Down On The Farm

BY ROY G. BROWN
ASSISTANT VICE PRESIDENT
CUMBERLAND PCA

In our recollections last week of past school days, there were several more things of interest that we might mention this week.

Most school children today have no idea what one room school is like. The teachers had a bell they would ring when it was time for school to begin in the morning. Then there was the morning recess of about 30 minutes, noon hour for lunch and another afternoon recess which the teacher would ring the bell after each. Most of the time some of us would be late getting back to study and if we didn't have a good reason, we would have to sit in the next play time or after school. There were two outhouses and when we would have to make a trip to the outhouse, we would leave a book at the door as only one per each outhouse could be gone at one time.

The County school superintendent would visit the school usually once a year to see how school was doing. Usually one teacher would have all eight grades, and most boys and girls would attend until in our late teens and sometimes the big boy would create a discipline problem especially if the teacher was a woman.

Most times there would be 15 to 40 children in the one room school.

We would usually have a spelling bee once a week. And on the first day of school most parents would come, bring dinner and have a big day.

We always had pie suppers to raise money for some worthy school project. Every year we would put up a Christmas tree, have a program, exchange gifts and the teacher would treat each pupil with stick candy. Each pupil would bring every little brother and sister to share in the treat.

Most of our study material consisted of readers, speller, history, books, geography books, grammar books, slate, tablet, pencil and of course the blackboard.

When most of us got a whipping at school we could expect another from our parents. Now if the teacher tells a child they need a whipping, most parents will want to fire the teacher or bring a suit and that was what it was like "Down on the Farm." *****

HAPPY GOODMAN FAMILY TO BE AT TOMBSTONE JUNCTION SOON

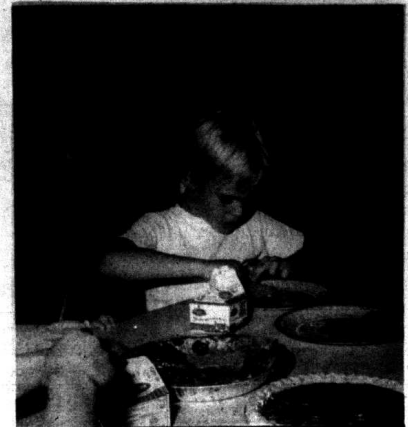

Gospel Music if coming to Tombstone Junction!!! Make plans now to be at Kentucky's largest entertainment center on Sunday, Sept. 19th to see The Happy Goodman Family!!!!

The hills will be alive with music as The Happy Goodman Family, starring Sister Venek, bring their "old-time religion" styled music to Tombstone Junction. On stage at the Music Hall, the famous gospel group will sing such songs as "Had It Not Been For The Old Rugged Cross", "Who Am I", "Until You've Known the Love of God", and their theme song "I Wouldn't Take Nothing For My Journey Now."

The Family got their start as regulars on Gospel Singing Jubilee and now The Happy Goodmans are truly legends. They have won every award in Gospel Music—both as a group and as individuals. They have sold over one million albums and in 1973 they published a book "O Happy Day" (the life story of the Happy Goodmans).

For the BEST in Gospel Music, be sure to be at Tombstone Junction on Sunday, September 19th. The Happy Goodman Family will present shows at 1:00, 3:15 and 5:30 p.m. E.D.T.

Tombstone Junction is open on weekends. The western theme park is located one mile west of Cumberland Falls State Park on Kentucky Highway 90. Ticket windows open at 9:30 a.m. *****

And, were the pies good? Ask Troy Cromer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Benton Cromer. He seems to think so.

Students at Brodhead Elementary School collected 6,000 Campbell soup labels to get the gymnasium equipment shown above. They are now shooting for 10,000 labels to acquire two record players for the library. In the above photo are, from left:

The 7th and 8th grades at Brodhead School requested a flag from Congressman Tim Lee Carter which had flown over the Capitol and their request was granted. The flag shown above flew over the Capitol on May 15, 1976 and the students have a letter, held by Marie McGuire, verifying this. Also in the picture, holding the flag, are Sheila Morgan and Sherry Hansel.

 crops has occupied a staff of clerical workers through much of this year, at the offices of the Burley Association, 620 South Broadway, Lexington.

When the last of the checks are placed in the mail, early in October, it will have been a record year for distribution of net gains to burley growers, in the five-state area of Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia and Missouri, in which the price-support program is administered by the Association.

Mrs. Christine Brown, Doris, Mrs. Doris Pope and Bobby Wright were recent visitors of Mrs. Bob Holt.
 Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Lawrence and Mark visited Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hasty of Brodhead last Friday.

"COURT DAY"

(Cont'd from p 8)
 This special day was started back in pioneer days and each year gets bigger nobody seems to know how many people are here - but they come from all over Kentucky and many other states. The reason for its coming in October is that this is the end of harvest time.

On this day, Mt. Sterling grows from a population of 3,370 to various estimates of twenty-five thousand up. One of the most remarkable things is the good humor of just about everybody. There is very, very little trouble - even the dogs that would ordinarily bite your leg off can be stepped on and walked over without a growl.

Remember that October Court Day in Mt. Sterling, Kentucky is always on the third Monday in October each year. Hundreds of people arrive on the Saturday before and thousands come on Sunday.

Remember too, that real Kentucky Sorghum Molasses is still made here in the mountain area and is on sale here by the farmers on October Court Day.
 Well, it's a great day - a great tradition like no other day in the whole country - and you really haven't lived until you attend October Court Day in Mt. Sterling.

If you wish to butter your vegetables, etiquette experts recommend you do so with your fork. Your butter knife is only for bread and rolls.

Walter Patrick Seeks New Court of Appeals Seat

Walter Patrick, an Anderson County lawyer, filed September 8, a candidate for a seat on Kentucky's new Court of Appeals. He will be running in the Second Division of the Third Appellate District.

Patrick is a former City Attorney and Circuit Judge. Presently, he has a law practice in Lawrenceburg.

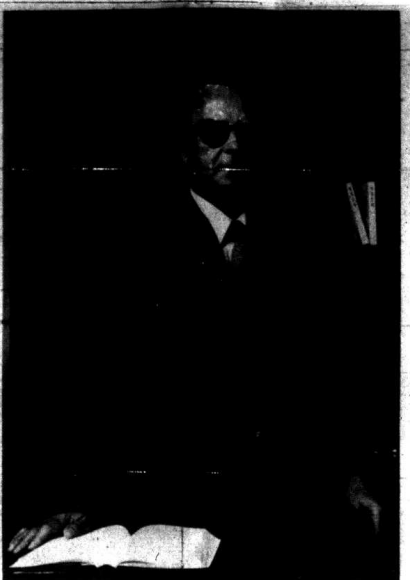

The Third Appellate District consists of 28 counties, bounded generally by Anderson and Spencer Counties on the north, by LaRue and Monroe Counties on the west, by the Tennessee boundary on the south, and by Bell, Clay and Owsley Counties on the east.

Patrick was educated at the University of Kentucky, receiving his law degree in 1901. He has practiced law in Lawrenceburg since 1907, serving for over twenty years as City Attorney. He resigned in July, 1972, to accept appointment as Circuit Judge of the then newly created Fifty-Third Judicial District. After his appointment as Circuit Judge ended in November, 1972, he served as a Special Circuit Judge by designation from the old Court of Appeals.

Patrick was nominated for the new Court of Appeals by the Judicial Nominating Commission. He has been rated as an "A" lawyer in the Marshall-Hubbell Legal Directory since 1961.

Patrick is married to the former Nancy Shinnick, also a graduate of the University of Kentucky. They have two children, a daughter, Tandy, who is a second year law student at the University of Louisville and a son, Bill, who is a senior at the University of Kentucky. He and his family are members of the First Christian Church, Lawrenceburg, Kentucky, where he has served as a deacon.

Candidate Walter Patrick

The new Court of Appeals is an intermediate level court, created by constitutional amendment last fall, which will handle appeals from the circuit courts and circuits below the State Supreme Court. Fourteen judges will serve on the Court of Appeals, two from each of the seven appellate districts. The candidates for the Court of Appeals will run on a separate ballot, not on a ballot, with the winners serving out eight-year terms that officially began last January 1st.

Patrick joins three other candidates who have filed for the Second Division, Third District, Appellate Court seat. The others are Kenton J. Cooper, of Jamestown; Robert L. Dowell, of Edmonton; and Emly A. McKeenan of Corbin.

Rockcastle Recollections

By John Lair

There are standard incidents on which historians in general agree, but there are many versions and opinions, each differing from the others. For instance, it was long understood that Dr. Thomas Walker discovered and named Cumberland River, Cumberland Mountain and Cumberland Gap, naming them all in honor of England's infamous Duke of Cumberland. In his own account of his exploration of Kentucky Walker mentions only the Cumberland River, claiming credit for its discovery only. He makes no mention of Cumberland Mountains and calls the gap Cave Gap, on account of the cave which has its entrance directly in the gap. The cave, now known as Cudjoe's Cave, was named sometime later. It is the opinion of many writers that Cumberland River became well-known after Dr. Walker named it and since both the gap and the mountains were located in the same area they took the name "Cumberland" by association.

knows the identity of the first white man who might have passed through it. Certainly it was not Dr. Walker on his 1750 trip. One other is known to have gone through it at least seventy-five years before Walker did and it is quite possible that some wandering hunter, explorer or Indian trader was ahead of him. Whoever he was and whenever he did it, generations of Indian warriors had been before him. The Warrior's Path, followed by warring tribesmen and vanished denizens of the forest from the beginning of time, led through this only break in the mountain wall that for so long shut off Kentucky from the southeastern colonial frontiers. Dr. Walker when searching for information on how to find the mysterious gateway was told by an old hunter settled far beyond the last civilized border that if he would find the Warrior's Path it would lead him to and through the Gap, which proved to be true.

In the minds of many, although not found in any substantial historical account, Daniel Boone discovered Cumberland Gap and was the first white man to pass through it. It was also once the belief of many that Boone was the first man to discover Kentucky, both of which theories have been amply disproved.

In trying to arrive at the actual truth of many disputed incidents, I have studied all sources available to me, consisting principally of early histories and other printed matter. I have found that older historical works pretty generally agree on most important accounts but that light shed by later research had placed confusing. A case in point is the story from early days concerning the discovery of Dick's River, now Dix River. Many historians agree that a party which left the main group to prowl and hunt along Rockcastle River, and so may well have been the leader of the smaller group in question who encountered the Indian hunters.

I had always believed that the Dick's River of this story was the one that heads up in Rockcastle County, starting at Broaddus, with the coming together of its principal sources, Nigger Creek and Boone's Fork, and flowing into the Kentucky River. Recently I have come upon a very well done account maintaining that the river to which the old Indian directed the hunters was in another part of the state, over in the Green River section. The belief was also ventured that what was first known as Dick's River was later changed to Green River. This story is supported by claims presented by various early writers, some of whom put up a rather plausible set of accounts given by early settlers in the area.

In including the story of the whole episode in Rockcastle Recollections, where it properly belongs, I wanted to be as accurate as possible in my account, so after reading enough conflicting claims to thoroughly confuse me I talked with J. Winston Coleman, of Lexington and Dr. Hamilton Tapp, chief historian of the Kentucky Historical Society in Frankfort, and it was thought I could do no better than to follow the account found in Collins's History of Kentucky, long considered THE authority in matters involving the early history of the Commonwealth.

According to Collins, James Knox, Richard Skaggs and four other hunters left the main party, crossed Rockcastle River and were going up Skaggs Creek when they met a party of Cherokee Indians, led by a chief who some of the white men remembered having seen before, around the lead mines near the Holston River and knew as Captain Dick. This chief told them to go over on a river which he claimed as his own and there they would find plenty of game. He advised them to kill what they needed and then go home. Col. George Chinn, in his new book, Kentucky Settlement and Statehood, a Kentucky Historical Society publication, quotes Collins' brief version and adds that the instructions given by Captain Dick for finding this river were that the hunters were to follow a small creek they were then on until they came to a river and follow the river until it ran into a larger one (the Kentucky River). He told them that on the high ground of the Dix River (Palsades) was the best hunting to be found anywhere. These instructions clearly indicate our Rockcastle Dix River as the one involved.

Collins, in verifying his account, says in a footnote, that James Knox himself, told the story to William Buckner, while together on a surveying party before 1800. Buckner repeated it to John M.S. McCorkle in 1841, who wrote it down and sent it to Collins in August of 1871. This would seem to be sufficient

Knox is credited by some, not as the leader of the expedition but of a small verification of the Collins version and enough to support our inclusion of it in Rockcastle Recollections.

The Long Hunters honored Captain Dick by naming the river for him. Later spelling has changed it to Dix River, but for many years it was known as Dick's River, as originally named. The Long Hunters in this way honored the old Indian who told them about his river. It would have been well for them had they also honored his advice to go home. Kentucky had long been the common hunting grounds of all Indian tribes and it was a decree of long standing that they come here only to hunt. None were allowed to make their home here. The Long Hunters did leave the immediate vicinity, only to move over into the Green River country and continue the hunt much longer than was necessary for their subsistence, according to the Indian concept. The huge amount of skins and furs they accumulated was at a later time carried away or destroyed by Indians and some of the hunters killed before they took the hunt and went home.

Save Money By Degrees!

There are many ways to save energy and money at the same time. One easy way is to enjoy those good weather days that require neither heating or cooling. Many of us have been so spoiled by thermostat controlled-heating and cooling that we use one or the other even when it's not needed. Yet each degree you raise your thermostat in the summer will save about 5% of your air conditioning costs. So set that thermostat high in summer, wear light clothing and save both energy and money.

In winter, wear heavier clothing and keep your thermostat setting as low as you can without sacrificing comfort. Every degree over 70, adds about 3 percent to your heating bill. So in cold weather try 68 degrees and you'll pay less every month.

People have been talking about thermostat savings for years. Now, it's time to convert talking to doing. For more information about energy saving, contact your cooperative. Energy saving is everybody's business.

STORING CANNED FOOD

If you store your canned foods in a cool, dry place, they will keep their good eating quality for a year. Canned food stored in a warm place near hot pipes, a range, a furnace, or in direct sunlight can lose some of its nutritional value and eating quality in a few weeks or months. Light will destroy certain vitamins and will fade the color of the food. Dampness may corrode metal lids and cause leakage so the food will spoil.

Freezing does not cause food spoilage unless the seal is damaged or the jar is broken. However, frozen canned food may not taste as good as properly stored canned food. In an unheated storage place, you can protect canned food by wrapping the jars in paper or covering them with a blanket. With a good seal properly canned and processed foods will be safe to eat indefinitely. But eating quality and nutritive value deteriorate after about 12 months.

WHAT CAUSES MOLD?

When mold grows in canned foods, it is because the jar is not sealed properly or the food was not processed long enough or at the right temperature. Don't scrape off the mold and eat the food. Mold spores have probably gotten into the rest of the jar and could be harmful. Don't take a chance on food poisoning.

DISCOLORED METAL LIDS

Natural compounds in some food corrode the metal and make brown or black spots on the underside of the lid. This deposit is harmless.

DISCOLORATION OF CANNED FOODS

Over processing may cause discoloration.

The Mt. Vernon Signal P-14
Thursday, September 16, 1976

sion of foods. Pink and blue colors sometimes seen in canned pears, apples and peaches are caused by chemical changes in the coloring matter of the fruit. It's nothing to worry about. Iron and copper from cooking utensils or from water in some localities may cause brown, black and gray colors in some foods.

When canned corn turns brown, the discoloring may be due to the variety, the stage of ripeness, overprocessing, or using copper or iron pans.

ARE DISCOLORED FOODS SAFE?

Color changes do not necessarily mean the food is unsafe to eat. However, spoilage can cause color changes. Examine carefully canned food that has an unusual color before using any. Signs of spoilage are bulging lid or leaking jar, spurting liquid when you open a jar, an off-odor, or mold.

PASTEURIZE SUN DRIED FOODS

Pasteurize (heat treat) sun-dried vegetables to get rid of any insects or insect eggs. This is usually not necessary for fruits that have been sun-dried. Foods that have been dried in the oven or dehydrator will be free of insects or eggs. However, if they are allowed to stand out in the air without protection for very long, they may also need pasteurizing.

Set your oven for pasteurizing. Place a thermometer in the oven to monitor the temperature, and time each batch. Set the oven on the lowest temperature setting. Spread the fruit or vegetable in a single layer on shallow pans or cookie sheets. Heat 10 to 15 minutes at 175 degrees or 30 at 150 degrees.

Remove each batch of dried food and spread out to cool on clean dish towels. Package when food reaches room temperature.

CONSUMER COMMENT

By Robert F. Stephens,
Advertising General

Are you tired of opening you mail only to find more "junk" mail? You can do something about it. School rosters may order files.

How can you stop "junk" mail?

There are three methods you can use to stop or, at least, reduce the amount which ends up in your mail box.

(1) Write each company that sends you "junk" mail and ask to be removed from its list. Most companies consider this good public relations and will cooperate with your request.

(2) If the material is sexually oriented and you find it offensive, contact your local post office. The U.S. Post-Office has a list of company names who do not want to receive this kind of third class literature. Every company—mailing this material is required to purchase this list and use it. If they continue to send you this material, report to the Post Office at once. The company will be subject to a fine.

(3) The Direct Mail-Marketing Association is responsible for 70 percent of consumer third class mailing lists. If you would like to have your name deleted from their lists, write Direct Mail-Marketing Association, Inc. 6 East 43rd St. New York, New York, 10017. Also, if you want to receive this advertising through the mail, they have a form that will add you name to mailing lists.

Remember, when receiving offers and advertising through the mail, check all the facts before signing a form or spending your money.

If you have a consumer complaint write to the Office of the Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. The Office has found that it can most effectively deal with written complaints, and encourages you to write when you have a complaint. However, if you have an emergency situation, call the consumer hotline. The number is 1-800-978-2960.

Miss Becky Holt Named Outstanding Young Kentuckian

Rebecca Lynn Holt, 19-year-old daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Jack Holt, and grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.F. Holt, of Mt. Vernon has been named one of 19 Outstanding Young Kentuckians for 1976.

The search for outstanding Kentucky young people was a statewide project of the Jaycees. The Madisonville Jaycees nominated Becky and she was chosen as one of 19 in the entire state.

Becky and the other nine winners were recognized at the Kentucky State Fair this past week.

This hard working young woman was a 1974 graduate of Madisonville North Hopkins High School. She was one of the three class valedictorians, all of whom had a 4.0 academic average for the four years to high school.

While in high school she was a member of the Beta Club during her junior and senior years, serving as vice president of the class and chairman of the Football Program committee. She is a member, treasurer and chairman of the finance committee for the Madisonville Tri-Hi-Y Club, was a member and secretary of the Teens Who Care Club, was a member of the Yearbook staff and the school newspaper staff, was voted Most Valuable Girl in the senior class, received the Karen Hannah award for Christian leadership and citizenship in 1974.

Becky has completed her sophomore year at Johnson Bible College, Knoxville, Tennessee, where she was on the dean's list for each of the four semesters. She is a music major.

This busy young woman has been active in 4-H work since she was very young, serving in many capacities and winning numerous awards and honors.

Miss Holt is an accomplished pianist. She took piano lessons for 11 years and has had one year of organ lessons. While in high school Becky sang in the Glee Club and in choruses and ensembles as well as accompanying various groups of singers.

While at Johnson Bible College, she has had four semesters of private voice lessons and three semesters of piano. She is a member of The New Encounter, an auditioned singing and evangelistic traveling group. She sometimes served as accompanist for this group and other groups at college.

She is a member of the Grapevine Christian Church in Madisonville. She played piano for morning and night worship services for years. She has worked with Children's Music at church, using marionettes. She has been a staff member at church camp on several occasions and has been a member of a singing group called God Squad for the past three years, serving as president of the group. She is presently directing a Children's Musical, "Hey, God, Listen."

Music has been a big part of Becky's life ever since she first started singing when she was just a toddler. Music at home, music at school, music everywhere. She is a member of the National Guild of Student Musicians and has played in their music festivals for five years. She is a member of Junior Federated Music Club and has been for two years. For two years she was soloist with the Hanson Production of Up With People. She has sung with the local Madisonville Community Chorus in The district queen Placing third in the state competition in 1974.

She has helped to entertain many clubs and organizations in this area, sometimes working with her sister who is a violinist.

Becky placed second in the nation in the Elks Club Youth Leadership Contest after winning county, district and state, winning a $1750 scholarship.

Describing her hopes for the future, Becky says this, "The future plans of any typical American girl include marriage and a family of her own. But, until that time comes I am continuing my education at Johnson Bible College in Knoxville where I will be a junior music major this fall. After graduation from Johnson, I hope to obtain a further degree either from the University of Kentucky or George Peabody College. I would like to teach music in the elementary grades or work as an organist in a church, but whatever I do, teach music or become a housewife, I will do it to the glory of God who gives me the talent. At present I am traveling for the school this summer with a group of six others. It is with great pleasure and pride that I introduce myself to audiences all over the county as being from Madisonville, Ky." Larry Combs, president of the Madisonville Jaycees, said "We are very proud that the state judges for the Outstanding Young Kentuckians agreed with us that Becky Holt should be one of the ten."

"LETTER TO THE EDITOR"

one starting. Until the mid-1930's, the year of the Polio epidemic, the blight that killed our valuable Chestnuts and the Starlings all came the same year.

In the past, there were many forests, many dead trees and trees hollow posts, fence rails, etc. where the valuable birds could hollow out and make their nests. Now these are gone.

With little effort we can get these valuable birds back. The past year I made houses from popular logs 6 to 8 inches in diameter - 12 inches long. This year I have had: Redbreast, Flickers, Blue Birds, Wrens and the most beautiful of them all, the Nuthatch.

Sixty years ago on the Rockcastle and Pulaski County line my family had over 100 fruit trees. We would pick the fruit in late fall then bury the fruit in the ground. Many bushels of apples would keep until spring and we would never find a worm in 1,000 apples. We did not spray anything except parish green on fish potatoes, and ash on cucumbers. If you don't spray several times you will not find one apple in a thousand apples that doesn't have at least one bug. One wormy apple will soon rot. The bean beetle and tree blight are the only bugs here now. They were not here 60 years ago.

The bug is man's greatest and most dangerous enemy. Won't you please help destroy our enemies by destroying the Starlings and providing a place for these good and valuable birds! For a little time and expense these birds will repay you many times.

The Heartbeat of your home . . .

An Electric Heat Pump—a space-age system which heats and cools. • A heat pump conserves electricity, producing about two times the energy it uses. It provides you with year-round comfort, too. Even on the coldest winter day, there is "solar" heat in the air. A heat pump absorbs this warmth and delivers it into your home. The same unit cools in hot weather, removing excess indoor heat. • Investigate a heat pump system. It could be the heart-beat of your home.

FLY CONTROL
Just because fall is approaching and the fly and horn fly season will soon be over is no reason to stop using dust bags or back rubbers. Forced use dustbags or back rubbers are very helpful in controlling lice. Research done last winter in Harrison County showed that cows and calves that used a forced-use dust bag containing 3% tetrachloroviphos (Raben) dust had minimal lice infestations. While similar groups of cows on the same farm that had no insecticide treatment had light to heavy infestations of lice.

It is interesting to note that the cattle using the dust bag built up lice infestations very rapidly after the dust bag ran out of dust. This only serves to point out that forced-use dust bags and back rubbers don't completely clean up lice but they do help keep the infestation down. Therefore it is important to service these devices often to ensure that they have plenty of insecticide in them.

DOGWOOD-CANKER
In a few weeks, the green leaves of the many healthy dogwood trees in Kentucky will begin to take on their red fall coloration. Some dogwoods, having crown canker disease, have leaves that have already turned red or have been red for most of the summer. In most cases, the leaves were smaller and lighter green than normal before turning red prematurely. In addition, leaves may appear shriveled, curled downward, and lack intensity of color as opposed to the turgid, extended appearance of normal leaves. Eventually, twigs and even branches die. At first the foliar symptoms may show up on one side of the tree, but in a few years the entire tree may show signs of weak top growth. The cause of the top decline is usually crown canker disease, caused by the fungus Phytophthora cactum. The slowly developing canker may be found on the lower trunk or at near the soil level or on the main roots. The canker may not be readily evident at first, but cutting into it will reveal that the inner bark, cambium and sapwood are discolored. Later, the cankered area becomes sunken and the bark dies and falls away, leaving the wood exposed. When the canker extends completely around the trunk base or the root collar, the tree dies.

Kentucky Afield

By John Wilson

This year's Kentucky dove season got off with a bang on September 1-in fact with a lot of bangs and booms as hunters found good dove populations throughout the state.

A report from conservation officers in 91 counties shows that during the first four days of the season they checked 7,742 hunters who had harvested 38,764 doves. Of those checked, 943 had their limit of 12 birds each. The officers felt that the dove population was up in Western and Central Kentucky and about the same as last year in other areas of the state.

Dove hunting has increased greatly in popularity over the years, until now the dove ranks as one of our top species. As a migratory bird, the dove is regulated by both federal and state laws, and biologists from both the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and from state fish and game agencies keep close tabs on its numbers.

Dove hunters probably contribute more money to wildlife projects than does any other single group of hunters. Unless you're a real expert, it takes a lot of shotgun shells to bag a limit of doves, and 11 percent of the price of each box of shells goes into federal fund for wildlife restoration and management programs.

That's been just about my only consolation this season so far-part of the cost of those four boxes of shells that it took to bag six doves will eventually find its way back into a worthwhile wildlife management program somewhere in the United States.

Some of the money will come back to Kentucky, where it might be used to help purchase land for a wildlife management area (such as the one where I shot up those four boxes of shells). This land will be managed specifically for wildlife-many come doves-and the hunters who then enjoy this public land will in turn contribute more money for future wildlife programs.

Of course, the federal aid money is only a part of the financing that wildlife receives from the hunter. The money from hunting and fishing licenses goes to pay the salaries of game and fisheries biologists, conservation officers, and other employees of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. And license money forms the bulk of wildlife research and management programs including land acquisition which benefits all wildlife-both game and non-game species.

So those 6,799 dove hunters who, like me, didn't get their limit shouldn't feel bad about it. Just buy another case or two of shells and keep plugging away. We've just got to keep telling ourselves that the more we shoot, the more money there is for wildlife.

As I said before, that's some consolation-but it would sure be nice to limit out sometime with only 50 or 60 shots.

Mr. Holt reported that the crop was an exceptionally good one, grown from the 1021 variety seeds, with some leaves measuring 16 inches across and 36 inches long. County Agent

Lee Durham reports that the crop outlook has improved considerably recently with the appearance of some much-needed rain. The crop may still be a little short, Mr. Durham said, but on the whole will be a good one.

Hearing Outcome Could Affect Telephone Rates

The outcome of hearing scheduled to begin in Washington, D.C. later this month could well affect rates for service charged to local Kentucky Telephone Company customers, according to Wallace Black, District Commercial Manager.

The House Committee on Communications has scheduled exploratory hearings September 28, 29 and 30 on whether competition, as promoted by the Federal Communications Commission is having a detrimental or beneficial effect on telephone service. Of particular concern is the impact such competition could have on rates paid by local residential and small business customers.

It's reassuring to know that Congress is at least taking up this question. In recent years, the FCC has done everything it could to make it easy for new telecommunications suppliers to enter the industry. At the same time, they have hindered our ability to compete fairly. Their policies have helped these new firms go after the big business, high profit accounts without any regard for what happens to residential and small business customers. These newcomers in effect have been aided by FCC policies in "skimming the cream" from the more profitable areas of business without having to be concerned with serving the homes and smaller firms in our rural and suburban areas," Black said.

He explained that the services most generally lost to competition are for private long distance service and terminal equipment, particularly switchboards and other business facilities.

"Historically, these services have been priced at a premium so that they could contribute revenue that helps hold down the cost of local service. The more of that contribution we lose, the higher our local rates will have to go. Studies by firms outside the telephone industry show that, if worse comes to worse, local rates would have to increase anywhere from 60 to 80 percent, and that's not counting inflation," Black states.

CLYDE BARNETT NAMED FORD COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN

Clyde Barnett has been named as Chairman of the President Ford Committee for Rockcastle County, Kentucky.

The announcement was made at State Ford-Dole Headquarters in Louisville by Hal Rogers, State Ford-Dole Campaign Chairman.

Clyde Barnett will lead the campaign for the election of the President's Campaign. Rogers issued the following statement:

"I am very pleased to have as the County Campaign Chairman for the President such an outstanding leader as Clyde Barnett. I know the Ford-Dole Campaign will be a winning campaign in Rockcastle County for the President."

Support for the President is growing daily in Kentucky. He is a tried and tested leader who is doing a good job. Americans are going back to work, prices are coming under control, no American boys are fighting anywhere, and the United States is on the move again. This is due to the stable, firm leadership of President Ford. Kentuckians don't believe in a man who is doing his job well.

In accepting the position, the County Campaign leader issued the following statement:

"I am very excited about leading the President's campaign in my county. I believe the Ford-Dole team can win Kentucky and the nation if we work hard."

We don't want to gamble with the future of our great nation by turning out this tried and tested leader we already have in President Ford, to experiment with the other candidate who we know so little about, and who only wants to put more bureaucrats in Washington on tax-paid jobs to control our lives.

President Ford is doing a good job and we should keep him."

COUNTY HOMEOWNERS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

The Extension Homemakers held their fifth annual meeting Friday, September 10 at the Brodhead Elementary School.

The informative program, "America's Youth in Concert" was presented by Mrs. Glennis Dick for her daughter, Alicia.

The program was arranged by the Town and Country Homemakers. The Brodhead Willing workers arranged the table decorations and the potluck meal was enjoyed by all who attended. The Quail Homemakers were in charge of recreation.

Highlight of the meeting was the election and installation of the 1976-77 county officers. The newly elected officers are: Rachel Griffith, president; Norietta Thompson, vice-president; Margie Shivel, secretary and Carol Martin, area representative.

City Council Meets

By Roger Odellman

During its regular monthly meeting Monday night, the Mt. Vernon City Council finally settled a problem with which it had been wrangling for the last month and which had been the subject of one called meeting. The problem arose when Jerry Hamm had to place a water line into the subdivision which he owns and is developing on Hwy. 150 near Mt. Vernon.

Mr. Hamm had to put in 1100 feet of water line. The city had promised installation if the pipe were paid for; however, Mr. Hamm, in the meantime, had run 700 feet of the line himself. It was later discovered that a pump would be needed to pull water to the highest part of the subdivision and Mr. Hamm sought to have the city install a pump in lieu of the promised 700 feet of water line. It was finally decided at Monday night's meeting that the 700 feet of line would be replaced, 1 1/2" line had been installed and it will be replaced by a 6" line. Mr. Hamm will still be responsible for purchase and installation of the pump and the council refused to discuss servicing the pump.

On the subject of the lake - a continuous problem before the council, Wayne King was present to ask for an extension of the time period for motorized boats to use the lake. Mr. King stated that during discussion of the situation with the Fish and Game Commission, he was told that the spawning period for fish is April-May. Since the problem of reduced spawning due to boats would be nonexistent he requested the lake be opened on Memorial day rather than June 10. This would add 10 days to the time use of power boats as allowed and Mr. King would like to discuss the request under advisement.

Insurance bids were opened by the council for all the city's property. After a long discussion, it was finally decided to accept the low bid submitted by Singleton-Ford Insurance of Mt. Vernon at a cost of $6,828.

County Tax Bills Prepared

Some 6,986 Rockcastle County property owners will soon be receiving tax bills for 1976.

Local Property Valuation Administrator Robert Cromer announced Tuesday that the Rockcastle property tax assessment has been approved by the department of finance in Frankfort.

The 1976 assessment is $65,945,760 compared to $59,018,227 in 1975. The increase was due to there being more buses, autos and real estate due to sales of property.

The county tax to be collected by the Sheriff's Department totals $392,067.23. Of this, the state will get $42,222.17. The county will receive $125,095.48. The school district will get $224,750.58. $3,074.67 will go into the fire protection fund and is included in county's portion.

Also injured in the accident was Jerry Burton of Route 3, Somerset, a passenger in the car driven by Whitaker; Maggie Sweeney and Johnny Sweeney, both of Stanford, passengers in the car driven by King.

State Policeman Cletus Brown investigated the accident.

Two-Car Accident Injures Five

A two-car accident on Hwy. 150 last Thursday evening injured 5 persons, two seriously.

According to State Police reports, James R. Whitaker, 18, of Route 3, Eubank was traveling west on 150 when he apparently attempted to turn left into Hamm's in front of an auto driven by Dennis C. King, 41, of Stanford.

ANOTHER BURLEY PAYMENT, 3RD THIS YEAR, READY SOON

Burley farmers of this county will share in another check distribution soon, this one on their 1969 and 1970 crops, representing net gains earned for them by the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association.

It will be the third disbursement this year. Last April checks totaling $1.5 million were mailed to grower members as net gains on the 1972 crops.

These payments are in addition to advances made to growers at time of sale, under the price-support program. Only those farmers with pool consignments in those years will share in the current distributions.

Largest of the three-year disbursements is $6,837,634.35, which is on the 1969 crop. In that year the Burley Association took 182,835,466 lbs. under loan and advanced $96,274,008.29 to members.

On the 1970 crop the disbursement total will be $2,536,741.66. That year the consignments to the Association totaled 43,424,869 pounds and growers were paid $32,128,693.36.

FRANKFORT WATCHLINE

By Ferrell Wellman

A favorite political pastime of Kentuckians is trying to guess who's running for governor. The next time the conversation turns in that direction use this sure-fire method of amazing your friends with your vast political knowledge. Simply mention the name of every democratic politician that crosses your mind. You'll be right every time, because almost all of them are running.

Your "who's Running for Governor" list should include U.S. Representative Carroll Hubbard, Lieutenant Governor Thelma Stovall, Terry McBrayer, Jefferson County Judge Todd Hollenbach, chicken mogul John Y. Brown, and U.S. Senator Wendell Ford. To that list add Kentucky Auditor George Atkins. Atkins, the former Hopkinsville mayor, used a recent fund-raiser in his honor to criticize the spending habits of the Julian Carroll administration. He also made thinly veiled criticisms of McBrayer and Hubbard, the two men thought to be the front runners in the gubernatorial sweepstakes.

Atkins name had been paired with Lieutenant Governor Stovall's. As to the possibility of Atkins being her running mate in 1979, "That's so," says a Stovall aide. "It was a matter of convenience when we were put together with Thelma for a fund-raiser after the general election. It was just designed to pay campaign debts. In all innocence, we weren't trying to put a ticket together."

In recent days Atkins has been mentioned in the same breath with Kentucky Supreme Court Clerk Martha Layne Collins. Like Atkins, Collins seems to be a competent administrator. Atkins and Collins are young, attractive, excellent campaigners and ambitious.

An Atkins-Collins ticket would provide east-west balance. Atkins is from Christian County, and Martha Layne lives in Versailles in Central Kentucky; both are considered independent democrats with ties to U.S. Senator Ford.

The biggest problem with an Atkins-Collins coalition in 1979 would be the jobs the two now have. Auditor and Clerk of the Supreme Court are hardly considered stepping stones to Governor and Lieutenant Governor. When the Atkins-Collins pairing was mentioned to a Stovall aide she said it made sense, but added, "I thought Martha Layne wanted to be governor."

The Republicans have their own guessing game, too. It's not as involved, but there aren't as many Republicans around as there are Democrats.

U.S. Representative Gene Synder, who represents Jefferson County and Northern Kentucky is the man several top Republicans would like to see run in 1979.

"Synder's got a statewide race in him. I'd like to see him get it out of his system soon," said one top Republican. "Synder would be tough to beat. He'd carry Jefferson County and Northern Kentucky. If we could get people excited in the fifth district and break even in Eastern, there's no way the Democrats could beat us."

Snyder on the stump statewide would be an eye-opening experience for Kentucky voters. He would make snarler Robert Dole seem like a cowering puppy. Synder doesn't mince words.

Other Republicans who are possible are former Governor Louie Nunn, President Ford's statewide campaign chairman Hal Rogers, and Larry Forgy.

In our "Other People Who Might Be Running for Something" Department we are adding the name of the former chairman of the Kentucky Republican party, Charles Coy of Richmond. Coy, according to some in the party, is seriously considering a future for the U.S. Senate. If not in 1979, then in 1980.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Folks, six and seven years past I sent a letter to all weekly newspapers in the United States trying to tell people the harm the filthy starlings are doing in Western Kentucky, North Carolina. Millions of dollars are being spent to get rid of them with little success. The way to eradicate them would be every family who think they shouldn't be shot watch for their nests that destroy the eggs; stop holes in barns and houses for a couple of years, etc.

The starlings are destroying all hole nesting birds; the Redhead Woodpecker, Downy Flicker, Nut Hatch, Blue Bird, and Wren. Any hole nesting bird whose hole is large enough for the starling to enter, the starling throws out these birds eggs or young birds and raise more filthy starlings. These birds stay here all winter, living off the bugs they get from the bark on trees. They eat nothing else while starlings eat garbage or any filthy thing they can find.

Sixty years ago, there was a great number of good and valuable birds, not (Cont. d to P-9)

CONSTITUTION WEEK INFORMATION

The Constitution of the United States of America was adopted September 17, 1787, ratified June 21, 1788, in effect March 4, 1789.

The Mt. Vernon Signal P-8 Thursday, September 16, 1976

On January 5, 1866, Senator William F. Knowland introduced the following Senate Joint Resolution 105:

"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled, That the President of the United States is authorized and requested to designate the period beginning September 17 and ending September 23 of each year as Constitution Week and to issue annually a proclamation inviting the people of the United States to observe such week in schools, churches and other suitable places with appropriate ceremonies and activities.

This Resolution was adopted July 23, 1866 and signed into law (Public Law No. 915), August 2, 1866.

The following proclamation was signed by County Judge Hubert Thacker Monday observing the observance of Constitution Week in Rockcastle County from September 17 to the 23.

WHEREAS, September 17, 1976, marks the one hundred eighty-ninth anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution of the United States of America by the Constitutional Convention; and WHEREAS, To accord official recognition to this memorable anniversary, and to the patriotic exercise that will form a noteworthy feature of the occasion, seems fitting and proper; and WHEREAS, Public Law No. 915 guarantees the issuing of a proclamation each year by the President of the United States of America designating September 17 through 23 as Constitution Week. NOW, THEREFORE, I, Judge Hubert Thacker, by virtue of the authority vested in me as County Judge of Rockcastle County in the state of Kentucky do hereby proclaim the week of September 17 through 23, 1976, as CONSTITUTION WEEK in the County of Rockcastle and urge all our citizens to pay special attention during that week to our Federal Constitution and the advantages of American Citizenship.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the County of Rockcastle to be affixed this 13th day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seventy six and the independence of the United States of America, the two hundredth.

/s/ Hubert Thacker

DAR MEETS

The Rockcastle Chapter of DAR met on Friday, September 10 at the home of Miss Janie Ramsey in Berea with eleven members present. Regent Janie Ramsey was assisted in the ritual by Mrs. Roy Green, chaplain, and Mrs. Harry Mullins, who led the pledge and national anthem. Mrs. Elbert Eversole read the President General's message and Mrs. William D. Gregory read the National Defense report.

The week of September 17 through the 23rd is Constitution Week and County Judge Hubert Thacker is shown signing a proclamation to that effect concerning Rockcastle County. Looking on is Mrs. Joe Young of the Rockcastle Chapter DAR, the sponsoring group for the observance.

After the business meeting, Mrs. V.G. Walker presented a program of slides of plantation homes along the James and Potomac Rivers. Watergate cake and hot apple cider were served for refreshments.

OCTOBER COURT DAY IN MT. STERLING IS THIRD MONDAY

The annual "Court Day" in Mt. Sterling is traditionally held on the third Monday. This is a day when people come from miles around for trading, visiting and a little pollicking thrown in.

Mt. Sterling has always been a big trading center. In the old days, before good roads and truck transportation, large flocks of turkeys, geese and livestock of all kinds were driven over the muddy country roads into Mt. Sterling - many coming from great distances. Farmers also brought hides that they had trapped and wild roots and herbs that they had gathered. Sorghum molasses made in the mountain counties was in great demand, as were pumpkins, cushaws, sweet potatoes, and other things to eat. In the old days, there was a great number of mules and horses for sale and trade, but the horse and mule market, as it once was known, has faded away to a large extent, but they are still here and ponies too. Brides, saddles and harness are in abundance.

On Court Day, they bring dogs of all sizes and description for sale or trade - there are hundreds of them, also guns of all descriptions are bartered along with ax handles, hammer handles and other antiquities of kind that defy description.
