Stretching Our Incredible Shrinking Food Dollar

Food prices are soaring; the dollar is shrinking - for many reasons. World population is growing, and more people need more and better food. Flood and droughts have caused crop failures in many parts of the world, limiting food supplies when they are most needed.

Many U.S. commodities are going abroad; and the cost of producing food is increasing every step of the way from the farm to the supermarket, adding to the price we all pay.

While there are no easy solutions to this complex world problem, here are some suggestions to help you - the consumer - to cope.

Spending your shrinking dollar wisely where it brings the most in food value. Cook the wholesome, old-fashioned favorites that are our country's heritage. Experiment with recipes adapted from other lands who never had our riches or our rich diet.

Cook and serve less - let your family ask for seconds. And if you do cook too much, save it, store it carefully and use it ingeniously in the next day or two.

Remember that neither Grandmother in America nor housewives in foreign countries would ever waste a bite of good food, while in the Great United States throwaway culture, some of us could feed another family with what we waste.

What can we do to stretch it? We can make some changes in our lifestyle. Nutritionists say that Americans eat more meat and less cereal than we need. Perhaps we should take a truck in our food buying habits.

Buy good nutrition first - the Basic Four foods. Luxuries can come later.

Serve a hearty, nutritious dessert with a light main course and vice-versa. Shopping Strategy - plan menus around Basic Four Food Groups and advertised meat specials. Clip and carry food ads and coupons with your shopping list.

Eat before you shop, and shop alone to resist impulse buying.

Be a label-reader. Consider nutrients and price per serving before you buy.

Don't choose foods for beauty or size when lesser grades will do; the nutrition is often the same.

When in doubt, consider: do you need it, will you eat it, is it worth the price?

Let freshness and quality decide what you buy. Protect your food purchases by taking them home immediately.

Store food properly and use it promptly.

- Old Fashioned Vegetable Soup
- 1 pound beef shanks, cracked
- 1 quart water
- 1 bay leaf
- 5 peppercorns
- 1 cups sliced carrots
- 1/2 cup onion
- 1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 tsp. monosodium glutamate
- 1/2 cup marjoram leaves
- 1/4 tsp. thyme leaves

Cover chanks with water; heat to boiling. Add bay leaf and peppercorns. Reduce heat; cover and simmer 1 1/2 hours or until meat is fork-tender. Remove shanks from stock; cut meat from shanks into 1/2 inch cubes. Let stock cool slightly. Skim fat from surface. Strain stock into large saucepan. Add meat cubes and remaining ingredients; heat to boiling. Reduce heat, cover and simmer about 20 minutes or until carrots are tender. 6 servings.

Great for a chilly day with hot corn bread and a dessert of apple pie with ice cream.

New deadline in effect for summer parks jobs

Kentuckians interested in seasonal jobs next summer in the national parks may begin applying on Dec. 1, according to Congressman Tim Lee Carter.

Rep. Carter has reported the National Park Service is using a new system this year and that the deadline for applying for most of the summer jobs is Jan. 15.

"Competition for these jobs in our national parks often is very keen, and I would urge anyone interested in them to apply as early as possible," the Congressman said.

Requests for employment must be postmarked before the Jan. 15 closing date to be considered for the majority of the positions open.

Jobs available range from seasonal park aid or ranger to laborer or lifeguard. Rep. Carter said some more specialized positions, such as student assistant architect or engineer, also are available.

Persons applying must be at least 18 years of age and in some cases are required to have a valid driver's license.

Complete information and application forms may be obtained by writing to the National Parks Regional Office, 1896 Phoenix Blvd., Atlanta, Ga. 30349.

41% of Students Participating In Free-Reduced Lunches

Forty-one percent of Kentucky's high school and elementary school students participate in reduced price or no cost lunch programs at their schools. This is slightly above the national average, according to Cooper White who is with the Administration and Finance Bureau of the state Department of Education.

Last year, the 1,600 public, private, and parochial schools in the state served 92 million lunches. A total of 38 million were served at no cost and three million at reduced prices.

Most schools charge from 40 to 60 cents for a lunch, an amount which does not cover the entire cost of serving the meal, said White.

That's why the federal government reimburses schools at a rate of 14 cents for every regular priced meal and up to 63 cents for every meal served at no cost," he said. Last year, these reimbursements to Kentucky schools totalled nearly $37 million with $27 million of that covering reduced and no cost meals.

Reimbursements rates for regular cost meals have gone up nine cents in the late 1960's to the 14 cents currently paid.

How distribution of tickets or tokens for full price, reduced price and no cost lunches is handled is up to individual schools, according to Gail Rowland, who is with school food services for the education department. "The schools work out a method which prevents the obvious identification or singling out of receivers no cost or reduced price lunches," she said.

Eligibility factors include the size of a family, the income of the family and consideration of hardship factors and emergency situations. Applications are sent home with all school children at the beginning of the school year, but the program is open to applicants at any time of the year.

Afield

By John Wilson

Visitors at the department of fish and wildlife's Experimental Game Farm just west of Frankfort have been in for a disappointment lately, particularly those who come to view the birds and animals customarily on display there.

The animal pens are empty and many have been torn down. In fact, much of the Game Farm looks pretty much in disarray right now, and one is as likely to see a bulldozer as a buffalo.

Department of fish and wildlife officials ask the public to bear with them a while longer until the major face lifting at the Game Farm is completed. And when it is, chances are visitors won't recognize the place.

The old "exhibition row" which housed the living wildlife specimens is being torn down. In its place, if current plans go through, will stand a new administration building for fish and wildlife office staff (who now work at the Capital Plaza Tower in downtown Frankfort).

The exhibition area will be moved to where the deer pens are now located, and the birds and animals will all have brand-new homes. The new area, according to Game Farm Superintendent Raymond Wiley, will have a much better design, with circular cages which will allow visitors to walk completely around each animal display.

The new pens will be larger, giving the animals more room for exercise and allowing more natural surroundings. A modern drainage and sewage system will be installed, providing better sanitary conditions than were possible in the old area, which was built about 20 years ago.

Wiley says that the emphasis in the new area will also change, with more native species and fewer exotics on display. "The main purpose of the farm's exhibits is to let people get a close look at the remarkable variety of our native wildlife," Wiley says.

The new exhibition area should be open to the public sometime next year, but the construction schedule will depend to a large extent upon the weather, Wiley says. Right now, he can only estimate completion "sometime from mid to late 1978."

The picnic area will remain open, as will the two fishing lakes on the farm. As in the past, closing time will be at sunset, and fishing will be limited to women, children under 16 and men over 65. The Game Farm's buffalo herd is still on public display, as are the white-tailed deer. The displays of mounted birds and animals in the present administration building will also remain open to the public.

to buy out of the county.

On the death of Mr. Sutton, Mr. W.G. McEbe bought an interest back into the store and the firm became McEbe and Adams. In 1954, Mr. Adams sold his interest to Mr. McEbe and four years later moved to the Wabed Community where he became a gentleman farmer.

It is of much interest to note the kindness, friendship and encouragement Mr. Sutton and Mr. McEbe rendered to Mr. Adams when he became their competitor. No enmity or sharp competition developed which is usually characteristic in similar businesses.

Mr. Adams was born February 10, 1903, in the Coon Community of Rockcastle County. He was the son of Mr. Abraham and Sarah Adams, deceased. He moved to Mt. Vernon at the age of 11, and attended grade school and high school.

On September 5, 1925, Mr. Adams married Mary Elizabeth Lawrence, daughter of Mr. J.J. (Jack) Lawrence and Mrs. Lena Newcomb Lawrence. Of this union two sons were born: Mr. Jack Lincoln Adams, a well-known musician who presently resides in Westport, Connecticut, and Mr. William Lawrence Adams, a veterinarian who conducts a successful practice in Rockcastle County.

Dr. Orson Arvin

Attends Meeting

Dr. Orson L. Arvin of Mt. Vernon attended the 29th Annual Scientific Assembly of the American Academy of Family Physicians in Las Vegas. The medical meeting began October 10th and ran through October 13th. More than 3,000 family doctors participated in this once-a-year continuing education conference.

The local physician, who is a member of the Academy, heard nationally-known speakers discuss up-to-date health care topics. He also had an opportunity to attend clinical seminars on approximately 30 different subjects and visit some 100 scientific and 300 technical exhibits.

Subjects covered in this 4-day scientific session are of immediate interest to family doctors both in their everyday practices and in their continual endeavors to keep abreast of the latest advances in medicine. This year, topics include legal problems in medicine, high risk pregnancy, hypertension, breast and skin cancer, and sports medicine.

The Academy, headquartered in Kansas City, is the nation's second largest medical association. It was the pioneer among medical organizations in requiring its members to take continuing education. Its 38,000 members must complete 150 hours of mandatory continuing study every three years.

In the 19th century beard-wearing was prescribed for men with delicate throats.

questions and answers

Q. In July 1977, I took a part-time job and hired a maid to do housework 2 days a week. Am I supposed to report her salary to the Internal Revenue Service? If so, how do I make the report?

A. If you pay a household worker, such as a maid, $50 or more in cash wages in a calendar quarter, you must report the wages to the Internal Revenue Service and send in the social security contributions due on the wages. You should deduct 3.85 percent from your maid's cash wages for 1977. You pay an equal amount as her employer. Send the contributions to IRS with the report form, Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees (for Social Security). The form is available at any IRS office. The report is due before the end of the month following the calendar quarter. For example, the report for July-August-September 1977 is due by October 31, 1977.

Q. I think my grandmother may be eligible for SSI payments. She lives alone in an apartment and has very little income. Can you tell me what the eligibility requirements are?

A. To be eligible for SSI, an applicant must be 65 or older, or blind or disabled and have little in the way of income and resources. If your grandmother thinks she may be eligible for SSI, she should contact a social security office.

Investing in Land

One of the nice things about investing land is that it rarely presents management problems. However, since it will produce no income, it should be bought only if you are financially able to carry the debt.

For the typical investment, you have to put down cash amounting to 25% to 50% of the total cost of the land, with regular payments on the remainder until the entire debt is paid. But if you prefer to pay taxes on a long-term capital gain, rather than ordinary income, then land can be an attractive investment.

The key to a good land investment is predicting land needs of the future. Here is where the experience of a good local Realtor comes in. He has intimate knowledge of community needs, and can forecast, far better than the layman, what will be required for future land use and the best areas for growth potential.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at Ford Realty & Auction Co., Inc., Mt. Vernon, Ph. 256-4545. We're here to help!

This was one of several groups of Rockcastle boys registered with the Draft Board during World War II who were later inducted into the service. As we read over the list and realize that such of these boys as are still living are now past 81 years of age, we realize that many of this original draft are now gone. In fact, there are not many of them that I know left. Some few of them died in service and several others were permanently disabled. Just a cross-section of the tragedy of war.

From a September issue of the Signal during that same year of 1917 is taken this account of the departure of one group of our boys headed for induction. "Our soldier boys, 40 strong, boarded a special train here at 1:20 today for Camp Taylor. They were a fine looking set of boys. The occasion was one of the saddest witnessed in Mt. Vernon in many a day. Mothers, sisters, fathers and friends all alike felt deeply the solemnity of the occasion and as the train moved out, the boys waved goodbye, there was scarcely a dry eye left behind."

Dear Mother:
We are still confined to our barracks, but things have begun to liven up a bit today. One of the Y.M.C.A. men managed to get by the guards with a load of books, boxing gloves and stationery for-us this morning.

Am afraid, however, we won't get much benefit from the books for awhile, as we got to the gloves first and there's not much pleasure in trying to read through a puffy black eye. There is one fellow in the crowd whose eyes are still in good condition but he doesn't go around bragging about it; for the very simple reason that he finds conversation sort of difficult, having lost three of his front teeth at the very beginning of hostilities.

Since the quarantine has been on paper has been so scarce in our barracks that it has taken the place of money in our business transactions—a sheet of paper being valued at from one to seven cents. One guy shot craps all day last Sunday to win paper enough to write home to tell his mother about Billy Sunday's sermons. Sunday has just finished a four week revival and is starting four weeks more of the same.

You asked in your last letter what the local Red Cross workers have been doing for us and I'll begin by saying they've done enough to entitle everyone of them to a pair of wings. During the two weeks we spent in the open near Ft. Meyers, Virginia, the Red Cross workers erected a tent on the grounds in which they served hot drinks, ham sandwiches and buttered toast at all hours of the day and night. Every few minutes of the time between two o'clock and daylight you could hear some rook roll out of his blanket, knock his shoes loose from the frozen ground, turn them upside down to get rid of the snow accumulated in them, climb into them and go scurrying off through the dark for the Red Cross tent, where he was always sure of a warm meal and a warm welcome.

It was the Red Cross that started the Congressional Investigation that resulted in the elimination of a lot of "red tape" that placed us in comfortable quarters. Since coming here we have received excellent treatment at all times. The Government is certainly doing its part by us and the Red Cross makes it possible for The Man in Uniform to be welcomed into the best homes in the city.

Only a few days ago we were all provided with sweaters and wristlets furnished by the local chapter. One day put of each week we send our clothes to the Y.M.C.A. building and Red Cross workers attend to our patching and mending. I notice considerable criticism of Red Cross methods in some of the dailies. I don't know how outsiders view their work, but I do know that the Red Cross and the Y.M.C.A. mean more to the members of the service than any other organization in existence.

The last time I heard from George Payne he was one hundred twenty five miles out at sea. Don't know at what moment we'll be shipped out or where we'll go.

J.M. Humble, a fellow who came from Kentucky with me and one of my best pals, was transferred to a training camp at Newport News. Don't know just what line of work he takes up but am sure he will make good. His wife lives at Brodhead. You may know her.

Don't have time to write more, and this is probably about all you care to read at this time. Am well assisted with my work and have no complaints.

Next time you write be sure and include the name of the camp like this:

Somerset Man Buys Controlling Interest in Bank of Mt. Vernon

Jerry Ikard was elected Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Bank of Mt. Vernon, at a meeting of the directors last week. Mr. Ikard succeeds Tracy Farmer, who resigned following the sale of his interest in the bank to Mr. Ikard.

The owner of South Kentucky Mack Trucks, Inc. of Somerset, Mr. Ikard was a founder and former vice president of Ikard and Bandy Coal Company, a company in which he recently sold his interest. He is a director of the First and Farmers National Bank of Somerset and a member of the audit committee of that board of directors.

According to Mr. Ikard, in an interview Saturday at the bank, the key to the growth of Rockcastle County and the growth of The Bank of Mt. Vernon is the development of new business and industry. A director of the Pulaski County Industrial Foundation, Ikard said he will assist Rockcastle County in obtaining industry.

On question, Mr. Ikard said that at present he planned no personnel changes at the bank and would himself be at the bank several days a week.

Ikard is a member of the Board of Regents of Eastern Kentucky University. He and his wife, the former Brenda Massey of Somerset, have two daughters, Amy, 8, and Lisa, 6. They are members of the First Baptist Church of Somerset.

Centers to Close

For the past five years Rockcastle County has been fortunate to have Day Care Program for pre-school children.

This was a five year pilot program, supported by ARC, State and Local funds. Effective August 31, 1977, ARC, which granted 75% of the funds, can no longer be used for day care support.

Therefore, since sufficient replacement funding has not been located, the centers will not re-open.

On behalf of the Board of Directors, we would like to express our sincere thanks to the citizens of Rockcastle County for the support which was given this program.

County Awarded Grant of $271,900 For Purchase of Brodhead Fairgrounds

According to an announcement from the offices of Senators Wendell H. Ford and Walter D. Huddleston Tuesday, the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development has awarded a grant of $271,900 to the Rockcastle County area.

The release went on to say, "The funds, in the form of a Community Development Block Grant, will be used for development of a county complex, including a recreational area, low-income housing, a senior citizens center and a housing site development."

The area covered by the grant is the 25-30 acre tract in Brodhead now owned by the Brodhead Fair Company. An option on the property was taken in June of this year by the Court for $110,000, according to Judge Hubert Thacker, who said that the grant would be used to purchase the site and to renovate the skating rink and other existing structures.

In addition, Judge Thacker said that the site would be developed to accommodate a low-income housing project on the acreage but there was not sufficient money in the grant to construct the housing.

City Council Meets

The Mt. Vernon City Council failed once again last Thursday night, at a called meeting, to hire a policeman to replace John Grider, who resigned to accept a position as Berea city policeman two weeks ago.

The council had four applications to consider but no action was taken towards hiring a new officer. The council is presently debating the possibility of hiring a part-time officer instead of another full-time policeman.

Mike Bryant, a local minister and a team leader with the Department of Human Resources, approached the council suggesting that a chaplaincy program be instituted. Bryant described a nondiscriminatory counselor to be on call to the police force to help in handling situations such as death messages, suicide attempts and, sometimes, domestic problems.

Under Mr. Bryant's program, the chaplain would be designated by the council and would perform the service on a strictly volunteer basis. The chaplain would not handle regular police business. A decision is expected by the council at their regular November meeting.

Jim Cass, representative of the Cumberland Valley Development District, discussed improvement of the city's sewage treatment facility. A study will be done in the future to find the most cost effective method for improvement and expansion of the facility. Further discussion is planned for a later meeting.

When asked about whether the Brodhead Fair would be operated on the site as in the past, Judge Thacker answered in the affirmative saying that the fair would be operated by the Court for an indefinite number of years.

Renovation of the skating rink will provide the facilities for a Senior Citizens Center and other outside recreational facilities will also be provided.

Mt. Vernon Students Selected for Berea's Country Dancers

Two Mt. Vernon students, Lynn Bivins and Bobby McClure, have been selected for membership in the Berea College Country Dancers, a group of students who perform and help preserve the traditional folk dances of Appalachia and other countries.

Ms. Bivins, a freshman at the college, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Lee Bivins of Route 1, Mt. Vernon.

McClure, also a freshman, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William McClure of Route 1, Mt. Vernon.

Both are graduates of Rockcastle County High School.

Well-known in country dance circles, the Berea College Country Dancers make regular performances, tours of New York, Chicago, Washington, D.C. and other large cities outside the Appalachian region.

They have danced on the White House lawn for the late President Kennedy, at the New York World's Fair in 1964 and have appeared on television's "Today" show, as well as having toured England, Scotland and Denmark, sharing their skills and learning new dances.

Founded in 1938, the group has its highest membership ever this year, benefiting from increased interest on campus, with 22 new members bringing the total to 66.

They encourage others to learn folk dancing by holding workshops and programs in churches, high schools and colleges.

Rockets Spoil Whitley's Homecoming; Win 14-13

The Rockcastle County Rockets spoiled another Homecoming, the second one in as many weeks, last Friday night when they beat the Whitley County Colts 14-13 in a hard-fought contest all the way.

Two fumbles by the Rockets set up both Whitley County touchdowns - the first one within the first few minutes of the first quarter.

Whitley County took the opening kick-off and drove to the Rockcastle County 10-yard line where they had to settle for a field goal try from the 10. However, the try was no good and the Rockets took over on their own 12 yard line. After getting one first down, the Rockets were forced to punt from their own 24 yard line and Whitley County began their series from their own 44. They were forced to punt on this series and, a very good punt backed the Rockets up to their own 10 yard line.

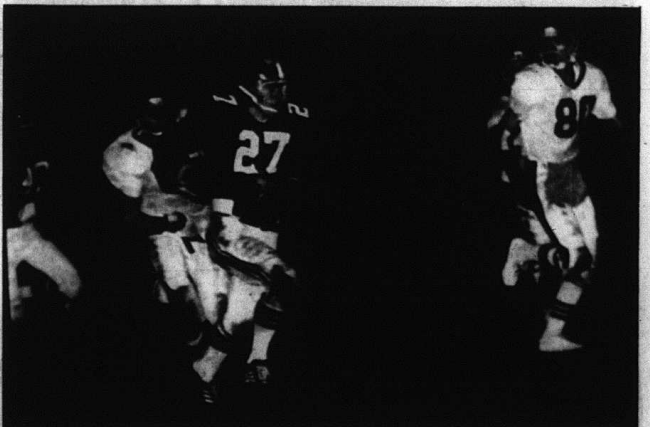

From the first play from scrimmage, a fumble in the backfield was recovered by the Colts and they had the ball 1:10 on the Rockets 10. An offside penalty against the Rockets gave Whitley a free five yards and two plays later, a quarterback sneak put the Colts ahead. The extra point attempt was good and the Colts led 7-0.

The Rockets began their series from their own 28 and with some hard nosed running and excellent blocking, moved the ball to the Whitley County one yard line from where quarterback Earl Hammons took it over for the score. Billy Hackworth scored the two extra points and the Rockets were ahead 8-7.

Whitley County returned Kyle Miller's kick-off to their own 40 yard line and, on the next play, a Whitley County runner was threatening to go all the way before Hackworth stopped him on the

Billy Hackworth, No. 27, is shown on his way to a touchdown for the Rockets in Friday night's game at Whitley County which we won 14-13. Hackworth covered 54 yards on this play for the score and gained 148 yards for the Rockets in the game. Thus far, he has gained 973 yards in 106 carries on the season. This Friday night, the Rockets travel to Mercer

County and wind up their season November 4 with a home game against Knox Central - which is also their last district game.

Letter To The Editor

The Rockcastle County Improvement Council is aware of the forthcoming departure of Dr. R.F. Hendrickson, who is moving to Danville to establish his family practice. The Improvement Council wants to go on record in expressing our appreciation to Dr. Hendrickson for his contribution to Rockcastle County in both the medical field and through his participation in many civic activities.

The departure of a medical doctor leaves our county at least one and possibly two physicians short of that needed to adequately provide medical services to our county residents. In a resolution adopted at its regular meeting on October 24, 1977, the Improvement Council strongly urged the Board of Directors of the Rockcastle County Hospital, actively recruit physicians to establish their practice in Rockcastle County.

It is the hope of the Council that the Hospital Board will be able to obtain a physician or physicians as soon as possible to provide these services. The Council will assist and support the Hospital Board in their endeavors.

Sincerely,
 William W. James, President
 Rockcastle County Improvement Council

The idea of bringing industry into Rockcastle County has finally gotten the majority approval of our residents. Industry does not mean huge plants with black smoke. Industry is more small businesses and factories, and did you know that tourism is the third largest industry in Kentucky? The word industry encompasses many things. After living with not enough jobs, going elsewhere for some of our needs and too much welfare has proven not to be the answer. The revenue dollars into the county, the improving and expanding of our own businesses, new independents being able to start a business, all of these will better all of us.

Doing some marketing research, surveys, etc., it is my opinion that the first thing we should all do, as interested citizens, is recognize the basic needs first. Believe everyone has to agree on community pride and clean up your own back yard first - before we can entice anyone else into our county, we should make it right for ourselves. Would you place your industry here, move in several families to the county without a county fire department? Do you realize the insurance rates on a building with our fire protection and the hazards you would face? Will our garbage situation and pick-up improve? Will our clean up campaign follow through? Are we willing to voice our opinions and then help?

Our location and easy access is good. Our schools, churches, banks, civic organizations, newspapers, radio station are all a plus. There are also things that interest people in relocating. But let's evaluate what we have here, what is needed first and as a team - be interested enough to do it.

With Lake Linville and the new recreational park going in, Industrial Park being worked on, we should take it upon ourselves to help. Emphasize our tourism potentials more and work with that, it benefits all of us in some degree. And remember this is county-wide and I truly believe that a county fire department is most essential.

/s/ Gineale King

Dear Editor,

I would like to congratulate all of the thousands of Americans, the PTA's and many churches who have finally forced the TV networks to start to listen. For the first time in 10 years, TV violence is starting to decrease.

The National Citizens Committee for Broadcasting reports that their two-week summer study funded by the American Medical Association showed a 5% reduction in violence compared to last fall. This fall, the reduction is probably still further but the official results won't be available until December.

ABC was the most violent network this past summer and CBS was, by far, the least violent. CBS and NBC showed a 17% decrease in killings, beatings and rapes. Quest and Seaport are gone. Starsky and Hutch, although improved, is still the most violent show with Wonder Woman, Feather and Father Gang, Haas Bas Black Sheep and Beretta being the next most violent. Shows with no violence at all were Phyllis, Bob, Newhart, All's Fair and All in the Family.

Whitehall Labs - makers of Anacin - and Budweiser topped the most violent list and Schlitz Beer has been on the most violent list every time since early 1976.

A recent CBS study conducted in England by the London School of Economics concluded that TV violence breeds violence in society. This goes along with careful psychiatric studies showing that there is a large decrease in violence in the average American home if violent TV is not watched. I am also happy to note that the United Church of Christ has issued a pronouncement against gratuitous violence and demeaning portrayals of sex on TV.

Continued letters to advertisers of violence, to your local stations, to the FCC, etc. are important. The levels of TV violence are still intolerably high, still damaging our society, our families and our friends.

Dr. Thomas Radecki, M.D.

Chairman
 Kentuckians Against Violence
 in the Media

NEWS OF ENERGY

More than one-third of America's total domestic energy requirement is supplied by natural gas. Because of government regulations, however, this gas is not evenly distributed throughout the country.

There are two natural gas markets: in one, natural gas is sold in the same state where it is produced. This is the intrastate market where prices are set by supply and demand. The other market is the interstate market—where the gas is produced in one state or from federal lands offshore and then transported by pipeline for sale in another state. Interstate gas is price-controlled by the Federal Power Commission. Prices in the unregulated interstate market are higher than prices in the regulated intrastate market. These higher prices have allowed intrastate purchasers to attract much of the new gas supply. At these higher price levels, producers have been able to explore for and produce gas which heretofore has been non-commercial. This has caused a market increase in the gas dedicated to the intrastate market. At the same time it has caused a decrease in the gas available to other states where consumers need it but are prohibited by law from paying the going price in the intrastate market.

Engineers attract attention

By AVERY JENKINS

Two University of Kentucky faculty members from the College of Engineering have played principal roles in the development of a new method for solving engineering problems which utilizes 100-year-old mathematical equations and space age computers.

The method — which has attracted world-wide attention — is known as the "Boundary Integral Equation" (BIE) method and it can be applied to many kinds of engineering problems involving, among other things, aircraft, automobiles, electrical fields and acoustics, according to Dr. Frank J. Rizzo and Dr. David J. Shippy of the UK Department of Engineering Mechanics.

The BIE method of mathematical analysis is different from the more established method, called the Finite Element (FE) method, in that information about what is happening on the inside of a structure can be easily obtained by knowledge of what is happening on the outside, or boundary, of the material. With the FE method, the entire structure — not just its boundary — must be modeled.

The research by Rizzo and Shippy is supported, in part, by a grant from the U.S. Air Force Office of Scientific Research.

Rizzo recently returned from a European trip where he lectured on the BIE at universities in Great Britain, West Germany, and France.

The two young professors began a decade ago to work in this essentially untested area of mathematics. "On those long evenings and Saturday mornings we found lots of obstacles to progress, and at times we wondered if the method was really any good. But it's being used all over the world now," Shippy said.

The BIE has taken its place in the engineer's mathematical "tool box," the two educators say.

These Solar Heat Collectors Are Practical and Inexpensive

Designer Daniel I. Hadley, updating and improving a 40-year-old government design for solar energy, has come up with plans for a simplified, low-cost, do-it-yourself solar heat collector that is capable of heating a well insulated room approximately 15 feet square. His announcement came as this nation shivered through one of the coldest winters on record, and was running out of natural resources.

Hadley calls his basic four-by-eight foot heat collector a "truly workable solar heater of the future for industry and the average family, harnessing free the greatest force on earth. I regard this unit as a very fundamental contribution toward energy conservation."

Through test models—several in a row operating under the same conditions with sensitive thermometers inside, tested the proportions, pigments and materials, some operating continuously for as long as seven years—Hadley said he has "proved conclusively" that this hot air or hot water solar heat collector will heat a well-insulated room 15 feet square during peak sun-lit hours. He stressed the factor of well-insulated rooms. Hadley added that the unit can be attached to existing heating systems for supplemental supply, or coupled together to warm larger areas.

Hadley said that the plans and specifications are so simplified that almost any handyman can build the basic unit from standard materials obtainable at neighborhood suppliers at a cost of about $150 to $200. It can be put together in basement or garage over a week-end, he said. Hadley is the first to point out the idea is neither new nor patentable. He simply utilized the basic principles of a Department of Agriculture design of 1936, and through years of testing and implementation, and the use of modern, more durable and efficient materials, evolved a system which "nearly anyone with hammer, drill, saw, and soldering equipment can build, no power tools are needed."

The collector can be adapted for larger home installations, swimming pools and industrial use. It can be attached to almost any roof slope or incorporated into sun structures. Hadley's plans even spell out methods of saving the solar heat for rainy days.

So many people heard of his work and inquired about ways to build their own unit, that Hadley prepared 14 pages of plans and specifications—spelling out each step, simply, with his do's and don'ts and reasons why. They are available for $7—just about enough," he said, "to cover the cost of printing and mailing and some of my long experience." There is also a kit of 24 other solar energy related publications included.

WILMINGTON, DELAWARE— Designer Daniel I. Hadley may have come up with what is a very practical idea for the construction of solar heat collectors that do not call for a large out-lay of cash. The unit shown above, costs less than $200 and will heat a room 15 feet square during peak sun-lit hours. The modular solar collectors are made up of standard materials available in nearly every lumber yard and hardware store. They can be constructed in two days by anyone with the ability to use a hammer and screwdriver. All of the parts can be purchased cut to size from a lumber yard. For the hot water collector, you would need to know how to solder. A complete set of specifications, drawings and price list is available for $7. Included is information on both hot air and hot water solar heat collectors, on various kinds of heat storage, how several units can be connected for larger areas and a list of 24 other publications on solar energy. For the above plans, write to Hadley Solar Energy Co., Box 1456, Wilmington, De. 19899.

Eternal Truth

IN OUR CHANGING WORLD

By Austin Mobley, Minister Providence Church of Christ

A Sanforized Preacher

I had a chuckle when a preacher suggested that the apostle Paul was a "sanforized preacher" because he said, "I shrink not from declaring unto you the whole counsel of God" (Acts 20:27 ASV).

When we see the label "sanforized" on garments we know that means they will not shrink. As Paul preached the gospel of the Son of God, he did not shrink! I.e., "draw back, shun, remiss in holding the truth" (Vine, P. 338). So, in a spiritual sense, Paul was a sanforized preacher. I got the point!

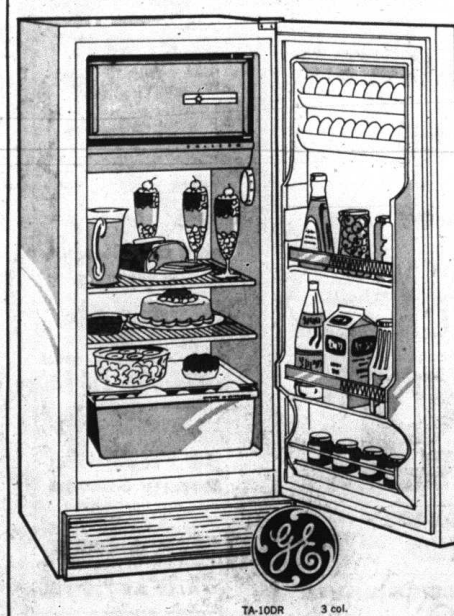

Paul did not shrink from preaching there is one church Eph. 4:4. He did not shrink from preaching against the woman's liberation movement when he said the husband is the head of the wife (Eph. 5:23). He did not shrink from teaching that a burial in baptism makes one a new creature (Rom. 6:34; 2 Cor. 5:17). He did not shrink from instructing the church to withdraw from sinful, disorderly members (1 Cor. 5:1,13; 2 Thess. 3:6). He did not shrink from telling preachers to preach the Word instead of opinions (1 Tim 4:2). He did not shrink from declaring the whole counsel of God (Acts 20:27). Yes, spiritually speaking, Paul was a sanforized preacher! Do you get the point?

County Agent's Notes

By H. Lee Durham
County Extension Agent
For Agriculture

Prepare Plant Beds Now

Select your tobacco bed site now and start getting it ready for weed control treatment, recommends H. Lee Durham, county Extension agent for agriculture.

The plant bed should be plowed now and left to set for a couple of weeks before treatment. This allows the soil to firm back and helps get rid of air pockets in the soil where gas can gather during treatment. Then use the soil treatment you prefer for weed control. Any of the usual soil treatment methods—steaming, burning, gassing or trenching can be used in the fall.

If you have been waiting until spring to treat your plant bed, consider doing this job in the fall this year. Durham suggests. The soil is in better working condition, soil temperatures are higher, and the weather is likely to be more favorable now than in the spring. And most farmers have more time to spend on plant bed preparation at this time of year than in early spring.

Plant beds need better care than they get, in many cases, and this lack of proper care is one main cause of tobacco plant problems in the spring. Fall prepared beds are more likely to get the attention they need than those prepared in spring.

UK Extension tobacco specialists Ira Maxie says that, a couple of years ago, some 60 percent of Kentucky's plant beds were treated in the fall, but that, for some reason, this figure is now down to 30-40 percent. He believes this was one reason for last spring's tobacco plant shortages in many areas. Farmers waited until spring to prepare plant beds and then, because of weather conditions and the pressure of early spring work, beds did not get proper care.

If plant beds are treated now, Durham continues, all you'll have to do next spring is remove the plastic, apply fertilizer, sow the seed, and treat the bed with Enide, a pre-emergence weed killer, should be applied regardless of which soil treatment you used earlier and whether you treated the bed in fall or spring.

Wrong Fire Extinguisher

Can Make Matters Worse

A class ABC fire extinguisher is the best one to buy for home use. Put it in a handy place, think fast and act fast. You can put out almost any type of small fire with it.

It is a dry-chemical unit, effective against three classifications of fire, according to Larr Pierce, UK Extension Safety engineer.

The "Class A" fire involves ordinary burnables—paper, wood, cloth, and many plastics. "Class B" includes flammable liquids, gases, and grease. "Class C" involves electrical fires, which include appliances and wiring in the fire area, even if something else started the fire.

There's also a "Class D" category for burnable metals, one of the worst fires possible, but not a problem in most home situations.

Pierce notes that it takes three things to keep a fire going: fuel, oxygen, and heat. Your class ABC extinguisher literally smothers the life out of a fire.

But remember that it is meant for first aid only; to put out a small fire. If the fire is big, don't stay around to fight it, says Pierce. "Get out fast."

Using the wrong type of extinguisher on a fire can be either disastrous or ineffective, Pierce warns.

If you use a Class A (water under pressure) unit on a Class B fire, it will spread the flames. On a Class C fire, you would have danger of shock or electrocution. And a Class BC extinguisher won't put out a Class A fire.

The dry chemical in your ABC extinguisher has to come in contact with the fire source to be effective, Pierce adds. That means it might not do the complete put-out job on a fire in a stuffed chair or bedding. Your best bet here is to have a garden hose hooked up to a faucet, just in case.

Keep a big box of baking soda handy in the kitchen. You can usually put out a small grease fire with it, saving your extinguisher for another possible emergency.

Clean Stover For Beef Cow Feed

Gleaning corn fields after harvest can provide a low-cost source of energy feed for the dry cows in your beef herd, says John T. Johns, Extension beef cattle specialist in the UK College of Agriculture.

"Energy supplies in corn stover are borderline, and its crude protein, vitamins, and phosphorus levels fall short of what lactating cows and growing steers need," says Johns. "But dry cows generally can do well on stover supplemented with protein and phosphorus."

"Its high crude fiber content and low levels of other important nutrients make stover alone unsuitable for young growing cattle and cows giving milk," Johns says. "But with cheap grain prices, substituting some grain for stover is reasonable, making it more suitable for lactating cows."

Johns says the milking cow's energy and protein needs could be more met with 16 pounds of stover, four pounds shelled corn, and two pounds of a 40% protein supplement. For the dry cow, ¼ pound of a 40% protein supplement added to 16 pounds of stover would fill those needs. These daily rations are based on average levels of nutrients in corn crop residue. Johns recommends a forage analysis to determine exactly what your supplement program should be.

Corn yielding 100 bushels per acre will leave two to three tons of dry matter per acre in the field, according to Johns. Weathering will reduce nutrient content, so the method of feeding corn crop residues is important.

FACTS & FIGURES

Americans spend about $3.6 billion a year on paint to maintain and repair their homes, according to the U. S. Bureau of the Census.

The largest painting now in existence is probably "The Battle of Gettysburg," completed in 1883 after 2 1/2 years work by Paul Philippoteaux (France) and 16 assistants. The painting is 410 feet long, 70 feet high and weighs 11,792 lbs.

By Nevyle Shackelford

October is the heyday of the pumpkin and on the rural scene autumn just wouldn't be complete without it. This ponderous, golden-orange fruit of the vine is not only decorative and pleasing to the eye, but is likewise, when baked into a pie, highly pleasing to the palate. Along with all this, it makes fine food for livestock, and is a fruit of history. It is cultivated almost everywhere in North America and had been for centuries before Columbus reached this New World.

A native of Mexico and Central America, the pumpkin is related to the summer squash and no matter the many varieties now showing up in cornfields across the land, all belong to the same family - "Cucurbita peop."

Early colonists in Virginia found the Indians growing a "turt" like the Muskeg millon, but lesse and worse." No doubt the Englishman who left behind this comment, made the mistake of trying to eat a pumpkin raw. Cattle and hogs love raw pumpkin, but to a human being it does have a dreadful taste.

But taking a tip from the Indians, the colonists found cooked pumpkin to something else a highly nourishing food. The colonists made pumpkin stew, soup, pudding, bread and griddle cakes as well as pie. The flesh was also cut into strips for spring and winter eating.

Back in colonial times, even the pumpkin shell was put to good use. Early New England blue laws required men to have their hair trimmed around a cap. Sometimes a dried half shell of a pumpkin was substituted for a cap by those serving as barbers; hence New Englanders were called "pumpkin heads," an epithet that entered into American idiom, meaning a stupid character.

Another term, "some pumpkins," meaning a person or thing of some consequence is said to have been coined by New Yorkers in the 1850's when their fancies were taken by some enormous pumpkins displayed at country fairs. Henry Ward Beecher, the noted preacher, startled a lot of Englishmen when he referred to London as being "some punkin of a city."

Pumpkins do sometimes reach tremendous size. We heard of one growing in a rich newground cove in Martin County, Ky., that tipped the scales at nearly 400 pounds and was the talk of the countryside. At this late date we have no way of confirming this story, but have no reason to doubt the tale.

Pumpkins are easy to produce and despite the fact many people believe they will cross with watermelons and as James Whitcomb Riley wrote "will make them taste like pumpkins from core to rines," experienced horticulturists say not so. But something that is so is that without pumpkins something wonderful would be missing from American autumns and something wonderfully delicious from Thanksgiving tables.

VOTE FOR

Write-In Candidate

for

5th District

MAGISTRATE

SUBJECT TO THE NOVEMBER GENERAL ELECTION

TO THE VOTERS OF ROCKCASLE COUNTY FIFTH DISTRICT

I am a candidate for magistrate in the fifth district as a write-in candidate. My name will not appear on the ballot. There will be a blank space on the voting machine for you, the people of the fifth district, to write JOE CLARK. If you want better roads in the future than you've had in the past, I think it is time we the people of the fifth district have a full time magistrate instead of a magistrate who is here only on weekends.

If elected, I will survey each road in my district every month. I will be in my district at all times unlike my opponent who is here only on weekends. If elected I will see to it that the equipment your tax dollars paid for will be used on the roads, not parked in the garage as you saw it last winter, when your roads were covered with snow and ice.

Joe Clark
LIVINGSTON

This write-in is new to all of us. Kentucky Election Law KRS 117.285 says the precinct election officers must be capable of instructing voters as to the write-in procedures. All we have to do is ask them for assistance and I am sure we will get it.

VOTE FOR

Henry Lee Abney

Sheriff of Rockcastle County

As the day of election draws nearer and nearer, we are encouraged by many, many people to say a few words to all of the good people and voters of Rockcastle Co. We have seen and talked to all the people we can possibly see and are still visiting each and every day as many people as we can.

We also would like to take this opportunity to say we will support all the schools and churches of the county, ballgames and local functions of the gathering of people, to the best of my deputies' and my ability.

Free information on nutrition just a telephone call away

By BARBARA HICKEY

How many calories are in tonic water? What is the difference between green and black tea?

These are just two of the many questions asked of the Dial-A-Dietitian service, which is sponsored by the Bluegrass Dietetics Association and operated by the UK Department of Clinical Nutrition.

"We do not prescribe diets," said Dr. Willena Beagle who heads the program, "but we do give information related to nutrition or foods."

When a person dials the dietitian service at 233-5326 a secretary takes down the person's name, telephone number and question. This information also can be recorded on the code-a-phone which operates at nights and on weekends.

Within 72 hours a dietitian will return the call, tell the caller she is Mary—the name used by all the dietitians on the Dial-A-Dietitian phone—and provide the requested information. The graduate students in clinical nutrition often take turns providing this service.

Often the calls relate to bread or bread substitutes in carbohydrate restricted diets. Other questions are concerned with foods that are good sources of specific nutrients or about thawed meat.

Sometimes homemakers will call about the canning of tomatoes and how much extra acid they should use.

One caller asked about the use of dill pickles in diabetic diets while another asked about the nutritional value of the earthworm.

New food products often produce questions, Dr. Beagle said. The service has a large collection of literature from many food processors and manufacturers and a basic library of resource materials to research the answers to questions called in.

"This is a good public service," Dr. Beagle said. "It is not restricted to Lexington. If we receive a long-distance call, we would return it or write the caller."

Whitley County 10-yard line but a field goal attempt was no good and the half ended with the Rockets in front 8-7.

Whitley County had to kick off to the Rockets at the beginning of the second half and the kick went out-of-bounds and the Rockets took over on their own 40. A long run by David Owens to Whitley County's 30 was called back because of a personal foul penalty on the Rockets and on the next play, Steve Mitchell got 4 yards but had to leave the game with a severely sprained ankle. Another penalty against the Rockets on the next play was declined by Whitley County because of a fumbled ball on the 50-yard line which the Colonels recovered. On the very first play, following the fumble recovery, the Whitley County quarterback connected with his receiver for a touchdown. This time, the Colonels went for the two extra points but the try failed and Whitley County led 13-8.

The Rockets threatened on their very next series of plays, driving to the Whitley County 17 with the aid of a pass interference call and a personal foul penalty against the Colonels. But, following a four yard gain by Miller, the Rockets were penalized five yards and Whitley County intercepted a Rockets' pass on the next play and ran the ball back to their own 41.

This drive took the Colonels to inside the Rockets' five-yard line but a good, tough defense forced them to settle for a field goal try which failed and the Rockets took over on their own 20. After driving to their own 46, Hammons handed off to Hackworth who broke through the line for a 54 yard romp and the Rockets' last score of the game. A two-point conversion try by the Rockets was no good. But, the Rockets were ahead 14-13.

On Whitley County's next series, they drove inside the Rockets' territory but, on a fourth down play, Walter Browning got to the quarterback for a 10-yard loss and the Colonels were forced to hand the ball over to the Rockets on the Rockets' 49 yard line.

On their first play from scrimmage, a Rockets' fumble gave the ball back to the Colonels who were unable to hang on to it and, again on a fourth-down play, the Rockets regained possession of the football on their own 39.

After that, it was a game of ball control as, despite several penalties, the Rockets managed to hang onto the football for almost four minutes and the win.

Immediately following the game, some Whitley County fans came onto the field and attempted to fight the referees. Some blows were exchanged before the disturbance was broken-up. Rockets' fans found themselves unable to understand this situation because the Rockets were penalized more than the Colonels with four penalties coming against the Rockets in the closing minutes of the game.

Thus far, the Rockets defense has been extremely stingy, allowing only 96 total points to opponents - 37 of these coming in the third quarter of play, the only quarter in which the Rockets have been outscored. Accumulatively, the Rockets have scored 58 points in the first quarter (to 7 for their opponents); 70 points in the second quarter (to 8 for opponents); 36 in the third quarter (to 37 for opponents) and 36 in the fourth quarter (to 14 for opponents).

A Tribute to Roscoe L. Adams

By Opp Russell, Jr.
Lawrenceburg, Ky.

I was sadly grieved lately to learn of the demise of Mr. Roscoe L. Adams, a former merchant and long time businessman in Mt. Vernon.

Mr. Adams was a friend of mine for the past thirty-five years, and I have spent many happy hours in his home when the family resided on West Main Street in Mt. Vernon, as son Jack Lincoln and I were close boyhood pals.

In retrospect, I remember Mr. Adams mostly for his impeccable taste in dress. He was always a cheerful and friendly man and had a zest for living. His rise to success, along with Mr. Connie Sutton and Mr. W.G. McFee, read something like a Horatio Alger story since all three started life as poor but very energetic and ambitious men who established a successful mercantile business in Mt. Vernon that spans over half a century and is still in operation but under different leadership.

As usual there is history connected with a successful business venture and the firm of Sutton and McFee and later Adams provides an interesting story. As earlier stated all of these men were of meager means. To obtain an education, Mr. Sutton did janitorial work and lived in the home of Mr. C.C. Williams. A long time attorney in Mt. Vernon, who was the son of Mr. D.N. Williams, a man of historical status in Rockcastle County. Later, but closely connected with this period of time, Mr. W.G. McFee followed the same course as Mr. Sutton, working for Mr. Williams and staying in his home while obtaining an education.

In 1905, Mr. Sutton started his career as a clerk in the dry goods firm of Mr. U.G. Baker, a prominent citizen and civic leader for many years. He remained in this position for six years and in 1911, became the entrepreneur of his own business.

Mr. W.G. McFee attended high school and clerked in the dry goods store belonging to Mr. Jim Adams.

After Mr. Sutton established

himself in business Mr. McFee joined in a partnership with him and the Sutton and McFee Department Store was established.

Mr. Roscoe Adams began his mercantile career as a clerk in the Jiggs Fish Store where he clerked for about a year. Around 1918, he started clerking for Sutton and McFee and remained in this position for the next sixteen years. On March 1934, Mr. Adams went into business for himself locating in the Rockcastle Building, where he remained for a period of two years. In 1936, he bought the interest of Mr. McFee who desired to be released from the dry goods business so he could devote his full time to the Mt. Vernon Bus Terminal. Mr. Adams transferred his large stock of merchandise to the Sutton-McFee Building and the firm of Sutton and Adams was formed.

The combined stock was the largest in the county and offered the purchasing public an opportunity to buy practically all merchandise found in larger department stores in the city. Quality goods were sold at reasonable prices and seldom was it necessary for local citizens

He Who Hesitates ...

... Is Lost

Perhaps a bit trite, but true when it comes to building now for the energy needs of our children.

For KU, the decision to build a power plant is made only after meticulous, systematic study of the electricity needed in the future. There are no quick and easy options to providing reliable energy—it takes years to complete a generating facility, and the investment involves millions of dollars. But, we can't stop looking ahead... so we build.

As the nation runs short of other fuel sources, the need for electricity is going to grow steadily. Even with your conservation efforts and the harnessing of new sources, we're going to have a lot more customers in the years ahead. We want you to understand the necessity of building now for the future.

Consider the facts, and the lifestyle you want for your children. You'll agree to hesitate would mean to be powerless.

Electricity... use it but use it wisely!
