

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

I am trying to find the burial place of an uncle who disappeared years ago and feel he was buried in Rockcastle County, Ky. since his death certificate states he died there October 27, 1918. Attending physician: W. Pennington, M.D., Mt. Vernon, Ky., cause of death, influenza, pneumonia.

"Robert S. Baker"
 Born: July 21, 1888 Died: Oct. 27, 1918
 Harrison Co., Ind. Rockcastle Co., Ky.
 Father's Name: Eli Baker

There is some use of electrical grid screening, which provides a "certain amount of adult fly control."

Another important mechanical control is the use of well constructed garbage cans with lids that can keep the flies out.

Any good integrated fly control program incorporates the use of insecticides. A farmer isn't going to be able to get away from using insecticides because work priorities are going to prevent him from getting his manure hauled away every week or keeping everything cleaned up. So he must use an insecticide to tide him over to when he can get everything cleaned away.

Christensen recommended residual insecticides be applied to the walls, rafters, ceilings and other components of farm buildings to help kill the adult flies that rest in those locations during the evening. If you have a lot of adult flies, you can use mists and sprays. But they are short residual insecticides so you must use them on a more or less daily basis," he said.

Several types of fly baits are available and can be placed in spots where flies rest and in warm, sunlit areas, but it must be certain the baits are placed where children and animals can not reach them.

There are a number of new insecticides available known as oral larvicides - an insecticide that is mixed in cattle rations and passes completely through the animals system, going out in the manure. Extensive tests reveal there is no danger from residues of this type of control getting into the milk. It goes right through the animal's system into the manure and when the flies try to breed in the manure, the larvae are killed.

He pointed out oral larvicides do not kill the adult flies, so such measures can be used solely, but rather with an overall fly control program. He cautioned, also, that the oral larvicide must be fed continuously.

Christensen noted another danger in attempting to use the oral larvicide exclusively is that there is an increased risk of developing a resistance in the larvae.

"So we must continue to use all measures in a fly control program - sanitation, mechanical control and other types of insecticides in conjunction with these oral larvicides to make sure we don't allow the flies to get ahead of us," Christensen concluded.

Born: Sneedville, Tenn. - Hancock Co. I checked with the Rockcastle County Board of Health and have no record. They referred me to your paper for possible information in old issues. The balance of this Baker family are all accounted for except Robert. Believed to have been in the U.S. Army at one time after disappearance (not sure).

Dear Editor,

I read in the paper the other day about the handling of major legislation on the floor of the United States Senate by the Senator from Dec. Huddleston. The story was another of many reports out of Washington about Huddleston's work in the Senate and all of them have been good.

I think it is time to recognize the outstanding work that our Kentucky senator is doing. Dec. Huddleston is proving himself to be an effective spokesman for our state and the nation and has distinguished himself in the four years he has been serving in the Senate. I think we made a good choice when we elected him and hope we keep him there for a long time.

Sincerely,
 Wayne Blanton

Dear Sir,

I would like to respond to the letter you published in your May 5, 1977 edition of the Mt. Vernon Signal. I was born and raised in Rockcastle County, as was three generations of my ancestors. I have never bothered my newspaper with my opinion before in the 37 years I have lived here nor am I the type of person who likes to force my opinion of partisan politics on my fellow citizens but the statements from Mr. Rowie Singleton that you published in your paper, praising Ernest Mason for Magistrate is among other things "absurd." "fallacy number one exposed." Mr. Singleton said Mr. Mason had done such a good job on our roads. Check for yourself the roads up Piney Branch. The property on Piney Branch is owned by many different citizens of this county who would like to get back up there and build homes and farm and live. There is timber and coal and much good pasture land. There are three major cemeteries where many of our people used to come home to and keep cleaned up and hold memorial services.

When Matt Jones was Magistrate, we had passable roads, and Mr. Wally Phillips always kept our ditch lines and culverts cleared and our road graded. Since Mr. Mason has been magistrate, the ditch lines are all stopped up and the roads are washed out to the point that if you attempt to travel over it you stand a very probable chance of bursting holes in your oil pan and losing your tail pipes and mufflers - and I am talking about in pick-up trucks.

When you get wet you know it's raining and if you will try to drive up Piney Branch, you will know what a great job Mr. Mason has "not" done. Also, I would like to ask my fellow citizens in the 5th district to remember the stand Mr. Mason took "against" the motion of Judge Thacker and his fellow magistrates when they were trying to deal with our serious garbage problem. I am left to believe that if Mr. Mason could have had his way, we would be dumping garbage along our side roads and in our streams.

I urge some of our older citizens to join me in telling our younger generation about the progress we have had (such as the new courthouse and common sense approach to the problems of ALL OUR people when Charlie Carter was County Judge and Wally Phillips was our Magistrate.

Respectfully yours,
 s/ Robert G. Collins

HAPPINESS IS
 By Carolyn Travillion Jones

Happy is a smile.
 On the face of a tiny child.
 Happy is a bit to go.
 When before, there was a mile.

Happy is having a job you enjoy.
 Instead of your hate.
 Happy is living your whole life through.
 With a perfectly loving mate.

Happy is the sunshine.
 On an icy winter's day.
 Happy is a cool summer shower.
 To wash the heat and dust away.

Happy is doing an unexpected favor for a friend.
 And watching her face light up.
 Happy is seeing a little baby.
 Take it's first drink from a cup.

Happy is so many things.
 All of which we take for granted.
 Why don't we stop and look around us.
 At all the happiness God has planted.

available to do it successfully. The most important thing in the control of flies is sanitation-cleaning up materials where they breed. In order for a fly or maggot to produce, or to continue its development, it must have three requirements - moisture, a good breeding medium, such as manure, garbage or something like that - and it needs warmth. If one of these things is missing, it can't develop. They can't develop in the winter - but in the summer if we remove or minimize these three requirements they can't breed either.

Every pound of manure left lying around a fence post - or any place - can produce about 400 flies. He also urged a cleanup of silage spills around feed bunks.

If you do a good, thorough job in sanitation, it will go a long way toward controlling flies.

All mechanical control measures available were also urged to be used. Screening the doors and windows of mil rooms and milking parlors. He noted

My Work in FHA

Much of my growth as an individual has been due to my participation in FHA and Home Economics programs. Through these programs, I have learned many things which will be useful in my home and family life. A successful home, requires up-to-date information on marriage which includes child care, budgeting, decorating and many other facets. Learning the basics puts one well on the way to a worthwhile future. While in FHA, I did a little more than participate. I held three offices during my high school days. President was the highest office I held and my favorite. The project for my state degree included aid to the senior citizens of Rockcastle County. I acted as a companion, driver, or whatever was necessary. This included such odd jobs as helping them clean their homes and taking them to the grocery or doctor. I was also a candy stripper, at the Rockcastle County Hospital. This was an experience which was not only educational and worthwhile but also most interesting. If I had to choose one area of my school life which has been the most important to me would be Home Economics because it has helped me to grow tremendously.

Thank You,

SERENA STEWART

Serena Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Stewart of Mt. Vernon, has been selected as Outstanding Senior in Home Economics for 1977. A savings bond was awarded her by the Rockcastle County Extension Homemakers Association by Marjorie Shivel of the Brohead Willing Workers Homemakers Club at the annual FFA Banquet last week.

"PLANT EARLY"

ation for the state, Roberts suggests using 5 to 7 pounds of a complete fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potash for each 100 feet of row. An example is 10-10-10. Apply fertilizer before planting. Give the plants more nitrogen by sidedressing—once when plants are about knee-high and again when they are about waist-high. Ammonium nitrate is good for sidedressing at the rate of one pound of fertilizer per 100 feet of row.

Corn ear worm generally is a problem in late-planted sweet corn. Roberts suggests watching closely at silking time and spraying with Sevin just when the silks start showing. Follow directions on the container.

Special Reminder

We wish to thank everyone who has contributed to the Mareburg Cemetery fund for the fencing. We still have not reached our goal. However, we hope to have part of the fence done by Memorial Day. Please if you haven't yet sent your donations try to do so soon. Make checks payable to Mareburg Cemetery Fencing Fund. We are anxious to begin work on the fence. We will have a complete financial report published by the end of May along with the names of those who gave. Thank you, Lloyd Cash, Jones O. Hamm, and Ben C. for the police cruiser. Super-Test was the successful bidder at $9.9 for low lead gasoline and .80c for premium. Bobby Anglin of Mt. Vernon also bid at .87-9c for low lead.

Three bids were received for materials to fence the city's parking lot adjacent to Bob Jasper's feed mill. Montgomery Ward was the low bidder at $2,280. Sears bid $3,420.43 and Cumberland Fence Co. of Science Hill bid $2,340. The city maintenance crew will install the fencing when materials are received.

Local businessmen have been solicited for financial help in purchasing the fencing material.

The possibility of paving the lot was also mentioned. Two inch blacktop over the entire lot is expected to cost approximately $4,800.

Two residents of Cedar Heights Subdivision were inquiring, for the second time, about a water line to their homes. 16-18 hundred feet of line will be needed to hook the homes into a main.

Residents are hesitant to invest the large amount of money needed for the project and city equipment cannot be used outside the city limits, so no solution was reached.

Another group was before the council to discuss the possibility of extending the city limits further south to Ernie Tolle's store. Residents in the area will be canvassed to get their opinions on the matter before the next meeting.

Mt. Vernon Fire Chief John Cox requested that two men from the local fire department be sent to a state fire school June 6, 7 and 8. The state will pay for one man to attend and the city agreed to pay for the additional man.

Rev. Harvey Pensol requested police protection for the playground this summer. He was assured that city police would patrol the area regularly from 7 p.m. until closing. In addition, most police officers are on ball teams and will be participating in the activities there.

Police officer Joe Howard was made a permanent employee of the police department since his 90-day probation period had expired. Other city employees, specifically the city maintenance crew, were granted 15% pay increases.

The city also decided to dispose of the old police cruiser. Sealed bids will be received by the city for the car.

Fiscal Court Sets County Officials Salaries

By: Roger Coldiron

Kentucky's new judicial system which will be instituted January 1, 1978, caused additional problems for the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court at a called meeting April 28, when they set salaries for the next year.

The court was not sure where funds to pay the county attorney were going to come from. In the past he has been paid in part from county funds and in part from the state. Under the new system, his salary will come entirely from the county or the state.

The new statutory limit for the County Court Clerk, Sheriff, Jailor, and County Attorney is $17,576.64. According to Co. Court Clerk, Irene Bales, last year's limit was $16,788.80. The new limit represents an $800 per year cost-of-living raise.

The county court clerk receives $500 per year from county funds. The rest of that salary is made up from fees collected in the office up to the $17,576 limit. The sheriff receives a $1,200 per year salary from the county. The sheriff's salary too is made up mostly of collected fees. Rockcastle County's jailer is paid entirely from collected fees up to the same statutory limit.

The county court clerk and the sheriff were given permission to pay their deputies on a more competitive basis at the meeting. Sheriff's deputies can be paid twice what they have been in the past. Potential salaries for deputies was raised from $5,000 to $10,000 per deputy per year. The county court clerk was allocated $24,000 for deputy hire. The past limit for deputy clerk hire was $14,000.

An attempt was made to lower the magistrate salaries. One magistrate suggested that their salary be lowered to $200 per month. The court decided, however, to keep magistrates salaries the same. They will be paid $300 per month.

The county judge received a slight cut in his overall salary. Last year the judge received a salary of approximately $8,000 plus fees he collected in county court. The total amounted to something over $14,000. Next year the county judge executive will receive a salary of $12,000 but will no longer be collecting any fees.

The county treasurer received a $10 per month raise. The treasurer will be paid $225 per month next year. The court house janitor's salary was set at $900 per month.

Home Health, Public Health Department, Rockcastle County Hospital, Soldiers Nursing Home, Senior Citizen Program, Christian Appalachian Project/Our Lady of Mt. Spring Intercession

An extension class for 3 hours graduate credit will be offered in Rockcastle County during this spring intercession. Dr. Robert J. Miller, EKI Humanistic Teaching. Registration will be Monday night, May 16, at 6:30 p.m. at the Mt. Vernon Elementary School.

At Monday's meeting, Wayne and Gina Lee Krav, who operate the bed dock facilities, came to request once again that the lake be opened to power boats on May 27th. Mr. and Mrs. King wanted to open the facilities before Labor Day because of increased tourism during that holiday week end. They expressed concern that the June 10 - 10 season have no access to their lake. attractive to many vacationers and said that tourists, who might stop in Rockcastle County, would possibly pass us up if the lake were unavailable to attract them and their revenue.

After a short discussion, a motion was made to amend City Ordinance 318, which governs operation of internal combustion engines on the lake. Operation of power boats can now begin on May 27. The season will still be over on September 10th, which is the same date as is now in the ordinance.

Hysinger Hollow was also discussed briefly by Council members and concern was expressed for property owners who do not have access to their lake. No solution to the problem was found at Monday night's meeting.

The meeting also included a public hearing on the proposed widening of the city will receive for the next quarter.

Suggested uses for the funds included: reimbursement of Mt. Vernon Water Works for construction of the firehouse, a sewage system for Owens Subdivision, investment in public safety, particularly in the area of traffic, a new police cruiser and additional police supplies or a new fire truck for the Mt. Vernon Fire Dept.

Still discussing money, Mt. Vernon's Community Development Block Grant was brought up and it was learned that the city clerk and mayor had been informed that Mt. Vernon has been awarded $26,000. While the office of Kentucky Senators Wendell Ford and Dee Huddleston had sent out news releases stating that the city had been awarded $76,000, it was found that the total amount the city would receive was $26,000 for purchase of an elderly housing site on the corner of Main and Richmond Streets in Mt. Vernon.

The city's application for money for renovation of the Owens Subdivision sewer system was denied by HUD.

Several citizens who live on Terry Street in Owens Subdivision were present at the meeting requesting some action on their sewer problem. The Council voted to get an engineer's estimate to see how much repair and renovation of the system would cost. The Council could not promise further action because of limited funds.

The city did promise one street light to Carl Renner who lives on Terry Street. An additional light has been installed at the rear of The Bank of Mt. Vernon.

Two bids were received and opened during the meeting. The first was for gas

Kentucky's largest city is electing a mayor this year, but few people in Louisville seem to care.

Louisville newspaper reporters are calling the Democratic mayoral primary a "back page" campaign. The glare of television lights is conspicuously absent when the candidates address civic groups or hold "press conferences."

No new issues have emerged in the race for city hall this spring. The primary simply boils down to a race between the old-line Democrats in Louisville and the new faction of the party controlled by Mayor Harvey Sloane.

The regular Democrats are represented in the primary by Louisville Alderman William B. Stansbury. Alderman President Creighton Mershon is Sloan's protegee.

How to run the Louisville Police Department is a familiar campaign topic and it's the only issue to get any attention this year. Stansbury wants to fire the present police chief and city safety director. Mershon is defending the administration's record. Sloane, by the way, fired the police chief when he became mayor four years ago. (Mayors in Louisville cannot succeed their selves).

Stansbury's camp has been accusing Mershon of playing dirty politics. Stansbury radio advertisements point out that Stansbury will not sling mud, but will continue to address the issues. The ads never mention exactly what issues Stansbury is addressing.

Stansbury's campaign, even without the issues, has been a visible and sickly produced effort. His television spots are well done. It's difficult to find a TARC bus without a Stansbury sign on the side.

Mershon's technique is much different. Some radio and TV advertising, but mostly direct mail aimed at the people who traditionally vote in the primary. Mershon has been working hard in the affluent East end where the primary turnout is generally highest.

With two different campaign styles, it's difficult to gauge which candidate has the advantage as election day nears. Mershon is using the tactic Sloane employed in 1978 when he stunned the Democratic power structure by whalloping Alderman Carroll Wilton in the primary. Even on election day, reporters in Louisville generally felt that Sloane had little or no chance of defeating Wilton.

In a close race like this, often the endorsements a candidate receives are enough to make the difference between winning and losing. Stansbury is winning in the number of pats on the back from influential politicians. While the governor's office has, for the most part, stayed out of Stansbury's campaign, Lieutenant Governor Thelma Stovall hasn't. Stovall has endorsed Stansbury. Her endorsement will also bring Stansbury an unknown amount of labor support. He has already been endorsed by the FOP.

Mershon has the backing of Congressman Romano Mazzoli. For all practical purpose, there is no Republican primary. Russ Maple, an insurance man, has opposition only from perennial candidate Thomas Klein.

To The Citizens of The 5th District

My fellow citizens, friends and neighbors in Rockcastle County and especially in the 5th District which includes East Livingston, East Mt. Vernon and our Orlando precinct.

This is Ernest Mason, your Magistrate of our respective 5th District.

As this election year comes not to a close or an end, but to a new beginning of a four-year term of newly elected officials, I want to say that I am not seeking to be re-elected to this office against anyone - although there are four other respective candidates for this office.

As I have said before, and as I have proven to you for the past three and one-half years, I am for a better road program for our 5th District.

Let us also not forget our family cemetery roads which were my major promise and pledge four years ago. This ladies and gentlemen, I have improved.

Let us not forget the sick and those who need and will have ambulance service at all times throughout Rockcastle County.

I am for the achievement and the progress of any program for all our citizens of Rockcastle County - young and elderly alike.

My friends and neighbors, you know my qualifications and my performance for the past three and one-half years as your magistrate. I feel deeply in my heart that I can and that I will continue to carry out these pledges that I have made to you.

Most of you have encouraged me to seek re-election for this most important office, to continue to work with the Fiscal Court and the people involved in spending our money for the best benefit for all our citizens of Rockcastle County.

In conclusion, I humbly ask for your vote and for your support to re-elect me to be your magistrate for the next four years.

THANK YOU VERY MUCH

Your Friend,

Ernest Mason

County Judge Executive

My campaign slogan has been a Progressive County With Management. To progress, you must have leadership. To have leadership, you must have Management. To have Management, you must have Cooperation. To have Cooperation, you must have the Ability to understand the issues before the County.

To support the above campaign slogan, on which I have based this campaign, I am now asking you, the good citizens and voters, to review the records of my opponents who have previously held county offices and then decide who should be your next County Judge Executive.

Rockcastle County can have great progress in the next four years with strong leadership, close cooperation with the fiscal court and county leaders and, above all, sound management and solid programs. The utilization of all the state and federal funds that are available demands that we, the citizens of this fine county, have the best possible and carefully considered ideas of all the people before implementation of any progressive programs. I am the best qualified candidate in this campaign for this most important job in our county government.

Senior Citizen's News & Comments

By Charles Barr

no children of her own. She likes other people's little girls and boys. A grandfather is a man grandmother. He goes for walks with the boys and they talk about fishing and stuff like that.

Grandmothers don't have to do anything except to be there. They're old so they shouldn't play hard or run. It is enough if they drive us to the market where the pretend horse is, and have a lot of dimes ready. Or if they take us for walks, they should slow down past things like pretty leaves and caterpillars. They should never say "Hurry up."

Usually grandmothers are fat, but not too fat to tie your shoes. They wear glasses and funny underwear. They can take their teeth and gums off.

Grandmothers don't have to be smart, only answer questions like, "Why isn't God married?" and "How come dogs chase cats?"

Grandmothers don't talk baby talk like visitors do, because it is hard to understand. When they read to us, they don't skip, or mind if it is the same story over again.

Everybody should try to have a grandmother, especially if you don't have television, because they are the only grown-ups who have time."

Prayer to Live in the Present

God,
I spend so much time reliving yesterday or anticipating tomorrow that I lose sight of the time that is really mine - the present. Remind me that the past - with its successes and failures - is over. I can make amends where I have hurt others or let them down.

The Gospel Couriers

But I can't undo what has been done. The future is yet to be and eagerness or apprehension will not hasten it - or postpone it. You give me today, one minute at a time.

That's all I have - all I ever will. Give me the faith that knows that each moment contains exactly what is best for me. Give me the hope that trusts You enough to forget past sins and future trials. Give me the love that makes each minute of life an anticipation of eternity with You. Amen.

In Memory of Our Mom Elizabeth Broughton

Dear Mom,
I used to come to see you on Mother's Day, now I must wait for an appointed time. Seems I can hear you as you used to sing, "It Won't Be Long, It May Be Soon." I know you are living in the Sunshine of God's love with all your loved ones there.

Your Girl,
Pauline Carmichael

I feel like making this a personal dedication to the many older mothers who it has been my pleasure to meet and share both the good, bad, hope and assurance of a better life ahead where there will be no sorrow, no tears, no fussing, no fears, no aches, no pain, no cripples, no shame.

You can't light a candle
To show others the way
Without feeling the warmth
Of that bright little ray.

And you can't give a rose
Without part of its fragrance
Remaining with you.

VOTE GREGORY FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE

Realizing that my opponent has been seriously ill and has had to undergo lengthy hospitalization, I have been deliberately quiet about some issues. I have been reliably informed that he is now released from the hospital and I wish him recovery without further complications.

The time has now come to address ourselves to the issues that are important to the citizens and taxpayers of this district.

I have, in my possession, a form letter which was mailed to an individual using postage paid for by the State of Kentucky. The letter is from my opponent and it alleges things that he states he has worked for and asks for support for him. This would be fine for him to do were it not for the taxpayer having to pay the bill for his postage.

Recently, I went to Frankfort to try to find out who paid for the postage, stationery, mailing labels and envelopes used in this letter since the letter contains the same postage meter number as other state government letters. The people in charge of accounting for postage used in state government told me that an individual absolutely was not permitted to use state postage for personal or political use, only for official state business. My opponent has used the state postage for this form letter and only he knows how many other letters and how much he has cost the taxpayers by this use of state funds.

My campaign finances are being paid for out of my pocket, with a few contributions from my friends. I do not have the resources of the state treasury to pay for my postage.

I will continue to openly put ads in all the papers of my district and not use form letters to make promises. Remember, that money in the state treasury came out of your pocket. Did you get your letter? You should have, you paid for it.

Master Farm Homemakers Named At KEHA Meeting

Anna Kalb of Mason County and Imogene Linkins of Laureate County shared the spotlight Thursday night, May 12, at UK when they were named Kentucky Master Farm Homemakers for 1976. It happened during the 3-day annual meeting of the Kentucky Extension Homemakers Association (KEHA), attended by approximately 1000 Kentucky women from both rural and urban communities.

The Kalb and Linkins families were also guest of honor at the Master Farm Homemakers Guild dinner, held a few hours earlier and attended the former winners of the title and other special guests.

This honor is an award of excellence as a farm wife and mother, and also as a woman whose influence is felt in the community. It is jointly sponsored each year by KEHA, the Guild, and the UK Cooperative Extension Service.

Mrs. Roy Linkins

Years ago, when Roy Linkins married his 15-year-old sweetheart and took her to live in a two-room house on a 50-acre farm near London, her father said, "You stole the best worker I've got!"

Imogene can set tobacco, deliver a calf, milk a cow, drive a tractor, disburse cattle, cut firewood, raise a home garden, and do about every other farm chore there is.

She loves it all, saying she was cut out to be a farm girl. "I suppose if my housework got done by itself, I'd just work out."

Soon it will be tobacco-setting time, about 9 acres of it, and then, she said, "That's all we'll do." Not quite. She will also be indoors long enough to put down three hearty meals a day for from six to eight extra farm and home hands.

When vegetables ripen in her big home garden, she'll be canning and freezing the produce. And when they kill a steer, she will help route it into smokehouse or freezer.

In addition, she keeps the farm records, helps get in the firewood, keep a clean, neat house, and makes all her own clothes. She says she wouldn't even know the price of clothing in the stores. She sews up shirts, jackets and pants for Roy, too. She turned out six quilt tops this winter, giving three of them away for wedding presents.

She teaches piano one night a week, and takes in sewing, too, mostly because she has a hard time turning people down.

Their son James is 23 now, has been married for 2 years, and lives in London with their daughter-in-law Diane. During his growing-up years he had plenty of companionship—five foster sons were also a part of the family for periods of from 18 months to six years. They still keep in touch and come back to visit.

All six boys had farm chores and field work to do, and they shared in the profits at market and harvest times. Once when one of them tired of milking and said he wouldn't do it anymore, Roy and Imogene said, "Okay, but then you don't get to drink milk, either." After several days, he came back to milking.

When you ask her how she works, she gets done, Imogene points with pride to the efficient basement workroom she planned when they built their present red brick house almost 14 years ago in their 22-acre beef cattle and tobacco farm 13 miles north of London.

There she has a complete second kitchen, her freezer, food preservation equipment, sewing center. This winter they added an inexpensive wood-burning stove, cut their own firewood, kept cozy warm, and saved enough over the regular winter fuel bill to run a tractor.

Both she and Roy are active in their community: Baptist Church and other community organizations. She is president of her local Extension Homemakers club. She feels the latter has helped her improve "an awful lot of things in homemaking and in learning to use my time better."

County home agent Deborah Murray says Imogene is an inspiration to others because she always manages to make time for a club or community project.

"I think it pays to be busy," Imogene says. "I'll just tackle anything."

When friends talked his wife into entering the Master Farm Home-maker competition, Roy "just told everybody, he was so proud. It was like I was running for governor...and I'll try to live up to this honor," she says. "It might make me a better homemaker."

"Well, Roy says happily, "she's a big shot and I'm living with her!" And then, with tears close to the surface, he adds, "She certainly has made a good home for me."

Mrs. William Kalb

Anna Kalb, of Rt. 3, Maysville, has a serenity of spirit that helps smooth out the long, hectic, bone-weary days that often come round on the farm. Spell out part of her philosophy, and it's this: "Housekeeping can wait, but homemaking can't."

She says that when it comes to farming, money isn't a consideration, "because you just don't make that much. Other values are much more important... like to look out on the hill and see your husband nearby, even if he's not within speaking distance. And there's no place like the country for raising children." They have three—Marla, 19, Kelly, 17 and Kent, 14.

Husband Bill echoes her sentiments. "Farming is a struggle, and we have considered leaving it."

To add income, he drove a bulldozer for awhile. "But I quit fooling with dozers. You have to be here to show kids how to do things, and to do things with them."

They grew up on Mason County farms just 8 miles apart. "My knight in shining armor just came from over the hill," she says, not from so far away place as she had expected.

"I lived in one house all my life until I married and I'll probably live in this house till I die."

In 1956, Bill brought his bride to the house he had lived in since he was 9 years old. He belonged to his paternal grandmother, who died the year they married. His mother moved to Maysville and he bought the house and farm from the estate.

Original house was a log cabin, but several rooms were added over before Bill lived in it. He took over running the farm at 18 when his father had a stroke. In 1951 he added plumbing. And in 1970, with Anna's carefully-worked-out plans in hand, Bill began the remodeling job that resulted in the comfortable, charming modern house as it is today.

He hired a carpenter to help him and took off 9 months from farming. Anna did all the painting and papering, and neighbors came in and stripped with tobacco that year.

The children remember how they moved the kitchen three times in the process and lived in the basement for several months. One day a tornado took out houses and barns nearby, but they didn't even know it was happening.

When this bitter winter came, no pipes froze in their well-insulated remodeled house and they kept warm. With family farms supposedly on their way out, it is reassuring to see people like the Kalbs still pursuing that way of life. Marla, a music major at Morehead State University and Kelly is counting on Kent to keep the family farm in operation. They want it always to be there to come back to.

The Kalbs spread out the work so everyone does his or her share. The men concentrate on the outside work, and the women handle most of the household tasks. The home garden is a going project. Bill plows, Mom and the kids plant, Marla is the prize weeder and Kent has the green thumb that makes it all grow.

Tobacco is the main money crop, 15,000 pounds of it, and the whole family gets out and sets tobacco every spring.

Anna points to her basement food-preservation center as a big help at canning and freezing time. It gives her a real lift to be able to leave "the wholemess" for a while when she goes upstairs to her neat kitchen to prepare a meal.

Currently secretary of her Mt.

Gilead Homemakers Club, she says she learns something new from county home agent Lillian Rice at each meeting. She is never sorry she took time out from a busy schedule to go.

Active in the local Soil Conservation Service and Southern States Cooperative ladies committees, she is also a member of hand parents, choral parents, and is 4-H leader.

She teaches Sunday School and is assistant organist at the Mill Creek Christian Church. Bill is also active in community affairs, including being a volunteer fireman.

Her children inherited her musical talents and presented a short instrumental program during the KEHA meeting in Lexington Thursday night. Active in 4-H, often the recipients of special awards and trips, all three now bask in their mother's reflected glory.

Marla says, "she deserves to get some recognition for all the help she's always given us in everything we do!"

I Know: I Did It

Since announcing my candidacy for County Judge Executive, I have made an effort to reach the people of this county. Those I have not contacted I plan to reach you by mail, air, or visits. The roads have become dangerous, as the candidates are as bees driven from their hives - going helter skelter and promising us the sky. The people in the Courthouse want to stay, the one's that have been there want back in. ELECT ME the next County Judge and we the people will find out why.

The Concerned Citizens are going to the people, carrying the truth, and with a deep conviction that all people should and will share in an open door policy of government. This I pledge to do. I am convinced that the County Judge Executive and the five magistrates you elect will assume awesome responsibilities. I have faith that, you the voters, will choose wisely. I have the platform, I have the program. No additional taxes will be thrown upon the people. My opponents are spreading the Democrat Itch and on Election Day, we will give them four years without pay to scratch and lay in the hay. Rockcastle County is the gateway to the mountains and the bluegrass. It is with this thought in mind that, we the people, will open this gate for tourists and factories to see and ask them to stay.

I will work with the Board of Education to expand the courses offered in the Vocational School, to cover a teaching unit in Plumbing, heating, air conditioning, carpentry and furniture manufacturing. Complete funding is now available. They must act today, tomorrow may be too late. (whatever my outcome) And this will not cost the taxpayer one thin dime. We have a relatively new courthouse, it is falling apart. I will improve this facility and make it more presentable to the people. After all, we are paying for it - It's ours. I will work with the magistrates and the people of Rockcastle County to develop and maintain a sanitary landfill and it's location will not be on the headwaters of our fine city-owned lake. Hiking Trails in Kentucky

A growing interest in hiking has put a new emphasis on Kentucky hiking trails. There are 2,251 mile sof trails in Daniel Boone National Forest alone. These trails present a wide choice of recreational opportunities in the Kentucky outdoors. But, like most everything else that has considerable use, the trails should be properly used and protected against destruction of nature's natural beauty. Hikers must have an appreciation of trailside ecology must protect nature against the inroads of ecological vandalism. Most hikers are true lovers of nature and feel a responsibility to the protection of the ecology.

Fortunately, Kentucky trails can be enjoyed the year around - but right now we are going into a period that can introduce the "beginning hiker" into one of the most beautiful seasons in nature.

A little preparation for any hiking adventure is a virtual must - and will lead to greater enjoyment. For one thing, the hiker should wear clothing appropriate to the weather, relatively snug free and loose fitting, but comfortable. Boots should be worn and should be sturdy and old enough to be past the "break-in" state so they will also be comfortable. And they should be appropriate to the terrain and the type of trail walking, hiking or climbing you expect.

Wear head gear that would help prevent injury from limbs and insulate you a little from bothersome flying insects.

A hiker should also carry a pack for supplies, the size of the pack depending on the length of the hike. But even on the shortest casual walk or hike, a person should have with him whatever he might need.

It's always a good idea to hike with a partner, or at least let someone know where you are going, or where you'll be, if you plan to hike alone. One should keep first trips of the season relatively short - the same advice being aimed at persons not used to hiking. If you expect to be out several hours, or all day, carry a high energy snack with you. Foods such as raisins, cheese and crackers or chocolate are recommended, since they are light and don't take up much space. A Snack may be very useful in maintaining body vitality and keep a person from suffering hypothermia. Carrying a canteen or other unbreakable container of water is always a good idea also.

Finally, be good to the out-of-doors, remembering the importance of keeping an ecologically balance in nature and not to disrupt that balance by littering and abuse.

TIPS ON TRANSPLANTING TOBACCO

Plant size determines the best time to transplant tobacco says J.H. Smiley UK extension tobacco specialist. He recommends transplanting when plants are 6 to 10-inches tall, with a stalk diameter at least the size of pencil.

Plants usually reach this size between May 15 and June 10 and are ready for transplanting over a period of 7 to 10 days. If bad weather makes transplanting impossible when plants are the right size, they can be successfully stored for several days. Plants to be stored for delayed

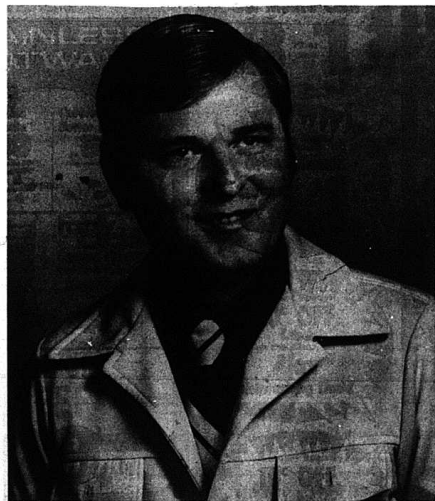

MOST IMPROVED BOWLERS in the league were David Eaton and Janice Miller. Mr. Eaton improved his average, from transplanting should be pulled from the bed when they are dry, wrapped snugly in burlap or other porous material such as feed bags and kept under cover in an upright position with the roots down. Smiley recommends placing bundles on moist soil or sand to prevent roots from drying out. Leave space between bundles for air circulation. Examine plants daily for signs of rot, says Smiley. Tobacco plants should not be watered while in storage.

To The Voters And Citizens Of Rockcastle County

In campaigning for the office of Sheriff in the upcoming election, I have been encouraged with the support you have given me and with the constructive conversations I have had with many of you.

I feel that to be a good public servant, it is necessary to understand the needs and wants of our citizens.

As I have expressed before, I do not have a lot of promises to make. I wish I could promise that I will stop all crime in our county and that none of you will ever be robbed again, I could make a long list of needs on which I am sure we would all agree. But, my friends, we must be realistic about this - our resources are limited. With proper management of available money however, there is a lot that can be done and I pledge hard work and sound, honest, management in carrying out the duties of sheriff.

To be effective in fighting crime, arresting of lawbreakers is only one step. We must also devote our attention toward the other steps. We must work with those persons responsible for sentencing and carrying our sentences of convicted persons. Together, we can insure that we can be proud of our county as a safe and desirable place to live.

If I am elected as your Republican Candidate, I will say, as I have said before, I will run the Sheriff's Office with Honest an Integrity. I will do my best to make our citizens proud of our Sheriff's Department. To make this possible, I am depending on you and your vote.

Kentucky Afield

A farm pond can offer many hours of pleasant "backyard" fishing, but it takes some attention to make sure that the pond remains a good fish producer. The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources offer free stocking of bass, bluegill and channel catfish as well as technical advice and assistance to pond owners.

Although the deadline for stocking applications is October 1, now is a good time to start working on getting fish in your pond, says Pete Pfeiffer, assistant director of the fisheries division for the department.

For one thing, most folks are thinking about fishing now and are more likely to remember that their ponds need some attention. In September, most outdoorsmen are getting ready for hunting seasons and may forget about that pond until after the deadline has passed.

Previously stocked ponds which offer poor fishing may need extensive and time-consuming work before they can be restocked, Pfeiffer says. So it's a good idea to get in touch with the local conservation officer now to see what work your pond needs before it can be restocked this fall.

The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources is happy to offer assistance to pond owners and to make recommendations about pond fertilization, weed and algae control or how to restore or maintain the proper balance between bass and bluegill in the pond.

If you are catching only small bluegill and no bass, chances are your pond is out of balance, Pfeiffer says. Often the only solution, particularly for a pond for one-half acre or less, is to completely renovate the pond by removing all the existing fish and starting over.

If your pond does have a good balance between bass and bluegill populations, it is important to catch enough bluegill to keep it that way. Pfeiffer recommends that five to seven pounds of bluegill be harvested for each pound of bass.

This means that for every 13-inch bass removed from the pond, between 50 and 75 five-inch bluegill should also be caught. If this ratio is not maintained, the bluegill will often overpopulate and become stunted because of insufficient food.

The man to see for stocking applications or about pond problems is the conservation officer in your county. He can answer your questions himself, or he may request that a fishery biologist visit your pond for further investigation.

If you don't know your conservation officer, call the county court clerk or the sheriff's office and ask for his name and phone number.

One final note—having your pond stocked by the Department of Fish and Wildlife does not obligate you to open the pond for public fishing or in any other way interfere with your right to control access to your land. As a pond owner, you may also place more restrictive size and creel limits on your pond than those in force on public waters.

To the Voters of Rockcastle County

Before entering this race, my wife, Glenda, and I agreed that all prisoners will be fed wholesome food from our table. This does not include chicken noodle soup.

Visitors will always be welcome to visit prisoners while they are in my care and preachers will always be welcome to visit and talk with prisoners.

Privacy will be made possible among visitors and prisoners by enforcing the rule of "No Loafing in the County Jail Parlor." This I will enforce, if elected, and it certainly needs to be done. I will also keep a clean jail at all times and each prisoner will be allowed to bathe on a regular basis.

I will work fairly and honestly with county law enforcement officials in having and keeping a clean and decent jail that all citizens can be proud of.

No prisoner will be whipped or threatened in the county jail.

If you are concerned about the safety and welfare of persons lodged in the county jail, then pull level number 4 on May 24th and Vote for Carl Kirby for Rockcastle County Jailer.

THANK YOU,

Carl Kirby

County Judge
Executive

I would like to take this opportunity to tell you about some of my accomplishments while serving as Magistrate of the First District.

- Helped work for and built the Rockcastle County Hospital.
- Helped work for and build a new courthouse.
- Worked to get the Streets on Fairground Hill blacktopped.
- Reconstructed and blacktopped Town Branch Road.
- Reconstructed and Graveled Maretburg Road.
- Reconstructed and Graveled the Boston Daughtery Road from Hwy. 150 to Freedom.
- Reconstructed Cove Branch from Brush Creek Road to Cove School House and built a bridge on this road.
- Reconstructed and blacktopped Hummel Road and Buckeye Road.
- Assisted and built East Fork Road from Ott Kirby to Hense Renners.
- Reconstructed Sand Springs Road from Ernest Bullocks to Lloyd Robbins.
- And, while with the Kentucky Department of Highways, helped reconstruct Copper Creek and Negro Creek Roads.
- Reconstructed and blacktopped Lambert Road.
- Reconstructed and blacktopped from U.S. 25 at Calloway to Sand Hill.
- Helped build the Sand Hill Road.

The people that I served as Magistrate in the First District know that I did a good job, to the best of my ability. This is what I plan to do if elected as your County Judge Executive. There are many areas of the county that need to be improved upon.

Crime in our county is raging out of control - this is one of our most serious problems. I plan to back the State Police, Sheriff and other law enforcement officials and to work in cooperation with the Trial Commissioner in trying to clean up our county.

This is a crucial time in our county - we need industry here and I plan to continue to work to get industry into our county. We need jobs for our people, especially for the young people, as more young people are entering the job market everyday.

Next week, I will discuss some other things that I am for.

To mother you can turn.
Many sleepless hours you've caused her.
When you were cross or ill,
Many a tear she's shed for you,
Tho' grown, you cause them still.
So everytime you leave her,
Whether you come or go,
Give her a kind word or kiss,
It's what she craves I know,
You can only have on mother,
None else can take her place,
You will know how much you need her,
When you miss her loving face,
Be careful how you answer her,
Choose every word you say,
Remember she is still your mother,
Tho' she's growing gray,
You can only have one mother.

You cannot tell how soon the time,
When death you two will part,
Many heartaches you've caused her,
While you were out in sin,
Many a prayer she's breathed for you,
That God would bring you in,
Let her know you love her dearly,
Cheer and comfort her each day,
You cannot find another mother,
When she has passed away,
When death has claimed her mortal body
And she's at rest beneath the sod,
Remember all her loving counsel,
And all the appeals for you,
She's made to God.
Sadly missed by daughters,
Mary Roberts and Vallie Burton

SHERIFF

As the election draws near, some people still ask about deputies. I agree that fulfilling the duties of the sheriff's office is more than a one-man job. I also feel that because a deputy sheriff is NOT an ELECTED official, and the sheriff is solely responsible for the reputation of his office, greater care must be taken in the selection of deputies.

Morality and the ability to cooperate with the public, which seems to have been overlooked by some of my opponents, are qualifications which I feel are more important than the number of relatives a deputy has.

If you only reason for voting for a particular candidate is because you are a friend or relative of that candidate's deputy, then think twice. Your vote might be WASTED. Once elected, the sheriff may dismiss any or all deputies at will.

You have my assurance than, when elected, I will have qualified personnel to help with every aspect of the duties of the office of the Sheriff of Rockcastle County.

THANKS FOR YOUR PATIENCE,

Sincerely,

Tender Beef With Less Aging Time

Aging beef for 48 hours at room temperature of 68 to 70 degrees Fahrenheit made steaks as tender as aging for 10 days at 38 degrees in research conducted by University of Kentucky meat scientists.

Meat processors who age beef now keep it at the cooler temperature for 5 days or longer. Shortening the time the beef is aged and doing it without refrigeration would reduce processing costs of supplying consumers with tender steaks.

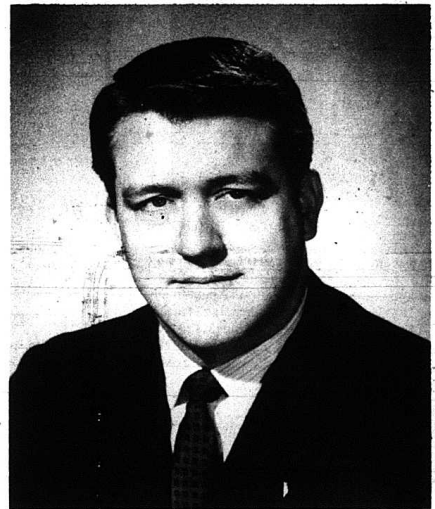

Higher-temperature aging could prove useful when mechanical or enzymatic tenderizing are impractical, or it could be used in combination with these other methods, say UK researchers G.J. Pierson and J.D. Fox. But before shifting to high-temperature aging, beef processors would have to consider microbiological problems that might be encountered and take measures to prevent spoilage. Until now research is done in this area, the experimental method of high-temperature aging won't be recommended, Fox emphasizes.

The possibility of making beef tender with less aging time is one practical result from basic research to more fully understand the tenderizing process and fundamental changes that take place. The UK scientists studied the relationship between acidity changes, connective tissue solubility and tenderness as affected by aging temperature and length of the aging period. The aging temperature affected the rate of acidity change but had no effect on tissue solubility.

"Ultimate goal of our continuing research program is to find a practical way to make beef more tender, than it can be made now—for example, make U.S. Good Grade beef as tender as U.S. Choice," says Fox.

That would increase the supply of tender beef available to consumers and reduce feedlot costs of beef producers. Cattle feeders can feed cattle to U.S. Good Grade with less grain than is required to make cattle grade U.S. Choice.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE VOTERS OF ROCKCASTLE COUNTY

(My letters are open to the public and paid for by me, not sent out individually and paid for by the State Treasury).

In 1976, two bills that made certain sales tax exemptions were before the legislature. One bill was to exempt from sales tax most everything that would be necessary in burials. The other bill was a specific exemption for tombstones and grave markers. The committee, on which my opponent serves, killed the bill that gave the complete coverage and made the law to read that only tombstones and grave markers were exempt. As you might have guessed, my opponent is in the tombstone and grave marker business.

This law is a direct help to him. His business is now, by law, removed from the burden of collecting sales tax for the state.

If my opponent is running on his record, let him explain this law. Why did his committee kill the bill that would have been a bigger help to everyone, yet they made a law that helps only my opponent's business.

Notice - Piney Grove Cemetery Lot Owners

If you own a cemetery lot or have relatives buried in Piney Grove Cemetery in Brodhead, the following is directed to you.

This notice is to let you know that the cost of mowing and ground care has greatly increased and very few donations have been received. Please check and see if you are doing your part on your lot or that of a relative whose immediate family is gone.

There is a simple solution to this problem-perpetual care. Just see Mr. R.C. Anderson at Citizens Bank and place perpetual on your lot. All lots sold now include perpetual care. Next best way is to leave money in your will for perpetual care. We now have $7,000 in this fund and our goal is $20,000 during the next ten years.

If you want to donate for this year's mowing, we need money now. See C.B. Bussell. He is the man that is getting the mowing done. Do your part and make it easy on everyone.

Bank of Mt. Vernon To Install The "Anytime Banker" Soon

The "Anytime Banker" is another new service that will be provided by The Bank of Mt. Vernon in the near future. This new service will provide 7 day a week, 24 hour a day service to the bank's customers who may avail themselves of several different transactions through the machine including withdrawals, deposits, loan payments, savings deposits, account transfers, etc.

The Mosler Telermatic is scheduled for installation in the bank's lobby in about 30 days, when renovation of the lobby is expected to be completed. It will be located where the present walk-up window is now located and customers will be able to enter the main doors of the bank, anytime of the day or night, and use the "Anytime Banker." When renovation is completed, the walk-up window will be located on the south side of the building.

To use the "Anytime Banker," an identification card will be necessary and these cards will be issued by the bank to its customers. Eventually, with these cards, you can transact business with similar machines located in banks in Lexington, Louisville and other cities under an "Interchange System." The simple procedure to use the "Anytime Banker" will be explained individually to customers after it is installed.

A Mosler Telermatic machine similar to this one will be installed by The Bank of Mt. Vernon. Theirs will be located in the vestibule of their lobby when renovation is complete.

National Metric Week is May 9-13

Imagine that you are stranded on a desert island. Indications are that it will be along time before you are rescued if ever. You need a means of measuring quantities and lengths, but you have no measuring cup, yardstick or scale. What method of measurement would you devise?

Many people, when faced with the described situation, develop systems in which basic measurements are given in multiples of 10. It's logical and it's simple.

The metric system is just as easy to understand, according to Lydia Wells Sledge, math consultant for the Kentucky Department of Education. It, too, is based on the decimal system, or multiples of 10, similar to our monetary system. During National Metric Week, May 9-13, every American is being encouraged to develop and maintain an awareness of the metric system and is urged to use the metric system where it applies to all phases of daily life. The metric system will simplify learning of measurements for children in the future. Learning that meters are the basic measurement of length will be much simpler for school children than learning the complicated relationships between inches, feet, yards, rods and miles.

The metric system won't drastically change our way of life. Housewives will buy a liter of milk, seamstresses will buy a meter of cloth, which is similar in measurement to a yard.

Metric units of measurements are already in use when photographic film is purchased or when medical prescriptions are filled. The Olympic games utilize the metric system of measurement.

The United States is in the fifth of a ten-year process of adopting the metric system of measurement. Why not use National Metric Week to increase your own knowledge of the metric system and prepare for the time when metrics are a daily part of our lives?

HOW HAVE YOUR TAX DOLLARS BEEN SPENT DURING THE LAST FOURTEEN YEARS THAT MY OPPONENT HAS BEEN REPRESENTATIVE? WHAT HAS ROCKCASTLE COUNTY RECEIVED IN RETURN FOR ITS TAX MONEY DURING ALL THESE YEARS?

Shouldn't you go to the polls to vote for a man who is here with you every day - a man who pays taxes here - a man who works for progress and improvement for Rockcastle County - a young man who has been raising cattle and tobacco for the last ten years and knows that the farmer is not going to make a decent living unless the government acts to protect the small farmer - a man who has three young children and is vitally interested in all children obtaining the best education possible - a man who has been raised in small business and knows that the business people are harrassed to death with red tape and taxes.

Make an honest comparison and go to the polls to vote your convictions.

CARTER

Candidate

County Judge Executive

Rockcastle Primary, May 24, 1977

This week - other accomplishments

Harry Sparks, a native of Rockcastle County, was Kentucky School Superintendent one term and I was County Judge that term. Mr. Sparks had promised us a school of some kind, high school or vocational. The state had federal grants for schools and other things at that time. Mr. Sparks got in touch with me and said we could get a vocational school if I would make application for it. I immediately made application, and the grant was approved.

I realized a vocational school would be a wonderful thing for our young men and women to learn and be taught some trade or branch for their livelihood in the future. This has proven to be true as so many young men and women are working at jobs after receiving their training at the vocational school. We have some of the best experts in the state training these students for whatever they desire to be in the future.

Next, I come to our school building revenue bonds and savings made for the citizens of Rockcastle County. The following is a true copy made June 5, 1970, by the Fiscal Court.

Rockcastle school building revenue bonds, dated November 1st, 1970. County of Rockcastle school building refunding revenue bonds of 1972 for the purpose of refunding as of November 1, 1980, all redeemable bonds of a series of $1,650,000.00 County of Rockcastle school building revenue bonds dated November 1, 1970 previously issued and outstanding providing for investment of the proceeds of the bonds herein authorized; a resolution and order of the Fiscal Court of Rockcastle County Kentucky authorizing the issuance of $1,490,000.00 County of Rockcastle school building refunding revenue bonds of 1972 for the purpose of refunding as of November 1, 1980, approving and authorizing the execution with the board of education of Rockcastle County Kentucky, of a certain amendatory and supplemental contract, lease and option, as requested by said board of education providing for a public sale of said bonds.

Same was approved by the court and is of record in the county clerk's office in order book 6, page 102. The above transaction was at a saving of $160,000.00 to taxpayers -- enough to pay the salary of the County Judge and each and every one of the magistrates for the next 5 years.

About this time, our county high school was under construction and I furnished 4 or 5 men to do the painting of the inside of the school building for 8 or 9 weeks without one penny of pay except for the paint. These men were solely under my control and say so by federal funds. This I thought was a great saving to the county taxpayers.

The rock was furnished in and around the school building by Kentucky Stone Company as a donation. Hewitt Jones, the then magistrate, hauled the rock or stone free, out of his road funds. Mr. Jones also bought and hauled the driveway rock out of his road fund. I thought he did a good job with a saving of taxpayers' money.

Our present court house was built under my administration, 1962-1965, and I can truthfully say if it hadn't been for me we would not have our present court house. We got it under a federal grant with the help of Judge Roscoe Tartar and John Sherman Cooper, our United States Senator.

Then, during my last term as County Judge, we built our present County Library which is said to be the best in the state for a rural county of our size. During this term, we set up the garbage collection system now in use, cut all county road right-of-ways, built 24 road bridges, of which I can name the location of each and every one. The largest is a concrete bridge over Roundstone Creek on the Cove Branch Road, another big one over Little Clear Creek on the Scaffold Cane - Fairview Road, also a big one over Wolf Creek Road. These were over roads that kept school buses and children from attending school -- not so now.

All of the above things were done without one penny of additional taxes to the taxpayers.

I have always strived to promote things that are a benefit to everybody concerned.

Plant Early For Best Tasting Sweet Corn

Sweet corn, when grown and handled properly, can be one of the most successful vegetables produced in home gardens.

For the best-tasting corn, plant early, says C.R. Roberts, UK extension horticulturist. There is more to it than the fact that early planting puts the first fresh sweet corn of the season on your family's table. Early planting corn is ready to eat before hot weather which causes loss of sweetness through the conversion of sugars to starch, explains Roberts. This process takes place less rapidly in the plant during cooler weather of early summer.

Your earliest planting should be made about the time of the average last frost date in your locality. Delay your main planting until a week or two after danger of frost is over.

Check with your county extension agent's office if you do not know the average last frost date.

Many varieties of sweet corn are well adapted to Kentucky growing conditions, says Roberts. They are grouped according to maturity early, mid season and late. Your sweet corn will be ready for harvest at different times if you plant some of all three maturities on the same date.

The earliest recommended variety is Northern Bell which takes about 74 days to be ready for eating. Mid-season varieties are Gold Cup and NK 199. Silver Queen is the latest recommended variety, maturing in 90 days.

Planting sweet corn in several short rows by site rather than in one long improves pollination and produces better filled ears, said Roberts. If you want to spread harvest over a long period of time, stagger plantings about two or three weeks apart or plant all your seed on the same day, using sweet corn varieties of different maturities.

About one fourth pound of seed will plant 100 feet of row. After the final thinning there should be one plant about every 12 inches in the row.

Sweet corn responds well to fertilization. As a general recommend

An Open Letter To The People of Rockcastle County

In last week's Mt. Vernon Signal, my opponent accused me of using state postage to mail a form letter to voters in Rockcastle County. I have never used state postage or facilities for political purposes.

My opponent maintains that he will not take advantage of my illness in this campaign. But, that is just what he tried to do by this accusation. What kind of man would do such a thing?

The people of Rockcastle County know me and my record. I am sorry that I have been unable to be with you recently. But hope to see all my friends within the next few weeks.

Unlike my opponent, I have never changed political parties. I am a life-long Republican and, unlike my opponent, I have never forgotten the people after election to public office. My door has always been open. I have never passed people without speaking.

I STAND ON MY RECORD.

VERY SINCERELY,

Rockcastle Recollections

By John Lair

Rockcastle County's biggest wholesale murder was committed by George Collett on the night of January 8, 1955, near Brodhead, Kentucky. Collett was proprietor of a questionable restaurant, or "joint," known as Blue Heaven. It was a small residence located just off Highway 150—a white weatherboarded building with a blue border around it, which accounted for its name.

The front part of the house had been converted into a large room used as a place of business. In addition to carrying on a bootlegging business, Collett was suspected of fencing stolen goods and various raids, some of which were successful, had been carried on at his place. Two victims of his final murderous rage were killed because their son, a highway patrolman, had taken part in such a raid.

Collett and his wife were frequently at outs and he laid the blame for this on the interference of her parents; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Helton. On the night in question she was with her parents in their home on Copper Creek when he decided to join them. Calling for two of her brothers, Howard and Carlo Helton, to come for him in an automobile, he had them stop the car and get out, telling them that he had something he wanted to give them for their kindness in coming for him. He promptly shot and killed Howard, but Carlo ran and made his escape.

Arriving at the home of his wife's parents, he called Mr. Helton outside and shot him to death, then went inside and killed Mrs. Helton, after which he killed his own wife, Stella Helton Collett and shot a sister-in-law Lona Helton Jackson. After this killing he walked to the nearby farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Bordes, parents of Patrolman Burgin Bordes, previously mentioned as having conducted a raid on the Blue Heaven establishment.

After killing the Bordes couple he went back to Blue Heaven and from there to Brodhead, where he ate a meal in a restaurant and went to Moberley's Tourist Camp, rented a cabin, went inside and shot himself to death. He left a written account of the tragedy, in which he stated that he killed his wife's parents because they had caused all the trouble between them, and the Bordes couple because he could not find their son to kill him. He said that he had fully made up his mind to kill himself, and killed his wife because he did not want to leave her behind. He did all the killings with a 30 caliber Luger pistol and a .45 caliber revolver. He left both weapons to George Payne, with the request that he keep them as long as he lived. They were later sold to collectors. He also left a hundred dollars in cash to pay somebody for writing up a newspaper account of the case. It is not known whether or not this was done.

Seven killings in one night, all by the same man, naturally stirred up quite a bit of excitement in a neighborhood the size of that surrounding Blue Heaven and there were many versions of the tragedy, agreeing in the most part with the facts as given here.

When the cabin in which he had taken refuge was located, it was surrounded by officers of the law, none of which seemed inclined to break in on him. Finally, Judge Charles C. Carter, county judge at the time, got one of Collett's brothers to go with him and they effected an entry. They found him on the bed, dead by his own hand.

All the Helton's killed in this affair are buried in one grave in a little family burying ground near the head of Renfro Valley.

April Was Deadly Month

On State's Highways

Summer-like driving conditions and a rash of multiple-fatality accidents have made April one of the worst months on Kentucky's highways in the last 16 years, according to Lt. Ernest Bivens of the Kentucky State Police.

Eighty-seven motorists were killed on Kentucky highways during April, compared to 71 in April 1976. Kentucky highway deaths for April average 78.

April's fatalities bring the total for the year to 240, compared to 238 this time last year.

Bivens said there were 12 multiple-fatality accidents during April, killing 26 people. He said this, combined with nice weather encouraging more people to drive brought about the fourth

Fly Control Around Dairy Barns

Despite having had one of the worst winters on record, the fly populations during the coming year will probably be of nearly the same magnitude as in past years, is the observation of Chris Christensen, UK extension entomologist.

Flies winter in the pupal stage, which is described as the "resting stage" in the fly's life cycle between the maggot and adult stage. "It's a sort of sedentary life stage where the fly just sits there and goes through a lot of transformations, chemically and biochemically but it doesn't move," Christensen said. Living as pupae in sheltered areas under decaying substances, he said probably every one of the flies came through the winter, unless they were found by field mice and other predators and eaten.

A vast majority of these flies wintered in and around barnyards, he said. Looking specifically at dairy barn areas, Christensen said, "barnyard fly control" was essential, in dairy worst fatality total for April since 1962.

This year began with some of the worst weather since the Kentucky State Police began keeping records. Bivens said drivers began driving more carefully.

"The first three months of this year were tremendous," Bivens said. He said comparatively few (41) motorists were killed in both January and February and 30 were killed in March.

"Then in summer-like weather set in and more people took to the roads and we saw 87 people killed during April," Bivens said. "People were just not driving as carefully as they did on the ice and snow. They go careless and wound up in accident-causing situations."

Even though this year's total is still below last year's, Bivens expressed concern for drivers to begin driving more attentively with the Memorial Day weekend coming up.

The record high for traffic fatalities in April came in 1969 when 106 people were killed on Kentucky highways. The record low came in 1963 when 52 people were killed.

operations where cleanliness is especially important.

The entomologist noted the two most pronounced fly pests in such areas are the house fly and the stable fly.

"Our main concern with the house fly is their disease transmittal potential," he said. "They have been proven to transmit at least two diseases, one of which is mastitis—a disease with which dairymen are quite concerned. The flies feed around the cow's teat opening to get the milk that's left and in so doing can transmit some of the mastitis organisms from one cow to another or from one teat to another. So this is one thing that brings great concern."

"House flies have also been proven to carry the pathogens or viruses that are associated with at least 20 human diseases, including polio, typhoid fever and a lot of other illnesses," Christensen said. "It's important that we keep these house flies controlled around the dairy barn, and in particular in the Grade A operations, because milk inspectors become very disturbed when they find a heavy fly population."

As for the stable fly, it is almost exact in appearance with the house fly, except that it has piercing, sucking mouth parts. Emphasizing the similarity in appearance, he observed that through the years people have predicted storms, saying, "There must be a storm coming because the house flies are biting." Actually he said this is the forte of the stable fly, which seem to develop a reaction when the barometric pressure goes down to "want to go out and get a blood meal—usually biting around the ankles of a person or an animal."

"They're very painful biters and heavy populations can cause a considerable amount of blood loss and considerable annoyance."

"Proof has been established that biting stable flies can cause some reduction in milk production from a cow."

If your cows are on a good plane of nutrition, this reduction will be less or maybe won't even show up, so it's important to feed your cows well to avoid stable fly problems.

The life cycle of both the house fly and the stable fly was described as being very short. Under optimum conditions the house fly can go through the egg stage to adulthood in seven days, while a stable fly has a life cycle of about three weeks.

Both breed in rotting or decaying organic matter and in manure especially. Manure in cow pens or manure that builds up around fence posts, that sort of thing are great places for these insects to breed. They also breed in rotting grass clippings and in one case stable flies were found breeding in rotting sea weed. Both species of flies will breed in just any kind of rotting organic matter.

"When we talk about control, we're talking about an integrated fly control program and must use all the tools

May 24, 1977

The day of election will soon be here and I know that all of you are planning to cast your vote for the candidates who you think are in the best interest of Rockcastle County. I plan to and I think that you should.

I believe that most of you realize by now that I am trying very hard to help get the things done that you, the people, have said that you wanted for our county. I am most thankful for the good spirit of cooperation that you have shown me and the fiscal court in such efforts. I think that you know what my attitude is toward such things as we have either begun or improved upon. These include: jobs, new ambulances and ambulance service, assistance for our older citizens, improved garbage service, a county park system, better roads and better markets for the produce from our hard-working farmers.

I believe that my record shows where my interests are and I don't feel that I have to rely upon a lot of last-issue rumors to spread about my opponents. I believe that our County's chief administrative officer should be above this. I urge you all to remember that once the election is over, we must continue to work together toward providing more and better opportunities for all of us. Due to the many responsibilities that I have as County Judge, I am sure that I will not get to talk to everyone, but I want you to know that I need and will appreciate your vote in the Republican Primary on Tuesday, May 24th.
