DON'T SPOIL THE POT

The pot luck dinner has become an American tradition. It's a great way to get the gang together for an inexpensive dinner party. Mary can bring a crispy tossed salad, Dick will bring his infamous Carrot Cake, and to complete the menu, Toni contributes a dish of spicy Italian lasagna. Pot luck dinners can be a real taste treat! It's a great opportunity for experiencing new foods. If not carefully planned, though, your next pot luck dinner could turn into a disaster. Too many cooks often do spoil the pot. Sometimes the result is food poisoning. You can prevent possible food poisoning at the next pot luck dinner you host or attend by following these tips.

The key to safe pot luck dinners is to plan carefully - so hot foods stay hot and cold foods stay cold. Bacteria and germs which cause food-borne illness grow rapidly at temperatures between 40 degrees and 140 degrees F. Refrigeration keeps food temperatures at 40 degrees or lower and a warm cover keeps food temperatures at 140 degrees or higher - safe from harm. So when your friends bring their favorite dishes to your home for dinner, immediately store them at the proper temperatures until dinner is served.

When your guests ask what they can bring to the party, consider how far they live from your home. If they live more than a twenty minute drive from the party, have them bring a "Safe at any temperature" dish such as fresh vegetable salad, bread, or dessert. Save the hot and cold dishes for neighbors and friends who live close to your home. Not only will it be easier for your friends, but it will be safer, too.

If, on the other hand, you are the "friend" - be a courteous guest. When invited to a pot luck dinner, allow yourself enough time to prepare your dish and get to the party on time. While other guests wait for you to arrive, the glazed chicken and tuna salad supreme may be approaching the danger zone for food safety. A thirty to forty minute wait is a "dream come true" for mischievous germs.

When you take your favorite dish to a pot luck dinner, you'll want to be sure that it has that special "personal" touch. To please your friends, you may put extra care into preparing what ever you bring - maybe add a few tasty garnishes on the dessert or a fancy sauce for the casserole. It's fun to be creative with what you prepare, but it's more important to handle the ingredients properly. Cleanliness is essential to food safety. Always wash your hands carefully with soap and water before handling food. Wear rubber gloves if you have a cut or infection on your hands. Make sure all utensils, cutting board and counter surfaces are washed thoroughly with hot, soapy water before and after using them.

Clean the table immediately after everyone has finished eating. As everyone finishes eating and starts to mingle or dance, germs may grow rapidly to dangerous levels. So, don't leave food on the buffet table. Quickly rinse any empty dishes and set them aside. It only takes a few minutes to cover the leftover food and place it in the refrigerator - valuable minutes.

If there is not enough room in the refrigerator for all of the casserole dishes, serving platters, etc., save on space by wrapping what you can in aluminum foil. Also, have some disposable containers on hand. To save room, leftovers can be refrigerated in these containers and sent home when the guests leave.

The effects of food poisoning are often confused with those of the flu - headache, cramps, diarrhea and vomiting. That's no way for anyone to remember an enjoyable evening. With these tips in mind you can have a safe pot luck dinner and avoid a case of food poisoning.

COMPANIONS IN GOOD EATING

Beef and potatoes have been the most popular and the steadfast food companions at mealtime that Americans have ever known. They're equated with hearty meals and healthy appetites. They're winning combination of good nutrition and great satisfaction. They're in unusually heavy supply right now, according to reports from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Potatoes are being harvested, and this year's crop will set a record for all time. With an increased acreage and a high yield coming in, potatoes are expected to be around in excessively large supply for several months.

The beef supply situation remains the same, with plenty of feed beef still coming to market. Cattlemen continue to suffer financial losses while consumers continue to take advantage of the many beef specials offered at retail outlets across the country. According to marketing specialists with USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, prices for 1100-1200 Choice Steers of Omaha averaged about $35.50 per hundredweight during the week of Oct. 4th, down over $14.50 from last year at the same time.

These Are Days For Reaping And Storing Autumn's Beauty

By Helen Price Stacy

There is a certain place in Clark County near the Powell County line where travelers may look to far hills for an exciting first view of eastern mountains. There is a particular curve of highway leading to the Mentice County seat of Frenchburg where one may view cliffs that one day will create another great stone arch across the Kentucky sky. There is in beautiful Morehead, a large window in a particular room that looks up to a vista of scalloped hills that will forever green however interspersed they are with multicolored patches of the season.

Here and there, from Beth to Floyd, Fleming to Greenup, Boyd and Pike and throughout this region of the Commonwealth are glimpses of the state's natural beauty. Most of the beauty is classified with the best things in life and free. There is, of course, the cost of fuel to those who travel. Still in these days of late autumn when trees without leaves pencil dark silhouettes, there are beautiful vistas and interesting sights awaiting those with eyes that see and ears that hear.

These are the unusually quiet days. Just ahead are busy school activities, and holidays; still for now and then, uneasy days that include a special closeness whether this nearness be around a hearth, a supper table, in the classroom, the office or a family and friends traveling in Kentucky at a time when the eye can see farther than any other season, and the heart is more open to absorb and hold this beauty.

It is a time for storing up treasures that cannot be stolen and can't even be given away. Once inside the heart these bits of life and beauty belong to the holder except for a special warmth that is subconsciously imparted to others.

It was 1769 when Daniel Boone stood on the eminence that today is known as Pilot Knob and looked out over the beautiful level of Kentucky that one day would include modern interstate and parkways leading from low country of the Bluegrasses to the Kentucky Highlands.

Ever earlier, scouts and redmen in Red River Gorge country might have noticed cliffs in the present Mentice and other counties creating unmistakable beauty and also eroding to create a rockhouse for shelter, a lighthouse for looking beyond and above and some day an arch for a pathway in the sky.

The region has many wonders, natural and man created. Some are spectacular, some are commonplace yet with an uncommon beauty. There is in Magoffin County a giant field of fodder shocks, visible from US 460, and looking for all the world like tepees in a well populated Indian village.

Travelers on Ky. 7 in Elliott county may enjoy sights along the Palisades at Little Sandy as well as Grayson Lake whose autumn waters reflect blue sky and green hills.

These are the days of harvest; orchards are giving up their fruits; fields their corn and pumpkins; hills and meadows their wildflowers, and trees their leaves. Just as important is the reaping of scenes and sights to hold in store for any dark days of winter.

When snow clouds hand low on the horizon of winter's slow rains flow in rivulets down windprowns, a sifting through the memory will find just the vista of scalloped hills or sycamore leaves carpeting a driveway to create a special warmth in any room and maybe dispel any spirit of sadness in the heart.

Travelers should be careful not to overdrive. After a whole day of driving, shopping or sightseeing, you should spend another day relaxing, especially if you're traveling with children.

Consumer Comments

By ROBERT F. STEPHENS
Attorney General

Consumers are continually searching for the best buy, and regard the offer of "free" merchandise or services to be a special bargain. Phrases frequently used in such promotions are "Free," "Buy One Get One Free," "Two-for-One Sale," "One Cent Sale," and "Half-Price Sale." These offers must be approached with extreme caution.

When the purchaser is told that an article is "free," if another item is purchased, the word "free" indicates that the buyer is paying nothing for the "free" article and no more than the regular price for the other item. In these cases, the "regular price" means the amount charged for that item during the 30-day period preceding the offer.

Frequently, "free" offers are dependent upon some other condition which must be met by the consumer. If such conditions do exist, they must be clearly and conspicuously disclosed at the outset of the advertisement, so that the consumer will not be misled or deceived about the actual terms of the offer. Advertisements with asterisks referring to small print at the bottom of the page, containing conditions of the offer, are not allowed.

When you see the word "free," remember: It looks too good to be true - it probably is!

If you have a consumer complaint, write to the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort.

Kentucky 40601. The office has found that it can most effectively deal with written complaints and encourages you to write when you have a complaint. However if you have an emergency situation, call the consumer hotline. The number is 1-800-372-2990.

Down On The Farm

BY ROY G. BROWN ASSISTANT VICE PRESIDENT CUMBERLAND PCA

Well, another winter is just around the corner, and that leaves us a very short time to get all the things done before the weather gets too bad. There is always a few things we forget until it is too late.

A reminder of a few things we need to do in the next few weeks if weather permits. Check all waterpipes to see that they are covered or wrapped to protect from freezing, check doors and windows in house and barns to see that they are tight to keep our cold and check all roofs for leaks and loose roofing. Have you got all crooked seeded back in small grain or grass? Now is a good time to renovate that pasture field while it is grazed close, and be ready to seed early next spring. You may want to put lime on if needed.

Check all farm equipment for broken parts, loose bolts, and repair, oil and grease and store in the dry to be ready for next spring.

Check all livestock for lice, worms, and grubs. Treat all animals for whatever is needed. A healthy animal will use less feed and do much better at less cost, which is needed with today's prices.

Have you cut your wood for stove or fire place? So you can set back and watch the blaze flicker up the chimney on a cold snowy night around the fireplace with family and friends enjoying pop corn "Down the Farm."

FIRST BIRTHDAY—Jason K. Vanzant celebrated his first birthday, October 14th at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Karl Vanzant of Orlando. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Vanzant of Mt. and Mrs. Robert Burke, all of Mt. Vernon.

GRANTS APPROVED FOR RURAL FIRE DEPARTMENTS

Grants totaling $78,000 have been approved for 126 rural fire departments. According to John P. Rhody, acting director of the division of forestry in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, the grants range up to maximum amount of $750. Because the grants are for a 50-50 matching fund, the local fire departments must match the funds dollar-for-dollar. The funds will be used for the purchase of forest and structural fire fighting equipment.

The funds are distributed by the U.S. Forest Service to the state forestry division which then makes the grants available to the local departments. The funds were authorized under Title IV of the Rural Development Act of 1972. This is the second year of a three-year pilot program authorized under the act.

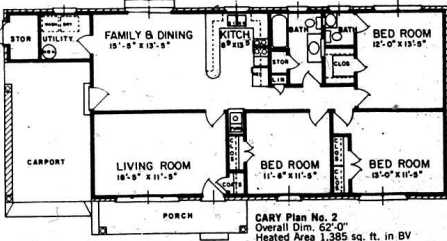

The purpose of the program is to identify the needs and solutions to the problems faced by rural communities in conducting a fire protection program and to upgrade their fire protection capabilities.

Jimmy Carter Wins Presidential Race; County Goes With Ford, Carter & Cooper

As expected, Rockcastle County voters out-voted Carter supporters in the county 2583 to 1408 but that wasn't the case state or nation-wide as former Georgia Governor Jimmy Carter was given the race for the presidency very early Wednesday morning. The race went to Carter with the addition of Hawaii and Mississippi to his column which put him over the required 270 electoral votes. Races in Ohio, Illinois, California and several other mid-western states was still in question but Carter's lead was unmountable. Rockcastle voters went with other counties in the race for Judge of the Court of Appeals Division 2 by giving Kenton J. Cooper 350 votes to his nearest opponent, Robert L. Dowell's, 282. Walter Patrick polled 130 in the county for the same office. U.S. Rep. Tim Lee Carter, facing his first serious Democratic opposition in years in the form of Charles C. Smith; however, it wasn't enough as Carter was re-elected from the 5th District. An unofficial tabulation by precincts will be found on the first page of the second section of this week's Signal.

School Board Meets

The Rockcastle County Board of Education met Monday night with mainly routine items of business on their agenda.

One item did cause the Board to recess into Executive Session and that was over the old state highway garage and lot.

Supt. Parsons told the board that he had contacted the Department of Transportation concerning the possibility of the board buying the property for use as a school bus garage. He said that he was informed that since there was another public agency in the area interested in the property that it had been decided by the state to sell the property at sealed bids. The Board then went into executive session, with the exception of Mrs. Isabel Mason, to decide what the board's bid would be when the sealed bids were taken. Mrs. Mason excused herself on the basis that the County Fiscal Court might be an agency interested in the property and since her husband, Ernest Mason, was a member of the court.

In other business, the board hired the following personnel: Joy Todd - substitute cook at the high school and Mt. Vernon; Keith Sowder - contract transportation, $22.00 per month and Della Scoggins - substitute teacher. The board also accepted the resignation of Mrs. Norma Ohlson as elementary music teacher.

Three grants which the board recently received were discussed. They were Title VI, Part B - $13,307, broken down as follows: contractual psychological services, $2,000; audio visual materials, $1,200; testing material, $100; supplementary books, $1,400; instructional supplies, $1,950; miscellaneous, $740 and special transportation, $4,190 (used to provide transportation for county students to special schools in the area). Title IV Part B - $12,103 broken down as follows: library supplies (to be divided among the four elementary schools on a per student basis), television sets, recorder, guidance supplies, Alpha I supplies and achievement tests. Title IV Part C - $6,447.00 for county-wide reading works program for second grade.

The board was asked to sign a statement, in conjunction with the annual audit being conducted by J. Courtney Horton, CPA, stating that, to

Cummins Gets Favorable Supreme Court Ruling

A recent case, regarding a Rockcastle/contaminant, Paul Cummins, has been decided by the Supreme Court of the United States. In a decision handed down Tuesday, the Court split 4 to 4 with one abstention which causes the decision in the case to revert to a lower court ruling which had favored Mr. Cummins' suit against Parker Seal Company of Berns.

The Supreme Court had been asked to rule on whether or not a 1972 civil rights law is constitutional. That law requires employers "to reasonably accommodate" an employee's religion if it doesn't cause "undue hardship" on the employer's business.

Mr. Cummins brought the action against Parker Seal Co. of Berns after being fired by them September 3, 1971 because of his refusal to work on Saturday because of his religious beliefs. Mr. Cummins is a member of the World Wide Church of God whose members do not believe in work from sundown Friday to sundown Saturday. They also do not work on seven annual holy days that parallel Jewish holy days. Mr. Cummins said in his suit that he offered to work any other time but these.

Following his dismissal, Cummins filed a complaint with the Kentucky Commission on Human Rights who ruled in favor of Parker Seal. Two years later, the U.S. District Court in Eastern Kentucky agreed with Human Rights Commission and Parker Seal.

But, in January 1975, the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled in favor of Cummins. Parker Seal Co. then appealed the case to the Supreme Court with Tuesday's resultant decision.

Mr. Cummins said Tuesday that it would now be up to the 6th Circuit Court to decide what damages might be due him from Parker Seal.

Improvement Council Members Meet With Reps. of Department of Commerce

Several members of the Rockcastle County Improvement Council, Inc. traveled to Frankfort last week to meet with representatives of the Department of Commerce.

The two objectives of the visit were to show the interest of Rockcastle County in obtaining additional industry in the county and to determine how the Department of Commerce can help obtain industry.

James Nutter, active executive of the Department of Commerce, spoke to the group and explained the functions of the department and services that are available to the Improvement Council.

Nutter advised the Council of the availability of the Ky. Industrial Development Advisory Team, a group of 20 to 25 men who will come to the county, at the council's request, and evaluate the county's ability to attract industry. Tentatively the date for this visit has been set for Thursday, November 11.

Also discussed during the meeting was the county's industrial site located on Hwy. 150 (the Clyde Payne property) which is presently under option by the county. Discussed was the cost involved in developing the site to accommodate industry and other aspects. At a recent meeting of the Improvement Council, a committee was formed to develop plans to present to governmental bodies for the possible acquisition of funds in the form of grants or loans to develop the industrial site. Named to this committee were: Gatliff Craig, chairman; Roy Brown, Danny Ford, Mike Hoskins and Bill James.

The Council also decided to present an all-Kentucky city proposal November 4th at a district conference at Dupont Lodge at Cumberland Falls State Park. The main body of this presentation was prepared by Kentucky Utilities using information supplied by local businesses and the news media.

Those attending the meeting at Frankfort last Wednesday were: Mayor Roland Mullins, County Judge Hubert Thacker, Howard Linville, Clyde Linville, Gatliff Craig, Danny Ford, KU Manager Gerald Thompson, Roy Martin, Donnie Singleton, Dr. Pinley Hendrickson, Bill James, Jimmy Payne, Tony Hopkins and Ike Adams with the Ky. Highlands Investment Corp.

Revival services will begin Sunday, November 7th at the Pine Hill Holiness Church with Bro. Rola Cornelius as evangelist. Bro. Jasper Carpenter is pastor of the church.

Services will begin at 7:00 p.m. each evening. Everyone is welcome and invited to attend.

FRANKFORT WATCHLINE

By Ferrell Weisman

A controversy concerning a state lease is developing into an embarrassing situation for the Democrats in Frankfort. It's also giving a young ambitious Democrat the exposure he'll need to become an important factor in his party's 1979 gubernatorial primary.

The state has been paying $7,000 annually to store food commodities in the Winchester warehouse. Most of the 15,000 square feet area is filled with brown plastic sacks of powdered milk. In January the state will be moving the commodities to a warehouse with 82,000 square feet in Lexington.

It seems that Agriculture Commissioner Thomas Harris told state Finance Commissioner Russell McClure the U.S. Department of Agriculture ordered the state to move the food immediately because of contamination in the Winchester warehouse. McClure says it was an emergency situation.

The state leased the old James Pepper distillery warehouse in Lexington. The contract was not handled through normal open bidding procedures. In addition, the lease was given to a Lexington land company operated by Robert Miller. Miller handles Democratic Party patronage in Lexington and served as Governor Julian Carroll's Lexington campaign director when Carroll sought election in 1975.

The state leased the property from Miller on the same day he bought it. Miller's company paid $336,000 for the distillery, and then leased it to the state for $320,000 annually. The lease is renewable for five years.

After the Lexington Herald reported on the coincidences involved with the lease, the Kentucky Auditor of Public Accounts, George Atkins, announced he was beginning an investigation into the deal. Atkins has been widely mentioned as a potential candidate for Lieutenant Governor or Governor in 1979. Atkins, however, has trouble getting re-elected as Auditor. That's changing quickly, though.

Atkins was told by a federal Food and Drug Administration inspector that an emergency existed at the Winchester warehouse. In fact, says Atkins, the Winchester facility is in the upper 20 percent of commodity warehouses used by the federal government.

Atkins says the stockholders in the land company stand to make $2.1 million if the lease is continued for five years. Atkins makes his prediction based on land appreciation and standard interest rates on the rental fee if the money is invested. He also hints of possible criminal charges. Atkins says his investigation may reveal there was a conspiracy to defraud the state, however the Auditor admits he hasn't collected enough information for a grand jury investigation.

Atkins wants the lease cancelled. Only two men can do that: Governor Carroll and Finance Commissioner McClure. Atkins says the lease was a deal that is so good the taxpayers are having to renovate the building just so it can be used.

Governor Carroll, who has in no way been implicated in the controversy appointed a five member committee to study the lease. Atkins was named, but he says he won't serve. He's going to conduct his own investigation. Atkins separated himself from Carroll earlier this year by criticizing the free-sending habits of the Carroll Administration. His refusal to serve on the Governor's committee makes the divorce final. When people ask Atkins if he's using the lease as an opportunity to do some political grandstanding he says, "I ask them if they think the lease is right. They always say it isn't. It's not right, and I'm going to see what I can do to stop it."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR
Red Editor:

Does it R E A L Y??? Are you quite sure???

I'm still mad at you folks for causing me to miss the Sunday school four last Sunday. I took you at your word, ran my clock back, had a leisurely breakfast, second cup of coffee and all, then walked in the church for Sunday School. BUT the choir was in the loft, the organist playing the organ, and the minister in the pulpit. And when he began near halfway through his sermon, my husband walked in. What an embarrassment! What humiliation. So, my anger is justified—right?

I'm only kidding of course. I love you and the community Newspaper and am aware of the fact that none of us are perfect. However, there is one thing I would like to see in it. A VERSE OF SCRIPTURE and short sentences prayer or devotional thought for the week. For the tired housewife who curls up in her easy chair and reads the Signal from cover to cover, how rewarding it would be to find before laying it aside she could glance at the bottom of the page and read such as this:

"The Spirit itself beareth witness with us, that we are the children of God." (Rom. 8:16) And an accompanying prayer such as, "May Thy Spirit rest on all our people, causing us to lead, respectable, quiet and orderly lives." Amen.

Our Rockcastle Ministerial Association does such a wonderful piece of work on radio and is appreciated by many. To save the scripture would be most acceptable, and helpful. So-o-o, if you wish to gain my forgiveness, you know how. But whether you do or don't, I will continue to read a few minutes weekly for relaxation with THE MT.

the best of their knowledge, there has been no conflict of interest on their part.

Two policies were discussed by the board but no action was taken on them at Monday night's meeting. First was the Title IX Sex Discrimination Policy which had been discussed earlier by the board.

This policy is a requirement of the federal government which simply states that there can be no discrimination in the school's policy regarding curriculum, etc. because of sex.

The penalty for non-compliance with this policy was the withdrawal of federal funds from the school system. The board decided to wait another month to further study the policy before voting on it at the December meeting.

The second policy concerns Family Education Rights and Privacy Act and mainly deals with the right of parents and students to have access to their school records. This is quite a lengthy policy and the board decided to study it and possibly take action on it also at the December meeting.

accumulate a "reasonable return on investment."

Public hearings on the rate request were held in the PCS's Frankfort office June 22 and July 22. The consumer protection division of the attorney general's office intervened.

KENTUCKY ECONOMY TAKES UPSPRING

Kentucky's economy took an upspring during September.

Claims for unemployment insurance benefits continued to decline in the state, reaching a 22-month low in September, and the unemployment rate continued its downward trend.

An average 28,000 Kentuckians were receiving unemployment insurance benefits in September, compared to 40,000 a year ago and a record high of 63,000 in April, 1975.

About one million of the 1.4 million employed Kentuckians have jobs covered by unemployment insurance.

The state's unemployment insurance fund has weathered the high unemployment rates through 1975 and 1976 and now is "on the upswing," said James Hayden, director of the Division for Unemployment Insurance for the state Department for Human Resources.

Derived from employer taxes paid for each employee, this fund's total is the amount available for payments of unemployment insurance benefits. The total reached a low of $109 million a few months ago. Now it is up to $131 million.

This is still well below the pre-recession total of $220 million," said Hayden, "but Kentucky is faring far better than the 21 states which completely depleted their unemployment insurance funds and had to rely on federal assistance," he added.

Kentucky's unemployment rate, which mirrors the decline in unemployment since claims, dropped to 5.2 percent in September, the lowest since November, 1974.

"Kentucky is pulling out of the recession at a faster rate than the rest of the nation," said Rober MacDonald, chief labor market analyst for Human Resources. The national unemployment rate hovers above seven percent, while Kentucky's rate continues to decline.

This state does not depend on the automobile or steel industries, which have suffered the most severe cutbacks over the last two years, MacDonald pointed out, and Kentucky's coal industry helped the economy.

He expressed some concern that Kentucky is not experiencing a good growth rate in availability of new jobs.

"We're just catching up with our 1975 losses. The market is hard on people who want to change jobs or enter the labor force for the first time," MacDonald said.

He also noted that the unemployment rate usually drops in October and November, but begins to climb slightly in December and during the first quarter of every year.

Hayden expects claims for unemployment insurance benefits to rise with the unemployment rate this winter, but to remain well below the high number of claims filed during last year's recession.

Though the industries are generally, construction industries are not operating at warmer-month capacities and seasonal labor is harder to find, he said.

General Electric, the state's largest employer, is expected to lay off some workers in Louisville over the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays.

That would meet both Kentucky's number of unemployment insurance claims and the unemployment rate.

Now that the recessionary surge for unemployment insurance benefits has slackened off, more emphasis is being directed to prosecution of fraud cases, said Commissioner Gail S. Huecker for Social Insurance.

More than 800 fraud cases have been singled out by staff investigations to date, she said.

While many individuals have already admitted misrepresentation and repaid the PCS, 39 cases are awaiting trial and 38 persons have been convicted and ordered by the courts to repay they money received fraudulently, said Commissioner Huecker.

The Bureau for Social Insurance has eight persons working in its fraud unit, compared to five persons who were responsible for other areas as well a year ago.

Kentuckians who are eligible for unemployment insurance benefits can receive payments for up to 39 weeks, including 26 weeks of regular benefits and 13 weeks of extended benefits.

"Additional programs which allowed up to 65 weeks of benefits have been phased out as the state unemployment situation has improved," noted Hayden.

Nine out of 10 eligible Kentuckians receive benefits within two weeks of their claims; they receive an average of $68 per week for an average of 21 weeks.

Nationally, some 4.2 million persons were receiving benefits in the week ending September 25, 1976, compared with 5.4 million the previous year.

In fall force were the "witches and Haints" from the Brodhead Child Care Center as they visited the Sowder Nursing Home at Brodhead last week to bring back once again the memories of Halloween's gone-by to patients there.

the intestines and gills removed at once. A fish with unclouded eyes, red gills and firm flesh is still suitable for the skillet.

Small pan fish, such as bluegill and crappie, are usually prepared by scaling and removing the head and intestines. Be sure to remove completely the kidneys which are located along the backbone in the upper rib cage. If not removed, they can taint flavor of the fish.

Larger fish, such as bass, are best if they are filleted since this process removes both the skin and bones, leaving only strips of fine white meat. The skin is often the source of strong flavors, and it should be removed from any large fish.

A good trick in dressing squirrels and rabbits is to soak the animals in cold water before skinning. This will keep loose hair from sticking to the meat. If any hairs get on the meat, they should be removed at once, since this is another source of objectionable flavor. Also the meat should be inspected carefully and any bloody areas removed.

After the fish, birds or animals are cleaned, they should be cooked as soon as possible. If they are to be stored for more than a day or so, they should be frozen. An excellent way to freeze both fish and small game is to cover the meat completely in a container of water and put the container in the freezer. This protects against both freezer burn and against the meat picking up objectional tastes and odors during storage.

Larger cuts such as large filets or cuts of venison should be wrapped in strong plastic or freezer paper and sealed tightly. In freezing any meat, it is important that the wrap be airtight.

MRS. BROWN RECORDS FIRST RECORD

Mrs. Eva Brown of Brodhead cut her first record for Lundy Recording Company of Barbourville recently. The record will be released within the next four to six weeks. They are songs written by Mrs. Brown and entitled "Scotia Miners, Have All Gone Home" with "My Little Girl Named Shannon" on the flip side.

Musicians backing Mrs. Brown on the recording were Wade Hopkins on the Dobro; Junior Anglin, lead guitar; Lonnie Anglin, bass and Kenneth Mink, rhythm. Mrs. Brown also plays the guitar on the recording.

She has written songs for several years but was not very active during the years she owned and operated a beauty salon. However, just in recent times Mrs. Polly began to take an interest in writing music and has made several local appearances singing her own songs.

Besides her recent recording, she has been Music Institute in label which will help bring the 45 r.p.m. recording to the attention of disc jockeys.

Accompanying Mrs. Brown and the musicians to Barbourville to make the recording were Mr. and Mrs. Shirl Brown, Mrs. Wade Hopkins and Mrs. Kenneth Mink.

Kentucky Afield

BY JOHN WILSON

Kentucky's sportsmen know that the ultimate reward of any outdoor trip should be the delicious meals provided by fish and game, although some are discouraged because their fish sometimes taste strong or their birds or animals "gamey".

The experienced outdoorsman knows that unpleasant taste in wild meat or fish are often caused by improper handling. With proper care, both game and fish can provide some excellent eating, but handled improperly, they can taste terrible.

The first rule for proper handling is to clean and dress both fish and game as soon as possible. If there is no time for a complete cleaning, game should be eviscerated and kept as cool as possible until it can be dressed out completely. Fish should be kept alive until they are cleaned, but any dead fish should have

County Agent's Notes

By H. LEE DURHAM
 COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT
 FOR AGRICULTURE

It's not too late to plant spring-flowering bulbs - but get them in the ground as soon as possible. This advice comes from H. Lee Durham, County Extension Agent for Agriculture.

Ornamental onion, hyacinth, Ixia, Lily-of-the-valley, lilies, narcissus, summer-hyacinth, grape hyacinth, daffodils, tulip, squill, snowdrops, and crocus all can be set out now.

The planting site should consist of well-drained soil with high organic content. Basic fertilizer (5-10-5) with peat moss and well-rotted manure can be added to increase the fertility and organic content of the soil.

Bulbs do well in neutral or very slightly acid conditions (pH 6.5 or 7.0). Acid soil may need some lime added to bring it to the proper pH level for bulbs. You can find if your soil needs lime or fertilizer by bringing a soil sample to the Rockcastle County Extension office, Mt. Vernon, for a soil test. "Using the test results, we can tell you what, if anything, your soil needs to grow bulbs successfully," Durham says. A fee of $1.00 is charged to cover costs of testing the soil. He suggests calling 255-2463 if you have questions on collecting soil for testing.
 Planting depth for bulbs depends on bulb size. Dig holes for large bulbs, such as daffodils, tulips and lilies, 6 to 8 inches deep. The smaller bulbs, such as crocus, snowdrop, grape hyacinth, squill, onions, Lily-of-the-valley, and Ixia, can be planted at a depth of 2 to 3 inches. All bulbs should be well-watered before covering them with soil.

Other Things To Do in November
 Rake leaves often to prevent grass from being killed by shade.
 Plant deciduous trees and shrubs. Be sure trees are properly staked. A slash mulch will reduce alternate freezing and thawing.
 Spray roses for the last time. Cut plants back to 30 inches and the tops to help protect plants from wind damage. Pick up and burn all blackspot infested leaves.
 Cover perennials with coarse materials when the ground starts to freeze - usually about Thanksgiving time.

Water evergreens in preparation for winter.
 Winterize power equipment - clean all garden tools with a steel brush and cover with a light coating of oil.

An additional 150,000 adults also attend these Pennsylvania Department of Commerce Programs, studying for advancement in their present positions or learning new skills for different jobs.

 Vocational training has greatly increased in the past few years in Pennsylvania. Ninety-two vocational technical schools, 15 community colleges and 18 university branch campuses have been involved in job education since 1960.

Fire Protection

It's nice to live within a few feet of a fire hydrant. But it's even nicer to know that you have the coverage you need in case a fire does strike.

When you insure with us, you're assured of getting the protection you need - and at the best rates possible.

We're an independent agency and that means we shop around to get the best coverage for you from the best insurance company for your particular need.

We can't bring the hydrant close to you - but we can give you enough fire insurance protection.

Arthur Bullock of Route 1, Mt. Vernon evidently parked his truck in the wrong place last Thursday as it took off without him, went over the bank and came to rest on the roof of Stewart Fertilizer's warehouse. Mr. Bullock said he parked the truck in the lot of the Shell Station at the intersection of U.S. 25 and 150 and the next thing he knew it was laying in the position shown above. Some damage to the roof of the Stewart building was sustained.

90,000 Swine Flu Immunizations Given in Kentucky Last Week

During the first week of swine flu clinics in Kentucky, 90,000 persons were immunized, said Dr. C. Hernandez, director for the Division for Preventive Services for the Department for Human Resources.

Turnout at the first clinics was poor but now is picking up, said Dr.

Hernandez, who has visited many counties where the clinics are taking place. "Some people were waiting to see if others had significant reactions to the vaccine. There have been no significant reactions and now more and more people are showing up at the clinics for their immunization."

As of October 28, Kentucky has received 779,200 doses of vaccine from the federal government for distribution to clinics. "If delivery takes place, as promised, we don't anticipate any problems in supplying the clinics with the amount of vaccine they need," said Hernandez.

Dr. Hernandez was especially strong in praising communities for supporting the immunization efforts of their local health departments. "The health departments have shown a tremendous amount of leadership and involvement with the community in making the clinics successful," he said. By Nov. 18, all 120 Kentucky counties will have had at least one flu immunization clinic. Clinics began October 16th in Jefferson County and October 17th in Scott County.

People who miss their county's clinic day can still go to their county health department for vaccination, stressed Dr. Hernandez.

4-H VARIETY SHOW TO BE NOVEMBER 16TH

The 1976 annual 4-H Variety Show will be held Tuesday, November 16, 1976 at 7:00 p.m. at the Roundstone Elementary school.

Each member may have one club act with 5 or more persons, 5 to 6 minutes and one speciality act, 1 to 4 persons, 2-3 minutes act.

Only one person other than 4-Hers (such as an accompanist) may be in act.

Dramatic readings cannot be entered. Acts may be skits, plays, musical numbers, dance, song, instrumental, pantomime, monologue, etc.

Prizes for the contest are $10 for first place club act; $10 for first place speciality act; $5 for second place club act and $5 for second place speciality act. All participants will receive ribbons.

Leaders must register acts in the County Extension office 256-2403, before November 12. Give name of act, name of club, and number in act. This is necessary before a program and score sheets can be made.

Parents, leaders, and friends are welcome to attend.

The objective of the 4-H Variety Show is to provide an opportunity for large numbers of 4-H participants to gain poise and confidence, develop character and sportsmanship and work cooperatively with others.

UNEMPLOYMENT RATE DROPS

Eastern Kentucky's unemployment rate dropped from 7.2 percent in August to 6.1 percent in September, according to figures released today by the Department for Human Resources. This is above the state rate of 5.2 percent but below the national rate of 7.4 percent for September.

Robert MacDonald, chief labor market analyst for the department, says that 114 of the state's counties dropped in rate of unemployment during the August to September period, four remained at the same rate and just two, Franklin and Henderson, went up slightly. Franklin's rate rose 0.3 percent and Henderson's just one-tenth of a percentage point. The state's highest unemployment rate was in Lee County, at 11.8 percent, and the lowest rate was in Lyon County, which posted a 2.1 percent rate.

The September figure for Rockcastle County stands at 5.9 percent.

Rockcastle Recollections

By John Lair

We are still occasionally picking up information on Rockcastle families concerning which we had previously been aware. A recent letter from Hazel

Elvey, of Santa Cruz, California, gives the following on the Owsley and Potts families who lived for a time in Rockcastle.

Thomas Owsley, Sr. was a major in the Virginia Militia and his son, Thomas, Jr., was also a Revolutionary veteran. He enlisted from Loudoun County, Virginia and served as a sergeant in Capt. Charles Morgan's Virginia Company and in Capt. William Smith's Company, of Col. Daniel Morgan's 11th Virginia Regiment, between two and three years. He was wounded and taken prisoner in the Battle of Germantown and was later exchanged. In his application for pension in 1818 he was living in Garrard County but by 1821 was living in Rockcastle County, with his wife, Dinah, and four of their children. They were Sally, Henry B. Nancy and Betsey, aged respectively nineteen, seventeen, fourteen, and thirteen years. Thomas does not give his age at that time but stated that his wife, Dinah, was then "upwards" of sixty years.

Thomas Owsley, Sr., had come with his wife, the former Mary Middleton, from Loudoun County, Virginia to Lincoln County, Kentucky, in 1793, with their twelve children. The children were Ann Bayne, William, Thomas, Jr., Henry, Anthony, Jonathan, Chloë, Verilinda, Daniel, Mary, Patience, and Elizabeth. A son of one of these, William Owsley, was governor of Kentucky from 1844 to 1848. Owsley County was named for him.

William and Thomas Owsley has a grant of one thousand acres of land on Paint Lick Creek, in Garrard county. Thomas had an additional grant of two thousand six hundred and forty acres on Dick's River. He also had grants on Crab Orchard Run and Hammons' Lot. Supposedly the first slaves emancipated in Kentucky were set free by William and Thomas Owsley in 1798.

Henry B. Owsley, son of Thomas, Jr. and Dinah, was living in Rockcastle County in 1830, where he married Sarah Potts, daughter of Samuel and Catherine Chance Potts, members of the numerous family of Potts who had lived in the same community in Loudoun, Virginia, as the Owsleys before coming to Kentucky.

According to the 1810 census of Rockcastle County there was a Stephen Potts in the age group of 45 and up, Samuel Potts in the 26 to 45 group, and William Potts in the 16 to 26 age classification. Samuel and Stephen Potts were still here in the 1820 census list. The 1850 census shows Samuel Potts, age 60, born in Virginia and his wife, Catherine, 66 born in North Carolina. Also shown is a Samuel Potts, Jr. and Stephen Potts, aged 30. In a description of Boone's Trace there is reference to "Where Potts' Mill stood on Paint Lick Creek."

Sarah Potts, daughter of Samuel and Catherine Chance Potts after marrying Henry B. Owsley went with him and their sons to Edgar County, Illinois in 1831. She died there in 1834. Her husband died in 1843.

George W. Owsley, a son of Henry B. and Sarah Potts Owsley, born in Edgar County, Illinois, went from Illinois to California in 1849, travelling by covered wagon, with seven companions. His health not being such as to warrant him living the life of a miner, he acquired 190 acres of land and started fruit farming, at which he was eminently successful. In 1861 he went east to enter the service of the United States, but had to return to California for reasons of health. In 1868 Governor Stanford commissioned him as Captain to raise a regiment for service in the Indiana Wars of the west, where he was engaged in active service until his discharge in 1865.

The Virginia and Kentucky Owsleys seem to have had their origin in England, where Thomas Owsley seems to have been a man of some importance prior to 1677, at which he brought his family to America. As early as 1681 he was prominently engaged in trading with the Indians and in 1692 was living in Fairfax, and still engaged in the trade. Later he was a captain of Rangers on the Stafford frontier.

The following information on the Cash family was sent to me by Mrs. William M. Cash, of Westminster, California, in the hope that readers of these articles might be encouraged to furnish such additional information as they may have on this and related lines.

Mrs. Cash begins with William Cash, born in 1782 in Westmoreland County, Virginia. He served in the Revolutionary War and is listed among the Revolutionary Veterans living in Rockcastle County after the war. After the close of the war he married Dorothy Irvine, of Spotsylvania County, Virginia. They moved to North Carolina and then on to Kentucky in 1810, settling in Rockcastle County, near Pulaski Line. Their children were Larkin, Lewis, Waller, Nancy, James and William. It is believed that the children were all grown and married before coming to Kentucky, but most of them came to Kentucky with their parents. William Cash died in Rockcastle County in 1837; his wife, Dorothy, in 1841 or 1842.

An extended list of the descendants of William and Dorothy Irvine Cash intermarried with such substantial families of their district as the DeBoards, Thompsons, Adams, Elders, Brown, and Lawrences, whose offspring represent a substantial part of the population of our county.

Mrs. Cash is also interested in another Rockcastle War Veteran of Rockcastle County, William Lawrence, who was living in the home of Cornelius Lawrence, father of the Jamima E. and Robert Lawrence who married into the Cash family. Cornelius "Neely" Lawrence's wife was the former Elizabeth Nichols. He also had a brother named Tartarius Lawrence who with his wife, Rutha, were very early settlers in Rockcastle County. Mrs. Cash is interested in learning the relationship between the veteran, William, and these other Lawrences; also, who knows anything concerning Tartarius Lawrence and his wife?

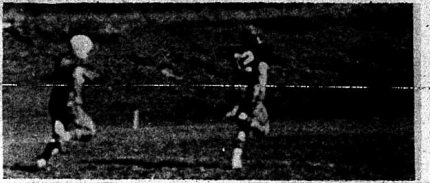

Mrs. Cash's interest in the Lawrence family is shared by Mrs. Roscoe Adams, who is descended from Cornelius Lawrence. I also am interested in the Lawrence family since a William Lawrence, founder of the Lawrence Station, near present Danville, Kentucky was my great-great grandfather.

P-10 The Mt. Vernon Signal Thursday, Nov. 4, 1976

The Rockcastle ninth and tenth grade football team members played Lynch Camp's outsizeable grade last Monday afternoon and came out with a 12-6 victory. The Rockcastles scored first on a long pass from quarterback David Hiddle to Rick Anderkin in the end zone. The try for the extra points was no good. Lynch Camp scored next on a long run and their extra points attempt was no good. The Rockcastles last score was on a pass from Hiddle to Keith Russell who ran the ball in for the score. In the top photo, David Chautson, No. 14, picks up good yardage for the Rockcastles and the bottom photo shows Russell at his way to the end zone and a score.

Mercer Beats Rockets, 32-28

The Rockcastle County Rockets lost another close one last Friday night to Mercer County 32-28. The Rockets led most of the game and had the lead 28-25 with less than five minutes to go when the Scotties completed a long pass to their man in the end zone for the 6 points that proved too much for the Rockets.

The Rockets got on the scoreboard the first time when they scored on the field and a score by David Owens before the Scotties ever got on the board. However, Mercer County came right back and on their third play, a Rocket defender let his man go, and he caught a long pass and ran it into the end zone for their first six points of the game. Their extra point attempt failed though and the Rockets led 8-0.

Shortly afterwards, the Rockets found themselves playing catch-up ball again with Mercer scoring a touchdown and taking the lead 12-8. The Rockets were unable to score again in the second half until, with only 2:36 showing on the clock, David Owens ranoff tackle to score his second of the half and to give the Rockets a 12-12 lead at halftime.

The Rockets increased their lead at the beginning of the second half on another touchdown by David Owens. The Scotties came right back however with another score and it was 22-20, Rockets. Shortly afterwards, Rockets' quarterback Earl Hammons, ran the ball around left end and won a foot-race with a Scottie defender to score the fourth and last touchdown of the game for the Rockets. Mercer then scored to final lockdown for their final victory margin of 32-28.

It must be remembered that even though the Rockets do not have a good record on the season, that they are a young team who have lost 3 games by four points and 1 game by 1 point.

This Friday night, the Rockets close out their season with a visit to Russell County and a game which will begin at 9 p.m. E.S.T. (our time).
