

Planning New Shopping Center

Berea will have another new shopping center by next summer if the plans of J. Randolph Osborne, Sonny Osborne and Kenneth Cummins, formerly of Mt. Vernon, are made a reality.

The proposed shopping center will be located in Kentucky Highway 21 and I-75 Interchange, Berea, and has been given the same Dogwood Plaza Shopping Center. It is owned and being planned by the three above. Kenneth Cummins said they were negotiating now with possible stores which would include a department store, hardware store, supermarket and other shops, with a mixture of locally owned and franchise stores.

Aesthetics of the Plaza is a main concern to the owners. "We want something the citizens can be proud of ... something continuous and complementary of the surrounding area," Cummins said. It will have Colonial architecture and is being designed by a Lexington architect. Cummins would not give the architect's name because he said the firm had not been contracted yet.

Cummins noted that fifty percent of Berea's shopping goes out of Berea and he hoped this shopping center would provide needed services for Berea and surrounding communities.

Future development of the Center would include a doctor's clinic, a drug store, and eventually an office park, he said.

They have been negotiating with numerous companies interested in the new center. Initially, there will be three or four major stores and six to eight smaller shops.

Cummins said if all goes well, they would have a ground breaking May 1st with occupancy in early autumn.

He had other figures from a 1970 State Highway Department report that gave a daily count of northbound traffic on Interstate 75 at 20,000 cars on Southbound, 18,000. The sport is prime for tourists and surrounding counties, the residents said in Dogwood Heights and the Indian Hills, he said.

The land totals thirty (30) acres and has a wooded area that Cummins said would be made into a small park. He expressed concern about not losing any trees in the area. The Plaza will have a total of fifty to one hundred thousand square feet initially, not including the doctors' clinic and the office park.

Mr. Cummins says he feels the new Shopping Plaza is an advantage to Rockcastle development in Dogwood Heights and the Indian Hills. This will save many miles of driving and provide modern up-to-date shopping services.

Senator Dee Huddleston

REPORTS TO THE SENATE

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME / FERTILIZER PRODUCTION

When year-round Daylight Saving Time was enacted, I stated on the Senate floor that there was absolutely no assurance that it would save energy -- as its proponents contended. Our experiment with year-round DST provide my contention correct, and Congress shortened DST to eight months a year. Later this year we will revert to six months of DST.

While we are grateful for these reductions, the problems and inconveniences remain the same as long as DST is in effect during the winter months. We still have school children standing in the dark waiting for school buses. This is a serious safety hazard and many parents as well as the Kentucky Farm Bureau have registered their complaints with me.

In addition to the safety problem, DST disrupts the working day of the farmer, hinders commerce, and inconveniences the general public. By making parents and children get up in the colder morning hours and by forcing parents to drive children to school for safety reasons, DST actually encourages more energy use, not less.

As a result, Senator Wendell Ford and I have introduced legislation to shorten by another five weeks the period of time Kentucky and the rest of the nation would be under Daylight Saving Time. Our bill would limit DST from the first Sunday in May to the last Sunday in September.

We have experimented too long at the expense of school children, farmers, businessmen and the public in general, and it is time to assure them that we will not put them through the hazards and inconveniences of winter DST again. I hope that our proposal to return to a reasonable Daylight Saving Time can be acted on as soon as possible.

I am happy to report that the three fertilizer plants supplying Kentucky are now operating at or near full capacity. These plants -- two in Alabama and one in North Carolina -- earlier had reduced their operations because of a shortage of natural gas.

Several members of our Congressional delegation -- as well as those from other states -- have been working with the Federal Power Commission to assure that these plants will get the natural gas necessary to operate at full capacity. If they do not, farmers in Kentucky would suffer tremendously -- with a possible loss of 40 percent of our fertilizer.

and Lisa, age two.

His principal duties as a federal probation officer will be two-fold. He will investigate those people who are before the Court for violation of federal criminal laws. These investigations are for the purpose of preparing presentence reports to be used by the Judge only after a person is convicted. His second role is as important as the one where he serves the court. This is his role as a helping person as he works with those people on probation or released to this area on parole from some federal prison.

Corbett and Whitlock will be responsible for their duties as probation officers by serving in the following counties: Clay, Knox, Jackson, Laurel, Lincoln, McCreary, Pulaski, Rockcastle, Wayne and Whitley.

GABLE ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY.....

Bob Gable, Stearns businessman and a Republican, announced today that he is a candidate for governor of Kentucky.

Gable, 41, said that the economic well-being of every Kentuckian will be a key part of his campaign platform.

He said, "Government economists think of people as statistics; government bureaucrats think of people as categories; government politicians think of people as votes. In this campaign we will think of people as human beings with human concerns."

"We must attract to Kentucky new industry with its promise of new jobs. But even more important, our government must work hand in hand with today's Kentucky employers to keep the jobs we have."

"These goals won't be met by the economists, the bureaucrats, or the politicians. As a businessman with a social conscience, I'd like to try to meet these goals."

Gable also stressed the need for a higher priority in spending for primary and secondary schools, and better access to health care facilities and doctors.

Gable was Parks Commissioner for Kentucky from 1967-70. In 1972 he was an unsuccessful candidate in the Republican primary for the U.S. Senate.

He is chairman of the Stearns Coal and Lumber Company, a business his family founded in 1902.

Gable is the founder and chairman of the Kentucky Council on Economic Education; a director of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce; and a director of the Kentucky Coal Association.

Gable and his wife Emily have three children: Jim, 15, Beth, 13, and John, 9.

TREES FOR ROCKCASTLE COUNTY. Shown above are Marcus Garrison, Management Aide, and Herman Holton, County Forest Guard, representatives of the Kentucky Division of Forestry with this year's first shipment of tree seedlings for Rockcastle County. These seedlings were grown in a nursery operated by the Division near West Liberty according to Garrison. They are made available to Kentucky landowners for reforestation purposes at $15.00 per 1,000 seedlings for most species. Species available include white pine, shortleaf pine, black locust, yellow poplar and black walnut. The Division recommends planting 1,000 seedling per acre. Although there are several hundred acres of idle and unproductive land in Rockcastle County, Garrison said that only 27,000 seedlings have been ordered so far this year.

County Agent's Notes

By: H. Leo Durham

Spring Clean-Up

March and early April is the time for removing trash that has accumulated during the winter months. The lawn needs raking, and the trash among the shrubs and some of the perennial flowers should be removed. Young trees and evergreens that may have been mulched with well rotted manure need to have the refuse removed at this time.

While you do this work, take care to see that the young growth is not injured. The young grass from the fall seeding is still very small, and if the lawn is raked vigorously much of it will be pulled out of the ground and thrown away with the trash. It is not uncommon to see trash removed from the lawn, showing lots of green from the young grass that has been pulled up. This means that the trash in the spring is not a job for the children. A good, stiff broom that can be used to sweep the lawn is much better than a steel rake. The leaf rake that has flexible steel teeth will do all right if it is used as a broom and the lawn is swept rather than raked.

Bulbs, some of the early iris, and other perennial flowers will be sending up young shoots at this time, and they are very tender and easily broken. Injuring them means the loss of some of the earliest bloom and, at the same time, damage to the young leaves that are so important to the plants. The safest way to remove trash from these plants is to do it by hand. The young trees, shrubs and evergreens that were mulched with rotted manure in the fall should have the coarse parts of the manure removed with a rake and the soil around the plants loosened to a depth of 2 to 3 inches. Work the remainder of the manure into the soil. If these plants were not mulched with manure, loosen the soil with a spade in a circle about 20 inches in diameter around each plant. This will destroy all the grass and weeds that will grow and remove moisture and plant food so badly needed by the young plants.

DES Withdrawal

Livestock feeders using diethylstilbestrol (DES) will be required to withhold this drug as a stimulant from slaughter animals for 14 days, instead of seven, according to a recent announcement from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The new withdrawal time is effective immediately.

Effective March 17, feeders will also be required to file a certificate stating that they have not fed DES to livestock in the 14 days prior to sale for slaughter. DES is a synthetic hormone used primarily on cattle and sheep to promote growth so animals reach slaughter weight more quickly at less cost. It is used according to label directions. DES can leave residues in slaughter animals. However, residues have been detected only in internal organs and not in muscle tissue. Federal law prohibits the marketing of meat from animals which have DES residues at the time of slaughter.

Fruits and Vegetables

There is a good market for fresh fruits and vegetables in Kentucky, according to UK Extension horticulturist, C. R. Roberts says most of the fresh market crop sold in Kentucky are brought in from other states. In fact, less than ten percent of the fresh fruits and vegetables sold in Kentucky supermarkets are grown in the state, according to Roberts.

Young's Pharmacy

Does your mouth water for homemade baked goods that you've given up for the more efficient commercial baking mixes, complete with preservatives and some artificial ingredients?

It's a misconception that will give you homemade quality and flavor with commercial mix speed. It can replace cake, biscuits, muffins, cookies, brownies and even pizza mixes, by reducing preparation time. After one mass production session, you'll have a basic "mix" for a half dozen or more bakings. And you won't have artificial anything.

Sift together until well mixed:

- 9 cups flour
- 1/2 cup baking powder
- 1 cup plus 2 tbsp. non-fat dry milk
- 4 tsp. salt

Cut in with pastry blender 1 1/2 cups vegetable shortening, until mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Store resulting 13 cups "mix" in tight jar or cans up to six weeks at room temperature. Or refrigerate. You might pre-measure two-cup portions into plastic bags or jars for even more efficient baking. Don't sift "mix" when using; stir lightly, spoon into measuring cup and level off with back of knife.

Use fruit juice, meat broth or water for liquid in recipes, since milk's already in the "mix."

In any regular recipe, substitute 1 1/2 cups "mix" for each cup flour called for; omit baking powder, salt and fat. Then proceed as normal. Here are some favorite recipes.

Fruit Pies
Add 1/2 cup water to two cups "mix." And stir 20 to 25 strokes; turn into lightly floured board and knead about 15 times. Roll dough thin as for pie crust. Cut five-inch circles. Put two tbsp. filling (any thick fruit or meat pie filling, applesauce to chili) on half of each circle, keeping filling away from outer edge. Fold dough over and press edges firmly with floured fork tines, so fat can't seep in. Fry in deep, hot fat (350 degrees) for 30 minutes, turning once. Or bake pies in 400-degree oven 18 to 20 minutes. Prick holes in top crust if baking, to let steam escape. Refrigerate leftover meat pies. Makes six pies.

Corn Fritters

Add 2 tsp. sugar to two cups "mix." Add one cup drained corn and mix well. Drop by teaspoonful into hot, deep fat (350 degrees), cooking eight minutes about 1 1/2 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper and serve piping hot. Makes twenty-four.

Health Tips...

Many Americans now take more kinds of medicine each year than most people used to take in a lifetime. We buy non-prescription drugs for minor symptoms; for more serious problems we take doctorprescribed medicines. Yet very few of us know any facts about how to take or possibly consequences.

So says a Food and Drug Administration leaflet, "We want you to know about prescription drugs. The leaflet cautions:

"Tell your doctor about any allergies or side effects you have from drugs you've taken, and what medicines you're now using. This helps him best prescribe for your medication needs."

"Remember, medicine isn't the answer to every health problem. All drugs are potentially harmful. So take them only when prescribed and needed.

"Don't stop taking a prescribed drug just because you're feeling better, unless your doctor tells you to. Prematurely ending a drug's action may prevent it from working completely, and you may have a relapse.

"Destroy prescription drugs you no longer need. Never let anyone else take your medicine."

Use washers instead of energy

Little drips from your faucet mean big dollars down the drain and wasted energy used to heat unneeded water.

A simple little thing like replacing worn washers in a faucet can save hundreds of gallons of water. How important is it? Heating water is the third greatest energy user in your home. Your Co-op can provide other saving ideas.

Electricity is too good to waste!

CAN AN ELECTRIC HEATING BILL BE HIGHER THAN NECESSARY?

If a new home isn't properly insulated. If you're planning to build a new home, remember that to make sure electric heat is economical you must keep it in your home. Heat that escapes through the roof, walls and floors is wasted. Waste you pay for. Making sure all the electric heat you buy stays in your new home requires proper insulation. That means, in top floor ceilings, at least R-24 (6 to 10 inches depending on the type of insulation used), 3-5/8 inches in the walls and under cold floors. That kind of insulation can cut heat loss in half, compared to an uninsulated home. Before you build, find out more about getting the full value of electric heating with proper insulation. Just call our nearest office. A qualified specialist will show you how to enjoy comfortable electric heat... economically.

Electricity... use it wisely.

HENDERSON: The Henderson family has written its name large in the annals of Rockcastle County. This branch of the family is descended from William Henderson who, with his brother Alexander, were both brought to America as Scottish Grenadiers by the British government for service in the Indian and Colonial Wars, well before the outbreak of the Revolution.

William Henderson was born in Scotland in the year 1699. He married Anna Logan, of Ayrshire, Scotland. They had a son, William, who married Martha Love in 1768. William and Martha Henderson had a son William, who married Ellen Clark, said to be a relative of George Rogers Clark, under whom William served as a Lieutenant in the capture of Cahokia and Vincennes. In an old letter held among the family papers, he tells of passing this way when returning to Virginia, after serving with Clark, and mentions killing a buffalo near the present site of Mt. Vernon. He was around this area in 1783 and 1784, according to Russell Dyche, in his history of Laurel County, Kentucky, employed in surveying for Virginia the Reserve Line, which was later a part of Rockcastle's boundary line when the county was surveyed and organized. There is a family tradition that he assisted in surveying the lines between Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia when Pinnacle Rock, above Cumberland Gap, was designated as a marker. He was married in Virginia in 1780 and in 1784 was settled here on a permanent basis and had surveyed for himself a one thousand acre grant of land, which was duly recorded in 1795. Coming with him and his family to Kentucky were Frederick Akes and the Graves brothers, James and William, who settled on Skeggs Creek and have many descendants in this area. Family tradition is to the effect that he built the first house in Mt. Vernon, later known as the Langford House, and sold it to Stephen Langford, who was living there at the time Rockcastle County was formed. He is said to have later named this house Mt. Vernon, from a fancied resemblance to George Washington's home, and that he suggested that the settlement growing up around it be named Mt. Vernon, which was officially done when it was made the county seat of the new county. He was also one of the group who decided that the county be named for its principal stream, the Rockcastle River.

He and his wife were parents of Patsy, William, Polly, and Sarah William, born in 1796, married Elizabeth Lewis, born in 1803, a sister of Rockcastle's first official settler, David Lewis. Their children were Matilda, Lucinda, William, Sarah, Mary, David, Elizabeth, Adam, Eliza and Rhoda. William, the father, served in the War of 1812, serving under General William Smith's company, the Kentucky Battalion of Mounted Volunteers, made up of Rockcastle troops, with Samuel Lewis as lieutenant. William Henderson was at the Battle of the Thames and saw the body of the noted Indian chief, Tecumseh, after he had been slain. He ever afterward held with those who believed that Tecumseh was killed by William Whitley, of near Crab Orchard, Kentucky, rather than by Col. Richard M. Johnson, who fought side by side with Whitley.

David, son of William and Elizabeth Lewis Henderson, born in 1835, married Arlene Elrod. They had four sons: William, born 1878, left no children. Charles, born 1881, married Garla Davis. They had two daughters, Ruthella and Doris. Walter, born in 1890, had two sons, Robert L. and David. John Davis (John D.) born in 1892, married Clyde Beatrice Watson. John D. and Clyde Watson Henderson were parents of John Davis, Jr., who married Woyce Moore Ritchie; Francis Ruth, who married James Franklin Pennington, retired; William Joseph, who married Ann Crawford Lair; David Watson, who married Betty Abney; William Joseph, Jr., son of William Joseph and Ann Lair Henderson is the seventh consecutive generation of Hendersons to be named William, covering a period of about three hundred (300) years.

This book, when published, will carry a more complete account of the career of Dr. John D. Henderson, outstanding citizen and benefactor of our county throughout a long and useful life.

The other branch of the Henderson family, the one descended from Alexander Henderson, is represented by James Henderson, long a citizen of Rockcastle County but in Fairfield Nursing Home in 1973 when he opened a correspondence with me after seeing one of this series of articles in the Mt. Vernon Signal. He was at that time eighty-eight years of age but possessed of a good memory and an interesting outlook on life.

He writes that his grandfather Andrew Jackson Henderson was lieutenant in Company F, of First Kentucky Cavalry, which saw action at the Battle of Wildcat Mountain. In 1868 he moved with his family to Rockcastle County, having purchased the farm on which George Burton now lives. He says that Andrew Jackson Henderson and his wife, Mary Ann, were charter members of the Mt. Zion Baptist Church at Oak Hill, and that Andrew Jackson Henderson was the first postmaster at Wildie, Kentucky. James writes that he, himself, was the first child born at Wildie.

James traces his ancestry back to Col. Richard Henderson, proprietor of Transylvania Company and Boonesboro, by stating that his grandfather, Andrew Jackson Henderson, was a son of John Henderson, a son of Col. Richard Henderson. I have been unable to trace this out fully, but in examining Col. Richard Henderson's will last year, in the office of the County Clerk of Granville County, North Carolina, I find that among the five children mentioned in the will a son named John appears to be somewhat favored in the division of the estate, involving several thousand acres of land, some of which is described as lying West of the Blue Ridge Mountains (part of it in Tennessee and involving his share in lands then owned by the Transylvania Company.)

I expect to show in the forthcoming book a side of Col. Richard Henderson differing somewhat from the way he has been pictured by most historians in writing of his land deal, involving such a large acreage of pioneer Kentucky - which was, by the way, probably the biggest real estate venture ever entered into by private enterprise in America, possibly the whole world. His purchasing the land from the Cherokee Indians, rather than attempting to take it by force, and his farsightedness in providing a Fort, at Boonesborough, for the protection of the earlier settlers, moved the settlement of Kentucky ahead by many years. Richard Henderson, coming from small beginnings and largely self educated, became a man of much prominence in his native North Carolina. He was a leading lawyer and served as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court before coming to Kentucky. One of his sons, Archibald, later became Chief Justice of North Carolina's Supreme Court. Rockcastle County may well be proud of any descendants of his line that have made their home here.

After graduation from Bible College and ministries in Kentucky, Tennessee, and North Carolina, the Davises made the decision in 1968 to go to Zambia, Africa to do evangelistic work. They were the first Christian Church missionaries to enter Nkhosi, Zambia in 1967. Their work has been to establish churches and train nationals for leadership within the churches, as well as evangelism among the Zambian people. In January, 1974, they went to the remote Northern Province of Zambia and pioneered evangelistic work in that area.

The Davises plan to return to Zambia in November, 1975. During their furlog, they are living at Knoxville, Tennessee.

Kenton Parkey, present minister of the Wildie Christian Church, invites everyone to come and renew old acquaintances with Bro. Davis, and to participate with them in the exciting days that lie ahead in the Law.

CONFERENCE ON "YOUR FOOD" SET FOR MARCH 24TH AT U.K.

Your food will there be enough in the future? Will you be able to get food? Who controls your food? What can you do about it?

The four questions will be examined March 24th at a Conference in the Sea Unity Center, located in the University of Kentucky's Agricultural Science Building North at the corner of South Limestone and Cooper Drive in Lexington.

The Conference is sponsored by the UK College of Agriculture and is entitled "Your Food." The purpose of the Conference is to examine the relationship between agriculture, food, and the consumer.

The Conference is scheduled to run from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on March 24th. Speakers on the morning program include Charles E. Barnhart, Dean of the UK College of Agriculture, Wallace Barr, agricultural economist at Ohio State University, Jan Armstrong, Consumer Economist at Purdue University, and William Manley of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service.

The afternoon program will consist of a panel discussion featuring a farmer, a processor, a retailer, and a consumer. Panel members will be Bob Wade, president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation; Willard R. Bishop, vice president for research of the Supermarket Institute; Thomas Wheeler, vice president for public affairs of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, and Mr. James W. Thornton, Fayette County Homemaker.

Everyone who is interested in the questions which will be presented to settle with all nations, which will culminate in the battle of Armageddon. This final battle is not a war between national groups of men, rather, a battle fought by angelic forces under the direction of his son Christ Jesus in Kingdom Power.

This battle is pursued to crush all worldly governments in opposition to God's Kingdom. Then those who survive that war will indeed see the salvation of Jehovah as did ancient Israel when Pharaoh's Egyptian army was drowned in the Red Sea as God's people pass safely on to dry land.

The public is invited to attend all sessions and no collection will be taken. *****

Jehovah's Witnesses To Hold Circuit Convention

The bi-annual circuit convention of Jehovah's Witnesses will be held in Middleboro, Kentucky High School Auditorium March 22-23, as announced by presiding overseer Kenneth Cox in Mt. Vernon.

Twelve hundred family delegates are expected to attend the two-day event. The delegates represent twenty two congregations in parts of Kentucky, Virginia and East Tennessee, which comprises Kentucky Circuit No. 4.

Mr. Cox stated, the main theme of the convention program is taken from the scripture 1 Peter 5:8 with the profound question to each delegate: "Have we kept our senses and been watchful?"

Mr. Cox said the purpose of the assembly program is to help each family member to be on guard against the designs of God's chief adversary, the Devil.

He added this is especially necessary now since we are living in the final days of Satan's rule, as world conditions worsen and persecution of Christ's true disciples increase, complete reliance in Jehovah and Christ Jesus will be the only means of survival.

One of the convention highlights will be the baptism of new Christians disciples. The baptism will be ordained Sunday at 9:15 a.m. W. J. Benner will give the ordination address.

Watchtower representative M. A. Bigelow will direct the assembly program presenting the assembly theme, "Exercising faith and reliance on Jehovah and his son Jesus Christ."

The main event will be Sunday March 23rd at 2 p.m. when W. J. Benner, Watchtower representative from international headquarters will present the featured address, entitled, "Stand Still and see the Salvation of Jehovah."

Mr. Cox said, this discussion will be of special interest to all who want to survive the destruction of this world's systems of government, that is soon to take place. He added that all worldly nations are feverishly seeking peace and security, while at the same time preparing for war. This shows they have overlooked the real issue, thinking it is only an issue between blocs of nations. But the Bible shows that God has a controversy to settle with all nations, which will culminate in the Women's Missions Organization of the Rockcastle Baptist Association, in their recent quarterly meeting, passed a Resolution to uphold and remember the County Officials in Prayer, realizing their responsibility to uphold the Law. We desire the Prayers of all God-fearing People. *****

Inflation Fighting Ideas

It's possible to cook food faster and better while using less heat and energy. This oven roasts in two-thirds the time, broils with no turning necessary and bakes picture perfect foods.

The Turbo-Oven from Farberware works by continuously recycling heated air. It operates on standard household current, needs no special wiring, is portable, cleans itself and has a timer that shuts off the oven and signals that the food is ready.

One of the traditional dishes you can create with the Turbo-Oven is a Caraway Pot Roast. On a 4 lb rump roast put 1 Tbsp caraway seed, 2 tsp salt, 1/4 tsp pepper. Place in 5-qt Farberware Turbo-Oven; cook 2 hours. Remove; add 3 sweet potatoes, peeled and halved. Cook, covered, 30 mins. Add 6 cabbage wedges; cook 30 mins. Remove meat and vegetables. Mix 1/4 cup water and 2 Tbsp flour. Stir into gravy, heat until thickened. Serves 4 to 6.

"ANGER IN CHILDREN"

"Anger may be thought of as a redoubled energy. Like any energy-electricity, the atom bomb, and such - it may be used for constructive or destructive purposes, but it is not an evil in itself. The trick is to show the child how to keep his anger under reasonable control and how to use it constructively."

"All of us are aware that children are more affected by adult behavior than by adult preachings. We may cancel our postage stamps with a slogan that reads 'Pray for Peace,' but at the same time we practice wars of 'pacification' that are brought into the homes of our children in living color."

"Children become angry when they are physically or psychologically threatened or when they are thwarted or frustrated in the fulfillment of their wishes."

"Frustrations are part of life, and children need help in learning how to cope with them. With help, the child can gradually learn to tolerate greater and greater amounts of frustrations, but this is accomplished gradually."

"Although there may be one single cause of anger, severe or chronic anger is more often the result of an accumulation of several anger-producing factors in a child's life. That's why it is imperative that we try to discover what these factors are."

"The child who expresses his anger freely and openly but who does not hurt anybody may not have a heavy burden of anger; whereas a 'mousy' child who does not speak up has a heavy load of anger."

"Anger, although usually initiated by psychological factors, is essentially a physical reaction. The equilibrium of the bodily functions may be disturbed in a variety of ways. Thus, when we try to talk to an angry child, we must remember that we are talking to a person whose body and mind are in an abnormal state."

"We should work with the child not only on the cognitive level, but on the emotional unconscious level as well."

"A nonjudgmental, patient, and humanitarian approach is the safest and most promising way to handle anger in children."

1975 National Wildlife Week Proclamation

Whereas, the wildlife bestowed by Nature upon our world has ever been a source of beauty, inspiration, and enjoyment to the people of Rockcastle County; and

LEAD POISONING PREVENTION TIPS

Children can die from "pica," an unusual craving to eat paint, clay chalk or similar substances. They also can die from accidentally tasting these substances, since many of them contain lead. Being highly toxic, can cause brain damage and sometimes death.

The 1974 General Assembly took action to help stop lead poisoning in Kentucky by passing a statewide prevention program. This program provides for prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of lead poisoning. The law also provides for research, educational epidemiological and clinical activities relating to lead poisoning. The Department for Human Resources' Bureau for Health Services is responsible for administering the program.

March 16-22 is Poison Prevention Week. DHR has provided some general rules to help prevent lead poisoning:

- *Give children safe objects to chew;
- *Use only interior paints inside the home;
- *Scrape peeling paint and plaster chips from the walls and sweep them into a garbage can;
- *Use unleaded paint or stalin coats on furniture and household toys;
- *Improperly glazed ceramic ware may be a source of lead poisoning. Hobbyists should be familiar with the lead content used in glaze.

For further information on lead poisoning or other poison prevention contact DHR's office of Pesticides and Consumer Safety, 864-4537.

County Road Repair For Unincorporated Areas Defined - Rep. James B. Yates of Louisville asked whether or not taxes on motor fuels could be used to repair roads in unincorporated areas of Jefferson County.

These roads have not been accepted into the county road system, although some have been in use for 15 to 30 years. It is the opinion of this office that revenue from such taxes may not be used for road repair anywhere other than an "unincorporated urban place" of 2,500 population so designated by the 1970 census. There are, however, two ways an area can gain help before the 1980 census and they are (1) to incorporate the area, which would make it eligible for benefits at the beginning of the second fiscal year following its incorporation, and (2) to get the fiscal court to accept the roads as county roads.

Grant and Loan Approved For Western Water District

A loan of $683,000 has been approved for the Western Rockcastle Water Association, Inc., plus a grant in the amount of $350,000 to extend service to eight communities now without water service, according to a recent announcement by Congressman Tim Lee Carter.

Congressman Carter said that the Farmers Home Administration agreed Friday to provide the money to pay for installing sixty-five miles of distribution lines, two storage tanks and five master meters. The extended service area would include the communities of Wadd, Level Green, Pine Hill, Quail and Willalla in Rockcastle County; Bee Lick in Pulaski and Broughtontown and Dog Walk in Lincoln County.

Approximately 450 customers will be served by the water system and the new facilities have been planned for future growth, the Congressman added.

Congressman Carter also said, "Residents in these communities should be assured of a good and efficient water supply as a result of this expansion, and I am pleased to see the loan and grant approved." The loan to the Association is to be repaid in forty (40) years at an interest rate of five percent (5%).

COUNTY TO SHARE IN RURAL SECONDARY ROAD PROGRAM.....

Governor Julian M. Carroll and Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts announced that the 1975-76 Rural Secondary Program for Rockcastle will include Rockcastle County. The county's anticipated share of Rural Secondary funds for the year beginning July 1st is $240,683.

The program selected provides maintenance for 75.6 miles of Rural Secondary roads. It also authorizes backstop resurfacing for 3.5 miles of Ky. 1912, the Brush Creek-Orlando - Cruise Ridge Road; initial backstop surfacing for 1.6 miles of Ky. 1004, the Brush Creek Road, 0.6 mile of the Ottawa School Road, and 0.8 mile of the Jopp Cash Road; and grading, drainage, and stone for 0.8 mile of Ky. 1797, the Cooksburg-Johnetta Road.

The Rural Secondary Program is supported to two cents of the Commonwealth's motor fuel tax. It originated in 1948 when the General Assembly recognized the need to improve farm-to-market and other rural roads. To insure fair distribution among the various counties, an enacted a statutory formula in 1962. This formula, which takes rural population, rural area, and rural road mileage into account, determines each county's share.

KU Asks 13.6% Increase Already Approved By Commission

"Kentucky Utilities Company is in a period of crisis," KU President William A. Duncan told the Kentucky Public Service Commission Wednesday in seeking a 13.6 percent increase in the electric rates which the Commission authorized in July, 1974.

The proposed new rates would produce additional annual revenues of $16.2 million, and would cost the average residential customer about $1.92 a month, Duncan said.

To minimize impairment of its credit and operations, the Company also is asking for an interim increase of about $9.1 million, pending a final decision by the Commission.

Citing operating expenses that increased $44 million in 1974, an earnings drop of almost 50 percent from 1973, and the need to borrow more than $250 million in the next five years to keep up with expected system growth, KU officials told the Commission that the $16.2 million was the minimum necessary to attract the capital required to pay for essential expansion of the system.

Duncan pointed out that the company would require more than $68 million during the next five years to install environmental protective equipment mandated by government standards. This is in addition, he said, to $14 million which the Company has already spent on such equipment. He added that the cost to the Company to own and operate environmental protection equipment will be about $14.5 million annually and that its operation will consume more than 40,000 kilowatts of power, nearly half the total output of the 100,000 kilowatt generating unit at the E. W. Brown Station.

KU also told the Commission that because earnings have been so seriously eroded by the inadequacy of present rates the Company had been warned that its bond rating could be reduced from double A to single A resulting in higher interest costs that could be increased as much as $50 million over the life of the bonds required through 1979.

The rates proposed by KU should encourage conservation of energy and minimize the impact of the increase on lower use consumers, J. W. Bradley, vice president for rates, said in his opening testimony. Bradley said the new rates proposed to lower the fuel adjustment factor in the fuel clause to reflect improved system efficiency. KU asked the PSC for permission to put the rates into effect on April 21, 1975.

Duncan told the PSC that beginning in December that the company had been forced to defer nearly $6 million in essential construction, operating and maintenance expenditures with the full knowledge that service will be affected and that the cost to perform the deferred work later will be increased. He said that KU has declined to commit about $500,000 to the electric industry's 1975 research and development program unless the Company obtains rates adequate to fund that commitment.

"The cost of the new rates to our customers is relatively significant in comparison with the overall benefit they will receive through our obtaining funds needed to continue furnishing reliable service."

KU serves 294,000 customers in seventy Kentucky counties. A comparison of typical 1974 electric bills, including fuel adjustments, for presently approved and proposed urban residential rates in KU's application showed:

Monthly Use	Present Rate	Proposed Rate	Approved Rate
Minimum Bill	$1.39	$1.34	$1.34
250 KWH	$9.74	$8.83	$8.83
400 KWH	$13.57	$12.24	$12.24
1000 KWH	$24.62	$21.87	$21.87

Frankfort Watchline

Gene Stuart is out, Robert Gable is in, and it looks like the chance of a robust primary for the Republican nomination for governor is rapidly diminishing. The fireworks took place before Gable even made his announcement Saturday. After yet another week of indecision, State Senator Stuart of Louisville decided Friday to bow out of the race.

"They auction it off to the highest bidder," Stuart said in an interview earlier in the week when it became apparent Gable had committed himself to the race. For several weeks, Stuart had thought he had most of the support of the Republican hierarchy on his team. Gable had, for a time, taken himself out of the picture and GOP leaders were unashamedly dropping Stuart's name all over the state.

It was something they had to do. Stuart, whose name recognition is virtually nil outside of Louisville, would have to have had a tremendous campaign, and an expensive one. Gable, on the other hand, can start with both name recognition and money.

Stuart's remark about auctioning off the nomination to the guy with the most money was made bitterly and perhaps a bit unwisely, but there is more than a grain of truth to the statement.

Gable's personal wealth, deriving mostly from the family-owned Stearns Coal and Lumber Company, adds a great deal to his attractiveness as a candidate. He will not have to work as hard as Stuart building name recognition among the voters. He was Farley, Commissioner, under then Gov. Louis B. Nunn, and then turned around and ran against Nunn to see which of them would face Senator Walter (Dee) Huddleston in the race for the U.S. Senate.

Gable was soundly thrashed by Nunn, but Gable's burning if not eloquent oratory left its mark.

With Stuart out of the picture, it will be interesting to see if any other strong candidate squares off against the coal baron to make a strong, publicity-getting primary.

It would seem that the GOP would this year, more than ever, be looking toward orchestrating a high-profile primary of their own in light of the publicity the Democrats will be developing.

There appears to be a new day coming for the Kentucky General Assembly, at least insofar as new faces are concerned.

At little risk of being wrong, it looks likely that the large turnover among members of the House and Senate will be even greater than usual this year. Some of that is due to Lt. Gov. Julian Carroll. Last week, Carroll tapped Rep. Richard Lewis to come on his administration team, having already extracted Terry McBrayer and Ralph Ed Graves and a host of former legislators. As noted last week, the Eastern Kentucky leadership has been bowing out with some regularity, and House Majority Leader John Swinford announced last week he would not run for reelection.

Some incumbents are already facing some strong opposition, and this includes some entrenched Republicans. While the GOP figures their 20 percent share of the House to be rock bottom, it's doubtful anything for granted at this stage of the game.

Some observers are predicting as much as a 50 percent turnover in the House for this coming session. Since many of those not returning will be veterans, and since most of the leadership will be disappearing, it could be a good session for freshmen.

This is a little non-political side-light that's just too hard to resist.

The latest edition of the University of Louisville faculty newspaper contains a help wanted ad for an assistant manager of the school's news bureau: "fictional writing, news writing and rewriting skills necessary."

4th Annual National Easter Seal Telethon

Crippled children and adults over Kentucky and America will benefit from contributions to the fourth annual National Easter Seal Telethon, Saturday and Sunday, March 28 and 29.

The Telethon, to raise funds for professional service to help disabled children and adults, will be broadcast live from Los Angeles, California.

Five of the more than forty stations to broadcast the special show are in Kentucky, Ohio and West Virginia. They include WKYT-TV, Channel 27, Lexington; WKYE-TV, Channel 57, Hazard; WKRC-TV, Channel 12 in Cincinnati; WSAZ-TV, Channel 3 in Huntington, West Virginia; and WHLT-TV, Channel 11 in Johnson City, Tennessee.

Viewers of the telethon in Mt. Vernon and nearby areas will be able to call in their pledges by telephoning 256-2825 at Mt. Vernon, according to Mrs. Wayne Stewart, chairman of the Easter Seal telethon, for Rockcastle County.

Each of the television stations will give reports on progress of funds contributed to the telethon for crippled children periodically and will announce pledges called in to local telethon pledge centers. More than forty local pledge centers will be manned by Easter Seal volunteers in Kentucky. The telethon broadcast will begin at 11:30 p.m. at most of the stations.

Volunteer members of the Kentucky Army National Guard during the same weekend will be asking the traveling public to contribute to the Easter Seal Campaign. Hundreds of the National Guardsmen will be manning collection points at normal traffic interruptions all over the state. Last year, the Kentucky Army National Guard's Easter Seal Campaign raised more than $108,000.

Peter Falk, national Easter Seal campaign chairman and star of TV's "Columbo" series will be host emcee for the telethon.

Social Security Earnings Report Due by April 15

People under 72 who earned over $2,400 and got one or more months of disability security retirement, dependent, or survivors checks in 1974 must submit an annual report of their earnings to social security by April 15, according to social security officials here.

The report shows how much was earned in wages and self-employment income last year by people who also receive social security payments—as well as how much they expect to earn this year.

"The report will be used to determine if people were paid the correct amount of social security benefits for 1974," a spokesman said. "It will also be used to adjust their monthly 1975 social security payments according to their estimated earnings."

Full social security benefits could be paid to eligible people in 1974 if they earned $2,400 or less for the year. But no matter how much they earned for the year, they could be paid their full social security benefits for any month they earned $200 or less and didn't do substantial work in their own business.

The figures for 1975 are $2,520 for the year and $210 a month.

"People who file an annual report late or don't file one that's due will suffer a penalty," the spokesman said.

People who were 72 or over in all months of 1974 don't need to file an annual report of their earnings.

"If you have questions about the annual report or need an earnings report form, call or write any social security office," the spokesman said.
