RCHS Chorus Students Are Active

Three RCHS Chorus students earned the honor of being chosen, through judged auditions, to participate in the "All State Chorus." Chosen were, from left: Ernie Blevins, tenor; Kim Payne, alto and Alicia Dick, soprano. The 1976 Kentucky All-State Chorus was held early in February in Louisville in conjunction with the Kentucky Music Educators Association State Convention. The final concert performance was conducted at the Executive Inn (West). The 350 member chorus sang "The Utrecht" by G.F. Handel and a group of pieces by American composers. The final number was "Testament of an American" by Alfred Reed in which the All-State Chorus combined with the All-State Band for a Bicentennial musical tribute to America. Guest conductor for the performance was Nathan Carter, Chairman of the Department of Music at Morgan State University, Baltimore, Maryland. KET TV taped the concert and it will be shown at a later date. Also a record was cut during the actual performance. Mrs. Johnny Wilcop is Chorus Director at RCHS. Congratulations Students! We're proud of you.

The All-Regional Chorus will study together at Centre College in Danville on February 26 and 27 with the senior group under the direction of Gary Anderson of Transylvania University and the junior group being directed by Robert McSpalden, Music Coordinator of the Cincinnati, Ohio schools. Thirteen from RCHS will be participating in the senior high division (Chorus II, grades 10, 11 and 12). A free concert will be presented at 7 p.m. in the Centre College Auditorium on Friday night.

Also participating in the All-Regional Chorus will be six students in the junior high division (Chorus and Theory I, 9th grade) (this course is offered to all freshmen). They are,

County Agent's Notes

BY H. LEE DURHAM

HIGH-QUALITY FORAGE IMPORTANT TO FEEDING PROGRAM

Chances are that more and more cattle foragers will be turning to high quality forages for cattle feeds in the future, if the price of cereal grains continues to increase.

According to H. Lee Durham, County Extension Agent for Agriculture, forages are a good bet for operators desiring to cut their feed costs by substituting grass and other forages in part, for more expensive cereal grains.

The key to using forages successfully as part of your feeding program is quality, Durham continues. For example, high quality hays meet the entire nutritional needs for non-high-producing, mature animals. However, high-producing cattle, such as lactating dairy cattle, and young calves often need additional supplements of other nutrients in their diets to perform at their highest level.

The major cause of low quality in forages, according to Durham is harvesting when the forage is too mature. One recent research study showed that timothy hay cut in the late boot stage and barn-dried had a digestibility of 67.3 percent, while timothy cut in late bloom and field-cured had a digestibility of 54.5 percent.

And in this study, which was conducted in another state, cattle consumed more (32.3 pounds) of the higher quality late boot hay per day and considerably less (25.1 pounds) of the lower quality late bloom hay. The payoff was indicated by the fact that dairy cattle receiving the higher quality hay produced 39.5 pounds of milk per day, while those receiving the lower quality hay produced only 29.9 pounds per day. Similar results have been shown by research into quality of pasture for beef cattle. For example, in one 10-year trial completed in Virginia, steers grazing pure orchardgrass gained at the rate of 1.07 pounds per day, while similar steers grazing on orchard grass-ladino clover pasture gained at the rate of 1.28 pounds per day. This represents a 20 percent greater gain per day for steers grazing the higher quality pasture containing legumes.

For information on how you can increase the quality of your forage crops through pasture renovation, contact your local County Extension Office, Courthouse, 3rd Floor, Mt. Vernon, Kentucky, 40456.

TORNADO SEASON IS ALMOST HERE

March, April, May and June are "tornado season" in Kentucky, according to H. Lee Durham, County Extension Agent for Agriculture.

They are the months when tornadoes have been sighted in this state most often in the past, although tornadoes have been reported in every month of the year. And, in Kentucky, tornadoes are the most severe weather storms to occur.

Even though an individual tornado exists for only a short time (usually less than a half-hour), the march of one of these local storms often leaves behind a path of terrible destruction. The dark funnel of a tornado can destroy solid buildings, make a deadly mist of a piece of straw, uproot large trees, and hurt people and animals for hundreds of yards. Durham continues: For example, in 1931, a tornado in Minnesota carried an 88-ton railroad coach and its 117 passengers 80 feet through the air and dropped them in a ditch.

When there is destruction, there is usually loss of life. Since the early 1950's the tornado death toll nationally has averaged about 120 lives per year.

In spring, large contrasts exist between warm air from the south and cold air from the north. Such weather conditions may lead to the formation of tornadoes, Durham says. They seem to strike most often in mid or late-afternoon, when a warm day is at its warmest. Of the tornadoes reported in Kentucky, 50 percent are sighted between noon and 6 p.m. and 25 percent between 6 p.m. and midnight.

Tornadoes are formed several thousand feet above earth's surface, usually in conjunction with a severe thunderstorm. They must, however, touch the ground to be considered a tornado.

Sometimes, a series of two or more tornadoes are associated with a severe thunderstorm. As the thunderstorm moves, tornadoes may form at intervals along its path, travel for a few miles, and then break up. On the average, tornado paths are only a quarter of a mile wide and seldom more than 16 miles long. Their forward speed has been observed to range from almost no motion to 70 miles per hour.

A Tornado Watch means that such a tornado may develop-keep a battery operated radio or TV nearby and listen for more information. A tornado warning means that a tornado has been sighted or indicated by weather radar- seek proper shelter and listen to your radio or TV for further advisories.

Information on tornado safety rules is available at the County Extension Office in the Courthouse, Phone 256-2403 or from the local Civil Defense Office.

zoning and development. Opponents were concerned that the bill might interfere with private ownership of property.

Senate bill 59 would require a refundable deposit on all beverage containers sold in Kentucky. Supporters said the bill would improve Kentucky's environment by eliminating disposable containers from the landscape. Opponents, mostly from the bottling industry, feared the bill would cost the industry jobs and have little effect on reducing Kentucky's litter problem.

No action was taken on either bill last week.

Two bills backed by the administration were introduced in the Senate to deal with the growing problem of doctors and hospitals obtaining medical malpractice insurance.

The bills would require all doctors and hospitals licensed in the state to contribute to a reserve fund, which would pay in malpractice claims when damages exceeded certain amounts. Physicians and hospitals would be required to carry minimum amount of liability insurance coverage, which would pay damages up to the level at which the fund would take over.

A sweeping bill was introduced in the House to raise the salaries of all current constitutional officers except Gov. Julian Carroll. All future governors would receive higher salaries, however.

The bill also would raise the compensation of judges in the new court system, appointed officials and members of the General Assembly.

The time is about here to start our tobacco plant beds and this is one of the most important things in our tobacco crop - to have good, strong, sturdy plants. They need to be about 6 to 8 inches tall from the ground to the bud with the stem the size of a pencil or larger.

Select seed beds in well-drained soil where they will be exposed to the most available sunlight during the day. Plant beds can be treated several different ways with good results. Use a 126-6 plant bed fertilizer with not over 50 pounds on a 9x100 foot bed.

If you have a white clover problem in your plant bed you can use Diphenamid (available as Enide 50W) at the rate of 1 1/2 to 2 ounces active ingredient per 100 sq. yds. in 3 gallons of water at seeding time.

After seeding, use a roller or tramp the bed in all that is necessary to cover seed, then you have a choice of covers. Either nylon or cheesecloth or cotton cloth.

Nylon will produce plants a few days earlier than cotton but nylon will need closer attention. When the outside temperature reaches 75 degrees F, you must ventilate the beds or they will get too hot and damage the tender plants. When the weather and soil gets warm enough to do a good job with your plant beds (usually March 1 through the 20th) is a good time to get this important job done. Down on the Farm.

Rural Development Committee To Organize Clean-Up Drive

The Rural Development Committee for Rockcastle County held their second meeting Monday at noon at a luncheon sponsored by Stewart Fertilizer Service at the Holiday Family Restaurant in Mt. Vernon.

The Committee was set-up recently under federal guidelines with an eye toward improving physical, economic and social conditions and expanded opportunities in urban and rural areas. At the meeting, several areas in which the committee could take the initiative and help bring about improvements were listed. They were housing, health and welfare, manpower development, recreation and tourism, community services and facilities, environmental improvement, business and industrial development, rural cooperatives and organization and leadership development.

The area in which the group decided to act first was environmental improvement which translates locally into garbage clean-up in the county. With this in mind, and following quite a bit of discussion, the group decided to co-ordinate an effort to clean-up all the illegal dump sites which have sprung up since the county-wide garbage collection system went into effect.

The group was told by County Judge Hubert Thacker that he expected re-instatement of the service within the very near future and also that the county would provide trucks and drivers to haul trash away from the dump sites.

The county-wide beautification committee was formed with Robert Robinson as chairman and Jack Owens and Tommy Harold Mink as members to coordinate efforts with other civic organization and with the Fiscal Court to work out the best way to get rid of the trash.

Mr. Robinson also told the group that he would like to see on a program which would encourage citizens to help stop abuses of the system. For example, possibly having someone in each garbage container periodically check to see the condition of the container and to report on this to the county judge and, in some instances, to report if anyone is seen littering around the containers.

This was agreed with by the group who also decided to begin an educational campaign through the news media and radio station to encourage people to stop littering and help keep our county clean.

Members of the Educational Campaign committee are H. Lev Durham, chairman; Doug Edwards, Larry Burdette, a representative from WRVK and Perlina Anderson.

Plans at present call for members of the beautification committee to meet with the Fiscal Court at their regular meeting in March and work out a plan with each magistrate to clean up the dump sites in each district.

The removal of junk cars in the county was also discussed at the meeting and it was decided to look into what could be done to get rid of them. Jack Owens said it was quite a problem if the county was also discussed at the meeting and it was decided to look into what could be done to get rid of them. Jack Owens said it was quite a problem if the county was also discussed at the meeting and it was decided to look into what could be done to get rid of them.

The group decided to, at present, spearhead their efforts with the clean-up campaign, the details of which you will be informed later and, once this is accomplished, to go into other areas.

Members of the committee are: Doug Edwards, chairman; Harold Ballinger, vice president; Clay A. Colson, secretary; Roy G. Brown, Kenneth York, Tommy Adams, Perlina Anderson, Tommy Harold Mink, H. Lev Durham, Jack Owens, Wallace Proctor, Kenneth Stewart, Robert Robinson, Billy Ponder, Russell Parsons, Steve Bullen, James O. Smith, Billy Lawrence, Carl Lewis, Paul Hovins, Judge Hubert Thacker, Junior Long, Larry Burdette and Gayle Burdette.

"MY SON, MY SON" FILM TO BE SHOWN

In a day when Christian parents search for answers, the film MY SON, MY SON, the true story of Bernard Palmer and his son, Barry, offers significant introspection and guidance.

The film will be shown at the First Christian Church in Mt. Vernon on Sunday evening, February 29th. Barry's mother died and his father remarried. Barry rejected his stepmother. As he grew older, the boy showed his rejection in a multitude of ways. This included breaking visits to the jail, inevitable community gossip.

Quickly, the boy became a man. He met Kathryn, a lovely girl whose care for him transcended his weakness. This looked like the answer. But, there's only one answer: Jesus Christ.

It was only after the pursuit of iniquity had all but swung full gamut before Barry, like the Prodigal Son, came to the end of himself and realized he must have a new beginning. A

AMBULANCE DRIVERS DOUBLE AS OBSTETRICIANS

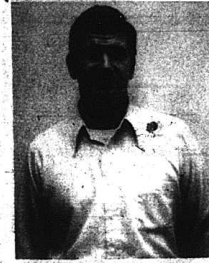

Two employees of the Rockcastle County Ambulance Service were called upon Tuesday night to double as obstetricians when their passenger, Mrs. Rita Brown of Orlando, delivered her baby between Berea and Richmond on the Interstate.

Dennis Britton said Wednesday that Mrs. Brown was brought to the ambulance service by her husband who asked that she be taken to the University of Kentucky Medical Center in Lexington. Mr. Britton said that between Berea and Richmond, the baby began to burn and that he, along with Clyde Cummins, had little recourse but to stop in the emergency lane and deliver the 8 lb. baby girl. After this was accomplished Mrs. Brown, who has three other children, and the baby were taken on to the medical center where at last report, both were doing fine. The ambulance drivers are recovering nicely too, we understand.

Kenneth York Receives Promotion

Kenneth York, District Conservationist with the U.S.D.A. Soil Conservation Service, has been promoted and transferred to Morgantown, Kentucky, in Butler County. The promotion and transfer will be effective March 15th.

Kenneth York

Mr. York has worked in Rockcastle County since the retirement of Clay Colson, former District Conservationist, in June of 1972.

He, and his wife Paula, plan to move to Butler County after school is out this year but Mr. York will begin working in Butler County on March 15th.

In Butler County, Mr. York will assume duties similar to his duties here but Butler is a larger county in both size and in agriculture than Rockcastle.

Mr. York said his decision to accept the Butler County position was one of the hardest decisions he has ever made in his life. He said the work, along with the friends he has made here, has made Rockcastle County the most enjoyable place he has ever lived; but, he feels the decision to accept the Butler County post will work out for the best in the long run.

Mr. York also said that regardless of what happens in the future, he will never forget his friends here and hopes to come back and visit often.

Legislative Round-Up

The force which favor rescinding Kentucky's ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) won a victory last week as the Kentucky House of Representatives approved a resolution in favor of rescission.

The vote was 57-40 in favor of House Joint Resolution 7, which now goes to the Senate.

The General Assembly ratified the ERA during a 1972 special session. The legality of rescission has been questioned by many legal experts, although two states have voted to rescind their ratification of the ERA. The proposed amendment to the U.S. Constitution would prohibit sexual discrimination.

The legislature also acted last week on bills dealing with crime victims' compensation and farm land assessment, held public hearings on land use and a proposed "bottle bill," and received new bills dealing with medical malpractice insurance and state officials' compensation.

The Senate voted 25-11 in favor of Senate Bill 58, which would pay crime victims up to $15,000 for lost wages and medical expenses. Victims would pay the first $100 of out-of-pocket expenses.

A five-member board would determine how much compensation a crime victim was entitled to. The bill now goes to the House.

The Senate also unanimously approved a substitute for SB 1, to base farm land assessments for tax purposes partly on the land's income producing capability.

The bill, which now goes to the House, would require a farm to produce a minimum gross annual income, which would vary according to its size, in order to be assessed as farm land.

A 1969 amendment to Kentucky's Constitution requires agricultural and horticultural land to be assessed based on its value as farm land, rather than its potentially greater value as a site for commercial or residential development.

As passed by the Senate, the bill would continue to base assessments partly on the sale price of comparable farm land in an area, so long as the land was purchased for farm purposes and the price was indicative of farm use.

Vocal forces on both sides turned out for hearings on two controversial bills.

Senate Bill 14 would require counties to adopt land use plans in accordance with state guidelines. Supporters said the bill would assure a consistent approach to problems of

MR. LAIR TO SERVE AS MUSICAL DIRECTOR FOR BROADWAY PLAY

Daniel Freudenberger, a well-known New York producer, was in Renfro Valley last week making arrangements with John Lair for Mr. Lair to serve as musical director for Broadway production already in rehearsal. It is a revival of the great hit of 50 years ago, "Secret Service," featuring the famous actor, William Gillette.

The scene of the play is laid in Richmond, Virginia during the last days of the Civil War. Mr. Lair selected the Civil War songs to be sung and musical instruments to be used in accompaniment, as well as furnish transcriptions showing the style to be adapted by the singers.

Mr. Freudenberger stated that they were striving for authenticity in their production and had decided that Mr. Lair, with his extensive knowledge of the Civil War, was the man for the job.

ARBON IS SUSPECTED in the fire which completely destroyed the four-room frame home of Mrs. Mattie Griffin Johnson and her children last Wednesday afternoon, according to Sheriff Marshall Shepherd. The house was located just south of town on old U.S. 25 and belonged to Herbert Stokes, Mrs.

Johnson nor her two sons or one daughter were at home at the time of the fire. Since they lost everything in the blaze, the family would appreciate any clothing, household items, etc. and these may be taken to the home of Mrs. Rosie Griffin at Burr.

FRANKFORT WATCHLINE

One of the session's most controversial pieces of legislation got through the House this week, but those backing the rescission of Kentucky's ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment had little to be happy with. The vote was 57-40, and some supporters of the rescission move do not think that is enough of a mandate to force action in the Senate.

Some opponents of the rescission, notably Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall, feel the same way. In fact, she considers the vote in the House as minor victory.

As things now stand, the rescission resolution is expected to be referred to the Committee on Elections and Constitutional Amendments when it gets to the Senate. Of the seven members of that committee, only the chairmen, Sen. Gus Sheehan, D-Covington, is a pro rescissionist.

Five of the others are committed to the Equal Rights Amendment and thus opposed to rescission.

Anticipating the problem, Sen. Richard Weisenberger, D-Mayfield, has been circulating a petition in hopes of getting 20 senators committed to taking the bill away from the committee and bringing the resolution to a full Senate vote.

It takes 20, an absolute majority, to do that. However, Weisenberger ran, and says he will get a floor vote on withdrawal from committee. He needs only five senators to bring that to a vote.

"Obviously, the committee was staked against us," Weisenberger said. He thinks it would be a travesty for the committee to be able to kill the measure. Weisenberger has been able to muster only 15 commitments for his withdrawal petition, and concedes that he will have trouble getting the other five.

The problem is, some senators who are committed to vote for rescinding the ERA are just as committed not to "upstage" the committee system by taking the measure from committee.

By most estimates, there are probably enough pro rescission votes in the Senate to pass the resolution if it ever got to the floor.

Weisenberger maintains that when he calls for the withdrawal vote, he will tell the Senators that their vote is in reality a vote on the merits of the resolution.

Based on interviews with several senators on both sides, it appears that the ERA rescission resolution is in deep trouble in the Senate.

ONCE A MONTH ALL WINTER, YOU GET TO SEE A HEAT PUMP'S BIGGEST ADVANTAGE.

A lower electric bill. Much like other heating and air conditioning units, a heat pump will keep your home at a year 'round comfort level. However, a heat pump goes one step further. It adds efficiency. In fact, it can heat your home up to 100% more efficiently. That's like getting two dollars' worth of comfort for every dollar's worth of electricity.

A heat pump works quite simply. During the winter, it takes heat from the air outside (there is always some heat in the air no matter how cold it is) and pumps it into your home. In the summer, it cools your home by taking heat from the air inside your home and pumping it outside. Hence, the full name, the reverse cycle heat pump.

If you're thinking of a new heating system, contact our local office for more information. With a heat pump, you can enjoy year 'round comfort and get a monthly reminder of what an economical choice you made.

THE LONG HUNTERS OF KENTUCKY

By John Lahr

Among historians it has become increasingly common to refer to various hunting parties who made prolonged expeditions into the wilderness of Kentucky as Long Hunters. Lyman Draper, who at an early date recorded the earliest and most authentic report on their activities, felt that only one such group was entitled to the official title of Long Hunters, that being the party of about forty men, under leadership of Joseph Drake and Henry Skaggs, who hunted here from the spring of 1770 to late autumn of 1772. Included in this group was James Knox, believed by some writers to have been leader of the expedition, which from his youth and lack of experience seems highly improbable.

Draper's list of Long Hunters, as quoted in Burdette and Berley's "The Long Hunters of Skin House Branch, 1970," is as follows:

JOSEPH DRAKE
He later served under Colonel Christian at the Battle of Point Pleasant and in 1775 was again in Kentucky, piloting his brother-in-law, John Floyd, and a forty man surveying party, to Booneborough.

JAMES KNOX
Born in Ireland, he came to America when fourteen years of age, settling in Virginia, where he became a hunter. After his return from Kentucky he also served under Col. Christian at Point Pleasant and later under General Morgan during the Revolution, retiring with the rank of major. He later settled in Kentucky and became one of its wealthier and more prominent early citizens. Following the death of his friend, Col. Benjamin Logan, he married his widow, the former Anne Monaghan, whom he had courted in the Holston Region before her marriage to Logan.

HENRY SKAGGS
One of the most important of the early hunters and explorers, he made several trips into Kentucky and remained active until his death, around 1820, at which time he was living with the Edwards family, in Barren County. He had five brothers, each of which was active in the early days of Kentucky's settlement. One brother, Moses, was killed by the Indians during his second trip to Kentucky. A more complete account of the exploits of Henry Skaggs will be found elsewhere in this volume in article on Skaggs Trace.

JAMES ALDRIDGE
Later came back to make Kentucky his home, settling in neighboring Garrard County, reaching the rank of captain in the 57th Regiment of the Kentucky Militia.

JAMES ALDRIDGE
Killed by Indians while guarding Skin House Branch camp of the Long Hunters.

WILLIAM ALLEN
Killed by Indians at the same time as James Aldridge.

JOHN BAKER
Came back to Kentucky in later years, making his home in Rockcastle County where he died in 1820. He was the discoverer of Great Salt Lake Cave, and with his family, was lost inside the cave for forty hours, in total darkness after dropping and extinguishing his pinknot torch. His homestead and grave have lately been discovered in the vicinity of the cave.

ISAAC BLEDSOE
Later served in the Revolution under Isaac Shelby. Came back to one of the early stations in Kentucky, where he stayed for a few years, then went to Tennessee and settled near Bledsoe Lick, which he had discovered in 1769. He was killed by the Indians near his home in 1793.

ABRAHAM BLEDSOE
Older brother of Isaac. Another brother, Anthony, was killed by Indians in Tennessee.

WILLIAM BLEVINS
One of the more active of the very early hunting parties. Connected by marriage with the Walden family and Charles Skaggs, he was with them on their hunts as early as 1761, and in 1768 when they came through Cumberland Gap and into Kentucky on a hunting trip that carried them as far as present Crab Orchard, Kentucky. It is believed that while he was a member of this party Henry Skaggs discovered the creek in present Rockcastle County which bears his name.

DANIEL BOONE
While Daniel Boone was not originally a member of the Long Hunters, he being already in Kentucky with a hunting and exploring party of his own, he did come in contact with them when he and Squire Boone moved over into the Green River Country, where the Long Hunters were then stationed following which they hunted together until March of 1771, when the Boones went back to their homes in North Carolina.

CASTLETON BROOKS
After returning from the hunt he was present at the Treaty of Sycamore Shoals, when the Transylvania Company purchased their Kentucky lands from the Cherokees.

WILLIAM BUTLER
Years after the close of the Long Hunt, he moved his family, including sons William, John, James, Isaac and Elezabah, to Lincoln County, Kentucky, where he later became an important citizen of the state, later effecting the first permanent settlement in Adair County.

CHARLES COX
Originally a member of Walden's party of 1761 and 1763. He later moved to Tennessee and became a captain in the militia. Cox's Ridge in Rockcastle County was named for him.

JAMES GRAHAM
Served in the Revolution and was in the Battle of Kings Mountain. Came back to Kentucky and was captured by the Indians at the disastrous battle of Blue Licks. He was taken to Canada but was later released and served in the Clark Campaign. He was the father of Dr. Christopher Graham, of Harrodsburg, Kentucky, proprietor of several large summer resorts, one of which was located on Rockcastle River. Dr. Graham wrote an early account on the wonders of Great Salt Lake Cave. At the time of his death he was the last living witness of the marriage of Abraham Lincoln's father and mother.

WILLIAM GRAHAM
Came back to Kentucky and founded a station on Brush Creek, in Greene County. A detective of Abraham Lincoln's was Abraham Lincoln's school teacher and was an uncle of Mary Owens, whom Lincoln courted before his marriage to a Lexington girl, Mary Todd.

VALENTINE HARMON
Another of the Long Hunters who later came back to make his home in Rockcastle County. He was a member of the Transylvania Convention held at Booneborough in 1775. He was a personal friend of James Dycart and settled near him in the Skaggs Creek section of Rockcastle County.

WILLIAM CRABTREE
Was later identified with Boone's cutting of the road to Booneborough and from his earlier travels and experience was able to make some changes which shortened and simplified the original route. Was captain under Col. Campbell at the Battle of Kings Mountain.

ROBERT CROCKETT
While on the hunt was ambushed and killed by a war party of Indians.

JAMES DYSART
See Elsewhere in this book for information on Dysart, who ranks as one of the important early residents of Rockcastle County.

CHARLES EWING
Is remembered as the man who became jealous of Henry Skaggs' success as a hunter and returned home before the hunt was finished.

DAVID HUGHES
One of the guards of Skin House Branch camp with William Allen and Christopher Stoph, both of whom were killed in the Indian attack, from which he made his escape.

WILLIAM LYNCH
Became sick while on the hunt and was taken back to his home in the settlements by Isaac Bledsoe.

CASPER MANSKER
Was considered an outstanding woodsman and hunter and made several trips back and forth between Virginia and Kentucky. He possessed great muscular strength and was a noted Indian fighter, gaining the ran of colonel in the militia.

WILLIAM MILLER
Was one of the youngest men on the Long Hunt and after its conclusion established a settlement on Paint Lick Creek. He served as a lieutenant under Captain James Estill in the fight with the Indians at Little Mountain (near Mt. Sterling) in 1782, a fight that same year was with George Rogers Clark at the burning of the Miami Indian town. He later was made colonel of the militia. Miller was over six feet in height, fair complexioned and handsome, with a winning personality. For many years after the Battle of Little Mountain, where Captain James Estill lost his life, Miller who was in charge of one group of Estill's party was accused of having caused the death of many members of the white forces by bravely running away with his rifle and thus weakening the defense of the whites. Later developments, however, seems to have cleared him of the charge and restored him to public favor.

JOHN MONTGOMERY
Returned to his home in Virginia following the hunt and was at the Battle of Point Pleasant in 1774. By 1776 he was a lieutenant colonel under George Rogers Clark in the Illinois Campaign. He was active in several campaigns, including service under Col. William Whitley on the Nickajack expedition, at which time he was living in Cumberland County with his wife and four children. While on a bear hunt in 1794, he was killed by Indians at a spot near present Edville, Kentucky. A city in Tennessee is named for him.

JOHN RAINS
In 1779 John Rains came back to Kentucky, accompanied by his family. They came by way of Cumberland Gap and down Cumberland Trace by way of Carpenter's station, near Logan's Fort, the present Stanford, Kentucky. They were caught in a severe sleet storm and took shelter in Carpenter's Station, where they remained for some time before going on to the site of their permanent location.

WILLIAM PITTMAN
Was a long-time friend and hunting companion of Henry Skaggs and when he decided to build his own station in 1780 he came back from Virginia and joined the various members of the Skaggs family in the Green River Country, where they were also making settlements. In 1781 the Indians drove all settlers from that area and the Pittmans, including William's brother Thomas, and family settled temporarily in Lincoln County. The Rockcastle County Pittmans are undoubtedly descendants who were still living in Lincoln County, at that time a part of it was set over into Rockcastle in 1810.

SAMUEL NEWELL
Served as a lieutenant in the Battle of King's Mountain, where he was wounded. Upon moving to Kentucky he settled in Pulaski County. In his old age he and his wife went to Indiana to visit two of their daughters and never came back to Kentucky. A son, Joseph Newell, continued to live on the old home place while his brother, Montgomery Newell, settled near Somerset, Kentucky.

"OLD MAN" RUSSELL
This old fellow certainly had no business being so far away from home on so long a hunt. His eyesight was so dim that he had to tie a piece of white paper or cloth on the muzzle of his rifle to enable him to take aim at a deer. He became lost once, in very cold weather, and was missing for nineteen days before being found. When discovered and brought into camp, he was quite helpless and speechless for several days, but eventually recovered and joined actively in the hunting. The stream on which he was found is still known by the name of Russell Creek.

CHRISTOPHER STOFF
Was another of the Long Hunters who lost his life on the expedition. He was killed by Indians, along with William Allen, while they were guarding their headquarters camp in the absence of other hunters.

URIAH STONE
He was one of the more experienced hunters, having been out on hunts in 1776, 1777, and 1769. Little is known of him and his activities after 1770. Stephen, Uriah and William Stone, early settlers in Lincoln County who later moved to Adair County, may have been his sons.

MICHAEL STONER
Of German birth, his name was originally Steiner, but his hunting companions in the wilderness soon simplified it to Stoner. He seems to have been a favorite among the pioneers, possessing great strength, unquestioned bravery and an unflinching sense of humor. He seems to have been a valued companion of Boone's, having accompanied him on his hurried trip into Kentucky in 1774, when sent by Lord Dunmore to warn surveying parties against danger of an Indian uprising. He was also with Boone's road-cutting.

With the Legislature In Frankfort

By Rep. Harold DeMarco

As the 1976 session of the Kentucky General Assembly passes its mid-way point, I thought it would be appropriate to give some impressions of the first half of the session.

At this writing, there have been 532 bills introduced in the House and 221 bills introduced in the Senate. In addition, there have been a handful of resolutions introduced in both houses. However, only approximately 150 House bills have been reported out of committee and approximately 72 Senate bills. This number is not absolutely correct as many of these bills have been re-committed to other committees.

And, the number of bills passed by either house is extremely low—39 House bills have passed the House and 29 Senate bills have passed the Senate. But of these bills, only 2 House bills and 1 Senate bill has been signed into law by the governor. And, at this writing, there is only 1 House bill and 1 Senate bill awaiting action by the governor.

Kentucky citizens and taxpayers, the people who are footing the bill for this session of the legislature, may be wondering why such little work has been accomplished during the first half of the 1976 session. To those who understand and live within the state government, the answer is very plain and simple—the governor of this Commonwealth has his grip firmly around the General Assembly and is choking off any productive efforts of anyone of either party.

One may ask how one man on the first floor of the Capitol can control a large majority of the 138 men and women on the third floor. The answer once again is very plain and simple—through the committee on which all legislation must pass. These individuals were appointed, according to the adopted rules, by the Committee on Committees in each Chamber—but, in reality, the word came from the first floor to the respective Committee on Committees as to who "should" be placed in these powerful positions.

The reason why these positions are so powerful is that, according to the adopted rules, the Committee chairperson has control of all legislation which comes into the committee. If a bill is unfavorable to the first floor, the bill never gets considered in committee.

And if a bill should "accidentally" get out of a committee, the Rules Committee mainly controlled by democrat party people, can re-commit the bill to one of the hand-picked "graveyard" committees whose purpose it is to let bills "die in committee."

Therefore, with these "legislative safe guards" the General Assembly is easily controlled by one man on the first floor.

As a result of this "firm grip", some legislators have become reasonably lax in their duties as elected representatives—interest in committee proceedings has dropped, with the result that stimulates a quorum is not even present to conduct business; debate on the floor of the chamber does not flourish as legislators realize it is a futile effort; legislators have abandoned any expectation of getting their bills through the committee and passed as they realize that only the "important bills" will get through.

I can honestly say that in my many years in state government, I have never seen a more tightly controlled legislature than the present one.

But, I might add, that this tight control by the governor is accepted by a large majority of the legislators. This acceptance is based partly on the fact that they know the political fate of anyone who opposes the governor and partly on the fact that these legislators know where the real power and control in state government comes from.

In closing, I might speculate that if the session continues on this course, this session will be remembered as "The Bicentennial Session"—since we are celebrating the achievements of our great nation, we will commemorate this 200th birthday by doing as little as possible for our great Commonwealth during the session.

However, this may be better for the people of the Commonwealth as every bill passed by the Kentucky General Assembly usually tracks someone. Bills cause more problems than are solved; and regardless of how many laws are passed by the legislature, unless the law enforcement officers and the courts properly enforce them and convict these criminals, filling up the law books may not help.

But the principle upon which our country and our Commonwealth operates is representation for our people through their elected representatives. If the government operates as it is today, that principle is destroyed.

OREDAH TERRILL Later settled in Lincoln County, Kentucky, where he died about 1812. again in 1763 and hunted as far north as Crab Orchard. His name was frequently spelled Wallin, instead of Walden, and was the name given in his honor to Wallins Creek and Wallins Ridge, although the latter is sometimes known as Waldens Ridge. Henry Skaggs accompanied him on these hunts. It is believed that on some of these hunts he or members of his party christened the name of "Cave Gap" to Cumberland Gap, since the mountain which it penetrated was beginning to be spoken of as Cumberland Mountain, to conform with the name Dr. Walker had given Cumberland River.
