

With the Legislature In Frankfort

By Rep. Harold DeMarcus

To date, there has been 75 bills introduced in the Senate and 227 bills introduced in the House of Representatives with additional bills being filed in both chambers every day. By the end of the 1976 session of the Kentucky General Assembly, approximately 1,200 to 1,500 bills will have been considered by the members.

Only a member of the General Assembly can introduce legislation. Legislators, however, often introduce bills suggested by other individuals or organizations. All bills must begin with the words: "Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky."

Bills may vary in length from a single paragraph to several hundred pages. The Constitution says a bill may relate to only one subject, which must be stated in the title. Bills which didn't adhere to this rule have been declared unconstitutional by the courts.

Amendments may be proposed by a committee or any legislator, but bills can be amended only by a vote of the House or Senate. If changes are numerous or alter a bill significantly, a substitute bill may be drafted and given the same number.

All bills are introduced by delivering them to the House or Senate Clerks, whereupon they are referred by the Committee on Committees, to a standing committee. Several weeks may pass before a bill is reported out of committee and returns to the floor. If the bill is reported there from favorably, a majority of senators or representatives must vote to give it a first reading. The bill is read a second time the following day and sent to the House or Senate Rules Committee, which decides if it will go back to the floor for a vote or be referred to another standing committee. The Rules Committee must act on each bill within five days. When a bill is reported out of Rules, it is placed in "Orders of the Day" where it may remain for several days before being read for the third time and voted on.

Bills on the floor are read by title only, since members have complete copies of each bill at their desks. The Constitution requires every member's vote on each bill to be recorded in the House or Senate Journal. Amendments, however, may be adopted by voice vote.

After a bill is passed in one house, an engrossing clerk copies it, incorporating any amendments adopted on the floor. The bill is delivered, then, to the other house, where the procedure is repeated, beginning with the Committee on Committees referring the bill to the appropriate standing committee.

The first house must agree on any amendments passed in the second house. If the two houses don't agree, the respective presiding officers appoint a conference committee, which tries to arrive at a compromise. Conference committees report their recommendations to both houses, which may only accept or reject them. If the report is rejected, the house may give special instructions to another conference committee may be appointed to attempt to break the deadlock.

After a bill has passed both houses, it is signed in open session by the presiding officer in each house. It is delivered then to the Governor, who has 10 days to sign or veto the bill or to let it become law without his signature. If a bill is vetoed while the General Assembly is in session, it goes back to its house of origin with a message from the Governor explaining his action. The bill still may become a law if a majority of members in both houses vote to override the veto.

The Constitution specifies that an act shall become law 90 days after the General Assembly adjourns, unless the act contains a later effective date or an emergency clause. In the latter case, the act must be approved by a constitutional majority (half of the members plus one) and becomes effective immediately upon its approval by the Governor.

Besides bills, the legislature may express its feelings in citations, or simple or concurrent resolutions. Legislative citations are presented by the Senate or House to honor, commend or express condolences to an individual or group. Simple resolutions require action by only one house. They are used to handle procedure and organization or express the sense of the house on a particular matter.

Concurrent resolutions adopted by both houses are used for special events and to send messages to other branches of government. They are sent to the Governor, but do not have the force of law.

A third type of resolution—a joint resolution—is used for matters requiring expenditures, forming joint committees, proposing constitutional amendments, ratifying amendments to the U.S. Constitution, memorializing Congress to act on a particular subject, and other matters of temporary law not inserted in the statutes. Joint resolutions have the force of law, and must pass both houses, be signed by the officers of each house, and filed with the Secretary of State.

As of this date, very few bills have been considered by either house. During the time I have been privileged to serve you, this has been the slowest start for the General Assembly that I have ever seen. During the first two weeks, the House has merely convened every day at its legislature, gone through the motions, then adjourned until the next day. Hopefully, for Kentucky taxpayers, the General Assembly will do as one well-known Frankfort Democrat said, "roll up its sleeves and get down to some good old-fashioned hard work."

One item of interest which did occur during this week is that the General Assembly, which is under the complete control of the Democrat party, voted itself a 5-day PAID holiday. As the House Republican Floor Leader, I voted in opposition to this holiday as I feel it is my obligation and the obligation of other elected officials to give the taxpayers of Kentucky one day's work for one day's pay.

With the slow start we are experiencing and the long holiday, it will probably be some time before we actually begin passing legislation.

In the weeks ahead, I will be discussing various bills which have been introduced for consideration and passage by the General Assembly and how they will affect the citizens of this state.

Kentucky Afield

During the last 50 years the fishing in Kentucky has changed considerably due, in large measure, to the creation of 15 major lakes by the U.S. Corps of Engineers, the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Kentucky Utilities Company.

These lakes, each of which has at least 1,000 surface acres of water at seasonal peak, have given Kentucky a total of 127,996 surface acres of impounded waters - and a new breed of fishermen who more or less restrict their angling to the "Big on" waters.

Black in the mid-1920's when Kentucky Utilities built Lake Herrington fishermen came from far and wide to this Central Bluegrass lake, most of them in quest of the black bass. Indeed, this oldest of the major lake chains is said to be the spot where a new method of fishing for the big bass—jugging—originated.

Today, although black bass still top the list of angler favorite fishermen find the lakes abound with crappie, white bass, bluegill, channel catfish, musky and other native species as well as a couple of "new" fish—rainbow trout and rockfish—thanks to Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources fisheries research and management.

All the lakes offer good fishing but each, because of size, location or other physical features is unique and many are best known as "home" of one particular species of fish, for example the crappie in Kentucky Lake.

Following is a brief rundown of these lakes, including size and location. We'll list those we have room for today and the remainder next week.

Herrington Lake: Central Kentucky, 1,890 surface acres; extends 35 miles upstream from the dam on Dix River; 165 miles of shoreline. Good population of white bass, largemouth bass, crappie and a good developing fishery for rockfish. (The 44-pound, 4-ounce state record rockfish was taken there in 1970.) Created in the mid-20's by KU.

Dale Hollow: Southcentral Kentucky, 27,700 surface acres with 4,300 in Kentucky, the remainder in Tennessee; 61 miles long, 620 miles of shoreline. Good population of both large and smallmouth bass, white bass, crappie and bluegill. The World Record smallmouth 11 pounds, 15 ounces was taken out of Dale Hollow in 1959. Created in 1943 when Tennessee's Ohey River was dammed by the Corps.

Kentucky Lake: West Kentucky, 116,300 surface acres of water. With 48,100 in Kentucky, the remainder in Tennessee, 184 miles long 6,390 miles of shoreline. Best known for spring crappie run but also very good for largemouth black bass and white bass. Large population of sauger which are seldom record fish taken from rockfish and catfish below the dam on the Tennessee River. State record fish taken from the lake include: 6-pound, 1-ounce sauger, 1972; freshwater drum (white perch), 31 pounds in 1956; 100-pound blue catfish from tailwaters in 1970 and 5-pound white bass, 1945; which ties a 5-pounder taken from Herrington in 1927. Created by TVA in 1944.

Cumberland Lake: Southcentral Kentucky, 50,250 surface acres, the largest impoundment lying completely within Kentucky boundaries; 1,255 miles of shoreline extending 101 miles upstream from the dam on the Cumberland River. Good for black bass, white bass, and crappie. Fair trout fishing in the lake, excellent in the tailwaters where the 14-pound, 6-ounce state record rainbow was taken in 1972. Other records: 21-pound, 8-ounce walleye, 1969; 72-pound spoonbait catfish, 1957 and 45-pound, 36-ounce, 8-ounce, 1954. Impounded by the Corps in 1950.

Dewey Lake: Eastern Kentucky, 11,150 surface acres; 62 miles of shoreline, extending 18 1/2 miles upstream from the dam on John's Creek. Good largemouth black bass, bluegill, crappie and catfish. Some white bass. Musky stocked in 1957. Impounded by the Corps in 1951.

Businessmen Attend Job Start Luncheon

A luncheon was sponsored Monday at the Rockcastle Steak House by Job Start Corporation and several local businessmen were invited to the luncheon and to the meeting immediately following it when the function of Job Start was explained and names of people who might be interested in taking advantage of Job Start's resources were suggested.

The Adams, Director of Community Relations, introduced Joe Frye, Deputy Director of Job Start of the ten-county area including Rockcastle, who conducted the program.

Mr. Frye told those assembled that Job Start had five goals the primary one being to create new jobs. Other goals listed in order were: to provide financing for start-up businesses and expansions; provide management counseling to new and existing businesses; Job Start self-sufficiency and building working relationships with Kentucky institutions (banking, industrial development groups, civic organizations, etc.)

At present, Job Start is assisting 75 entrepreneurs to identify strengths and weaknesses. This is being done through three week-end workshops in which head-to-head consultation is provided. Two of the workshops have already been held and the last one of this type is scheduled for the last week in this month in London.

From this 75, 25 will be selected for Job Start to provide in-depth venture analysis to 25 entrepreneurs and with these 25, Job Start will finance or help to finance both new and existing businesses.

The main object of the luncheon was to take suggestions from those present of people who might be interested in expanding their business or beginning a new one. Several names were suggested at the meeting and these will be followed up on by Job Start.

Job Start works in a ten-county area including: Bell, Clay, Clinton, Harlan, Jackson, Knox, McCreary, Rockcastle, Wayne and Whitley Counties.

During the discussion, seven businesses were mentioned in the ten-county area which have been invested in by Job Start. These seven business ventures had gross sales for 1975 of over six million dollars and employed on an average of 370 people for the year.

The Job Start Program is designed for the person in business who wants to expand or open a new line someone who would like to start a business but feels a lack of experience or capital would hinder a start-up or anyone who feels that developing their business skills would help their business continue or get on its feet.

If you are interested in attending the workshop in January, which is free of charge, you should contact Job Start Corporation at 911 Main Street, London, Kentucky, or call 606-864-5175.

Two Rockcastle County men serve on Job Start's Board of Directors. They are William McClure of Sand Springs and Wayne Stewart of Mt. Vernon.

Local Students on Dean's List at Eku

Three students from Rockcastle County have been named to the Dean's List for the 1975-76 fall semester at Eastern Kentucky University.

Dr. John D. Rowlett, vice president for academic affairs, said the list, totaling 1,126 students, includes 303 students who made a perfect 4.0 academic standing.

To attain the list, a student must make a scholastic average of 3.5 or better for 14 or more semester hours.

The Dean's List, with the names of students making a perfect 4.0 standing in italics, includes: Janet S. Burton, of Brodhead; Norma B. Eversole, and Jennifer J. Spires, both of Mt. Vernon.

Putting the finishing touch to a seven-foot snowman Tuesday was Sheila Lamb in front of the Lamb home on Tyne Street in Brodhead. The two-inch plus snowfall early Tuesday morning, which closed down schools in the county, enabled members of the Lamb and Buswell families to build the snowman. In the photo are, from left: Mrs. Joe Buswell, Joey Buswell, Sheila, Scott Buswell, Marketa Buswell and Mrs. Edward Lamb. According to local weather records kept by Bud Cox, two inches of snow fell Tuesday and the low temperature for the past six-day period was three above zero on Sunday, January 18th. Predictions were for one to two inches more snow Wednesday night.

Carter and Kleppe Speakers at Lincoln Club Banquet at Dupont Lodge

U.S. Secretary of the Interior Thomas S. Kleppe will join Congressman Tim Lee Carter as speaker at the Fifth District Lincoln Club's 38th annual dinner next month.

That dinner will be held at 7 p.m. on February 7, at Cumberland Falls State Park's Dupont Lodge.

"I am pleased that Tom has agreed to come to our fifth District," Carter said in his announcement of Kleppe's acceptance of the club's invitation.

"As Interior Secretary, many of his decisions have great importance for Kentucky, and eastern Kentucky in particular. I urge all those who can possibly attend to do so," the Tompkins-ville Republican said.

"The Fifth District Lincoln Club dinner always is a success, and I would suggest that tickets be obtained as early as possible," he added.

Dr. Donald C. Burton of Corbin is chairman of the club. Tickets for the dinner may be purchased from county, GOP chairmen and chairwoman for $10.

Kleppe, who took over as Interior Secretary in October, is a former congressman who served with Carter from 1968 to 1970. In 1971 he became administrator of the Small Business Administration.

His background includes experience in government, beginning as mayor of Bismark, N.D., and in agriculture and business.

When nominated to head Interior, Kleppe said he expected to promote a people-to-people approach in carrying out the operation of the department, as he had at SBA.

The jurisdiction of the Interior Department Kleppe heads includes administration of the nation's federal lands, conservation and development of mineral and water resources, promotion of mine safety and conservation and development of fish and wildlife resources, among other duties.

Carter, who also will address those attending the dinner, is serving his third term as Fifth District Representative.

Since going to Congress in 1964, he has risen to ranking Republican spots on the House health and environment and the SBA oversight and minority enterprise subcommittees.

A physician, Carter has been instrumental in developing many of the major federal health programs over the past 12 years as well as those relating to the environment, including the Safe Drinking Water Act.

THE MT. VERNON FIRE DEPARTMENT answered a "convenient" fire call Sunday night [if there is such a thing] when a tractor-trailer loaded with furniture pulled up in front of the firehouse with the furniture on fire. The driver of the truck noticed smoke coming from the trailer at the Standard Oil Station at Renfro Valley and immediately brought the truck up town and city firemen extinguished the blaze which was in the third stack of furniture in the rear of the truck. The driver told Fire Chief John Cox that the truck belonged to Livingston Manufacturing Company of Livingston, Tennessee was loaded Friday and locked up and had not been opened since. Chief Cox surmised that the fire, possibly caused by a dropped cigarette, had been smoldering since then. Mr. Cox said that several living room suits were completely destroyed and that all the cargo received smoke and water damage. In the top photo, City Fireman David Bales is shown getting debris out of the trailer and in the bottom photo, some of the burning furniture is shown. Monday morning at 3 a.m., the Brodhead Fire Department was called to the home of John Harris on the Putnam-Knox Road to extinguish a fire which had caught fire. There was no damage to the house. Also on Monday, the Brodhead Fire Department answered a call to a car on fire belonging to Eddie Drom of near Brodhead. Everett Bradley, member of the fire department, said damage from the fire, which started in the car, was light.

Joe Frye, Deputy Director of Job Start Corporation in London, is shown outlining the corporation's goal to county businessmen at luncheon Monday at the Rockcastle Steak House.

The Rockcastle County Elementary Basketball Tournament was held last week at Livingston. Thursday night, January 15, Mt. Vernon defeated Brodhead and Livingston defeated Mt. ## FRANKFORT WATCHLINE

The first two weeks of the General Assembly have not been more caught up in matters of philosophy than in matters of substance.

But there are some things happening, perhaps not of the significance of the continuing rhetoric over legislative independence, but meriting some attention nevertheless.

Here are some observations on the opening days of the session:

Gov. Julian Carroll, shunning aside heavy pressure from the industry, said he is having introduced a bill that would outlaw bond financing for profit in the Commonwealth.

When he made the announcement, he told the press he was "pleased that the leadership of the House and Senate have already advised me they intend to support it."

State Sen. Tom Kenton, who handed out a statement saying he would take no stand, including a vote, on either side of the bill. His firm represents the state's largest bond financing firm, Johnson Bond Co. in its Lexington operation.

Gov. Julian Carroll, shunning aside heavy pressure from the industry, said he is having introduced a bill that would outlaw bond financing for profit in the Commonwealth.

When he made the announcement, he told the press he Legislative independence means strange ways and at unusual times, it seems.

There are soundings of dissatisfaction within the potentially strong Mountain Caucus.

The rank and file is growing more and more concerned that the leadership has not yet gotten them together to discuss the legislation they will push, and to push Carroll for his stand on the severance tax.

With thanks to the sender, anonymous of course, the services are no longer needed. The board came off several months ago.

Dear God, We pray that strength and courage abundant be given to all who work for a world of reason and understanding. That the good that lies in every man's heart may day by day be magnified. That men will come to see more clearly not which divides them but that which unites them. That each hour may bring us closer to be a victory not a nation over nation but of man over his own evils and weakness. That the true spirit of the coming year with our eyes beyond above all its abiding still may live among us. May the blessing of peace be ours, the peace to build and grow to live in harmony and sympathy with others. And to plan for the future with confidence. Amen.

only $16 MILLION.

That was quite a deal. Even in 1848.

Only problem was: how would you raise $16 million?

Well, thanks to America taking stock in America, that problem was no problem. The government simply offered 20-year, six-percent Treasury Notes to the public.

The response was overwhelming.

Well, today's U.S. Savings Bonds are even more attractive. A full 6 1/2% at only 5 years' maturity. So join in America's Bicentennial Celebration by buying U.S. Savings Bonds where you work or bank.

It's a better deal than ever.

Take stock in America.

200 years of America.

College-Credit Classes For High School Seniors Offered at Berea

Through college-credit classes for high school seniors will be offered at Berea College this summer. The month-long summer program, now in its fifth year, is adding a Theater-Acting Workshop to the previously held classes in Wildlife Biology and Astronomy.

The intensive course of study is open to students of high ability who have completed the junior year in high school. It offers four hours of college credit. Classes begin June 13 and end July 18. As in other Berea College programs, preference in admission is given to students in Southern Appalachian schools whose families have limited financial resources. Scholarships are available, and each student will also earn some of his expenses in a student labor job related to the course he chooses. The cost is $123 including room and board in a college dormitory.

Both science courses have been funded the past two years by the National Science Foundation. The Astronomy class combines laboratory work using the several college telescopes with classroom lectures and field study. Material covers the nature of the universe; origin and evolution of the stars, elements and galaxies and planetary systems; methods of detecting life; and the probabilities and consequences of interstellar communication.

Twenty-five students will be accepted. It is taught by Dr. Smith T. Poyell, assistant professor of physics. The drama course provides hands-on experience for 20 students, emphasizing physical and mental acting readiness; preparation for a role; make-up; group improvisation techniques; and audition preparation. Students will observe rehearsals and performances of the Berea College summer outdoor drama, "Wilderness Road," and other regional professional companies. Dr. V.S. Bolin, assistant professor of English, teaches the course.

Wildlife Biology offers a study of life under natural conditions in the 6000-acre Berea College Forest which adjoins the campus. Detailed field observations will be combined with laboratory investigation and class study. It is open to 50 students, directed by Dr. Claude Gentry, professor of agronomy. Detailed information and application blanks are available from the Berea College Director of Admissions, Berea, Ky. 40003.

WEATHER-PROOFING YOURSELF DURING THE ENERGY CRISIS

To make up for lost degrees at home or in the office this winter, we bring you the following suggestions to help keep you warmer throughout what may turn out to be a long, hard winter.

Wash thermal underwear or knitted, fitted regular underwear to keep body heat in and cold out.

Get extra warmth by wearing T-shirts under dresses or aprons. Buy your shirt in a larger size for maximum retention of body heat.

Wear robes, waders, heavy Terry cloth, wool blends, wools and bulky acrylics. Wear long socks and calkies.

Wear cotton knit or cotton flannel pajamas. Ski-type pajamas with cuffs on the wrists and at the ankles are warmest.

In shirts, lightly woven fabrics such as cotton flannel, wool challis, and viyella are warm. Generally, tightly woven fabrics are warmer than some knit.

Ties in either wool tweed or wool knit give added warmth.

Tweeds and flannels, the heavier the better, are jackets, are warmer. Also, jackets are wool blends in suits, jackets, and coats. And don't forget a three-panel, the best gives extra warmth.

Popular shawl collar and turtle-neck sweaters give extra warmth. Raglan sweaters, any style add warmth to any outfit. Take advantage of the fashionable layered look in putting together business and dressier outfits.

Over-the-calf socks are warmer than ankle or shorter lengths. Wool or acrylic socks are bulkier and warmer than silk. "Warm johns" socks that run all over the leg, are very warm.

An elastic crepe or rubber soles are warmest. Shoes with higher heels and thicker soles are warmer. The higher the foot from the ground, the warmer.

Fleece-lined ankle or knee boots retain more heat than regular shoes. Fleece-lined slippers and slippers socks are good for at-home wear.

Especially warm are fur and fake fur coats. Melton cloth, a heavy wool fabric that looks like felt, is also very warm. Fleece or pile lining adds extra warmth.

For warm accessories: Gloves, "fur-lined" wool fleeces; wool and wool blend scarves and mufflers. It's possible to lose up to 90 percent of your body heat through an uncovered head. So don't blow the above suggestion - wear a hat.

CARD OF THANKS

A special thanks to Dowell and Martin Funeral Home, Berea, Virgil Brock, Bro. Carrel Blanton, the singers for their beautiful songs, the pallbearers, those who sent flowers and those who brought food.

Your kindnesses will always be remembered.

The Family of M.H. Clark and Mrs. Ida B. Clark

Everything is very quiet around here as we are having some very wintry weather - cold and snowy with icy roads. But, we have had a beautiful autumn and fall so we don't complain too much. After all, God knows best. We need cold weather and snow. So let's be thankful for whatever God sends and He is so good to us all.

Please remember Church and Sunday School. Do a good deed or speak a kind word to your neighbor. Don't do him any harm, you may have to live with it some day for a favor and remember.

Depressed or down and out, just take your burdens to the Lord. He loves you and we all need to love one another. Let's make 1976 a good year. God bless you all.
