If you're budgeting for a new home freezer - you may want an idea of the average service-life expectancy of the appliance. Families keep a new home freezer an average of twenty years and a new refrigerator fifteen years, according to the latest figures. Researchers made their estimates based on a survey of 12,000 households using a base similar to the method used in estimating the life expectancy of persons. The average service-life expectancies, according to the report are: gas range, 13 years; electric range, 12 years; dishwasher, 11 years; washing machine, 11 years; electric clothes dryer, 14 years; gas clothes dryer, 13 years; black and white television, 11 years; and color television, 12 years. Another list is made for appliances if acquired in the "used" marketplace. A home freezer, 9 years; refrigerator, 7

If you're a seamstress, try your hand at making a garment anywhere from a man's jacket or slacks, to easy baby's saguex. If your specialty is in the kitchen, try homemade yeast breads, or perhaps pretty holiday cookies. Or if you are interested in hand crafts, hand crocheted accessories for men and women are the "in" look. Or you might try your hand at decoupage or other crafts.

Eligibility of Voters Defined - Jerry B. Feather of Parkville requested an opinion concerning an election for taxpayer on the board for the Byle County Fire Protection District. Mr. Feather stated that candidates for the two positions must own property in the district and must reside in that property. The question, however, asked whether or not the voters must also own real property or whether persons who own only a car also may vote if they pay fire tax on the vehicle. It is the opinion of the Attorney General's Office that the tax is eligible to vote for the two members of the Board of Trustees. *****

It must be noted that many factors influence the decision to replace or dispose of an appliance. These figures show current practices in the use of equipment, indicating how long, on the average, consumers keep each appliance. This does not indicate how long the appliance could have been made to last. Food Clips:

Did you know that sweet potatoes actually improve in storage? Vitamin A value of sweet potatoes increased during the maturing period before they reach the retail store.

How long can you keep frozen concentrated orange juice at 32 degrees? It only loses about 5% of its Vitamin C in a year.

Fats in foods are not all bad they make meals more satisfying and carry Vitamins A, D, E and K, and are essential parts of the structure of the cells which make up the body's tissues.

Whole grain and enriched breads and cereals can provide 20 to 25 percent or more of the daily iron need.

Down On The Farm
By: Roy G. Brown
Assistant Vice President
Cumberland PCA

Well, last week we had our first snow to remind us that winter is not far off, and I guess months ago we were told that there were many things we didn't get completed and ready for winter.

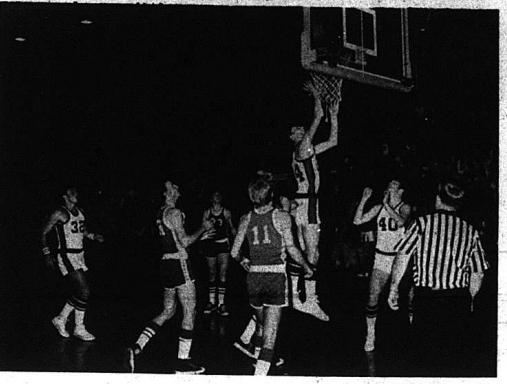

Thanksgiving will be next week. I wonder if we will be as thankful as the Pilgrims were after they had worked and battled against enemies for their survival in a new land of America.

They had to till the soil after clearing it up to raise their crops. They had to do it the hard way, with no modern farm equipment as we have today. But after they had reaped a bountiful harvest and said a day of Thanksgiving in remembrance of God where all good blessings come from.

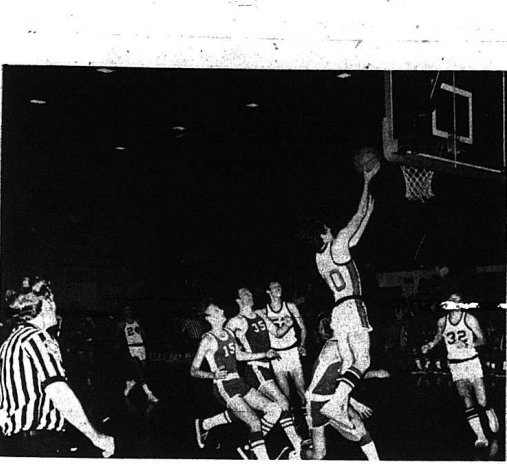

Thanksgiving is not just on Thanksgiving Day, but every day, for the many blessings and opportunities we have "Down on the Farm."

STORING CARRYOVER TOBACCO
By: Harold D. Ballinger

A change in the regulations permits Burley Tobacco Producers to store tobacco in excess of 100 percent of their farm's quota during the 1974-75 marketing season at any approved warehouse that elects to process and store carryover producer tobacco.

Any excess tobacco left at a warehouse that is not properly identified as carryover tobacco by name, address, and farm marketing card number for the farm where the tobacco was produced shall be considered excess tobacco with penalty due at the rate of 70 cents per pound.

Feel free to contact the Rockcastle County ASCS Office (256-2525) for names of warehouses that plan to store carryover tobacco.

DALTON DIES OF SELF-INFLICTED WOUND

Robert Benjamin Dalton, 77, of Route 3, Mt. Vernon died instantaneously last Wednesday afternoon from a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

State Police reports said that Dalton shot himself once, in the left temple, with a .38 caliber weapon about 1 p.m. A neighbor, Lloyd Pickle, discovered the body shortly afterwards.

Mr. Dalton, whose wife died about a year ago, had reportedly been in ill health for some time.

E. J. Taylor, 44, of Broadhead was slightly injured Monday when he was involved in a two-car accident on U.S. 150 in front of Hamm's Drive-In while traveling to Mt. Vernon to serve on the Circuit Court Jury.

Mr. Taylor was traveling East when he collided with a car driven by Miss Glenda Mae Doan, 21, of Mt. Vernon. Miss Doan, according to State Police reports, was traveling West on U.S. 150 and was attempting to turn into Hamm's Drive-In when Mr. Taylor struck the rear of her car. Miss Doan was uninjured.

A highlight of the First Baptist Church's Athletic Banquet held last Saturday night for the Rockets football team, was the presentation to Coach Glen Polly and Assistant Coaches Jim Cox and Larry Travis. The coaches were presented with plaques which expressed the appreciation of the team for their (the coaches') efforts on behalf of the squad during the past year. Shannon Franklin, far right, and Tommy Smith, made the presentations to Coach Polly, second from left, and Coach Cox. Looking on are: Eddie Benton, an EKU student who introduced the banquet's guest speaker, and Mrs. John Hale.

Rockets Beat Oneida; Play Annville Friday

Garlan Vanhook led all scorers with 18 points in the Rockets season-opener last Friday night at home against Oneida. The Rockets came out on top 71 to 54 but it took an inspired third quarter to do it. There was only one-point difference in the scores at the end of the first and second quarters. However, a 27-point third quarter for the Rockets, as opposed to only 7 points for Oneida, put the Rockets ahead to stay.

Following Vanhook, the scoring went as follows: Dwight Griffin, 14; Jim Clontz, 12; Dale Whitaker, 9; Eddie Hammonds, 8; Tim Arvin, 4; Bill Henderson, 3; David Whitehead, 2 and Randy Linville, 1.

The girls' team played the first game and came out on top, easily, 53 to 11. Coach Riddle cleaned his bench in the game and Debbie Morris led the scoring with 10 points; Teresa Bussell and Debbie Calhoun got 8 each; Anita Lakes, 6; Nancy French, Kay Payne, Regina Ruppe and Alicia Dick all had 4 each and Pam McClure, Beverly Deatherage and Sharon Freshing each accounted for 2.

Monday night, the Freshmen and Girls' teams journeyed to Oneida for a game and the Rockets were again successful with the freshmen coming out on top 46-17 and the Girls 40-13.

Thursday night (tonight) there will be a single game at the high school pitting the Freshmen against Madison Central at 7:30 p.m. Admission will be 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students.

Rep. Carter Denounces Move To Curtail Work Force At BGAD

In a telegram received Wednesday from the office of Congressman Tim Lee Carter, Congressman Carter explained how the plans concerning the reduction of the work force at the Lexington Blue Grass Army Depot came about and his plans to fight the proposal.

The telegram read as follows:

"Rep. Tim Lee Carter said today that he intends to fight to the highest level plans to curtail the mission of the Lexington portion of the Lexington Blue Grass Army Depot. The curtailment plans were made known to the Kentucky Congressional Delegation at a meeting on Monday with Army Secretary Howard Calloway.

Rep. Carter said that he was shocked by the news since he had recently received assurances that there were no plans to change the mission of the facility. The proposal, which has been presented by Sec. Calloway to the Secretary of Defense, provides for a reduction of 2,700 jobs at the Lexington installation. The plan would not directly affect the Blue Grass Facility (at Richmond).

"According to the Department of the Army, the reduction would begin July 1, 1975 and would be completed within a year. The Fifth District Congressman stressed that the plans are still tentative and that he, along with other members of the Kentucky Delegation, are already fighting to save jobs now in jeopardy.

"Another meeting with Secretary Calloway is scheduled for Thursday with the Kentucky Delegation and representatives of the business community from the Lexington area. Congressman Carter said that in addition to the initial loss of the jobs at the depot, the overall economic impact of the curtailment would be devastating to the entire area.

"Carter pointed out that many other jobs in the greater Lexington area are dependent on the $50,000,000 payroll generated by the Depot. Representative Carter said that an appointment will be requested with the President when he returns from the Far East. He stated further that he is hopeful that the President will be sympathetic to the plight of Eastern Kentucky which has no other military facility and would suffer severe economic consequences should the curtailment take place."

Local Cancer Rate Above Average Here

The recent mastectomy operations on First Lady Betty Ford and Mrs. Rockefeller have drawn special attention in Rockcastle County to the incidence of cancer in the local area and to the progress being made in coping with it.

Figures compiled by the U.S. Public Health Service shed light on the size of the cancer problem locally and how it compares with the situation in other communities.

Based upon the Government's last three annual reports, the number of deaths in Rockcastle County caused by the various types of cancer has averaged twenty-one a year, with one of them attributed to breast cancer.

The figures relate to the resident population only. Deaths locally of non-residents are not included. The overall cancer mortality in the area has been somewhat higher than in most parts of the country. The average has been 174 deaths per 100,000 population.

Throughout the United States as a whole, by way of comparison, the rate was 160 per 100,000. In the State of Kentucky it was 157.

Rockcastle County, in the three years, it was responsible for eighteen percent of all deaths. Elsewhere in the United States it averaged seventeen percent.

Although the incidence of cancer has shown little or no decline in the last two decades, more cures are being effected than ever before. The American Cancer Society reports that one out of every three persons who get it are being cured.

"Byured" is meant survival for five years without further evidence of the disease.

A new in-depth study of cancer cases in the United States, by far the largest ever undertaken, has been announced by the National Cancer Institute.

It will conduct a continuing survey of cancer occurrence involving a population of 23 million people, among whom it is expected that some 60,000 new cases will be discovered each year.

They will be carefully observed to develop clues as to causes and effective methods of diagnosis and treatment. The project is called SEER, for surveillance, epidemiology and end-results reporting.

There are nice prizes plus a choice of a stuffed animal or puppet for each member selling two cases (24 boxes) of candy. Eight of the prizes are for the number of cases sold, ranging from a White Stereo on a Pedestal for the member selling the most candy to a Volleyball for the 8th prize. In addition, every time a member sells two cases of candy, their name will be put into a Madisons Candy Box and, after sales are completed, one name will be drawn and that person shall be awarded a ten-speed bicycle. The candy sells for $1.25 a box and there will be five kinds to choose from. Frankfort Watchline

A new name a day, it seems, crops up as a likely member of that unlikely crew that's prepping for next May's Democratic nomination to the office of Lt. Gov.

Take Harvey Sloan case for instance. There's a young man whose star took on some quick brilliance last election day with his almost single-handed navigation of a Louisville-Jefferson County transit tax referendum over shark-infested waters.

So, already, the mayor of Louisville admits that his potential for further and higher public office has occurred to him, though what he'll do about it so far he hasn't decided.

Could be there's a little bitterness involved here, too. You know Harvey Sloan came to Frankfort last winter and asked the Kentucky Legislature to write the law that would allow the transit tax referendum on the ballot. With him on that journey was Jefferson County Judge Todd Hollenbach.

Looking back on that trip, we wonder why Hollenbach ever made it. His activities during the of the transit levy were less than enthusiastic ... and we're being kind when we say that.

So, we have Sloan, at least thinking about what lies ahead of him politically ... and whether just a year in the mayor's office is too soon to be having such ambitious thoughts. But he is.

And from where we sit, a deep lack of harmony between his office and that of the county judge might be enough motivation to get Sloan moving.

He knows that Hollenbach is going to be running for either governor or lieutenant governor next year. Wouldn't it be something if the two of them got into a head-and-head primary tilt?

We look at that in the same light as we did what moved Julian Carroll to Democrats to be so active in the Wendell Ford U.S. Senate race. It really didn't matter why they were doing as they were doing as long as the result was Ford's leaving the governor's office.

So, whether Sloan's impulses stem from an indignation over Hollenbach's indifference to the transit tax (among other differences between the two young politicians) or from a real sense of his own potential, a race between the two of them might settle once and for all who's the strongest party influence in Jefferson County.

Meantime, at this writing, the number of officially announced would-be lieutenant governors is up to five. State Senator Tom Ward, Attorney General Ed Hancock, Secretary of State Thelma Stovall, Col. James Day, and Lyle Willis. But that's just the tip of the iceberg, so you can brace yourself for a deluge of candidates before long.

We just know that Parks Commissioner Ewart Johnson's itching to come out before long. He says he could announce today and sport 60 or so county campaign chairmen. But Johnson will be still until the Ford Carroll transition is completed.

We get vibrations that Pike County Judge Wayne Rutherford might be interested in being lt. governor. Rutherford's interest in the welfare of the state's east Kentucky coalfields is genuine and highly-motivated. He's a young politician on the rise and this might be his time.

Another coat type whose name we've heard is Public Service Commissioner Barkley Sturgill ... also from the mountains.

And who else? Well, what about Jim Gray, Frankfort businessman and the fellow who put together Wendell Ford's campaign organization? His name's getting mentioned around here a lot these days.

Meantime, we've got to say it again. The more well-known guys that get into this thing, the better it'll look for Mrs. Stovall. She's got solid backing that goes deep into organized labor and back to the days, dozens of years ago, when she was a member of the Kentucky General Assembly.

And we cannot forget the woman's vote, either. You've got to concede some of that to her, particularly when you note that there are more women voters as Democrats than men.

Mrs. Stovall says she thinks she may well be starting out with 45-50 percent of the eligible vote in her corner.

We don't buy that, but if it's anywhere near it, forget all about it, you fellas. After all, Hancock believes he's got 33 percent. That don't leave a whole lot, does it?

And there's another important factor here. It's Julian Carroll's role in all of this. He'll probably not slate with anyone. He said that he would not.

But what was it we've heard about skinning cats? There are lots and lots of ways of going about it.

He Weenkin's Dore - Reckon Jimm Creech means it when he says he wants to be state auditor? Maybe. Maybe not.

One thing for sure. He says it'll be the best way in the world to let some things never before mentioned about the dealings with state government that ended with him being slapped with a $300,000 I.O.U.

Wonder what he means? JN

by: perlina m. anderkin

Attended Mt. Vernon's Elementary's Open House last Thursday night and thoroughly enjoyed myself. I got kind of tired, since I had to hit three separate rooms, not counting the four or five (I just count) that I needed to visit for my 8th grader.

Although the school could certainly do with some paint-up, the improvements in the cafeteria are certainly impressive. All the teachers were very kind and I think perhaps school administrations would do well to make this type of thing an annual affair.....

Well, the 4-H Variety Show is finally over and I, for one, am thankful. Don't get me wrong. I think this annual show is an excellent idea and each year, the skits seem to get better, but as a mother of a practicing talent, things got a little hectic with all the preliminary practicing that went on. I think I got good pictures of each act, but just do not have time to make the pictures this week, except for the 1st and 2nd place winners in the club and specialty divisions. So, if you would like a shot of an act with your child in it - let me know. ...ht be able to come up with one....

My presence at the show was doubtful for a while. I was tooting down U.S. 159 when just before I topped Hayes Hill, I had a tire out. This was my first experience with a blow-out and believe you me, my husband had elected to work rather than attend the show, hopes it is the last time it happens. I was fortunate in that Mrs. Betty Lewis came along almost immediately afterwards and transported the five 8th graders I was hauling on to the show, and I was even more fortunate when Clarence Anderkin in Italy, and Pvt. George W. Cromer, Jr. in Alabama.

for me. Ella Lawson took the trouble to change the tire instead of merely taking me somewhere to call for help and he has my eternal gratitude. It was sort of amusing, after my hands quit shaking, but after Mrs. Lewis picked up the five girls scheduled to be in the show, I was left with my three smallest girls. The oldest of these is 8 and she's the type that, at home, has to have someone go to the bathroom with her. My 6-year-old is that "I'm not afraid of anything" type....and it was funny to watch Jane, the oldest, stick her thumb in her mouth very nonchalantly and listen to Paige, 6, carry on like an A-Bomb had just been dropped.

Oh, well, I suppose all's well that ends well, but it was a scary few minutes coming over that hill with the left front tire completely gone.....

Post Master James O. Smith has asked us to try and explain the new rule concerning mail sent out without the proper amount of postage on it.

You see, in the past, it has always been the policy that if a letter was sent without the proper postage on it, the person receiving the letter had to pay the difference to get the letter.

If not, the letter will be sent to the dead letter office and await disposition from there. Anyway, just make sure that all your mail has the correct amount of stamps on it or you'll be getting it back now.....

Rockcastle men serving in the Armed Forces were: Pvt. James French in France, Pfc. Edward L. Coffey in Germany, Willard Halcomb overseas, Lt. John P. Allen in Florida, Pvt. John C. Mink in Italy, Pfc. Clyde Burton in Texas, S2-C R. D. Floyd in the South Pacific, C. C. Murphy in New Guinea, Sgt. Clarence Anderkin in Italy, and Pvt. George W. Cromer, Jr. in Alabama.

Home on furlough were: Seaman Carter Bowling, T-8 Jesse Siler, T-Sgt. John Davis Robbins, Pvt. Robert Hall, Pfc. Hubert Berry, Pvt. William

Gravelly Burton, and Pvt. Randall Wilson.

Harold T. Miller was promoted to Captain in the Army Air Force.

Playing at the Gray Theatre was George Sanders and Linda Darnell in Summer Storm.

Eddie Cantor and George Murphy were starring in Show Business at the Vernon Theatre.

20 YEARS AGO NOVEMBER 18, 1954:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Machal announced the engagement of their daughter, Eva Ann, to Rev. Albert Eugene Griffin.

S-Sgt. and Mrs. Harvey Pensol announced the birth of a son, Harvey Allen, born November 3rd at Valdosta, Ga.

At the Vernon Theatre, Pidgeon were starring in "Men of the Fighting Lady." Officers for the Meridian Woman's Club were elected. They were: Mrs. Ann Henderson, president; Mrs. Mary Craig, Vice President; Mrs. Reba Noe, Secretary; Mrs. Wanda Franklin, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Jean Allen, Treasurer; and Mrs. Irene Esker, Publicity Chairman.

20 YEARS AGO NOVEMBER 19, 1954:

Rita Ann Sutton and Ronnie Nevil Sutton of Brodhead enrolled at Western Kentucky State College.

Carl D. Edwards was promoted to Spe. Four in Germany where he is a member of the 38th Engineer Company. 2nd Lt. John C. Bailey was assigned to the U.S. Army Air Defense School at Ft. Bliss, Texas.

Mt. Vernon City Council decided to take the first step toward attempting to get a low-cost housing project in Mt. Vernon.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR: On October 27th, my son Larry Alexander was in a car wreck. He was in critical condition for a long time. I asked for prayers for Larry and I received an answer. First I want to thank God for letting my son live. I wish to thank all the good people who answered my request for help, and to thank all who called or visited our home in our time of trouble, with offers of help and comfort.

I wish to thank those who gathered at churches and had special prayer service. I truly believe God has answered our prayers - The doctors have not been able to set Larry's broken bones yet. He will be in traction for some time yet, but he is improving each day.

His friends may visit him at the Veterans Hospital in Lexington.

Kidney Foundation Candy Sale Drive Goes Over Goal....

The Kidney Foundation of Central Kentucky easily and recently concluded in Rockcastle County was a resounding success! A total of 384 Tootsie Roll bars were sold in the county. Ann Mullins, Chairman, has announced.

The candy sale is the major source of funds for the Foundation and its programs. The Kidney Foundation of Central Kentucky has provided four kidney machines to the home dialysis unit to be used by patients who may not be able to acquire their own machine. The Foundation has helped to purchase a perfusion machine which will preserve a kidney for 24 hours before transplantation.

The organization provides I.D. tags to patients so they can be identified as people who need special attention in the event of an accident. A portion of the money goes to support research to find the cause and prevention of kidney diseases.

Even though much progress has been made in treatment of kidney disease, it will be of little value unless people are aware of the part they can play in providing kidneys for those who need them.

The Kentucky Kidney Foundation helped sponsor a 1974 General Assembly Bill which will authorize donor cards to be placed on the back of Kentucky driver's licenses after January, 1975. If the donor card is signed, it will authorize removal of specified organs for transplantation purposes after death of the donor.

It is hoped the information on the licenses will increase public awareness of the need for donors.

County Agent's Notes

By: H. Lee Durham

Points To Remember
For November:

(1) Small grains, from which grain is to be harvested, can be fall grazed. Begin grazing when plants are about eight inches tall, but don't graze closer than a 3-4 inch height. Do not graze in the spring.

(2) Renovation tillage can be done from now until February as weather permits.

(3) If you haven't made use of your alfalfa and red clover silks' frost-down it can be grazed off.

(4) Don't waste 40 to 60 percent of your big package hay by non-restricted feeding. If no feeding racks or containers are used, enough bales or stacks should be before the animals to provide only one foot or periphery for each mature cow.

(5) Crop residues can be gleaned from corn and soybean fields. Follow the "top grazer" technique. That is, turn young growing animals into these fields first so they will get the best quality feed available. Follow them with cows that are nursing calves. Bring in dry pregnant cows last and force them to clean up the lowest quality feed. You can also follow this technique with any other feeds such as pastures or the big bales and stacks.

Vitamin A Supplementation:
All cattle need to receive Vitamin A during the winter feeding period, from Thanksgiving until the first day of pasture in the Spring. Cows should receive approximately 30,000 I.U. per head per day. Stockers or feeders need 10,000 I.U. per head daily and cattle on a full-feed fattening ration need 20,000 I.U. per head per day. These are minimum requirements.

If cattle are receiving additional feed, a vitamin premix can be mixed with the feed according to daily intake. If cows are on a dry roughage ration, mixing the vitamin premix in loose salt is the recommendation. Salt intake for a cow on a dry roughage ration is approximately one-half ounce per day. Adding Vitamin A at the rate of 60,000 I.U. per ounce of salt will suffice for the beef cow herd.

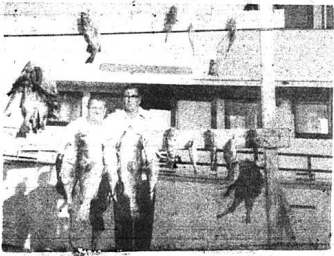

Mix only what the cattle will clean up in a seven-ten day period so that intake may be checked and loss of Vitamin A will be held to a minimum.

Using Manure of Potash May Save Money for Tobacco Growers.....

Using the right kind and amount of fertilizer will continue

THE MOUNT VERNON SIGNAL THURSDAY NOVEMBER 21, 1974 PAGE SEVEN
It is important for the profitable production of burley tobacco in 1975. Indications are that fertilizer prices will continue to rise during the next year, according to J. H. Smiley, Extension Tobacco Specialist at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.
Smiley points out that it is difficult to know what kind and amount of fertilizer to use without having your soil tested. Since nitrogen leaches as water moves through the soil, you will probably not want to apply nitrogen fertilizer until spring. However, if the soil test indicates that you need phosphorus and potash, you may want to apply these elements this fall, rather than waiting until spring. They are not easily lost from the soil through leaching, and thus can be

FHA Farm Family Of The Year

The Irvin Long family of Route 4, Stanford, has been named Lincoln, Garrard, and Rockcastle FHA Farm Family of the Year for 1974. Ronnie G. Caudill, County Supervisor, of the Stanford Farmers Home Administration office announced this week.

The Longs operate a fifty-cow dairy in Lincoln County on their 238 acres they own. They produce corn, tobacco and forage. Yields of crops are excellent with the Longs' thorough liming, fertilizing, and crop rotation practices.

Long, 33, and his wife Ann, were farm born and reared in Lincoln County. Their daughter, Sandra, 11, currently is attending Lincoln County schools and taking an active part in activities.

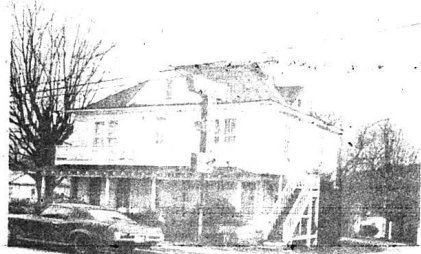

The long-term credit supplied by FHA, an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and the supervision accompanying the loans have aided the family success. Work, adoption of good farming practices, record keeping, and a willingness to aid their community have made the Long family outstanding.

It's tempting to note that the difference between USE and ABUSE is as simple as A-B, see? But with today's energy problems, there isn't a whole lot of room for funning.

Electric generating and delivery costs are sky-rocketing right through the roof. Rising coal prices are part of the problem. Another complication is the short supply of gas and oil.

If there has ever been a best time to save electric energy, now is it. Call us. We can help you.

applied whenever it is most convenient. If your soil needs potash, Smiley says you may be able to save money by using muriate of potash. Muriate of potash is a cheaper source of potash than the sulfate form and may be easier to obtain this year.

Because of its chloride content, muriate of potash is not usually recommended for fertilizing tobacco. However, Smiley says there should be no problems from using muriate of potash to supply part of the potash needed if no manure is used. As much as 200 pounds of muriate of potash per acre can be used safely in the fall (before December 15) on fields where no manure has been spread, according to Smiley. When fertilization is done in the spring, no more than one hundred pounds of muriate of potash per acre should be used. Otherwise, enough chloride may be present in the soil to reduce tobacco quality.

Energy Conservation Tip

Storm Windows - Yep, ole Jack Frost may look real nice on them, but this is where your greatest heat loss can occur. Either double-glazed windows or storm windows keep cold air out and heating costs down. Clear plastic tacked across your windows can also work in a pinch.

Inflation hasn't changed the price of ashes.

But it has changed the price of your home. For example, if you bought a $20,000 home in 1969 - today it's worth about $27,000. Don't be left with a costly pile of storm windows kept cold air out and heating costs down. Clear plastic tacked across your windows can also work in a pinch.

A letter from Mrs. Christine Girt, Roselle, New Jersey, a daughter of August Gustafson (Gus Staverson) tells of a story related to her in her childhood by descendants of the Adams family, visiting from California, who came to her home at the head of Little Renfro Creek and asked to be allowed to look around the place. They said that the old log house was their childhood home during the war.

They remembered when a group of Southern soldiers had come to their home and had tried to force their father to tell them where he had hidden his horses. They did nothing more drastic, however, than to ride him around on a rail for awhile and had not gotten from him the information they wanted.

They recalled that their father had only one horse left at the time and that he needed him so desperately for tending his crop that he had gone to extreme measures to conceal him when he had word that the soldiers were in the vicinity. There was a fruit cellar in the corner of the yard, near the kitchen, reached by a flight of stone steps that led down through a door opening only about four feet high. Their father and his slaves had gotten the horse down on the ground and had taken hold of his hind feet and dragged him down the steps to the floor of the cellar, after which they had come out and closed the door. Noticing this small opening, the soldiers naturally did not expect a horse had gone through it and did not bother to look inside.

The visitors further added that everything of value had been wrapped in paper, placed in bags and hidden under the stable litter in the old log barn which stood near the house, so all the raiders got was what chickens and livestock that had been overlooked in previous raids, and there wasn't much of that.

One day Union soldiers came to the home of my grandfather, Thomas Jefferson Coffey, and while they were stripping the place of everything that struck their fancy, one of them came up to the front porch where one of my grandfather's sisters was sewing on a pair of cotton drawers she was making for her father. Coming up on the porch the soldier demanded that they be given to him. When the girl refused, he snatched them roughly out of her hand. An up-ended water barrel was sitting at the end of the porch, near her chair, and on the top of it lay a hatchet. She apparently reached for the hatchet and he shot her through the chest. As she toppled off the porch in her chair, she seized the hatchet and threw it with such force and accuracy that it was imbedded in a porch post near his head. The Union Captain being notified, she was carried inside the house and propped up in bed so she could plainly see each man, forced to walk by in single file. When she identified the soldier who had wounded her, he was promptly taken out and shot by a firing squad.

A story Thomas Jefferson Coffey's daughters used to enjoy telling was of the time when they heard yelling, shooting and general commotion and ran out on the porch to see what was going on. They saw their father riding at break-neck speed along the road, leading over the point of a hill and down toward their house, pursued by half a dozen cavalrymen who wanted his horse and were firing at him to scare him into stopping.

When he reached the top of the hill he came racing across the bottom, crossing the barn lot and out an open gate near the porch, headed for the hill behind the house. One of the girls had presence of mind enough to close the gate and fasten it by wrapping a long chain around it by the time the pursuing horsemen got there. While they were waiting until one of their number dismounted and got the chain unwound, my grandfather managed to dash across the creek back of the house and enter the woods, where he succeeded in eluding them.

The Cox family history reveals the interesting story of a relative, Matilda Jones, daughter of Ezekiel Jones and Eliza Gentry. The Jones family lived in Mt. Vernon during the war, but had previously lived on Chestnut Ridge. One day Matilda was visiting in Chestnut Ridge and standing by the yard fence watching the Union forces passing through. A Captain rode up and asked for a drink of water. After Matilda had given it to him, he took off his sword and handed to her, saying "If there ever comes a time when you need this - use it." Then he rode on before she had even learned his name. That sword is now in the possession of John Cox, of Cox' Hardware in Mt. Vernon, a grandson of the Matilda Jones who figures so prominently in the story.

Harrison Branaman, of the Wildlife section, told of an experience he had as a young man during the War. He, with other boys of his age, were attending some sort of school entertainment in the old school house at Green Hill when they were captured by Southern troops passing through. They searched him and took the big revolver he was carrying but somehow overlooked a small derringer hidden in his clothes. Appointing two soldiers to guard him, they set off toward Mt. Vernon. In the course of marching several miles he had managed to drop well behind the column, accompanied by only his two guards. Seeing his chance, he drew the derringer and shouted "Now, one of you dies, or I get away!" He said they all three took off running in different directions and were soon out of sight of each other. He later joined the Union Army, in which his brother, Henry, was a Lieutenant and he himself became Corporal. His company was sent South, but was never engaged in battle. The big Colt Revolver issued to him is now in possession of a relative, Herman Chasteen, formerly of Renfro Valley, now living somewhere in the North. The musket which he used to his brother Henry is now preserved in the museum at Cincinnati, Ohio.

Logan Simon, a Union soldier, was captured by the Rebels and put in Andersonville Prison, where, he said, he almost starved to death. He escaped and returned to his home near Boones Gap. A man named Higgenbotham, who had learned he was home, came swaggering along the road that led by Simon's house, swearing he would kill the first "Damn Yankee" he saw. Simon shot and killed him and immediately went to Indiana, where he remained until 1885, when he came back to stand trial. When the train he was on reached Richmond, Kentucky, a lot of old Union soldiers boarded it and came on to Mt. Vernon with him and stayed with him throughout his trial. He was freed by a sympathetic jury and came back to his old home to live.

A group of men from the Wildlife and Green Hill neighborhood were hiding with their horses, on a hill back of the huge log house that used to stand along the railroad track back of Parsons' artificial Let's suppose you came home from a shopping trip one Saturday afternoon and found a group of strangers having a picnic in your back yard. How would you react? Wouldn't your first impulse be either to kick them out or to call the police and have them arrested for trespassing?

Why, then, should we expect a farmer to react any differently when he sees a group of strangers with guns tramping through his fields? His farm is as much his as your yard is yours, and chances are he has put much more time, money and effort into his land than you will ever put in yours, for his farm is his living, often his sole source of income.

We should all be thankful for the generosity of the farmers who let others hunt on their land. If some stranger drove up to your house and asked if he could swim in your pool, would you be as generous? The good will of landowners is something that all hunters need to cultivate, because it is a rare and precious thing.

Yet there are still those who refuse to extend to the landowner the most basic and common courtesy - asking permission to hunt on his land. Asking to hunt (or fish, or camp, or hike) is the single most important step in building good relations with landowners, which should not be neglected by anyone under any circumstances.

Why is asking permission so important? First, it shows that you acknowledge the farmer's rights as a property owner. Down on a basic, psychological level we all have a sense of territory, of what is ours and of what we control, whether it's a back yard or of a back forty acres. Let someone else infringe upon this territory, and all kinds of impulsive aggressions start to surface - again, think of the example of strangers picnicing in your yard. Asking permission confirms these territorial rights; failure to do so violates them.

Second, there has been an increasing amount of rural crime in the past several years. Tractor batteries have been stolen or gas tanks drained, barns broken into or vandalized. This is not the fault of the hunter, but it does make the landowner keep a closer watch on his land. Approach a farmer openly, introduce yourself, even show some identification and he will know that you mean him no harm. But enter without permission, and he will almost have to come chasing after you just to see what you're up to.

Third, asking permission gives you a chance to inquire about the location of out-buildings, livestock, planted fields or other areas where the farmer may not want you to hunt. And inquiring about such things also shows the landowner that you respect his property and his rights.

Finally, asking permission makes you less of a stranger and more of a friend and neighbor. Offering to share some of your bag with the landowner will still further cement this friendship. I once asked permission to hike on land that was heavily posted with "no trespassing" signs. "Sure," the owner replied, "those signs aren't for neighbors, they're for rascals!"

That says it all. Ask, and be a neighbor. Don't ask - you're a rascal.
