Let A "Pro" Sell It

Selling your home yourself is no easy undertaking. Basically, it means attracting the right prospects—people who are ready, willing, and financially able to buy. Not those who are curious to see what your furniture looks like from the inside.

You can attempt to make this sale yourself, or you can have someone else handle the difficult negotiations. Frankly, the best way to market your home—probably your most valuable asset—is the professional way. Just as you would go to a doctor or a lawyer for medical or legal aid, you will want to go to a Realtor for assistance in selling your home.

his technical skill, business experience, list of bona fide prospects, contacts with financial institutions, and professional reputation are all at your disposal to expedite the sale of your home at the best possible price. This is the reason why nationally-75 percent of all homes are sold through professionals.

IN MEMORY of my mamaw Birdie B. DeBorde, on her birthday, March 16th.

I mamaw was a humble person. I remember her with fond memories. She lived a very quiet life. Content with what she had, I never heard her once complain. All those days she suffered. She gave me a special kind of love, that can never be replaced. This woman was my Grandmother. Our lives are lonely now. That she has gone on. But someday we'll meet her on Heaven's happy throne. And we'll never have anymore sorrow and never be lonely again. Sadly missed by Granddaughter

LOCAL UNEMPLOYMENT RATES RISE IN JANUARY
Unemployment rates in Eastern Kentucky rose from 6.0 in December to 7.5 percent in January, according to figures released today by the Department for Human Resources. This is above both the state rate of 6.3 percent and the national rate of 8.3 for the month.

Robert MacDonald, chief labor market analyst for the department, says that the state's county-by-county unemployment rates have been revised to correspond with the 1976 national population survey prepared by the U.S. Census Bureau. Such revisions occur annually, he explains, and Human Resources has revised its 1976 figures to provide a valid comparison between 1976 and 1977 data.

MacDonald says that in Eastern Kentucky, there are an estimated 19,468 people out of work. This is approximately 3,400 more than were unemployed in December. He points out that unemployment rates usually rise in the winter months because of seasonal cutbacks and slowdowns in the construction industry.

The Mt. Vernon Signal
March 17, 1977 P.15
The revised December, 1976 rates and January rates for Rockcastle County are, 5.9 and 8.0 percent.

Deer Hunters Permitted To Use Certain Handguns In 1977

Kentucky deer hunters will be permitted to use certain handguns during the 1977 gun deer season, according to Arnold Mitchell, commissioner of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

All handguns used for deer hunting must have barrel lengths of 3.90 inches or more and no full metal jacketed bullets of any caliber may be used, according to the regulation adopted by the Fish and Wildlife Commission at its quarterly meeting March 7.

Only cartridges of the following calibers may be used in handguns: .30 Herrett; .357 magnum; .357 Herrett;

.357 auto mag; .41 magnum; .41 auto mag; .44 magnum; .44 auto mag; .44/40; .45 Colt long; .45 auto mag and .45 ACP, the last of which must have either semi-jacketed hollow point or semi-jacketed soft point bullets.

Handguns meeting the above qualifications may be used during the statewide gun deer season, Nov. 12 through Nov. 14 and Dec. 3 through Dec. 5.

Regulations concerning the use of handguns on hunting areas subject to special regulation will be made at a later date, Mitchell said.

AMERICA'S HERITAGE

When the Bill of Rights guaranteed America's freedom of the press nearly 200 years ago, early patriots most likely thought of the small papers and letters of that time.

Today, Americans can participate in freedom of the press in much the same spirit by writing letters to families in Russia and help to foster freedom there.

Letters may be written in English and cost only 22¢.

to send. A program called Freedom Letters finds Russian families and individuals who have indicated they want letters. Some of these people say letters from America are "life insurance," letting the Soviet authorities know some Russians have friends in the West.

For free brochures about Freedom Letters, write to them at 200 West 72nd St., Suites 30-31, New York, N.Y. 10023.

Growth doesn't stop at maturity.

Everyone knows U.S. Savings Bonds reach full maturity in just five years. But they don't stop there.

Bonds keep accumulating interest year after year after year after year.

So if you're enrolled in a Payroll Savings Plan at work (or the Bond-A-Month Plan where you save), you don't have to rush out and cash your Bonds at maturity.

You can sit back and watch them keep growing.

The older they get, the better they look.

Series E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4½% the first year). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Council Discusses Complaints From Water Customers

By: Roger Coldiron

Letters of complaint were discussed at Monday nights City Council meeting—the letters were from customers of the Mt. Vernon Waterworks who felt that since they didn't have water for the greater part of January that the city's billing was unfair.

After much discussion, the council decided that it would be impossible to adjust any water bills because almost all of them would have to be adjusted, thus the bills will stand as originally figured.

Several residents of Otseheim in Lincoln County have requested that they be supplied water by Mt. Vernon through the lines of the Western Rockcastle County Water District. This subject too brought about quite a bit of discussion by the councilmen who finally decided that further research was needed to see if the waterworks could supply sufficient water to handle another district. Present pumping capacity for the plant is 1,500,000 gallons per day, and according to Matt Powell, Waterworks Superintendent, between 500,000 and 600,000 gallons are being pumped now per day. However, Mr. Powell said, during the recent bad weather, the station was pumping as much as 900,000 gallons per day because of numerous water leaks.

Parking in Mt. Vernon was also on the Council's agenda with the possibility of paving the city's parking lot adjacent to the former Parson' Equipment Building being discussed. Jess Bullock of the Bank of Mt. Vernon was present and told the council that fencing of the lot would cost approximately $3,000. Mr. Bullock also said that they would solicit businessmen in Mt. Vernon to help with expenses incurred for paving and fencing the lot. One more parking space was added in town recently when the space, formerly reserved for city police, was converted to metered parking.

Complaints had been directed to the council about cars parking facing the wrong direction in spaces on Main Street. The police were told to ticket cars parked facing the wrong direction in the future.

An attempt will be made to have another police officer on duty during daylight hours in Mt. Vernon, the Council decided. It was suggested that Police Chief Clifford Pittman could use additional manpower and Asst. Chief John Grider was told to schedule other officers for daylight duty.

The police were also asked to enforce a new school ruling which bars motorcycles from school property. Supt. Charles B. Parsons has complained that motorcycles have been tearing up the football field and embankments around it causing increased erosion. The police were told to charge persons caught riding motorcycles on school property with disorderly conduct.

The Council also decided on three city streets which will be paved under the city's Municipal Street Aid Program. They are Perciful Street, T Street, and Barnett Street. If there are any funds left over after paving these three streets, the council decided to apply them to upgrading Paul Street.

Mr. Fletcher, a newcomer to politics, is a truck driver for Latham Trucking Co. He is married to the former Norma Jean Repple of Pennsylvania and they have four children.

Benny Allen

Former Bank Employee Files $15 Million Plus Civil Lawsuit

A $15 million-plus civil lawsuit was filed in U.S. District Court on Friday, March 11 by R. Paul McNew, a former Bank of Mt. Vernon employee, against the bank, 9 individuals and a local law firm.

Named as defendants in the suit are The Bank of Mt. Vernon, John L. Williams, J. Stephen Owens, Rosamond Brown, Jess F. Bullock, Lois M. Smock, Carl R. Clontz, Jerry J. Cox, W.E. Hunt, Tracy Farmer and the law firm of Clontz and Cox.

The complaint alleges that acts complained of by plaintiff began on March 29, 1976 and took place in Rockcastle County.

Count one of the two-count complaint alleges that John L. Williams, commissioner of Banking and Securities, Commonwealth of Kentucky, and J. Stephen Owens, a bank examiner for the Department of Banking and Security, acting individually or together, and/or conspiring with certain other defendants deprived the plaintiff, R. Paul McNew, of his rights provided by and through Title 42 U.S.C. Sections 1983 and 1985.

Count one goes on to allege that as a direct result of the acts of Williams and Owens and other defendants, McNew has been denied actual due process of law as guaranteed by the 14th Amendment to the Constitution. The complaint further alleges that as a result of the actions of the defendants, McNew was "wrongfully terminated from his employment at The Bank of Mt. Vernon." It asks for damages in the amount of $10,150,000 plus $2 million for damage "to his good name, character, reputation and profession," as well as an additional $2 million in punitive damages.

Count two of the complaint alleges that Rosamond Brown, Jess F. Bullock, Carl R. Clontz, W.E. Hunt and Lois M. Smock, all agents, officers, directors and employees of the bank, while acting in the course and scope of their employment did refer to the plaintiff McNew as a thief, criminal and an embezzler.

This count further alleges that Carl R. Clontz, while acting in the course and scope of his employment as a director of the bank, caused to be printed a libelous letter concerning the plaintiff which he "knew or had reason to know was false." It also alleges that Jerry J. Cox made slanderous statements concerning the plaintiff.

The count goes on to say that defendants, Williams, Owens and Tracy Farmer have made libelous and slanderous statements about McNew which they "knew or should have known were false." It is further alleged that certain statements were a direct reflection on the plaintiff's "profession as a banker."

This count then states that all the named defendants have "joined in a slanderous and libelous conspiracy against the plaintiff to drive him out of the Bank of Mt. Vernon, destroy his banking profession, his good name, reputation and character."

The demand is for judgement in the total sum of $15,150,000.00. Complaints in a lawsuit present only one side of the story.

Sheriff Manuel Shepherd Files For County Judge Executive

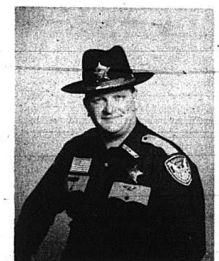

Sheriff Manuel Shepherd has announced that he is a candidate for the office of Rockcastle County Judge Executive, subject to the May 24th Republican Primary.

Sheriff Shepherd, 40, is a native of Rockcastle County, the son of Charles Shepherd of Mt. Vernon and the late Mabel Howard Shepherd. He is married to the former Clela Ballinger, daughter of the late Dewey and Virgie Ballinger, and they have three children: Tammy, 15, Manuel, Jr., 10 and Matthew, 6. They reside on Route 4, Mt. Vernon.

A graduate of Mt. Vernon High School, Class of 1955, Sheriff Shepherd served with the U.S. Army Special forces in the Panama Canal for 29 months. He is a member of the Kentucky Council on Crime and Juvenile Delinquency, a member of the Kentucky Crime Commission, a master mason of Ashland Lodge 640 P.E.M., a Scottish Rite Mason, a shriner of Oleika Temple, Lexington, A Kentucky Colonel, a member of the Rockcastle Saddle Club, a member of the V.F.W. and president of the Rockcastle Shrine Club.

Prior to becoming Sheriff, Mr. Shepherd served as deputy sheriff of Rockcastle County. In his announcement statement, Sheriff Shepherd said, "It is my sincere desire to be of service to all the people of Rockcastle County and I will most certainly try to be honest and fair to everyone."

Burning Law Now in Effect

During the period from March 1st until May 15th it is unlawful to burn anything within one hundred fifty feet of any woodland, or grass or brushland adjacent to woodland except between 4:30 p.m. and midnight according to Astor Holcomb, Law Enforcement and Safety Officer with the Kentucky Division of Forestry. "Any fire out of control in a wildfire," he said, "and any person causing a wildfire whether intentionally or unintentionally is liable to the Division of Forestry for the cost of controlling the fire. Persons violating the forestry laws may also be fined or imprisoned," he continued, "for up to two years in the case of fires intentionally set on another person's land. Forest fires cause unnecessary economic loss to the forestlands of the Commonwealth each year and the Division of Forestry must depend on the cooperation and assistance of each citizen to reduce the number of fires."

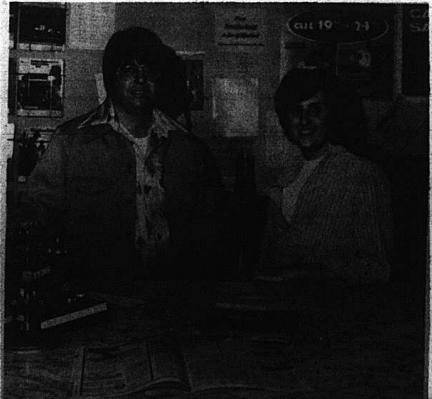

Holcomb stressed that anyone discovering a forest fire should report the location and any information concerning its origin to the Kentucky

Garian Cummins, a teacher at Brodhead Elementary School, has been named Director of Pupil Personnel for Rockcastle County Schools, a vacancy created by the recent resignation of Mrs. Nancy Williams. Cummins will assume his new position April 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Hopkins of Mt. Vernon are the new owners of the Sears Catalogue Store in Mt. Vernon. Mr. Hopkins is the former Health Environmentalist for Rockcastle County and Mrs. Hopkins is a teacher at the Harry Sparks Vocational School.

The lines got rather long several times Monday in the office of County Court Clerk Irene Bales as procrastinating Rockcastle Countyans lined up for their 1977 license decals. Mrs. Bales reported that over 500 decals were sold Monday. One ray of hope for next year Mrs. Bales tells us is that the purchase of license will be staggered although, as yet, she doesn't know what system will be used.

MR. AND MRS. GARRY SHIVEL

Cates - Shivel Vows Said

The Kirksville Baptist Church was the scene of a beautiful Christmas Eve wedding on Friday December 24, 1976 at 8:00 o'clock in the afternoon when Miss Sandra Kaye Cates, daughter of Mr. Bobby Cates of Kirksville, exchanged wedding vows with Mr. Garry Shivel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shivel of Brodhead.

Bro. Owen Edwards performed the double ring ceremony before an altar of red flowers and Christmas greenery. The candelabras were also decorated with greenery and red ribbons.

Miss Denise Hagan presented a program of wedding music at the piano. Selections included, "We've Only Just Begun."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white organza trimmed in lace and pearls around the square neck, and long bishop sleeves. Her veil was attached to a demi-crown of matching organza, lace and pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and baby breath with Christmas greenery.

The maid of honor was Mrs. Lynn Dalton, sister of the bride, of Paint Lick. She was attired in a floor length gown of red velvet fashioned with an empire waist and long lace trimmed sleeves. She carried a single red rose.

The bridesmaids were Miss Jennifer Shivel, sister of the groom and Miss Reeta Sherrow of Lancaster. The wore green gowns identical to that of the honor attendant and carried a single red rose.

Little Miss Kim Cates was flower girl. She wore a dress like those of the other attendants. Brian Paul Baker served as ring bearer.

Mr. Billy Dalton served as best man. Ushers were Jeff and Larry Shivel, brothers of the groom.

The guest register was kept by Mrs. Phyllis Kirby, sister of the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship room of the church. The table was adorned with a three tiered wedding cake decorated with red and green roses and a miniature bride and groom. In keeping with the Christmas spirit the red punch was served by Mrs. Jackie Combs, Mrs. Joyce Cates, Mrs. Judy Cates and Mrs. Debbie VanWinkle, all aunts of the bride.

For going away, the bride wore a green sweater and pants outfit.

After a brief wedding trip, the couple are residing at Kirksville, while the groom resumes his studies at EKV and is also employed at Robinson's Tool & Die in Richmond.

Rockcastle Recollections

By John Lakr

We are looking towards the earliest date possible for the publication of the Rockcastle County History we have talked so much about and have been so long doing anything about. A date will be set without actually knowing what delays I will run into in finding the right printer, someone able to acquire the paper stock and the services of a binder and get the work done without long drawn-out delays. Any way, we will have to set an actual date to work or we will never get it done.

I hope this announcement will speed up those who are asked to write and contribute articles on certain subjects, and those who have promised to send in certain genealogical information to allow me to include their family in our section of historical families in the county. I would regret very much having to leave out an account of families whose members have contributed to the history and progress of Rockcastle County, but will be forced to do so if the necessary information is not furnished by descendants of earlier settlers. The book will also present without comprehensive history of Rockcastle churches, due to the fact that many congregations and ministers have not taken the time to dig up old records to which I will otherwise not have access.

period in the First Regiment of the New Jersey Line, under Captain Mead. During 1776 he was engaged in the battle of Brandywine and wintered in Valley Forge. In 1778 he was engaged in the battle of Monmouth. In 1779 he was commissioned to pursue and return deserters until the end of his three year enlistment. In the Spring of 1781 he enlisted for a six months tour of duty in the Virginia Militia. Here he served under General George Rogers Clark, in the regiment commanded by Col. Zachariah Morgan. The regiment was dismissed at the end of the six months and Pever received his discharge near Bardstown, Kentucky.

The ironic thing about this remarkable service is that he was first tricked into enlisting by a man named William Farrow, to whom he was at the time apprenticed. Being only 15 years of age and unable to read, he was tricked by Farrow into signing a muster role as a substitute for Farrow. As is evident from his record, this did not save him on military duty, but he kept signing up for more.

Rueben C. Pew's first ancestor to reach America arrived in New York in 1665. He was Nicholas du Puy, a French Huguenot who came to America to escape religious persecution in France. His last name was soon Americanized to Pew.

Rueben C. and Fanny Pew's fourth and fifth children were twins, Mary and Jennina, born in Rockcastle County in 1803. Mary married Simpson Stuart and they were the parents of eleven children. Mary married John Merryman and they had twelve children. Eleven were born in Rockcastle County and the twelfth was born in Grundy County, Missouri, to which this family had also removed soon after 1843.

Anderson S. Pew was the sixth child of Rueben and Fanny Pew. He married Ann Behrman and they had six children, the first two of which were born in Rockcastle, the other four in Montgomery County, Missouri. Anderson S. Pew died October 10, 1844. His wife, Anna died the next day and they were both buried on the same day.

Photography, ceramics and weaving, hardly seem dangerous. But they, as well as other arts and crafts activities, can be hazardous to your health.

Many powders, aerosols, adhesives, dyes and other craft ingredients are harmful if swallowed, breathed or absorbed into the body. They contain chemicals that can do damage to your organs, nerves and blood.

The risk is often greater, to amateurs unfamiliar with the craft substances they are using. Also, amateurs sometimes work under the worst conditions, in a back closet or a poorly-ventilated corner of the basement.

Watch carefully to see how you feel both before and after craftwork. Among the symptoms to watch for are: headaches, dizziness, nausea, blurred vision, nervousness, depression, irritability, loss of appetite, chronic cough, skin discoloration, rash, shortness of breath or a bad taste in the mouth.

If any of these symptoms occur, leave your work area immediately. If they persist, contact a physician and describe the substances to which you have been exposed.

To protect yourself in advance, read all labels, carefully when you'll know the components of your craft products and any restriction on their use. It's also a good idea to wear safety goggles and use a protective mask when working around powders, aerosols or fumes. You should work in a well ventilated area, too. Damp-mop floors and tablecloths often help keep dust out of the air.

One parting bit of advice: always store your craft products in tightly closed containers, out of sight and reach of children and pets.

Why Modern Appliances Give Up Ghost Early

Some modern appliances give out or need repairs long before they should. That's because just like people, pets, and plants, they need some tender loving care.

Most appliances and household gadgets come with a hangtag or instruction booklet. If you follow these directions carefully, both your appliance and your money will last longer.

Giving an example of how careless use can shorten the life span of an appliance, consider the automatic washer.

Continuous overloading can mean premature motor failure. Unbalanced loads cause undue strain on the machine.

Pump repairs are frequent when pins, coins, tiny socks, even wrist watches get jammed in the pump.

So read those instruction carefully and give your appliance some TLC. Like a faithful pet, it's not likely to bite the hand that feeds it. Instead it will probably just die of old age after many years of service.

RESOLUTION

The Mt. Vernon Lions Club has been indeed fortunate in having among its members many fine persons, and among these was Jeryl Thompson. His enthusiasm and dedication to Lionism was a constant inspiration to the Club and her members. It is with a great deal of regret that we observe his chair empty and are no longer favored with his wisdom and words of good advice for the welfare of the Club. His passing has left a void in the membership of the Club and in the Church where he worshiped his Creator and indeed, in the entire community. However, we retain our memory of him and are strengthened therefore, and now

BE IT RESOLVED that the Club in meeting assembled orders this to be spread at large upon her minutes; copy furnished to the Citizens Newsweek; copy furnished to the Mt. Vernon Signal; and a copy sent to his wife with our deep condolences.

Five to eight years are needed to get an electric generating station on line after construction starts, depending on whether it is fueled by coal or nuclear power.

Planning to meet our electric energy demands must look years into the future. It's a lot more complicated than simply observing that we have enough power for today's necessities.

Every facet of American life depends on electric energy. Homes, churches, factories, schools - all count upon the availability of electricity.

Those among us who contribute to the delay of power plant construction are endangering our future employment, our nation's economic structure, and the tax system which undergirds our government.

BY GARY HUDDLESTON

A week ago, Agriculture Secretary Robert Bergland has never heard of Boyle County, Ky.

Now, thanks to a Kentucky Farm Bureau Washington tour, and a newspaper article, Bergland is a dues-paid member of the Boyle County Farm Bureau.

Bill Balden, Boyle County farmer and a vice-president of KFB, presented Bergland his certificate of membership following the new secretary's address to a group of touring Kentucky farmers in the nation's capital.

Balden told Bergland, a Minnesota native, that an article in a Kentucky newspaper recently alluded to the fact that Bergland had never been a member of Farm Bureau. Bergland said he was very pleased to accept the membership, and assured Balden he intends to work closely with Farm Bureau leadership at the state and national levels.

In his address, Bergland said rising land prices are preventing young men and women from entering agriculture, but acknowledged he doesn't know how to put a lid on land values.

"We can't pass a federal law saying land in Kentucky is never again going to be over $800 an acre," he said. "That is a function of the market."

Bergland also told the Kentuckians that he is changing USDA's perspective on the role of the consumer in agriculture affairs.

"I have always regarded the consumer as my customer, not a person with whom we should fight, get into boycotts, arguments, or name calling. We need to sit down and negotiate with them on many things, and help them better understand the importance of agriculture in today's modern, international economy."

Bergland must have been thinking ahead, because a week later, he announced the appointment of Carol Foreman, activist consumer spokesman and executive director of the Consumer Federation of America, as an assistant secretary of agriculture.

A Kentuckian is scheduled to take part in a high-level agricultural trade mission to Europe later this month, centered around the multi-lateral trade negotiations currently underway in Geneva.

Kentucky Farm Bureau President J. Robert Wade, will join a dozen top FB officers from other states for a four-nation tour of major European ports and trade centers. The 12-day mission is set to begin March 19.

Wade said the trip will serve to underscore the importance of the trade negotiations to farmers in Kentucky and the rest of the nation. Grain sales to U.S. trading partners in Europe will probably dominate the agenda, but Wade said he intends to spend much of his time working on export problems-related to burley tobacco.

Tobacco leaders contend existing U.S. import duties on foreign burley put domestic leaf at a disadvantage in this country. With the current tariff at 12 cents a pound, low-quality foreign-produced burley can be brought into the U.S. for under 30 cents a pound, a level below production costs for Kentucky producers.

Other objectives of the farm trade mission include on-the-spot inspections of port facilities, quality checks on U.S. grain received by European buyers and meetings with European trade officials. The tour will involve stopovers in Brussels, Belgium; Bonn, West Germany; Geneva, Switzerland; and Rotterdam, The Netherlands.

There is a movement afoot to informally adopt Citizens Band Radio Channel 8 as the agricultural channel in farm areas.

The Rural Traffic Committee of the National Institute for Farm Safety is promoting the use of Channel 8 as a safety measure. A farmer injured in his field, for example, would know neighbors were monitoring the ag channel.

Another advantage is that Channel 8 is close to Channel 9, the emergency channel which would be used in the event medical assistance were necessary. Channel 8 would also permit agribusiness personnel to contact farm operators in the field when making feed, fuel and fertilizer deliveries.

Barney Arnold, farm director at WHAS-TV and Radio, Louisville, is the new president of Agriculture Communicators of Kentucky.

Joining Arnold as officers in the organization are Blanche Bushong Trimble, vice president, and Glenn Mitchell, secretary-treasurer. Ma Trimble is editor of the Tompkinsville News, a weekly newspaper in Monroe County, and Mitchell is editor of the Kentucky Agriculture News, published by the Kentucky Department of Agriculture.

Arnold, who joined WHAS in 1962, hosts an early-morning "Country Living" radio show, and presents mid-day farm news and market reports on both radio and television. He is the only four-time winner of Kentucky Farm Bureau's communications award.

Agriculture Communicators of Kentucky is made up of farm writers, farm broadcasters, and a variety of other agricultural information professionals. It was formerly known as the Farm Press and Radio Association of Kentucky.

seeded before 60 days prior to transplanting time, due to rapid growth under the nylon and polyester covers. Most of us in Central Kentucky do not want to go into the field to transplant before May 25-28, so that means an April 1st seeding date. Those dates may vary in other areas.

What to Do in March

1. Repair and clean mower and other tools.
2. Buy your fertilizer and pesticides.
3. Prune fruit trees, grapes, and ornamentals if you haven't already done so.
4. Plant trees and shrubs—remove labels and make a record of their locations.
5. Apply dormant sprays if this has not been done.
6. Remove mulch from permanent beds near the end of the month.
7. Seed thin or bare areas of lawn.
8. Prepare to spray for crabgrass in April.
9. Fertilizer lawn, trees, and shrubs if this has not been done.
10. Start Caladiums, and Tuberous Rooted Begonias in sphagnum and soil mix.
11. Divide Dahlias and Cannas for May planting.
12. Sow annual flower seed indoors so that plants are ready for the outside in 8 weeks.
13. Check plants for: winter heaving.
14. Plant cool season crops in mid-March: Cabbage, cauliflower, onions and lettuce transplants.
15. Sow tomato, pepper and eggplant seeds for home grown transplants.
16. Plant other cool season crops in the last part of March: broccoli, Brussels sprouts, and kale transplants.
17. Plant Irish potatoes, radish, turnips, mustard, peas and parsley seeds.

STRETCH-ING YOUR FOOD DOLLAR
(A Consumer Tip)

Be a smart shopper and think cost per serving rather than cost per pound. When you buy meat keep in mind that it is cost per edible portion that really counts. The amount of bone and fat a cut of meat contains help determine the number of two or three ounce servings of cooked meat it will serve.

Read the label on canned and frozen foods and remember it's cost per serving that counts. Do not choose the highest quality unless the intended use calls for it. For example, there's no need to select canned, fancy whole tomatoes for a casserole soup or chili.

The modern safety pin was patented in 1849.

Start Thinking Aout
Next Tobacco Crop

"It's that time of year when we start thinking about the next burley tobacco crop," says Ira Massie, UK extension tobacco specialist.

And that means we have to start thinking about the tobacco beds. He urged burley producers to be certain to have the "tools at hand when you go to the tobacco beds—tools that are necessary to get the job done."

The next step is to put the right amount of fertilizer on the plant bed. He suggested 30-50 pounds of most any analysis you have on the farm, noting that some producers put a little fertilizer on the bed and rake it in after they take the plastic cover off. The plastic cover is placed on the bed in the fall when the ground is sterilized in preparation for the planting of the plant bed in the spring.

"There's nothing wrong with raking in the fertilizer, but be sure to topdress fertilizer with the seed when you sow," he advised.

Massie said he preferred to mix the seed with the fertilizer—about 20-25 pounds of fertilizer—with two level teaspoons of seed to each 100 by one foot bed.

After the seed is sown, he said Ende should be applied to the bed to "take care of any white cover that might be left and that you didn't get in the weed control."

An application of Di-Syston is the next step to kill any insects that might remain. Insects are always a problem and Di-Syston is necessary to get rid of them.

He urged a light covering of straw on the bed. "It doesn't take a lot—I'd say 25-35 pounds. So many people are not aware of the advantage of using straw. It will do a good job in keeping the plant bed cover up off the ground," Massie said. He urged the use of clean straw and recommended that a bale of straw should be put out now, allowed to get "Good and wet" to let any seeds in the bale to become pliable.

"The day you're going to seed your bed, roll that straw up, put it into a piece of plastic and turn a can of Mehlby Bromide loose with it. This is a good companion because you're going to kill out the weed seeds."

The final step is placing a cover on the plant bed. There is the traditional cotton cover that has been used for years, and this year there are two synthetic covers available, one made of nylon and the other of polyester.

The nylon cover has been available for about four years, but the polyester cover is brand new. Both synthetic covers were described as being thin and fragile, but if you handle them according to instructions you're going to get good results. Both were said to bring on plants in a hurry, holding moisture and heat very well. Users of the synthetic covers were warned not to stretch them too tightly and to peg them down well—and to use straw to keep the covers off the ground and to allow the plants to grow well and not "Rub out."

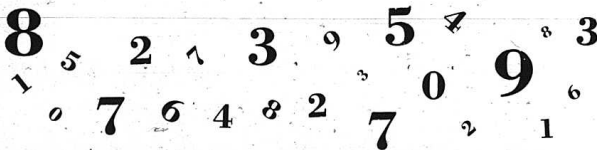

Massie also warned that in using the synthetic covers the beds should not be

Rockets Lose in Regionals

By: Rick Anderkin

The Rockcastle Rockets lost their opening game of the Region to Knox Central last Wednesday night by a score of 69-51.

The Rockcastle came out in the first quarter and played pretty good ball and at the end of the first period, had a 15-12 lead. But, they began playing sloppy ball in the second quarter and lost their lead to trail 26-23 at half time.

The Rockets were never to lead again in the second half, although Jeff Burdette, playing his last ballgame as a starting senior guard, made a valiant effort, scoring 19 points in the game. Knox Central's 6'5" center dominated the second half of play by connecting on 9 out of 9 shots from the field and gathering in 21 rebounds. Other Rockets scoring in the game points in the contest to lead the girls in scoring.

Sandy Sturgill, No. 35, tries for a shot in the games against Middlesboro. Also "ROCKCASTLE RECOLLECTIONS" (Cont. From 4) and Fanny Smith Pew was Silphye Pew. There are no records on her, except mention of the fact that she married a man named Polk and moved with him to Indiana.

scoring for the Rockets was Brenda Bullen with 3 and Kim Howard with 2. Although I have been finished with the names of all the descendants of Reuben C. Pew I have noted only those with connections to Rockcastle County families, a custom I will be forced to follow with all families concerned with this history, as otherwise I could not make room in its pages for all descendants down to the present day.

Advancing The Quality of Life

As America begins the third century of its history, no question is more relevant for the future than, "How can we best realize our people's desire for a fuller and better life?" Many of us who have experienced first-hand the devastating effects of the poverty-crime cycle, who have sought affordable high-quality care for an aged relative, or who have seen the despair of a friend in the grips of alcohol or drug addiction, realize the urgency of this question. We also realize that no panacea exists with which to answer it.

Contemtion of the complex cause-and-effect web of problems which plagues our society can lead us to a feeling of helplessness an even to the delusion that these unsolvable problems, if ignored, might simply disappear. Often, too, the large-scale "solutions" we conceive become subverted by self-serving considerations and perpetuate the inequities we hoped they would magically remove.

Even though we may acknowledge that a lasting solution must be rooted in a personal commitment to improve the quality of life for all Americans, we may become discouraged when we consider the vastness of that goal, the complexity of the obstacles to achieving it, and most importantly, our own ignorance of how to approach them.

We often overlook the help available to us from a group of people who have long shared a commitment to realizing the goal of an improved national standard of living for all who have scientifically observed and analyzed the obstacles in our path; and who, through advanced and specialized training, have secured the knowledge with which to find a way. Whether these people work in hospitals, in mental health clinics, in schools, in public welfare agencies, in family counseling centers, in the military, in governmental offices, in universities, in private practice or in a variety of other settings, they are all members of a single profession—the profession of social work.

With their observance of professional Social Work Month this March, the Kentucky Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers is marking another anniversary of their profession's vital role in today's society. Their theme: "Advancing the Quality of Life." We hope their work receives the support and recognition it deserves.

Sign up for Medicare Medical Insurance through March 31

People who didn't sign up for Medicare medical insurance when they first became eligible or who have cancelled that protection can enroll now through March 31 at any social security office.

Medicare medical insurance is offered automatically to people who reach 65 and are eligible for social security benefits, and to disabled people under 65 who have been entitled to monthly social security disability benefits for 24 consecutive months or more. Nine out of 10 people eligible are enrolled in the program, according to a social security spokesman.

"But some people decline the protection when they're first eligible," he said. "And some sign up once and cancel later. They can enroll in the first 3 months of any year."

Medical insurance helps pay doctor ills and other medical expenses and is the voluntary part of Medicare, funded by individual premiums and Federal general revenues. The basic premium is $7.20 a month through June 1977. It will be $7.20 a month for the 12 month period starting in July 1977.

"People who decline Medicare medical insurance and delay signing up for more than a year, pay a higher premium," the spokesman noted.

"People who sign up and cancel later can re-enroll only once."

Medicare insurance supplements Medicare hospital insurance, which is funded by social security contributions from workers, employers and self-employed people.

"People 65 and over who are not eligible for social security or railroad retirement benefits can apply at any social security office and get Medicare hospital insurance by paying a premium," the spokesman said. "The basic premium is $45 a month through June 1977. It will be $54 a month for the 12-month period starting in July 1977. People who buy hospital insurance must also sign up for the Medical Insurance," he said.

People who have worked long enough under social security or the railroad retirement system can get Medicare if they have permanent kidney failure. Their wives or husbands or children may also be eligible for Medicare if they have permanent kidney failure.

Medicare is administered by the Social Security Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Division of Forestry immediately. "In most counties the phone number is listed in front of the phone book," he said. "A trained fire crew will be dispatched to the fire as soon as possible although on extremely dry windy days the crew may be delayed due to the number of forest fires occurring. Occasionally we have had as many as eight or ten fires in one county simultaneously," he pointed out. "Anyone wishing to assist in firefighting should contact the Division of Forestry and ask for instructions. Fire fighting can be extremely dangerous and no one should be in the woods near a fire without the knowledge and permission of the County Ranger of Warden assigned to the fire. Buildings may be protected with water hoses and by clearing flammable material from around them," he continued "but in on case should anyone set a backfire without permission from the Forestry Division. To do so is not only dangerous to fire fighters but illegal," he said. Anyone desiring further information should contact the Division of Forestry's District Office at P.O. Box 81, Pineville, Kentucky 40377, or phone 337-3011.

Privileged Parking

George saw red when he encountered a PARKING BY PERMIT ONLY sign on a county parking lot. Defiantly, he left his car in an empty stall. But sure enough, he got a ticket.

Instead of paying the fine, George carried the matter to court. "They hand out permits to county employees only," he complained. "How come they rate over the ordinary taxpayer? After all, this lot is publicly owned property. Discrimination against the public is unconstitutional."

However, the court turned down George's argument and ordered him to pay up. The court said convenient parking for county employees was a reasonable means of insuring good service to the community.

This is the usual attitude of the courts—that offstreet parking facilities, owned by the government, may lawfully be limited to government employees only.

Some courts have even upheld privileged parking on the street as well. In another case, only city-owned vehicles were allowed to park on the street alongside the local courthouse. This too was upheld in a court test.

"Efficient operation of the government," said the court, requires that automobiles be available for the constant use to which they are put by the employees of the city."

On the other hand, favoring one group of private citizens over all others may indeed be unconstitutional. For example,

A new city ordinance provided that parking on residential streets would henceforth be restricted to persons actually living on those streets. This ordinance, when challenged in court, was struck down as invalid.

Finding no governmental needs at stake, the court said this was unfair discrimination, catering to specific homeowners over every one else in town.
