Fiscal Court Meets...

Kenneth York, representative of the Resource Conservation and Development Project met with Fiscal Court at their regular monthly meeting Tuesday and requested their support for the project. Mr. York explained to the Magistrates that this resolution in no way obligated the Court to any specific project but was rather a formality required for approval of any projects which RECD might wish approved. Mr. York further explained to the Court that the only way in which the Court would be obligated for funds would be if the Court should decide to sponsor a specific program for Rockcastle County.

The Court voted unanimously to voice their support of RECD by means of adopting the resolution. Edgar Galloway and Mark McKinney, of the Department of Human Resources, were also before the Court to discuss the establishing of care centers for juvenile offenders. Mr. Calloway pointed out to the Court that it was state law that juvenile offenders should not be housed within sight or sound of adult offenders. He also told the Court that although there is at present no money available to help build these centers, the Bureau of Social Services could help establish these centers in form of a "Purchase of Care" program which could make a $100 monthly payment to the Center plus $4 per day for each child housed. Mr. Calloway also said that there would be a need of two such centers since it would be necessary to keep separate juvenile offenders separated from "aggressive and violent" types of juvenile offenders.

He told the Court that there was a possibility that some minor renovation could be made at the present county jail which would temporarily provide space for the housing of one type of juvenile offender. Mr. McKinney told the Court that the Department of Human Resources was presently screening people in the hope of coming up with an older couple whose home could be used as a juvenile care center for ordinary juvenile offenders such as runaways, etc.

The Court agreed to study the situation. Larry Thompson, a field representative for the Kentucky Association of Counties, was also before the Court asking for their membership in his Association which is a lobbying group with the Kentucky Legislature for county officials throughout the state.

Mr. Thompson said that his organization represented all county officials with the legislature in the matter of lobbying for higher fees, retirement benefits, etc. Mr. Thompson told the Court that the membership dues in this organization was $100 per year but that he had been authorized to set Rockcastle's fee at $50.00 for the remainder of 1975.

However, after little discussion, a motion was made by Magistrate Danny Sargent, and seconded by Magistrate Chester Whitaker, not to participate in the Association. Magistrates Boone Cromer and Ernest Mason did not vote on the motion.

Delno McClure, Dog Warden, presented his report for February to the Court with the following information: 24 licenses sold, seven dogs picked up and six destroyed.

In other action, the Court heard Hospital Director Bill Bailey explain the second step for the county's participation in a regional program to obtain funds for operation of a local ambulance service and for the purchase of communications equipment for the Hospital. Mr. Bailey told the Court that a plan had been drawn up and submitted to Frankfort for approval and that now there was needed a resolution from the Fiscal Court showing the Court's interest in the Project. Mr. Bailey assured the Court that there was nothing binding at all with the adoption of this resolution and that it was an endorsement of the program only, which would, hopefully, facilitate approval of the program at Frankfort.

Should the program gain approval at Frankfort and the County decide to participate, Mr. Bailey said the county would receive two ambulances bought on a 75% 25% matching fund basis. Of course, the Hospital could also purchase communication equipment on the same basis, but Mr. Bailey assured the Court that any equipment purchased for the Hospital, they (the hospital) would furnish the 25% in matching funds themselves. The Court unanimously approved the resolution.

In other business, the Court, by a vote of 3-2, approved the transfer of $4,600 from the Environmental Protection funds to three of the Magistrates' road accounts, $1,000 each, and $1,600 to the Zeller's account for supplies.

This motion followed some discussion and disagreement among the Magistrates because Magistrate Danny Sargent objected to the fact that only Districts 2, 4 and 5 would share in the additional funds while his District and that of Magistrate Chester Whitaker would not receive any additional funds. Magistrate Ernest Mason, who made the motion, explained that due to the heavy rains and the number of roads that were in his district and those of Magistrates Boone Cromer and Bill Wren, their districts were out of road money and did not have funds to repair roads and bridges damaged by the heavy rains in March. However, Mr. Mason said that Mr. Sargent and Mr. Whitaker's Districts still had funds available and he saw no reason, at this time, to transfer money to their accounts while they still had funds available. Mr. Mason said further that should these two districts run out of money then he would certainly be willing to do all he could to help find extra money for road work.

On the motion, Magistrates Mason, Cromer and Wren voted yes while Magistrates Sargent and Whitaker voted no. One other item of business was brought before the Court when Magistrate Ernest Mason brought to the attention of the

Frankfort Watchline

A little simple mathematics can sometimes be depressing. Everybody knows power and gas bills are up. While the arguments about who is profiting the most from the increases are diverse, it can be said with a great deal of certainty that there is one windfall going to state government.

That five per cent sales and use tax applies to utility bills as well, and generally overlooked state figures show a 24 percent increase in revenue from the tax on utility bills so far this fiscal year.

Through the eight months ending in February, the most recent month for which statistics are available, the state has collected $23.6 million off utility bills alone, up from $18.4 million for the same period last year.

Paul Tanner, a staffer in research department of the Department of Revenue, says it is reasonable to compare that a 24 percent increase in state collections indicates a 24 percent increase in total billing.

Here is where the simple math comes in handy.

Using the state figure of $18.9 million through the eight months ending in February of last year, utility consumers paid about $37.8 million for electric gas and water.

Using the higher state figure for the first eight months of the current fiscal year, consumers have already paid $47.2 million, and Tanner said the flow of collections coming in from the utility companies is still on the rise.

That means Kentuckians have paid close to $10 million more this year than last, or a little more to the point, something in the neighborhood of $30 extra for every man, woman and child in the Commonwealth.

Or, based on the average family unit we're talking about $100 plus per household this year so far.

Since the utility company tax year runs through the end of

May, you can add in your March, April and May bills to the $100 and come up with an average increase for the year.

Of course, all of it isn't that simple, and the figure will just be an average. Rural customers apparently took the brunt of the big increase. In some areas, customers of rural electric cooperatives were paying power bills that matched or exceeded their mortgage payments at the peak of the high prices.

Just as average consumer bills can be misleading, it is somewhat misleading to say that the entire increase in state revenue collected in Frankfort was a true windfall. The state pays utility bills, too, and these were up.

Many areas have another tax they pay on utilities, a school tax. Since this is an optional tax, it is practically impossible to determine how much that one is costing the consumers, but it is reflected as a part of the total increase in utility sales tax revenue.

Just a few days ago, the attorney general's office upheld the right of a utility company to charge the five percent tax on the sum of the annual one penny tax, describing the school tax as part of the expenses of the power. Although it doesn't add much that tax on a tax, it does sort of add insult to injury.

Individual consumers aren't the only ones faced with paying the taxes. Schools with their tight budgets and other frozen revenue sources, have to pay the sales taxes, too, which, superintendents, have been among the loudest voices before the Public Service Commission about high fuel bills and especially about having to pay taxes with tax money.

State legislators are finally getting around to the right of utility consumers and schools. One doyenbook of a legislative interim committee meeting has already transpired and more are scheduled.

It would come as no great surprise to see several bills before the next General Assembly geared to relieving

questions and answers

Q. My neighbor is severely disabled so it's very difficult for her to do any housework. She can't afford to hire someone because her only income is a supplemental security income payment. Is there some place she can get help?

A. States provide social services to people getting supplemental security income payments. These services can include help with household chores, meal preparation, laundry, and marketing. Tell your neighbor to contact your local public assistance office for more information.

Q. My mother is 81 and can no longer care for herself. I can't stay with her because I work. If I put her in a nursing home, will Medicare help pay for her care?

A. Medicare does not cover custodial care, such as help in walking, getting in and out of bed, bathing, dressing, eating, and taking medicine. Medicare does help pay for post-hospital care in a skilled nursing facility under certain conditions. For more information, consult your mother a copy of Your Medicare Handbook. If she doesn't have a copy, call or write any social security office.

HOME LINE

Beef Is A Bargain

Compared to prices early last year, beef is a bargain today. Specialists with the Agricultural Marketing Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture say that beef is in record supply for this time of the year. And retail prices have been declining, while the consumer index for food overall has been rising.

Lower grades of beef arranged in large measure for the heavy beef supply. This suggests a good time to vary your meals as well as a good time to replenish our supplies.

To prevent waste in cooking beef, turn down the heat. Low heat is the secret to successful and dollar-saving meat cookery. High temperatures often shrink a roast and rob it of its juiciness. Cook it right. Tender cuts are usually prepared by dry heat. Round, chuck, brisket or flank usually call for braising or simmering in liquid. Beef informed on cuts of meat and knowledgeable in the appropriate methods of preparing the cuts you choose.

Make left-over cooked beef pay off. Freeze for a second-time-around dinner, freeze a few "convenience" dinners of your own, or use it in hot beef sandwiches or meat pies.

Family Beef Loaf

2 lbs. ground beef
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
1 egg
1 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
1/3 cup chopped green pepper
2 medium sized onions, chopped
3/4 cup finely crushed cracker crumbs
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. paprika
1/4 cup catsup

Combine ground beef, tomato sauce, egg, Worcestershire sauce, green pepper, onions, cracker crumbs, salt and pepper. Mix lightly but thoroughly. Shape meat mixture into a loaf approximately 9" x 4" x 3" and place on a rack in an open roasting pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350°) F. for one hour and fifteen minutes. Pour catsup over top of beef loaf and continue baking ten to fifteen minutes or until done. Makes six to eight servings.

Planked Porterhouse

2 Porterhouse steaks, cut 1 1/2 inches thick
Salt and pepper
3 to 4 cups hot seasoned mashed potatoes
2 pkgs. (10 oz. each) frozen mixed vegetables, cooked

1 tbsp. butter
Set regulator for broiling. Place steaks on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so top surface of steaks is four to five inches from heat. If the steak is to be served rare, broil top surface fifteen minutes, season, turn and broil five minutes for rare, eight minutes for medium. Transfer steak to an oiled wooden plank. Tube or spoon mashed potatoes around edge of broiler. Combine hot cooked mixed vegetables with butter and fill in spaces between steaks and potatoes with them. Return to broiler for four to five minutes.

"FISCAL COURT"

Court the fact that there was only money enough left in the garbage collection account to operate that service for two more weeks.

Magistrate Mason told the Court that he has the feeling that the Court should be laying some long-term plans now to purchase or lease a dump site in case Revenue Sharing funds are cut in the near future - and it now looks as if that will happen.

No motion was made on the matter; instead, the Court decided to meet again in two weeks and hear a report from Magistrate Chester Whitaker concerning the possibility of purchasing or leasing a dump site and discontinuing the garbage collection service.

"RAMBLINGS"

NCAA Tournament in San Diego.

The Cats are really something to be proud of, though. They lost and it seemed for a while that they might not come up Tuesday morning if it did, surprisingly enough but they fought hard and came a long way to get to the finals - even beating the No. 1 team in the nation to do so.

I haven't actually described but I may see somebody for the heart failure I almost experienced in the Indiana game. I was quite so bad, since I seemed to have some freebodings there but I was confident going into the Indiana game; and the surprise was almost too much.

But, to get back to what I originally intended to say...I was extremely proud to see that the Wildcat fans turned out in the thousands to welcome the boys back to Kentucky. I think that is so terribly important to any athlete to know that we appreciate his efforts whether he wins or loses. I was kind of disappointed during our own recent district and regional tournament to hear some of the fans put down the players for not winning. I know, as does everyone else know, who follows the games, that those boys and the Coach were giving 100% of their effort. Maybe they did have a game not up to their potential but at the same time those games were being played there was not a fan in the gym who wanted to win as badly as did those boys and they played to the best of their ability on that night.

If you notice, you sort of get philosophical about this sort of when you have a son interested in sports and I can't think of anything more heartbreaking to a parent than to sit among hometown fans and see their son make an error and hear him berated - quite violently at times - by the fans.

Oh, well. I'll climb off my soapbox for a while and go back Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander and Mrs. Ann Morton (Cont. to p. 9)

questions and answers

Q. I'm going to take my 65-year-old aunt and uncle to apply for supplemental security income payments. What documents should they take with them?

A. They should take their birth or baptismal certificates, checkbooks, savings account books, stocks and bonds, life insurance policies, auto registration cards, latest real estate tax statements, last year's income tax returns and W-2 forms, evidence of all other income, and their social security cards.

Q. I know Medicare helps pay most hospital and doctor bills, but what are some of the things that it doesn't cover?

A. Medicare does not pay for custodial care, drugs and medicines you buy yourself with or without a doctor's prescription, routine eye and hearing examinations, home-maker services and meals delivered to your home, preventive medicine such as routine physical checkups, and certain other services. Your Medicare Handbook contains a list of services and supplies Medicare does not cover.

Q. I want to apply for the medical insurance payment under Medicare. Do I have to send in anything other than a claim form?

A. Ask your doctor to complete Part II of the Request for Medicare Payment form or to give you an itemized bill to send with it. An itemized bill must show the date you received the services, the place you received them, a description of the services, the nature of your illness or injury (diagnosis), the charge for each service, and your name and health insurance claim number.

Gardening Tips from Extension Specialists at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture

For those who have never grown a garden before and are thinking about doing so this year, this is what can reasonably be expected from the effort—expected, that is, if the job is handled the right way. For beginners, it is a good idea to contact the local county Extension agent and follow his advice on the best gardening practices.

First to be expected are better tasting vegetables. No matter how varied the assortment of how pretty the vegetables may look on display in the market, those from the home garden are better. First to be expected are better tasting vegetables. No matter how varied the assortment of how pretty the vegetables may look on display in the market, those from the home garden are better.

Since we eat not only to sustain life, but also for the pleasure of eating, the home gardener should confine his plantings only to vegetable varieties he likes, those his family likes, and to those definitely suited to the size of his garden plot, according to Roberts. A gardener with a small plot of land probably wouldn't plant pumpkin or sweet potatoes. Also since they do not lose eating or nutritional qualities very rapidly, a gardener with a limited plot wouldn't plant such crops as onions, Irish potatoes, or winter cabbage. He would be better off to buy those vegetables at the marketplace and give his land over to more perishable type vegetables.

With a small piece of land and the ability and willingness to meet a few simple requirements, anybody can have a home garden and expect to get from it vegetables of better taste and quality and at a cheaper price.

Clifford Pittman, Chief of Mt. Vernon City Police, was selected Lions Club "Citizen of the Week" at the regular meeting of the Mt. Vernon Lions Club, held March 29th.

Chief Pittman was selected because of his many years as a city policeman, but more especially because of his devotion to the children of the Mt. Vernon Elementary School in directing traffic for their safety.

In the Lions Club letter to Chief Pittman, the Club noted that he had been on the City Police force for more than thirty (30) years and had directed traffic for the children on most of his duty days.

The Club also noted that Chief Pittman had recently been offered a more favorable working schedule with the city, but had refused the new schedule because he preferred to continue directing traffic for the children, showing his devotion he felt for the children.

Chief Pittman was selected before the recent accident at which Mr. Pittman was injured on the job.

This New Polyester Cord Tire Helps Hold The Line On Price

$1.50
B78-13 blackwall plus $1.88 F.E.T. and old tire

All-Weather 78

Goodyear's new All-Weather 78 is built with polyester cord that's first temper in an exclusive Goodyear process to set the cord at optimum strength and resiliency. The wide 78-series tread is "reverse molded," a technique borrowed from race tire production. In reverse molding, the contour of the tread surface is slightly concave as it comes from the mold—so that when the tire is inflated, the tread makes full, flat contact with the road. And the rib-type tread design is well grooved, with plenty of traction edges to provide decisive grip. In every detail, this new All-Weather 78 gives you honest quality at a price that's in step with the time.

$2285 F78-14 blackwall
$2385 G78-14 blackwall
$2490 G78-15 blackwall
Plus $2.32 to $2.69 F.E.T., depending on size, and old tire. Whitealls available in most sizes at slightly higher prices.

Rockcastle Recollections

By John Lahr

SINGLETON: Major Lawrence Singleton served as an officer under General Marion, "The Swamp Fox" of the Revolution. He lived on Rock Creek, a tributary of the Yachin River in North Carolina. He married Tamsey Maret, the daughter of a French nobleman who was a brother to Josepene Maret, wife of Napoleon Bonaparte.

Three descendants of Major Singleton and his wife, Tamsey, came to Ky. in 1786. Philip Paul settled in Clay County; James Egbert built the first tavern on the old State Road, near Bearcreek, Rock Great Saltpere Cave. The road went through a low place in the mountain for many years known as Singleton Gap, in the vicinity of what is still known as Singleton Valley. The third brother, Daniel Mason Singleton, settled in Lincoln County, near Crab Orchard.

The Rockcastle branch of the Singleton family are descendants of James Egbert Singleton and his wife, Margaret Crawford. They had three sons, Maret, Daniel and Mason. There were two girls, who moved with their brother, Mason, to Missouri and settled there, and Maret married Tish Jarrell and they settled in Singleton Valley. After the Kentucky Legislature passed the Homestead Act in 1840 he patented several tracts of land nearby. Their children were: Philip, Richard, Tamsey, Maretiah and Margaret Ann. Daniel Singleton died during the winter of 1855-56 from exposure. He is buried near Boone Spring, in the garden of the C. A. Mullins place, near the log house he built there.

Philip Singleton married Margaret Ann Fish. They had five boys and four girls. Tamsey Maretiah Singleton married Morgan Forbes. They had two sons, Daniel and Sherman, and a daughter who married Tom Jim Ballard and they were parents of Matt, Wade and Bennett Ballard. Matt becoming one of the country's most popular politicians and office holders. Margaret Ann married Adam Griffin and they raised a large family.

Phillip Singleton married Margaret Ann Fish. They had five boys and four girls; Sarah Ann, who married James Henry Mullins; Margaret, who married Gilvey Black; Lou Nettie, who married Chesley Payne; Mary Susan, who married Willis Allen; William, killed at the Battle of Chattanooga; Jason, who died of yellow fever in Andersonville Prison; Philip Paul (Pleasant), who lived in Singleton Valley all his life; Gren, who also spent his entire lifetime there; James Egbert, a railroadier, who lived most of his life in Livingston, Ky.

Richard Singleton married Susan Wheeler and they made their home for most of their lives in Rockcastle County. Their children were: Daniel Mason, James Maret, Squire Richard, Sherman buried in Texas; Monroe, who married Dona Langford; Willis, who married Jane Clark; Mary, who married Pink Langford; Angeline, married Spencer Large; Maretiah, who married Charlie Thomas.

David Singleton, son of James Maret Singleton, is a grandson of Richard Singleton, great grandson of Phillip Singleton and great-great-grandson of James Egbert Singleton and of three Singleton brothers who came to Kentucky from North Carolina in 1786. David, who now lives in Tarrion, Ohio, was born and reared in the Great Saltpere Cave region and probably knows more about that section of the country than anyone now living. He has been of much help to me in the preparation of this history of Rockcastle County.

MARET: James Maret, Rockcastle County's most illustrious citizen to wear the family name, was not a native of the county, being born in Garrard County, near Lancaster, Kentucky, on August 6, 1856. His father was George S. Maret, who married Eliza Smith, a daughter of the late John Smith. Her sister, Gladia, married Mitchell Maret. James Maret's grandfather, Jacky Maret, came from Tarboro, North Carolina, to Garrard County, Ky. in 1797 and died there in 1863. James Maret went with his father's family to Columbus, Texas, in 1872, coming back to Kentucky in 1876. He had, in the meantime, learned telegraphy and came to Mt. Vernon as telegraph operator and rail road agent for the I. & N., an office which he held for twenty years. His outstanding achievements in other fields during that time are noted in a special article on him elsewhere in this volume. He had one son, Lloyd.

James Maret's brother's sister, as mentioned above, married Mitchell Maret, presumably the Mitchell Maret who built what was known as the old Maret home which stood near the present Maret Cemetery on the ridge between Buckeye and Wilde, Ky. At the early corners to the section progressed, they were able to replace the pole cabins which sheltered them by the more imposing two-story buildings of hewed logs, with huge stone chimneys. The stone work in the chimneys of the old Maret home stood for many years after the old home was gone and were the finest examples of such masonry that I have ever seen. The old house occupied a most attractive location and was surrounded by ample lawn, orchard, garden and outbuildings. The numerous slave cabins stood in a spot below the house and many of their former inmates are buried in the big cemetery, which is now one of the best kept rural cemeteries in the county.

Alvah Maret, who lived over the place after his father's death, married Sarah Hunt, daughter of the former Charlotte Hiatt whose parents were William Peaslee Hiatt and his wife, the former

Sarah Bailey, Sarah and Alvah's children were: Charlotte, Wade, Martha Jane (Deale), Ella, Belle, Maggie and a son called "Buck."

Wade married W. H. Jones of Wilde. Their children were Lena, Harry, Willie, Martin, Belle and Ollie. Lena married Dr. Robert Lawrie, a young doctor from Tennessee who established practice in Wilde. They had two daughters, Beulah and Lena. Beulah married C. G. Stewart. There were no children; Willie Jones, who became a doctor, married Beis D'Ambar and they were parents of Arbor, Katherine and Mary Lee. Belle never married.

Deale Maret married Tommy French. They had five children: Willie, who died young; Bessie, who married Santford Coffey and had nine children. They were Hester, Hazel, Irene, Lucy, Tea, William Lewis, Johnny, Glenn, Lucille and Laverne; Johnny who married Stella Adams and had three daughters: Ruth, Beatrice and Louise.

Ella Maret married Jones Fish. Their children were: Daisy, who married Floyd Miller. Their children were Julia Floyd, who married Taylor and had children; Willie, who married Dorothy Brock and had one son; Jack, who never married; Tea (Tealith) who never married.

Maggie Maret married Jones Hiatt, son of Bennet Hiatt and Celia Bailey. Both lived to a ripe old age and were the "Pappy and Mammy Hiatt" made famous by frequent mention on the CBS network from Renfro Valley. Their children were Tabitha Belle, Laura, Lura, Celia Wade, Ruby and Jones Bennett.

Belle Maret married first Martin Jones, brother of W. H. Jones to whom her sister, was married. Her parents had the wedding annulled and she afterwards married Henry Catron, a widower with children. She and Catron had two or three children before her death at an early age.

In America, people doing imitations say "how-how," but in France they say "wah-wah," in Spain they say "goo-woo" and in Russian they hawl "haw-haw!"

questions and answers

Q. I recently received a notice from Medicare about a medical insurance claim I submitted. I don't agree with the decision Medicare made. Can I appeal this decision?

A. Ask the health insurance organization that handled your Medicare claim to review it. If you still disagree with the decision and if the amount in question is $100 or more, you can request a hearing. The people in any social security office can help you.

Q. I've been having back trouble for some time and a friend recommended that I go to a chiropractor. Will my Medicare help pay for a chiropractor's service?

A. Medicare's medical insurance helps pay for only one kind of treatment by a licensed and certified chiropractor—manual manipulation of the spine to correct a dislocation shown by X-ray. Medicare does not pay for the X-ray.

Q. Starting next month, I'm going to be out of the country for 8 or 9 months. What should I do about my social security checks?

A. You can probably have your checks mailed to your foreign address or have them deposited directly in a bank. Call or write any social security office as soon as possible. Tell them the name of the country or countries you plan to visit so they can tell you exactly how your absence from the United States will affect your checks.

Q. Last year, I worked for two different employers and made social security contributions on more than $13,200 of my wages. How can I reclaim the extra contribution I paid?

A. You can claim it as a credit against your Federal income tax. Add the social security contributions withheld by all your employers as shown on your W-2 forms. Then subtract $772.20, the maximum social security contribution for 1974. The balance is your credit, which you can claim on your Form 1040 income tax return.

A telephone call to social security may save a visit.

Most people with severe kidney disease can get Medicare protection if they need dialysis or a kidney transplant. Call any social security office for more information.

CONSUMER COMMENTS
By: Ed W. Hasepek

A Kentucky consumer recently noted that the warranties you get on some appliances are so short that they run out by the time you get home from the store. Although this may be an exaggeration, there have been a lot of complaints about the deal with the warranty problem, a new law was passed by the Congress, signed this year by the President, and will be effective as soon as the Federal Trade Commission puts forth specific rules.

The new law has two basic goals: To make manufacturers provide consumers with straight forward and meaningful warranties (and to back them up) and to strengthen the Federal Trade Commission's capacity to protect consumers against other unfair and deceptive practices.

The law requires that a consumer products to have a warranty. But if products do carry warranties, the warranties must meet certain standards. Under this new warranty law, a written warranty must be labeled "full warranty" or "limited warranty." A "full warranty" means that the warranty meets minimum federal standards for warranties. A "limited warranty" means the warranty does not meet those standards. Minimum standards for warranties include repairing or replacing defective products at no charge and with a reasonable length of time, and giving a refund or a new product or part if the item cannot be repaired after a reasonable number of attempts.

What are a reasonable number of attempts? That's for the Federal Trade Commission to decide. In the coming months, they will determine this question and put forth other specific rules for warranties.

A consumer should no longer be stuck with a car, a refrigerator or anything that never worked properly. That's what warranties are for: to protect consumers against paying their hard-earned dollars for unuseable products.

If you have a complaint about warranties, or any consumer problem, contact the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection. Ky. consumers may call toll-free on the consumer hotline: 1-800-372-2960 or write: Attorney Frankfort, Kentucky—Got a walking tour of establishments are conducted by both groups in much the same manner. Here the similarities stop; Education and Training offers the means to voluntary compliance rather than enforced compliance.

Education and Training personnel cannot and will not enter an establishment unless specifically requested in writing to do so by the manager. If the problem area is known, it should be specified in the letter so the proper staff-person can be sent to the scene. Upon arrival, at an agreed time and place, the situation will be studied, analyzed, and suggestions will be offered to the solution of the problem. Should assistance be required, the appropriate experts will be called in.

At no time will any representative of management be asked to submit anything in writing except the initial "request" letter. No one in the division is authorized to issue anything like a citation. Records of the division's activities are strictly confidential and are kept under lock and key; no information as to the identity of an establishment can be transferred to anyone outside the Division of Education and Training. Requests for our consultative services will in no way either increase or decrease the likelihood of a visit by a Compliance Officer. GROW KENTUCKY GREEN

By: Jan Manns

The Department of Human Resources (DHR) new "Grow Kentucky Green" campaign urges everyone to plant a garden this spring.

The home gardener can harvest over $30 worth of fresh vegetables from a ten-foot square piece of land. The initial investment is under $5 for seed and $1 for fertilizer.

For the food stamp recipient, this year's garden will cost the price of fertilizer alone. "Recipients can purchase garden seeds and vegetable plants with their stamps," said Lucille Brislan, nutritionist for the Food Stamp Program in the Bureau for Social Insurance, DHR.

DHR's campaign for gardening began with Mrs. Brislan. She has contacted the Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Kentucky (UK) which has an agricultural agent and a homemaker in each county," said Mrs. Brislan. The local telephone number is listed in the phone directory under each county's name.

The vegetables from a well-tended, 10-foot square garden will provide a substantial food supplement for a four-member family, said Dean Knavel, Ph.D., professor of the Dept. of Horticulture, UK.

"A garden can be kept going throughout the summer with two and three plantings for many vegetables," said Knavel. It could include green peppers, tomatoes, beans, onions, squash, cucumbers, radishes and spinach.

One way to decide if soil is fertile is to look at what is growing in the spot before tilling. "If things are growing poorly—including weeds—some extra nutrients may be necessary. The best way to tell is by having the Cooperation Extension Service run a soil test to find out the phosphorus, potassium and "pH" (acidic/alkaline content) of the soil," said Knavel. The testing usually costs $1.00.

"Some people, though, may not have the time or the space for gardening. When an outdoor space is simply not available, a window sill will do," Mrs. Brislan said.

"People can grow a tomato, pepper plant or other vegetable in a pot instead. It can serve the same decorative purpose as a floral plant, being fruitful as well," she added.

John McCarty of Berea visited Carl Durham, Wed. afternoon.

Bro. Billy Estes and Jimmy Kirby of Mt. Vernon visited Carl Durham Thursday. Alvin Isaacs visited Carl Saturday morning.

Mrs. Edna Banks Albert and Alice of Conway visited Mr. and Mrs. Ken Long Thursday night. They have visited Mrs. Banks' mother Mrs. Arnie Riley at the Berea Hospital that evening.

Mrs. Goldie Isaacs isn't feeling too well at the present. A speedy recovery is wished for Goldie.

Lost Your Social Security Card? Write for Duplicate

Lost your social security card? You can get a duplicate by notifying any social security office, and generally it can be handled by mail, according to social security officials here.

"You can usually get a duplicate card faster if you've kept a record of your social security number and give it to us when you report your loss," a spokesman said.

"Your duplicate card will have the same social security number on it," he said. "Your social security number is yours alone and remains the same for life."

A social security card is issued with two parts, perforated so the card itself—the smaller part—can be detached and carried in purse or wallet.

"The card you carry is the part you show to an employer. To be sure he correctly copies your name and social security number into his records," the spokesman said. "The remaining larger part should be kept in a safe place as a permanent record of your social security number," he said.

People's earnings from jobs covered by social security are credited to their social security number to build retirement, disability, survivors and Medicare protection for themselves and their families.

People should apply for a social security card several weeks before they need the number for a job, according to the spokesman.

Over 9 million duplicate social security cards were issued last year.

The Social Security Administration is an agency of the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

What To Do In April

Time's a-wastin'! Spring gardening activities reach their peak in April, and here are some suggestions for things to do this month as given by Extension horticulturists at the UK College of Agriculture.

If you haven't already got your peas, potatoes, onions, radishes, kale, and cabbages in the ground, get busy... The same goes for beets, carrots, cauliflower and lettuce. Most of these vegetables get off to a better start and do their best growing in cool weather.

There is a risk of late frosts, of course, clear up until late May, but fresh vegetables for the table much earlier than usual is well worth the risk.

Then, besides if a frost threatens, a lot of plants can be saved by covering them over with paper boxes or caps made by folding newspapers.

If any gardener failed to get his strawberry patch set out in March, there is still time in April to do the job. Some garden flowers that can also be sown in April are asparagus, asters, aliums, calendula, misolette, dianthus, poppy, cosmos, nasturtium, phlox, verbena, and ageratum... Arigolds can be planted late in the month and the sowing of alysium can be made twice a month until July.

Most gardeners, however, will probably have more success with these flowers if they buy bedding plants instead of sowing the seeds themselves. But as mentioned before, if some of these plants are purchased, some protective devices should be kept in readiness in case the weatherman predicts frosts.

Plants such as petunias, pansies, and ornamental cabbage also can be transplanted in April since they can withstand temperatures down in the mid-20's.

In the latter part of April, all the early crops may need cultivating and some of them should be thinned, although little of this is generally necessary until May.

Lay in a good supply of recommended sprays and dusts for the bugs and diseases that are sure to make their appearance on the newly-springing plants even in the best of gardens. Just as importantly, see that the sprayers and dust guns are in good working order. Look over fruit trees and shrubs in the orchard and on the lawn before they come into leaf. Destroy any caterpillar egg masses before they hatch and, if any coders on the homestead develop brown galls, destroy them at once as they produce spores that spread the disease to apple trees.

By late April some of the radishes, onions, lettuce, kale, and spinach planted earlier in the month or in March should be ready for eating. If so by all means take time to gather and eat these items, because that's what gardening is all about. Then, as it wisely advises the Old Farmer's Almanac, during this glorious month of April, don't fail to take a little time out and go fishing. During no other month in the year do bluegills taste better.

Pasture Season

Many dairymen look forward to spring as a time to turn their cows to pasture and to be released from winter chores. But it is important to increase and cattle health improves. In order to get the most feed and milk from pasture time, it is important to work up the grass seed and seed some legumes for increased yield and better quality forage. Pure fescue pasture don't do the job. Take a soil test and apply needed fertilizer. Pasture responds to fertility just as much as cultivated crops. It is wise to give the grass a chance to get started before putting the cattle on, and a little restraint at this time will result in increased grazing later. Dividing pasture acreage into several fields and grazing on a rotational basis has increased carrying capacity as much as 60% on some farms. As pasture grasses mature they rapidly lose feed value, so when hedges appear, they should be clipped or put up to keep the grass in a vegetative state. Don't forget to provide shade and have clean water available.

Exhibits in the new Gymnasium will be on display on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. The Exhibit Hours will be Thursday from 10:00 and 1 to 9 p.m.; Friday from 10 a.m. to 12 Noon, 1 to 4:30 and 7 to 9 p.m.; Saturday from 9 to 3 p.m.

from the Kentucky Arts Commission will be in the Library throughout the Festival in the College Library.

All Festival events are open to the public at no charge.

"FATHER OF THE WEST" George Rogers Clark Special On KET

The exciting and tragic saga of George Rogers Clark, "Father of the West," airs Monday, April 7, at 8:30 p.m. (ET) on Kentucky Educational Television (KET).

Two years in production, the televised account of his Revolutionary War exploits is particularly attentive to historical and chronological accuracy, and George Rogers Clark marches across history as one of the outstanding heroes of our heritage.

Military genius, government leader, founder of Louisville, spokesman for the Kentucky frontier, surveyor and city planner: he was friend of the Indian leader and cultivator spokesman alike. The "Father of the West" terraced the great northwest territory from the British, and brought Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, and Wisconsin into the Union.

When his military career ended, he settled in Louisville and spent his last years at Louist Grove, a site still intact and a popular Louisville tourist attraction.

A Million More May Be Eligible For Supplemental Security Income

Social security officials estimate there may be a million people eligible for supplemental security income checks who haven't yet applied.

The Federal program, which started in January 1974, now makes monthly payments to over 4 1/2 million people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 and over or blind or disabled. But the Social Security Administration believes there are still a lot of people who don't know about supplemental security income and might be helped by the payments, according to social security officials here.
