who complain they spent hundreds of dollars on unsuccessful treatments for insects and found the only thing that was exterminated was their bank accounts.
 If you are told you have termites, beetles or other insects or bugs, don't panic or rush into signing a contract. A warning that your house is in severe danger may be nothing more than a scare tactic to make you sign a contract faster. An offer of a discount "today only" is another tactic designed to convince the consumer to sign a contract which is far more expensive than most other companies.
 Before you do anything, get the opinion of two other pest control companies as to whether or not there is a problem. If the companies do not agree, or if you have doubts as to whether or not you have insects, contact Dick Dallas Brock at Copper Creek Road, 48x2.

Agriculture, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. Their inspection team may be able to help.
 Once you have determined that there is an insect problem, obtain price estimates for any needed work. All estimates should be put in writing, and each should describe the exact method of extermination to be used. Find out if periodic inspections are included in the cost, and ask that this information and any guarantees be put in writing, as well. Also, check the company's record with the Better Business Bureau.
 All pest control companies must be licensed by the Department of Agriculture. The company's name and license number should appear on all service vehicles regularly used and each salesperson should carry an identification card issued by the Department of Agriculture. If you have complaints about pest control inspection or service, write to the Division of Pest and Noxious Weed Control at the Department of Agriculture, and send a copy of your complaint to the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection, the Capitol, Room 34, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. *****

ESTATE PLANNING CONSIDERATIONS

Recent studies of court records show that more out of four estates lack sufficient cash to pay the estate settlement expenses. This money has to be generated before the estate can be settled and assets distributed to the heirs. In too many instances this means the forced sale of securities, real estate and other business property. This forced sale many times destroys the farm unit for many farm families. This does not have to be the consequence. With some forethought and prior estate planning, this and other undesirable occurrences can be avoided.

ADVANTAGES OF ESTATE PLANNING

Estate planning is a very complex subject and, as a result, many people simply avoid the task rather than making an attempt to gain some understanding and then initiating an estate plan. It has been said that in many situations a farmer would lose three quarters of his hard work and asset accumulation if he were to die tomorrow. It seems very wise then to invest some time in planning one's estate. The following are only some of the advantages of careful estate planning.

1. The amount of federal estate taxes, state inheritance taxes, and possible income taxes that will have to be paid to settle the estate can be reduced. By prior planning, property can be transferred to the desired heirs during life and, thus, the amount of property included in the taxable estate at death can be reduced.
2. The forced sale of income-producing property for the purpose of obtaining necessary cash to pay taxes and settlement cost can be avoided. To accomplish this, plans need to be made to ensure that cash need can be met from another source. Such a source could be life insurance, savings, or other liquid assets that could be easily converted into cash without disrupting the business operation.
3. The splitting of farms into small, uneconomical size units to satisfy multiple heirs can be avoided. This split occurs many times when parents leave the home farm to their three or four children. The result is either (a) the farm property is divided into three or four parcels or (b) if the farm remains intact, the operating heir (the son remaining on the farm) sees a large percentage of the earnings going to the brothers or sisters off the farm. This is an extreme burden on the son staying on the farm.
4. One can provide for the security of an elderly widow who may not otherwise be capable of providing for herself or for that of a younger widow with minor children. Many times estate planning is more crucial for younger families than for older, more financially sound families. In some instances a widow with young children may not be able to provide the necessary income if the farming operation has to be disrupted by forced sale of assets at settlement time. If the husband dies without a will, the young widow may not be able to sell or mortgage property to generate the much needed income to provide for her family.
5. One can provide for the orderly and efficient administration of the estate. By planning ahead and making a will, estate settlement and property distribution need not follow the laws of intestacy and distribution of Kentucky. A will provides the opportunity to direct property distribution, to name the executor, and to name the trustee for any minor children. In many cases a will can prevent family jealousies and avoid controversy by dissatisfied heirs.

HOW TO BEGIN THE ESTATE PLANNING PROGRAM

The first and probably the most important step in the estate planning process is to seek highly qualified individuals to form a team of consultants to assist with the planning. It stands to reason that since an individual farmer will probably plan only one estate in his lifetime, he needs the advice and assistance of highly trained professionals who continually work in this area. This professional assistance is especially true when compared with the several thousands of dollars that can be saved in taxes and settlement cost. It is a very high return investment. The consulting team should be made up of the following:

1. A competent attorney who specializes in the area of estate planning.
2. An accountant who fully understands the current state and federal income and estate tax laws and their consequences on an estate settlement.
3. A life insurance representative who specializes in estate planning.
4. A banker and/or trust officer who has had experience in the estate planning area.
5. Local agricultural extension personnel who are familiar with the individual situation.
6. In addition to the professional listed above, individuals who have recently executed estate settlement and other members of the family can often provide helpful suggestions. Clear teamwork and coordination between and among advisors is extremely important.

Kentucky Afield

By Hope Carleton
Dept. of Fish and Wildlife

John Wilson, Guest Writer

The sportsmen of Kentucky through their purchases of hunting and fishing licenses and through a federal excise tax on hunting and fishing gear, support the work of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. License holders also are entitled to participate in the selection of members of the Fish and Wildlife Commission, the governing body of the department.

In return, the department offers a variety of services to the sportsmen of the state and to all the people of Kentucky.

The real conservation officers, whose primary job is enforcing fish and game laws, are the backbone of the department. Without these men, members of the division of law enforcement, modern game and fish management would be impossible.

Not only does the conservation officer control the illegal use of fish and game, but he also through the intimate knowledge of his local territory serves as an indispensable aid to members of the department's other divisions.

He will often, for example, help game biologists in their research, management or survey projects to determine the problems and needs of wildlife. They also conduct annual surveys to determine the wildlife population trends. surveys obtained in various denominations, usually $10, $20, $50 or $100. The fee to purchase them is nominal - normally about one cent of face value, or $1 for $100 worth of checks. In some cases, they are free to bank customers.

Some final tips for safety and quick refunds when checks are lost or stolen.

Keep the checks in your possession at all times.

Do not keep the purchase receipts with your checks. If the checks are lost or stolen, you will need that receipt to get a refund. You might even want to keep another list of the check numbers at home.

Keep a record of the numbers of the checks you cash, when and where you cashed them and the amount involved so you will know which ones were lost or stolen. And finally, Do not sign the checks the second time until the amount you are ready to cash them. If your lost or stolen checks have been signed twice, you will probably have difficulty in obtaining a refund.

which form the basis of the yearly hunting season lengths and bag limits. The game management division is also in charge of the state's wildlife management areas and runs the popular Game Farm near Frankfort.

Biologist with the division of fisheries also conduct annual surveys to determine population trends of Kentucky's game fish and they do lake and stream water quality investigations and investigate cases of water pollution which cause fish kills.

Another important aspect of the fisheries division's activities is stocking fish from rainbow trout into small mountain streams to giant rockfish or musky into large lakes. The farm pond stocking program, which provides pond owners with free bass, bluegill and channel catfish, is a popular part of the division's work.

The department's division of conservation education employs 19 full time teachers, who provide instruction to over 107,000 fifth and sixth graders throughout the state with lessons on wildlife conservation and outdoor safety. During the summer, this division also operates three camps for the youngsters who have participated in the school program.

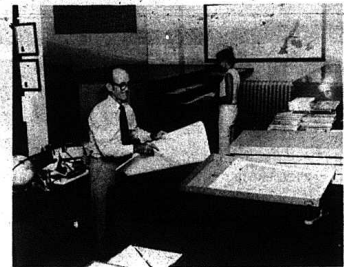

The division of public relations, through its weekly television and radio programs, "Happy Hunting Ground" magazine, newspaper articles, brochures and pamphlets, attempts to keep the state's sportsmen informed about hunting and fishing conditions throughout the Commonwealth, about game laws and regulations and about current projects and policies of the department.

A small, but important division is engineering, whose four employees engage in a variety of activities, including land surveying, building design and construction on departmental property and other related work. The fish and wildlife division is in charge of printing and distributing licenses, keeping payroll records and making sure the books balance.

The fiscal control division is in charge of printing and distributing licenses, keeping payroll records and making sure the books balance.

The administration of the department is handled by the commissioner - appointed by the Fish and Wildlife Commission - and the assistant commissioner. Also included under the administrative section is the departmental attorney.

These, then, are some of the activities the sportsmen of Kentucky support through their hunting and fishing licenses. The sportsmen benefit from these activities through continued quality hunting and fishing.

THE DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE MAP SALES OFFICE is moving, and Bill Howard and his employees must pack almost a million maps and publications for the cross-town trip. The office, which maintains a stock of topographic, geologic, highway and miscellaneous maps and aerial photographs of the Commonwealth will be more accessible to the public after the move, Howard says. After August 1, the office will be housed at 133 Holmes Street in Frankfort, a new facility which offers free parking for office customers.

The Circus Is Coming

Magie words that bring back memories to the oldsters and the thrill of anticipation to the real young at heart. Every kid began saving his pennies, and when that magic day arrived, Dad did not need to rouse out of bed because the boys were already at the circus grounds; and the biggest, stronger boys may have been awarded a job that brought the coveted pass to the Main Top.

That was a great thrill then - there is today and the "kids of all ages" can again, for two thrilling hours, watch the acts of daring and dexterity unfold in the arenas. The performers come from all corners of the earth, many of them "family acts" that have come down for generations.

For the 27th successive year, Oleka Shrine is presenting the famous Clyde Brothers array of breathtaking feats on the ground and in the sky: wild animals, daring acrobats, thrilling clowns, mirth provoking clowns - amazing acts of skill and description that will thrill the hearts of young and old alike.

In this age of "Adults Only" movies and TV shows, the circus is the only form of entertainment left that is devoted solely to the family, every care has been taken in selecting the program that is clean and wholesome, offending no one.

Yes, the circus is coming to Lexington, showing four evening performances, Thursday through Sunday, August 14-17, at the famous Red Mile Trotting Track. Underprivileged children, veterans, hospital patients, will be guests on Thursday and but all the people of the Commonwealth also benefit, both directly and indirectly, from beautiful fields and forests and from clean, productive streams and lakes.

Goggles are believed to derive their name from the old English term for squinting.

Livingston To Receive $9,050 In Grant Funds

The City of Livingston will receive $9,050 in Community Development Block Grants funds from the Federal Government.

Mayor Bertie B. Rice has received a formal letter from HUD Area Director Virgil G. Kinnaird approving Livingston's application for funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974.

The new law, administered by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, eliminates the former categorical community development program and gives money to communities in one block grant. The local communities now set their own priorities and make their own plans - with minimal Federal guidance or involvement.

Livingston's community development program includes sidewalk construction and matching funds for "201" plan. In a letter to Mayor Rice congratulating the city, HUD Secretary Carla A. Hills said, "I hope you will be able to attract wide citizen participation as you carry out the plan, and I trust that this grant will be a positive step toward the betterment of your community."

To Cut Water Bills In Half For Elderly

At a Called Meeting Monday night, August 4th, the Mt. Vernon City Council adopted a Five Point Plan for 1975-76 covering planning in areas such as water and sewerage, streets, the lake recreation project and environmental beautification.

The Five Point Plan approved by the Council is as follows:

WATER AND SEWAGE Lower Rates. Recognizing the current economic crunch that retired citizens who are on fixed incomes find themselves in, it is the intention of the council to provide more spendable income for these individuals. To meet this objective, the Council will lower the base rate for water by one-half, effective December 1, 1975 for all citizens living inside the city limits of Mt. Vernon who qualify for the tax break under the "Homestead Amendment of 1972. To receive this cut in water and sewer rates, those who qualify must make application to the City Clerk.

Water and Sewer Expansion. There are several families living inside the city limits who do not have access to sewer lines, particularly in the Owens Subdivision section. The council proposes to make this service available to these families in all cases where there exists a five-year payout potential.

Mt. Vernon 201 Facilities Plan. Pursuant to Public Law 92-590, the Mt. Vernon City Council has employed an engineering firm to do extensive study and planning work for the city and surrounding area in reference to water quality management, wastewater treatment and disposal. Subject to this plan, it is the intention of the council to initiate a program to expand and update the sewage disposal unit currently in use. A public hearing will be held in the Mt. Vernon City Hall on August 14, 1975 for the public to comment on this plan.

Streets Street Improvement. In an effort to maintain safe and sightly streets throughout the city, efforts have been made to plan ahead and maintain the streets in accordance with need. Streets to be resurfaced this year include Williams, Blair, New, Newcomb, Maple, Lovell, Lewis, Floyd, Clark and Shirley at an estimated cost of $16,048.00. Also, Poplar from Williams to railroad, widen High from Richmond to Northside Baptist Church.

CITY HALL Renovation and Construction. Recognizing the need for more space, the Council has studied proposals for an expanded city building over a two-year period. Currently, the fire department has inadequate space for equipment and uniform storage. The police have no headquarters, expensive equipment owned by the city must be kept outside exposed to the weather and the council meetings attract too many citizens for the meeting room to accommodate. Current plans call for a $1,465,000 concrete block

Garbage Collection System Terminated As of August 5

At Tuesday's meeting of the Rockcastle Fiscal Court, the months-old problem of the garbage collection system in the county was brought to a head somewhat by a motion made by Magistrate Ernest Mason, seconded by Magistrate Bill Wren, and passed which terminated the service effective Tuesday, August 5th.

The motion came about following a discussion between the Magistrates and Kenneth Cromer, one of the owners of Rockcastle Sanitation which operates the system. Mr. Mason informed Mr. Cromer of the fact that there had been numerous complaints received from residents in the county concerning the condition of the containers and of the area around them.

Mr. Mason said that, in his opinion, the service which the county was receiving from Rockcastle Sanitation was not good and that he felt that if it couldn't be improved by keeping the area around the containers free of garbage that the county would be better off without the service.

Mr. Cromer responded that the contract which he signed did not call for Rockcastle Sanitation to maintain the area around the containers but for the collection of garbage. Mr. Cromer further pointed out that he felt without enforcement of the existing contract, the area would never be clean. Mr. Cromer also told the Court that two dump sites, Hawes Hill and Higby Road, would have to be cleaned because of the trash surrounding the box but maintained that his company was not and could not be responsible for keeping the sites clean of garbage not put in the containers.

The culmination of this discussion was that Magistrate Mason made a motion that garbage service be discontinued as of Tuesday, August 5th, under the present agreement and that Rockcastle Sanitation be notified by letter to remove their trash containers from the sites within 10 days. The motion was seconded by Magistrate Wren with Magistrates Cromer and Whitaker voting yes and Magistrate Danny Sargent voting no.

Following the approval of the motion, the Court also decided to have county employees clean up the dump sites after removal of the containers and to notify the public that anyone found dumping on the sites would be prosecuted.

In other business, the Court decided to provide space in the present jail in the courthouse to house juvenile offenders. Magistrate Mason told the Court that juvenile offenders should become a county problem in the county and that it was necessary that something be done about providing space for them.

Magistrate Mason also met with the Court to discuss the possibility of the Court paying a $1,000 note for funds used to take an option on an industrial site in the county by the Rockcastle Improvement Council.

Mr. Craig told the Court that the note had been signed by individual members of the improvement association and would become due the latter part of this year. He also told the Court that monies were available to the county from the coal severance fund and that these funds could be used for a purpose such as this.

At present, the county has approximately $12,000 from their share of the coal severance tax which can be spent for designated purposes once an application for the funds is made and other requirements are met.

Mr. Craig said that the other requirements consisted of advertising in the newspaper that a public hearing concerning the application would be held and sending a copy with the advertisement, along with any comments made at the public meeting to the State Treasurer from whom the disbursement would be made when the application was approved.

ENVIRONMENTAL SEAUIFICATION

Street Identification. The city will install street markers in all areas where the markers are no longer there and will replace those markers that are no longer legible.

Park Renovation. The council proposes to work closely with local civic groups to maintain the city park in a manner so as to create an especially attractive setting near the center of town.

rounding the box but maintained that his company was not and could not be responsible for keeping the sites clean of garbage not put in the containers.

The culmination of this discussion was that Magistrate Mason made a motion that garbage service be discontinued as of Tuesday, August 5th, under the present agreement and that Rockcastle Sanitation be notified by letter to remove their trash containers from the sites within 10 days.

The motion was seconded by Magistrate Wren with Magistrates Cromer and Whitaker voting yes and Magistrate Danny Sargent voting no.

Following the approval of the motion, the Court also decided to have county employees clean up the dump sites after removal of the containers and to notify the public that anyone found dumping on the sites would be prosecuted.

In other business, the Court decided to provide space in the present jail in the courthouse to house juvenile offenders.

Magistrate Mason told the Court that juvenile offenders should become a county problem in the county and that it was necessary that something be done about providing space for them.

Magistrate Mason also met with the Court to discuss the possibility of the Court paying a $1,000 note for funds used to take an option on an industrial site in the county by the Rockcastle Improvement Council.

Mr. Bailey told the Court that the note had been signed by individual members of the improvement association and would become due the latter part of this year. He also told the Court that monies were available to the county from the coal severance fund and that these funds could be used for a purpose such as this.

At present, the county has approximately $12,000 from their share of the coal severance tax which can be spent for designated purposes once an application for the funds is made and other requirements are met.

Mr. Bailey said that the other requirements consisted of advertising in the newspaper that a public hearing concerning the application would be held and sending a copy with the advertisement, along with any comments made at the public meeting to the State Treasurer from whom the disbursement would be made when the application was approved.

ENVIRONMENTAL SEAUIFICATION

Street Identification. The city will install street markers in all areas where the markers are no longer there and will replace those markers that are no longer legible.

Park Renovation. The council proposes to work closely with local civic groups to maintain the city park in a manner so as to create an especially attractive setting near the center of town.

During the meeting, the Council also accepted the low bid submitted by Preston Collins to construct a $1,465,000 addition to the present City Hall building. The project calls for the renovation of the existing city building into offices and to complete other work called for in the plans and specifications, including all mechanical work - heating, cooling, electrical, etc. - adding the three men to be furnished by the county.

Plans will be reviewed and approved by a licensed engineer prior to beginning construction. Mr. Collins has five months in which to complete the project from date of contract.

At this point, Magistrate Ernest Mason told the Court that he had been investigating the possibility of requesting the Court to make application for these funds in order to begin the development of an industrial site in the county and he expressed concern that an application for $1,000 to pay off the note in question would be a deterrent to obtaining the funds for an industrial site project.

Mr. Craig assured Mr. Mason that the application would not conflict and (Mr. Craig) also mentioned that money would probably be available in the near future for the development of outdoor recreation in Rockcastle County on a 50-50 matching basis. Mr. Craig said that a project earmarked to receive $10,000 of these funds and that the matching funds would be provided by the county in actual cash, land, donated services, etc.

When the site was approved by Magistrate Danny Sargent, it was seconded by Magistrate Chester Whitaker and agreed to by Magistrate Bill Wren with Magistrates Mason and Cromer abstaining.

Another matter discussed by the Court was a project brought to their attention several months ago by Bill Bailey.

Mr. Bailey told the Court that funds were going to be available for the purchase of new ambulances (equipped to meet Federal regulations which will go into effect in 1976 on a 50% Federal, 25% state and 25% local basis. The ambulances would be the property of the county.

He also told the Court that Rockcastle could purchase two ambulances which would meet these regulations for approximately $40,000 total with a cost to them of only $10,000 if the county were incorporated (as set out in the guidelines of this program) and ready to receive funds when they were disbursed hopefully by November of this year.

Mr. Bailey cautioned the Court about waiting until there were no funds available to assist in buying these ambulances and also said that it was his understanding that if these funds were not taken advantage of now there would be no more forthcoming.

The Court took no action on the matter.

Benton Owens of the Bureau of Highways, Somerset office, met with the Court to again present the rock-haul contract for 1975-76. Mr. Owens outlined the contract which calls for a total of 5,985 tons of rock to be hauled in 1,125 man hours at the rate of $5.92 per hour or $1.00 per ton.

Magistrate Ernest Mason again took issue with the contract stating that he did not feel the county was getting enough for the rock-haul contract and he also did not feel the state was living up to its application was approved.

Effective August 5, 1975 the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court voted to discontinue garbage service and to have the dump containers removed throughout the county. When this is accomplished, the sites will be cleaned up and anyone caught dumping on the sites will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

FRANKFORT WATCHLINE

Realignment of the hierarchy at Democratic headquarters has finally been completed by the Carroll administration.

Howard (Sonny) Hunt, long-time friend and confidant of Gov. Julian Carroll has been installed as the first paid chairman of the party, and Hunt, in turn, has named his own treasurer and legal counsel.

Larry Greathouse, former legal counsel to former Gov. Wendell Ford, will be the treasurer, and J. Bruce Miller, county attorney for Jefferson County and a recognized political power there, replaces Thomas Carroll as party counsel.

For now, at least, there will likely be no more changes. After November, more can be expected.

Martha Layne Collins, party secretary and a candidate for clerk of the court of appeals, will no doubt be replaced as the Democratic committeewoman.

Although there has been little discussion of this, Carroll's campaign team worked actively during the primary for one of Mrs. Collins' opponents. She will be replaced.

It can also be expected that there will be some changes among the at large members of the Democratic State Central Executive Committee.

Meanwhile, though the main concerns are party unity and money, and the latter is probably the more important of the two.

As evidence, one might have a look at the recent "effort" on the part of Kentucky Democrats to raise money for the national party. The effort was practically non-existent. What comes first is the Carroll campaign for governor, and as far as Carroll and his supporters are concerned, the national party, the state buildings debt, and everything else is far back in the shadows in importance.

Carroll intends to be at his cordial best for the national candidates coming into Kentucky in preparation for next year's presidential primary, the state's first.

But his announced position that he would just as soon they would keep out of the state until after November is dead serious.

In the first case, he doesn't want national politics clouding the picture here, nor does he want a dozen or so star-chasers beating around on his stomping ground for money.

After all, the more these people take out of the state, the harder it will be for Julian Carroll to raise the money he will need both for his race and for bailing out the heavy debts of the state party.

Meanwhile, back to party unity, which also just happens to be hooked into fund raising, the Carroll for Governor committee has become the Democrats United Committee.

This little move appears to allow increased individual contributions since with nine candidates under one roof and 2000 as the maximum figure an individual can give to each candidate the committee could accept as much as $27,000 from one person.

There is no requirement that the expenditures be reported for each individual candidate, a problem which may make it exceedingly difficult to tell just how much Carroll spends this time around.

Carroll may at this point be a little sensitive about the nearly one million dollars he poured into his primary campaign, against a candidate most observers feel never had much chance from the beginning.

DOWN ON THE FARM

By: Roy G. Brown
Assistant Vice President
Cumberland PCA

To begin with, we need to ask ourselves a question. Have I took time out of a busy life to count my many blessings? What other country could have the freedom and opportunities we enjoy in America, the Good Old U.S.A.?

I know we are slowly losing those freedoms that our forefathers fought and died for. Federal Government is slowly but surely binding us with controls, rewriting and reinterpretation of the constitution and laws that made the U.S.A. the greatest nation on earth.

Just last week a federal Judge in Louisville, ruled concerning the lives of nearly 200,000 persons in Louisville, that they would have to begin busing of children across town just to mix the children up. They have to leave their community and friends at a cost of over $3,000,000 extra. When we taxpayers are already burdened with overload of taxes for the necessary and needed operations of education, Roads, research, welfare, and over a thousand things. The extra use of energy, time, hazards of the extra miles of travel. Its long time past due we as Americans wake up and use our influence and vote to stop losing our rights and opportunities to satisfy a few in our community that are selling our rights of Good Law Abiding Citizens DOWN ON THE FARM. *****

UNION BAPTIST CHURCH

Estle Bullock, one of the deacons of the above named church has presented me with a copy of its history as compiled and published in a most interesting pamphlet by A.D. Ponder. The author relates that in the spring of 1878 Joel Philpot moved from Clay to Rockcastle County. He became engaged in peeling and hauling tanbark, a thriving business at the time. Philpot, who was also a Baptist minister, started holding religious services in the homes of his new neighbors and in less than a year had baptized twenty-six persons, who placed their membership in Mt. Gilead Baptist Church in neighboring Jackson County. Since this church was a full day's journey away, a need for their own church was soon felt and in February of 1879 the new church was formed, with a congregation numbering thirty-two persons.

The church organization was set up at the home of William Brummett, with the help of Elders John and Daniel M. Ward and layman Samuel P. Murrel from the Mt. Gilead Church, and Joel Philpot from Little Goose Creek Church in Clay County. William Brummett suggested the name Union-Rockcastle Baptist Church, later shortened to Union Baptist Church. Rev. Joel Philpot was elected pastor, William S. Robertson, clerk, with Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Heiland named as deacons and deaconesses.

Their first meeting house was located on Trace Branch, above Lamore post office. It was built of logs with no ceiling and no floor. For heat in cold weather an open fire was built on the ground in the middle of the room. Later a puncheon floor was added and a stone fireplace and chimney which did not "draw" properly, with the result that smoke often drifted into the room and brought tears to the eyes of the congregation. In August of 1879 the church sought and obtained membership in the Laurel River Baptist Church, which it maintains to this day.

In 1890 plans were discussed for erecting a bigger and better church building. It was first decided to use the same site for this new structure but it later voted to move to the District 66 school house at Red Hill, which served as a place of worship until a new building could be put up. Each male member of the congregation was set to hew and haul in a log for the building, which was to be 42-32 feet, making it the biggest church house for miles around. It is still the largest log church house - and maybe the only one - in existence today.

In early 1900s a lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows was organized at Red Hill, most of its members being also members of Union Church. Later on another story was added to the church building which was used as a "hall" or meeting place, for the lodge until it was disbanded in 1918. In 1910 the old log building was covered with weatherboarding. Later in the same year the Oddfellows bought the paint for the church membership to paint the entire building inside and out, which added greatly to its appearance. In 1918 also occurred the observance of the last full washing ceremony, long a feature of religious significance with old-time Baptists.

Last of the charter members of Union Church to pass away was "Aunt Lina" Ponder ninety-seven and one-half years old, seventy-eight years of which were spent as a faithful member of Union Baptist congregation. Mrs. Nancy Morris, the oldest person in membership in this church and now in her eighties, has been a member longer than any other person has ever been. Her son, Walter Morris, is credited with having been largely responsible for keeping the old church from falling by the wayside.

Church records over the years show an enrollment in the Union Baptist Church of more than seven hundred members. Charter members were: William S. Robertson, David Combs, John Stewart, William Edward Carrier, Jason Robertson, Julius Robertson, H. Boom Metcalf, Malinda Carrier, Susan A. Robertson, Susan P. Brummett, George Metcalf, Lottie Stewart, Martha F. Bales, Henry Heiland, Nancy Bales, Mary J. Combs, Louisa Stewart, Martha and Henry Lewis Carrier, Lewis Robertson, Lucinda Robertson, Almada Metcalf, William Robertson, James Mahaffey, Franklin Simpson, Nancy Ann Carrier, Elizabeth Stewart, Mary M. Inman, Cynthia A. Brummett, Nancy C. Powell.

Many well-known ministers of the day have served as pastors for Union Baptist Church. Notable among these was Rev. Hughie L. Ponder, originally a native of Clay County but living in Rockcastle when he began preaching in 1900, although he was not ordained until 1909. He was graduated from the Southern Baptist Seminary in 1914 and his ministry extended over a period of more than sixty years. He pastored many of the churches within the Laurel River Baptist Association and was at one time the Association's Evangelist. At the time of his death he was a member in the Union Baptist Church in Rockcastle County and there on September 11, 1967 his body was laid to rest in the old Red Hill Cemetery. He had lived to be 87 years, 9 months and 9 days old.

Another earnest and faithful minister of many years standing was Rev. Dillard Parker who was also born in Clay County but who had come to Rockcastle when about twenty years of age. His schooling had been very limited and it was said that he attended school only two days in his life. He was truly a self-made man. From the lending library of the Southern Seminary in Louisville he borrowed books that he could not afford to buy. These books dealt with theology, grammar, Biblical history and text books in the study of the Greek and Hebrew languages. With these aids he was able, although living in a remote and isolated part of the country, to acquire an education far beyond what might be expected of one in his station in life. He had many calls for help from the struggling little mission churches in his area and in some instances pastored four of them simultaneously, which required constant travel over some of the worst roads in the Mountains. In some cases it was necessary for him to employ from his limited means someone to stay with his wife in his absence, as she was an invalid. July of 1932 saw the end of his labors and he was laid to rest after almost a half century in the ministry.

Another record for faithful service was established in the Union Baptist Church when in September 1888 Mr. Charles Phillips resigned as church clerk after eleven years of service. This clerkship had been held by her father, Ben J. Ponder, her uncle, Dan M. Ponder and her grandfather, F.M. Ponder, since 1885, a total of eighty-three years in one family.

Members of the Union Baptist Church at Red Hill may well be proud of their church and of the good people before them who labored under difficulties to bring to a backwoods community the blessings of an organized church.

When So Many Families Choose Dowell & Martin There Must Be A Reason

Maybe it's because of the sincere and personal service provided by every member of the Dowell and Martin staff. Personal attention is given to every detail so that nothing will be overlooked. Even after the funeral service, the Dowell and Martin people will help in arranging social security benefits, insurance policies, or veterans benefits. Anything to help families in this very difficult time.

Or maybe it is the beautiful surroundings that create a feeling of warmth and peace... A home-like atmosphere.

Or maybe it is the sincere dedication that each member of the Dowell and Martin Funeral Home Staff has to helping people when they need it most. Each individual family has different desires and wishes. We are here to obey each and every request.

Or maybe it is all of these reasons that more families recommend Dowell and Martin. The Order of the Golden Rule thinks so and that is why they selected the Dowell and Martin Funeral Home to be their only member in Rockcastle County.

Richard Harper, watchman, checks new electronic equipment in preparation for the September 6, 1975, takeover of Kentucky Telephone Company's $2.5 million Electronic Switching Center. The takeover affects customers in Barbourville, Brodhead, East Bernstadt, Flat Lick, Livingston, London, Manchester, Mt. Vernon, and Oneida. ESC-1 equipment will require changes in dialing procedures for most calls, including long distance and local calls, and calls to directory assistance, repair service, telephone business office, and another party on a customer's own party line. Company spokesman Wallace Black said that information booklets would be mailed to all customers later this month. Kentucky Telephone's new switching system is one of the most sophisticated available today, and will greatly improve direct distance dialing in the nine exchanges it will serve.
