THE 17 YEAR LOCUST

If you have it, you'll know it. If you don't have it, be thankful! This pest started emerging from the soil last week in some of the parts of the state where it was present in 1957. Their presence is made known by their high pitched "song" which fills the air, and if present they can be seen flying among and resting on the trees. Since the adults do not feed, they cause damage to fruit trees and others, such as Oaks and Maples, is caused by the egg laying slits in the twigs made by the females. This injury is often so heavy that many of these twigs are killed back for a foot or so.

The egg laying does not start for a week to ten days after the locusts start emerging in an area.

The insecticide SEVIN at the rate of two pounds of 50% wettable powder per 100 gallons is the present best known control material. Start spraying soon after they appear in numbers and repeat every five to seven days while they are present. New swarms fly in from nearby woods and brush, so it is important to inspect the plantings daily. The locust adults are around for four to six weeks; hence several Sevin sprays are needed.

STRAWBERRIES!

For best continued production in 1975, strawberry fields and patches should be worked out and renewed (renovated) just after crop harvest is completed. For this, the middles between the rows are cultivated and the bearing rows are reduced to 18 to 24 inch widths. 400 to 600 pounds of 10-10-10 similar fertilizer should be broadcast per acre. (This amounts to 5 pounds per 100-foot row). Cultivation and/or chemical weed control should continue until frost.

FILLING A TREE'S CAVITIES

Ants are attracted to the sap from wounds in trees. If one of your shade or fruit trees or an ornamental shrub has such a wound which has drawn an assortment of happy ants, the U.S. Department of Agriculture suggests you clean out the area containing the wound. Clean it down to the sound, hard wood, then treat the exposed wood surface as follows: Shellac the edges of the wound where the bark and the wood meet. Carry the shellac coating about an inch into the cavity. Paint the interior of the cavity from the shellacked edge inward, with coal tar creosote. You may fill the cavities or leave them open, but you should examine them at least once a year, in case you need to repeat the treatment.

PYTHIUM SOFT ROT HITS TOBACCO PLANTS AFTER SETTING

Pythium Soft Rot, a disease which hits tobacco plants about a week after setting, caused problems in a number of Kentucky Tobacco fields last year. The disease causes tobacco plants to suddenly wilt and die, according to J. H. Smiley, extension tobacco specialist at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Smiley says that when plants affected by the disease are removed from the ground, they have a soft, watery rot the buried stem. In fields where the disease is present, some plants may die each day for week or two.

The disease is caused by a soil-borne fungus, and is more of a problem when the weather is cool and damp after setting. Smiley says it is more likely to occur where the decay of cover crops or other organic matter is not complete.

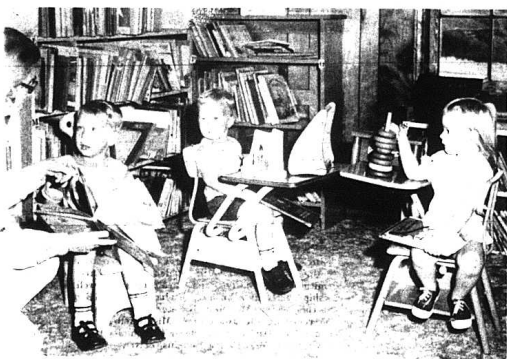

The loss of plants because of the disease is usually not great. However, in severe cases, as many as one third of the plants in the field have been killed. Smiley says that if the number of diseased plants is high (10 to 15 percent or more), the field should be disked and reset. The new rows should be placed in the middles between the old, diseased rows.

A Recipe For Your Range - Keep The Heat For Cooking - If you use small amounts of water when cooking, foods will heat faster and you'll use less energy. Turn the surface unit on HIGH until the water begins to boil then turn it down to the lowest setting at which water will simmer. Use pans that cover the surface units. You'll avoid wasted heat and prolonged cooking time. Pans also should have flat bottoms, straight sides and tight-fitting lids so the heat enters directly and stays there.

Shown enjoying the children's area at the Rockcastle County Library are Brady and Nathan Seals and Roxanna Butler. The area includes play items for children too young to be interested in reading just yet and books for small children. The bottom photo shows a crafts class in progress at the Library. The current class in crocheting is being attended by: Mrs. Alice Butler, Mrs. Dorothy Seals, Mrs. Evelyn Seals, Mrs. Ella Gentry, Mrs. Effie Linville, Mrs. Elvira Combs, Mrs. Darla Miller, Mrs. Lula Phillips, Mrs. Frankie Brown, Mrs. Pearl Reams, Mrs. Tilla Weaver and Mrs. Aileen Davis, Librarian.

Father Beiting To Celebrate 25th Anniversary of Ordination

On Sunday, June 2nd, Father Ralph W. Beiting, pastor of the Catholic parishes in Garrard, Rockcastle, Jackson, and Southern Madison Counties. All of the Catholic facilities in these counties were built under his direction.

Since 1960, Father Beiting has served as the dean for the Catholic Church of twenty-seven mountain counties in Eastern Kentucky. He has purchased land and established Catholic facilities in each of the counties in that area, besides acting as a supervisor and resource person for the Catholics of that twenty-seven county area.

One of the most interesting and rewarding works done by Father Beiting in the area has been his annual street preaching program. For the last twenty-four years, Father has been preaching for five weeks each summer throughout the twenty-seven counties. He has appeared before court houses, general stores, filling stations, crossroads, or simply alongside the highway. There is not even a small community in the area where he has not preached. At first, such preaching aroused opposition on the part of some folks but for the last two years, Father has been joined by Protestant ministers and another is scheduled to join him this summer. The preaching has become a truly ecumenical venture.

In 1957, Father Beiting started Clifflow Lodge, a camp for the children of the mountain area. This led to the formation in 1964 of the Christian Appalachian Project. This 1969 non-profit, non-denominational corporation dedicated to the task of aiding the people of Eastern Kentucky an opportunity to help themselves. C.A.P. strives to give a helping hand rather than a handout. At the present time, C.A.P. operates in six counties on a full time basis and has assisted programs in six more counties. Nearly 150 people are employed by C.A.P. and several new businesses that were started by C.A.P. are now owned and operated by the people who at one time were employees. C.A.P.'s latest project is the restoration and revitalization of the Camp Nelson Community on the Kentucky River between Lancaster and Nicholasville. Father Beiting is president and chairman of the board of C.A.P.

In 1969, Father helped to form the Catholic Committee of Appalachia which represents twenty-three dioceses in the thirteen Appalachian states. He is also the official representative of the diocese of Covington, to the Commission on Religion in Appalachia which is the organization representing seventeen major Protestant denominations, as well as Catholic Churches, that work for the benefit of the people of God in Appalachia.

In the course of the last eight years, Father Beiting has won over a dozen national awards for helping the poor, promoting the story of Appalachia and working for the good of all peoples no matter what their religion or lack of it. The latest award was received in Washington, D.C. in October of 1973. At that time, Father Beiting was named the Good Samaritan of the Year.

Despite the great amount of traveling that takes him to all parts of the Eastern section of the U.S.A., Father Beiting's greatest interest and concern is for the people in the areas of Kentucky he serves as a priest, and as the director of C.A.P. It is his fondest hope that his many friends, both old and new may join him in giving thanks to God at St. William Church on Sunday, June 2nd, at 7 p.m.

if not deactivated the vegetables will develop off flavors and often discolor or toughen during freezing.

Place the scalded vegetables immediately into running cold or water. When the product is cool to the tongue when tested, it is cool enough to pack.

After the vegetables have been heated, cooled and drained, pack in airtight moisture-vapor-proof containers, leaving 1/2-inch headspace.

Seal according to type of container you use.

It is recommended to cook all vegetables in the frozen state, except corn-on-the-cob which should be partially defrosted. Cook them only until tender in a small amount of water.

Consumer Debt Locally $1,000.00 Per Family

To what extent have Rockcastle County residents been making use of the large amount of installment credit available to them?

How much do they owe at the present time on cars, washing machines, dishwashers, furniture and other equipment they have been purchasing?

Somewhat more than they did a year ago, the latest figures indicate. It reflects the fact that families, locally and elsewhere, were more expanding in their spending for high-price goods, thus adding to their installment debt.

Nevertheless, they have kept it within bounds. Because their incomes are higher than they were a year or two ago, they are in a position to carry a larger debt load. Inflation has been a drawback, however, making it harder for families to come up with their monthly payments.

According to the latest Federal Reserve Board report, installment debt in the United States now totals $147 billion, which is $19.2 billion more than it was a year ago.

In Rockcastle County, based upon the average earning and expenditure picture locally donated by the Bank of Mt. Vernon.

Three prizes for floats will again be awarded and Harold Ballinger, ASCS Office Manager, was named chairman of the Float Committee.

UK COACH CHAIRMAN OF JUNE DAIRY MONTH

University of Kentucky football coach Fran Curren brings his enthusiasm for health to the activities of June Dairy Month for 1974. As chairman of June Dairy Month, he will direct the month long festivities which serve as a tribute to the dairy industry of Kentucky, one of the state's top agri-business enterprises. Announcement of his appointment was made by American Dairy Association of Kentucky.

Known as one of the most imaginative and exciting young football coaches in the country, he came to the University in 1972, bringing with him the winning atmosphere which has been a pattern of his entire coaching career.

A former all-American player in his own right, Curren has been selected four times to coach in all star games, and has played professional football with the Dallas Texans. As a student at the University of Miami, Curren was known as the "Mittie" Maguire, playing at 152 pounds. He parlayed intelligence and a desire to become All-America as a senior in 1959 receiving honorable mention All-America and winning acclaim as one of the foremost sophomore football stars in the country in 1957. He graduated from Miami in 1966 with a degree in marketing.

Also featured in the month-long festivities will be Kentucky State University's Susan Tichenor, of Spencer (Cont. to 10)

SSI Recipients To Continue Receiving Food Assistance

Recipients of Supplemental Security Income (SSI) will continue to be eligible for family food assistance, according to an announcement by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) today.

Russell H. James, Southwestern regional administrator of USDA's Food and Nutrition Service, said that this means that SSI recipients throughout the region are eligible for USDA's family food programs.

James added that today's announcement implements legislation (Public Law 93-233) signed by President Nixon January 3, 1974. He explained that previous legislation prohibited individuals from participating in food assistance programs if their SSI payments were above a certain level. Public Law 93-233 requires that food assistance eligibility, for SSI recipients be determined for each state as a whole.

JOHN NICHOLS'

Frankfort Watchline

We're as conservation-minded as the next fellow in this era of environmentalism, but the Cumberland Falls chairlift squabble strikes us as a prime example of overreaction squabbed, we might add, by certain elements of the print media who often tend toward overkill.

Even if we thought the project were horrendous, so what? The trees are down, the swath down the mountainside is cut, the equipment's going in. I think what's got the ecologists coming out of the woodwork on this one is the surprise factor. For shame, Governor Ford, you and Commissioner Ewart Johnson didn't think to check with them, did you?

Johnson thought it would be a good idea to attract more tourists to Cumberland Falls State Park by building a chairlift so that they could see the falls a bit better. Now, what's so darn sinister about that? So, a few months ago a line of trees and foliage was cut out in preparation.

We think our parks boss could probably do with some better advice in the public relations aspect of this fiasco, but how can you fault him with bad intentions? We hardly see him as the tool in the hands of evil commercial interests that he's being painted by some of our editorialist colleagues.

Of course, the Cumberland Falls area conservationists howl. We don't deny them the right to howl. That's what they organize for, isn't it? But you couldn't hear the howl here at the Capitol Building. But you wouldn't have known that from the exaggerated publicity given this little teapot tempest.

Politically, knowing what he knew about the storm of protest that was brewing, Gov. Ford could have at least publicly shared the concern of the conservationists, while giving

Johnson the go-ahead for the chairlift after a couple of days mid-project delay for "study." But, no. And here we think he's again relying too heavily on advice he's getting from pollsters. They tell him the average voter is too concerned with Watergate and the economy to be worried about ecology.

Marlow Cook's going to jump on the chairlift with both feet in weeks to come. And it's just one more crack in what's appeared to be a sturdy Ford base of support. But that footing could turn into clay.

Don't fret. We've still got our little Kentucky Watergate to wade through. Or had you forgotten? Remember the Creech moving contract? The trials of that scandal may be timed to perfectly coincide with heavy general election campaigning.

And there's the Red River Gorge Dam which Ford supports. He tells us there's no information that the river must be dammed up to provide a new source of water for Lexington, Frankfort and other central Kentucky communities. But why don't we hear from Lexington on it?

We've heard Mayor Foster Pettit say it ain't so. Who's to say it is?

So there are all these little tidbits of issues which added up, make for a hurdle of unknown dimension, looking toward November. As we see them, things can't help but tighten up into a real good race for the Senate.

What's to keep the governor from continuing to stub his toe on the stumbling blocks of bad advice during coming months?

best when she said it's like giving birth to a set of broken china.

Anyway, one of our pals pinchhit for us last week and wouldn't you know it... he ran afoul of Marlow Cook's carefully-worded suggestion to President Nixon a couple of weeks ago that the president consider resignation.

Our ghost writer last week said that Cook called for Nixon to quit. See the delicate difference? The Senator put it there for one of two reasons: to keep himself in the clear should he be called upon to sit as a juror, at a Nixon impeachment trial; or to trip up unsuspecting writers.

That Brings Up Another Problem - The day after Cook made his now-celebrated suggestion to the Chief of State, Gov. Ford charged him with "see-toosim." He said the suggestion wasn't new... that Kentuckians had been saying it for weeks... "It's not a new statement for me," he told us.

Then Ford went to Washington and a period of worship at the feet of the mighty there... you know, the Mike Mansfield and the Carl Alberts. You'll remember that those Democratic Congressional bigwigs changed their view on Nixon's resignation... they tried to shame GOP leaders for suggesting it.

Let the impeachment process run its course, they said. And would you believe it, just days after Ford told us this resignation idea wasn't a new one with him, he, too, was saying that impeachment was the best thing for the country.

I really had a mental breakdown last week and I know what you're thinking, but it's not true, I can usually manage to feel an article myself anyway. What I am referring to is my failing to thank everyone who pitched in with donations to help make the March of Dimes Walk-A-Thon the success it was.

Of course, the major contributors were the walkers themselves - over 200 of them who participated in the 15-mile walk through sunshine and heavy rains. Then there were the Bank of Mt. Vernon and Citizens Bank in Brodhead, each of whom contributed a $25.00 savings bond to Walkers; the Coca-Cola and Pepsi Cola Bottling Companies who donated soft drinks and cups for the walkers; Southern Belle Company which gave so generously of milk, orange drink and chocolate milk; Chappell's Dairy, who also donated some dairy products; Laurel Grocery Company and Ford Realty and Auction, for their cash donations; Ernie's T & M Market for their donation of ice; Kern's Bread Company for their cooperation in selling us foodstuffs at wholesale price and to Food Fair Supermarket for furnishing hotdogs at wholesale prices. Of course we can't forget Estil Hodges, owner of Western Auto Store, for making it possible for a 10-speed bike to be given to the walker with the most sponsors.

And, we also appreciate the help of the ladies who manned the rest stops, the FBLA students and advisors whose assistance was invaluable and Tony Hopkins, president of the Rockcastle County Jaycees, for a personal help. As a county chairman of the March of Dimes, I find it almost impossible to express the full amount of my appreciation to those who helped make the Walk-A-Thon the most successful, financially, we have had - but, please believe me when I say your help was most sincerely appreciated....

Have the Locusts been to see you yet? I have heard but not actually seen them yet. They sound, to me, like ordinary "Katydids" but I am leary of what they might decide to do to my garden. I read an article in the daily paper which meant to save but failed to; anyway, it said that Locusts weren't actually Locusts but were a breed of the Cicada which only came around every 17 years. It said that the term Locust had been mistakenly applied. I don't know that much about it, some of you "Locust" experts could probably tell me more about it.... Well, we lost the battle of the salad peas against this year, they fell over and rotted. This makes twice we have tried

Public Use of School Property Questioned In response to a question asked by Bob Dixon, Royaltan, Assistant Attorney General Carl Miller said that the use of school property for public purposes is governed by the local school board.

Miller said that it is for the school board to decide whether to permit the use of school facilities by outside organizations and to prescribe the conditions under which the property may be used.

FREEZING FRUITS AND VEGETABLES AT HOME

Frozen fruits and vegetables spare year-round menus with garden-fresh flavor. But the nutritive value and quality of these fruits and vegetables depend largely on the treatment before freezing, storage temperature and method of cooking and serving.

Most fruit can be frozen satisfactorily.

Select sound, ripe fruit which is slightly ripener than for canning but not soft or mushy. Tree or vine-ripened fruits contain more vitamins and a richer flavor than fruits picked green and allowed to ripen before freezing.

In general, fruit is prepared for freezing as for eating. Keep fruit cool until it is frozen. Wash it in cold water but do not allow it to stand in the water. Some fruit loses food value and flavor and some gets water soaked, she said.

Some fruits, such as peaches, apricots, apples and pears, discolor easily. Ascorbic acid (vitamin C) is available in tablet, crystalline or powdered form. Use 1/2 teaspoon of this per quart of syrup to prevent this discoloration.

If you don't want to pack the fruit in syrup, sprinkle dissolved ascorbic acid over fruit just before adding sugar. Use 1/2 teaspoon in 1/2 cup cold water to each quart of fruit.

Some special commercial antitardent preparation of ascorbic acid are now on the market.

These materials can be found at drug stores or where other freezing supplies are sold.

Most fruits have better texture and flavor if packed in sugar or syrup. Some may be packed without sweetening for use in special diets.

The way you plan to use the fruit determines the method of packing it. Fruit packed in a syrup generally is better for dessert use; fruit packed in dry sugar or unsweetened is better for most cooking because there is less liquid in the products.

Quickly getting vegetables from the garden to the freezer is a must for top-quality frozen vegetables. During hot weather, harvest vegetables in the early morning before they absorb much heat.

Vegetables at optimum maturity will have best flavor and texture.

If you must store vegetables before freezing, spread them out loosely in a cool, well-ventilated place or pack loosely in the refrigerator.

Prepare vegetables for freezing similar to cooking them. Wash thoroughly in cold water, drain and sort, peel, trim and cut.

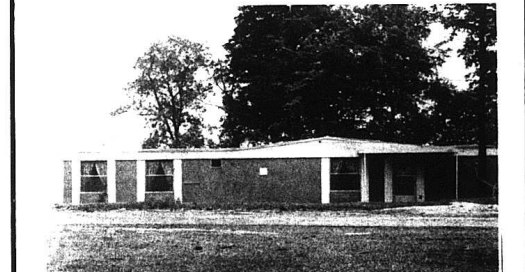

Heat vegetables in boiling water before freezing. Use one gallon of boiling water to each pound of vegetable. The length of heating time varies with the vegetable.

This kills enzyme action in the product. The enzymes help the plants grow and mature but
