

Down on the Farm

By: Roy G. Brown
Assistant Vice President
Cumberland PCA

This week, we would like to salute Billy Lawrence, a farmer in the Quail section of Rockcastle County, for being recognized by the "Progressive Farmer" magazine in an article written by Warren Thompson, Associate Editor.

When Warren called me about a good dairyman to write an article about, I immediately thought of Billy and his dairy operation. I have known Billy all his life and know it would be an interesting story of how a young, honest, hard-working boy started with hardly anything except a willing mind and desire to accomplish something. With this attitude, he began to work on his dream and, with borrowed money and a hard-working family, share-cropped tobacco on many different farms in a wide area for several years until buying a farm and starting in the dairy business.

At this point, they began to leave off most of the tobacco and began to increase their dairy herd and forage program. They built a new modern dairy parlor, upright silo with all automatic feeding equipment, hay and tool shed and most important of all was the tilling, liming and land-improvement. To produce feed for their dairy cows.

Today, the Lawrences have about 72 cows and 25 heifers in their dairy herd.

Again, we commend Billy, Dorothy and family for showing what can be done by being willing to borrow money and then will to put in long hard days of sweat and hard work which proves where there is a willing mind, there is a way "Down on the Farm."

City Council Sworn-In; Told Can't Lower Water Rates

At Monday night's meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council, the first item on the agenda was the swearing-in of the Council for a two-year term by Mrs. Virginia Souders, Police Judge. Mayor Roland Mullins was not sworn in during the proceedings since he has two years remaining on his four-year term. The only new councilman to take office was Oscar Bullock who was elected in November in place of Mrs. Ray Robinson who filled out the unexpired term of her husband, Jimmy Robinson. Other councilmen sworn in were: Chester Holland, Dennis Hallock, Virgil Alborn, Conrad Farret and Bob Jasper.

During the meeting, Mayor Roland Mullins told the Council about an opinion which he had received from the Attorney General's office concerning the lowering of water rates to customers over 65 years old. The Council had decided to do this some time ago but had to get approval from the federal government which holds the bonds on the water department. This approval was finally given with the condition that it was legal move. The Council then requested Virgil Alborn, Gary Craig to write the Attorney General's office asking for an opinion and this opinion killed the council's idea of rate reduction. In the letter to the Council, it was stated that age is not a reasonable factor to determine rate and that there to reduce water rates only to persons over 65 would be "unreasonable and arbitrary classification and discriminatory."

City Attorney Carl Clontz told the Council that although this particular issue had never been litigated in Kentucky it was like several issues which had and these had all been turned down because of being discriminatory to one group or another.

Councilman Chester Holland remarked that as he saw it the only thing to do was get it (the water department) in shape to lower water rates to all customers. The Council's proposal would have lowered rates to one-half their present amount to customers 65 and over.

Mr. Clontz also told the Council that the Homestead Exemption was only put into effect after it was voted in as a Constitutional Amendment which took away its discriminatory aspects.

County Judge Hubert Thacker also met with the Council to inform them that the county was in the process of restructuring garbage pick-up in the county and would appreciate any financial aid which the Council might give them (the county). Judge Thacker said that details had not been worked out as of yet.

Mayor Mullins said that he was glad the county was taking action on this matter and would like for something to be worked out. The Council did not commit themselves to financially assisting the project but agreed to consider it if and when the system was restored in the county.

The Council also during the meeting accepted a bid from Triplett Farm Service in Danville for a 580D Case backhoe. Triplett's bid on this particular size of backhoe was the lowest at $12,500. The backhoe will be paid for out of the waterworks operating fund.

What to do about the sewer charge on large water bills caused by a leak was also brought up by the Council at this meeting. The matter was brought to their attention a few months back when one customer met with the Council and if something couldn't be worked out on a water bill she had received for several times the normal amount. Mrs. Mabel Ricketts told the Council that she did not use the water but instead thought that the meter had malfunctioned causing the gallons used to enter. Water Superintendent Matt Powell told the Council that he had checked the meter several times and could find nothing wrong with it nor has it malfunctioned since he had been checking it.

After considerable discussion, the Council decided that Mrs. Ricketts would have to pay the bill since it was their opinion that an outside faucet located on the property had probably been turned on by someone and left running for sometime. However, Councilman Conrad Farret questioned making Mrs. Ricketts or anyone else with a similar problem pay the total sewer charge in situations like this. This question was discussed thoroughly by the Council but was finally decided that it would lead to too complex a situation to try and decide what percentage of the water bill should include a sewer charge when there was a leak or something of this type. The Council decided to leave the sewer charge at one-half the water bill regardless.

The question of overtime which is presently being paid Mt. Vernon city policemen who came up in the meeting. Mayor Roland Mullins questioned Patrolmen John Greider and

MT. VERNON MAN INJURED

John Eaton, 25, of Mt. Vernon was treated at Pattie A. Clay Hospital in Richmond Tuesday after high winds apparently caused his car to run under the rear of a tractor-trailer rig.

The accident occurred at 7 p.m. about six miles south of Richmond on Interstate-75.

CARS BROKEN INTO IN CHURCH PARKING LOT

Two cars, parked in the lot at Central Baptist Church south of Mt. Vernon, were broken into Wednesday night, January 7th.

State Policeman Greg Ennis who investigated the break-in said that a 23 channel Midling CB radio was taken from a car belonging to James Owens of Route 1, Orlando. Nothing was taken from the other car.

No arrests have been made in connection with the theft.

GOSPEL SINGERS TO BE AT THE NAZARENE CHURCH

The Wayward Travelers will be at the Nazarene Church next Sunday to present a gospel singing. A quartet led by Clifton Waldrop, they come from High Bridge and Nicholasville, Kentucky.

Sunday school begins at 10:00 and church services at 11:00 a.m.

The Wayward Travelers are great singers and everyone is urged to come and hear them.

About the only damage caused by high winds Tuesday that we have heard of thus far was the coming over Southern Dollar Store on U.S. 25 south of Mt. Vernon. Winds tore the awning from the building about 5:45 p.m. and debris from it fell on KU's lines causing power to be out from the Fairground Hill sub-station to Hammond's Motel for about half an hour. According to local weatherman Bud Cox, 7.0 of an inch of rain fell Tuesday. He also reported two inches of snow last week and the coldest temperature in Mt. Vernon of three below zero on January 9th.

Legislative Round-Up

Prepared by the Legislative Research Commission Staff

A speech by Gov. Julian Carroll promising a "prudent fiscal posture" for the coming two years highlighted the first week of the 1976 Kentucky General Assembly session.

Carroll, breaking with tradition by delivering his state-of-the-Commonwealth address on the second night of the session rather than the first, promised:

"No tax increase, but tax relief for some Kentucky citizens."

Opposition to across-the-board increases in funds for state programs:

Immediate improvements in elementary, secondary and vocational education programs; and

Careful review of federal programs for "hidden pitfalls," which often leaves states with costly programs to be financed after federal funds are withdrawn.

Carroll also promised to return to the legislature the power to appropriate state surplus funds.

Meanwhile, the Senate moved quickly on two bills last week, one of which is designed to clear up confusion resulting from a new state-constitutional amendment restructuring Kentucky's court system.

Senate Bill 69, passed unanimously and sent to the House, would require fiscal courts in each county to continue to furnish circuit courts and circuit court clerks the same space, facilities and financial support they had received from the fiscal courts prior to January 1.

The amendment, which took effect Jan. 1, makes the state totally responsible for financing the circuit courts. The courts previously received partial funding from the fiscal courts in many counties.

The Senate also passed 34-1 a bill which would designate a political candidate as his own campaign treasurer until he designated a treasurer on his filing papers.

The bill seeks to rectify a situation that existed during the 1974 Republican senatorial primary, when it was unclear, for a time, if former U.S. Senator Marlow W. Cook's name could appear on the ballot because he had not named a campaign treasurer.

Among bills introduced during the first week was House Bill 200, by Representative Raymond Overstreet, R-Liberty, to require surface owners to give written consent to reclamation plans before the state may grant a permit to strip mine. The bill is designed to prevent abuses to the land such as have occurred throughout the coal regions of eastern Kentucky as a result of the so-called "broad form" deed.

The deeds, many dating back to the turn of the century, permit mineral rights owner to mine without the consent of those who own the land above which the minerals are deposited.

A bill by Overstreet and others was passed during the 1974 session to prohibit strip mining which did not have written approval of a surface owner. The bill was declared unconstitutional, however, by the Court of Appeals.

Other bills introduced last week included:

HB 188, to allow persons between the ages of 16 and 18 to marry with parental consent.

HB 195, to hold an open primary in Kentucky in August, rather than May, and to abolish the so-called "party lever" on voting machines.

HB 198, to give a tax credit to utility companies for expenditures which reduce the cost of service to their customers.

BICENTENNIAL BABY-Mr. and Mrs. Terry Lee Lear of Route 3, Mt. Vernon are the proud parents of the county's first baby born in the 85th anniversary year. Jason Lee Lear made his entrance into the world January 5th weighing nine pounds, six ounces. He was welcomed home by a sister, Janie Lynn, two and one-half. Mrs. Lear is the former Donna Gail Delaney and grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lear of Route 3, Mt. Vernon and Mary Delaney of Mt. Vernon.

John Lair consultant for music Kentucky Day is Jan. 20th in Washington

The National Bicentennial Committee has set aside one day in 1976 for each of the fifty states to be featured at the Nation's Capitol in Washington, D.C. Kentucky's Day is January 20, 1976.

On this day, the Paducah-Tipton Swing Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Loretta Whitaker Stackhouse, co-ordinator of Choral Music for Paducah City Schools, will perform at a Congressional Luncheon. This school was selected as the musical group from Kentucky and Winchester High School's band reportedly will also perform during the day.

Mrs. Stackhouse, sister of Mrs. Laura Durham of Mt. Vernon, chose John Lair as her consultant in preparing and authenticating music both of national and Kentucky origin.

She selected Mr. Lair because of her personal knowledge of his study and interest as both an authority on Americana on his personal compositions.

A special feature of the program will be the introduction to the nation of a patriotic song written by Mr. Lair entitled "Thank God, America." The Swing Choir also plans to incorporate into the program John Lair's ever popular country music song, "Freight Train Blues."

SENIOR CITIZEN PROGRAM NOW IN COUNTY

Rockcastle County has a new program for Rockcastle County Senior Citizens which is designed to help the elderly citizens of the county.

Money was made available to the county through the Older Americans Act and, while the money available is quite small, it will be a beginning toward helping the citizens of the county in various ways.

Some of the goals of the Senior Citizen program include: providing transportation services; providing information as to the benefits available to senior citizens; insuring an outreach program designed to help senior citizens who may be in need; and a future goal is organizing senior citizen chapters in various parts of the county.

Mrs. Janet Bradley and Mrs. Emily Crawford will be serving in the program in any way possible and, because of a limited budget, it will be necessary to enlist volunteers from church groups and civic organizations.

Senior citizens who need aid or individual wanting to volunteer, may call the Mt. Vernon Comprehensive Care Center at 255-2122.

The Council discussed the matter for some time and finally decided to have Councilman Oscar Bullock get with Patrolman Grider to try to work out a schedule where each policeman would only work 48 hours a week and full-time protection still be provided.

Mayor Mullins reported to the Council that the grant application for HUD funds for several projects in the city had been prepared and that the future for the application looked good.

Another project for widening West Main Street to the high school has been approved, preliminarily in the amount of $438,000. Mayor Mullins also reported.

COOKING LEANER BEEF

Have you tried the leaner beef found in the market known as grass-fed beef or non-grain fed beef? You will find that this beef has less fat covering and marbling. The reduction in marbling may have an effect on flavor an juiciness, but should not have too much effect on tenderness. Tender cuts from the loin and rib may have some marbling. You do need to change your cooking methods some. It is easy to dry the meat out due to the leanness.

To cook rib roast. Cook as usual, but don't cook too well done. This may result in a dry roast due to the leanness.

Tender steaks: Brush with melted fat before broiling and serve rare to medium. If you want well-done steaks, cover and braise to assure tenderness and avoid drying out of the meat. Chuck, round, tip and rump: Braise slowly (brown, season, cover and cook with 1/2 to 3/4 cup liquid for 1 1/2 to 3 1/2 hours depending on size).

Since this meat has less fat, it will contain fewer calories and nutritive value is the same for the lean. Each serving of meat from non-grain fed beef is a source of high quality protein, iron, B-vitamins, zinc and many other trace minerals.

Whether you choose three or six meals a day depends on you. It isn't necessary to be rigid with your meal hours as long as you get all the nutrients and calories you need sometime during the day.

There is also no reason that you must eat certain foods at certain times. Even though it is customary to eat eggs in the morning and steak at night, you may prefer them the other way around. The Basic Four Food guide works well for most people most of the time. At particular times in life or during illness, you may need other foods.

The food groups include: Meat (2 servings each day); Milk (3 or 4 servings each day, depending on age); Fruit and Vegetable (4 or more servings each day); and the Bread and Cereal group (4 servings each day).

COOKING BABY BEEF

Today you often find baby beef on the market. This is usually offered at less cost than the grain-fed beef we have purchased in the past. This meat, based on revised USDA Calf Standards, grades Good, with some Choice beef.

When you cook baby beef, your cooking methods need to be changed some. Due to the leanness of this beef, it is easy to dry it out when you cook it. It also helps bring out the flavor to marinate the beef or use brooding oil.

To prevent drying out tender roasts, it is recommended that you not cook the product to well-done. It is best to medium doneness at 325 degrees F. over temperature.

Since tender steaks may be leaner than usual, brush with melted fat during broiling or before broasting. This will develop the flavor when broasting. Baby beef is similar to veal, some marinating or broasting will improve the flavor. Most roasts and steaks may be served with tomato or other sauce to improve the flavor.

Chuck and round. Slow braising is recommended (brown in small amount of fat, season, cover and cook with 1/2 to 3/4 cup liquid (water) until done). Time for cooking varies with cuts.

Gardening Tips from Extension Specialists at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture

Few, if any hobbies offer greater opportunity for pleasure, profit, and healthful exercise than gardening, and while it is now still too early to do any actual garden work, it is not too early to make plans.

In making these garden plans, however, it will be well to take the advice of UK Extension vegetable specialist C.R. Roberts, and do not let winter imagination get bigger than spring and summer effort. In other words, do not bite off more than can readily be chewed.

Roberts says a 20 x 50-foot garden of fertile soil will, if properly cultivated and watered, produce enough vegetables for a family of five and that an average of four hours a week will be all the time needed to tend it. If a surplus is needed for canning, drying, and freezing; double the size of the garden.

In making the garden plans, consider the type or variety of vegetables to be planted and order the seed early. Something else to think about is this: hybrid vegetables will usually produce more than standard varieties and the produce usually is of better quality, too. Many newer hybrids, Roberts adds, also have superior resistance.

If the ground is dry enough, this is a good time to have the soil tested. Test results will indicate the soil needs and the correct fertilizer to be used.

Remember that gardening time will be here before you know it. Be ready for it and get better for this summer.

Perusing new seed catalogs that came in the holiday mail is also a very interesting pastime for a lot of time of year. Masterpieces of color photography, they are, almost without exception, filled with mouth-watering pictures of fruits and vegetables fit to make a person want to rush right out and start planting.

New developments noticed in some catalogs which should be of interest to home gardeners include flower and vegetable seed tapes. These tapes, which come in up to 15-foot lengths, are filled with the correct amount of precisely-spaced seed which, according to catalog description, makes for more uniform emergence of plants, reduces thinning labor, and are easy to handle.

Truly straight rows can be effected with these seed tapes. They can be cut out to allow for succession growing, or in the case of flowers-for unusual and decorative garden layouts.

The new seed catalogs represent adventures in reading. To give fair warning, if you are not a gardener, they will make you wish you were.
