Rockcastle Native is UK Administrator

A reason may make something of the fact that Millard Allen spent a year and half back in the mid-1950's with the Army at Fairbanks, Alaska, where the evenings are long and the nights even longer, and a few years later, in 1963, began a tenure as director of the University of Kentucky evening class program.

Like many young men in the decade following World War II, Allen had to divide his college career by Army service (1954-56), and like most GI's what he did in the Army had absolutely nothing to do with how he planned to make his living once he returned to civilian life.

At Etelson Air Force Base

at Fairbanks he was a computer operator in the radar fire control system (anti-aircraft artillery). After he received two degrees from UK, a bachelor's in 1958 and a master's in business administration analyst on the system and procedures staff, and in his last two years there (1961-63) was supervisor in the pre-audit section of the department's division of accounts.

It was in 1963 that Allen joined UK in the job he's had ever since.

As administrator of the evening class program in the extension office, Allen sees to the extra class needs of an average 1,000 students a semester. He helps plan, organize classes and obtain professors for them, and counsels students.

Allen and his wife, Betsy, also a Rockcastle County native, have one daughter, Jennifer, a student at Yates Creek Junior High School.

Allen is a beechnut and gray advocate of the Democratic Party who was born at Brodhead (population 700) in Rockcastle, one of the strongest Republican counties in Kentucky. His grandfather, mind you, was a soldier of the Confederacy and lived until the 1920's, just a few years before Allen was born.

Perhaps partly because of tales his grandfather left for Allen's father to tell, Millard and his brother John, a Mount Vernon attorney and UK graduate, take a deep interest in the Civil War.

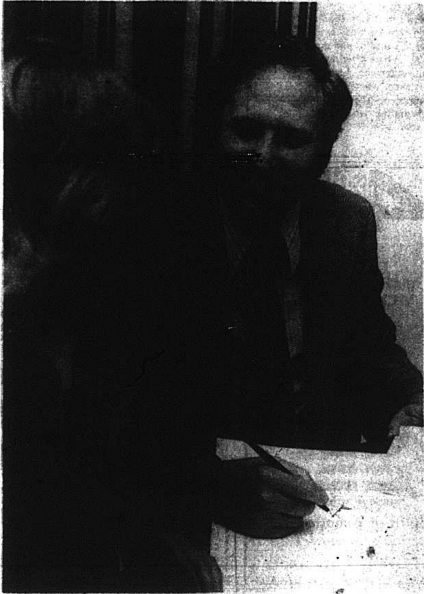

They belong to the Kentucky Civil War Roundtable at Lexington and read avidly on the subject. A large map depicting movements in the conflict adorns Allen's evening class program campus office in Frazee Hall.

In last semester's program, there were 41 graduate students mostly in the master of business administration program, 140 non-credit students who simply wanted to enhance their employment careers but who were not working toward degrees, and more than 700 undergraduates, mostly regular UK day students who sought the evening class route to fill gaps in their programs and also enable them to hold down parttime jobs during the day.

The evening class program is evidence that Horatio Alger-like motivation abounds among the populace, which may be one of the reasons Allen professes to like his job so much.

When buying lamb chops remember that rib chops are likely to be more tender than shoulder chops.

Ours is an old, established firm. (Who cares?)

Frankly, no one cares.

The mere fact that we've been around for many years doesn't impress anyone, nor should it.

What's impressive is what we've done during those years — always keeping up with (or maybe even a little ahead of!) the needs of saddened families, always serving with the skill of professionals and the sincere concern of friends.

Your best friend is now in town

So don't miss connections. From sewing and swimming to sculpting and skating 4H is here offering fun and excitement. Learning or leading, whatever your interests, 4H shares them. And isn't that what friends are for?

IT'S WHERE YOU'RE AT

Spirit of Tomorrow

an endless parade of enthusiastic young people from farm, small town and city — boys and girls exhilarated by the great challenges of tomorrow, because they have already conquered the smaller challenges of today.

There are more than 5 million participants in 4-H, proving that young people respond to the 4-H challenge to do the difficult — "To Make the Best Better."

4-H not only asks for the best work youngsters can produce; it gives them guidance for accomplishing their goals.

The Cooperative Extension Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the State Land-Grant Universities and the County Extension Services conduct the 4-H program.

Adults and youth, with a gift for leadership and a liking for boys and girls, volunteer their time to lead local groups, showing youngsters the "how to" and "why" of various activities.

"Friends of 4-H" give 4-H'ers a reason for achievement — a catalyst of incentives and recognition at local, county, state and national levels. Civic and business groups are partners in providing educational aids together with advisory, technical and public relations assistance.

4-H is an exciting, "Learning by Doing" experience in which 4-H'ers can select projects and set their own goals. By project's end they have learned useful skills, the dignity of work and the satisfaction of responsibility. By comparing their accomplishments with others, 4-H'ers develop higher standards of excellence and the self-confidence to broaden their goals and interests.

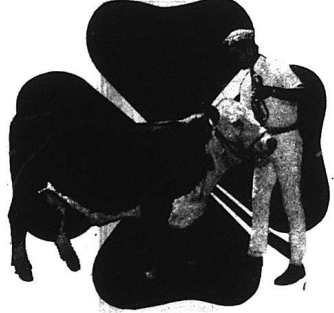

Every year 4-H'ers throughout the country set aside a 4-H Week to reaffirm 4-H goals, encourage more youth to enroll and enlist help to make the 4-H program grow. And so, 4-H'ers are urging YOU to contact your County Extension Office. Learn how YOU can help promote the welfare of this nation's most precious resource — her young people.

How do you see 4H?

Well, it is a little ladder-like. Because 4H is a climbing thing. With its motto "To make the best better," 4H helps its members and leaders give their best to whatever they do and try to improve on that. 4H is here. And it has a place for you.

State's Wild Rivers Examined Monthly

Kentucky's protected wild rivers get a physical check-up once a month from the staff of the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection (DNRE).

"By monitoring the wild rivers regularly, we keep them clean and natural," said Wendell Van Hoose, supervisor of DNRE's wild rivers program, who was preparing for a three day trip down the entire 17-mile length of Rockcastle River in southeastern Kentucky.

"Streams selected for the wild rivers system must be free-flowing, aesthetically pleasing and essentially free from the works of man," Van Hoose added. "We try to keep them that way."

Van Hoose and his staff monitor each of the state's eight wild rivers.

The state's 1972 general assembly originally selected five Cumberland, Red, Rockcastle, Green and Big South Fork of the Cumberland for protection under the Wild Rivers Act. In 1974 these were supplemented by the addition of portions of the Little South Fork of the Cumberland River, Rock and Martin's Fork creeks.

To conduct the checkups, the wild rivers staff usually walk or drive along the side of some of the rivers or float down the others. "Because parts of the Rockcastle are so remote," said Van Hoose, "the only way we can observe it is by floating down it. We've previously floated down the Green River, Little South Fork and some of the Cumberland. We can usually walk along the side of the others—Red River, Rock Creek, Martin's Fork and most of the Cumberland. This will be the first time we've covered the Rockcastle all at once and the entire length of the Big South Fork is another future project."

One of the main details Van Hoose looks for during a checkup is signs of violations of wild rivers regulations. The wild rivers staff prefers preventive medicine to remedial—they try to prevent violations.

they report them to the departments legal staff, who then take measures to remedy the situation.

"On the whole," Van Hoose said, "the wild rivers system is in good shape. Although we've checked their conditions regularly on a limited basis for about two years, we're particularly scrutinizing them this year because we've found a few violations. However, in the three years since the program began, we've taken legal action against only three people. Most of the time, we can keep things from escalating simply by talking to people and explaining the law."

The examination is a visit to prospective strip mine sites within the wild rivers areas. Whenever an application is made for a permit to strip-mine within 10 miles of the drainage area of a wild river, the wild rivers staff examines the site along with a division of reclamation engineer. They can then recommend to the division of reclamation how long the mining operation could be performed to least damage the wild rivers.

The wild rivers staff also monitors unusual conditions on the river. "For instance," explained Van Hoose, "one private landowner is now charging a fee for people to pack or camp overnight on his land, which is located on the Manifee County side of the wild river portion of the Red River, where most of the traffic is. He furnishes liter bags to the visitors and tells them to bring out their trash. And, it's working quite well—they are keeping the area clean."

CONSUMER COMMENTS
Have you won a free stereo, sewing machine, or other appliance? Did you receive an offer for one of these at a ridiculously low price? Many Kentuckians have won only to end up losing. Let's examine these offers.
The game begins when you receive a certificate through the mail informing you that you've won a free sewing machine, television or stereo or a "check" for a portion of the purchase price. The prize is described including its monetary value. The trick to this scheme is that the prize will cost YOU money. A monthly or yearly charge to cover either a service contract or a portion of the cost of the item beyond the amount won is required. If requested, a winner is requested to come to the store to inspect the merchandise and accept or reject the offer.
What's wrong with these offers?
The amount you must pay is often higher than the average retail value of the item. Be sure to compute the yearly or monthly costs so that you are aware of the total amount of money involved. Is the merchandise worth the price it will cost you?

Beware of high pressure sales tactics. Why must you decide immediately to accept the offer? A reputable businessman can wait on your answer until tomorrow. The gimmick salesman are fly-by-night operators.

A contest implies that there are losers as well as winners. These lake contests have everyone winning. How many other people that you know have won?
The promises of warranties or reliable repair service are often false. Ask how long they've been in business, who does the repair work and what warranty includes.
You can protect yourself against fraudulent business practices. Be sure of remembering to be skeptical of advertising tactics. "Special Cont. on page 12"

Study shows marine engines not harmful to water quality

The federal Environmental Protection Agency levels — does not harm has cleared for publication water quality, does not the summary report of the cause discernable changes most comprehensive study in plant and animal life and the effect of marine reproduction or affect the engines on water quality (last of fish taken from test ever undertaken, according to Matt J. Kaufman, project director for the Marine Exhaust Research Council

Major conclusions of the three-year, $750,000 study water. The research teams studied both long-term and short-term effects of motor operation on plant and animal life, from the oiled initial links of the food-chain to the gamefish. Chemical effects of engine operation on water quality were also closely checked, Kaufman pointed out.

In addition, the study probed both cold water lakes — subject to boating use 12 months a year. Comparisons were made between leaded and unleaded fuel, and between drainies and older-model engines with crankcase drains, Kaufman noted.

"In short, the scientists were looking for trouble and didn't find it. They noted, for example, that there was a minuscule lead build-up in the bottom sediments of one of the northern test lakes, but they also pointed out that, despite the high stress rate, "the effect of stressing with leaded fuel is minimal on the quality of the water column," Kaufman said.

He said that while funding was shared by EPA and outboard motor manufacturers, all test parameters were approved by EPA, and that the agency closely monitored all testing and reviewed test data.

The field studies were conducted by Environmental Control Technology Corp., of Ann Arbor, Mich., and Environmental Science Engineering, Inc., Gainesville, Fla. The laboratory phase of the study was conducted by the civil and mechanical engineering departments of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

"If marine engines are causing harm to the water in which they operate, the most sophisticated scientific testing methods and equipment known are unable to detect it. Any variations discovered between stressed and unstressed ponds were found to be inconsequential, even through the stress rate well exceeded the maximum possible under actual boating conditions," Kaufman asserted.

"This report assures the manufacturer that he isn't contributing to the degradation of the very element on which his livelihood depends, and it assures the motor buyer that he isn't fouling the water he enjoys so much," Kaufman concluded.

Fiscal Court Votes to Levy Another Coal Tax

The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court voted at their regular meeting Tuesday to levy a ton tax on all coal processed by coal tipplers in the county in addition to their already levied 10¢ per ton on all coal mined in the county.

The Court has not, as of yet, begun collecting the tax on coal mined in the county although this tax was levied in July of this year. The tax on coal processed through coal tipplers in the county will take effect December 1st of this year.

In other action, the Court heard several members of the Rockcastle Ambulance Service describing the condition of the Rockcastle County Jail when the service answered a call to the jail Monday morning.

Dickie Collingsworth, an ambulance driver, told the Court that he had to remove broken glass from the floor after walking on the floor of the cells which were littered with broken whiskey bottles. Mr. Collingsworth further said that he for on was tired of reading in the paper Mr. Anglin's statement about how clean the jail was when it wasn't.

The ambulance men said was due to drunkenness since a whiskey bottle fell out of Mr. Cameron's belt in the while the men were trying to load Mr. Cameron onto a stretcher for transport to the hospital. The men also said that they saw whiskey bottles under Mr. Cameron's mattress. Mr. Cameron has reportedly been in the local jail eleven days.

Jaller Anglin denied that he turned anyone out of jail to get whiskey for Mr. Cameron and said that he was unable to say where Mr. Cameron might have obtained the whiskey.

The upshot of the discussion, heated at times, was that the Fiscal Court, with Mr. Anglin's approval, put new regulations into effect for anyone visiting prisoners in the jail. Effective immediately, visitors can be admitted only from 2 to 3 p.m. In the afternoon, and must register in the jail's office saying whom they are going to visit. Prisoners will be taken under lock and key at all times and will be allowed to talk to visitors only through the locked cell door. Of course, this rule does not apply to the prisoner's lawyer.

After the Fiscal Court meeting a statement was obtained from Farris Cameron regarding the "Talking Book Machines" for blind and disabled people. The machines are designed to be operated by these handicapped people and have books and current magazines on record and tapes and are places at the charge to the handicapped. One of these machines will be on display at the Flea Market and will be explained by Charles Barr, chairman for the project for the Lions Club.

Ed Cameron, president of the local club, stated that if anyone wished to reserve a "space" at the flea market, call any Lions Club member and if you wish to donate items to the club which they may sell and use the money for their projects, call any member of leave word at Floyd's Home Improvement Supply.

obtained from Farris Cameron stating "with my knowledge of Deputy Jaller Anglin, alcoholic beverages were taken to the Rockcastle County Jail to be distributed to prisoners, and that he himself took prisoners from the jail leaving the jail and other prisoners unattended." The sworn statement was obtained by Sheriff Dickie Collingsworth who said Tuesday night that a copy of the statement with a

In an effort to raise more money for their charity projects, The Mt. Vernon Lions Club is again sponsoring a "Community Flea Market" at the local school grounds.

The first market, sponsored by the Lions Club, was held in August, and had 17 different booths or operators and most of these operators donated the money to sponsor another market.

The club rents "space" to the operators at $3 for a ten foot square and sells items donated to the club, using the money to buy eyeglasses for needy children and to sponsor other local projects.

The club, at their last meeting decided to sponsor the "Talking Book Machines" for blind and disabled people. RESCUE SQUAD MAN SAVES DOGS FROM CAVE

According to Billy Wolfe of this county, Glen Miller of Mt. Vernon, a member of the Mt. Vernon Rescue Squad, rescued three valuable coon hounds from a cave in the Shiloh Community of Taylor County early last Thursday morning.

Mr. Wolfe said the coon hounds chased coons into the cave through a very small entrance Sunday night a week ago and their whereabouts were not discovered until Tuesday when it was found they had crawled into the cave and were too frightened to come out on their own.

Mr. Wolfe said that members of the Taylor County Rescue Squad attempted the rescue first but they did not have a man small enough to go through the entrance to the cave. Mr. Wolfe said he returned to Rockcastle County, Wednesday and Mr. Miller was recommended to him as a person who might be willing to undertake the rescue. Wolfe said that Miller went back into the cave 100 feet through an opening so small that he was unable to leave his cigarettes in his shirt pocket. When he got back into the cave, Miller found the three dogs had gotten up on a ledge and were too frightened to come down on their own.

Mr. Wolfe expressed his gratitude to Mr. Miller for his efforts in retrieving the dogs.

George Pittman, 34, of Mt. Vernon is listed in serious condition at the Patie A. Clay Hospital in Richmond following a shooting Monday afternoon about 5:30 p.m. at Waco in Madison County.

fight up and in doing so, shot Mr. Pittman in the abdomen. Mr. Pittman allegedly then took gun away from Rogers and shot him in the leg.

Both Pittman and Rogers were taken to the Patie A. Clay Hospital and Rogers was released Tuesday following treatment.

School Board Discusses MVES Fire; Hear Facilities Survey Amendment

The main topic on the agenda of the Rockcastle County Board of Education Monday night was that of deciding what to do about the Mt. Vernon Elementary School annex which was heavily damaged by a fire Wednesday night, September 24th.

Superintendent Charles B. Parsons told the board that in order to expedite repairs to the building, he had been informed by the State Department of Education that the board could declare a state of emergency and Mr. Parsons then explained to the board that this was a State Department of Education requirement that an architect be called in to assess damage to the building and that he had done so. The architect, Donald B. Shelton, met at the school with several contractors to explain just what repairs he felt would be required and these included a new furnace, duct-work, ceiling, roof and floor in all areas, classrooms damaged by the fire.

Only two bids were received for the project and these were opened at 9 a.m. Dale Bray, an adjuster for Farm Bureau Insurance which whom the school board carried the fire policy on the building, questioned the architect's reasoning in replacing the entire roof of the damaged section plus all the rafters and the furnace. Mr. Bray told the board that he could very well be that this restorative work was needed but he felt that he needed more than the architect's statement to justify the project as a bid in by the contractors.

During the discussion on the repairs, Mr. Parsons told the Board that Michael Lasher of the State Department of Education, Department of Building and Grounds, had visited the site of the fire and had agreed that the furnace would have to be replaced. He also said that the architect told the contractors that any rubble which that could not be salvaged should be figured into the contractor's bid but must be replaced in the building with new material.

Following the discussion, Mr. Bray said that final approval for the repairs at the bid price would have to come from his home office in Louisville and that could not be obtained for 10 days. The low bid was accepted by the board, subject to the approval of the bid by the insurance company.

Also during the meeting the Board approved the 1975-76 close estimate budget which shows a total revenue expected of $1,875,520.61. Mr. Parsons included teachers' salaries - 9% increase voted by the Legislature; transportation, gasoline - $37,000 last year and this year, $40,000; bus drivers contracted in 1975 - $17,000 this year up $3,000 from last year; electricity - $55,000 last year and $57,000 this year and custodian supplies, a jump of $10,000 from last year to $22,000.

The Board unanimously approved the close estimate budget.

The Board also approved application for PL 874 funds, approved the hiring of Mrs. Sue Ford to replace Mrs. Beverly Hill and Mrs. Iris Young for the position formerly held by Mrs. Vincent French; employed James Gibbons and William Croucher as contract bus drivers; hired Leon Durkin of Livingston as school bus garage mechanic - Mr. Durham to receive $95 per month for his duties there and for driving a school bus and approved the application for CETA In-School work program.

During the meeting, the Board also heard the report from the State Department of Education concerning the Facilities Survey Report which was made here in June of 1974. At the time of the first report, the Board did not like at least one of its recommendations and submitted their own priority for school construction in the county which was pretty much followed by the amendment to the Facilities Survey report by the committee from the State Department of Education.

The amendment to the original report contains the following recommendations which are self-explanatory:

(A) School Organization - The 84 plan should be continued for the interim with the district moving toward the middle school plan of organization.

(B) School Centers (1) Secondary - Rockcastle County High School - a permanent center to serve all 8-12 grade students of the county (2) New middle school - a new facility on a site in the vicinity of Mt. Vernon. This facility should be constructed in phase with the first phase being built to house approximately 350 students from the Mt. Vernon and Blue Springs Elementary Schools.

This planing is recommended because of the present financial ability of the district to eliminate crowded conditions at Mt. Vernon Elementary and to close Blue Springs Elementary School.

(3) Elementary (A) Brookfield - A permanent elementary center to house approximately 500 students. Renovation of the older section of this building will be necessary to provide good facilities. (B) Mt. Vernon - A permanent elementary center to house approximately 825 students. Renovation of these buildings should be done keeping in mind that it will eventually become a

1-5 grade center although some other grade organization may be housed there for the interim. (C) Roundstone - A permanent elementary center for grades 1-8. (D) Livingston - An interim facility which must be used for an extended period of time. Adequate maintenance is to be provided to insure standards of health and safety although major renovation and/or ad-

COUNCIL HOLDS CALLED MEETING

The Mt. Vernon City Council met in called session Monday night and passed several motions, including one concerning the parking lot on Richmond Street in Mt. Vernon adjacent to the railroad tracks.

The Council decided to divide the parking lot in half, giving one-half to all-day parking and the other half to less than two-hour parking with the parking spaces being marked off to provide for more efficient parking.

Also during the meeting, the Council approved the installation of an antennae for the hospital on top of the city's tower.

COMPROMISE GETS LATE SPURT OF VOTES

A late spurt of 62 votes for a compromise on Lake Livinville was not included in last week's tabulation and with this number, the opinion for a compromise on Lake Livinville which would provide for all types of recreation, surged ahead over the second opinion which showed support for the Council's action by 167 to 99.

Also, there were 36 persons of the opinion that Lake Livinville should be signed as it presently is.

All of these signed opinions was brought to the City Council meeting next Monday night for anyone's, including Council members, inspection.

FRANKFORT WATCHLINE

It is beginning to appear that the only significant action in the current campaign for statewide offices in Louisville and Jefferson County.

And were it not for the heated busing issue, it is very likely that populous area would be as quiet as the rest of the state.

Republican gubernatorial candidate Robert Gable brought the fight to Gov. Julian Carroll by jumping early into the busing fray, and since then, Carroll hasn't been idle on the issue.

It is Carroll, however, who stands to lose the most in Jefferson County. As observers there point out, Carroll is in danger of being badly beaten there simply because he is an incumbent.

In the minds of many of the voters in Kentucky's urban center incumbency is seen enough to vote someone else's office.

Incumbency, and not a given candidate's stand on the sensitive busing issue, is the prime issue of the campaign, even to the point of endangering some of the most rabid anti-busing incumbents.

Except in Frankfort, most of the rest of the state has as little concern for the election as it does about busing.

Besides having to face voter apathy, both political parties are having to face a growing national trend away from party allegiance.

Again this year, Republicans are not identifying themselves in campaign literature and advertisements as Republicans.

There are no elephants, no log cabins, not even a "paid for by Republicans" label.

As GOP executive director Larry Van Hook points out, for obvious reasons Republicans can't appeal along strictly party lines and hope to win.

But, both he and Bill Curfin, Carroll's campaign chief, point to a growing trend and feeling the part of voters to consider themselves independent, rather than Republican or Democrat.

Obviously, the Republicans, at least in Kentucky, need to be more concerned about the trend. They have both more to lose and more to gain by such a movement. So Van Hook notes that his party is constantly trying to sell the man, rather than some ephemeral party philosophy.

Outnumbered two-to-one in Kentucky, the Republicans are hurt badly when those they count upon calling themselves Independents, but if they can sell the man, they have so much more gain from similar defectors from the opposition.

What Curfin says is his Democrats have going for them is that polls they have taken show that while so-called independents comprise a huge bloc of votes, even the independents, if asked, will admit leaning toward the Democrats in this state.

Even a huge victory in Jefferson County for Gable and his running mates is unlikely to stem Julian Carroll's strength in the rest of the state, but the GOP does stand to make some gains this year even if the top of the ticket doesn't pull it off.

The intense voter interest in Jefferson County for an anti-incumbent backlash combined with independent thinking elsewhere, could result in an increase in the GOP legislative delegation.

Now standing at about 20 per cent in both the House and the Senate, the minority party in the state House is not even as large as the Jefferson County caucus and not much larger than the Northern Kentucky caucus. Any significant gains by the Republicans in the legislature would give them more of a voice next year.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Being a resident and taxpayer of Mt. Vernon and Rockcastle County for nearly fifty years, and having a small part in the existence of Lake Linville at Renfro Valley, I feel that I should speak out against what seems to me to be a selfish attitude of a small group of people, who want things their way.

In my humble opinion Lake Linville should be used for the recreation of all citizens and guests of Rockcastle County, particularly the taxpayers of the City of Mt. Vernon. After all they are the ones who are burdened with forty years of indebtedness for this fine piece of property.

As an ex-superintendent for the City of Mt. Vernon, for water, sewer, streets etc. of nearly 12 years and the only holder of a certified license to operate the water system, I feel like I should have a little knowledge of the problem pertaining to motors on the lake. I feel that if such a ruling that was passed at the last regular meeting by the Mt. Vernon City Council is put into effect as to gasoline motors, within two years you will nearly be able to walk across most of Lake Linville on the so-called moss or algae -- in other words on a green pond.

Algae coming into the water plant a little at a time is not as bad as the whole lake being completely choked. If gasoline motors were contaminating the drinking water as some people lead us to believe, why do favorable reports from the state board of health continue to come back twice a month?

--Looks to me like the few fishermen who are pushing this issue should be satisfied with nine months out of the year and let pleasure boats and skiers use the lake for the three hot months.

I would like to think my children and grandchildren could use the facilities during vacation and not be restricted to fishing off the bank or using a soft boat or an electric trolling motor only.

Jack R. Craig

Mayor Roland Mullins
 City Council
 City Hall
 Mt. Vernon, Kentucky

Dear Sirs,

This letter is from a concerned native of Rockcastle County in relation to Lake Linville and the banning of gas engine boats. Lake Linville is the only good thing that has happened to Rockcastle County in the last ten years, with the exception of I-75. It has had and will have a drastic effect towards economic growth of the County, for the worse, if you ban gas engine boats. The lake should be allowed to be used by fishermen and boating (gas engines) alike.

To have the City Council sit in judgement of such an important issue is very wrong. All the Citizens of the County should be allowed to have a vote in this matter, I neither nor fish, but pay taxes in the County. I had future plans for some nice homes on Lake Linville, but with decisions like this being made by the Mt. Vernon City Council, it is enough to make one wonder if he is investing his money wisely. Rockcastle County is a poor County and needs all the revenue it can get. Decisions like this won't help.

I, for one, urge the Council to take a long hard look at this matter. The money from fishing revenue only on Lake Linville wouldn't be enough to sweep the streets in Mt. Vernon twice in a given year. The boat dock can bring the City much needed funds and furnish Rockcastle County with thousands of dollars spent by tourist, that otherwise would be spent in the Lake Cumberland area. You only have to pay a visit to Somerset to see what water and money do when put to the proper use. Keep the boats (gas engines), expand the dock and patrol the lake and charge accordingly.

Sincerely,

William K. Cummins

"SCHOOL BOARD"

(Cont. From Front) ditions will not be undertaken. Late studies of student population in this area must determine the permanence of the school. (E) Blue Springs - A very temporary facility to be closed after the first phase of the middle school is constructed.

(F) New Elementary - If growth should continue in the Mt. Vernon area, long-range planning would dictate a new elementary school constructed on a site south of Mt. Vernon and near 175.

(C) Transportation: A three-bay bus garage with complete facilities for bus repair and maintenance should be constructed on the Rockcastle County High School site. (D) Priorities for Capital Outlay Expenditures: (1) Construction of a middle school in the vicinity of Mt. Vernon in house grades 6-8. This facility should be constructed in phases with the first phase being built to house approximately 350 students. (2) Renovation of the older sections of Brodhead and Mt. Vernon Elementary Schools to bring them up to the best possible condition as permanent elementary centers. (3) Site expansion at the central office building by acquisition of adjacent property to provide space for off-street parking. (4) A new three-bay bus garage should be constructed on the site of the High School and Vocational School. (5) Addition of instructional areas and parking space for the Vocational School is recommended, when funds become available. (Priority can be waived). (6) If growth should continue in the Mt. Vernon area, long-range planning would dictate a new elementary school constructed on a site south of Mt. Vernon and near 175.

In loving memory of Robert Croucher who passed away October 3, 1968. Just nine years have passed since that sad day, it only seems like yesterday.

Your vacant place can never be filled, the memories of you linger still.

Some day we will meet again to part no more and all my heartaches will be o'er. Sadly missed by, Wife, Mollie. Daughters and sons.

All hunters and deer hunters in particular, need to be made aware of certain changes in hunting season dates and procedures at Ft. Campbell, changes which the Department

ROCKETS LOSE TO LYNN CAMP 10-12

The Rockcastle Rockets were stymied the second half of play last Friday night and saw their 12-0 lead, held until the last minute and two seconds of the second quarter, vanish under a good offensive onslaught by the Lynn Camp Wildcats.

The Rockets scored early in the game on a hand-off from Quarterback Earl Harmon to David Owens who ran 84 yards from the score. The extra points were no good but the Rockets were ahead 6-0. The Rockets second score came on a run up in the middle by sophomore Billy Hackworth.

In addition to the loss, the Rockets suffered another injury key player, Larry Baker, whose ankle was injured late in the last half.

This Friday night, the Rockets will journey to Trimble County.

JAYVEES WIN AGAINST BUSH

The Rockcastle Jayvees won their fourth game of the season last Thursday night when they defeated Bush 8-0 at Rockcastle County High School. The Jayvees score came late in the first half on a pass from Rick Anderkin to Eddie

The second change affecting deer hunters at Ft. Campbell is that both gun and bow hunters must take part in a drawing to determine both eligibility to hunt and area assignments for Oct. 23-24 and on all week-end hunts. Applications can be submitted only on the Monday or Wednesday before the weekend, and hunters must call Ft. Campbell between noon Thursday and 6 p.m. Friday to see if they have been successful in the drawing. If a hunter does not call, his application is voided and given to someone else.

Such the same procedure applies on Oct. 29-30. Applications must be in before Oct. 28, and hunters must call to confirm their selection between 1 p.m. Oct. 29 and 6 p.m. Oct. 22.

For additional information or to enter the drawings, hunters must get in touch with the Hunting and Fishing Unit Outdoor Recreation Branch, Ft. Campbell, KY. 42223. The phone number is (502) 798-3509 or 798-2929. Week-end deer hunts and small game hunts will be on a first-come, first served basis as in the past.

According to Col. Dale K. Randels, director of facilities engineering at Ft. Campbell, it was necessary to close Tuesdays and Wednesdays to hunting because of manpower shortages on the post, and the drawings were initiated to avoid long lines of hunters on peak hunting days.

Thompson in the end zone and the extra point was good by David Pensol. The first touch-down was nullified by an officials penalty against the Rockets but the same play worked twice as the Rockets went in for the score again.

"FISCAL COURT"

(Cont. From Front) cover letter was being sent to the Attorney General office along with a request for an investigation.

In other action, the Court hired Elmer Decker as janitor for the courthouse at a salary of $250 per month and approved the advertisement for bids for oil-treated stoker Barbourville coal to be opened November 4 at 9 a.m.

In addition to the loss, the Rockets suffered another injury key player, Larry Baker, whose ankle was injured late in the last half.

IN REMEMBRANCE

In remembrance of Johnny Wayne Childress who died September 22, 1972.

It seems like only yesterday that God stopped while He was passing through and took our beloved Johnny on his way, over on God's everlasting shore to live there with Him forevermore. But it has been three long years ago the 22nd day of September.

Only God knows how much we miss him for he was there with all of us through our sorrow and tears that we all shared.

His shining face and laughing way that we all miss in our own special ways.

Sadly missed by, Mom and Dad, Sisters and Brothers, Wife, Son, and Daughter

AFTER SCHOOL SNACKS

The refrigerator and the pantry are the most popular places in the house right after school. Many children are just too hungry to wait until dinner time for food.

Why not plan some snacks for after-school eating that will add 'loads to grow' on to the meal plan for the day. Snacks should be easy on the teeth and not ruin appetites for dinner. Snacks that would fit in this category would be the not too sweet snacks that provide extra vitamins and minerals for the day.

There are many easy to prepare snacks that will appeal to the after-school crowd. Let your children know which foods are available for snacking. This will prevent eating foods that you may have had on the menu for dinner. You might plan a shelf in the refrigerator or in the pantry for snack foods. Here are several suggestions for popular snacks to be kept in the refrigerator and the pantry.

Dry sugarcorn cereal with milk.

Bread with cheese or meat.

Raw vegetables with cheese or peanut butter dip.

Roasted peanuts.

Fruit juices.

Fresh, dried or canned fruits, packed in natural juices or with a light syrup.

Milk or milk drinks.

Quickie pizzas, frankfurters, cold cuts, hard cooked eggs and peanut butter.

Cookies that are not too sweet such as oatmeal, raisins, molasses and peanut butter.

There is a good chance that you will save money with some of these easy to prepare snacks, not only with money value but also with nutritive value.

Man Is — A creature who lives not upon bread alone, but principally by catch-words.

John Rush, a member of the Mt. Vernon Fire Dept., inspects the corner of the Hiett 5 & 10 building which vandals tried to catch on fire last Thursday morning by stuffing paper between the weatherboarding of the building and the inside. The fire was discovered before it could do any damage.
