WILLIS C. JOHNSON CELEBRATES 100TH BIRTHDAY

By Mrs. Lella Steakes
Being its oldest subscriber, the Mt. Vernon Signal considers it a great honor to publish the account of the 100th Birthday Celebration of Mr. or "Uncle" Willis C. Johnson (as he is known throughout Rockcastle County) on Sunday afternoon, July 18th. He was a century old July 19th. His faithful children, Frank Johnson of Tipp City, Ohio, Mrs. Glennia Pennington of Dayton, Ohio, Mrs. Jessie Mobley of Manchester,

Mr. Rena Jordan and Mrs. Dorothy French (the latter with whom he makes his home) and Mrs. Georgia Cunningham of McKee, held an "Open House" for their distinguished father.
Although Mr. Johnson's eyesight has failed, his alert mind excels most 80 and 70 year-olds. He recognized almost everyone (both young and old acquaintances) who was present for the celebration and who made it a point to speak with him.
Mr. Johnson gives God the credit for his long life and thanks Him for his precious wife, who departed this life in 1970 and for his wonderful children, who have graciously returned the good care that he once gave them.

Those who had the privilege, out of the ordinary, to be present at this rare occasion, to speak to this Southern Gentleman, sitting on erect and stately in his chair, could have judged him to be in his early eighties.

Also during the day, Mr. Johnson received a telegram from the President of the United States expressing his congratulations.

Punch, cake, coffee and cookies were served to all the guests and Mr. Johnson wishes to express his appreciation for all the many gifts received.

D.B. Bullen of Roundstone celebrated his 77th birthday July 11. Those helping him celebrate were his five sons and their wives: Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Bullen, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bullen, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Bullen, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bullen and Mr. and Mrs. Joe C. Bullen, all of Route 3, Mt. Vernon. There were 24 grandchildren and 20 great grandchildren present. Also helping him celebrate were C.L. Brock of Wildie, Mr. and Mrs. Sige Towery of Conway, China Osborne of Booneville and Margaret Falls of Mt. Vernon.

Announcement of the change came from State Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts, who said that the additional project will provide for grade and drainage construction and stone surfacing on eight-tenths mile of Pleasant Run Road.

COUNTY RECEIVED $51,863 UNDER MANPOWER PROGRAM

Rockcastle County received $51,863 recently, according to the Department of Human Resources, Bureau for Manpower Services in Frankfort. The funds are allocated directly to each county, and the counties are responsible for locating the public service positions and administering the federal funds. The monies are available under the Comprehensive Employment Training Act of 1972.

Unemployed or underemployed persons may qualify for jobs with local, county or state governments and non-profit organizations, according to federal guidelines. The program is known as Transitional Public Service Employment. Jobs under the program must be designed to provide work experience with the goal of at least 50 percent of the participants being eventually moved into full-time paid positions outside the program.

A Tribute

The community was shocked and saddened Monday to learn of the unexpected death of County Court Clerk Clifford Bales who had suffered a major heart attack earlier in the day.

Mr. Bales had served the county as Court Clerk since January of 1966 and had a fine record of efficiency, honesty and fairness. His death is a great loss to our county.

Particularly, we extend our sympathy to his wife and to his two children, David and Kelly.

Judge Hubert Thacker's decision to appoint Mrs. Bales to fill her husband's unexpired term was a good one. She is well-qualified, having worked in the office since 1966 when her husband took office. We feel she will very capably administer the duties of the office.

Once more, we extend our sincere condolences to the Bales Family.

FRANKFORT WATCHLINE

By Ferrell Wollman

While Kentucky Democrats were busy falling in place behind their party's Presidential And Vice Presidential candidates, the state's Republicans wasted no time in attempting to paint the Carter-Mondale ticket as "too liberal" for Kentuckians.

The Executive Secretary of the Kentucky Republican Party, Larry Van Hoose, told me he was surprised by Carter's selection of Senator Mondale of Minnesota as his running mate. Van Hoose said, "It was Carter's first political mistake. He showed his true colors. Carter is much more of a liberal than we thought. Larry has no touch for understatement."

Van Hoose was also critical of Governor Julian Carroll's support of the Carter-Mondale team since Carroll had said during the campaign he would not support candidates who did not favor a constitutional amendment to prohibit the busing of school children to achieve racial balance. Neither Carter and Mondale favor such an amendment and Republicans are quickly trying to paint Mondale as a "pro-busser."

Mondale was not Governor Julian Carroll's first choice as a running mate for the former Georgia governor. Carroll had said a staunch supporter of Maine Senator Ed Muskie. Muskie, however, suffers a reputation as a loser. He served as Hubert Humphrey's running mate in the 1968 campaign and suffered through his own abortive effort in the 1972 Democratic Party primaries. Muskie's age, 62, may also have worked against him.

The Mt. Vernon Signal P-2
Thursday, July 22, 1976

Mondale's reputation as a liberal may not sit well with the rank-and-file of the Kentucky Democratic party, however, it may help his selection will seriously weaken Carter's foothold in the Commonwealth. Carter has demonstrated his ability to get votes here. His organization is well-oiled and it has the support of the voter-approved Carroll political machine. In addition, U.S. Senator Walter "Dee" Huddleston of Elizabethtown is a Mondale admirer and endorsed him as a good running mate early in the Vice-Presidential sweepstakes. Huddleston should be able to smooth any ruffled feathers among Democrats in more conservative West Kentucky. The GOP still faces an uphill battle in keeping Kentucky nine electoral votes on the Republican ledger in November.

Lieutenant Governor Thelma Stoval thinks her job should be merged with the Kentucky Secretary of State. She contends there isn't enough for her to do when the General Assembly isn't in session.

Support for her argument is a good example of a state government status has become evident in trying to get the new Crimber Victims Reparations Board operational. It's been a mess. Governor Stoval said, "I want to Julian (Governor Carroll) and asked for a job to do. He was being a good Governor when he made me Administrator of this Board, but the more I study the law the more I realize the responsibility for administering it belongs to the members. I'm going to ask Julian to relieve me of my duties. Maybe, he can find something else for me to do."

The 1976 General Assembly created the Crime Victims Reparation Board. It's authorized to reimburse victims of crimes for medical expenses and loss of wages resulting from a crime. It's an interesting concept and one whose time has come but it hasn't come yet in Frankfort.

The Board was to become effective June 19th. It has now lost its administrator, whose only qualification for appointment was that she needed something to do. Requests for claims, which have been piling up, have gone unanswered. The Board has finally started to secure a staff and office space in Frankfort.

If you're waiting to be compensated for getting slugged in the head while being robbed, don't bother checking the mailbox. The money won't be there.

Why we give you S&H Green Stamps

It's perfectly simple. We want you for our customer. We want you happy. And we want you back... week after week.
So that little extra of S&H Green Stamps is our way of giving you a little more for your money than our competition... on top of the low prices, quality foods and good service that brought you here in the first place.
Now, let's take a closer look at that word "extra." Would S&H Green Stamps really be a gift, a genuine extra, if we paid for them by charging more for our food? Obviously not. Expense, just like our rent, our payroll, and our advertising. We don't tack stamp costs onto the prices you pay.
There's an easy way to check that. It's called "Shop and compare." If you've already done that, you know: Give or take a special here and there, nobody beats our kind of prices for our kind of quality. That's what is known as value.
So our S&H Green Stamps are truly a bonus for you. Truly, the little extra that adds up to a lot. S&H Green Stamps are good for both of us. They bring us your business and loyalty. They bring you beautiful and valuable gifts.
These days, that makes pretty good sense.

County Agent's Notes

H. Lee Durham
County Extension Agent
For Agriculture

LIGHTNING IS MAJOR KILLER SAFETY RULES LISTED

Lightning kills more people in the United States than tornadoes, floods, or hurricanes.

But according to H. Lee Durham, County Extension Agent for Agriculture, many people do not know the few simple safety rules which could save their lives during an electrical storm.

Lightning usually kills just one person at a time - attracting less attention than do the more spectacular hurricanes, tornadoes and floods, which may kill hundreds of people in a single episode.

Nevertheless, during the 34-year period that ended January 1, 1974, lightning was responsible for the deaths of about 7,000 American, or 55 percent more than were killed by tornadoes and at least 41 percent more than were killed by hurricanes and floods combined. This information comes from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), parent organization of the National Weather Service.

After documenting years of lightning case histories, NOAA has drawn up a list of safety rules for avoiding death or injury from lightning, Mr. Durham says.

The first is simply to learn to recognize the signs of an oncoming thunderstorm - the carrier of lightning. Watch for the lowering "anvil" clouds, distant rumbles of thunder, and occasional flashes of lightning which will indicate an approaching storm. Also listen to radio and television for National Weather Service forecasts and warnings. There is usually ample time to find shelter.

The Mt. Vernon Signal P-8
Thursday, July 22, 1976

All lightning experts agree that, when a thunderstorm threatens, the most important single thing you can do is to get inside a home or large building, or inside an all-metal (not a convertible) vehicle. An enclosed truck or car is an excellent lightning shelter. If struck, it will allow the current to be discharged harmlessly into the ground.

Inside a home, avoid using the telephone, except for emergencies.

If outside, with no time to reach a safe building or an automobile, follow these rules:

Do not stand underneath a natural lightning rod such as a tall, isolated tree in an open area. Avoid standing in small isolated sheds or other small structures in open areas.

Avoid projecting above the surrounding landscape, as you would do if you were standing on a hilltop, in an open field on the beach, or fishing from a small boat.

Get out of and away from open water. (If you're swimming, lightning current from a nearby stroke can flow through the water to you.)

Get away from tractors and other metal farm equipment. Get off and away from motorcycles, scooters, golf carts, and bicycles. Put down golf clubs, stay away from wire fences, clotheslines, metal pipes, rails and other metallic paths which could carry lightning to you from some distance away.

In a forest, seek shelter in a low area under the thick growth of small trees. In open areas, go to a low place such as a ravine or valley.

If you're hopelessly isolated in a level field or prairie or you feel your hair stand on end indicating lightning is about to strike - drop to your knees and bend forward putting your hands on your knees. In this position, if lightning strikes near you, the chances of it using your body as a conductor are minimized.

In the past, some authorities have recommended lying flat in this situation, to get as low as possible. But this has been disapproved. Now, kneeling is recommended instead, so that a low profile is maintained while at the same time keeping as small an area of the body in contact with the ground as possible. Lying in a ditch or hollow, where surface water or saturated soil is likely to be a better conductor of electricity than the surrounding area, is also discouraged.

Groups of persons in exposed situations, such as hikers or mountaineers, should spread out - staying several yards apart - so that if lightning strikes nearby, the smallest number will be affected.

Many people apparently "killed" by lightning can be revived if quick action is taken, Durham points out. When a group is affected, the apparently dead should be treated first; those unconscious but breathing will probably recover spontaneously.

First aid should be rendered to those not breathing within four to six minutes or less to prevent irreversible damage to the brain, says the American Red Cross. Mouth-to-mouth resuscitation should be administered once every five seconds to adults and once every three seconds to infants and small children, until medical help arrives.

If the victim is not breathing and has no pulse, cardio-pulmonary resuscitation is necessary. This is a combination of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and external cardiac compression. It should be administered by persons with proper training. The technique can be learned from local Red Cross or Heart Association chapters in one-day sessions.

Medical attention also should be given to victims who appear only temporarily stunned or otherwise unharmed, since there may be hidden effects.

BEEF CHECK OFF PROGRAM

Last February, Representative Donald Blandford introduced a bill in the state legislature to allow cattlemen to contribute a self-help program to increase the production, use and sale of bovine animals and products. The bill has been passed and became law on June 19. The law enables any existing association which is representative of the producers of bovine animals in Kentucky to make application to the state board of agriculture for certification to conduct a referendum of producers to see if they wish to levy upon themselves a checkoff assessment to finance a program of market development, marketing research and education. In July, the state board of agriculture will review the applications and select one organization to conduct the referendum. That organization will collect the funds and develop and implement a self-help program for cattlemen in response to an affirmative vote by a simple majority of producers who vote in the referendum. In view of legal publication requirements, September is the earliest date for the referendum.

The committee appointed in Rockcastle County to help conduct the Beef-Check-Off program are: Clay Colson, chairman; Roy Brown, Wallace Proctor and Tommy Mink.

The Kentucky Beef Cattle Association will make application and has preliminary plans for conducting the referendum if KBCA is approved as the appropriate association. Plans are as follows: Date of referendum - September 7, 1976; Hours of voting, 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.; Voting place - County Extension Office, referendum agent - to be determined; and check-off to begin November 1, 1976 (if vote is affirmative.)

Kentucky Afield

By John Wilson
Guest Writer

"Old Whiskers" isn't much to look at, but he proves the old saying that beauty for the lack of it is only skin deep. Under the catfish's ugly skin, there's one really beautiful asset just waiting to be turned into a mouth-watering fish fry.

And a catfish isn't a particular about what he eats as are some of the "fancier" game fish we often wear out our arms and our patience on. He'll take everything from an occasional artificial lure to special home-made concoctions which smell so bad that the cat will try to bury them.

The variety of a catfish's appetite is matched only by the number of methods fishermen have devised for catching him. Kentucky anglers go after catfish with everything from cane poles to rods and reels which look like they belong on a deep-sea fishing expedition.

The heaviest tackle will show up below the dams of Kentucky and Barkley Lakes, where anglers "fish the boils" for big blue, cahn channel, or flathead cats. For those who want their catfish angling exciting, this is the way to fish.

The "boils" are the turbulent areas immediately below the dams where water from the generators is discharged. The water usually boils up, sometimes as much as 18 inches, above the surrounding surface. In addition to water, the generators also discharge fish which have been sucked into the intakes and catfish gather at the outlets for an easy meal.

Expert bold fishermen prefer flat-bottom boats with small outboard motors. They run the bow of the boat into the boil, anchor the main engine to the craft stationary against the flow of the water.

They then lower a hunk of cut bait directly down into the boil, using a 20 ounce sinker to counteract the upwelling current. And they pull out some monstrous fish. The state record blue catfish, a 100 pounder, was taken from Kentucky Dams.

Needless to say, this type of fishing is for the experienced. Just handling a boat in the boils takes some doing and it's definitely not the place to take the family for an afternoon's outing. But for those who want their catfish angling a little less exciting, there are outable waters, and fish, just waiting.

Many farm ponds throughout the state are stocked with channel catfish, and these small bodies of water can offer some fine fishing. Rivers and large streams also offer the opportunity to ease away a hot summer afternoon by sitting in the shade waiting for a catfish to pick up bait from the bottom.

Or you can try trotting or limb lining. A limb lining is just that - a line with a baited hook tied to an overhanging limb. The limb serves as a rod, its flexibility preventing the fish from jerking loose before the angler gets sick to check it.

A trotline or limb line may be used by fishermen with a sport fishing license, but the trotlines must have no more than 50 hooks, with the hooks no closer together than 18 inches. These lines must be checked every 24 hours and must be removed from the water after use.

A favorite trotline bait is small bluegill or other bait fish, but cut bait or special catfish mixtures can also be used. For the family, on a combined fishing and camping trip, a trotline is sometimes an ideal choice. It can be set just before dark and run just after daylight, freeing the day for swimming, sight-seeing or other summer pleasures.

Of course, some care must be exercised in handling a trotline. There are a lot of hooks flying around, and the fishermen should be careful, particularly when handling a large fish, not to catch themselves. Also remember that every member of a party participating in a trotline expedition should have a license if one is required of them for other types of fishing.

There's no statewide size or creel limit on catfish in Kentucky and this species isn't really fished for as heavily here as in some other states. This makes it a natural for those wanting to fill a freezer with fresh fish or to invite the friends and relatives over for a fish fry.

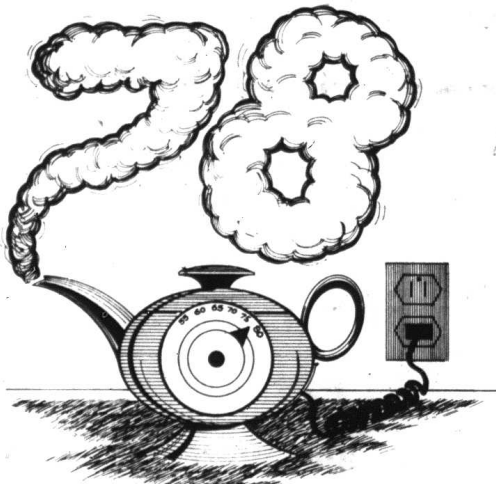

And if you've never eaten fresh catfish, then you don't know what you're missing. The meat is white and firm and the taste just about unbeatable.

So if you want to try some change-of-pace fishing this summer, give catfish a try. Or take along some catfish gear on your next fishing trip - if the bass or crappie won't cooperate, maybe "old whiskers" will.

The Magic Number!

Can a home be comfortable cooled to 78°? We think it can. Try it and see. And it's a lot easier on your pocketbook. It takes only half as much electricity to air condition your home to a comfortable 78° as it does to maintain 70°, and 25% less than holding 75°. It's a great way to hold your electric bills down this summer.

What else can you do to keep your cool and save?

- Don't set the thermostat at 70° to start with, thinking it will cool the house faster. It won't.
- Clean filters monthly or replace them.
- Draw your draperies or shades to keep direct sunlight out of the room.
- Keep your outside unit clear of grass, weeds and shrubbery - proper air circulation helps its efficiency.

Electricity... use it but use it wisely!

TWO UK EXTENSION FOOD SPECIALISTS GIVE NEW TOMATO CANNING DIRECTIONS

What is the right way to can tomatoes? In the face of recent conflicting directions on canning tomatoes, two UK Extension food specialists have come up with new preservation recommendations.

To be on the safe side, Dr. Fudeko Maruyama and Sue Burrier advise acidifying ALL tomatoes by adding bottled lemon juice, vinegar or citric acid. This heads off any possibility of botulism poisoning.

Their directions: Add 4 teaspoons of bottled lemon juice to each quart of tomatoes or juice, OR 2 tablespoons of 5 percent vinegar, OR 1/2 teaspoon of citric acid. Use half these amounts for jars. Then process as usual in your boiling-water bath canner.

Citric acid will have the least effect on the flavor of the tomatoes.

These recommendations are based on a study they have just completed of 106 jars in 1975 home-canned tomatoes collected from all parts of the state.

Upon analysis, they found that 10 percent of the tomatoes were low-acid, and this was not limited to the known low-acid hybrid varieties. Also the home canner was not always sure what variety of tomato was in that jar, a situation that probably happens often.

Scientifically speaking, the lower the pH value of a food, the higher its acid content. Low acidity can permit the growth of highly-dangerous organisms such as Clostridium botulinum, the cause of botulism. High acidity prevents such growth. Adding the recommended amounts of lemon juice, vinegar or citric acid effectively lowers the pH value of tomatoes, making it safe to process them in a boiling-water-bath canner.

Alert to the recent confusion over the right way to can tomatoes, many people have resorted to processing them in a pressure canner, using 5 pounds of pressure for ten minutes.

Actually, this is no safer than the water-bath method, according to the UK food specialists, if the pH value of the tomatoes is too high (meaning the acid content is too low). To be safe, you would still need to acidify the tomatoes as recommended for the boiling-water-bath method.

Until they can conduct further research on canning tomatoes in a pressure canner, Dr. Maruyama and Mrs. Burrier cannot endorse this method of putting tomatoes by - unless you add the correct amount of one of the three acidifying agents described above.

NEVER use the open kettle method for canning tomatoes, they said. There's too much danger of contamination as you transfer tomatoes from kettle to jar. NEVER can tomatoes that are dead-ripe, either, or that have any spoiled or soft spots. Save them for fresh eating. When tomatoes are too ripe, their acid content drops.

PICKLE MAKING DO'S AND DON'TS

Pickle making isn't all that hard if you just follow an up-to-date, tried and true recipe and pay special attention to some important do's and don'ts.

A free UK circular on making pickles and relishes is yours for the asking at the Rockcastle County Extension office, located in Mt. Vernon. Here is a list of do's and don'ts for successful pickles:

Do use fresh, firm, perfect vegetables. Use slightly-underripe fruits. Start pickling them soon after they've been picked - the same day, for sure.

Use pure, coarse salt if at all possible. Never use iodized salt, as it can darken the pickles.

Use either cider or white distilled vinegar with a 4 to 6 percent acidity (40 to 60 grain).

Use fresh whole spices for the best flavor and color.

Use only soft water for making brine. If your water is full of minerals, boil it for 15 minutes and let it stand for 24 hours. Remove scum from the top, and let the water from the kettle, leaving sediment in the bottom.

Use white table sugar unless the recipe calls for brown sugar.

Use unwaxed cucumbers for whole pickles, because brine won't penetrate the wax. (Many commercially-marketed cucumbers have been dipped in wax to preserve their fresh look.)

Do process all pickle products in your boiling-water-bath canner. Even though many old-time recipes call for the open-kettle method, don't do it. There's too much chance for spoilage organisms to get in when food is transferred from cooking pot to jar.

Do remember that pickling isn't just limited to cucumbers. Some of the other things you can pickle are okra, green beans, beets, green tomatoes, mixed vegetables, pears, peaches, crab apples and watermelon rind.

Hurry on down to my office and pick up your free copy of our pickles circular. It has lots of recipes, including ones for making sauerkraut, catsup, and tomato-apple chutney.

Many of the recipes call for ingredients by weight, so you'll need to buy household scales or borrow them from a neighbor if you don't already have come.

MAKE EASY UNCOOKED JAMS TO STORE IN FREEZER OR FRIDGE

Homemade uncooked jam will keep in your freezer for as long as a year, or in your fridge for a couple of months. You can make it from all kinds of wild or cultivated berries, peaches, or plums.

This jam keeps its fresh fruit flavor and takes a very short time to prepare. Here's the recipe:

Sort and wash fully-ripened fruit. Drain. Remove caps, stems, pits, cores or skins. Crush fruit and measure 3 cups into large bowl. Add 5 cups sugar, mix well, and let stand for 20 minutes. Stir occasionally.

Dissolve 1 package of powdered pectin in 1 cup of water and bring to a boil for 1 minute. Add to fruit mixture. Stir for 2 minutes.

Ladle jam into half-pint freezer containers, leaving 1/2 inch space at top. Cover the containers and let stand for 24 to 48 hours, or until the jam has set. If you plan refrigerator storage, use regular jelly glasses or jars and cover jam with 1/8 inch layer of melted paraffin.

Store in refrigerator or freezer until ready for use. Once opened, the jam should be used within a few days. It will mold or ferment if stored at room temperature.

Consumer Comments

Those credit cards you carry aren't really yours; they belong to the companies that issue them. The cards have been "loaned" to you by the companies so you can make your purchases more conveniently and, if any of your cards are lost or stolen, you have the responsibility to report the loss as soon as you are aware of it.

Failure to immediately report the loss can, sometimes, be costly. The card is your responsibility and you can be held liable for payment on all purchases made with it before you report the loss. Liability for unauthorized purchases does not exceed $50 on most cards, but for others it can be much higher.

Reporting the loss of a card is a simple task. If it is a general use credit card, simply telephone your local bank. If the card is for a particular company or group of stores - for example, gas and motel cards - you should report the loss to the member established nearest you. It is also wise to report your loss to the police department of the city in which the card was lost.

When making your report, you should be able to provide the serial number and name printed on the face of the card. A list of credit card serial numbers, kept at home, is a necessity for those who use credit cards. The best record is a single phone-copy showing the faces of all your credit cards. The dime it may cost you is money well spent.

If you have any question about the use of credit cards, or about any other consumer matter, you may write to the Office of the Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. The office has found that it can most effectively deal with written complaints and encourages you to write when you have complaint. However, if you have an emergency situation, call the consumer hotline. The number is 1-800-372-2960, toll free.

by perbina m. anderson

It has been a pretty hectic two weeks trying to get back into the swing of things and to catch up after being gone for a week on vacation - but, you always manage somehow. One less chore I have had to do this summer has been carrying beans since something happened to most of my vines and they curled up and died. I don't know whether or not it's too late to try another crop but unless it's going to be a "green beanless" winter for us...

The Jaycees Softball Tournament over the week end at the Mt. Vernon Playground was one which drew the interest of many fans since it included several very good teams from the county and surrounding areas. Of course, the one incident of fighting marred the tournament somewhat but not, we hope, to the extent of there not being another one scheduled for next year. Proceeds from the tournament will go towards helping to extend the fence around the ball field - a safety feature needed for some time. One man, mainly, organized the tournament and worked long and hard to make it the success it was and that was John Bullock, president of the Mt. Vernon Recreation Council. Mr. Bullock is not the world's greatest supervisor because he's the type that if he sees a job needing to be done - he simply does it without a lot of fuss and bother and that is not a fault believe me...

The Olympics now showing nightly on television are something else again. If you like to really get caught up in something, just tune in at 7:30 on channel 62 and watch the young men and women of the world vie with each other for the gold, silver and bronze medals which make the long, long hours of work and sacrifice all worthwhile. The American men have done tremendously well in the swimming events, taking 11 of the 15 medals given through Tuesday night. The women haven't fared so well in the swimming event, except for winning the gold and bronze medals in diving, but you can't have everything. Romania's Nadia Comaneci is just a wonder with her performances in gymnastics. It is hard to imagine the dedication, work and sacrifice that has to be put forth by these athletes but suffice it to say that never have I or will I be capable of this type of effort, perhaps mainly because I have known for many years that the basic talent wasn't there to begin with...

The supreme court judges have changed and misinterpreted the meaning of our constitution along with many of our lawmakers.

They have also taken the rights of our law-abiding citizens and given them over to the lawless, thieves, drunks, rioters, and unAmerican citizens who could care less for the well being and lives of our land.

Today, the good law abiding citizens have to prove they have done nothing wrong and then the supreme court has ruled the courts might give the outlaw a light sentence if it doesn't interfere with their rights.

Small wonder crime is raging all over our land because they know the law can't do much about them.

It is high time we as American people, let it be known that the constitution was written to protect the law abiding not only DOWN ON THE FARM but all true red blooded Americans.

GET INFORMATION FIRST WHEN APPLYING FOR SSI CHECKS

People who plan to apply for supplemental security income (SSI) payments can save time by first getting together some information about themselves, according to social security officials here.

The SSI program makes monthly payments to people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 or over or blind or disabled. People can get information about applying for the payments by calling or writing any social security office.

"When applying," a social security spokesman said, "it's a good idea to have with you as many of the following as possible: a checkbook; if you have one, to show how much you have in the bank, any savings account books, stocks and bonds, life insurance policies, automobile registration cards, latest real estate tax statements if you own a home or any land, last year's income tax returns, W-2 forms, and evidence of all other income."

"It may save time, too, according to the spokesman, if people applying for SSI payments know how much cash they have on hand and know the value of their car, if they own one.

"You should also have your social security card," he said. "Disabled or blind students 18 to 22 should have a school identification card, tuition receipts, or similar evidence of school attendance."

The SSI program is administered by the Social Security Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

IT'S SUPERIOR!

A superior fisherman is Alf Dean, an Australian who caught a 2,664 pound great white shark in 1959, the largest fish ever caught on a rod!

A superior language is English which contains about 490,000 words, the most in any language. It is doubtful, however, if any individual uses more than 80,000!

A superior battery is a maintenance-free battery which may last as long as your car, retaining its charge six to eight times longer than conventional batteries. Developed by Gould Inc., this innovative car battery does not even need water added. In fact, it has no filler caps!

A superior chicken ranch is located on 600 acres in Moorpark, California.

Known as "Egg City," some two million eggs are laid daily there by over four million chickens!

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

Do you ever wonder why our most deserving minority group have such few spokesmen and sponsors? Every middle-aged man and woman are prime prospects for early induction in this minority group - whether they like it or not. This minority group is composed of our elderly people, often referred to as "senior citizens." Only occasionally do you hear a voice speaking up in their behalf.

Regardless of capacities and capabilities, these people are being 'put to pasture' in mandatory and shameful fashion. Lots of them deserve preferential consideration for continued employment but rarely receive even equal rights. This represents a waste of valuable manpower. These same people are urged to take advantage of our facilities to increase their life span. What good does it do to add years to life without adding zestful, useful life to the years? Why is it not realized that age, in terms of years, should be a boon, not a bust, for those who have what it takes and are able to deliver?...
