Mullins is one of 17 students who will graduate from the University of Kentucky this year with a degree in Civil Engineering under a transportation scholarship program. Each student is obligated to work a full year for the department for each school year of scholarship he received.

Down on the Farm

BY ROY G. BROWN
Assistant Vice President
Cumberland-PCA

This year, 1976, we the American people will elect a president, vice president and members of congress.

The last several years we, as voters, have failed to cast our vote. Only about 20 percent of those eligible to vote actually cast a vote. This is alarming. Just think, we Americans, with the freedoms we enjoy, fall in our responsibility to use our rights and keep America free.

Yes, I know many of us will say, "It wouldn't do any good to vote as they will do what they want anyway." With the scandals, corruption, bribery, etc. just name it and many in high offices are guilty on one or all counts. Both parties are the same, but when over 20 percent of good upstanding American citizens get that attitude and fail to encourage and vote for better leaders of our great country, and turn it over to the riff-raff, who think the government owes them a living regardless of the cost and freedoms it takes away. We could lose all the many freedoms our forefathers worked and many died for and could become a country ruled by a dictator. Then we would not have the privilege of going to the voting precincts to choose our leaders, as we know it today. Many countries of the world today don't have the freedoms we enjoy and, Oh, what they would give to be in the land of "America" to enjoy the freedom we take so lightly.

Wake up, good red-blooded "American Citizens" and exercise the right which we still have the opportunity DOWN ON THE FARM.

Every day you rely on electricity. But you probably never think about it. Because over the years you've gotten used to good electric service.

You've also gotten used to getting an electric bill. But now your bill is higher than it was a couple of years ago.

It's easy to understand why. We are suffering from the same inflation you are, paying more for the materials we use to make electricity, more for labor and environmental controls. And in order to expand to meet future needs, we must borrow money at today's high interest rates.

All that must add up to a higher electric bill. But it also adds up to the same good electric service you're used to. And that's our job. Now and ten years from now.

FIRST 1976 INCOME TAX PAYMENT DUE FOR THOSE WHO PAY QUARTERLY

Any Kentucky citizens who do not have enough taxes withheld are required to pay their first installment of estimated 1976 Federal income taxes no later than Thursday, April 15.

The total estimated tax due may be paid in four equal installments, April 15, June 15, September 15, and January 17.

"Many taxpayers realize that they meet the requirements for filing a tax declaration at this time of year," said Paul Niederecker, IRS District Director for Kentucky. "Generally, when the taxpayers will owe IRS more than $100 not covered by withholding, they should file a declaration of estimated tax. A Form 1040-ES voucher must accompany the first installment."

Taxpayers who filed a declaration of estimated tax last year should have received an estimated tax package in the mail, which includes four declaration vouchers and pre-addressed envelopes for making the 1976 declarations and payments. Also included in the package are a worksheet and instructions.

Taxpayers are required to file, and did not receive an estimated tax package in the mail, can obtain it at IRS offices. IRS Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax," is available free from the Kentucky IRS District office to provide more details on the payment of estimated tax.

Moon Tree

On Arbor Day, a moon tree brought back to Earth by astronauts will be popping up on the grounds of each state capital across the nation. And Kentucky's moon-tree will be planted on the Commonwealth's 1976 Arbor Day, April 2.

According to Harry Nadler, director of the division of forestry in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, Kentucky's moon tree is really a four-foot-high American sycamore tree grown from a seed that was taken along with many others to the moon and then brought back again. The other types of seeds taken were loblolly pine, Douglas fir and redwood.

The seeds, said Nadler, were carried to the moon by Command

Module pilot, Stuart Roosa, on the Apollo 14 flight in January and February, 1971. When the seeds were brought back, they were tested for effects that the trip and the outer space atmosphere may have had. Later they were germinated and grown at the Forest Service Institute of Genetics in Gulfport, Mississippi.

Arbor Day, which is usually honored during beautification month in Kentucky, is marked by a tree planting on or near the Capitol grounds. Most of the Arbor Day trees planted there are still standing.

The state forestry division encourages extensive tree planting throughout the state on Arbor Day. To promote tree planting, continued Nadler, the division offers low free yellow poplar seedlings to garden clubs, civic clubs and schools that plan to hold Arbor Day ceremonies.

Seedlings and price lists can be obtained from the division of forestry, Kentucky Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, 618 Teton Trail, Frankfort, Ky. 40601, or from a local forestry office.

MORE FAMILIES CAN GET FOOD STAMPS

Families who were either denied food stamps or required to pay excessive amounts for the stamps because they were receiving rent subsidies from the U. S. Department for Housing and Urban Development may now be eligible for the program or may be entitled to an adjustment, according to Secretary C. Leslie Dawson, Department for Human Resources.

Under a recent court decision, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has been ordered to discontinue considering such rent subsidies as income when determining either food stamp eligibility or the amount a family would pay for the stamps. Most of the Kentucky families affected by this decision live in 12 counties: Boone, Campbell, Christian, Fayette, Franklin, Harrison, Henderson, Jefferson, Kenton, McCracken, Madison and Nelson. However, some families to whom it applies may live in other parts of the state. The decision applies retroactively to Oct. 8, 1975.

Families who are receiving such rent subsidies and who believe that they were either turned down for food stamps or were asked to pay additional amounts for food stamps because the subsidies were considered family income should contact their local food stamp office, advises Secretary Dawson. That office will be able to determine what effect the ruling will have on their cases.

Area Social Services Plans Announced for Coming Year

The Department for Human Resources has announced its proposed plan for social services in the Cumberland Valley Area for the year beginning July 1, 1976.

The recommended services are to be published in the London Sentinel on April 1.

Plans for services are based on needs in the specific area identified by the Area Development District Board, staff of the Bureau for Social Services, and other interested groups and individuals.

Plans were developed to fill the most significant available needs within the limitations of available funds. The programs are funded under Title XX of the Federal Social Security Act.

Services proposed for the counties of Bell, Clay, Harlan, Jackson, Knox, Laurel, Rockcastle, and Whitley (the Cumberland Valley Area) are: adoption, adult activities and or work activities, adult protection, alcohol abuse prevention and treatment, alternate care, child protection, continuing care, counseling for the emotionally disturbed child, day care services for adults, day care services for children, drug abuse prevention and treatment, education, training and rehabilitation services.

The Mt. Vernon Signal P-10 Thursday, April 8, 1976

Emergency shelter care for children; employment related services; family or individual counseling services; family planning, foster care services for children; group home care and services; health related services; home management-homemaking services; housing and home improvement services; juvenile services in the community; preschool day training services; residential treatment services; sheltered workshop services; social service planning and unmarried parents.

These recommended programs are subject to public comment until May 15. A public hearing will be conducted on the Cumberland Valley Area's proposed plan May 10 from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. in the cafeteria of Laurel County High School, Highway 25 (Corbin Road), London.

Human Resources Secretary C. Leslie Dawson notes that Title XX does not include all sources of federal funds for Social Services programs such as the Older Americans Act and Title IVB of the Social Security Act.

Kentucky's Title XX programs are administered by the Department for Human Resources' Bureau for Social Services. Bureau staff members will attend all public hearings to answer questions.

The state's total Title XX budget is $53,473,581, of which $39,712,500 is federal money. A copy of the proposed plan for the entire state may be reviewed at any local bureau office during regular working hours.

Comments should be sent in writing before May 15 to Secretary C. Leslie Dawson, Department for Human Resources, Capitol Annex Building, Second Floor, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

One copy of the complete recommended state plan is available without charge and additional copies may be obtained for five dollars per copy.

Send written requests for plan copies to Margaret Rosenbaum, Department for Human Resources, Bureau for Social Services, 403 Wapping Street, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. Or call toll free 1-800-872-2992 Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Following the 45 days of public comment and hearings, the Department for Human Resources will analyze comments and make necessary changes, prior to submitting the plan to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. A display ad of the final plan will be published June 30.

NO SUCH THING AS SURPLUS JEeps

Serviceable, surplus jeeps are not available at the Lexington Blue Grass Arms Depot, a depot spokesman announced today.

The spokesman further commented that during the past 15 years the Department of Defense has had no serviceable jeeps available for sale to the public. He said the only jeeps available during that time had been cannibalized vehicles, those with parts missing and fixed with old or worn parts from other vehicles.

The depot has recently received several phone calls about the availability of surplus jeeps. Apparently these calls have been triggered by solicitations offering new, unassembled jeeps for sale at $125. The depot spokesman warned anyone interested in these solicitations to investigate fully before investing money.

The depot does not sell surplus jeeps for sale at any price, he concluded.

Rogers also said that leading supporters of the Ford campaign in Kentucky would be present.

Taxpayers

Ask IRS

Q: I have a refund coming. How long must I wait for it?

A: Normally there is a three to five week wait for refunds. However, if you file your tax return near April 15, your refund may be delayed because of the large volume of tax returns the IRS receives then.

If you should move after filing your tax return and you expect a refund, notify the Post Office serving your old address so the check can be forwarded to you. The Post Office will usually forward a government check if you have filed a change of address with them.

Q: If I check the box on my tax return for the Presidential Election Campaign Fund, who will get the money? Also, will this affect my refund or tax payments?

Alcoholism Among Teenagers

By: Mark Stephens

There are many reports of a growing epidemic of teen-age alcoholics. They suggest that all the kids are switching from drugs to alcohol. Actually, there is some debate as to whether adolescent alcoholism is a growing problem or a problem in growing. I personally believe both of these statements are true.

Alcoholism among teen-agers is, in almost every case, a reflection of their emotional problems, feelings of frustration, failure, and unimportance. In addition, most get into so much trouble that nearly everyone gives up on them. Our task is to let them realize that they can change and that they have the potential to do something with their lives.

Today approximately 80 per cent of America's teen-agers drink and about 10 per cent have problems with their drinking. Prevention begins at home. Parental behavior is strongly related to adolescent drinking. Parents feel frustrated because they feel they have so little influence on their children's lives. School and television are viewed as having taken over the role of the parent.

Obviously, the teen-agers who have a readily diagnosable drinking problem need professional help and counseling, but what about those who are just experimenting or trying it as a part of growing up? Preventive education may hold the solution to this problem. Preventive education should begin early and begin at home. For this reason, parents must have a clear understanding of their roles. Schools should have as part of their regular curriculum preventive education programs beginning in the grade school years. Education should be geared to help the children make a decision and not just to tell them what they should do, because in the end they will have to make the final decision as to what they will or will not do.

The question is not whether adolescent alcoholism is a growing problem or a problem in growing, the question is what treatment and preventive education is needed to minimize the problem.

The Cumberland River Comprehensive Care Center encourages you to learn more about the effects of alcohol abuse on the family unit.

will be broken and most participants will get nothing from their involvement.

Typically the chain letter requires each of its recipients to sell or mail copies to a specified number of others, who would also be asked to continue the chain of mailings. Usually, the chain expands so rapidly that the number of prospects is soon exhausted.

For example, a chain letter requiring each purchaser to send copies to six others would theoretically reach the entire literate population of the earth by the time it reached its 12th link.

The fact that chain letters are not mailed does not exclude the scheme from being a violation of law if the scheme involves the mailing of bonds or other valuable items.

On the other hand, so-called chain letters which call for nothing more than recipes, picture post cards and the like, are ordinarily considered to be mailable because the items sent do not constitute a "thing of value" under applicable law. However, postal cards involving "good luck" chain prayers that contain a threat of bad luck to those who break the chain are prohibited because it is against the law to place threatening matter on the outside of mail.

Postmaster Smith cautioned the public to be especially alert for numerous current chain letters which contain a claim that they have been reviewed by some legal authority and officially approved for mailing.

"This is not true," Smith said, "and I would appreciate having all chain letters received in this area promptly turned over to me or Postal Inspectors so that we can help protect the public from this illegal activity."

"Advice is always a confession."

School Board Meets

The Rockcastle County Board of Education voted Monday night, at their regular meeting, to have Dr. Rudolph Burdette (School Board Chairman) represent them to the board of the "Coal Severance Economic Aid Fund," a program passed by the last Legislature and signed into law by Governor Carroll recently.

Funds received by the county from this program may be spent on developing recreational programs, industrial sites etc. Other members of the committee will be the County Judge, Mayor Roland Mullins and two members chosen by the governor.

Also during the meeting, the Board: Approved final payment and the close-out of two projects, Preston Collins, the Mt. Vernon Elementary School fire, $2,817.16 and William Robinson, $11,289.17 for grade, drain and seeding of the football field at the high school.

Approved Lucille Carolotis as substitute teacher, subject to certification.

Approved a proposal by Lawson Roofing Company to install two additional drains with downspouts and splash pans on the Rockcastle County High School gym, to top mop entire gym roof with hot tar and to cover all anchor blocks with metal at cost of $1,775.00 (approved by architect).

Revised the school calendar so that May 31st will be the last day of school rather than June 1st as originally scheduled, provided there are no more days missed due to bad weather.

And, voted to tear down old Clell Pike residence in front of gymnasium at Livingston Elementary School to provide parking spaces for teachers.

G.D. MINK ROBBED

G.D. Mink, 89, of Calloway was robbed of $127 in cash, his pocket watch and a rifle Sunday afternoon about 7 p.m. by two men who entered his home. Sheriff Manuel Shepherd said that Mr. Mink reported he was threatened with a gun and then tied into a sheet while the men went through his home.

After the thieves left, Mr. Mink managed to free himself from the sheet and report the robbery to authorities.

In a recent consummated deal, John Lair has purchased from J. Hal Smith of Goodlettsville, Tennessee, the Remfo Valley properties which Smith had purchased from him in 1968. During Mr. Smith's ownership many improvements were made and important features added, such as the annual 3-day Remfo Valley Blue Grass Festival, an annual rodeo and other outdoor events. The press of other business responsibilities made it necessary for Mr. Smith to devote his full time to other fields. Mr. Lair has come out of retirement to again take over the ownership and management of the radio complex which he originated and promoted many years ago. Mr. Lair had declared his intention to form a new corporation for the further development of Remfo Valley as a country music center and tourist attraction.

Fiscal Court Buys Law Enforcement Equipment

The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court met Tuesday for their regular monthly meeting with very little on the agenda. Jim Cass of the Cumberland Valley Area Development District and Larry Patrick with the Cumberland Valley Area Crime Council met with the court to discuss the county receiving $65,191 of law enforcement equipment under a 19-25 grant from the federal government.

The magistrates were told by Mr. Patrick that they could receive a Sony tape recorder and six cassettes, an instamatic camera and set of film and flash cubes, a combination fingerprint cabinet, a fingerprint guide set, 3 filing cabinet with lock and a set of evidence collection bags by paying 25 percent (or $162.98) of the $65,191 with the remainder being paid by the government in the form of a 75 percent grant.

The equipment will be the property of the Fiscal Court and the Court will decide which law enforcement agency in the county receives it (presumably, it will be the sheriff).

The court voted unanimously to match the funds and receive the equipment.

In other action, the Court accepted the 1974 and 1975 settlement of County Court Clerk Clifford Bates which showed excess fees for the two years in the amount of $1,009.80 and $6,981.71, respectively. Mr. Bates explained to the Court that the 1974 settlement was held up by the state and the papers had just been returned to his office from Frankfort.

The Court decided to put the excess fees into the general fund, and then to transfer $1,000 to each magistrate's account, put $1,491.50 in the repair fund and transfer $1,800 to the county court clerk's office equipment fund for the purchase of a typewriter and filing cabinet.

Postmaster Smith Says "Chain Letters Illegal"

Fraudulent chain letters, have been around for many years, but odds are better now that you may receive one, this time with a Bicentennial theme, according to Postmaster James O. Smith.

A scheme, which involves the mailing of U.S. Savings Bonds, has shown up in major urban centers of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Maryland, Virginia and Florida," Postmaster Smith said.

"The latter with the Bicentennial gimmick," Smith explained, "urges those receiving it to mail $2.00 - $1.00 for each 100 years - to the person whose name is first on the list in celebration of our nation's 200th birthday.

"Chief Postal Inspector C. Neil Benson has informed us that actual profits from chain letters are usually obtained only by those who originate or enter the scheme very early," Postmaster Smith said.

Chain letters requesting money or other items of value are non-mailable under the Federal Mail Fraud Statute. They are considered to be fraudulent because of the likelihood that the chain

Hospital Plans 32-Bed Extended Care Facility

Members of the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court and the Rockcastle County Hospital Board of Directors met at the hospital Tuesday, April 6th for a luncheon meeting to discuss preliminary planning for the addition of a 32-bed extended care facility to the hospital.

County Judge Hubert Thacker, Magistrates J.R. "Boone" Cromer, Sherman Sargent and Chester Whitaker represented the county and the hospital board of directors and Henry Hoskins, administrator, represented the hospital.

Hospital representatives advised the Fiscal Court of the need for an extended care facility and discussed future plans for the hospital. Bill Bayler, president of the board of directors, emphasized that this meeting was preliminary to the actual planning phase and that no specific decisions were being asked for at this time. Robert Cromer, treasurer of the hospital board, said that the hospital wished to keep the county government fully informed from the beginning and felt that a cooperative effort throughout the entire phase of planning and construction would be of mutual benefit to all concerned and for the ultimate benefit of the citizens of Rockcastle County.

The Hospital board plans to apply for a Farmers Home Administration loan to build the facility which would be repaid from hospital operating funds.

FRANKFORT WATCHLINE

The Kentucky politicians are starting to take sides in the upcoming presidential preference primary, and while surprises have been few so far, some interesting alignments are in the making.

Those alignments now raise the possibility of some just as interesting splits later.

Kentucky two top elected officials are yet to come out for a candidate. Gov. Julian Carroll has every appearance of being headed toward supporting former Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia.

However, Lt. Gov. Thomas Stovall is laying way back on this one. The reason she is a dyed in the wool supporter of Sen. Hubert Humphrey, the man in the wings, the man many still believe is waiting to pick up the pieces at the Democratic national convention if none of the primary contenders is able to grab off enough delegate votes to take a first ballot victory.

"I'd give anything if I could get Humphrey to run," Mrs. Stovall said last week, expressing some concern about Humphrey's intention to stay out of the primaries.

It is looks like Humphrey will not be able to pull it off, though, she allowed as how she could support either Carter or Sen. Henry Jackson, who is now nipping at Carter's heels in the big, important northern states.

She is also not interested in starting any fights in Kentucky that might end up splitting up the Democratic party.

It may be too late to avoid at least some of that.

With the naming last week of Sen. Wendell Ford at Democratic national campaign chairman, the post held four

There will also be a few names appear on the May primary ballot that will be little more than history by the time voting day arrives.

There is still the big question of turnout and the uncommitted box on the ballot.

Most of the congressional primaries appear to be less than interesting, which should hurt turnout, and there are few other races of any interest.

Democratic Party Chairman Howard (Sonny) Hunt was quoted as saying that something in the neighborhood of half the votes could go uncommitted, but that appears to be a gross exaggeration.

However, a substantial uncommitted percentage combined with a strong showing by Carter, assuming Carroll ends up on his team, would give Carroll a share of the delegates to barter with at the convention.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

I would like to take this opportunity to notify the people in and around Livingston that have dogs that they care about - there is a dog killer in this vicinity.

Somebody killed my dog for nothing. I think that is dirty and very inhuman, to kill a poor old dog that there is no harm in.

I probably never will know who killed my dog and maybe it is best I don't know. If the party that killed my dog should happen to read this, I want them to know this dog meant a lot to me.

I hope you will stop this inhuman thing. There are dogs at my place everyday. If I killed all that come here, there wouldn't be any left in the neighborhood in a little while.

If I don't want a dog around me all I have to do is let the dog know, I sure won't hurt them that comes to my place.

CARE MOTHER'S DAY PLAN HELPS NEEDY WORLD-WIDE

Around the world, no matter what the language, the word "mother" means love. And, on Mother's Day, countless families show their loving gratitude by sending cards and giving gifts. But, in the 38 developing countries where CARE operates, needy mothers and their families need more than love to survive daily hardships. They must have food and vital rural development projects to work their way out of poverty.

A contribution to CARE in your mother's name, or any woman dear to you, will send destitute mothers and their families overseas food, aid for food-growing and other such projects. For example, $2 serves 12 children a daily bowl of nourishing porridge for a month; $5 gives 1,800 children a cup of protein-enriched beverage; $10 provides a group of needy farmers two full days' expert training and supervision to grow more food; $15 keeps a hard-working CARE-MEDICO nurse on duty a full day treating patients and training other nurses.

Your mother will receive an attractive CARE card notifying her of your special tribute on Mother's Day. The card will be mailed directly to her or to you, as you prefer. The message is equally appropriate for mothers of friends, grandmothers and mothers-in-law.

Contributions may be sent to Mother's Day Plan, CARE, Room 102, 8 East Chestnut Street, Columbus, Ohio 43215. Give your name and address, the name and address of each woman honored (minimum $2 per name), and instructions for card handling. If you wish cards mailed directly, state how each is to be signed. Make checks out to CARE, Inc. Order early to assure card deliveries in time for Mother's Day, May 9th.

An easy way to line drawers is with inexpensive plastic place mats.

County Agent's Notes

BY H. LEE DURHAM
COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT FOR AGRICULTURE

It's A Fact
What would you say is this nation's largest industry? It's the same as it was 200 years ago - agriculture. Agriculture's assets, totaling $531 billion, amount to about three-fifths of the capital assets of all manufacturing corporations in the United States. Agriculture is also the nation's largest employer. Between 14 and 17 million people work in some phase of agriculture, from growing food and fiber to selling it at the supermarket. Farming itself uses nearly four and a half million workers - as many as the combined payrolls of transportation, the steel industry and the automobile industry. If you have any interest in the subject, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has a new publication that tells almost all. It has fascinating facts on farm production and farm operation, plus marketing of food, the services of agriculture and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, plus facts about the rural social environment. It describes who still lives down on the farm and how he lives. If you work in a skyscraper but dream about retirement to your own farm someday, this booklet gives you a good idea of farm incomes and lists that states lead in production of what food, fiber and livestock. For example: If you want to grow oats, you'll find that Minnesota is the number one producer of oats, so probably a good choice for where to sow your oats. For a free copy write to FACT BOOK OF U. S. AGRICULTURE, RADIO WASHINGTON D. C. 20250.

Dry Cow Treatment
(From Hoard's Dairyman)
Dairy scientists recommend dry cow treatment in every quarter of every cow at drying off time because: 1) Efficiency of treating subclinical mastitis is greater at this time; 2) A more persistent antibiotic formulation can be used which will eliminate many hard to cure cases; 3) Infections contracted during the dry period are reduced; 4) Damaged tissue may be regenerated if all disease causing organisms are eliminated; 5) Clinical mastitis at freshening is reduced by 80 percent and 6) Milk doesn't have to be thrown away.

Wait for 2nd Grade
Farmers who sell fed cattle to packers, on a grade and yield basis, may be losing money if they accept payment based on the first day's grade.

This advice comes from Smith T. Powell, Lincoln County cattleman and KFB Livestock Chairman.

Powell said many packers have beef carcasses regraded, as grade tends to come up after two days in the cooler. The procedure is perfectly legal, he noted, and farmers need to be aware that the first grade, affixed shortly after slaughter, may not be the final grade. "If the carcass just misses grading Choice the first time," Powell said, "producers should wait for the second grade before accepting payment."

Powell said many producers, unaware of the regrading practices, have complained of unfair treatment by packing houses in the Kentucky area. It's up to the individual to see that he gets paid according to the final grade placed on a carcass, he said.

With the Legislature In Frankfort

By Rep. Harold DeMarcus

The 1976 session of the Kentucky General Assembly adjourned sine die on March 20. Upon adjournment, the 138 elected legislators departed for their respective homes and businesses until they could return for the 1978 session. Although the legislators would be involved in various legislative activities during the interim, not for another two years would the elected representatives of the people of Kentucky gather as the General Assembly to consider the needs of all Kentuckians.

Depending upon one's own assessment of the recent session of the legislature, one may wonder how the General Assembly can function so effectively to meet the needs of Kentucky when the only full-time involvement they have with their job as legislators is during the session itself. On the other hand, one may say "no wonder our General Assembly does so poorly, they only get together 60 days every two years - how could anyone do a job well when they only spend 60 days every two years at it."

But there are many people throughout the state who do not realize or understand how the General Assembly and the individual legislators function both during the session and during the two-year interim between sessions.

The need to keep the individual legislators up to date with the developments in a wide-range of fields was seen long ago by the state. At the same time, the state realized the problem facing them in trying to keep the legislators abreast of Kentucky's needs, problems and the developments in various areas of government.

Therefore, Kentucky, in 1936, became the second state to create a legislative service agency, when the Legislative Council was formed with 15 members. However, due to lack of adequate funds and staff, the Council was never able to function properly.

In 1948, the General Assembly abolished the Council and created the Legislative Research Commission with the Governor as chairman. The chairmanship later passed to the lieutenant governor and, in 1975, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President Pro Tem of the Senate, who share the position. State law designates who shall serve on the Commission. At the present time, there are ten democrats and six Republicans serving on the Commission. In addition, there is a staff of nearly 100 highly trained men and women to assist the LRC in its various activities. The LRC also appoints a director who runs the commission and its activities under the direction of the 16-member commission. It is this Commission, the LRC, that enables and makes it possible for Kentucky's legislators to keep on top of their jobs as legislators during the entire year.

The LRC performs a multitude of services for the 138 members of the General Assembly. Some of their more important duties are:

1) Bill Drafting - The staff of the LRC spends a great deal of time in bill drafting for the legislators. During the recent session, 1245 bills were introduced for consideration by the General Assembly; and this number does not include the vast number of amendments drafted to change the original bill. This job of bill drafting is a year round activity as a bill must start preparing bills for the next session as soon as one session ends.

2) Interim Committees - Since 1968, joint panels of senators and representatives have met during the interim as subcommittees of LRC. These subcommittees of which there are 15, meet during the interim on a regular basis to discuss important matters within their jurisdiction and to work on legislation for the next session. The LRC staff serves these interim committees on a continued basis, both in an advisory capacity and as the manpower for committee work.

3) Research - One of the major responsibilities of the LRC staff is to carry out research projects that have been requested by the General Assembly or by the LRC itself. The results of these projects are than made available to the legislators for their use in studying and drafting legislation. The results are also available to the public at a modest price.

Some of the more recent studies have dealt with such subjects as: public school financing; state correctional facilities; mentally retarded facilities; and Kentucky election laws.

Some of the studies which the 1976 General Assembly directed the LRC to do during the interim include: city employees' retirement; education issues; kindergarten programs; physician shortage.

Some of the more minor duties of the LRC and its staff are:

A) Legislative Orientation - The LRC conducts an orientation conference for the legislators prior to each regular session. The purpose of this program is to acquaint new members of the General Assembly with the procedures used in the legislature.

B) Fiscal Review - The LRC also has a fiscal review section which evaluates programs supported by state funds. This same staff section estimates and evaluations of costs of proposed legislation. The purpose behind such a review section is to assure that the state's money is being spent wisely.

C) Administrative Regulations - The LRC also has a special section which reviews all regulations issued by the various state agencies. These regulations issued by the various state agencies, once approved, have the same effect as law passed by the General Assembly, and, therefore, this section reviews the proposed regulations to assure that they comply with the statutory authority under which they are issued.

D) Publications - The LRC also publishes a large number of publications. During the session, the LRC publishes a daily Legislative Record which details the action of the General Assembly. During the interim, the Interim Legislative Record is published monthly. The LRC also publishes the House and Senate Journals which are the minutes of each day's activities during the session. Legislation which is enacted during the session is published in a volume entitled Kentucky Acts.

A variety of other handbooks and publications are also published by the LRC periodically.

E) Statute Revision - Once the session is over, the LRC is responsible for revising Kentucky's Statutes to include the new legislation enacted.

In addition to these duties, the LRC also has a full time public information office to answer questions from the public about the Commission. The Commission maintains a reference library and operates a printing shop, and administers a legislative internship program for college students.

From this listing of the duties of the LRC, one can see that the LRC and its staff have a large responsibility in the operation of the legislative branch of state government. It is through these activities of the LRC that the individual legislators are kept abreast of the needs and developments within Kentucky.

Therefore, although the individual legislator is only actively involved in the law making process for 60 days every two years, they are continually kept aware of the developments within the state through the work of the LRC and its staff. Without the LRC, it would indeed be difficult, if not impossible, to be a knowledgeable and effective legislator within the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

would look like, based on recent studies on longevity. Accommodate yourself to life's challenges. Avoid prolonged stress. Develop outside interests. Keep working at either paid or volunteer activities. Eat and drink sparingly, but with enjoyment.

Similar traits were found among "successfully old" people by a University of Wisconsin researcher, based on a study of more than 2,000 Americans who lived longer than average. There is a definite personality type among people blessed with long life. A list of traits includes: "middle-of-the-road moderation, serenity and an interest in the future."

That long life is no accident is also the conclusion of another study of Americans over 100 years of age by the American Medical Association. When asked what kept them young, the centenarians listed: an easygoing disposition, a quick sense of humor and a desire to keep active.

A prolonged life through meaningful interests and activity is also the recipe of a group of retired university faculty members. Among those who were in good health at the time for their formal retirement, those who worked afterward at such tasks as consulting were found to be more likely than the non-workers to describe themselves as being in good health; a study showed.

"Helen's Antiques" in Frankfort. The view is from the east looking north to Mt. Vernon. One identifiable landmark is the cemetery on the right and the old courthouse on the left.

WORK SAVES

Volunteer work also has a salutary effect, a study of older volunteers in the Middle West found. The work provided a "Social Identity, a sense of continuity with the past and an important sense of social future."

Some things that "look to be instrumental" in continuing life are: Sleep is essential for survival, and the older you get the more you will need. Seek reasons to be happy instead of courting the eternal damnations that beset you. Smoke within reason, keep drinking to social occasions and use it as a relaxant rather than a crutch. And "Be smart enough to get out of the rain and keep active."

RE-BIRTH OF THE TWO DOLLAR BILL

The new two dollar bill will take its place as a regular part of the nation's currency when it becomes available to the public through commercial banks on April 13, 1976, Thomas Jefferson's birthday. Jefferson's portrait, painted in the early 1800's by Gilbert Stuart, will appear on the face of the new bill.

The back of the note will feature a rendition of "The Signing of the Declaration of Independence," painted by John Trumbull during the post-Revolutionary War period. The painting now hangs in the Trumbull Gallery at Yale University. Trumbull was commissioned to reproduce the painting as a mural in the Capitol Rotunda in Washington, D.C.

The most recent prior issue of the two-dollar bill had Jefferson's portrait on the face and a picture of Monticello on the back. It was issued in limited quantities as a United States note. The new bill will be a Federal Reserve note and available in much larger quantities. Federal Reserve notes now comprise more than 99 per cent of the nation's currency. Their issuance in $1 and $2 denominations was first authorized by Congressional legislation in 1963.

Interest in a reissuance of the two-dollar bill has been building in recent years. The Director of the U.S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing, responsible for printing all U.S. Currency, first proposed reissuance of the two-dollar note in 1969 to save costs by reducing the printing volume of one-dollar notes. In 1970, the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration unanimously proposed reissuance with a commemorative design.
