You didn't have to like mud - but it helped. The above photo was taken Saturday night at the Brothead Fair after a week's rain drenched the fairgrounds. This man simply removed his shoes and gave in to the mud (which was winning the battle anyway). The management tried hard with sawdust and various other remedies but Mother Nature had her own way. Some reports indicate that the fair's attendance was cut about in half by the miserable weather.

LOCAL 4-HERS TO EXHIBIT AT STATE FAIR

Some 33 Rockcastle County 4-Hers will be sending exhibits to the Kentucky State Fair in Louisville this year, according to Cheryl Witt, County Extension agent for home economics.

The state fair, an annual event, is slated for August 18 to 28 at the Fairgrounds in Louisville. The 4-Hers will take their exhibits to the fair, August 15, where they will be judged and then put on display from August 18 to 28.

A special "4-H Village" will be set up at the fair to display the various 4-H theme village will be open to the public for touring August 18 thru August 28 from 10:00 each morning to 10:00 each evening in the East Wing of Freedom Hall. An information booth in the village will be available for those visitors who want to know more about 4-H, or who would like help in finding a particular exhibit, she notes.

The Rockcastle County 4-Hers will be competing not only for honors, but also for prize money offered by the Kentucky State Fair Board. For the 4-Hers competing, the state fair is a culmination of a year's hard work in his project. It is a chance for him to get public recognition for his efforts in his projects or activities. And it gives him the opportunity to put his exhibit up against other exhibits from across the state to see just how well it stacks up in stiff competition.

Among the many projects the public in the past has found to be interesting are the entomology collections, exhibits of insects and the like, home furnishings exhibits, where 4-Hers show their skill in selecting or making home decorations; the clothing exhibits, where youngsters display what they have made or wear as a part of their project; and the photography section, in which 4-Hers exhibit photographs they have taken during their past year's work in the photography project.

Kids and their animals-staples of fairs everywhere-are not to be missed either. Exhibits of sheep, pigs, poultry, cattle, rabbits, horses and dogs will be at the fair for young and old alike to see first hand. A special attraction this year is planned in the 4-H village for August 27. From 1:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m., 4-Hers will demonstrate terrarium construction and will give tips on gardening. Also to be at the special demonstration will be the university of Kentucky Horticulturists who will be on hand to answer questions the audience might have concerning gardening.

These are only a few of the myriad of projects and activities 4-Hers will show at the state fair this year. Anyone wanting to see them all should be cautioned to allow plenty of time to tour the village and the livestock barns. There are so many different exhibits that one really can't see or appreciate all of them in a short time, Mrs. Witt says. And for the foot weary, benches in 4-H village will be available for a brief respite while touring the 4-H exhibits, she added.

Taking Over a GI Loan

VA loans are partially guaranteed by the Veterans Administration and hence, like FHA loans, involve less risk for the lenders than conventional loans and carry lower interest rates. Many low-interest VA loans have been made with little or no down payment which makes them real bargains to assume when buying a home financed in this manner.

A veteran can now normally transfer a GI loan with no strings attached if the VA approves the new owner's credit, and the new owner assumes the veteran's loan obligation. But there are legalities to observe and pitfalls to avoid. For example, shifting the debt to the new owner doesn't automatically erase the seller's responsibility for repayment of the loan in case of default. But this can be arranged with just a little extra effort. In these matters, it's wise to have the professional guidance of a Realtor.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at Ford Realty & Auction Co., Inc., Mt. Vernon. Phone 256-4545. We're here to help!

STRETCHING YOUR FOOD DOLLAR

Is it really worthwhile to do a lot of figuring and cost-comparing just to save a few pennies on a food item? Those pennies saved add up to a considerable sum over a period of time, according to UK Extension foods specialists. For example, cost studies show you can use inexpensive fruits and vegetables and spend only about $5 a week; or you can buy most costly and out-of-season items and spend more than $10 a week.

Of the 200 known species of oak, 75 are native to the United States.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the sisters of Mr. John F. Barron wish to express our deepest thanks and gratitude to those who expressed their sympathy during the recent death of our brother. Especially, we would like to thank the Cox Funeral Home, the pallbearers, the ones who sang the beautiful hymns.

Down On The Farm

BY ROY G. BROWN
VICE PRESIDENT
PUBLIC RELATIONS
CUMBERLAND PCA

Well, it is school time again. Seems only yesterday school was out for the summer. It certainly has been a short vacation for teachers and children because of the bad winter when school was out for so many days.

Our children should be grateful for the excellent school facilities they have today and the opportunities to get a good education that is so necessary in the business world today.

Many schools in our country are still hindered by the courts ruling that some pupils have to be hauled from one end of the city or county to the other end at an added cost to an already burdened taxpayer, to try to keep our educational system going. Also, the extra danger of their lives in hazardous driving and the extra fuel we must use in a world of energy shortages according to our president and the news media.

The forced busing is the worst thing to hit our education system and nations economy in many years and denies so many children a right to school in their own community where they live and have their friends and community clubs and activities.

When will our country leaders wake up and get back on a sound education system going for our children's benefit "Down on the Farm."

Kentucky Afield

By John Wilson

Have you ever had that feeling of enraged helplessness brought on by watching someone violate a fish and game law or commit an act of vandalism which will probably cause you to lose a favorite hunting spot to "Posted" signs? Or have you, as a sportsman or as a citizen concerned about wildlife conservation, ever wondered what you could do to help stop such illegal acts as deer poaching, livestock shooting or trespassing?

Of course, it's highly inadvisable (and sometimes downright dangerous) for a private citizen to confront a violator directly, but now there is a way for you to report quickly and accurately any game law violations which you witness.

The National Rifle Association of America has created a program called "Help Our Wildlife" (H.O.W.) and the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife has adopted a modified version of this plan along with fish and game agencies in many other states.

The basis of H.O.W. is encouraging citizens-particularly sportsmen and rural residents-to report promptly any and all game law violations or acts of vandalism which they might witness.

To make this reporting easier, the department of fish and wildlife will supply to anyone who requests them a number of violation report cards. These cards provide spaces for pertinent information which can lead to the arrest and conviction of those violating fish and wildlife regulations. The cards also contain the name, address and telephone number of the county conservation officer and are available from the local CO or they may be obtained by writing the Division of Public Relations, Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. Those requesting the cards from the Frankfort office of fish and wildlife will also receive the name and phone number of the conservation officer in their county.

All information submitted on the cards will be kept strictly confidential and the sender identified in any way.

Besides its value in helping conservation officers apprehend game law violators, the H.O.W. program should also serve as a deterrent, since it will both make people more aware of the problems of illegal hunting and will also provide an effective way to report violations.

The success of H.O.W. will depend largely upon the willingness of sportsmen and landowners to report violations.

Instead of the Jennifer Lynn Band it will be the "It's About Time" band playing for a dance at the Cedar Rapids Recreation Center Saturday night, August 20th. The dance, which will begin at 9 p.m., and continue until 1 a.m., will be preceded by a Social Hour from 8 to 9 p.m.

Admission will be $10 per couple in advance and $12 at the door. You may make reservations at the Pro Shop until August 15, 1977.

There will be a meeting of the Entertainment Committee and Ladies Auxiliary at the clubhouse Thursday night, August 25 at 7:30 p.m. All ladies are urged to attend.

REG YOUR PARDON

In last week's Signal, the outline under the Fain Furniture softball team incorrectly identified Shane Bullock as Shane Fain (the fact that my husband has a nephew by the name of Shane Fain and the boys played for Fain Furniture couldn't have had anything to do with that mix-up which was my personal foul-up for the week).

Also, the picture of the Pioneer Coal softball team on the front page was inadvertently turned backwards when it was stripped in - another one of my foul-ups.

Farm Ownership Loan

You may be eligible to obtain a farm loan from the Farmers Home Administration. These loans can be used by refinance, enlarge or improve family sized farms. Each farm ownership loan is tailored to the individual borrower's needs. The County Supervisor can help you decide the purposes for which you can afford to borrow and the amount of loan that will best meet your needs.

Borrowers are expected to meet as much of their credit needs from other long term lenders as they can afford, based, of course, on the other lender's terms and the farmer's repayment ability. FmHA then supplements the other available credit with a 5% loan with terms up to 40 years.

Eligibility for loans is established by a committee of three persons who know local farming and credit needs. To be eligible, one must be unable to meet his credit needs from other lending sources and must be farming, recently have farmed or have technical farm training and have the experience and management ability that indicates he will have a good chance to succeed. In addition, the applicant must be a citizen, be reliable, industrious and must rely on farm income to have a reasonable standard of living. Contrary to some rumors, these are not poverty type loans nor does the FmHA look over the borrower's shoulder every day.

You may apply for a FmHA farm loan to the Farmer's Home Administration Office in Stanford, Mr. Ronnie G. Caudill in the County Supervisor for Rockcastle County.

Grand Jury Raps Condition Of Garbage Containers

In a special report dated August 11, the Rockcastle County Grand Jury stated that "There is a shocking misuse of the garbage pickup containers by the public," referring to the county's garbage disposal system.

The special report is a supplement to the regular grand jury report filed the same date. The special report deals solely with criticism of the garbage collection points and abuse of the disposal service now operating.

The report states that "the garbage collection points are eyesores, possible sources of health hazards, and an embarrassment to Rockcastle County." The court recommended strict enforcement of state anti-littering laws and also recommended that a $50 reward be established for anyone whose testimony leads to the arrest and conviction of those who violate those laws.

The grand jury emphasized the fact that garbage containers are receptacles for "household garbage only and in plastic bags. They are not to be used for people to take broken furniture, bedspreads or other such trash."

It was also pointed out that there should be "strict adherence to the scheduled pick-up of the containers by the garbage contractor." The grand jury recommended an increased pick-up scheduled if it is deemed necessary.

In its regular report for July, the grand jury recommended the use of prisoners to clean up around the garbage containers. They also urged law enforcement officials to watch for violators of the anti-littering laws.

In the courthouse, the grand jury's major criticism was with the janitorial service. Floors, walls, stairways and restrooms were found to be generally dirty.

The glass in the front entrance of the courthouse is broken and repair was recommended. The report also noted a light fixture in the entrance hall that needs repair. There was graffiti found on the walls of the 1st floor restrooms and the water in them was not working. Covers for the first floor thermostats were missing and the report questions the possibility of finding new ones.

The electrical system in the jail has been presenting problems. Lighting in the cells was deemed insufficient. The report states that "lights in the main hall of cells short out from time to time and light fixtures smoke at times." Painting of the jail was recommended.

Painting and ceiling repair was recommended in the Health Department offices, the law offices and in the Sheriff's office. The jurors also recommended repair of the ceiling in the ASCS office.

In addition general cleaning and dusting was recommended throughout the courthouse.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR OBTAINING PERSONALIZED AUTO PLATES

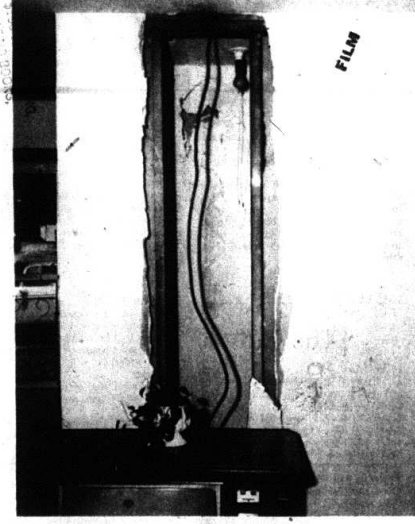

If an automobile owner wishes a personalized plate, he picks up an application at the County Clerk's Office. He fills out the application and mails it to the Division of Motor Vehicle Tax in Frankfort.

With the application he sends $25.00 in the form of a money order, certified check or cashier's check. Personal checks will not be accepted. This must be done on or before September 1, 1976.

Later in the year, the owner will get a letter from the Department of Transportation noting that his plate, as ordered will be at the County Clerk's Office when he goes to renew his registration for next year.

The auto owner then pays another $12.50, the regular fee, and will be issued

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Burton in Mt. Vernon was heavily damaged early Friday morning when a bolt of lightning ran amuck in their home. The lightning bolt exploded a wall [above] and threw a piece of sheetrock with such force that it stuck into an opposite wall as shown by Mrs. Burton in the photo below. The fiery ball also ran under the shingles of the house, melting part of the roof. The carpet ceiling was damaged where the bolt entered the house. A same best door had a window broken and the frame jolted out of place by the same bolt.

Council Votes To Begin Paving of City Parking Lots

In a special called meeting Tuesday night, the Mt. Vernon City Council voted to begin paving its parking lots.

The council, at its regular August meeting, had designated Matt Powell to investigate the possibility of paving the city parking lot on Richmond Street located between the Western Auto Store and the L&N tracks. Estimated cost of the project is $2,600 for 1 1/2 inches of blacktop. There was concern expressed over the closing of the asphalt plant.

One half of the city's other lot, adjacent to Jasper Feed Mill, will also be paved with two inches of blacktop. That is the same lot recently fenced by the city.

Priority over both projects was given to a road in Owens Subdivision that was to have been paved last year. All three projects will be completed if the plant remains open.

Matt Powell had also been contacted by John Tupp who tests sewage disposal plant for proper disposal. The city contracted Tupp to test the local plant at a cost of $70 per month. This was made necessary because of new EPA regulations governing the operation of such plants.

Residents of Short Street, which runs toward Cox Funeral Home beside the Dinner Bell building, have been complaining that cars were being parked in a manner which blocked entrance to their home. The council told Asst. Police Chief John Grider to instruct the other police officers to ticket cars parked at the street's opening. A no parking sign will be erected in the proper place. The city voted to annex an area that Elmer Hays is developing west of Rose Hill Road near Lake Linville. The area will be annexed after surveys are approved and 475 ft. of water line will be installed.

County To Receive $11,636.39 in Coal Funds

Gov. Julian Carroll announced today the distribution of $5 million in Coal Severance Economic Aid Funds to 45 coal producing counties.

The fund, established by the 1976 General Assembly as part of Governor Carroll's severance tax package, is allocated to the counties through a formula based on production and need.

The Economic Aid Board in each county decides what capital improvement projects it wants to use its money for, subject to review by the Department for Local Government.

Members of the Economic Aid Board in Rockcastle Co. are: Judge Hubert Thacker, Chairman, Clyde Linville, Wayne Stewart, and Dr. Rudolph Burdette.

Rockcastle's allocation is $11,636.39.

Bro. Harvey Pensol Resigns Pastorate at Northside Baptist

Bro. Harvey Pensol of Mt. Vernon, has resigned his position as pastor at Northside Baptist Church after almost 9 years.

Bro. Pensol plans to attend Clear Creek School beginning June of 1978 to seek a Bachelor of Bible Study degree. He says he will stay in Mt. Vernon until then.

Bro. Pensol came to Northside on the 1st of September, 1968 after leaving his pastorate at the First Baptist Church of Moreland, Ky. He served in two churches previous to that. They were Lake Garden Baptist Church in San Antonio, Texas and the Marianas Baptist Mission in the Marianas Islands. Bro. Pensol is originally from Mt. Vernon and is retired from the U.S. Air Force.

Bro. Pensol received changes that have taken place at Northside since his ministry there began. At his first worship service, Bro. Pensol said that 37 people attended. Four of those were he and his family. The church now averages 164 in its Sunday Worship. Property values of the church and land have gone from $10,000 in 1968 to $100,000 in 1977 and offerings have increased from $4000 in '68 to $27,000 last year. The church has undergone three building programs and gone through three buses that traveled over 450,000 miles.

Since coming to Northside, Bro.

Pensol said he has conducted 212 funerals and 63 weddings. He has baptized 162 people and 90 more have moved to the church by letter.

Bro. Pensol has been married to the former Emily Dixon of Valdesto, Georgia for 24 years. They have three sons: Allen, 22, a senior at Cumberland College; Jerry, 19, a sophomore at Georgetown College and David, 16, a Junior at Rockcastle Co. High School.

Kirby Given 20 Year Sentence In Slaying of James Miracle

Gary Kirby, 22, of Mt. Vernon was found guilty last week of first degree manslaughter by a Circuit Court Jury. Kirby was charged with murder last February in connection with the shooting death of James Earl Miracle of Mt. Vernon.

Miracle, 31, was shot on February 4th at the home of Gary Mullins at Burr after an alleged argument over a dog fight that was taking place in the basement of the home. Miracle died the next morning at the Albert B. Chandler Medical Center in Lexington. According to Deputy Fayette County Coroner Billy McCarney, Miracle had been shot three times and either of at least two of the wounds could have been fatal.

Kirby maintained that he shot Miracle in self-defense because he feared for his life. He claimed throughout the trial that he did not intend to shoot to kill. Kirby said that he was assaulted by James Miracle and James' younger brother, Jeff.

Before the reading of the verdict each spectator was searched by state police before re-entering the courtroom. Circuit Court Judge Phillip Wicker ordered the searches: a total of 5 law enforcement personnel were present at the trial throughout the proceedings. The jury set Kirby's punishment at 20 years in the state penitentiary and formal sentencing by Judge Wicker will take place August 24th.

Senior Citizens Goal Is to Assist Elderly

By Roger Coldron Probably less is done for the elderly in the United States than any other group of people. They are very often considered helpless, useless and are put away where "someone" can take care of them. When those who are not where they can be taken care of, they very often have difficulty finding help.

A fairly new organization in Rockcastle County is trying to help those who remain in their own homes and care for themselves. The Rockcastle County Senior Citizens, Inc. was founded in August of 1975 for this purpose.

There is only one qualification for the county's senior citizen program - you must be at least 60 years of age. Any income bracket, religion, anyone who is over 60 qualifies.

The program offers a range of services from lectures to plain old companionship to the senior citizens. It is federally funded through the Older Americans Act - Title III and Title VII.

Typical of the services of the program is the Home Repair program financed for one year by CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act). This program serves free home repair to senior citizens who cannot work on their own home. The one-year program began on June 20 of this year and will be in operation until June 30 of next year. A total of 8 workers are involved - 4 men and 4 women. The repair service is available to low-income senior citizens - those on Social Security normally qualify.

Two of the most used services of Senior Citizens, Inc. are the hot lunch program and the transportation service. Transportation is furnished through the private cars of the individuals and is available to anyone five days a week. Workers transport the elderly on their necessary trips to the doctor, grocery store, drug store, food stamp office or any other place the senior citizen needs to go.

Under the Hot Lunch Program, 30 hot meals are prepared and served daily in the community room at the Rockcastle County Library. The lunch program is more than a food service; it is a chance for the senior citizens to fellowship. The social aspect of the program is just as beneficial as the nutritional value. Hot meals can be delivered to a senior citizen's home on a temporary basis, if they are not too far from town. 15% of the meals can be delivered.

Recreational and educational trips are planned on a month-to-month basis for program participants. Trips at reduced rates, picnics, birthday parties and special educational lectures are scheduled ahead of time. The lectures cover such topics as social security, food stamps, medical assistance and other agency help available to the elderly.

Senior Citizens, Inc. operates a referral service for participants. If a senior citizen is in need of a particular type of help, it can be found through this service. Most agency services are available through some agency and Senior Citizens, Inc. is familiar with most of them.

Senior citizens in the senior citizens program is one who wants to be a part of it. Senior Citizens, Inc. is governed by an eight-member Board on Aging - all Rockcastle County residents but most of them senior citizens themselves.

Contained in this article are only a few of the valuable services available to the approximately 1896 senior citizens in Rockcastle County. More information is available at the agency's office on the second floor of the county courthouse.

FRANKFORT WATCHLINE

By Ferrell Wellman

Here's a puzzle. Workers for the Ky Bureau of Highways assigned to the garages in Hardin and Meade counties are patching U.S. 60 near the Hardin Meade line. The men are doing the same work, yet those assigned to the garage in Hardin County will go home with a fatter paycheck. Why?

That's what some lawmakers representing rural areas in the Ky General Assembly would like to know. The workers in Hardin County benefit from a Department of Transportation (DOT) policy which allows employees in eight urban counties to receive 10 percent more pay than those in rural areas. DOT calls it "area pay differential."

In addition to the workers at the Hardin garage, 290 Bureau of Highways employees assigned to Boyd, Jefferson, McCracken, Fayette, Boone, Kenton and Campbell counties also get the pay differential. DOT is the only state agency with this practice of rewarding its workers in urban counties.

DOT officials say the higher pay is needed, not for a higher cost of living, but rather for recruitment. DOT's brass likes to point to Jefferson County as an example of why the pay differential is needed.

During the past winter, Jefferson County was frequently 30 men short in its complement of 90. As a result, the Bureau of Highways faced enormous difficulties in trying to keep the three interstates which cut through Louisville clear of ice and snow.

Although the weather is warmer, the Jefferson County garage is still short of manpower. In early August, the garage was down 20 workers.

"The payroll here fluctuates," says District Engineer Robert Aldrich. Aldrich claims without the area pay differential the problem of manpower would be worse, but Aldrich says, "The pay differential is not the problem. It's the pay. It's too low."

Maintenance laborers working the DOT in Jefferson County make $2.82 and hour. The work is hard.

For doing the same type of work, the men could make up to $1 an hour more with the city of Louisville Street Department and about 50 cents an hour more with the Jefferson County road crew. Thus, in some cases, Aldrich finds himself left with less than the best men; the cast-offs from the other two departments.

"We have some good men, says Aldrich, "reliable men who have been with us for years." Aldrich also says, however, that some of the workers "are found under the Kennedy Bridge" (the 1.65 span over the Ohio River).

Aldrich says most of his workers don't even know they're making more than those in other counties. It's not likely the Bureau of Highways is going to change its policy of more pay for its urban workers as long as its work rolls remain thin. Some rural lawmakers might change it for them, though.

"This policy discriminates against my constituents," maintains Rep. Mary Ann Tobin, D-Irvington. "It's tough when workers from my district (Meade and Hardin counties) work with other people who make more for doing the same job."

Rep. Tobin says the solution is to raise all of the highway department maintenance workers to the same pay scale. Rep. Bill Vincent, D-Leitchfield, is expected to introduce legislation which would do just that when the legislature convenes in January.

The Department of Transportation is clearly saddled with a no-win situation. The turnover with the garage in Louisville is proof the state doesn't pay enough to keep good men on the job in urban areas. Yet, is it fair for a state employee in Olive Hill to make less than his fellow state worker just down the road in Ashland who is doing the same job.

The public generally hates to see state workers get more money, yet we continue to expect more from government. It's something to think about the next time the entrance ramp to the local interstate isn't cleared after a hard snow.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Hummel Industries, Inc., Cincinnati's oldest construction company, has asked me to prepare for publication a history of the 130 year old company. Between 1896 and 1926 Hummel operated a quarry and stone sawing mill near Langford Station, and the stone shipped from the quarry at Hummel, Kentucky was used to build some of the finest churches and public buildings in the Queen City. Unfortunately, Hummel's records about the quarry were destroyed during the 1937 flood.

Last spring I spent many enjoyable hours talking with several former residents of the Hummel area. I would like to meet and talk with others who worked for, lived near or remember the quarrying operation, attended the Hummel Baptist Church or the little school house at Hummel. I also am interested in obtaining copies of photographs of the Hummel Church and school.

I expect to visit Mt. Vernon in late September. If any of your readers can aid in my search for information and photographs I would appreciate hearing from them.

Thank you for your help.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Editor:

I am enclosing a check for the renewal of my subscription to the Signal. I look forward to getting the Signal each time that I ever hear of any more relatives I never see and some not very often.

Mrs. Frances Funk will soon have her book completed on the "History of the Cummins Family" and would like the following information. Among all the readers of the Signal, is there one who could give us the names of the grandchildren of Matthew and Rebecca Cah Cummins and the name of the father of "Alps" or "Absie" (Absalon) Cummins. Dear Editor:

This fall the Veterans Administration anticipates that well over a million veterans will be training under the GI Bill education program. Approximately 16,000 veterans will be training in Kentucky.

We need your help in communicating an important message to these veterans.

Although I am convinced the vast majority of the 5.5 million Vietnam Era veterans who have thus far trained under the current GI Bill have done so in an exemplary fashion that will benefit the nation for years to come, there have been enough exceptions to create a real education overpayment problem for the Veterans Administration. To help overcome this problem, Congress enacted legislation to change the way the Veterans Administration pays GI Bill allowances.

Last fall, for example, when veterans registered for school, they received an automatic advance payment covering the first six weeks of school and their regular monthly checks were prepaid at the start of each monthly training period.

This year, advance payments will be made only to those students who apply 30 days before registration, and the monthly payments will come after each month of training has been completed. Students will get the same dollar as before, and possibly even more because of a recommended cost of living increase in GI Bill allowances, which must be acted on by Congress. But, the timing of the payments will be different and veterans should play their personal finances accordingly.

To smooth the transition to the new payment procedure, we are emphasizing to students and to schools that other forms of Veterans Administration assistance are available. Among these are Veterans Administration loans for education that are interest free until nine months after the student leaves school. A work study program is also available through which the Veterans Administration will pay an additional $625 per semester, and $250 of this will be paid in advance.

More details on the pay changes and other Veterans Administration assistance programs may be obtained by contacting the Veterans Administration or campus Veterans Affairs counselors in your area. The Regional Office toll-free number is 1-800-292-4562.

I would greatly appreciate your service to the many veterans among you readers. Thank you.

Sincerely yours,
/s/ Kenneth E. McDonald

Rockcastle Recollections

In response to my request in last week's column for additional information on the Cook family, Mrs. V.G. Walker of Berea, Ky., informs me that the Rockcastle branch of the family was descended from Valentine Cook, Sr. of Greenbrier County, Virginia.

A son of Valentine, David Cook, born in York County, Pennsylvania, in 1756, came to Kentucky at an early date and was with Captain John Holder's Company in and around Ft. Boonesborough in 1779. He was also present at Earl's Defeat, one of the hardest fought battles between pioneers and Indians in the history of early Kentucky. David Cook married Sarah Loftus, settling in a part of Lincoln County which was later assigned to Rockcastle County. He died in 1824 at which time his home was in Missouri, but his will is recorded in Lincoln County, Ky. His children were Loftus; Valentine, David Jr. who married Mary Middleton; John, who married Margaret Forbes; Nancy, who married James Montgomery; Patsy, who married John Montgomery.

David's father, Valentine Cook, 1732-1779, was a patriot who furnished hay and grain for the Continental Army during the Revolutionary War. He married Susanna Baughman about 1755 in York County, Pennsylvania. She survives him and her will dated 1807 in Lincoln County, she names children David, John, Henry, William, Jacob, Valentine Jr. and Adam. She also remembers Jenny, a daughter of William and Christian who married Philip Hammon.

Loftus Cook, son of David and grandson of Valentine, whose gravestone is in the old Renfro Valley Cemetery, was born May 6, 1779 and died November 7, 1839. He was married in Lincoln County, June 3, 1801 to Sally Cook, daughter of Henry Cook, of Lincoln County. They were not related. Loftus Cook served in the War of 1812 as a Lieutenant, serving at New Orleans and Camp Jackson, Louisiana. Two children of Loftus and Sally Cook were Jane and Elizabeth. Jane was born April 5, 1806 in Rockcastle County and died December 13, 1880 in Berea. She was married in Rockcastle County August 6, 1836 to Morgan Burdette, a son of Spencer Burdette of Rockcastle County. Spencer was a son of Frederick Burdette, of Garrard County, a native of Fauquier County, Virginia, who was engaged in furnishing supplies (beef and brandy) for the troops during the revolutionary War. Morgan Burdette was an early trustee of Berea College. He was born January 4, 1812 and died in Berea on November 13, 1889.

Elizabeth Cook married Thompson Burdette, a brother of Morgan. They had one child, William David Cook.

When Elizabeth Cook Burdette died she gave her little son to her sister, Jane Cook Burdette, to raise. However, when Thompson Burdette married the second time he came back to Kentucky and took the child with him. William David Burdette and his cousin, Henry, son of Morgan Burdette, met during the Civil War at the Battle of Missouri Ridge. After the war William David Burdette settled in Illinois.

We were pleased to get this more complete information on one of the county's early and important families. We are wondering how Milton Cook, an early member of the legislature from Rockcastle County, connects with this original source.

We also got from William F. Baker, Eton, Ohio, much additional information on the Baker family. He says his great grandfather was George Washington Baker, who was living in Jackson County during the Civil War. William F. Baker says his father's name was Charles Theodore Baker and Charles Theodore Baker was a son of Jim Baker, who married Caladonia King, daughter of Lafayette King, a former county official of Rockcastle County. Two of Jim Baker's brother were Louis and Reuben Baker.

U.G. "Grand" Baker was a first or second cousin to C.T. Baker, so the lines were connected.

My informant states that his father and mother, Charles Theodore Baker, and Phoebe Jane Himes Baker, were the parents of the following children: Eugene, Marion, John W., William F., Bradley, Alberta, Huey Lee, Bob, Jimmy, Ida and Dory, a total of eleven children, of which seven are still living.

Fletcher. According to our files the first Fletchers to come to Rockcastle County were brothers, Ed and John, who came here from Knoxville, Tennessee some time before the Civil War. They brought with them a saw mill, drawn by six or seven yoke of oxen. They set up their mill in the Skeggs Creek area and cut out a great lot of good timber. Ed lived to be more than 92 years of age. At one time he, with Fred Hayes, operated a still in Great Saltpetre Cave, running it for D.P. Bethrum while he was County Judge. It was said to be licensed by the government and was a legitimate operation. Bethrum's daughter, Martha, was Ed Fletcher's wife.

Ed and Martha raised two sons. Charles married John Marler's daughter, Ella. Bob married Bob Norton's daughter, Lizzie.

Harmon There is considerable worth while information available on Valentine Harmon and his early ancestry leading up to his coming to America, and later becoming one of the Long Hunters. He was in Kentucky with that group in 1770 and later came back with the settlers on Boonesborough, where he occupied a position of some trust. Later he came to Rockcastle to make it his home, settling near his old friend and hunting companion, James Dysart, on Skeggs Creek. He and his wife left no descendants so I am wondering what connection, if any, exists between him and the members of the Harmon family now living in the county.

Harvest Corn Silage At Full Dent Stage

This is the time of year when many Kentucky farmers are busy harvesting corn silage. Corn silage is an excellent feed for beef and dairy cattle. The ideal time to harvest corn for silage is in the full dent stage. At his stage the grains begin to take on a glazed appearance. The stalks begin turning brown at the bottom but is often still green above the ear.

Harvesting corn silage in the full dent stage will provide the highest feed value and yield per acre. Some farmers are harvesting too early, and this results in lower quality silage, less feed value and more wastage.

Fine chopping corn silage is very important, especially with more mature corn. Chop to a length of one half inch or less. In order to chop fine it is necessary to keep the chopper knives sharp.

Pack the silage tightly and fill the silos quickly as possible to reduce spoilage.

Silo gases can be a hazard at silo filling time. These gases are deadly to humans and livestock. It is a good idea to turn blowers on before entering silos, and to watch for irritating odors and yellowish brown fumes.

THE FAMILY LAWYER
by Will Bernard

Reluctant Witness

Miller's creditors hailed him into court on a charge of financial skulduggery. To prove it, they summoned one of his friends to the witness stand. But the witness declined to testify.

"Miller did talk to me about his problems," he conceded, "but I promised to keep it confidential. He and I belong to the same lodge, and I can't break my promise to a lodge brother like that."

But the court ordered him to speak out. The court said:

"However binding an obligation may be between members of the same society, such an obligation is subject to the laws of the country."

And the laws of our country do indeed insist that giving testimony is a matter not of choice but of civic duty. The doctrine was imported from England, where a Prince of Wales once had to testify about cheating in a card game and a Prime Minister had to testify about a scuffle at a political meeting.

May a witness refuse to testify on the ground that he considers his information to be irrelevant? No, says the courts, because that is not for him to decide. As one judge explained, in overruling a witness who offered that excuse:

"Very often information is not susceptible of intelligent (evaluation) until it is placed in its setting, a title in the mosaic."

Of course there are exceptions to the duty-to-testify. What a patient tells a doctor or what a client tells a lawyer is usually protected against disclosure.

In most states, so is a private confession to a clergyman.

Thus, a minister was held not obliged to reveal what a woman accused of wrongdoing had confessed to him. Said the court:

"The benefit of preserving these confidences overbalances the possible benefit of permitting litigation to prosper at the expense of the spiritual rehabilitation of a penitent."

If corn silage is harvested on land which is subject to erosion, plant a winter cover crop to protect the soil. Small grain crops such as barley, wheat or rye are ideal for this purpose.

Harvesting corn as silage is an ideal way to get the most value from the crop. An acre of the crop as silage produces 40-60 percent more nutrients than the same acre harvested as grain with the stalks left in the field. Publications with additional information on corn silage are available from local county Extension agents.

Late Germinating Crabgrass

As you are well aware, we have had an extremely hot year, weather-wise, on Kentucky bluegrass. Extended periods of drought and high temperatures followed by several days of rain has created an unstable situation in which much of our Kentucky bluegrass has thinned out for one reason or another.

This open turf situation has allowed late germinating crabgrass to be a major problem. Due to the unusual weather fluctuation it is also likely that the pre-emergence herbicides applied this spring were more rapidly broken-down than usual. Crabgrass breakthrough has occurred with all of our recommended pre-emergence herbicides.

To alleviate the current problem one is tempted to apply a post-emergent crabgrass herbicide. This can be effective, however the weather conditions must be suitable. It is very safe in the summer to apply these herbicides. If applied during hot and dry weather the crabgrass may not be controlled, but Kentucky bluegrass may be severely damaged. Also two or three applications may be required to control the crabgrass.

The best suggestion may be to try to live with the current crabgrass problems. Within 6 weeks, the crabgrass should stop growing and die shortly thereafter. With a good fall fertilization the turf should be completely recovered by early October.

What To Do In August

Don't relax on pest control. Vegetable garden pests can build up and be particularly troublesome at this time of the year.

Don't forget to put on the round peach tree borer spray. Lilies and dogwoods are also quite susceptible to borers. If you did not get earlier spray on and discover borers, you may destroy them by injecting such materials as Bortox, Borer K.I., or Borax into the holes. Seal with modeling clay or some similar material. The lumes will kill the borer in his tunnel.

Plant Madonna Lilies. Bearded Iris

The Mt. Vernon Signal Thursday, August 18, 1977 P-7

can still be planted also. Sow seed of several biennial plants for flowering next year. Transplant in September into sites where you want them to bloom.

Sow fall lettuce, mustard, radish and turnip seed in areas of garden vacated by earlier crops.

Clip hedges again. Clip heads of fading perennial flowers. This causes them to store more food in the roots rather than in the seeds and results in stronger, healthier plants.

Collect flowers and dry them for fall arrangements.

Feed glycerinethumens now with high nitrogen fertilizer to encourage vigorous growth and large flowers in October.

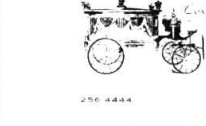

Watch any newly planted plants or those that are situated where rainfall does not get to them readily.

Take cuttings of Begonias, Geraniums, Coleus and other herbaceous perennials for indoor plants this winter.

Eternal Truth

IN OUR CHANGING WORLD

Some tradition is good and some is not. Paul told the church at Thessalonica to "hold the traditions which ye have been taught, whether by word, or our epistle." Jesus said, "But in vain do they worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men." (Matt. 15:9).

What is the difference in these two traditions? The difference is truth; that which is revealed in the Word of God, the Bible. We know the Bible is the infallible, inspired Word of God. We do not have this assurance about other teachings and doctrines.

If you believe doctrines not found in the Bible, you are following the traditions of men. These traditions may be centuries old, but still false. Age does not make traditions true. God has given us "all things that pertain to life and godliness, but not pertain unto life and godliness but is rather "doctrines of men" which Jesus declared to be vain.

By Austin Mobley, Minister Providence Church of Christ Rt. 1, Brodhead, Ky.

WILL TRADITIONS SAVE?

May we urge you to seriously study your present religious beliefs in the light of the bible? We are taught to "prove all things, hold fast that which is good" (1 Thess. 5:21).

In churches of Christ we are pleading for a return to the simple Christianity of the New Testament. We strive to have only one creed-Christ; only one guide and authority-the Bible. We would like for you to compare these principles with your Bible.

A New Tree Farm in the County

The Forest lands of Cleft Rock Retreat Center in Rockcastle County have recently been designated a Tree Farm. This is a recognition of good forestry management practices. The American Tree Farm System is sponsored by wood using industries to stimulate interest among woodland owners in doing a better job of managing their forests for repeated tree crops. Cleft Rock has worked to remove low value, cull trees from their woodland thereby releasing high quality young timber from competition and suppression. They have also developed a fire protection system. Their work has been in cooperation with the Kentucky Division of Forestry. Landowners interested in having their woodlots inspected for certification, at no charge, may contact Steve Bullen, Rockcastle County Ranger or write the Kentucky Division of Forestry, Box 31, Pineville, Kentucky 40977.
