Oscar Moore of Berea, Kentucky, one of the carpenters employed here in the building of the original Renfro Valley complex, is back again after the passage of a good many years and has just completed an addition to the old original Renfro Valley Home log building preparatory to turning it into a second museum. People have wondered why in the world we would sell the huge museum collection we had and start out again with a smaller one. The answer is that it had grown too large. There was no building big enough to house it and we couldn't afford to build one big enough.

Also, we figured that we didn't really have a need for a museum here for things like stage coaches, Hansom cabs, high-wheeled bicycles, cigar store indians and the like, examples of progress in other parts of the country, as much as we needed items more suited to our surroundings. The old stage coach at Monticello, which operated in Kentucky would have been appropriate here and I tried for years to buy it, offering a price for it I would be ashamed to admit but it was not for sale and probably will not be within the present generation, largely on account of family pride and loyalty. It should be on display somewhere, being the finest and most complete example of such a conveyance I have ever seen. The old stage coach I had was genuine Wells Fargo and is, I believe, the oldest made by Abbot-Dowling still in actual usable condition, but I found it abandoned and going to ruin, way out in the distant state of Wyoming - a far cry indeed from Renfro Valley and the Kentucky Mountains. It's a good museum piece and the young man who brought it at our sale, along with another good carriage, has the reputation of a valuable collection of horse-drawn vehicles.

Our Renfro Valley Museum, in its original state, was also a bit top-heavy on firearms. Our collection of rifles and revolvers with historical connections were fine, but we had so many duplications of various original weapons, that people would tire of looking at them. Some people made a point of taking a few home with them to examine them at their leisure, neglecting to bring them back. One midnight visitor, so finicky he didn't like anything but old-cap-and-ball Colt revolvers, went through three locks to carry off a collection of them worth a lot of money. It is an old saying that even an honest man will steal a country ham or a Kentucky rifle and there may be some truth in it, especially in regards to the rifle. For many years, I was afraid to leave home, expecting most of the small arms to be carried away in my absence and even long, heavy rifles were not always safe.

The new museum we are undertaking will be much safer from pilferage. In the first place, a lot of the stuff will be of no value to the average visitor and therefore, not worth stealing. In the second place, most of it will be too heavy to carry away.

We hope to open it to the public next year as part of the Bicentennial Celebration, for which it will be particularly suitable.

We will call it the Pioneer Life Museum and will attempt to have it more illustrative of the life of the Kentucky pioneer than anything else that has been undertaken. We have many of the individual exhibits already at hand and are on the search for others. The biggest problem, which presents itself, is how to make up the cards which will label the exhibits so that the lettering will be legible at a distance. Hand-lettering would be too expensive, so a typewriter makes letters large enough; printing might also be costly. We do want everything plainly labeled, not left in piled up confusion and unidentified as so much of our old museum was for so many years.

This article, of course, is not intended for inclusion in our county history but borders largely upon an idea the book should be able to bring out; the sweeping and amazing changes made in our way of life in America. I believe that in our museum exhibit, we can give the viewer a more accurate concept of these changes than has ever had before. We can demonstrate how the typical pioneer could come into the wilderness with only a rifle and ax and make a full and complete life for himself and his family.

For instance, our first exhibit would consist of a hand-wrought axe, broadaxe and froe, which he could make for himself, and with which he could build his house and barn and make rails to fence his fields. Next exhibit might show a flintlock rifle and hand-wrought hoe, both of which he could make for himself and with which he could kill game and grow corn with which to feed his family. The primitive hand stone on which he ground the corn into meal we already have, together with the equipment with which he made his own bullets. Another exhibit would show the spinning wheel and loom, which he himself made and by which his wife clothed the family, while he tanned his own leather and made shoes for each member.

This exhibit and demonstration can be carried on and on until he was laid away in a homemade coffin and a neighbor hand-lettered in crude fashion the slab of stone that marked his last resting place.

It's hard to imagine the absolute independence of the American Pioneer - the independence of thought and action that made this

The 7-digit number required. -Falling to dial the "1 plus" DDD Access Code. Dialing 1 plus tells the electronic equipment to get ready to put through a DDD call. All DDD calls must therefore begin by dialing "1" followed by the Area Code (if applicable) and the 7-digit telephone number of the party being called.

A few customers are still dialing their old 3-digit access code which, of course, will stop the call from going through successfully.

However it is clear from the increasing use being made of DDD that the majority of customers have adapted to the new system and are increasingly taking advantage of the facilities offered by this modern switching center.

WIG FOR SMALL CHANGE

The smartest, beauty investments are often based on common sense—like a small purchase that will make a big change for the better.

A bright idea that many women are discovering is the wig or hairpiece for an all-new look at little expense. A woman can have a sleek chignon, young bob with bangs, blow-dry locks or something really exotic without cutting her hair or permanently changing her style.

One of the newest advances in wigs is a special plastic coating that is applied to the strands. This makes the wig as good on a rainy day as on a dry one—which is more than any woman can say about her own hair.

These practical wigs are by Venetian and made of fine vinyl or stereoregular fiber from Milan, Italy. And the brightest styles straight from Europe are available for as little as $25. The wigs are pre-cut and require only a shake when taken out of the package. No setting is needed, and the wig can be washed out with a splash of mild soap in the sink at home.

When it's time to revitalize your beauty line, think of your crowning glory—and think wig.

CONSUMER COMMENT

By Ed W. Hancock
Attorney General of Kentucky

The furnace inspector who drops in to check your furnace free of charge may warm your heart, but he may not warm your house. Beware of phony furnace inspectors who may try to persuade you to have unnecessary work done on your furnace.

As the weather turns colder, consumers are reminded to have their furnace inspected, cleaned and repaired - if repairs are needed. There are many reputable firms that will do just that.

There also may be others who want to sell you unnecessary parts of a whole new furnace, if possible.

Let's review the guidelines to protect yourself against the unscrupulous furnace repairman:

*Be cautious when approached by anyone who offers a free furnace inspection.

*Don't let anyone take your furnace apart for inspection or cleaning unless you are sure that he is qualified to do so - and will both inspect and reassemble it free of charge.

*Don't take an inspector's word that he is qualified. Investigate every home improvement firm you deal with. Call the Consumer Protection Division, the Better Business Bureau, the National Home Improvement Council, the National Remodelers Association or a local home builders group. Ask around.

*Investigate inspectors and dealers in advance, if possible. If there is ever a real danger of an explosion or of poisonous fumes, you will want to get quickly to have your furnace repaired. Advance checking can do away with the possibility that an inspector might use scare tactics to get you to panic and sign a contract too quickly - without checking past service or shopping for the best price.

*During an inspection, watch carefully. A fraudulent inspector may bring his own broken parts with him and pretend that they are yours.

*After an inspection, get a second opinion. If you've been told your furnace is beyond repair, have it confirmed by a heating engineer. If an inspector recommends a particular heating engineer, it could mean that the inspector and the engineer are working together. Find your own.

*Obtain written estimates or competitive bids on replacements or major overhauls. Beware of unusually low bids.

*As always, get any guarantee or warranty in writing. If you have a consumer complaint, write to the Attorney General's Office, Consumer Protection Division, Room 34, Capitol Building, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. Kentucky residents may use the toll-free hotline:

Congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Luther Eno Linville who were married by Rev. Ray Dean at the Fairview Baptist Church Saturday. Mrs. Linville is the former Delilah Alexander of Boone. May God bless this nice couple with a lovely life of happiness and prosperity.

The idea of the cotton gin was born when Eli Whitney overheard some farmers discussing how economically hazardous it was to grow cotton, because of the labor required

Elmer Hale of the Scaffold Cane area grew some prize turnips this year and one example is shown in the above photo. Mr. Hale said that this turnip weighed two pounds and was 7 inches straight across and 17 inches around. It also stayed pretty warm in the Scaffold Cane area this year, up to the 14th of November anyway because that's when Mr. Hale broke off the miniature holl-hock he is holding in his hand. Mr. Hale said that he had had Redbuds in bloom as late as December 23.

To separate seed from lint, Eli Whitney then went out and built a machine which would turn out 50 pounds of cleaned cotton a day!

People once grew leaks on their roofs to ward off lightning and similar evils which could cause leaks in their roofs.

Kentucky Afield

BY: JOHN WILSON
GUEST WRITER

With the first part of Kentucky's split duck season opening November 19, now is a good time to review some of this year's regulations.

Again this season, hunters will be using a point system to determine daily and possession limits on ducks. Although the basic framework is similar to last year's, some of the point values have been changed.

Under the point system, each species of duck is assigned a point value from 10 to 100. A hunter reaches his daily limit when the value of the duck taken, added to the point values of those ducks already in his bag, reaches or exceeds 100 points.

This means that a hunter can return from a blind with more than 100 points of ducks and still be legal. If, for example, he takes a 35-point duck and six 10-point ducks (for a total of 95 points), he may still take another duck of any value, even a 100-point bird. So it's possible to have 195 points and still be legal.

But if he shoots the 100-point duck first, that's all for the day and anyone continuing to hunt with a duck or ducks with a value of 100 points or over in his possession is in violation of the law.

The possession limit under the point system is the maximum number of ducks which could have been taken in two days.

This year's point values are as follows: 100 points—canvas-back and redhead; 90 points—hen mallard, black duck, wood duck and hooded merganser; 10 points—pintail, blue-winged, cinnamon and green-winged teal, gadwall, shoveler and scaup; and 35 points—drake mallard and all other species of ducks and mergansers. Coots are assigned a point value of zero, but with a daily limit of 15 and a possession limit of 30.

The point system is designed to encourage selective shooting and the hunter who is proficient at on-the-wing identification is likely to come home with more ducks than the one who identifies the species after he shoots. But some type of species identification is necessary to avoid running afoul of both state and federal laws.

The first part of the season opens at noon (prevailing time) November 19 and runs through November 26, with the second part of the season from noon, December 10 through January 20, 1976. Duck hunters usually like to be in the blind well before daylight, so don't get over-anxious and forget about those noon shooting hours on the two opening days. Except for those two days, shooting hours are from one-half hour before sunrise until sunset (prevailing time).

For additional information about waterfowl hunting, write to the Kentucky Department of Fish and Game, 1000 Commonwealth Building, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. The guide also contains an in-hand identification guide). The address is: Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Division for Public Relations, Capital Plaza, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

NEWS Of Education

Encouraging Progress

Like Americans, Koreans love know-how. Till recently an impoverished nation with 12 percent literacy rate, Korea now has 96 percent plus, and there are 83 colleges and universities (compared to just one in 1953) plus so many graduate professionals and technicians that the country now exports brain-power and know-how. Korea is even sending skills to advanced countries. More than 10,000 nurses from what used to be called the "hermit kingdom" have relocated to the United States, Canada and West Germany.

A highly skilled engineering/construction team of 15,000 South Koreans employed by 25 construction companies is building roads, bridges, dams, power plants and housing in other countries.

Back home, South Koreans have built a six-mile subway in the capital of Seoul, a shipyard which builds super-tankers for Greek shipping magnates and others, and a 266-mile, four-lane highway through the steep mountains.

The revolution? According to C.H. Park, chairman of the Korean Traders Association, it is "Our national emphasis for education, especially the practical kind. Replacing the Confucian concentration of philosophy and other cultural subjects, modern South Korea is stressing the practical sciences and technologies needed to feed, shelter, defend and improve the quality of life of the once impoverished Korean people."

When So Many Families Choose Dowell & Martin There Must Be A Reason...

There is. It is the way the people at DOWELL & MARTIN work in the interest of each family they serve. They believe that each family should have what it wants.

There is very little difference in the quality of products offered by various firms but there still remains a vast difference in the service offered. The public knows this, and, here at the DOWELL & MARTIN FUNERAL HOME, we are also fully aware that "Personalized Service" is our greatest asset.

Why do more families choose DOWELL & MARTIN? Because of the satisfaction they get from having someone to count on, every time.

small and supposedly weak young country face up to and face down the world's mightiest empire. He learned self-reliance of necessity and it stayed with us, his descendants, for a long time but it's gone now. How many of you who read this can yet remember how, not so many years ago, your own family yet retained some of that spirit of self-sufficiency? You raised most of what you ate, mother made most of your clothing and traded eggs for most of what came from the grocery store. When winter came, there was no heat in the smokehouse, groves in the cellar, corn in the crib and cabbage, potatoes and turnips in the hole. You had enough laid up to live on for a year and the price of heat and fuel made no difference to you.

Of course, we have things now the early pioneer did not have. We have electricity, steam heat, automobiles, TV, telephones, hospitals, expensive homes and many other things. Some of the things we also have now the early pioneer didn't have are rent, fuel bills, grocery bills, clothing bills, taxes, monthly installments, doctor bills and garage bills.

All in all, he may not have had it so bad after all.

GRADE ADVANCE RATES FOR 1975 CROP BURLEY TOBACCO ANNOUNCED

The U.S. Department of Agriculture today announced advance rates by grade for the 1975 crop Burley tobacco ranging from 70 cents to $1.02 a pound.

The rates reflect an average support of 96.1 cents per pound, about 12 per cent above 1974. Increases over 1974 grade rates range from 5 to 12 cents per pound.

As in the past years, growers will offer their tobacco at auction markets in the usual manner, and advances will be made available through producer cooperative associations.

Under the program now in effect for Burley tobacco, farmers who certify that they have not used pesticides containing DDT, DBC, Toxaphene and Endrin on their tobacco can market up to 110 percent of their farm poundage quotas. However, any marketing over a farm's poundage quota will be subtracted from next year's quota.

As in the past, no advances will be made on any tobacco graded No-G (No-Grade), U (Unsound), W (Doubtful Keeping Order), or scrap. Marketings of these grades,

Bicentennial Symbol

A star in any decorating scheme is a quilted pillow depicting the official symbol of our country's 200th birthday, particularly when it's one you've created yourself. The symbol is derived from the stars, stripes and colors of the American flag, in the form of a 5-pointed star in white, surrounded by continuous red, white and blue stripes, forming a second star to symbolize the two centuries of America's existence.

Kits for making a pillow or a full-length quilt are available from B & B Needlecrafts, 2277 Union Ave., Memphis, Tenn. 38104, with complete instructions and all the necessary materials in pure cotton—the most popular material of the Colonial era.

Additional copies of the rate schedule may be obtained from the Tobacco and Peanut Division, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington DC 20250.

Burley tobacco is grown primarily in Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Missouri.

TIPS ON BICYCLING

A bicycle craze has gripped the country. Once mostly a child's activity, bicycling is now a favorite with people of all ages—as a family pastime, a source of recreation, a physical fitness exercise, and oftentimes, an economical means of transportation. Over 60 million Americans have become bicycle riders.

Bicycling is meant to be fun and safe. Although bicycles don't need a lot of attention, they should never be neglected. The chain, axle, and other moving parts should be cleaned and lubricated periodically. Every rider should learn to change a tire and check brake levers, cables, and brake blocks. Tires should always be inflated to the proper pressure which is usually indicated on the side of the tire in raised letters. Regular car wax will protect a bicycle's finish and keep it new looking for years.

Defensive riding is the responsibility of every cyclist. Thomas F. Henry, Director of Safety Services for The Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, outlines the following as rules for safe riding.

- Keep right, riding with traffic.
- Ride single file.
- Don't carry passengers or packages that obstruct your view.

• Use hand signals to indicate turning or stopping.
• Use required reflectors and lights when riding at night.

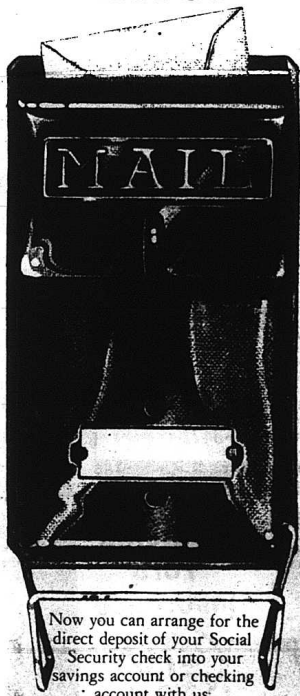

• Wear comfortable clothing. Don't wear anything that might hamper your ability to maneuver the bicycle.

• Watch out for road conditions. Be on the lookout for drainage grates, oil spills, potholes, and broken glass.
• If you do see a pothole coming up, face it straight on and try not to lift the bike as you ride over it by standing on the pedals.

• "Bicycle riders must conform to the same laws that govern the use of automobiles. They must stop at stop signs, red lights etc." Mr. Henry says. "Some communities may have additional restrictions on the use of bicycles, and cyclists should check on these by contacting the safety division of their local police department."

NUTRITIOUS DESSERT USES CEREAL

Although you probably think of cereals as breakfast food, you can use cereals in many recipes, including desserts. CREAM OF WHEAT Cereal, a favorite on chilly mornings, adds iron and B vitamins to Apricot Crunch Squares. In addition, the tangy-sweet filling is chock full of vitamin A. The next time you're baking, make this nutritious dessert. It's delicious too!

APRICOT CRUNCH SQUARES
 8 ounces dried apricots
 1 1/2 cups water
 1/3 cup granulated sugar
 1 cup CREAM OF WHEAT Cereal, Regular or Quick (uncooked)
 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
 1 cup finely chopped walnuts
 1/2 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 ice cream, optional
 Simmer apricots in water, uncovered, about 20 minutes, or until tender. Mash; then stir in granulated sugar until well blended. In another bowl, combine next six ingredients; mix with remaining butter or margarine. Press half of cereal cut in 6 tablespoons butter or margarine. Bake in greased baking pan. Top with apricot mixture, spreading evenly. Cover with remaining cereal mixture and press down firmly. Dot with remaining butter or margarine. Bake in greased moderate oven (375°F.) 40 to 45 minutes, or until lightly browned. Serve warm or cooled with ice cream, if desired. Makes 16 (about 2-inch) squares.

New KTC Equipment In Service Since Sept. 6

The new switching equipment in Kentucky Telephone company's London Office has been working satisfactorily since it was brought into service at 2 PM on Saturday, September 6th. Since that date over 18,000 customers using the facilities provided by the new electronic equipment have changed their dialing habits - at least when they remember to forget old habits.

Customers are now dialing 90 percent of all directly dialable calls compared with less than 50 percent immediately prior to the cutover and the percentage is increasing every day as more and more customers take advantage of the QUICKER and CHEAPER DDD service. The Company expects that customers will eventually dial about 97 percent of all dialable calls.

Mistakes customers still make are:

- Dialing the digits "606" when making calls to places within the 606 Area Code. If these digits are included the call will not go through. The correct procedure is to dial only 1 plus

EDA Responds to City's Request to Reduce Water Rates for Elderly

The plan by Mayor Roland Mullins and the Mt. Vernon City Council to reduce water rates for elderly residents of Mt. Vernon has received some encouragement with the receiving of a letter from the Economic Development Administration in response to a letter written to them by City Attorney Carl Clontz.

In Mr. Clontz's letter to the EDA, he asked, on behalf of the city, whether or not the rates for persons qualifying under the Homestead Exemption Act, could receive a reduced water rate.

The answer to this request written by Franklin H. James,

Chief, Technical Support Division of the EDA, reads as follows:

"I am writing you in response to your request for authorization to lower the water rates for the elderly."

"The ordinance authorizing the advance of $624,000 in bonds, which are held by EDA, gives the City the authority to change your water rates at any time the City feels necessary. The criteria is that the rate structure must be such as to produce sufficient revenues to provide for operation expense, debt service and the necessary reserve funds named in the ordinance. If you propose a rate structure which meets this test, you may revise the water rates. If you do change the rate, please furnish us a copy of the new rate.

As to the question of providing water service to the elderly at a reduced rate, I would suggest you seek the advice of your City Attorney as to whether you may classify residential customers by age."

When contacted Tuesday, City Attorney Carl Clontz said he had not had time to research the proposal since the letter had been received by Mayor Mullins from EDA. Of course, should the Council decide to go ahead with the project, an ordinance would have to be passed setting forth the new rates for persons qualifying.

If you have never registered, moved or will be eighteen next year, you will need to register.

Also, Mr. Bales reported that 55 of the 56 election officers attended the instruction day held prior to the November General Election and he felt this was the cause of the election going so smoothly. He expressed his appreciation to these officers for their efforts.

Rockets Open Season: Lose to Oneida 87-63

BY: RICK ANDERKIN

The Rockcastle County Rockets opened their basketball season Friday night at Oneida and the Rockets, going into the season with only four seniors, were defeated 87-63.

As might be gathered from the score, the Rockets did not play good basketball; but, there were a few high points of the game for the Rockets such as senior center, Galan Vanhook, who got 25 points and 16 rebounds, and Billy Hackwoth, sophomore guard, who came off the bench in the second half to score 14 points.

But generally, the Rockets, an experienced team this year, were sloppy. Even though they started three out of four seniors, they were inexperienced due to not getting to play much last season because they were playing behind seniors.

In all fairness, the Rockets opened the season after only two days of actual team practice and Oneida, who had already played four games of their regular season, is a fine team with only one defeat thus far. We expect Coach Bill Riddle to come up with his usual winning season this year despite the loss of such fine talent from last year's team at Eddie Hammond, Dwight Griffin, Dale Whitaker and John Clontz.

The five starting players were Jeff Burdette and John Nugent, both juniors, and Vanhook, Bill Belcher and Bill Henderson, all seniors.

Besides Vanhook and Hackwoth, other Rockets scoring were: Belcher with 3 points and several rebounds; Bill Henderson, 8 points and 11 rebounds;

Jeff Burdette, 4 points (hitting on 2 out of 3 shots); John Clontz, 2 points; Frankie Durham, 4 points; Larry Harmon, 2 and David Owens, 1.

This Friday night the Rockets take on Anville at home.

FRANKFORT WATCHLINE

Legislators, at least those willing to take the time, will have available to them much information never before available to lawmakers on the budget.

Until this year, legislators often got their first glimpse of the executive budget when the government's office placed copies in their hands, leaving them precious little time to do an adequate review before passing their routine approval on it.

This year, thanks to legislation during the 1974 session, the Legislative Research Commission has the same agency requests in hand that the governor's staff will be working from.

There is even talk of an "alternative" budget, a budget actually put together by the General Assembly staff, to compare with what Julian Carroll eventually comes up with.

Hardly anyone is giving any serious thought to wholesale substitution of the legislative budget for the executive budget, but the working papers being drafted by the LRC will at least give the legislators something to go on in the event there is a major change they want.

Add to this the most intensive meetings ever of the appropriations and Revenue Committee during the interim, and it appears the legislature will at least be able to flex its muscles on the budget for a change.

Appropriations and Revenue was not the only interim committee active during the months since the last session of the General Assembly.

Bills prefilled for this coming session total 174, more than double those coming out of committee the previous interim, and more than five times as many in the 1970-71 interim.

Demands on legislators also increased, and although not all responded to the demands, the lawmakers averaged coming to committee meetings on 18 days.

Some legislators are convinced that the work done during this interim was the most productive ever and will be reflected once the legislative session gets underway. There are, however, some legislators who still view the interim committee system as virtually useless, since no definitive action can be taken.

The biggest legislative issue in the next few weeks will be the leadership, which will be decided the last day of this month at Kentucky Dam Village when the legislators gather for party caucuses before the pre-legislative conference gets underway.

The real work on this, of course, being done now.

Despite the publically-stated hands-off position Gov. Carroll has taken, he has become more and more clear that the Senate leadership posts will go to Sen. Joe Prather, D-Vine Grove, and Sen. Tom Garrett, D-Paducah.

Prather is now considered a snoo-in for president pro-tem, replacing Sen. William Sullivan, D-Henderson, even though Sullivan maintains he has majority of support "unless the governor expresses a preference."

Consensus is that that opinion has been expressed insofar as Prather is concerned.

Garrett, who was majority floor leader for Ford, will remain there for Carroll, at least in part as a concession to Carroll's home area. The larger consideration, though, is that Carroll is expecting to find Garrett as easy to work with as Ford did, an essential ingredient in the character of a majority floor leader.

The outlook is not yet clear in the House Speaker's race, where Rep. Joe Clarke, chairman of the interim committee on appropriations and revenue and a strong advocate of legislative independence, has challenged the incumbent speaker, Rep. Norbert Blume, D-Louisville.

Clarke of Paducah has had a relationship with the governor's office that ranges from very hot to very cool, and Blume was the focus of much of the anger of anti-business elements in Jefferson County, including some among his fellow legislators.

Clarke appears to have a slight edge now.

ABOUT PREPARING SMALL GAME BIRDS

Birds here discussed are of many kinds: doves, woodcock, snipe, quail and grouse. They are prepared with similar treatment and they are served one or more to a person.

Small birds are usually used as fresh as possible, although they remain edible as long as the legs are flexible. Quail and grouse which are the largest discussed here, should not be hung longer than 24 hours. Small birds may be dry plucked or skinned.

BARDING

Any lean meat or that of fowl, like guinea or partridge, which is low in fat content, or any fowl from which the skin has been removed can profit by barding before roasting. Meat cuts are simply covered with slices of salt pork, about 1/4 inch thick, or fat bacon, for fowl, truss the bird. For each small bird, use 4 pieces of 1/4 inch thick salt pork or fat bacon about 3 x 3 1/2 inches square. Slip one on either side between the leg and breast. Cover the bird's legs and all with 2 other pieces and tie, making sure the high exposed surfaces of the bird are blanketed. After cooking, the salt pork or bacon which has served its protective purpose is discarded.

ROASTED SMALL GAME BIRDS

Preheat oven to 450 degrees.
6 small birds (Bard)
It is not necessary to stuff them, although a few peeled grapes or bits of celery or parsley may be tucked inside and discarded later. Place in the pan:
1 tablespoon butter
Bake the birds for about 55 minutes. Roast the meat to 200 degrees and bake them from 5 to 15 minutes longer, according to their size.

Quail-unstuffed: 25 to 30 minutes, stuffed 30 to 42 minutes, woodcock-8 to 10 minutes, grouse-45 to 60 minutes.

BROILED SMALL GAME BIRDS

Preheat broiler
6 small game birds-Bard
Place them on a broiler.
Cook them from 12 to 20 minutes, according to size. Turn frequently. The broiling may be removed toward the end of the cooking period and the birds browned briefly by further broiling. Add the juice of 1 lemon to stock or wine if there is an insufficient amount of drippings. Correct the seasoning. Serve the birds on fried toast and pour gravy over them. Garnish with parsley. Permit the sauce to soak into the toast.

BRAISED SMALL GAME BIRDS

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Prepare 6 birds for cooking. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a saucepan. Add and saute for 1 minute: the following:
1 carrot, diced
1 onion, diced
1 celery heart the ribs, diced
1/2 crushed bay leaf
1 sprig thyme
(1 tbs. minced raw ham or bacon)

These may be used raw as a base under meat or, if for a seasoning, on top of it. Simmer the above in 1 tablespoon butter until the vegetables are soft. Add the birds and saute them until they are lightly browned. Add 1/2 cup boiling stock. Cover birds with lid and bake them for 30 minutes.

Make pan gravy; add to the gravy 2 tablespoons lemon juice or cultured sour cream.

QUAIL 1 per person

Sometimes called partridge in the south.
If the fat of the bird is hard rather than firm before cooking, the flesh will be tough and must be prepared by a moist heat method. If the bird is young, roast or broil. Never overcook. Serve with quince preserves and curried rice or water cress and lemon wedges or green grapes or a baked pear, the core stuffed with a pimento. If you have broiled a quail, brush it with butter.

DOWELL & MARTIN ACCEPTED AS MEMBER OF THE GOLDEN RULE

Dowell & Martin Funeral Home in Mt. Vernon, has been accepted for membership in the International Order of the Golden Rule for the sixth consecutive year. The announcement was made by Roger Ytterberg, Executive Director of the Order, from the home office in Springfield, Illinois.

The Order is the world's largest limited-membership organization for funeral directors. Before being admitted, a firm must be recommended by families it has served and by other professional people in the area. To remain affiliated, a firm must regularly annually.

"Over the years," Ytterberg said, "the Order has become a more and more professional group. There are now nearly 1300 members throughout the world, and the knowledge and experience they share make them uniquely able to serve their respective communities."

Ytterberg pointed out that regional meetings and an international conference are held each year to offer members sources of new information relative to the profession. "Our entire concept of what is 'relative to the profession' has changed in recent years," Ytterberg said. "With the growth of thanatology, grief therapy and other fields of study in the universities, we are able to obtain speakers with new and valuable things to say. The emphasis is now placed upon making funeral service truly helpful and meaningful to the survivors, to those who are left behind and must go on."

"Our continuing goal," Ytterberg said, "is to work with our members for the improvement of the profession and the benefit of the families they serve."

Down on the Farm

BY: ROY G. BROWN

Well, the last few days have been hog-killing weather, but that is not what it used to be a few years back.

I know most farmers remember how every farmer had several hogs weighing 400 to 600 pounds each and on a real cold day, they would set a scalding pan, fill it with water, then build a fire under it to get it hot.

Usually neighbors would bring their hogs to one place and all work together for a real hog killing with the ladies cooking up a big dinner of fresh meat and all the trimmings.

That was back in the days when people had time to visit and work together "Down on the Farm."

Let your neighbor park his parking problem in your driveway. When he's planning a party and you're not using your car, offer the space for company.

Give your neighbors a chance to look. Let them through your books and see if any should be returned to the library.

The elevator isn't a smoking car, so observe the no-smoking rule (No butts about it).

When someone you know is in the hospital, sending flowers can help to cheer him up. If you ask your florist to place "FD" in your sending yourself of the "Peace" Transworld Delivery network of "extra touch" flowers—and it costs no more.

Offer your bus or train seat to someone who looks as if he or she needs it more than you do.

dropping down from the trees. It is the month when the garden enters its long, long sleep.

For the homeowner, however, activity does not cease. There's the job of removing the fallen leaves which, if not raked up and removed, will smother out the grass on the lawn. Also the garden must be cleaned up and stalks, stems and other crop residue raked up and, when possible, composted.

If young fruit trees or ornamental shrubs have been set out, it will be well to take measures to protect them from the depredations of rabbits and field mice. When snow is on the ground, rabbits seem to like nothing better than the bark of young fruit trees. Protect these trees by wrapping them with a layer of tar paper or surrounding them with a collar of chicken wire.

When snowed in, mice will often gnaw on the roots of shrubs and fruit trees. This can be prevented somewhat by withholding the mulch until after the first hard freeze. Early mulching will provide mice with the opportunity of taking up residence for the winter under the soft mulch, where they will be ready to feast on the roots and when the weather grows cold and the snows come. A good rule for mulching young trees and shrubs is: do not apply it until the ground is well frozen.

In the flower garden, the early days of November being the last call for sale planting of herbaceous perennials and spring-flowering bulbs, and when chrysanthemums have finished flowering, their hard stems should be broken off within a few inches of the ground.

Perennials such as iris and peonies should be cut back, too, and the debris removed. November is also the best month to prune roses.

November is also a good month in which to prune tangled or overgrown vines. Getting out and removing dead canes or diseased wood from the flowering vines will send extra strength surging through the remaining wood and lessen the risk of disturbing tender shoots after they start growing next spring.

If any time is left after the leaves have been raked, the gardens cleaned off, and all the other jobs mentioned taken care of, the lawn furniture can be repainted, the gutters cleaned out, the bird feeder nailed up and the lawn mower sharpened and oiled.

But in doing all these and a lot of other things, remember, as it says in Psalms, to give thanks to the Lord, for He is good." And don't forget to eat turkey, which is also good, and when Indian Summer comes, get out on the hills and look at the scenery. November is a good month; enjoy it.

How much coffee do Americans drink every day? To get some idea, imagine standard six-ounce cups of coffee lined up, edge to edge, for the day's drinking. They would stretch for some 18 thousand miles.

In all, Americans enjoy more than 380 million cups of coffee daily, or 140 billion every year.

And according to the National Coffee Association, each cup is still a bargain, costing only about 3 cents per cup when served at home.

FAMILY MAN WINNING HIGHEST OFFICE

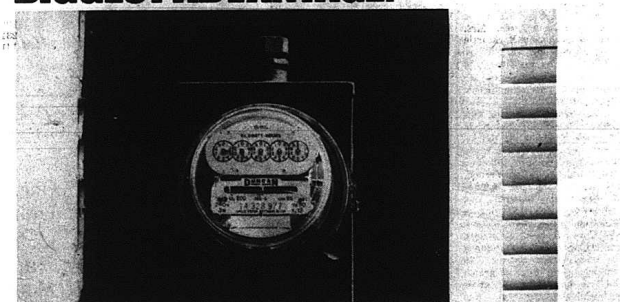

Americans may find Mexico's political system difficult to understand at times, but somehow it works. Through the years it has produced some outstanding leaders who have maintained Mexico's economic growth and provided social and political stability unrivaled in all of Latin America.

Recently the Institutional Revolutionary Party (PRI), Mexico's dominant political party, selected Finance Minister Jose Lopez Portillo (pictured above with his wife and three children) as the candidate to succeed President Luis Echeverria in December, 1976. Since PRI has won every Presidential election since 1929, his selection is tantamount to naming the next Mexican President.

What kind of President will Lopez Portillo be? From all reports, Mexico could not be in better hands. He has spent most of his life studying government administration and financial management and has earned an international reputation as an exceptional administrator and fiscal specialist. As Finance Minister, he is credited with maintaining Mexico's stable currency, developing strong credit and monetary policies, modernizing Mexico's tax collection process and encouraging foreign investment.

At a time when world economic conditions are under such stress, it is logical for Mexico to turn to a financial expert. His selection has been greeted with enthusiasm by U.S. governmental and business leaders. "Mexico will remain in good hands," was the most frequent comment heard in Washington by those familiar with Lopez Portillo's background.

ONCE A MONTH ALL WINTER, YOU GET TO SEE A HEAT PUMP'S BIGGEST ADVANTAGE.

A lower electric bill. Much like other heating and air conditioning units, a heat pump will keep your home at a year 'round comfort level. However, a heat pump goes one step further. It adds efficiency. In fact, it can heat your home up to 100% more efficiently. That's like getting two dollars' worth of comfort for every dollar's worth of electricity.

A heat pump works quite simply. During the winter, it takes heat from the air outside (there is always some heat in the air no matter how cold it is) and pumps it into your home. In the summer, it cools your home by taking heat from the air inside your home and pumping it outside. Hence, the full name, the reverse cycle heat pump.

If you're thinking of a new heating system, contact our local office for more information. With a heat pump, you can enjoy year 'round comfort and get a monthly reminder of what an economical choice you made.
