LANDSCAPE LESSON FOR JANUARY

Now is the time to look at your home critically and decide what should be done to improve its outside appearance. Some repairs may need to be done, such as fixing a porch, re-rendering the front steps, painting the house, etc. The yard may contain trees that are almost dead and need removing or overgrown shrubs and climbing roses which need thinning out or may need to be removed entirely; the yard fence and front gate may not be attractive, and vines of various kinds may have grown wild. All of these things and others will be seen and should be noted for doing this year. The winter is ideal for removing old trees, shrubs and vines, and even some of the repair work on the yard fence or steps can be worked in when the weather will permit.

If the home is new, a careful study should be made now to determine where trees, shrubs and evergreens should be located to create pleasing effects. After this has been decided, the next thing to do is secure catalogs and decide on the kinds of plants to be used. Of course, more detailed information will be needed regarding the plants, but the person selling them can give this assistance. All possible information about plants should be known before they are purchased.

The flower catalogs are already being mailed out, and they contain valuable information about the different kinds and how to use them. A post card request will usually bring copies of these catalogs.

Removing Dead Trees. To get rid of dead trees is often quite a problem and involves a certain amount of danger. The professional will do this at considerable expense. In many instances the home owner can take a tree down if it is not too large. He should start by first removing the branches, and leaving a trunk that may be 15 to 20 feet tall. The trunk can then be sawed off even with the ground, but this will leave a stump that will take years to decay. One of the best ways to get rid of the stump is to dig around it, cutting the main roots off about 12 to 15 inches below the ground level. This should be done all around the trunk. Then tie a rope to the top of the stem. The stump can then be pulled over with a tractor, and in this way it will roll off the ground, leaving only a small hole to be filled with soil. When a tree is removed in this manner, a stump never left and in a few years it will be impossible to tell that a tree had ever been there.

Removing Ice From Walks. Many home owners use salt to melt the ice from the walks during the winter. This must be done carefully to prevent the salt from killing the grass on each side of the walk. Evergreens are sometimes burned by salt since the ice starts to melt, it is sometimes swept on plants growing nearby.

HOME STRAWBERRY PATCH...
 What could be better foodwise, than home grown strawberries. Late March is a good setting time so plants should be ordered now specifying shipping date. One hundred plants should furnish plenty of berries for the average family. Tennessee Berries and Yonahontas varieties are among the best of the strawberries. If you have grown strawberries before and had trouble with disease the Sure Crop variety is recommended. In setting the plants the crown of each plant should be right at the surface of the soil and the dirt should be firmly pressed around each plant. Strawberries should be set two to three feet apart in rows four feet apart. Use only virus-free plants.

Pruning Shade Trees. January is a good time to remove a few branches from shade trees that may be too thick on one side. When trees like the maples are pruned now, they do not bleed. In pruning, the main central leader should never be removed because when that is done it destroys the true shape of the tree. In fact, shade trees are what we call mostly "self-pruning," which means there is never any excuse to dehorn or prune them drastically. All wounds 1 1/2 inches or over in diameter should be painted with a special tree wound dressing or a good grade of house paint.

Pruning Shrubs and Evergreens. The flowering shrubs should not be pruned at this time because the flowers are all ready to open this spring and to cut the plants at this time will simply be cutting off the blooms. Evergreens should not be pruned now because it will cause a tendency for the shrubs to decay. If the shrubs or evergreens have a branch or two slipping against the house or hanging over a walk, these branches may be removed at this time.

Snow and Ice on Ornaments. Now is the time to keep watch over ornamental plants to see that they are not injured by heavy, wet snow. Usually, the snow or ice can be removed by shaking the branches of the plant. A broom or club for beating the snow should not be used as this may cause as much injury as the snow or ice, but gently shaking or jarring the plants will remove most of it. Many good-looking evergreens are ruined by neglecting to do this.

Preparing an apple salad? Protect cut apples from darkening by mixing with fruit juice - lemon, orange, grapefruit, or pineapple - before adding other ingredients.
 For better color and flavor in frozen fruits, leave fruit in the sealed container to thaw and then serve as soon as thawed. A few ice crystals improved the texture for eating raw.
 Frozen fruit packed with dry sugar thaws slightly faster than that packed in sirup. Both sugar and sirup packs thaw faster than unsweetened packs.
 Looks are deceiving, sometimes. A pound of spinach, before it is cooked, looks like enough to feed a crowd. Don't let it fool you - it isn't. When cooked it will yield approximately enough for four.
 If you're trying to compare costs of fresh or frozen spinach - multiply the cost of each by the factor. Frozen spinach at 25 cents per package costs about 10 cents for a one-half cup serving, and fresh spinach, at 50 cents a pound costs about 12 cents, a frozen spinach then would be the best buy. As cost of food changes, of course figures must be checked for comparisons.
 What is "parboiled" rice? A special steam-pressure process (before milling) forces vitamins and minerals from the hull, bran, and germ into the starching part of the grain.

The term "converted" rice means that it is parboiled rice which is made by a patented process.

POINSETTIAS - And Their Care

Cool-tolerant type poinsettias - about 16 million pots of them - probably were sold during the past month. Now that they are blooming and beautiful - how do you keep them that way? Most of them will bloom well in temperatures in the low 60's.

Overwatering causes roots to rot and will kill your poinsettias fast but, they should be watered thoroughly when you first get them. The entire soil area should be thoroughly saturated, then only water three or four days - not too much. Fertilize plants within several days. Remember that poinsettias must have at least six hours of bright light daily to thrive. Plants should be kept away from drafts, radiators, and hot air registers.
 If you're careful, and possibly lucky, too, you may have your colorful plant well into the month of May.

Rockcastle Recollections

John Lair

GRIFFIN:

First of the Griffin family to come to America were Edward and John, who arrived in New York in 1833. They were of Welsh origin, but later members of the family had lived in England before coming to America. The original settler of the name to come to Rockcastle County was Solomon. He was born in England on September 17, 1777 and died August 9, 1869 in Pulaski County, Kentucky. Before leaving England he was married to Mary Bull, with whom he had fallen in love while fiddling for a ball given by her father. After their wedding they came to the present site of New York City, where they lived for many years and until their eleven children were born.

Before they had lived at their last place of residence long enough for establishing ownership, Solomon got into a controversy with a neighbor and moved away to avoid trouble with him. He brought his family to Rockcastle County and settled in the community of Calloway, Kentucky, building a commodious log cabin to house his large family. Years later, when real estate in New York City became very valuable and Solomon became aware of that fact, he decided to go back there to see what could be done about the claim he had abandoned there. It was decided that the whole family they got back behind the forest of the best. When he fired the gun, the panther fell out, struck through the heart, and rolled down against the house. It measured nine feet from tip to tip and was one of the largest ever killed in that vicinity.

After first settling in the Calloway area, Solomon Griffin moved his family to the house he built on Cove Branch, where he and his wife spent the remainder of their days, both living to the age of 83. He was a very bold man in the settlement, being a cabinet maker of considerable skill. Mrs. Jack Crawford of Reno Valley, a direct descendant, has an old desk he made, of which she is justly proud. He also fashioned outright one of the earlier grist mills of his community, which saw active service for around 140 years. Many of the old looms and spinning wheels still preserved in this and adjoining counties are examples of his skill with hand tools.

Among his eleven children his son, Adam, seemed to follow most closely in his footsteps. Born in 1822, he died at the comparatively early age of 56. His wife, a daughter of Merritt and Margaret Giles Singleton, died in 1926 at 93 years of age. They lived out most of their years at Green Hill, near Reno Valley, Kentucky. He was a blacksmith and millwright, living a busy and useful life.

Among the eight children raised by Adam and Margaret Griffin were Martha Ellen, who married Sydney G. Franklin, Mt. Vernon's first jeweler, owner of the county's West museum and growing cultivator on a large commercial scale; George Washington lived on the old home farm until his death; James Franklin married Kathleen Wallin. They were the parents of talented writer, Ralph Griffin, and his sister, Lillian, who married Henry Proctor, for many years a draftsman and designer for American Steel and Wire Company.

Elroy Hayes Coffey, grandchild of Adam Griffin, showed me in her 90th year a voluminous and detailed list of all Griffin, Coffey and Hayes descendants up to and including the year 1970. They do not now have access to this list, which would allow me to trace more fully the various branches of the Griffin family who for many years been active in furthering the interests of Rockcastle County.

BLULOCK:

The Bullock family, although they got a late start in Rockcastle County, have become one of the most numerous in a comparatively short time. None of the local family historians have been able to go back of Elisha Bullock, who settled on Skaggs Creek sometime around Civil War time. His wife was Myrtle Meece, says that back in 1897 when she was seven years old, she remembers Elisha Bullock as a short, stocky man, well along in years and not much above five feet tall. At that time he ran Bullock's mill, a dam on Skaggs Creek, a very active man, and in spite of age, daily paddled canoe on Skaggs Creek between his home and the mill dam.

She remembers a blacksmith shop near the mill that did a flourishing business and Elisha's son, Jim, worked the shop in his earlier days, took over the mill at the time of Elisha's death, around 1902.

Elisha Bullock had five sons, all married and living within a two-mile radius of each other. Joe lived about one mile up the creek from the mill dam. His children were Joe, Chris, Bob, Dewey, Ed, Rosie and Ollie. Jim lived on the hill about one mile up the creek, and his children were Sally, Armp, Pat, Dolf and Daisy. Lish's home was about a mile up the hollow and his children were Jesse, Cossie and Roxie. Jess lived on the hill opposite to Jim and his three sons were Dan, George and Frank. Frank lived about a mile up the hollow. The names of his children are not remembered. The Bullock men on Skaggs Creek were all farmers.

From descendants of the family in Rockcastle County came Daniel Bullock, County Supt. of Public Instruction; Ernest Bullock, sawmill and lumber man and tobacco farmer on a big scale; Jesse Bullock, his son, presently Cashier of the Bank of Mt. Vernon.

Men of the Bullock name played an important part in the early history of Kentucky. Leonard Henley Bullock, well-to-do relative and neighbor of Colonel Richard Henderson in Granville County, North Carolina, was an investor, and one of the early proprietors of their settlement at Boonesborough. He seems to have occupied a position close to Henderson throughout the remainder of his life, and was one of the executors of his will, probated in 1784. One of Henderson's sons, who later became Chief Justice of North Carolina, Leonard, was probably named for Bullock. Others bearing the family name made their mark in the early development of the Blue Grass section of Kentucky, and while no definite connection has been established between them and the Rockcastle Branch, it is rather possible that such connection does exist from a more remote ancestry.

PRESCRIPTION FOR NEW CAR FEVER.

Concerning the Transfer of License - Tommy Lee, Harlan Co. Court Clerk, has recently filed a bill in the county clerk's office to have the registration of a vehicle and leave a five-year-old lien off the new registration receipt, especially when no "continuation statement" has been filed. The Office of the Attorney General holds the opinion that this cannot be done. The clerk has a duty to include the noting of a lien until the termination statement is filed - even if the lien has lapsed.

WHITE CANES GIVEN TO BLIND...

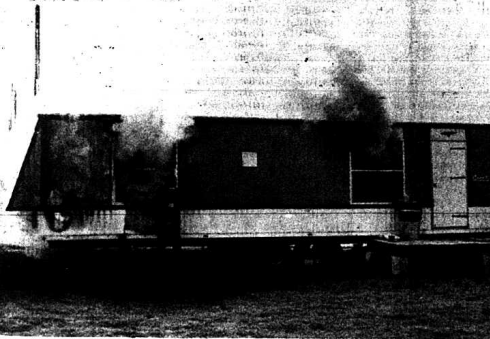

White canes for the blind and those with limited vision are being distributed by the Mt. Vernon Lions Club.

The first two to receive the canes were Mr. H. H. (Tuck) Baker, 72, of Mt. Vernon and Ernest Brooks, 34, of Brodhead. They were given the canes by Charlie Barr, chairman of the white cane program for the Mt. Vernon Lions Club.

The especially-designed canes are painted with a white reflective paint and have a red tip, signifying the person carrying the cane is either blind or has limited vision.

The Club expressed a desire that all drivers watch for people carrying the white cane and to realize that the person has a sight problem. This program is in conjunction with the Club's eye glass program in which the three Lions Clubs in the county buy eye glasses for the needy children in the area.

Anyone needing a white cane may contact Mr. Barr, the chairman for the Lions Cane Program or leave word with Floyd Owens, the person's name is then presented to the Lions Club for approval, and the cane is then presented free.

City Firemen were called to the trailer house at Carver Street in Mt. Vernon last Thursday morning about 9:30 a.m. to extinguish a fire which, according to Fire Chief John Cox, apparently began around a bed which was sitting next to a wall heater. Firemen managed to confine most of the fire to a back bedroom, which was gutted, but the other rooms were also heavily damaged by smoke and heat. The trailer was located in the Clarence Carter trailer park behind the Signal Office. City Fireman David Bales is shown in the above photo as he works to put out the fire.

Conservation Essay and Poster Winners Are Announced ...

The three county winners in the Conservation Essay Contest and the Conservation Poster Contest have been selected. In the Essay Contest, the first place winner was Stephen Center, a student at Roundstone Elementary School. In second place was Tony Springer, a student at Mt. Vernon Elementary. The third place winner was Miss Marcia Gail Lamb, a student at the Rockcastle County High School. These students were selected from winners at all six of the county schools. The school winners included Peggy Jo Duham, a student at Livingston Elementary, Gilda Marlene Norton, a student at Blue Springs, and Vicki Bengt, a student at Brodhead Elementary.

In the Conservation Poster Contest, only students in grades one through five were eligible. The county winners were selected from the school winners at the five elementary schools in the county.

The first place winner in the Poster Contest was Mark Bond, a student at Livingston Elementary School. Second place went to Kristi Layne Martin, a student at Brodhead Elementary, and third place went to Jennifer Lynn Cox, a student at Mt. Vernon Elementary. The school winners from Roundstone and Blue Springs were Vonda Spillman and Teresa Robbins.

The theme in both the Essay Contest and the Poster Contest was "Water Conservation - Its Effect on My Community." There were 1,009 essays and 453 posters prepared by Rockcastle County students. In judging of the contests was in the usual manner; the teachers selected the school winners; the county winners were selected by a panel of judges appointed by the Board of Supervisors of the Rockcastle County Conservation District. The judging in both contests was very close. The quality of work in the essay and poster contests was excellent. All of these students are to be commended for their fine work.

The Rockcastle County Conservation District and the Courier Journal and Louisville Times will present all of these winners with awards. Stephen Center, the first place essay winner, will receive a $25 bond and a wooden plaque from the Courier Journal. Tony Springer, second place essay winner, will receive a $15 cash award from the Conservation District.

Marcia Lamb, the third place essay winner, will receive a $10 cash award from the Conservation District. Mark Bond, the first place poster winner, will receive a $10 cash award from the Conservation District, and a wooden plaque from the Courier Journal. Kristi Layne Martin and Jennifer Lynn Cox, the second and third place poster winners, will receive $7.50 and $5.00 cash awards from the Conservation District.

In addition, all school winners in the essay contest will receive $5 cash awards and all school winners in the poster contest will receive $2.50 cash awards from the Conservation District. Kenneth York, District Conservationist and the Conservation District want to thank every student who wrote an essay or prepared a poster, for the time and hard work that was put into these two contests; also to thank all the teachers, principals, and school officials who worked with them in organizing these contests and helping make them a success.

Mr. York and the Conservation District also wish to congratulate each school winner and especially to congratulate Stephen Center and Mark Bond, county winners. Good luck to them in the state competition!

School Board Meets...

Mainly routine items of business were transacted at the Rockcastle County Board of Education's regular monthly meeting Monday night.

Matters dispensed with by the Board were: Mrs. Diane Masters, a teacher at Rockcastle County High School, was granted a leave-of-absence beginning January 6th for the remainder of the school year due to illness. Nancy Bussell was hired to replace Mrs. Masters during her leave-of-absence.

Carol Vaughn Phillips was hired as substitute teacher, subject to meeting certification requirements.

Paul Whitaker was employed as contract hauler at $22.10 per month to replace Margaret Whitaker, who died recently.

The resignation of Barbara Fain as teacher aide in the Career Education Program at ROCKS was accepted and the Board voted to employ Charlene Arnold Goforth at a salary of $240 per month.

A motion to sell a small parcel of land (89' x 90') located near the old Dean Plant in Brodhead was passed. The land will be sold by sealed bids with the superintendent authorized to secure permission from the State Department of Education to sell the property. A minimum price of $200 for the land was established by the Board. A

Court Gives Tentative Approval To New Ambulance Service Program

Bill Bailey, a director of the Rockcastle County Hospital, met with Fiscal Court Tuesday and explained a new system under which financing for an ambulance service in the county can be obtained.

Mr. Bailey told the Court that the program had been discovered when the hospital began making inquiries into the possibility of getting federal money to buy communication equipment for the hospital which would link them with the ambulance service.

He said that during these inquiries it had been found that there was a program through which there was money available to fund the communications system but only as a part of a contract for an ambulance service. However, one requirement of this program is that the funds be disbursed to the program on a 75-25% basis rather than to individual counties.

Mr. Bailey said that, Rockcastle County fell within the region and as far as could be ascertained, no application for funds for this region had been made.

The main thing which Mr. Bailey approached the Court about was a request for their tentative approval of the project so that the program could be written up, a task requiring about two months according to Mr. Bailey. He (Mr. Bailey) pointed out that without at least the Court's tentative approval there would be little reason to expend the time and effort in writing the program.

After some discussion, the Magistrates agreed to give the Hospital the go-ahead with writing up the program for application for funds.

Other business, the Court accepted the bid of McCluney Chevrolet Truck Rental, Ohio for three 5-speed transmission dump trucks at a price of $8,309.00 each. This price reflected a discount of $1,689.45 on each truck and no trade-in. The County's trucks will be sold public auction after the delivery of the new trucks which is scheduled for February 1st.

The Court also re-hired Mr. Arista Norton as County Treasurer for a term until April, 1977 and granted their approval of a 201 Planning Survey which the City has decided to make in areas surrounding Mt. Vernon.

Delmo McClure, a member of the City and Rockcastle County Rescue Squad was before the court to ask for $250 with which to pay for insurance equipment loaned by the Squad. Mr. McClure told the Court that the Squad did not have the money and would appreciate the amount of $250. After some discussion, the Court agreed to pay the insurance bill for the Squad.

Ernest Mason made a motion that no Magistrate say anything for over $100 unless the motion or request was brought before the court and the item advertised for bids. The motion was passed unanimously.

The garbage situation also came up again with Magistrate Mason bringing up the garbage haul bill for the month which was over $2,000. Mr. Mason said this bill reflected 133 extra pick ups during the month throughout the County. He said that if the bills continued as high in the next few months that the funds approved to last the year for the service would only last about another three months, leaving no funds for about the last two months of the fiscal year. A motion was made by Mr. Mason that, since the price of the garbage service was running so high, the county discontinue the service entirely, buy a piece of land for a dump, hire a man to supervise it and let the residents of the county haul their garbage themselves. Mr. Mason said that something needed to be done because the way things were going should revenue sharing money be discontinued the county would be left without any resources or means of providing a garbage service of any kind. While the Court was in general agreement that something had to be done, the second.

Fiscal Court Proclaims "John Lair Day"

The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court, at its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, passed a resolution in recognition of John Lair's economic and cultural contribution to Rockcastle County and proclaimed that a day during the 4th of July weekend next year be set aside as "John Lair Day" in Rockcastle County.

The Resolution, passed on a motion by Ernest Mason and seconded by Chester Whitaker, will be made a part of the minutes and the Court also expressed the desire that some sort of celebration be held on that day recognizing Mr. Lair. The Resolution reads as follows: "WHEREAS, John Lair is a native son of Rockcastle County and has distinguished himself in the fields of musical entertainment, history, agriculture and development, and

WHEREAS, he has brought recognition to Rock-

castle County through the medium of radio and television and has induced generations of travelers to come to Rockcastle County, thereby enriching our area economically, and

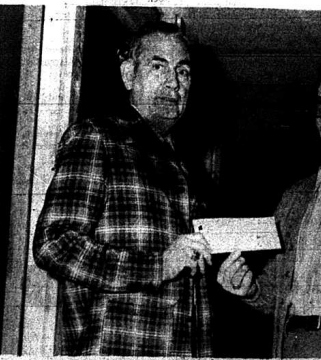

WHEREAS, he is now in the process of researching and recording the history of Rockcastle County, Rockcastle Countians feel so keenly indebted to him for his great economic and cultural contributions that the Rockcastle Fiscal Court assembles to express the county's appreciation and gratitude to John Lair and to proclaim a day during the 4th of July weekend from hereon, as John Lair Day in Rockcastle County.

The Resolution was signed by County Judge Hubert Thacker and each magistrate.

Magistrate Ernest Mason said later that plans were being made to celebrate the day in July, which is also the birth month of Mr. Lair.

County Court Clerk Clifford Bales is shown with the 1975 license plates which have been on sale in the county for the past several weeks. This year's tags are different in that they have three letters as the first three digits in place of the usual numbers. The last of the three letters will be changed after each 1,000 plates sold. Car tags are due to be on your car by March 1st with truck tags due by April 1st. Tags are $12.50 each.

The Mt. Vernon Lions Club recently received a $225 grant from The Kiwanis Club of America. The money will be used to buy eyeglasses for indigent children in the county. Last year, 1974 was spent on this project by the Mt. Vernon Club. President Ed Huns, president of the Club, left, is shown presenting the check to Edill Hodges, Treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lair look over some of the historical information on the Mt. Vernon Christian Church. Mr. Lair was guest speaker at a fellowship dinner held at the church recently.

By: William D. Gregory

Have you ever stopped to think about what a wonder television is? Most of us take TV for granted, and it is easy to forget that this electrical wonder is a relatively new device. My children don't seem to understand that when I was their age there was no such thing as television, at least no TV as we understand it today.

My first look at this thing called television was at the home of the late Bill Cox. As far as I know, he had the first television in Mt. Vernon, or at least he was one of the first owners here. The only programs I can remember watching back then were the Hit Parade and Wrestling. I can also remember the reception. The quality of reception we watched then, today would bring cries of young minds by what was shown and set your house on fire if I should get the set fixed. The memory of eyestrain and Mr. Bill pleading for everyone to be quiet is still vivid in my mind.

I probably belong to the last generation that was brought up on radio and not television. In the late 40's and early 50's, much of the talk regarding the new thing commonly called TV was that it would ruin people's eyes, affect their health by radiation, corrupt young minds by what was shown and set your house on fire if I should get the set fixed. The skepticism regarding television during the moon era can be equated to the reluctance of accepting TV during its early era.

After the initial impact of television, the American people began to demand and receive more from this media than its use as a curiosity. For example, television as a news media is vital to us as we have developed a ritual of depending on watching not just listening to what has happened in the world. During the Vietnam War we became accustomed to even watching battlefield developments through the wonder of TV by satellite.

Television's most common usage to the American public would probably be in entertainment. Millions of people sit down night after night and just forget themselves in a trance in front of the tube. There is a continuous battle with educators regarding the quality of what is presented to the public via television. The gap has been partially bridged by the advent of public television, and I might add that we are very fortunate to have the educational television facilities that are now available to us.

An article on the wonders of television could go on and on, but I do not intend to exhaust the subject, only to comment on it.

All of the above has no particular significance except to maybe remind us that in our Nation's 200th Birthday Celebration, things are considerably different from the days of our forefathers.

Cox said arrangements have been made with the telephone company so that lines can be added as needed practically at the flip of a switch at the phone company offices. Space has been set aside for the noisy, semi-automatic electric typewriters to knock out personalized letters to the voting populace.

And this is all just for the primary. If Carroll succeeds in that race, the whole operation will move to Democratic headquarters to save money.

Saving money seems to be the second greatest consideration of Cox's Army. The first consideration is to keep the campaign squeaky clean of any taint of interest - especially between Carroll's chores as governor and his candidacy.

Noting that if you can find someone who seems to be in two houses, "the state is in one of their ways to let you to leave from someone who doesn't have any state contacts."

Space has been set aside at headquarters for press conferences. The subject matter is political rather than governmental in nature.

And his governor's staff is dropping information that telephone calls for such items as Carroll photos for campaign workers in the outlying counties are being referred to campaign headquarters with the admonition that "it wouldn't be a proper use of tax money, now, would it?"

By any measure, Carroll is not taking the upcoming race for governor lightly. After all, he faces several months before the primary and several months again before the general election as governor of the state, a rather unique position, but not that, over the years, has proved to be a position for making as many enemies as friends.

By the time May and November roll around, Carroll is going to have something of a record to defend. Soybean Association to Meet - The Kentucky Soybean Association is planning to hold a series of meetings in January on a soybean tax, which will amount to one-half cent per bushel.

They have leased 7500 square feet of floor space and converted it into offices and working space for secretarial and volunteer personnel.

WE HAVE

WITH MOST OF TODAY'S USED CAR VALUES AT A 15-YEAR HIGH, YOUR NEW CHEVROLET COULD BE A BETTER DEAL THAN EVER.

NOW'S THE TIME TO SEE US.
We'd like a chance to share with you some research comparing used car values today with those a year ago... research that supports our content on that right now most used car prices are at a 15-year high.

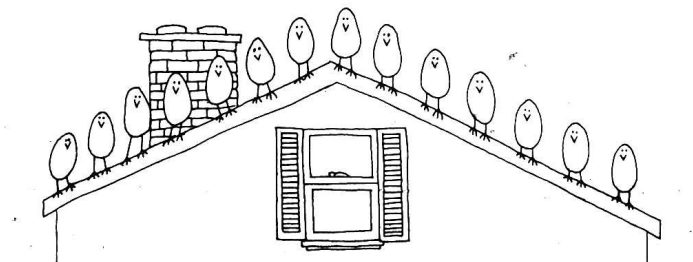

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN TO YOU?
Chances are your current car may be worth far more in trade-in allowance toward a '75 Chevrolet than you might have expected. It's worth so much that the deal you can make right now on the '75 Chevrolet you want is probably a lot better than you think. Certainly, it won't hurt to check with us to see how good the good news is.

NOW MAY BE THE TIME TO BUY.
While used car values are high at the moment, there's no assurance that they will be as high a couple of months from now, or even a couple of weeks from now. So come in for an appraisal. With used car values at their current high, you may find it's worth more in trade than you think.

Here's another dollar-and-cents consideration: The '75 Chevrolets in our showrooms are designed for more economical operation than the comparable '74's... most offer improved gas mileage, all require less frequent routine maintenance. This means the '75 Chevrolet you buy today is going to save you money on maintenance every mile you drive it, every month you own it. Could a deal on one of our '75 Chevrolets be sweeter than its right now? Come on in and find out!

WARM BIRDS ON YOUR ROOF? POOR INSULATION IN YOUR ATTIC

Poor attic insulation can waste as much as 1/3 of the heat used in a home. The heat passes right through the roof, doing little more than keeping the birds warm.

Because the economy of electric heat depends on proper insulation, right now is a good time to check the insulation in your attic. To stop any waste of energy and heat.

Ideally, over top floor ceilings you should have R-24 insulation (6 to 10 inches, depending on the type used), and 3-5/8 inches in walls and under floors over unheated areas. If you find your attic lacks proper insulation, a do-it-yourself weekend can cure it.

To find out more about electric heat, and to save energy throughout your home, call our nearest office. A qualified specialist will show you how insulation can keep more of the heat you pay for inside your home.

Electricity... use it wisely.

MT. VERNON WOMAN'S CLUB IN THE YEAR 20??

Recently looking over the contents of a scrapbook compiled by the late Mrs. S. C. (Martha) Franklin which is in the possession of Mrs. Bernard Franklin, there was an interesting article which read:

"The Dormitory was the scene of a very pleasant New Year's reception on last Wednesday evening. Mrs. Fishback, Mrs. Annie Miller, Mrs. Martha Franklin, Miss McCord and Miss Clarkson were the hostesses of the second open meeting of the Woman's Club.

"The guests assembled in the new building where the Turner Art Exhibit was on display. The first hour was spent in the living room where Miss Sparks and Mrs. Miller furnished delightful music. Miss Adams gave a description of two of the pictures which she had seen while in Europe. 'Michael Angelo's Jernial' and 'Reynold's Age of Innocence'.

"Miss Watson told the story connected with Alexander's Pot of Basil and Poynter's Atalanta's Race.

"After this the guests continued looking at the pictures which were explained by members of the Art Committee.

"Nut trapee and cake were served in the living room by Miss Sadie Richards, Martha Sparks, Bernice Landrum and Mattie Huff, while Mrs. Fishback poured coffee in an adjoining room."

Inflation hasn't changed the price of ashes.

But it has changed the price of your home. For example, if you bought a $20,000 home in 1968—today it's worth about $27,000. Don't be left with a costly pile of ashes. See me about a State Farm Homeowners Policy that will cover your home for all it's worth and keep it that way with automatic Inflation Coverage.

Down On

The Farm

By: Roy G. Brown
Assistant Vice President
Cumberland PCA

"Well, we are beginning a New Year of 1975. Most of us have about finished our crops and things for 1974. Now is a good time to start planning for our farming program for 1975. There are many things we can do on bad days this winter, and here are a few things we need to begin in order to be prepared when spring arrives. We need a sharp pencil and plenty of paper to figure...A few hours spent now will save time and money later.

Fertilize, seeds and chemicals will be in short supply and higher this year. We need to plan what we will need and book orders now so we will have them when planting time comes. Soil test will save money in using only the right amount of fertilizer and maybe using more lime which is much cheaper and needed on most soils.

Check over all machinery for loose or broken parts; repair and oil all parts needed. A little time now on a bad day will save days when the sun is shining and we need to get crops out. Check and treat livestock for lice and other health needs. Healthy livestock will be better on less feed.

Keep an accurate set of records: This will help you to know what you are doing, right or wrong, and our credit needs. We here at PCA wish everyone a Successful and Prosperous 1975. "DOWN ON THE FARM."
