Letter To The Editor

In regard to the recent Fiscal Court decision to terminate the garbage collection service at Rockcastle Sanitation. One wonders how removing the dumpsters can solve the garbage problem. What is one to do with his trash? There is no longer a city dump so would seem citizens must either burn refuse (and foul the air) or toss it over whatever bluff that is available (and run the risk of prosecution). Mr. Mason and the Fiscal Court seem to feel that removing the dumpsters will somehow make garbage disposal cease being a problem, as they offer no alternate suggestion. For a few weeks this action may take on the appearance of a solution as the dump sites are cleared, but shortly litter barrels, hillsides and hollows all over the country will become just as foul and cluttered as the dumpsters formerly were. In removing the dumpsters only the most temporary of answers has been chosen, if in fact it is an answer at all.

Would it not be simpler for County workers to clean the dump sites on a regular basis and have a regular system of large overflows emptied as frequently as is necessary to prevent their running over? In reality littering laws are difficult to enforce and people tend themselves of refuse in some manner. Whether they do it in a responsible way or not depends upon the accessibility of the disposal method and at present Rockcastle County seems to be without any legal disposal method.

Sincerely,
P.L. Clark

RECALL OF TOBACCO SUCKER CONTROL PRODUCT

The following information has been provided to us by the pesticide section of the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection in Frankfort. We are passing this information on to you in answer to questions from tobacco growers and clearing up confusion about which product has been recalled.

Super Sucker Stuff H.C., lots 21 through 36 has been recalled by the Kentucky Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection in cooperation with the Ansul Company, which manufactured the product.

The Ansul Company also manufactures Super Sucker Stuff and Sucker Stuff. These two products have NOT been recalled.

The recall product, Super Sucker Stuff H.C., contains 2 1/4 pounds of active ingredient per gallon, and is a high concentrate of potassium salt of maleic hydrazide.

NOT involved in the recall is Super Stuff, which has 1 1/4 pounds of active ingredient per gallon, and also contains potassium salt of maleic hydrazide.

Anyone in possession of the two products which have not been recalled should be able to use them with confidence, according to Fred Waters, chief of the pesticide section of the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

Mr. Waters said that persons who have the recalled product should discontinue its use and contact their dealer or the Ansul Company immediately. If you need more information, contact Waters at his office in Frankfort. His telephone number is 502-564-7274.

NO PROBLEM UNDER YOU HATE BUGS

Summer and fall usually sees the home invaded by various insects that are really outdoor bugs. They're inside your home by accident, or they were attracted by lights. Some just wander in to see if there's any action. There is really no reason to be concerned about most such insects. The U.S. Department of Agriculture says they will not harm anything in the house, cannot live long indoors, and some are actually beneficial in nature. You will often find dead insects on the windowsills and around the baseboards where they perished trying to get back outside. Many of these are midges, gnats and small leeches or beetles. Occasionally, a larger beetle or moth, attracted to lights, will get into the house. The moth, sometimes called "miller's", are not the kinds that attack wooleens or live in our dry foods, so don't panic. Some insects are troublesome in basements and on ground floors. These include millipedes, centipedes, crickets, sawing ground beetles, ants and spiders. Most of these are harmless except for annoyance, and they soon die indoors. There are exceptions to the harmless invaders - scorpions and one or two kinds of poisonous spiders.

You can handle indoor insect problems with pesticides. But read the label before using any pesticide and do what it says.

STEW ... AGAIN?

Many people are trying to save money by buying a side of beef. The U.S. Department of Agriculture says this is not a good idea unless you really know what you're getting and can use it all. A beef side is normally sold by its hanging or gross weight. This means the weight before cutting and trimming. The amount of usable meat you take home will be considerably less - and how much less can vary considerably. For example, the cutting loss from a beef carcass could vary from 20 to 30 percent after the bone, fat and such are cut away. A 300-pound carcass, just means a 300-pound side of beef would give you 225 pounds of usable meat cuts. A 25 percent carcass loss means a 25 percent carcass loss. And not all of these steaks and roasts are from the loin and rib, the most tender portions. Every steer has its tougher cuts, too. A side of beef may not be the bargain you thought it was. Make a careful comparison of costs before buying meat for your freezer.

YES, THAT IS VICTORY

By: Mrs. George Burton

If you can trust when everyone about you is doubting Him proclaiming Him untrue. If you can hope in Christ. The all forsake you. And say, 'tis not the thing for you to do. If you can wait on God, no wish to hurry, or.

Being greatly used. Keep humble still; Or if you're tested, still refuse to worry.

And so remain within His sovereign will; If you can say 'tis well, when sorrow greets you.

And death has taken those you hold most dear; If you can smile when adverse trails meet you.

And be content, even tho' your lot be dear; If you can be reviled and never murmur, or being tempted Not give away to sin.

If you fight for right and stand the firmer; Or lose the battle when you ought to win.

If you can really long for His appearing; And therefore set your heart on things above;

Or you can speak to the angels in spite of sneering; Or to the most unlikely one show love.

If you can hear the call of God to labor; And answer yes in yieldedness and trust;

And go to tell the story of the Savior; To souls in darkness over the desert dust.

If you can pray when Satan's darts are strongest, and take the road of faith.

Instead of sight, or walk with God even tho' His way is longest.

And swear not to the left or right; If you desire Himself alone to fill you.

For alone you care to live and be there 'tis not you but Christ who dwelleth in you.

And that, O Child of God, is Victory.

Faith will prepare your children for tomorrow our children need to learn faith in God, as well as the basic skills of life. As the opening of the school season draws near remember that it is also time to begin or resume their spiritual education to fortify them for the time when you may no longer be on hand to guide and protect them. That a large segment of our young people have never learned goodness for its own sake is tragically evident in the almost daily accounts of juvenile wrongdoing. Children are not born with this knowledge; they must be taught it. Enroll your children in Sunday school, and set your own good example for them by the way you conduct your life and by attending your Church.

Perry Mason, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David Mason of Mullins Station is still hospitalized in the University of Kentucky Medical Center at Lexington after being trapped in an old refrigerator on Tuesday, July 29.

According to reports, the child climbed into an old refrigerator on the front porch of the Mason home and was found there by his mother after, according to Mr. Mason, 15 or 20 minutes. The child was unconscious and was taken to the hospital where his condition is described as stable.

Donations are being solicited to help defray the cost of hospital expenses and a committee has been set up consisting of: Willetta Owens, Diane Bradley and Barbara Rader, to collect these donations.

Fiscal Court Members Attend Council Meeting

Five members of the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court met with the Mt. Vernon City Council Monday night to discuss a solution to the garbage situation in the county.

The Judge and Magistrates Boone Corcoran, Ernest Mason, Chester Whitaker, and Bill Wren and County Attorney James Lambert went to the Council meeting mainly to discuss the possibility of the City and County jointly letting a franchise to a company to collect trash door-to-door throughout the county for a fee of approximately $4 per month per household.

During the discussion, the Council told the Magistrates that they felt that it would be difficult to get enough participation from residents to make the plan economically feasible. The Council also expressed their opinion that a deal such as this, residents of the City should get a lower rate than residents out in the county due to the fact that the garbage could be collected easier in the city than in the county.

Large Crowd of Local Citizens Attend KY 461 Pre-Hearing Conf.

Over 100 persons were present Tuesday night at a Pre-Hearing Conference held at Rockcastle County High School by the Kentucky Bureau of Highways to discuss the proposed corridor for KY 461 Somerset, Mt. Vernon Road in Pulaski and Rockcastle Counties.

The actual Public Hearing on the proposed corridor will be held next Tuesday night and statements from persons affected by the road will then be taken.

D.J. Garland, Assistant District Engineer for Planning from the Somerset office, spoke to the group concerning the roads proposed route and answered questions from the audience.

Mr. Garland said that the corridor now being proposed had been decided upon because the highway office felt it would better serve traffic for Mt. Vernon and for the new high school. Mr. Garland also said that "the environmental people" did not want another of the alternatives under consideration since they felt that it would tend to put a great deal of sediment into Lake Linville.

The proposed corridor enters the county to the west of the Mt. Pleasant Church, stays on the west hand side of the present road to approximately 3/10 miles south of Level Green, crosses existing 461 and stays on the east side until it crosses 461 again at Norton Road; then on the West side of 461 for a short distance until it crosses 461 at Wabed near intersection of Wabed-Jones Creek Road; then on east side of present 461 until its re-entrance 461 at former Caleb Sowder Grocery; then to the west until crosses 461 near home of J.C. Bowling; then approximately follows existing 461 from there to intersection of Hwy. 150 near present intersection; then goes across L&N tunnel; then just east of Rockcastle County High School, crossing old Broadhead Road; thence cross-country where it ties into U.S. 25 at the cut just north of Red Top Restaurant.

The road begins making a transition from a two-lane to a four-lane road approximately 1/2 mile south of Highway 150 and continues as a four-lane road around Mt. Vernon to the end of the project.

Mr. Garland further said that anywhere the new road crosses an existing road, it would do so by grade crossings and would cross the L&N tunnel with a bridge. The length of the project would cover 16.42 miles at a cost of $17,100,000 paid for with 70 percent federal and 30 percent state funds, 44 homes and 16 businesses would be displaced by the proposed corridor.

On question, Mr. Garland said that existing 461 now carried 1,690 cars per day and it was projected in 1998 that average daily travel would be 4,070 and it was felt that this road would be adequate to carry the 4,070 cars projected.

Mr. Garland also said that it was hoped that designing work could begin in late fall or early winter and would take through 1978. He said that right-of-way would be purchased probably beginning in 1978 with construction after then when money is available. The project would be broken up into four construction sections with the first section constructed around Mt. Vernon.

Mr. Garland pointed out that the map which was available Tuesday night was an

KEA Requests Status Change Regarding Teacher's New Position

Two KEA representatives met with the Rockcastle County Board of Education Monday night and requested that the bookkeeping position of Miss Mary Alice Hunt be classified as a certified position.

George Bender of Lexington and Bige Warren of Barbourville told the Board that it is a state law that an employee cannot have tenure unless employed in a certified position. Miss Hunt is elementary school teacher, was transferred to the position of bookkeeper for the School Food Service after disciplinary problems with a student earlier this year.

Following some discussion, Board member Willie Taylor made a motion, seconded by Bill Burdine, to classify Miss Hunt as certified, thereby giving her tenure rights. Mr. Taylor and Mr. Burdine voted yes with the other three members not voting, thereby killing the motion.

Board Member Kenneth Adams recommended that Miss Hunt's case be postponed until the September meeting in order to give the Board time to seek legal advice on the matter. In a motion passed later in the meeting, Superintendent Parsons was authorized to secure legal counsel in dealing with KEA demands in the transfer of Miss Hunt.

In other business, the Board opened bids for various items needed for schools. Bids were awarded for milk with two bids received from Southern Dairy and one from R.H. Hamm. The bid from R.H. A total of five bids were received for hauling coal to the county schools and Jackie McClure and Ronald Burdette and D. Thomas submitted identical bids for hauling Manchester coal at $4.90 per ton. McClure's bid to haul Barbourville coal at $4.90 per ton and Ronald Burdette and D. Thomas bid for Barbourville coal was $4.90. The board split the bid up between the two parties giving Livingston and Mt. Vernon schools to Jackie McClure for Manchester coal and Brodhead and Roundstone schools to Burdette and Thomas for Manchester coal. Barbourville coal will also be hauled by Burdette and Thomas.

Mr. Bullock said Wednesday that another engine had been secured and the mill was put back into operation Wednesday of this week. Lack of water to fight the fire was a big handicap and the fire was finally extinguished with water from tanks brought to the scene by Earl Bullock and Eddie Moore. FRANKFORT WATCHLINE

BY: GARY AUXIER

Does Bob Gable have even a chance at capturing the governor's chair from Gov. Julian Carroll?

Obviously, that is a question Gable had to ask himself before he entered the race. It is a question every Republican must consider in a state so heavily weighted with Democrats.

The quickest answer is "no."

And while it remains as the answer most likely to be correct, Gable cannot be taken lightly. It is not likely that Carroll will do so.

Looking at a little past history, Louisville-Jefferson County, where a quarter of the state's voters live, has a strong tendency for going Republican.

Northern Kentucky, with the state's second largest block of voters, tends toward the conservative. Add to this the recent election of State Sen. Clyde Middleton of Covington as the GOP state chairman and Middleton's broad popularity among voters of both parties, and Northern Kentucky could prove to be a strong point in Gable's favor.

Then, of course, there is the Fifth Congressional District, the last bastion of solid GOP strength in the state. While registration in that area is becoming more and more Democratic, the voters still vote Republican.

Then there is Lexington. Carroll didn't do particularly well there even in the primary against Todd Hollenbach, and odds are Gable will find a lot of vote there.

As perhaps the first statewide candidate to do so, Carroll made no bones in the primary about taking particularly good care to capture a good vote in Jefferson County. Besides the fact it was home for his opponent, Carroll had the good sense to admit publicly that one must give a lot of consideration to any county where a quarter of the state's voters live.

In the past, statewide candidates have done the same thing but tried to run elsewhere as if Louisville were just a small town.

He had also been spending an unusual amount of time in Northern Kentucky. While there is still some lingering disappointment in many quarters about the lack of a northern Kentucky vote in the state, Carroll has been making a good impression with his frequent visits both as governor and candidate.

But as he did in the primary, Carroll will likely be relying on a massive First District vote to give him the margin he needs.

Republicans may have bought themselves a guarantee of a great deal more interest in the GOP presidential primary in Kentucky next year when former Gov. Louie Nunn and his brother, Lee, decided on different candidates to support. Lee has signed on with the Gerald Ford campaign and Louie, who still commands a lot of votes in this state, has thrown his weight, here and nationally, behind Ronald Reagan, the conservative former governor of California. They have their own reasons for their decisions, but unless Reagan can generate a lot more interest than he has developed so far, it seems likely at this point that he won't even make it to the primary.

President Ford, on the other hand, was drawing fair crowds to Kentucky even before he ascended to the presidency.

Most observers see little chance of Reagan doing much in Kentucky, even with Louie Nunn behind him.

teach adult education programs for 1975-76. They were: Verla Scott, teacher night classes, Brodhead School, $5 per hour; Jerry Mink, teacher night classes, Livingston, $5 per hour; Catherine Graves, teacher night classes, Mt. Vernon school, $5 per hour. Bessie Burdette was employed as clerk with Pauline Mullins employed as supervisor/counselor.

Superintendent Parsons then told the board that he had made numerous calls to the roofing contractor concerning repairs to the roof of the RCHS building. Mr. Parsons said the contractor had failed to respond and since the roof is under a twenty-year bond, Mr. Adams made a motion, seconded by Mr. Taylor, to ask the bonding company to act on the matter. The motion was unanimously approved.

Superintendent Parsons reported to the Board that the Board of Education would receive $1,104 from NDES in 50/50 matching money for Fiscal Year 1976 which is earmarked for certain projects. Mr. Adams made a motion to use the money to install educational television in Mt. Vernon thereby fulfilling the goal of having educational television in all the elementary schools in the county.

WHICH HOUSE HAS THE HIGHEST COOLING BILL?

Most people would readily guess the larger house costs more to air condition. It might not. The size of a house is only one factor that determines its cooling bill.

When your home is properly insulated, your air conditioning unit doesn't have to work as hard because less heat enters through the walls and roof. This can save you one-fourth or more of your electricity costs.

The energy picture has changed dramatically in the past couple of years and people want all they can get for their air conditioning dollar. Many are turning to electric comfort conditioning for summer and winter. We can help you plan your electric heating and cooling system, recommend proper insulation and we give you a free operating cost estimate. Just contact our local office.

DOWN ON THE FARM

By Roy G. Brown
Assistant Vice President
Cumberland PCA

Well, we have had a few good rains that were badly needed. Some crops, such as tobacco, corn and pastures were beginning to hurt for moisture but our crops are in pretty good shape now.

Cattle prices are still too low for the farmer compared to the cost of everything we have to buy that goes into producing crops and livestock. The farmers is the only one who takes his crops and livestock to market and asks what they will give and then goes to dealers and stores to buy something and asks what they want for it - having no control or say in either selling or buying.

A good example today is the price of cattle on the farm and the cost to consumers at the market place. This shows the one getting the profit is not the producer DOWN ON THE FARM.

Finally decided this year that I should be able to view the fruit of my efforts rather than just my family. So I took myself and five or six canned and baked items to the Broadhead Fair Monday to enter them in competition - I should have kept on just letting my family view the fruit of my efforts.

Seriously, I was well pleased with the results. How the judges managed to miss that extraordinarily well-preserved quart of green beans I entered, let alone mention the pear preserves and bread and butter pickles, I will never know, but they didn't fail to notice my tomatoes, applesauce and cookies and I came out pretty well there.

When I was small I used to tee-hee about my mother and her cohorts and how seriously they took the county fair, particularly in the mastermind division. I can remember my mother being either downcast for days or exultant over the outcome of her entries in the canned goods and handicraft sections. She never made any comments to her friends if they did better except to congratulate them of course but at some we heard her muttering for days afterwards "Wait till next year."

When I decided to enter mother's trials and triumphs came to mind and I immediately assured family and friends that it was just for kicks that I entered and not at all as to the outcome. Well, I still feel the same way except to one of my friends in particular and you know who you are! yes, you did hear me mutter "Wait till next year" ...

Do you realize that summer is almost over. I have wanted to hard this summer. First, I had to see to it that the Reds came out ahead and they have with a comfortable 15 1/2 game lead; the Mt. Vernon playground came next and I sort of let down there now if I can make it through the Broadhead Fair and the Shiraz Circuit, can relax and get four children ready for a job I know but have never tried to organize a household where all five children have activities each day at different times and places. To put it ungrammatically, "I ain't no Tim

FOOD CLIPS

Cutting boards, wood utensils, and wooden work surfaces need special treatment to keep spoilage bacteria under control. Scrape surfaces if necessary, scrub with soapy water and rinse well with boiling water. Then disinfect clean surfaces (a liquid chlorine disinfectant household laundry bleach - will do the job).

Be alert for signs of spoilage in canned meats. Bulging jar lids or rings, gas bubbles, leaks, bulging can ends - these may mean the seal was broken and the meat has spoiled. (You may test a can by pressing the ends - ends should not bulge or snap back).

If you wash lettuce, celery, and other leafy vegetables before storing, drain thoroughly because too much moisture can hasten decay.

Nearly all fats from plant sources are unsaturated, except coconut oil.

Be imaginative with summer salads - use different greens - iceberg, bibb or leaf lettuce - romain, endive, escarole, spinach, watercress, Chinese cabbage, or celery tops.

Carrots often need a "gourmet" touch - try adding a bit of all spice, bay leaves, caraway seeds, dill, fennel, ginger, mace, marjoram, mint, nutmeg or thyme - whatever it's your choice. But, remember, a little goes a long way!

Dark green and deep yellow vegetables - carrots, spinach, sweetpotatoes, broccoli, kale - are all good and inexpensive sources of vitamin A.

Sort fresh vegetables before storing and discard or use at once any bruised or soft vegetables. Don't even store them with sound firm vegetables.

Don't dig into potatoes - make paring thin. The dark green outer leaves of cabbage, lettuce, and other leafy green vegetables are high in nutrients.

If you're "french frying" - do not overload the fry basket because if too much food is put into the basket at one time, the temperature of the fat drops excessively, cooking slows down, and the vegetables absorb more fat.

Always store dried vegetables in tightly closed containers in a cool, dry place.

Mature dry legumes - dry peas and members of the bean family including navy, pinto, and soybeans - are outstanding among the vegetables for the protein they contain.

Maximum storage suggested for commercially frozen asparagus, beans, cauliflower, corn, peas, spinach is about 8 months. But retaining high quality depends on the kind of vegetables and condition at time of purchase - whether it is stored at zero degree or less.

Cover potatoes with water to prevent darkening after paring. Long soaking of most vegetables, however, is not desirable because some nutrients dissolve in the water.

Chop herbs very fine to allow some of the flavoring oils to escape. Heat chopped herbs in melted butter and add to vegetable after it has been cooked.

Never leave uncooked or cooked ham at room temperature for more than 2 hours.

Extension Nutritionist warn - Keep it Cold (below 40 degrees F) or Hot (140 degrees F).

Did you know that creamed onions are considered perishable items? Serve immediately - do not allow them to stand at room temperature more than 2 hours. Use some method of keeping them hot (above 140 degrees).

Hams labeled "cured" or "cured smoked" must be cooked before you eat them. Cook to an internal temperature of 160 degrees F. "Fully cooked" hams are cooked thoroughly in processing and are ready to eat.

Using whipped cream on those desserts? Add the whipped cream just before serving - don't sit on top of that cake and it should be refrigerated until the very last minute - just to be sure.

What contributes to food poisoning? The right combination of time, temperature, and moisture. It can easily be avoided if you handle food WITH CARE.

Spain Retires FROM Florida.

OR HOW AMERICA picked up FLORIDA for $5 million.

No luxury hotels. No drinks served at the pool. No sand and palm and alligators. A lot of fighting for it that destroyed property throughout Florida. Americans in Florida figured Spain owed them $5,000,000 in property damages.

Our government offered to pick up the tab for Spain. If Spain would return from Florida, Spain accepted. And was out.

You know, money from our citizens helped pay for things back then. And it still does.

This happens when you join the Payroll Savings Plan, or buy Bonds where you bank. Year after year, you accumulate more and more savings. And it can add up to a bundle.
