Piney Grove Cemetery At Brodhead

To you the people who are interested in this cemetery, let's face the truth. The lots have been sold and the money used to keep the cemetery going.

There are just a few lots left, so some other way of financing the upkeep of the cemetery is necessary.

We are glad to report that another way has been started. Mr. Russell Smith, who lived at Gum Sulphur for about 100 years, left one thousand dollars in his will to start a perpetual fund for the cemetery. Now, April 26, 1976, we have $6,000 in the fund. The money is in the Citizens Bank drawing interest. We hope to have it in the Lincoln County National Bank Trust Fund by May 30, 1976.

The cemetery is being incorporated at the present time. You will note that the interest from this money in this fund can be used for the upkeep of the cemetery. The principal will always remain in the trust fund—no one can draw it out.

Our goal for the next ten years is $20,000. The interest from this amount should keep the present cemetery in good order.

Now, you that want to help may do so in the following ways:

1. Leave or mail your money to Mr. R.C. Anderson at the bank. If you do it now, it will be added to the $6,000 that is about to be moved to the trust fund. This way it will start drawing interest now.

2. The best way, perhaps, is to leave it in your will for the cemetery.

3. Bring it to the cemetery on Deacons Day. Someone will be there to take it.

The cemetery board will appreciate any amount, small or large, but remember we must have large donations to meet our goal.

Friends, this is the best way to guarantee the upkeep of the cemetery over the next hundred years.

Please help us.

Thank you,
Piney Grove Cemetery Board

A Mother's Prayer

Dear Lord, my children are all grown up and good ones too.

I've tried my best to teach them all I know, and my jobs done now.

They're your hands and feet now, Lord. And I pray you'll lead them kindly. The years they were growing up, I made sure they went to school on time every day.

Now they all have good jobs and I'm leaving it to you.

To see they do that job the best they can. Please Lord, let success be theirs.

But don't let it turn their heads. Remind them of the others who worked hard, too.

And of all the help they've had. And if they meet with a failure or two, Lord pick them up and set them straight.

As I used to do.

We always went to church. I always thought my children to be faithful and respect their church and fear God, just like my parents taught me.

But you know that, And our family remembered to thank you for what we had and to give you back part of it.

Please let my children remember to do that, and to keep their Christian ways. Not just on Sunday, but on the other six days of the week too.

Really Lord, those days are the most important ones.

Of their children, Lord, I pray they'll be good parents.

Let them always be an upstanding example.

Stop them and make them think before they say and do.

Please Lord, put strength and love in their hearts so that their little ones will always think they're the biggest person they ever knew. And when they've grown old and I'm not here to pray for them anymore, take their hands and comfort their suffering.

Don't let them forget the good life they've had. Shield their minds from bitterness. Let them rejoice in the sunshine of their achievements and their children, but don't let them be afraid to leave this earth for their paradise.

Because with your help, they have done their best.

Lord keep your eye upon them and don't ever let their hands slip out of your hand. And Lord don't let me ever forget to thank you for my children.

That's this Mother's prayer, Lord. Amen.

"OPERATION CONDEMN"

extensive, long-range public effort. Here in Rockcastle County, a week-long drug education program called "Operation Condemn" will be held during May. The letter of the acronym "Condemn" reflect the purpose of the program. Cast Out Non-essential Dangerous Expendable Medication Now.

The program will be focused on a community-wide "drug-drop" or medicine cabinet clean-out. This promotional vehicle will be used to educate Rockcastle Countians about drug abuse in general and the potential dangers and hazards of medicine and drugs for indefinite periods of time.

Drug Education Films will be shown three evenings next week in the Circuit Court Room of the county courthouse. On Monday evening, May 10th at 7:30 p.m., the film "Understanding Addiction" will be shown. Tuesday evening, May 11th at 7:30 p.m., "Responding to Drug Problems" will be shown and on Thursday night, also at 7:30 p.m., the film "Preventing Dependence" will be shown. Following each film, a discussion period will be held and, after each film, there will be a "drug drop". All citizens will be invited to bring out their medicine chest and clean out-of-date medications no longer needed to be discarded in a large cardboard box.

Recent surveys have shown that the average family medicine chest is estimated to contain 27 different drugs, most of which are no longer being used for the prescribing condition. Because of temperature changes, humidity, etc., medicines stored in a balance container or mixed with other drugs. Because of their color, shape and general attractiveness, small children can accidentally ingest drugs, thinking they are candy.

Also, the drug abuse possibilities of the family medicine cabinet will be pointed out. Most young children and habituate users are known to have started using drugs from the family medicine chest. Prior to the drug drop, the focus will be on an educational component of Operation Condemn to increase community awareness of drug use-abuse.

In addition, all area citizens are invited to view the program and join in discussion at the courthouse. The contents of the programs will deal with various legal, moral and health problems associated with drug abuse that all communities face. The television series will emphasize the role that can be played by the average citizen. All persons are urged to attend.

At the end of the drug drop, the number of containers will be counted. The medicine will be divided into three categories:

- 1. Non prescription drugs.
- 2. Liquid prescription drugs.
- 3. Prescription tablets and capsules.

Within the next few days, the substances will be identified, the number of units of each substance counted and the age of each substance determined. Results will be accumulated and published as soon as possible.

Operation Condemn is being sponsored by the Rockcastle County Municipal Association in cooperation with the Cumberland River Comprehensive Care Center. The program is being held to increase community awareness to the potential drug misuse within the average family.

FACTS ABOUT STORING CANNED FOODS

Canned products are known for their economical, convenient, long storage capacity. But what effect does how long can they be safely stored?

Scientists with the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) say that from the standpoint of safety, canned products have an indefinite shelf life as long as the can remains unopened and is not bulging or leaking. This is because micro-organisms that cause food spoilage and food poisoning are destroyed by heat and sealed out during the canning process. As long as the can remains intact, these organisms cannot re-enter and the food will not spoil.

However, chemical changes, caused by enzymes, occur in food all the time—before, during and after processing. Heat during processing inactivates enzymes and drastically slows down chemical reactions, but cannot stop them completely. These chemical changes affect the eating quality—such as the color, texture, taste and nutritive value—of some foods. The degree of change depends upon many factors including humidity, nature of the food, type of container and length of time the product is stored.

The most decisive factor, however, in determining the keeping quality of foods is the storage temperature. A general chemical law says that the rate of a natural chemical reaction doubles for each 10 degrees F. rise in temperature. Applied to canned products, this means that a product stored at 85 degrees F. for a given length of time would lose quality twice as fast as the same product stored 67 degrees F.

On the other hand, a single freezing generally does not effect canned foods adversely; a slight breakdown of texture may occur in a few products, but his may happen during freezing whether the product is canned or not. Some creamy foods may curdle or separate, but heating usually restores the original consistency.

According to National Canners Association and USDA, maximum eating food should be retained if these storage recommendations are followed:

1. Store canned foods in a dry place at moderately cool temperatures. Storage in a moist area may cause rusting and decomposition of can material and result in leakage.
2. Refrigerate canned meat products, such as canned hams and pork shoulders, bought from the refrigerated section of the store. These larger cured pieces of meat cannot be fully processed which would eliminate the need for refrigeration; because full processing would result in mushy-textured product.
3. Used canned foods within a year.
4. Check stored canned foods periodically. Canned foods showing any sign of spoilage, spurting liquid, off odor or mold should not be used. By all means, do not taste. Return leaking or bulging cans unopened to the store where purchased.

5. Refrigerate unused portions of canned food. It is safe to leave an unused portion in the can after opening, but it should be covered and refrigerated just as any other cooked food. Do not let them stand at room temperature for over two hours. It is recommended, however, that after opening citrus fruits and juices, tomatoes and other acid foods, they should be poured into another container for storage. Although not necessary, that "tinny" taste can be avoided.

WILDFLOWERS

Untended by man, wildflowers bloom anywhere and everywhere in Kentucky, enriching the countryside and filling it with magnificent splendor. From early spring until long after the first frost of autumn, they bloom in orderly succession, beginning with the chickweed in January.

There are approximately 1,850 different varieties of wild flowering plants and shrubs in Kentucky. Many of these can be found in the backyards, hollows, forests, meadows, creeks and hilltops of Rockcastle County.

Become acquainted with the natural wonders around you. A program on Kentucky Wildflowers will be presented on Tuesday, May 11, 1976 at 7:30 at the County Library in Mt. Vernon. The program is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service and will be open to anyone who wishes to attend. There is no charge. Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Garrison of Barbourville will present a series of slides. Mr. Garrison is with the State Fish and Wildlife Department and Maryellen is County Extension Agent for Home Economics in Knox County.

Both are avid hikers and nature lovers. Be sure to mark the date on your calendar and not miss out on this esthetic program.

Red Hill

The week end revival held at Union Church was well attended, with Bro. Belner Evans preaching on Friday night and Bro. Day on Saturday and Sunday. We had the Gospel Five from Somerset and the Overbay sisters with us on Saturday night. Everyone enjoyed their good singing. Union Church is really going forward with the wonderful man of God to lead us, Bro. Steve Day.

Those present Sunday to celebrate Virgie Ponder's birthday were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Amburey of Lebanon, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ponder and Daley of Lexington, Mr. and Mrs. Dell Ponder, Cindy and Eric of Waynesville, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Richardson of Springboro, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Durham of East Bernstadt, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Fain, Becky and Jerry of Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Durham, Brett and Douglas of Joliet, Illinois, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wayne Bryant, David and Scottie of Lamoer.

Mrs. Louverna Hurley had as dinner guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Bert Thompson of Mt. Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Sterman of Covington, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Carpenter of East Bernstadt, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Morris of Lamoer, Mr. John Morris of Lamoer, Mr. and Mrs. Sandlin of Florence.

Brother and Mrs. Steve Day and Luke were supper guests of Virgie Ponder Wednesday evening.

There are quite a few people in the community with the flu and not able to be out.

POETRY CORNER

I QUESTION NOT
I question not the winds that blow,
Or where the sparrows sometimes go,
Nor do I ask the time or place
Why missiles seek the form or pace
To cause a moral undertow.

I could not guess why every spring,
Gnats breed to nest and sing,
Why insects move with swan like grace
I question not.

But, this I know, things as they are,
Are pointed toward a bright, new star,
And in that far off outward space,
I think that man can somehow trace
A reason for this progress, so
I question not!

Rockcastle County Hospital Honored By Joint Commission

An accredited hospital, the Rockcastle County Hospital has received recognition from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH) in its annual report for the Hospital Week, May 18 to 24, 1976. The letter of commendation, signed by John D. Harnfield, M.D., Director of the Joint Commission, is as follows:

The Joint Commission of Accreditation of Hospitals commends your hospital for striving to deliver the optimum of health care to the community.

Your participation in the process of voluntary accreditation is an expression of a professionally motivated commitment to deliver a high quality of patient care. The fact that you are accredited is evidence that your efforts toward this goal are successful.

Accreditation is awarded to hospitals that are found to be in substantial compliance with the Joint Commission's high standards for the quality of patient care provided. The standards are considered to be optimal achievable and represent goals of excellence against which a facility can measure itself and be measured by the community. Mrs. Chris Alexander and family of Blue Island, Illinois, spent the past week and here visiting relatives. Mr. William Joint Commission's accreditation survey team.

Voluntary accreditation has made a significant contribution to this country's unmatched excellence in health care. It continues the American tradition of self-reliance and it supports the belief that positive motivation is the most effective impetus to change.

The Joint Commission, which is celebrating its 25th anniversary during America's Bicentennial year, was founded in 1951 by its present member organizations: the American College of Surgeons, the American College of Physicians, the American Hospital Association, and the American Medical Association. In addition to the Hospital Accreditation Program, the Joint Commission has established accreditation councils for psychiatric facilities, long term care facilities, facilities for the mentally retarded, and ambulatory health care facilities.

Bank Closed for Two Hours Bank of Mt. Vernon Employees Walk-Out To Protest Decision of Directors

In a surprising development early Wednesday morning, all employees of the Bank of Mt. Vernon walked out in protest of the Board of Directors' decision to suspend R. Paul McNew from his duties at the bank, instead of being discharged.

The bank's president and vice-president issued a statement shortly after the development Wednesday assuring depositors that the bank was in excellent financial condition. There are no shortages and we are only concerned that the bank's image may suffer, somewhat, from this apparent lack of concern for the bank's welfare by its employees.

Bank officers immediately called surrounding banks for aid and tellers were to have been sent into the bank to enable business to be carried on as usual. However, this measure proved not to be necessary since at 11 a.m., the employees returned to their duties at the bank and the bank was opened for business.

Operation Condemn Comes To Rockcastle County

Drug abuse continues to be a significant social problem across the country in spite of the enormous amount of time and money spent to find effective and practical solutions. No community or group is exempt from the tragedies which often follow drug misuse and drug abuse.

States. Nevertheless, there is considerable agreement that the increasing use and abuse of legitimate drugs, including alcohol and prescription medication, contributes to an atmosphere of tolerance toward chemical alteration of mood and consciousness which cannot be separated from that which occurs with hard drug abuse.

Alerting the average citizen to the dangers of drug misuse requires an sophisticated level than that represented by the teenager who defends marijuana use to his parents by pointing out, "But you have a martini every night."

Shrine Ceremonial Here - Parade Set For Saturday

Saturday, May 8th promises to be a big day for Rockcastle Countians because on this day an Olekia Temple Ceremonial will be held here, according to Monroe Baker, Potentate of Olekia Shrine Temple in Lexington.

The Ceremonial is being held to initiate 33 local men into the Shrine organization. These men are members of a local class which was dedicated to the memory of Bill Cox and Jimmy Robinson, both former Shriners, now deceased. Mr. Cox, until his death, was the oldest Shriner in Rockcastle County. The sons of the two men are members of the class to be initiated Saturday.

Most of America, these red-fuzzed jolly men who call themselves Shriners. Children know them because of the annual Shrine Circus. Fathers know them from the East-West, North-South College All-star football games and the Shrine Bowl Games all over America. But Shriners are most known for the 22 Great Americans who operate for crippled and burned children.

Without Shriners help, the world would be a sadder place today. Shriners have seen children walk for the first time in their lives, seen children feed themselves for the first time using prosthetic arms to fill the void of being born without arms or hands. They have seen the ones badly burned who might otherwise have died before they even had a chance to start to school, walk away with their grateful parents.

Here are just a few facts and figures you might be interested to know about Shriners Hospitals. More than 183,000 children have been cured, or aided materially, 294,605 operations have been performed since Shriners Hospitals were opened. 205,824 braces have been applied since 1922. 2,026,404 clinic visitations have been recorded since this same date. 8,192 new cases are handled each year. $75,000,000 has been spent for construction. $300,000,000 has been spent operating Shriners Hospitals. $35,500,000 is the current budget for 22 Shriners Hospitals. $2,062.50 is the average cost (Cont. 'd to P-5)

Shown above is just one of the marching units of the Lexington Olekia Shrine Temple, which will be in Mt. Vernon this Saturday for a ceremonial to be held here. Other units will be in the parade. (Cont. 'd to P-5)

Editor's Note: To account you to some degree with the Shrine Organization, the article below was prepared by that organization and deals mainly with the Shriners hospitals for burned and crippled children.

FRANKFORT WATCHLINE

"Attention State Employees. Due to the recent decision by the State Administration to limit the personal use of State Vehicles... is offering for a limited time to sell any New or Used Car on a Cost Plus basis."

That advertisement appeared last week in the local newspaper. It fits in well with what Finance Commissioner Edouard McClure said when it was announced that most state employees would be stripped of personal cars provided at nearly 200, and then quipped, "I'd like to own a car dealership here for the next few weeks."

As John Nichols, Gov. Julian Carrall's press secretary, put it, "There will be a lot of new cars sold the next few weeks or a lot of wives taking taxicabs to the grocery store."

Nichols, too, is in the market for a new car. He and five others in the governor's office lost assigned vehicles in the shake up.

The reasoning behind the change was two fold economy and morale. The latter figures to be the dominant reason, though there is no doubt going to be some monetary savings.

The morale factor can't be overestimated. It was bound to be unwise for a career public servant to see another public servant, not a career man, in some cases, making two or three times his salary and, to add insult to injury, getting free use of a car paid for by the taxpayers.

The action really tickled McClure, to paraphrase a man who is frequently difficult to quote. McClure is credited by many as the moving force behind the decision.

McClure had never taken an assigned car, though he had been deputy finance commissioner for a year before taking over as top man this month, and in almost every case, McClure believes, assigned cars are wasteful and unnecessary.

The governor's office was quick to note that all the cabinet secretaries had readily accepted the decision without objection.

More than likely, few of the mid-level executives complained much, either, at least not for long. Days after the cars were taken away, most of them got a stiff addition to their wallets in the form of a pay raise.

Off-Shore Oil Produced 600 Million Barrels in 1975

Friday, Ohio—(AP)—Oil drilling operations in the waters off the nation's coast are turning up more than oil.

According to Marathon Oil Company, royalties received on oil and gas production on the Outer Continental Shelf enriched federal tax coffers by more than $600 million in 1975.

This represents nearly 70 percent of the royalties collected this year by the federal government for energy exploration and production on federally-owned lands.

Marathon President Harold D. Hoopman said that offshore production is a vital part of the nation's drive to become energy independent and cut our ties to foreign oil supplies.

But Hoopman noted that most commissioners got raises in the next budget of $500,000 and a few top men got substantially more than that.

Certainly, one would not want to impute any connection between the car decision and the pay raises. On the other hand...

Probably the most difficult part of the car decision was the fact that only a year ago, Carroll was in the position of explaining how necessary those vehicles were while one of his opponents in his primary race for governor was accusing his administration of misusing those very vehicles.

It turns out, one Carroll aide notes, that the charged political climate made an objective assessment of the car situation difficult. It goes, probably without saying, that making such a change after an opponent charges wrongdoing, leaves the appearance something was wrong, indeed.

There were, no doubt, some abuses of the state-assigned vehicles for personal use, but it is doubtful there were any more or any of greater magnitude than had occurred in past administrations. Basically, Carroll left in effect for a year a long-standing and growing tradition. Now it is over.

Carroll's personal staff remains somewhat in a state of flux. Recently, with the departure of William Scent, who was both finance commissioner and cabinet secretary, Carroll named his chief counsel, Jackson White, to assume the role of secretary of the cabinet, considered to be the top administration post along with chief executive officer, leaving Scent's other duties to McClure, and elevating McClure to secretary.

It is becoming apparent, and White concedes it to be a possibility, that White will assume the duties of chief executive officer will, undisputedly if there is any dispute, now make White the second most influential man in state government, second only to Carroll.

Lewis, who has done journeyman work as chief executive officer since taking over the job from W. Terry McBrayer, one of Carroll's closest friends and political advisors, has maintained a much lower profile than McBrayer did for the months he was in that slot.

It is likely that White's presence will be much more evident in the combined roles, and much more in the public eye than Lewis... *****

Kentucky Afjeld

By Dick Farmer

Guest Writer

In the springtime, as any school teacher can tell you, the learning process can take in on the child. The most ardent student is prone to spend his class/room hours dreaming about the outdoors instead of soaking up knowledge indoors.

But there is a happy compromise for this dilemma. Apparently a lot of teachers have found it, too. The school children of Kentucky account for a large percentage of the 75,000 annual visitors of the Department of Fish and Wildlife's Game Farm.

The Game Farm, located three miles west of Frankfort on U.S. 60, is a 150 acre outdoor study hall. During April, May and June it's not uncommon for a school group to visit the state Capitol and other points of interest in Frankfort, then head to the Game Farm.

The wildlife study may begin on the Farm Exhibition Row-home to Golden Eagles, hawks, owls, black bears, mountain lions, pheasants, raccoons, gray foxes and other species. One recent addition is an imperfect albino Red-tailed Hawk. The bears now have a new, more spacious den as do the timber wolves and the fence encircling the farm has been replaced this spring as part of the remodeling.

A school group can then proceed to three separate enclosures for a first-hand look at whitetail and fallow deer and a family of buffalo. Before lunch at the picnic area, the children can stop by the two small lakes on the farm to observe a variety of ducks, geese, swans and shorebirds.

After lunch, a stop by the administration building can offer a closer look at wildlife. The main showroom features a display of preserved waterfowl and other wildlife. For the more extensive stay, those lakes are open to fishing for women, children under 16 and men, 65 years of age or older.

Fishing license requirements are the same as statewide, but special size and creel limits on black bass and bluegill are posted by the lake.

But there's more to the Game Farm than visitation. It's where the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources produces some 100,000 bobwhite quail chicks in the "Quail Under Lights Program" and where wild turkey, mallard ducks and exotic game birds are raised in limited quantities.

The entire area is a gift from the sportsman to the citizens of the commonwealth. When a hunter or fisherman purchases a license, his money may well be funneled into running the Game Farm. In fact, hunting and fishing license receipts solely support the area.

So, if you're a teacher or club leader (be it youngsters or adults) and you find the spring daydreamers outnumbering the others, you can get a guided tour of the Game Farm by reservation. Just contact Superintendent, Game Farm, Route 2, Frankfort, Ky 40601 or telephone 502-223-8211. The Game Farm is open from 8 a.m. until sunset.

County Agent's Notes

EXTENSION OFFICERS HELP FOR 'SICK PLANTS'

Like humans, plants often need professional help in the fight against diseases. If plants on your farm or home grounds show signs of disease and you don't know the cause, help is available through the Rockcastle County Extension Office.

Bring a sample of the "sick" plant to the Extension Office, located at the Rockcastle County Courthouse, says H. Lee Durham, county Extension agent for agriculture. If possible, include the entire plant - leaves and stem, roots and any flowers or seeds available.

Often, we can identify the cause of the problem and tell you what to do about it," Durham notes. "If we cannot find the trouble, we'll send the plant materials on to the Plant Diagnostic Center at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture."

This laboratory center has been set aside by the Department of Plant Pathology there to diagnose plant diseases and recommend treatment. The center, manned by plant pathologist John Hartman and Richard Hensley and tobacco specialist James Smiley, regularly receive from throughout the state the state plant specimens that have been afflicted with disease.

Most "sick plants" are sent to the Center by county Extension agents who have obtained them from concerned farmers and homeowners. Specialists at the Center request that you pinpoint diseased plants to the local Extension agent, who may be able to diagnose the trouble, rather than sending them directly to the Center.

When an Extension agent sends plant materials to the Center, the plant doctors there often use microscopic examinations, bacterial cultures, and other scientific techniques to pinpoint the specific disease that has struck the plant," Durham says.

In a few days, longer of cultures need to be grown, the center will inform the agent of the diagnosis and will offer written recommendations for treatment at no charge to the plant owner.

According to the Center pathologists, the biggest problem in diagnosing plant diseases is receiving an inadequate plant specimen - one that makes it impossible to determine the disease because of, for example, dried out leaves or roots. In most cases, the entire plant is needed to perform an accurate diagnosis. Lack of information about conditions under which the plant was grown, treatments that have been used on it, etc., also cause diagnosis problems.

Besides informing Extension agents of proper treatment for diseased plants, the Center specialists also teach agents how to recognize certain plant diseases by eyeballing the plant and periodically tell him what disease outbreaks to expect at certain times of the year.

In 1975, more than 3,000 plant specimens were analyzed at the diagnostic laboratory; tobacco plants accounted for the largest single crop to be examined.

TOMATOES AND WEEB-KILLERS

Tomato plants are very susceptible to injury by the weeb killer 2,4-D. If the injury is severe, the leaves eventually roll up and the new growth comes in twisted. The main stem of the plant may split and small shoots develop along the opening.

To avoid this injury, the U.S. Department of Agriculture says you should avoid spraying herbicides on windy days. Use separate sprayers for herbicides, unguicides and insecticides. It's a good idea not to plant your tomato plant next to the post or stand or in the middle of cabbage patch.

JAWS ON THE WING

Here's a modern horror story for you. If a pair of house flies mated today and if their descendants all live and reproduce normally, their offspring will cover the earth several feet deep, just months from now. Given the right surroundings, like garbage or manure, a pair of flies can increase to 1.8 million pairs within six generations in 12 weeks. And when you consider these little monsters are capable of carrying typhoid, cholera, amoebic dysentery, hepatitis, tuberculosis and the plague, you should indeed try to keep them out of your home. Continuing research by scientists at the U.S. Department of Agriculture shows that a parasitic wasp can suppress even eradicate populations of house flies. This tiny wasp lays the egg in the pupa of the fly. There an egg develops and feeds on the pupa and so the killing it. This wasp does not harm animals or humans. It'll bother you only if you're a fly.

AGRICULTURE IS A CONSUMER AS WELL AS A PRODUCER

Like everyone else, the American farmer is a consumer and a taxpayer, as well as a producer.

He pays $2.9 billion in farm real-estate taxes, $427 million in personal property taxes, $4.3 billion in Federal and State income taxes, and about $500 million in sales taxes.

Annually, farm operator families spend about $65 billion for goods and services to produce crop and livestock. In addition, they have available over $31 billion in personal income from farm sources and $19 billion from nonfarm sources to spend for personal taxes, investments and for the same things that city people buy.

Farmer's purchases include: $8.8 billion for farm tractors and other machinery, machinery and equipment. It requires 140,000 employees to produce this farm equipment. $10.1 billion for fuel, lubricants, and maintenance for machinery and motor vehicles used in the farm business. Farming uses more petroleum than any other single industry.

$14.7 billion for feed and seed.

$12.0 billion for fertilizer and lime. Products containing 360 million pounds of rubber about 5 percent of the total used in the United States, or enough to put tires on nearly seven million automobiles.

33 billion kilowatt hours of electricity about 1/2 percent of the nation's total. That's more than the annual residential use in all New England States plus Maryland, Kentucky and Washington, D.C.

6 1/2 million tons of steel in the form of farm machinery, trucks, tractors and building materials. Farm use of steel accounts for 40,000 jobs in the steel industry.

Like everyone else the farmer feels the pinch of inflation. In the last ten years wage rates have gone up 110 percent, motor vehicles cost 67 percent more, taxes are up 88 percent, and feeder livestock prices have doubled. Overall, the average cost of commodities, interest, taxes and farm wage rates has climbed 84 percent in the last ten years.

Despite recent rises in food prices, family income buys considerably more food today than 25 years ago, partly because agriculture has become much more efficient and partly because consumer incomes have risen faster than food prices. For example, here's what the average U.S. factory worker can buy with an hour's pay: white bread, 1950, 10 1/2 lbs., 1974, 12.8 lbs., frying chickens, 1950, 2.4 lbs., 1974, 7.9 lbs., milk, 1950, 7.5 qts., 1974, 11.2 qts., butter, 1950, 2.0 lbs., 1974, 4.7 lbs., eggs, 1950, 2.4 doz., 1974, 3.6 doz., pork chops, 1950, 1.9 lbs., 1974, 2.8 lbs.

Our diets are more varied. We are eating 31 percent more poultry and 16 percent more beef per person than we did ten years ago. We are eating more vegetables (6 percent) and more fruits (15 percent). Americans are also dining out more often, boosting average food sales (from eating out) by a whopping 120 percent.

The Nation also has not forgotten its needy citizens. Family food assistance programs are provided for more than 15 million people. The National School Lunch program reaches 25 million children, and almost 2 million children receive nutritious breakfasts at school under the School Breakfast Program.

TICKS

Several kinds of ticks may be found in your yard and in other open spaces. Only one kind of tick - the brown dog tick - frequently infests homes in the United States. This is a parasite of dogs. It does not breed in the woods or in open country.

Habits and damage: If there are ticks in your rooms, they probably are brown dog ticks that entered on your dog.

After feeding on the dog, brown dog ticks hide in places such as cracks and crevices, under carpets and rugs, upholstered furniture and behind baseboards. There the female lays her eggs; and each stage of each successive generation of ticks eventually finds the dog, feeds on his blood, and drops off to seek hiding places in the home and keep the cycle going.

Brown dog ticks rarely bite humans; they do not carry human diseases. However, their presence in the home is annoying, and they can make your dog's life very uncomfortable.

How to control ticks: Treatment should start with the dog. Have him dipped in a bath containing a suitable insecticide - usually malathion. This task may be assigned to a veterinarian.

If you choose to do it at home, buy an emulsifiable concentrate containing 50 percent of malathion. Mix 1 teaspoon of the concentrate with each gallon of water. Dip the dog in the mixture. Do not include his head, but sponge his ears with the mixture if necessary. For a large dog, mix up the mixture in a bucket and pour it slowly over the dog's back; make sure it soaks through his hair to the skin.

The next procedure is to rid of new broods of ticks that are developing in the home. Use a household insecticide containing lindane, malathion or diazinon. Spray or paint it on cracks in the floor around baseboards, and window casings, on places where the dog habitually sleeps, and on other places where ticks may be hiding. Repeat after 2 to 3 months. A malathion spray may be applied to rugs, upholstered or upholstered furniture. Be sure the container, label states that it will not stain.

$264,702 Allocated For Co. Secondary Road Program

State Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts has announced that Rockcastle County will receive $264,702 to support its 1976-77 program for rural secondary roads.

Similar allocations to other counties also are being announced locally. According to Roberts, the Rockcastle County program for the fiscal year, beginning next July 1, will provide for maintenance along some 74 miles of local roads.

Specific improvement projects also included in that program are:

Blacktop resurfacing along four-tenths of one mile of Wabed-Jones Creek Rd.; 1.2 miles of Broadhead-Spiro-Wald Rd.; and 3.1 miles of Sand Springs-Wald Rd.

Grading, drainage and stone surfacing along Cooksberry-Johnetta Rd. for one-half mile, and along Hamm Rd.

for three-tenths of a mile. Construction of a bridge on Wildlife-Clear Creek Rd.

Roberts also announced a project to install two drainage structures on Wildlife-Clear Creek Rd.

That project will be completed as an amendment to the county's 1975-76 rural secondary road program.

The rural secondary road program was established under a 1948 law to help maintain and improve the farm-to-market and other essential rural roads.

It is financed under a formula which provides that two cents of the tax collected on each gallon of motor fuels sold in Kentucky be set aside for allocation to support rural secondary road programs.

The allocations are announced once annually, on a fiscal-year basis.

Two County Towns To Receive Funds For Road Improvement Program

State Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts has announced that Mount Vernon will receive $6,710 to support its 1976-77 municipal road improvements program, beginning next July 1.

According to Roberts, the city will use the money to provide for shoulders, blacktop widening and blacktop patching along Carter and Terry Sts.

Similar allocations to other communities also are being announced locally.

The municipal road aid program was established in 1973 to assist incorporated communities - and eligible unincorporated urban areas - meet the costs of maintaining and improving their city roads and streets.

It is financed under a formula which provides that one-half cent of the tax collected on each gallon of motor fuels sold in Kentucky be set aside to support municipal road aid programs.

Allocations to eligible communities are made annually on a fiscal-year basis.

State Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts has announced that Livingston will receive $23,614 to support its 1976-77 municipal road improvements program, beginning next July 1.

Of the total amount allocated, $1,384 was identified as new money. The balance consists of previously allocated funds remaining unexpended from last fiscal year.

According to Roberts, the city will use the money to provide for blacktop patching along Walnut street.

Similar allocations to other communities also are being announced.

Arthritis Campaign Aims At $400 Road Block Goal

A goal of $400 has been set by the Kentucky Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation for its 1976 Road Block fund raising drive, according to Mrs. Theima Farthing, Road Block Chairman.

"We need these funds to provide medical care and information services for the 1200 children and adults here in Rockcastle County who are arthritis victims," said Mrs. Farthing.

The Kentucky Chapter is one of 74 local groups across the country that offers services to help the one out of every ten Americans afflicted with arthritis. The Kentucky Chapter depends on funds raised during the year to provide such services as patient education through public forums and free literature. Professional Education, Rheumatology Grants at the University of Kentucky and the University of Louisville, Rheumatic Diseases Laboratory, Louisville and 3 Clinics in Louisville: St. Joseph, Norton Childrens and General Hospitals. Also 2 Clinics in Lexington. The Arthritis Clinic in the Medical Center in Lexington and the New Veterans Hospital. Also, the 39th Arthritis Teaching, Clinical & Research Center in the United States has been established at the University of Louisville as of September, 1974. It also supports a national research program seeking the cause and cure for arthritis.

"No one is immune to the pain and crippling of arthritis," stated Mrs. Farthing. "Help stop arthritis before it stops you. The local chapter is sponsoring a Road Block for the Arthritis Foundation on May 15th from 1 to 4 p.m. Everyone is asked to donate to this worthy cause."
