burying ground. This was what was later known as the Renfo Valley Burying Ground and now as The Hiatt Cemetery.

Its Articles of Organization also provided that the Christian Church should have the benefit of the building from the first to the tenth day, inclusive, of each month and the Baptist Church from the eleventh to the twentieth of each month and other Protestant denominations were to have the use of it for the remainder of each month, with the understanding that no church or denomination were to set appointments to preach or worship so as to interfere with other denominations appointments already made. The building was to be used by no organization outside Protestant denominations with the exception that it was to be free to any Burial Association or Cemetery Society which might be later formed, located.

Building committee originally consisted of George S. Hiatt, J. C. P. Spradlin, W. H. Spradlin, W. P. Hiatt, John French, J. L. Ramsey and James Coffey. On the list of contributors toward the building fund were William Fish, W. P. Hiatt, G. P. Ramsey, Allen Hiatt, W. C. Burdette, Jesse E. French, J. J. Parsons, Allen Burdette, Elbert Conn, Thomas Fish, Sr., Green Fish, W. H. Spradlin, P. J. Hiatt and Lee Coffey.

Examined the building of this church is not known. It had disappeared before I was old enough to remember. I remember Uncle Edde Newland once telling me that his father had preached there and that he remembered seeing a letter he had written about it indicating that it was around Civil War time. It is possible that there was a still older church here that once stood there and was replaced by the one under discussion here.

DAMAGED TOBACCO BEDS CAN BE REWORKED IN APRIL.....

Some tobacco plant beds were damaged or destroyed by the recent tornadoes. These tobacco beds can be reworked, fertilized and seeded in the conventional manner, according to Ira Massie, extension tobacco specialist at the UK College of Agriculture.

Massie says that if the beds are seeded by the end of April, plants will be ready for seeding by the middle of June. The UK Specialist recommends watering the bed with 100 gallons of water at the time of seeding and covering the bed with a solid plastic cover in which holes have been punched. Such covers are reported to be available from farm supply stores in most areas.

Nitrate fertilizer will speed up the growth of the plants. Apply nitrate twice during the 45-day growing period, using five pounds of ammonium nitrate or ten pounds of nitrate of soda per 100 square yards of bed each time. Water the bed with 100 gallons of water each time you apply the nitrate.

Massie points out that frequent watering is necessary to stimulate the growth of the plants. As the plants become larger, they need more and more water.

Use a bluestone-lime mixture on the bed when the plants are about the size of a dime. Use three pounds of bluestone and four pounds of fresh hydrated lime in 50 gallons of water for each bed.

Massie recommends removing the plastic cover sometime during the last half of May and replacing it with a conventional cotton cover. Carefully observe the bed for signs of insects and diseases, and apply insecticides and fungicides as needed. Information on the materials to use and the rates of application is available from the local County Extension Office.

BUILDING PLANS AVAILABLE

The recent tornadoes which struck many areas of Kentucky have destroyed or damaged thousands of farm buildings. The local County Extension office has a catalog containing plans for all kinds of large and small farm buildings. Including tobacco barns, hay barns, milking parlors, and swine and poultry buildings. The plans in the catalog have been drawn up by agricultural engineers at the UK College of Agriculture.

The UK Department of Agricultural Engineering is also providing blueprints of farm buildings free of charge to farmers who lost buildings in the tornadoes. The blueprints can be ordered through the local County Extension Office. If you are one of the many farmers who must replace buildings lost in the storms, you should take advantage of this free building plan service.

CONTINUE GRASS TETANY PREVENTION

Grass tetany is still a threat to cows, especially those grazing lush young grass or smother grain pasture. Older cows nursing young calves are most susceptible.

ible and changeable, cool weather increases the probability of tetany. The disease strikes rapidly, and death can occur less than an hour after the first, noticeable symptoms. Supplemental magnesium in the diet is the best insurance against the disease. Provide a salt-mineral mixture containing magnesium or mix magnesium oxide with ground feed or silage. A publication giving additional information on grass tetany is available from the local County Extension office.

CLEAN 'DEBRIS FROM SMALL GRAIN FIELDS

Debris has been scattered across the countryside in many areas struck by the recent tornadoes. Debris which landed in small grain fields is likely to be obscured from view in a short time by the rapidly growing small grain crop. This debris may cause serious problems if it is still in the field at harvest time, since it can damage tractors, machinery and other equipment. The debris should be removed if possible before the growth of the crop hides it from view.

HOMEMADE BREAD - ECONOMICALLY DELICIOUS
Why are so many women going back in time, taking up cooking and baking the way their great grandmothers did? In the case of bread baking, the answer is easy. What tastes better than homemade bread? What fills the kitchen with a more delightful aroma? And what kind of cooking is most fun for a mother to teach her daughter?

Baking bread is an old-fashioned pleasure which is now easier and needs less work. Our ingredients are sure and our ovens are thermostatically controlled. If a recipe is possible to bake a loaf of bread!

These breads come from one basic recipe. Of course, while bread is the one that sandwich-eaters will like so it will add to, rather than detract from, the sandwich. Whole wheat and cinnamon raisin swirl are the other choices, all baked from the original recipe. It's helpful to have proper containers for the breads so they will stay fresh for many days.

Baking bread at home is just plain fun. The lady of the house often finds it most relaxing among her rushed, pressured days. She also saves money with her bread baking efforts, welcome especially in these days of high prices. No matter what the fillings, the homemade bread slices make the sandwich or luncheon or snacktime treat.

Women in the know are trying new recipes for bread. This one is an extra special recipe since it can be used for any of the three delectable loaves. The family will love the old-fashioned flavor - it's economically delicious!

- White Bread With Variations
- 1 1/2 cups milk, scalded
 - 3 tsp. sugar
 - 3 tsp. shortening
 - 2 tsp. salt
 - 2 pkgs. active dry yeast
 - 1 cup warm water (105°-115° F.)
 - 6 to 8 1/2 cups flour
- Combine milk, sugar, shortening and salt; cool to lukewarm. Soften yeast in warm water. Add softened yeast and two cups of flour to milk mixture; beat well. Add flour as needed to make a stiff dough. Turn dough onto lightly floured board and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl; turn once to grease top of dough. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in size. Punch down. Turn onto lightly floured board. Divide into two equal portions. Shape each piece of dough into a loaf. Place in greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Cover and let rise until double in size. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) until done - about 45 minutes. Remove from pans. Cool on wire rack. Makes 2 loaves.

Cinnamon Swirl Bread

Follow recipe for White Bread, except when dough is divided into two equal portions handle as follows: Roll each piece of dough into 15 x 9-inch rectangle. Brush surface with water. Sprinkle each with 1/2 cup sugar and 2 tsp. cinnamon mixed together and 1/4 cup seedless raisins. Roll up tightly from 9-inch edge jelly-roll fashion; tuck ends under. Place loaf in pan.

Whole Wheat Bread

Follow recipe for White Bread, except substitute brown sugar or molasses for granulated sugar, as desired, and 3 cups whole wheat flour for 3 cups of white flour.
