Visiting at our church Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. O'Connell Cox and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cox of Indiana and Mrs. Vernon Mullins of Livingston. O'Connell, Ray and Irene are the sons and daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Granville Cox who lived at Snider years ago. Several of us attended school with them at Fairview and we were so thankful to see them again and enjoyed having them visit our church. Hope they can come and see us again soon.

Mrs. Lucille Ponder of near Fairview and Mrs. Velma Croucher and daughters of Conway and Mrs. Ardilla Tinch and four daughters of Franklin, Ohio met at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Mullins of Holton, Indiana where they spent a very pleasant weekend together.

Please remember church and Sunday School. Pray for our people and our nation. You know we as a nation have strayed far from God and we must return. Please pray - God loves us and will forgive us if we will only ask him. God bless you.

R.A.'S ADOPT A "CLEAN-Up Paint-Up-and Fix-Up" Project

Thirty-eight large bags of litter were picked up last Friday by the R.A.'s of Northside Baptist Church in an anti-litter campaign.

The Royal Ambassadors (R.A.'s), a boys' club of Northside Church, started out at US 25 at Renfro Valley and picked up litter on the road by Lake Linville but only got about half way to the boat dock, before running out of plastic bags.

Mr. Ramsey, manager of the Renfro Valley Boat Dock, stated the public is very careless in throwing beer cans, bottles, and just trash by the Lake, and appreciated the efforts of the R.A.'s. He also stated the Lake Linville is one of Rockcastle County's prettiest attractions, but people are destroying the beauty of the area by their carelessness.

The R.A.'s plan to pick up litter again as soon as possible and hope to clean up the entire area to the boat dock and picnic area.

The Mt. Vernon Lions Club had recently adopted a project of "Clean-up - Paint up - and Fix-up" for Mt. Vernon and Rockcastle County, and the R.A.'s voted to assist in the project to beautify Mt. Vernon and the county.

R.A. leaders are Phil Singleton, Bobby Kendrick and Floyd Owens.

City May Give Grant for Ambulance Service - Asst. Atty. Gen. Walter C. Herdman said there is no legal objection to a fourth class city issuing a grant to the local hospital to insure the local citizens of an ambulance service.

Coal Research - In response to the energy crisis, the General Assembly passed the first research and development bill by a state, allowing Kentucky to participate in coal conversion projects. House Bill 251, initiated by Gov. Ford in his energy message given early in the session, authorizes $50 million to implement contracts with both the federal government and private enterprise for pilot and demonstration plants.

NEWS AND VIEWS From The Rockcastle Co. Library

Books bring the world to your armchair. When you want to relax and have fun, you can do anything you want, be anybody you want, go anywhere you want, live at any time in history - via books. You name it - your library card will bring it to you.

Yes - your library card can bring you a college education - at no cost. You can pick your "courses" by making up reading lists - your librarian will help. Read a few minutes a day - and you will soon have the equivalent of a college education. You can keep on and get your "Masters" and your "Doctorate" in any subject you wish. Your physical growth stops at age 18 - your mental growth never stops. So, take advantage of the free library card and access to the many, many books at the Rockcastle County Public Library just waiting for you. Go in today and ask for your library card. Then browse through the shelves and check out the books of your choice. Among the new books at the library are:

When Grandfather Was A Boy - By Robert Passie. Here, in a lavishly illustrated panorama, we can see what it was like to be growing up in Grandfather's 1910, in Father's 1940, in our own 1970's and we can catch a glimpse of what it may be like in the year 2000, when today's children have children of their own.

Stand Like Men, by James Sherburne. When "Hubal" Early Ford accepted 200 dollars for the mineral rights to his farm on Dead Dog Branch, he put an end to the traditional mountain life his family had lived for generations. From now on, his people would be miners - and the change would lead to starvation, terror, and violence in the county that became famous as "Bloody Harlan."

Raising Small Animals for Fun and Profit, by Paul Villard. Raising small animals can be, as everyone knows, a very absorbing hobby. But few people know that it can also be profitable, either as a supplementary source of income or as a full-time business. And even fewer people know how to get started.

Wildie Christian Church

The exact date of the origin of the Wildie Christian Church is not known. Bill Stewart of Wildie remembers that services were formerly held in an old log schoolhouse known as Cedar Hill, where he attended his first school. This building stood near what was later known as the Jess Proctor Place.

In 1872, when the railroad was being constructed through that section of the country, a commissary building was erected on or near the Aunt Sis Coffey farm to take care of the needs of the work crews. Elna Hayes Coffey, local historian of note, says that it was known as Shanahan's Commissary and the surrounding congregation as Shanahan. After the track was laid and the construction crew moved to another location, the commissary was discontinued and the building which had housed it was abandoned.

The congregation of the struggling little church was quick to take advantage of the situation and took over the building as a place of worship. It is not known just how long they occupied it. Probably it fell into disrepair and became unusable, or probably the congregation longed for a church with a better name than Shanahan's. Sometime prior to 1893 they found that better name and location in the new community of Wildie, which had grown up around the railroad station of that name. It had been so named in honor of two brothers, Will and Dee Albright, of Brodhead, Kentucky, at the suggestion of D. N. Williams, their grandfather.

In 1893 Uncle Isaac and Aunt Ann Phillips of Wildie, deeded to the congregation the spot on which the church now stands and work was begun immediately on the building of a new place of worship. The work was done by volunteer carpenters, among them Brother James Lunford, pastor, who put in many weekdays with a hammer and saw and preached to the congregation on Sundays.

Unfortunately, the earlier records of the Wildie Church have been lost. In beginning the records in 1907, Uncle Henry Fish mentioned previous records, then non-existent, from which certain names were remembered. There is no record of ministers who served here prior to that date but with the help of Bill Stewart and Rance Coffey, I have been able to recall many who have labored here since the erection of the present church building. I remember Brother Masters. Both he and Brother Lunford raised sons who became ministers and preached here in time, the present pastor being a grandson of Brother Masters. I remember old Brother Combs. Brother Lunford (who physically aided in building the church) preached here for fifteen years. There was Brother Peck, who occupied the pulpit at Wildie for thirty-five years, continuing after he was no longer able to stand, and delivering his sermons while seated in a chair. I am told by members of the congregation that the church probably owes most to Brother Gentry, who brought more converts into the church than any other minister, with a record number in 1924. He preached on through the forties, making his last appearance in 1954. Brother Green Fish was another of the old-time preachers who often occupied the pulpit on Sunday, working on his farm through the week as a means of making a living.

Many additions and improvements have been made in the original building, by one of the most progressive small congregations in the county. They presently plan a new building and I suppose that a change is necessary. All of us who remember the old days hope that the building itself is all that will be changed.

Mareburg Christian Church

The Mareburg Christian Church House was built during 1898 and 1899, on ground donated by E. H. Martin, who at that time owned a valuable farm, from which this acreage was taken.

The building was erected through the combined efforts of members and friends of the congregation who gave liberally of their time and efforts and means. Principal carpenters engaged in the work were Campbell Hook, Andrew Sutton and John Williams. No record of the donors and the amount each gave is now in existence, but an early member of the congregation has stated that it was "more pleasure than effort."

The first pastor was Rev. Martin Owens. In spite of his advancing age, he preached there for several years. Next among early pastors was Stephen Colyer of Gum Sulphur, Brother Taylor of Crab Orchard, and Brother Carr of Corbin (whose first names are not remembered) and Brother T. D. Mullins of Mt. Vernon. Among younger pastors were several students from Lexington University, particularly Brothers Meldrum and Mott.

Among earlier deacons were Messers Middleton, Winkler, and Hook.

Although this was a church of the Christian denomination, other faiths were welcome to use the church house when otherwise unoccupied. Baptists, Presbyterians and Methodists felt free to consider it as their own and were always welcome. Attendance was always good, with house and yard filled to overflowing. In summer the audiences would often retire to a spot near one end of the grounds where tall shade trees provided a welcome grove for worship and special events. Each year stirring revivals were held, with such able evangelists as Brothers Combs, Elliot and Boatman. Sunday School was always of much interest and well attended, under such leaders as W. B. Middleton, Will Carson and James Painter.

It is not now remembered just when the Christian Church congregation became less active. Services, by different denominations, were held, intermittently, up until around 1960, when another location was chosen and a new church building erected, this time by the Baptists.

The cemetery surrounding the abandoned site of the old Mareburg Christian Church is one of the most attractive and well-kept country graveyards in Rockcastle County, but the old church building it once surrounded, together with the school building adjoining it, are now gone, not a vestige remaining of the simple and pleasurable way of life which once flowed through the sturdy little community of Mareburg, Kentucky.

Rose Hill Christian Church

In earlier days inhabitants of the area surrounding the Redbud Schoolhouse, sometimes known as Purcell Schoolhouse, frequently met there to hear preaching by itinerant ministers who happened to be available at intervals. In the earlier days of its existence, the old circuit riders were still somewhat active and would come by every month or two.

In June of 1902, Rev. J. L. Davis was holding services there and made the suggestion that the congregation set up a new church, which suggestion seemed to meet with general approval and Solomon Kiddle and Jasper Ricketts were suggested as elders and B. B. Purcell as Deacon. T. B. Lair and David Hysinger were later suggested as deacons, also. Nothing was really accomplished until three years later when the people again met and set aside as elders, T. B. Lair, S. F. Bowman and J. W. Lee. As deacons they selected David Hysinger, B. B. Purcell and Samuel Hysinger. These were officially ordained, with Rev. Green Fish and G. W. Taylor handling the ordination ceremonies. Mr. Taylor was a member of the congregation of Bethlehem Christian Church, better known as Buskeye. At this same time J. W. Lee was ordained as minister.

It was decided to build a new church on land donated by David Hysinger and Judge J. B. Lair, the church to be given the name Rose Hill, as suggested by Judge Lair who had passed through the village of Rose Hill, Virginia, many years before and had greatly admired the name. The church was built with very little money. The books show donations of as little as twenty-five cents in cash, but the carpenter work was done free, lumber was donated. Even the little boys had a part in the work, picking up and straightening bent nails and returning them to the carpenters to use again. At the dedication of the church in 1908, a huge crowd was present. Everybody brought their own food and when it came time to spread the abundance of good things they took up all the space on a series of tables more than a tenth of a mile in length that had been built for the occasion. I was present and recall that the Hysinger family brought an old-fashioned trunk filled to the top with good things to eat as their share of the spread.

Rev. Green Fish was appointed minister for the first year and, with Brother Lee, did most of the preaching for many years, with annual revivals conducted by such stalwarts as Brother Shade Combs, Brother John Masters, Brother J. L. Davis and many others.

The congregation at Rose Hill has never been a large one. From a beginning membership of forty-one, they reached a peak over one hundred and now have around sixty enrolled. It has been a congregation that has struggled to stay alive, through thick and thin, and has never given up.

Incidentally, this church was long famous for its Easter picnics, to which everybody was welcome. I even used to invite people on a network radio program to attend and nobody ever went away hungry. Many of the famous old cooks in the neighborhood have passed on and while there are still many left, the attendance has dwindled and the practice of holding the annual picnic has been discontinued.

1 tlb. unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1/2 cup boiling water
6 cups hard-cooked and chopped
1/4 cup green onions, sliced
1/2 cup radishes, sliced
1 tsp. prepared mustard
1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1/4 tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. pepper
1/2 cup French mold or six
Several leaves of salad greens

Soften the gelatin in cold water. Dissolve it in the boiling water. Add the remaining ingredients, except the salad greens, and mix well. Pour into a one-quart mold or six individual molds. (Hints: A circular salad mold makes a lovely "spring salad surprise" - shape to serve the family.) Chill the mixture in the mold until it sets. As the family gathers to the table, unmold your "Spring Salad Surprise" onto a bed made with the crisp salad greens.

To complement the "Spring Salad Surprise," you will make a hit with the family by serving cold roast beef and water-mince sliced tomatoes. Finish the meal off with a flourish, and provide a "change of taste" as well as a change of pace, with a cherry pie for dessert. You can make the pie early in the day and have it chilled and waiting in the refrigerator.

Brodhead Volunteer Fire Dept. Participates: Career Education

Excitement permeated the first-grade classroom of Mrs. Shirley Martin at Brodhead Elementary School on Friday, April 12, 1974 when the big red fire engine drove up to the school. Three of the firemen, Bryan Bassell, Frank Martin, and Keith Rigby, had come to class to tell the students about the duties of a fireman. The volunteers modeled the special coat, hat, and boots, explaining the need for these and other special equipment. The students were then permitted to take a close look at the fire engine and to sit in the driver's seat.

Prior to this visit, the students had been studying about firemen as a part of their career education unit begun earlier this year by Mrs. Martin with the assistance of Mrs. Sue Hamm, elementary guidance counselor and the cooperation of Mr. Bige Towery, Jr., principal.

WILDFLOWER WEEKEND BLOOMS AT PINE MOUNTAIN

Nature's curtain goes up May 2-5 at Pine Mountain State Resort Park, near Pineville, the setting for this year's family-oriented Wildflower Weekend.

Kentucky's state parks abound in colorful wildflowers, and Pine Mountain presents fine displays of mountain greenery and Mother Nature's spring wildflower spectacular.

This year's Wildflower Weekend begins with registration at 6 p.m. Friday, May 3rd, in the Park lodge and concludes at 10:30 a.m. Sunday with a farewell coffee.

Wildflower Weekend is being sponsored by the State Department of Parks and the Pineville Garden Club, of which Mrs. E. B. Wilson and Mrs. J. K. Etman are co-chairmen. The registration fee is $3.00 for adults, $1.50 for students.

Some of the park wildflowers will include blue-eyed Mary, spring beauty, Venus's looking glass, lady's slipper and Quaker-ladies, to name just a few of the myriad varieties.

Expert Kentucky naturalists and horticulturists will conduct lectures, seminars and discussion groups, and will accompany trail walks and wildflower garden tours throughout Saturday. Pine Mountain State Resort Park is just south of Pineville off US-25E in southeastern Kentucky.

Judicial Reform Requested

The General Assembly voted to put to public vote a constitutional amendment providing for a restructured court system in Kentucky. The amendment calls for the establishment of a Supreme Court, which is presently the Court of Appeals, an intermediate Court of Appeals, and a consolidated system of lower or district courts, which is currently the quarterly, police and magistrate courts.

The amendment will be voted on in the November 1975 general election.

and the dark colors which exist in a lot of Funeral Homes today. Our Home is designed with a personal touch to provide a peaceful atmosphere - and make everyone feel at home. After all, "There's No Place Like Home."

More Money Headed For Rockcastle County

Residents of Rockcastle County will be getting a financial uplift during the next month or two by virtue of checks coming to them from Washington.

Most of this cash represents tax refunds due to people in the local area who paid a larger amount in withholding taxes during the past year, through payroll deductions, than they needed to.

On the receiving end, also, will be all persons who are getting Social Security benefits each month. Their current checks are running seven percent higher than they were in March. In July they will go up an additional four percent.

All of which means that there will be more spending money available to consumers in the area. Whether they will use it or not will walk it away depends upon their individual attitudes toward present economic conditions.

With respect to the forthcoming tax refunds, they will go to some 3,550 persons in Rockcastle County, it is estimated, and will total about $1,515,000, based upon figures from the Treasury Department as to the size and the number of returns it expects to issue.

The total amount to be refunded, nationally, is a record $2 billion. It will go to some 60 million taxpayers who overpaid in 1973. That is far more than last year.

Their checks will average $381. It is estimated, as against $345 previously.

Together with the $2.4 billion additional that will be going to Social Security beneficiaries, it will mean that about $2.4 billion will be pumped into the economy shortly from these two sources.

Assuming that Rockcastle County gets its proportionate share of it, there will soon be approximately $1,457,000 more available to local people.

Just what they will do with it is anyone's guess at this time. The economists themselves are at two minds. Should they cut down on their spending and reduce their debts or should they buy now before prices go out of sight? Each will decide for himself.

Toll and DDD To Be Updated By KTC

Kentucky Telephone Company officials have announced plans for extensive changes in the Company's toll and direct distance dialing (DDD) equipment. The announcement was made by James P. Collins, Southern District Manager for the company.

Collins said that orders have been placed with the equipment manufacturing firms for delivery in September of 1974. He stated that due to the technical engineering requirements of this equipment, the manufacturers require eighteen months to manufacture and deliver this equipment.

Installation will begin immediately upon delivery, with final completion scheduled for September, 1975. In connection with the installation of this equipment, a 2,000 line electronic switching center will be placed in service for London customers.

Presently, approximately 50% of all long distance lines from the toll center at London are now being routed over the new micro-wave system. Other long distance lines that are being routed to Danville over antiquated open-wire facilities will be spread over the new micro-wave system, and a new cable route from London to Danville which will provide alternate routing and improved quality. Upon final completion, scheduled for 1976, the micro-wave system and the cable route will replace all open-wire long distance lines.

Customers in Clay, Knox, Laurel, and Rockcastle Counties will have access to these new facilities when placing long distance calls.

JOHN NICHOLS'

Frankfort Watchline

Many weeks after the 1974 session of the legislature breathed its last, we're still hearing lawmakers' complaints about working conditions, excuses about shortcomings, and now Lt. Gov. Julian Carroll is telling about how tough the session was made by the Supreme Court.

He notes that the high court abolished the death penalty. How was this a problem? The reinstatement of capital punishment by the General Assembly was one of the easily-handled issues of the session, penal code revision getting little debate.

And Carroll mentioned that the Supreme Court abolished the state's obscenity law. This was a problem? Hardly. The law was put back in its original form by a conservative legislature with no argument.

Then the lieutenant governor contends that the Supreme Court's ban on tuition for schools "brought on financial problems." True, but more than that, it brought on emotional problems. A tremendous majority of school parents in Jefferson County didn't want busing and still don't. We do agree with Lt. Gov. Carroll that the Supreme Court's abortion liberalization gave the legislature some headaches, but we disagree with his earlier criticism of the press for calling the new Kentucky law a liberalization.

Kentucky had a statute forbidding abortion except to save the mother's life. It now has a statute allowing abortion and setting out some restrictions. Carroll says the Kentucky law is a curtailment, but in line with the Supreme Court mandate.

Why play with words on this issue? Well, apparently Carroll, as a Democratic candidate for governor, is anxious to head off the barrage of anti-abortion bombs that may be coming this way from all sections of Kentucky.

We don't want to pick on our Lt. Governor and, goodness, it's refreshing to hear him expressing views on issues again... something we didn't hear at all during the General Assembly session. But there's no point in making excuses for a bad session of the legislature, and that's what it was.

Speaker Norbert Blume the other day blasted critics of the 1974 "do-nothing legislature," pointing to the consideration of some 14 hundred measures and the number of about 400. That's a defense of quantity and not quality. No one's ever doubted the legislature's ability to make itself look busy.

Even so pro-press a lawyer as Greenup House Democrat Terry McBrayer - another whose political star is in the ascendancy - complains that the media points out faults more often than it hands out praise.

Why should the press and the public expect anything but a good performance from its legislators? Competency and honesty should be the norm. Although we often call the public's attention to these qualities, we shouldn't have to. Newsmen don't set the tempo of the news. Newsmakers do.

Meantime, we support McBrayer's excellent suggestion of setting a limit on the number of bills a lawmaker is allowed to introduce. A check with the final edition of "The '74 Legislative Record" shows that a number of legislators introduced more than a fifty measures... each.

Now what chances did most of them have? None. So, what's the idea? As McBrayer puts it, "a good press back home." What a waste of the taxpayers' money.

Well, at least maybe we've seen the last drumbeating for annual sessions of the General Assembly for a while.

If they're ever really needed, the proof will come through results... results conclusive enough to reverse that loud and wise "no" shouted out by the Kentucky voter last fall.

Eat Our Words? - Until now, we've been accusing Gov. Wendell Ford of calculating many moves he's made in recent weeks on the basis of his Senate candidacy.

Well, we certainly can't say that about his decision to support the Red River Gorge dam, that festering ten-year controversy between conservationists and the Corps of Engineers.

If there's anything this move lacks, it's voter appeal, we think. Seems like everytime we turn around we've got a new Senate campaign issue. This list is certainly building: Watergate, a place for Marlow Cook on the primary ballot, and now Red River.

The Kindly Visitors? - There are hundreds of new faces these days in that tornado-ravaged community of Stamping Ground, near here. They are Meintionite faces.

They're the faces of men who dropped their plowshares and hay forks the day the killer winds hit Kentucky and other states and rushed by the thousands from thousands of miles away to help people they've never met.

For the return of food and a place to sleep, these Godly people are helping towns like Stamping Ground to live again, rebuilding the homes of the poor and the echo of their hammers and saws will linger on in Stamping Ground.

The story the electric company doesn't tell you.

The electric utilities have talked a lot of people into believing that by switching to electric appliances they'll be ready for the day when we run out of fossil fuels.

What they don't tell you is that more than 80 percent of all the electricity generated in the United States is produced by steam turbines that burn gas, oil, or coal.

Not only does the electric company make electricity with those "fossil fuels," they waste about 70 percent of the fuel energy they use in the process, and spew that wasted heat into the very atmosphere we're trying to clean up. What's their preferred source of energy? Gas - because gas burns clean and is economical.

When the electric company asks you to switch your home heating, air conditioning, water heating, cooking and clothes drying to electricity, they are asking you to use two or three-times as much gas, at two or three times the cost, to do a job that gas can do better by coming straight to your home.

So it really doesn't make much sense to ask electricity to do jobs that were meant for gas. Does it? Go ahead and use electricity for your light bulbs and mixers and tooth-brushes and can openers, but count on gas to cook and heat and dry and cool. All the jobs that gas does best.

To preserve gas... use gas.

KENTUCKY LEGISLATIVE OVERVIEW

Reorganization and Budget - Major administrative legislation approved by the General Assembly included Gov. Ford's $4.4 million budget for the 1974-75 biennium and the reorganization of state government.

After undergoing extensive legislative review and lengthy public hearings, both chambers unanimously passed Kentucky's largest executive budget, without increasing taxes.

The spending plan earmarks more than $264 million for capital construction and provides funds for new and improved educational programs and a raise in teacher's salaries.

The reorganization plan for the state's agencies and departments, providing a seven-cabinet system, has been in effect since October, 1973, by executive order.

USDA Revises Grade Standards for Canned Red Tart Pitted Cherries

Grade standards for canned red tart pitted cherries will be revised May 15 by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture (USDA).

The major change in the standards is the addition of a U.S. Grade B level of quality. USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) said. Present standards provide only for U.S. Grade A and U.S. Grade C. The addition of Grade B was requested by the National Red Cherry Institute on the basis that three marketable quality levels of this product would be helpful to producers, buyers and consumers.

After May 15th, U.S. Grade B cherries will be required to have a good red color, good flavor and texture, and be practically free from pits and defects, such as blemishes. AMS officials said.

Grade B will have reasonably good red color, reasonably free from pits and defects. The cherries of both grades will be required to be 9/16 inch in diameter or larger.

For Grade C, requirements for color, flavor, texture, and freedom from defects will be slightly lower than for Grade B.

end-of-year Social functions and the beginning of the youth summer sports practices, an overly busy homemaker is hard to "set a pretty table" for the whole family to sit down to for a leisurely meal.

One good way to beat the "spring scarcity" is to fix the meal ahead of time so that it can be served almost at a moment's notice between activities.

Here's an idea for one of those fix-ahead meals that we'll call the "Spring Salad Surprise." The meal includes two of the foods to be in abundant supply for this time of year, so the meal will not only please the family but the pocketbook as well. The two foods item are eggs and beef.

For the center piece of a "Spring Salad Surprise" meal, you can fix the following salad ahead of time and keep it in the refrigerator until you are ready to serve. With this egg and spring onion salad, you can expect to have one-half cup portions. You will need the following ingredients in the amounts shown:

County Agent's Notes

What To Do In May

Hail, hiccups, and blights. The cold and rigors of winter have gone. The unpleasant heat of summer has not yet begun. The vegetation is at the height of luxuriance. The time of the May Queen is at hand and Maia, the goddess of spring, rules supreme over our land.

Such is this wonderful fifth month of the year—the month of gardening when, according to the Vegetable Specialist, C.R. Roberts, it is time to make a first planting of all warm-weather crops.

It is time, says Roberts, to plant beans, sweet corn, okra, squash, cucumbers and watermelons. It is time to transplant tomatoes, peppers, and eggplants; to mulch plants with straw; and to check cabbage, broccoli, and cauliflower for worms. If worms are found, hand-pick and destroy or spray or dust with Sevin. Also when cucumbers, muskmelons, and watermelons start coming through the soil, dust with Sevin to discourage cucumber beetles and other insects that love to feed on these tender young plants.

In making transplants, remember that everything from tomato seedlings to young trees must have their roots protected against drying out while out of the ground. Unless this is done, these highly sensitive and vital parts may be severely injured, or not killed. If possible, transplant in late afternoon or on cloudy days. Then, to give transplants a better start, water about a pint of starter solution which can be made by dissolving three tablespoons of 10-52-17 or 10-52-8 fertilizer to one gallon of water.

May is the month to keep a close watch for plant lice, and beetles, potato beetles, and other pests that are sure to make their appearance even in the best of gardens. Be prepared to fight these destructive insects with a good sprayer or dust and supplies of Sevin, malathion or other insecticides recommended by your local County Extension Agent.

Aside from controlling insects in the garden, May is the good month to thwart the designs of bagworms on the shrubbery. Bagworm eggs hatch out during this month and the larvae begin feeding. It is at this stage that a spray of Sevin or malathion is most effective in reducing this insect's numbers.

Other jobs well worth doing outside the vegetable garden include the preparation of containers for the highly decorative and hummingbird-attracting begonias and geraniums. Also start planting gladiolus bulbs about mid-May, and then in order to have a longer planting period, plant at weekly intervals throughout the month. Consider putting out some dahlia tubers about June 10. This late planting will mean beautiful flowers in September.

Cut Top Quality Hay For Top Quality Feed

I know you like to cut and store high quality hay. In recent years, I have seen a big upgrading in quality, county-wide. The time to harvest crops is the same whether they are made into hay or "grass" silage. The only difference is the amount of moisture in the crop at storage. Most hay is baled at about 14-20 percent. Hay-type silage (wilted) should be stored at 50-65 percent.

First Year Alfalfa and Alfalfa-Grass

Late summer seedings made in 1972 should be cut no more than three times this year. The first cut should be ready about June 1st. The second and third cuts should be ready at 6-7 week intervals after this. Seedings made this spring should be ready first about July 1-10, and again about August 20-30. A third cut, if made, should be delayed until freeze-down.

Old Stands of Alfalfa and Alfalfa-Grass

You may take the first cut at bud to early bloom. When cut early, be sure to allow at least six weeks for recovery before harvesting the second crop. Allow 5-6 weeks between the third and fourth crops. Make the fourth cut by mid-September.

Red Clover (alone or with grass)

The best hay crops are made at the bud to early bloom clover stage. When making more than one cut from red clover, stack baled hay in layers if barn-stored, so you can blend the cuttings when feeding.

Heavy Grass (with little or no legumes)

Cut when the grass is in the root to early stage.

Annual Lespedeza (Kobe or Korean)

Cut at early bloom - 1/10 to 1/5 - and before massive lower leaf drop.

Furadan Use on Tobacco

It has come to my attention that Furadan (carbofuran) 10% granular insecticide is being sold in Kentucky for use on tobacco. Someone has evidently made an honest mistake. No formulation of Furadan is registered by EPA for use on tobacco, with the exception of blue cured. Therefore, it is Not Recommended on Burley, Dark-fired or Dark-cured tobacco types. In short, not on any tobacco type grown in Kentucky.

As soon as Furadan registration is established on any or all types of tobacco in Kentucky, you will be contacted immediately.

For information on recommended insecticides you should refer to ENT-15 entitled, Insecticide Recommendations, for Tobacco Fields-1974. These are available from your County Extension Agent for Agriculture.

OPINIONS FROM OFFICE OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Among opinions released this week from the office of Attorney General Ed W. Hancock were the following:

Underage Girl Must Be Married In Own County - According to Assistant Attorney General Charles W. Runyan, Kentucky statutes prohibit the issuance of a marriage license to a female under sixteen years of age. However if the girl is pregnant by the county judge of the county in which she resides. If the female is not a Kentucky resident she may not be married in Kentucky.

The information was requested by Thomas P. Luckett, Union County.

Teenager Can Be Liable For Abortion Expenses

Att. Gen. Mary Ann Delaney issued an opinion stating that a 16-year-old male can be held responsible for the abortion expenses of a 14-year-old female he impregnated. She also stated that since the male is under 17 years of age he is not criminally liable for his carnal knowledge of her, unless the act was accomplished without her consent.

Down On The Farm

By: Roy G. Brown
Assistant Vice President
Cumberland PCA

I had the honor of being a guest at the FFA Father and Son Banquet Friday night, April 29th, at the Rockcastle County High School. Each year your Production Credit Association donates and presents a plaque to the Chapter Star Farmer for his outstanding accomplishments. Pictured above is your writer, Roy Brown, presenting the plaque to Gary Earl Kidwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kidwell of Brodhead. His program for 1973 consists of tobacco - 2,150 lbs., corn - 30 acres, peppers - 2 acres, hay - 20 acres, beef - 10 head and dairy - 10 head.

The percent he gets from these is 50% on tobacco, corn, hay and dairy and 100% on peppers and beef. The size of his father's farm is 120 acres and is located on U.S. Highway 150.

Gary has done an excellent job in his FFA farming and is to be commended along with many others who are receiving wonderful training through their FFA Chapter.

Officers for the 1974-75 year in the Rockcastle County High School Chapter are: President - Mark Jasper; vice president - Michael Brown; secretary - Jeffery Taylor; treasurer - William Seylor; reporter - Tommy Bullen; and sentinel - Carl Sowder. Your PCA is honored to assist and have a part in such a good organization as this FFA Chapter and its leaders who are doing such a good job "Down on the Farm."

General Fund Receipts - The Executive Dept. for Finance and Administration and the Kentucky Dept. of Revenue have announced that state General Fund receipts for the first nine months of the current fiscal year were $590,928,606 - an increase of 12 percent over the same period last year. Tax receipts showed a marked increase over last year, with the exception of total Road Fund tax receipts, including motor fuel and motor vehicle usage tax receipts. Revenue Commissioner John Ross said the apparent lifting of the Arab oil embargo earlier than expected will likely cause receipts from the fuel and usage taxes to be greater than the January budget estimate of $246 million.

Trustee Appointments - Gov. Wendell H. Ford recently announced the appointments of two new members to the University of Kentucky Board of Trustees. The new trustees, who fill vacancies left by the Dec. 31 expiration of two four-year terms, are Frank Ramsey of Madisonville and Home Wendell Ramsey of Whitley City. Reappointed to the Board is Richard E. Cooper of Somerset.
