

Rockcastle Recollection

By John Lahr

Since our history of Rockcastle must soon be going to press it is high time that we reach a decision as to who was the first actual settler to locate here. With the help of Linda Ashley and her checking of land records in Frankfort we were able to locate a few land grants taken up in 1790, but none earlier than this year. These were located generally in the area covered by Skaggs trace, which had been known to hunters, Indian traders and explorers since around 1760, when established by Henry Skaggs and his hunting party.

Not many surveys had penetrated the Kentucky Wilderness at that early date, although the number had greatly increased by 1782. The good blue grass land had been largely taken up and surveying parties were working down to less valuable lands, surveying tracts for individual owners and land speculators as well as for military grants. A few surveys had been made in the Skaggs Creek country, notably for Lewis Craig, who was taking up land as early as 1780 looking toward bringing in the congregation of his "Traveling Church" for settlement. Some of them who settled in Lincoln County when the pilgrimage of the church was made to its new location in what is now Garrard County, notably the Ramsey's, found themselves citizens of Rockcastle after 1810, when the section in which they were living was included as part of Lincoln assigned to Rockcastle.

Also in 1780 Isaac Hite, John Abram and Joseph Bowman entered 2000 acres of land near the head of Skaggs Creek. These four men were early comers to Kentucky and played prominent parts in the history of some of the settlements in central Kentucky. They, like many other early comers, were interested in land principally as an investment and it is not believed that they ever occupied their holdings on Skaggs' Creek. In fact, we find no record of the actual occupation of any of these very early holdings in this area. The first thing I have found-and that very recently-concerning a possible settler here as early as 1781 was in an old land grant I had come across issued to John Cobb on a treasury warrant for 100 acres, signed by Gov. Patrick Henry of Virginia. This land is described as lying on Roundstone Creek, into which Renfro Creek empties at the mouth of Renfro Valley. One of the boundaries of this tract is given as the previously established grant of Samuel Taylor and mention is made of a stone house located on it. Nothing has been found out about when and by whom this house was built, or whether or not anyone was living there or had been prior to 1781. Unless it was merely a temporary protection against Indians thrown up by a small party of hunters it must have been intended as a permanent residence, as it does not appear that anyone would go to the trouble to erect a stone building merely as a temporary shelter from the weather. If this house was occupied by a family, then they must have been the first others a settlement in what was later Rockcastle County.

Since we are presently unable to get further information on the possible occupants of the stone house in question we must revert to our original conclusion that the David Lewis family of Virginia was the first family of record to establish a home within the present confines of Rockcastle County. According to Volume 3 of Kentucky History, by West and Coulter, David Lewis, in 1797, settled with his family about two miles west of the present site of Mt. Vernon, where he spent the remainder of his days and raised a large family, as is noted elsewhere in this work. A part of the old original log house still stands, making it the oldest in Rockcastle County and among the oldest in Kentucky. His numerous sons and daughters intermarried with descendants of other older settlers in the area, which included, among others, Hendersons, Bethurms, McCallis, and Whiteheads.

William Henderson, of one of the families mentioned above, was himself in this area at a very early date, but did not settle here permanently before 1795, he stopped over near present Mt. Vernon on his way back to his home in Virginia after serving as a lieutenant under George Rogers Clark at the capture of Cahokia, Kaskaskia and Vincennes. He had stopped here for a hunt and later wrote a letter to his family telling of having killed a buffalo here. In company with Frederick Akes and Leonard and John Graves, he came back in 1796 to survey for himself a thousand acres of land, on part of which Mt. Vernon now stands. His son, William Henderson, married a daughter of David Lewis.

Collins History of 1847 states that

Stephen Lan-fors was among the first settlers in the county, but does not enlarge upon that statement or furnish further details or proof. Among earlier settlers, although not the earliest, were Stephens, Haley, Williams, Griffin, Graves, Mullins, Dysart and Baker families. A more complete list will be submitted later.

Use Extra Refrigerator To Store Garden Produce
A second hand refrigerator might be a good buy for storing garden produce at your house.

A large refrigerator is a good modern-day replacement for a root cellar, offering about the same temperature range for keeping foods fresh and safe. The big difference is the relative humidity. Refrigerated air is very dry, and that can be hard on most fresh fruits and vegetables. Use perforated plastic bags to help keep out dry air and hold in the natural moisture of your produce.

You could keep your second refrigerator in a utility room, garage, or even on a back porch if there's no space for it elsewhere.
Sometimes there's a big difference in temperature from shelf to shelf, so it would be a good idea to check it with a thermometer. Note which sections are relatively warm (over 50 degrees), cold (40 to 50 degrees), and very cold (32 to 40 degrees). Then store the different foods accordingly.

In very cold weather, you may need to change the temperature setting - some refrigerators in an unheated place will get cold enough to freeze their contents when the outside air temperature drops. In fact, it's a good idea to keep a thermometer in your produce-storage refrigerator all the time so that you can regulate the temperature properly.

In the warmest section, for example, you could store peppers, jam and jellies, crock or refrigerator pickles. In the cold section you could put small quantities of Irish potatoes, summer squash and melons.

On the coldest shelves, store cauliflower, brussel sprouts, broccoli, cabbage, endive, root vegetables, and fruits.

It costs approximately $3.00 per month to run a frostless refrigerator, and a little less than that for a manual-defrost model.

Another idea is to build outdoor storage pits for your fall garden produce. Stop by the County Extension office at the Courthouse in Mt. Vernon for a free copy of a U.K. publication (Storing Vegetables for Fall and Winter) that tells you how to build these pits.

Down on the Farm

By Danny McKinney
Branch Manager
Cumberland PCA

I have recently attended several farm machinery auctions and visited farm machinery dealer lots. It is alarming what prices equipment is demanding. A 5-7 year old tractor brings approximately 40% more than it sold for originally. But to talk about it is like talking about the weather. There's not much we can do about it except take better care of the equipment we have and shop around as much as possible. Sometimes a neighbor may have an item of machinery for sale that another may be looking for. "We can make use of newspapers and radio ads and possibly pick up a bargain. However, sometimes we may need, for instance, a new tractor. We have to go straight to the dealer but, we can to a little better prepared. Spend a little time cleaning up your trade in or price the new tractor straight out and use the newspaper and radio ads to sell your old one. In several cases with trade-in deals, we actually pay the dealer to take our old item. A good maintenance program often presently owned equipment will pay off both in life of the machine and when it comes time for an exchange. It is a constant battle to beat expense down on the farm.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT FROM YOUR WEEK-END MAGISTRATE

To the Citizens and voters of the 5th District, which consists of East Livingston, East Mt. Vernon and Orlando. I would like to take this time to say Thank You for your Support and Confidence you have placed in me to your Magistrate again for the next four years.

As most of you know there is a write-in candidate against me in the November 8 election. A man that ran in the May Primary election on the Republican ticket and was defeated by me as your choice for the next four years.

Do you know when you run for office you take an Oath that, if you are defeated, you will support the elected nominee of your party in the final election?

Now, how can you, the people of the 5th District, vote for a man to serve you as Magistrate that will not support his party. Do you think he will support and serve you if he is elected?

My record in the past shows what I can and will do for you the people of the 5th District and of Rockcastle County.

THE FOLLOWING IS A LIST OF A FEW OF THE MAJOR ACCOMPLISHMENTS DURING MY TERM IN OFFICE:

1. I have upgraded the roads to your family cemeteries.
2. I have had guard rails erected down Brush Creek Hill.
3. I have blacktopped the Salt Petre Cave Road to the Red Hill Road.
4. Widened Highway 1004 at Burr.
5. Installed new culverts and bridges in the district and upgraded all county roads.
6. We have purchased 5 new dump trucks that are paid for.
7. Purchased the Ambulance Service and have two new ambulances that are paid for.
8. I support Senior Citizens with their financial needs.
9. I support the new wing to be built onto the hospital for extended care.
10. Supported the purchase of the Industrial Park, a big step forward for the people of Rockcastle County.
11. We are now in the process of building housing for the ambulance service.
12. And most of all, in the past two years we have not had to borrow any MONEY!

THINK!

If this is the kind of progress you want for Rockcastle County and the 5th District,

VOTE for Ernest Mason, Magistrate, November 8, 1977.

Thank You,

Rockets Trounce Mercer

made a real catch after the ball hit his helmet, bounced into the air, was caught by Thompson and fumbled again before being secured for the two extra points.

Mercer County took Kyle Miller's kick-off and began their series of plays from their own 36. They picked up a first down to the 47, gained two yards on the next play, were stopped for no gain on the next try, and, on a 3-8 situation, sophomore defenstiveman Charlie Falin sacked the quarterback for a 7 yard loss. The Scotties went into punt formation and a fumbled snap proved costly as Walter Browning and Mark Holbrook pounced on the kicker and the ball. However, a personal foul penalty against the Rockets after the fumble and recovery, gave the ball to the Rockets on Mercer County's 37 where it was 1-25 for the Rockets.

The Rockets were unable to get their offense moving on this series and were forced to punt for the only time in the game. The punt went into the end zone for what would have been a touchback but a 15 yard penalty against Mercer County on the play gave the ball back to the Rockets in a 4-3 situation. Hackworth then went to the 10-yard-line for the first down. Steve Mitchell picked up 1, Hackworth added the two extra points carried for three and then the Rockets were stopped on the next play and Mercer County took the ball over on their own 1 yard line.

On their first play from scrimmage, the Scotties picked up 9 yards and then the first down to the 12 yard line. But, on the next play, Casey Hines got to the quarterback for a 4-yard-line and it was 2-14 on the 8. The Rockets then added two points to their score after Mark Holbrook hit the quarterback in the end zone. The ball was fumbled, picked up by another Mercer County player who was tackled by Charlie Falin for the safety and the Rockets were ahead 16-6.

The Scotties had to kick the ball to the Rockets and Eddie Thompson returned it to Mercer County's 39 yard line where it was 1-10 with 5:17 remaining to be played.

Hammons got 5 and Kyle Miller went to Mercer's 28 yard line for the first down. Owens then got 7 yards and, on the next play, a first down to the 18. Hackworth picked up 5 yards to the 13 and then ran in for the touchdown on the next play but it was nullified by an offside penalty against the Rockets making it 2-15. Hackworth then got 5 of the needed yardage. Owens got 9 and Hammons got a first down. With 50 seconds left in the game, Kyle Miller went over for the touchdown and Hammons added the two extra points for the final score of 24-6.

This week, the Rockets, who have certainly proved their mettle in the past two games, take on visiting Knox Central in an important district contest which is also their last game of the season.

OFFENSE

Player	Yds. Gained	Carries
Billy Hackworth	76	16
David Owens	84	12
Kyle Miller	13	3
Earl Hammons	31	7
Steve Mitchell	21	6

The Rockets accumulated 14 first downs, 225 rushing yards, 93 yards on kick-off returns and punted once for 31 yards.

DEFENSE

Player	Tackles	Assists
Kyle Miller	13	5
Earl Hammons	10	4
Charlie Falin	9	3
Mark Holbrook	7	3
Brian Stokes	7	3
Walter Browning	3	1
Bill Hackworth	3
Danny Hunt	2	1
David Owens	3	1
Tony Saylor	3	2
Casey Hines	2	1
Rick Anderkin	2	1
Dusty Carlotis	2

The defense held Mercer County to 8 yards rushing in the second half on 15 carries and 71 yards altogether rushing. Mercer County picked up 8 first downs.

Eddie Thompson, No. 90, stood the crowd on its collective ear when he fumbled, then fumbled again then caught a pass from Earl Hammons for two extra points on the Rockets second touchdown of the night. The ball hit Thompson in the helmet, bounced straight up, was located by Eddie and juggled again before being safely tucked away for the score. The two point conversion followed a touchdown by Billy Hackworth.

On the ground, clutching the football, is No. 10, Earl Hammons after scoring the last two points of the game for the Rockets last Friday night as they trounced Mercer County 24-6. Hammons two-point conversion followed a touchdown by Kyle Miller with 50 seconds left in the game. Helping out on the conversion were, on the ground, No. 51, Robert Owens and No. 74, Brian Stokes.

Believe it or not, this was a touchdown by the Rockets Friday night. If you will look real closely in the bottom right-hand side of the photo, you will see the ball with a player apparently sitting on it. He was. Hackworth took the ball over although he never had a real handle on it and wound up with it underneath him in the end zone. Hammons, No. 10, shown coming into the play, fell on the ball in the end zone just to assure the Rockets of the score - their second one of the game.

Two Jazz Ensembles will play free concert at Eku

The public is invited to a free concert at Eastern Kentucky University November 10 that will feature two jazz ensembles, or bands.

Band A will be conducted by Eku music faculty member Joe Hambrick, a trombonist, and Band B by Bob Abner, a student from Valley Station.

Curtain time for the concert in Hiram Brock Auditorium is 8:30 p.m.

NBC news correspondent Linda Ellerbee to Speak at Eku

NBC news correspondent Linda Ellerbee will speak about her experiences covering Washington's Capitol Hill in Eastern Kentucky University's Hiram Brock Auditorium, Nov. 7 at 8 p.m.

Ellerbee, termed "one of the brightest and most promising reporters in the new generation of broadcast journalists," by an NBC vice president, moved to Washington after holding journalism and broadcasting jobs in Chicago, Texas, California, Alaska, New York and Mexico.

James E. Carter Named Board Chairman of First Bank

James E. Carter, Common Council president and local businessman, was recently named board chairman of First Bank of Madison, Madison, Indiana. Mr. Carter is the brother of Charles C. Carter of Mt. Vernon.

Carter, former executive vice president and board member of First National Bank of Richmond and two other men, purchased controlling interest of the bank from a man who wanted to divest himself of the interest so that he could run for Congress from Illinois.

With the purchase, Carter was made chairman; Richard Reinking, Carter's son-in-law, and James Daws, a partner, also were named bank officers. Carter said he also will serve as chairman of the bank's executive committee and sit on the loan committee. He will continue to live in Richmond.

Carter is a sales associate with Otto Realty, Inc. one of the owners of Heritage House or Richmond, Inc., and board chairman and one of the founders of E-Z Lawn Corp.

A Richmond banker for 38 years, Carter retired from First National in 1974.

He said First Bank of Madison has assets totaling about $27.5 million. Madison is in southeast Indiana in Jefferson County.

After six years of covering city council and chasing fire engines for a radio station, Ellerbee said, "Ask anyone who has ever worked small time radio—it's mulligan/stew and fun."

"I like Washington; like the work and enjoy covering the House of Representatives," she said. "Sometimes I miss the fire engines, but Wayne Hays has almost made up for that."

Ellerbee has a lot to say about what is going on in Washington and some of it is quite shocking. She also talks about why reporters are lax in covering sex and drug scandals, and how television dehumanizes everyone including reporters, newsmakers and the audience.

Admission is free to the public. For further information, contact the Office of Student Activities and Organizations at Eastern Kentucky University, telephone (606) 622-3855.

Beware of Restrictions

The courts permit property owners to put in deeds to buyers reasonable restrictions on the use of the real estate being transferred. It might be looked up as zoning on a very personal basis.

For example, a home in a commercially zoned area may have a restriction against use for any commercial purpose. This may be OK for the first buyer who plans to live in the house, but a lending institution may refuse to loan any money on it because commercial use may be the only reason for a new purchaser to buy it. They prefer to play it safe and give funds for less questionable and risky situations.

From the point of view of the buyer, it is preferable that the agreement enumerate any and all restrictions. The point is this: If there ARE restrictions, bring them out in the open and get the advice of your Realtor or attorney before going any further. It's for your own protection.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at Ford Realty & Auction Co., Inc., Mt. Vernon, Ph. 256-4545. We're here to help!

money by installing it yourself instead of employing a contractor.

If you decide to buy do-it-yourself insulation, there are some safety precautions to follow including:

-Wear protective clothing. -Don't place insulation over electrical heat producing devices. -Be sure there is good ventilation. -Avoid water vapor.

Because of the popularity of insulation, some inexperienced insulation contractors may try to take advantage of unknowing consumers. Investigate the reputation of insulation contractors before agreeing to hire someone to insulate your home. Ask the contractor for references and check with his other customers regarding the contractor's work and reliability. Call your local Better Business Bureau to find out about the contractor's business reputation. Then compare prices for materials and labor from other contractors.

Although insulation may be a good investment, be careful of companies that make exaggerated and unreasonable claims. Claims that state you can save 50 percent or more on your heating bills by insulating may be misleading and untrue. If your house had absolutely no insulation, and proper insulation was then added, you may be able to save up to 50 percent on your heating bills.

Most homes, however, already have some insulation and only require a small amount to be added. Therefore, you would not receive enough new insulation to make a 50 percent savings on your heating bills. Each house will vary in the amount of insulation needed and thus the money saved on heating costs will be reflected by this additional insulation.

The Council of Better Business Bureaus has developed an illustrated booklet written for the average homeowner who is considering installing insulation. This booklet provides a homeowner's checklist on where to insulate and discusses the types of materials used in insulation. Tips for choosing a reliable contractor are included, as well as other important factors to consider when making the installation a "do-it-yourself" project.

The Better Business Bureau booklet also discusses the "R" value of installation which is the rating given to the ability of materials to resist winter heat loss and summer heat gain. Insulation materials can be judged by their different "R" values. This booklet explains the guidelines for minimum "R" values. These guidelines also help you verify the contractor's claims about what is needed for your home.

For your free copy of the "Facts on Home Insulation," send a self-addressed stamped, business size envelope to your local Better Business Bureau. If there is no Better Business Bureau in your area, write the Louisville Better Business Bureau, 312 W. Chestnut, Louisville, Ky. For further information on insulation, contact the Office of the Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. The office has found that it can most effectively deal with written complaints and encourages you to write if you have a consumer complaint. However, if you have an emergency situation or just need information, call the Consumer Hotline number at 1-800-372-2860.

INSULATION

Remember those below zero temperatures last winter and the cost of heating your home? Don't be left out in the cold again this winter of '77. Properly insulating your home can save you money on heating bills as well as reduce the amount of energy you consume.

With the energy crisis causing more and more people to be aware of ways to save on energy consumption, home insulation is greatly increasing.

Available in a variety of forms, insulation can be in blankets, in batts, in a form which is bagged and ready to pour and in a form which must be blown in-place by a contractor using specially designed equipment. If using a blanket or batting form, you may wish to save

Fiscal Court Meets

Very little of major importance was before the Fiscal Court for their monthly meeting Tuesday.

The court did approve the renting of the third floor for offices of the new Judicial Court System, scheduled to begin January 1, 1978. Under the agreement, the county will furnish the circuit court room, the judge's chambers and the jury room, the present Dog Warden office, the Circuit Court Clerk's office (all three rooms) and will rent the other offices on the floor with the exception of one small room located behind the Dog Warden's office. The court will receive about $48000 per year in rental fees, Judge Hubert Thacker said.

In other business, Mrs. Donnie Singleton with the Mental Health-Mental Retardation program, was before the Court to request their approval of a contract to participate in the Situation Identification Detention program recently started. Mrs. Singleton said the contract was for $500 and would be used to treat alcoholics lodged in the local jail at either the Corbin or London center. The Court took the request under advisement.

Mrs. Janet Bradley, director of the Senior Citizen's program was also before the court requesting that the funds originally set up by the Court for the Day Care Centers, be instead allocated to the Senior Citizen's program. The Day Care Centers program is no longer active in Rockcastle County since funding was not available for operation this year.

Mrs. Bradley told the court that her program was currently operating on $917 per month and that it actually took from $1300 to $1400 per month to provide essential services. She said that the transportation portion had been cut back to just providing transportation for the elderly to doctor's appointments only. She also pointed out to the Court that the Senior Citizens' program doubled the number of elderly people served the first six months of this year as compared to the first six months of 1976 with 655 in 1976 and 1,379 in 1977.

On a motion by Magistrate Danny Sargent, seconded by Ernest Mason, the court approved the transfer of the allocation to the Senior Citizens' program.

The Court also approved the advertisement for bids for the new ambulance service garage with bids to be opened at the December meeting.

DON'T FORGET

This Friday night's home football game between the Rockets and Knox Central will close out the Rockets season for this year. They have thus far amassed an 8 and 1 record.

New Business

Donald McClure announced Tuesday that he was beginning construction of a new building that will house a Ben Franklin Store which plans to locate here.

The 8,600 sq. ft. building will be located next to King's Pie Pac on U.S. 150 in Mt. Vernon.

Mr. McClure said that the exterior of the building will be the same as the Pie Pac building in front with parking in front which both stores will use jointly along with the parking now in front of Pie Pac.

A spring opening is planned for the new business.

Sunrise Baptist To Be Officially Constituted

The newly formed Sunrise Baptist Church will be officially constituted as a cooperating Baptist Church, affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention, with a special service.

This special service will be conducted at 2:30 p.m., Sunday, November 6, 1977 at the Church's temporary location on Hwy. 39, approximately 2 miles South of the Hwy. 70 and 39 intersection, in a residence located behind Head's Grocery and Garage.

Bro. Harvey Pensol will be bringing the message and this a personal invitation from the church to everyone to attend this service.

Constitutional Convention Question Is On General Election Ballot

A Yes or No vote on a Constitutional Convention will be asked of voters in the November 8th General Election. The question asks, "Are you in favor of calling a convention for the purpose of revising or amending the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Kentucky and such amendments as might have been made to same?"

The Coalition for a Constitutional Convention in Louisville stresses that it is important that voters know that a vote calling for a convention is only that, and not a vote for a new constitution. The state legislature required that any new constitution drawn up by a convention be submitted to voters for approval.

In state races, voters will have only once opportunity to decide on - that of State Representative.

Incumbent Representative William Harold DeMarcus has opposition from Democrat Jesse Ramey of Waynesburg.

Calvin Aker and Walter Flippin McClure, both of Somerset, are unopposed for Judge of the District Court - part of the new judicial system which will take effect January 1, 1978. Mr. Aker is running for election in the 1st Division and Mr. McClure in the 2nd Division.

Locally, there is some opposition on the ballot against Republican candidates who won the primary election.

Those opposed are Henry Lee Abney for Sheriff by Democrat Lloyd K. "Pooper" Albright of Broodhead.

Three Magistrates have opposition, two Democratic opponents and one announced write-in candidate, Opposing Sherman "Danny" Sargent is Democrat George Parsons; Democrat Lee Faulkner is running against J.R. "Boone" Cromer and incumbent Magistrate

Ernest Mason is being opposed by Joe Clark as a write-in candidate.

The other two Magistrates - both Republicans elected in the May Primary are unopposed. They are Amos Burdette and Frank DeBorde.

Two constables have opposition - Ben Carpenter is being opposed by Democrat Benny Earl Allen and Johnny C. Taylor is seeking the Constable's office from District 3 from Leonard Bishop who won the Republican Primary.

Mt. Vernon residents will not have to worry about the City Council race, all six candidates, presently in office, are unopposed. (Cont. 'd to P-10)

Dale Noe Selected for National FFA Band

Dale Noe, age 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie D. Noe, of Mt. Vernon is one of the 120 FFA members from across the nation selected to participate in the National FFA Band. Dale was selected from over 500 applicants representing 44 states and will play the trumpet. After two days of intensive practice prior to the convention, the Band is to perform during all but one session of the 50th National Convention of the Future Farmers of America, November 8-11, in Kansas City, Missouri. Dale is a member of the Rockcastle Co. FFA Chapter where his advisors are Bill Ponder and Russel Parsons. He is also a member of the R.C.H.S. Band under the direction of Robert N. Pybas.

Often referred to as the "mail order band" because of the method of recruiting members, the National FFA Band was first organized in 1947. Since that time competition for the honor of playing in the band has steadily increased. Under the direction of Roger Heath, Director of Virginia Tech Bands, the FFA Band has gained a reputation for its polished performances even though bandmen only have two days to practice together prior to their first performance.

In addition to the 120 piece band Health plans for the first time this year to assemble a 200 piece stage band of the best musicians. The stage band will make its first appearance in a special pageant kicking off the 50th Anniversary National FFA Convention. The music for the pageant has been specially arranged and timed to accompany a pictorial and narrative review of the FFA from its beginning in 1928 to the present. The stage band will join members of the National FFA Chorus and other selected small groups to present the conclusion to the anniversary convention, according to Heath.

"We've been considering forming a stage band from within the National FFA Band for several years," says Heath enthusiastically as he discusses (Cont. to 7)

Meet Red -- Brodhead's Town Dog

By: Roger Coldiron

It certainly is strange how some days you can be walking around, minding your own business, doing the best job you know how, when, all of a sudden, your whole world can come crashing down on your shoulders. At that point, you often find out how stupid you really are.

This very thing happened to me this past week. I walked into the Signal office last Wednesday, after a hard day in the salt mines at the University of Kentucky, and Parline Anderkin, the editor was there doing the dynamic job she always does in getting those precious, pulpy pages out of the office and into the hands of you - the readers. She calmly turned to me and said, "I want you to write a feature about Brodhead's dog." I looked back, utterly bewildered, with what must have been a (Cont. 'd to P-4)

Rockets Trounce Mercer, 24-6

The Rockets overcame a sluggish first half of play Friday night at Mercer County and romped the second half to beat the Scotties 24-6, to bring their season record to 8 wins against one loss.

Mercer County's only score came with 10:28 to go in the second quarter on a pass play. Their extra point attempt was no good.

The Rockets started the game out by forcing the Scotties to kick on their second series of plays. The punt was fielded by the Rockets on their own 23 and, following a first down to the 36, pass play from Rick Anderkin to Eddie Thompson, put the ball on Mercer County's 25 yard line; but, a fumble on the next play gave Mercer County the ball and their eventual only score of the game.

The Rockets threatened once again late in the second quarter when David Owens picked off a Mercer County pass on the Scotties' 20 and returned it to the Rockets' 49. A 15 yard personal foul penalty against Mercer County put the ball on Mercer's 36 and an offside on the next play against Mercer gave the Rockets a 1-5 on the 31. Earl Hammons went to the 23 two plays later for the first down but was shaken up and had to leave the game.

Sophomore David Riddle, replaced Hammons at the quarterback position and moved the ball to a first down for the Rockets at the 11 yard line of the Scotties. An incomplete pass and a sack of the runner in the backfield made it 3:15 with 21 seconds to go in the half. Hammons came back into the game at this point but two incomplete passes later, the half ended with the Scotties out on front 6-0.

David Owens gave the Rockets the impetus they needed, however as after first fumbling the ball, he took the Scotties' opening kick off of the second half on the 20-yard-line and ran it 80 yards for the score. Earl Hammons ran some beautiful interference, including one key block, that turned Owens loose for the romp. The extra point attempt by the Rockets failed and the score was knotted at 6 to 6 with 11:47 to go in the third quarter.

Another good run by Owens from the Rockets 47 yard line to Mercer's 25 set up the Rockets next score with Hackworth going around left and for the touchdown. A delay of game penalty against the Rockets between the touchdown and the extra point attempt backed the Rockets up five yards but Hammons was equal to the task as he found Eddie Thompson open in the end zone for the two extra points. Thompson (Cont. to Second Section)

The Rockets first score of Friday night's game at Mercer County came when David Owens, No. 24, took the opening kick-off of the second half and returned it 80 yards for the touchdown. Owens later set up another touchdown by carrying the ball from the Rockets' 47 yard line to Mercer County's 25 yard line. He the referee's hair looks a little long in the above photo, it's because she was a lady referee - the first we have seen thus far in the sport. A television station out of Louisville made the trip to Mercer County last Friday to shoot some footage of the event.

Letter To The Editor

I would like to express my personal opinion about the proposal to throw out Kentucky's present Constitution and write a new one. This question will be on the ballot Nov. 8, deserves careful consideration by each voter.

I'm not impressed by the arguments used by those who say our present constitution is so old as to be worthless. Our state charter was approved in 1891, which makes it much younger than the high level state bureaucrats are advocating a change. For instance, the present Constitution limits property tax levels and limits terms of office of elected officials, limits the length and frequency of sessions of the legislature, and limits the amount of debt allowed for state and local governments.

Some people call these provisions restrictive and that they are. They restrict the tax spenders, while they protect the taxpayers. These same people pushed the Judicial Amendment last year, and they have supported annual sessions of the legislature, and the new Constitution in 1966. They want fewer restrictions on how much of our tax money they can spend.

I say government is too big, and that the quickest way to see its size, and its debt grow is to throw out our Constitution. If small portions need revising, such as the drafting oath, they can be amended individually, without destroying the whole document.

I hope Kentuckians vote no on the Constitution revision. If we Save Our Constitution, we will have saved ourselves a lot of money in coming years.

Sincerely
W.E. Proctor

To Whom It May Concern:
 Unfortunately I did not get the nice lady's name when I called your newspaper concerning publication of a genealogical item hoping I can find "kin" in Rockcastle County, Kentucky, however I am enclosing the information in this letter and I might add that I have requested our Indianapolis Star Newspaper to send you a Sunday copy of our paper featuring the Indiana Ancestors Column as requested.

After I took to your office I did write to John Lair in Renfro Valley, Kentucky for information concerning the families in that area and hope that I am lucky enough to find mention of our White's as a follow up to my letter. Since I have been working on this family tree for over three years, I find it much easier to find the branches and twigs than to find the trunk of the tree, and would be so grateful if the Rockcastle helps bring some of the information out of the shadows.

I also talked to our Indiana State Library head concerning Rockcastle County, Kentucky mentioning your willingness to put my request in the paper and she hoped your willingness might extend to other persons. She is also hoping to find information on Rockcastle County and would be willing to pay a reasonable amount if a charge, or would be happy to receive information that might be available. This library is open to the public and has a vast store of knowledge devoted for persons hunting family history. I would be most happy to relay any messages for persons hunting family history, I would be most happy to relay any messages or will send her name if requested, she is awaiting information on John Lair's book and is very pleased to hear of it, our thanks to you.

totally blank face and said the first and only thing that came to my mind - nothing.

At the risk of making my ignorance a public spectacle, I must, in total honesty, admit that I didn't know Brodhead had a dog. But Brodhead does - and I had just been assigned to write an article about him - or her - or whatever.

Now I have been working hard on a pretty good and very expensive education at U.K. I am presently in last semester and I have taken some comprehensive journalism courses from some very dignified and prominent professors. I have interviewed such distinguished people as Jack Kilpatrick and Louise Nunn - I even asked Ronald Reagan a question once. None of which is bragging, I'm just setting you up, in my smooth journalistic style, for what's coming next. Perflia was serious; she wanted me, the college-educated journalist - to write an article about a pooch.

So, being the loyal and dedicated person I am, Saturday morning I packed up my very expensive camera, my gold-plated ink pen, and my reporter's tablet and went to Brodhead in search of their Legendary canine.

Fortunately he, it is he, wasn't too tough to find. You see, Red - that's his name - has a daily schedule that he more or less follows and all of Brodhead's citizens know it. Most of them know where Red is likely to be at almost any time during the day.

I stopped at Fletcher's Market in Brodhead, primarily because I know Charles Fletcher better than any of the other Brodhead business people. I inquired of Charles who could tell me a little about Red and found that his store was Red's first daily stop. Charles was a great deal of help and he acted as though he was pleased that Red was getting the attention.

As I said, Fletcher's Market is Red's first daily stop. He gets the ends of bologna rolls and the day's meat scraps. For dessert, he goes across the street to Dillingham's Sundry and has a candy bar and a bowl of milk - occasionally with a scoop of ice cream.

After dessert, Red recrosses the street to W&W Discount where he gets a bowl of water. Here, there are sometimes cookies, sometimes another candy bar, whatever kinds of goodies happen to be around. Once in a while, there is hamburger. Red also spends part of his morning lounging there.

Enough of downtown, Red sets off to Bradley's Service Station. There he watches the men work and do whatever men do when they hang around service stations. Ladies, you'll have to ask your husbands about that because I don't think I know either.

Around lunchtime, Red goes to Watson Funeral Home where he eats, then lays on Frank Watson's large asphalt parking lot for an afternoon's sunning. With a hard afternoon's sunning done, Red heads for Bill Bussell's house where he has supper. Red also sleeps in the Bussell's basement at night.

The people mentioned above are not the only ones that look out for Red. For example, some time ago, Red was hit by a car. Johnny Newland took him to the vet. A kind of gloom fell over Brodhead because everyone was so worried about Red. He was in danger of dying. But Red recovered and Johnny and his wife, Deborah, paid the vet's bill, as they had once before when Red injured a leg.

Deborah says that Red often comes to their house to visit and, if the weather is too bad or if it's very cold, he stays with them overnight.

"And how did Brodhead come to own such a dog?" I hope you're asking by now.

Red was found in Cincinnati by Melvin Hubbard, Melvin's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Hubbard lived in Brodhead and Red was given to Dwight Hubbard by Melving. About four years ago, Mrs. Hubbard died. She was taken to Watson Funeral Home and Red started going there. Even after Mrs. Hubbard was buried, Red continued to go to the funeral home. Mrs. Hubbard started feeding Red and his being a dinner guest became a daily affair. He began drifting to Brodhead's business district during the day and the schedule began to develop. He has been the community dog ever since.

Red has been stolen twice. Apparently someone thought Red didn't belong to anyone and took him home with them. The fact is, Red belongs to everyone in Brodhead and both times he came home by himself. Red is an Irish Setter and that makes him a very desirable pet.

Red is also an extremely friendly dog - he loves to have his head scratched and he likes to be talked to even though he doesn't talk back much. When you look into Red's sad eyes, you understand why the people of Brodhead love him so much and why they would probably fight anyone who tried to take Red away.

Well, Red, I hope you enjoy reading this as much as I enjoyed writing it. I know one of your friends in town will show it to you and I hope you enjoy your new-found fame. But, I'll give fair warning: the next time an editor tells me to write a feature article about a dog, I'm going back to college and change my major to physical education.

his special place for the 50th Anniversary Convention. "The project just did not seem appropriate in terms of the band's limited time and heavy demands placed on it until this year. The 50th Anniversary celebration pageant makes this effort appropriate and provides the incentive to exert the extra effort that it will require," explains Heath.

Heath, now in his ninth year as director of the National FFA Band, was presented the FFA Honorary American Farmer Degree in recognition of his decided service to the FFA.

"Band members are selected on the basis of tape recorded auditions or competitive auditions in their State FFA Band with supporting recommendations for their high school band directors," explains Heath who spends many hours during the summer selecting FFA members to fill the 120 piece band. In addition, all applicants are required to list their musical experience and activities such as solo and ensemble performances, special honors and special experience such as drum majoring or baton twirling.

FFA members who play in the band arrive in Kansas City two days before the convention starts so they can begin practicing. "Although we send band members the more difficult music ahead of time, it still takes a lot of practice to get ready for our first performance on Wednesday morning," says Heath. "We will spend six to eight hours Sunday afternoon and evening practicing the music and working out marching style," he explains. "We'll also practice all Monday and Tuesday, and the rest of the week we'll keep in shape by short practice sessions and concert performances." Although participation in the band is a lot of hard work there are lighter moments. Early in the week, the band is treated to a dinner and special entertainment by Hallmark Cards, Inc., of Kansas City, Missouri.

Two other men, Phillip D. Wharton and Roland Rutz will assist Heath with the Band. Rutz of the Montgomery Public Schools in Montgomery, Minnesota, will assist Heath in practice sessions working with the brass, woodwind and percussion instruments. Wharton, who is Director of Bands at Fort Meade High School, Fort Meade, Florida, will serve as Assistant Director. During the convention week the FFA Band will play at seven sessions. "We'll play a wide variety of music," says Heath "including marches, rock tunes, selection from Broadway musicals, serious music, and mood music." "We'll also have some of the latest hits," adds Heath, who likes to "think young" when planning music for the youthful convention crowd. Although the FFA convention officially ends Friday evening the bandmen will not finish their week's work until noon Saturday at the conclusion of the American Royal Parade. Traditionally, the FFA Band has been featured as the leading marching unit in the parade which signals the end of the National FFA Convention and the opening of the American Royal Livestock and Horse Show.

If you haven't looked at a copy of this year's deer hunting regulations, you might be in for a surprise. There are some major changes this season.

For one thing, gun hunters will have two "long weekend" hunts, instead of the usual five-day season. The gun season opens Nov. 12, runs through Nov. 14 then closes until Dec. 3, when it opens for another three-day hunt through Dec. 5. That's one extra day of hunting, and with any luck at all, we'll have good weather on at least one of these weekends.

Gun hunters may also use certain handguns this year, providing the guns and ammunition meet certain qualifications. All barrels must be 3.90 inches or longer and only the following cartridges may be used: .30 Herret, .357 Herret, .357 magnum, .357 auto mag., .41 magnum, .41 auto mag., .44 magnum, .44 auto mag., .44-40, .45 Colt long, .45 auto mag. or .45 ACP, the last of which must be used semi-jacketed soft point or semi-jacketed hollow point bullets. No full jacketed bullets of any caliber may be used.

Note that this regulation calls for specific cartridges. This means, for example, that it isn't legal to hunt deer with .38 caliber cartridges in a .357 pistol, even though the .38 cartridge will fit in the particular gun.

These handguns may be used during both the Nov. 12-14 and Dec. 3-5 gun seasons, and handgun hunters are subject to the same regulations as other gun hunters.

Nine counties will permit either bucks or does to be taken on Dec. 3 only. These counties are Ballard, Crittenden, McCracken, Livingston, Barren, Hart, Edmonson, Gallatin and Owen. During the other five days of gun hunting, only bucks with at least one forked antler may be taken in these counties.

Bucks only is the rule for the entire gun season in the remainder of the open counties in Kentucky. All counties are open except the following, which are closed to both gun and bow deer hunting: Clark, Clay, Floyd, Harlan, Jackson, Johnson, Knott, Leslie, Magoffin, Martin, Owsley, Perry, Powell and Wolfe.

Several wildlife management areas are closed to all hunting as part of a deer restoration project. These areas re Beaver Creek, Dewey Lake, Grayson Lake, Pine Mountain, Redbird and Robinson Forest. These areas are well-marked with posted signs, so hunters shouldn't have any problems here. The Yellowbank area in Breckinridge county is closed to deer hunting but open for hunting other species.

Gun hunters who took deer last year should be familiar with check stations.

This "instant survey" method of keeping track of our deer harvest will be in effect again this year. You should have received a list of check stations when you bought your deer permit. If you didn't, the lists are available from any county court clerk. All deer taken by gun hunters must be checked, either at the nearest open check station or by a conservation officer.

And speaking of the deer permits, the search for a better tag goes on. Last year's plastic tag proved to be brittle in cold weather, so this year hunters are trying a tape tag. Don't experiment with it; when you stick the two ends together, it's stuck for good, so don't try it on anything except your deer.

Remember that all gun hunters must wear either a vest, coat, coveralls, cap or hat of fluorescent "hunter" orange. The entire garment must be hunter orange, and wearing any one of the above will satisfy the requirements of this safety regulation.

Finally, remember to ask permission to hunt on private lands. If you are hunting with a .240 caliber or larger rifle, the law now requires that you obtain written permission. Either written or oral permission is necessary for all other hunters.

We've covered just some of the highlights of this year's deer hunting. For a complete rundown, write the Division of Public Relations, Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Frankfort, Ky. 40601 for a copy of the 1977 Deer Hunting Guide.

Write-In Candidate

5th District
MAGISTRATE

SUBJECT TO THE NOVEMBER GENERAL ELECTION
TO THE VOTERS OF THE FIFTH DISTRICT

I strongly urge and need your support in the November election. I am not making campaign promises I can not fill, only those I can, those you as a taxpayer deserve. I will see that your money is not spent on a few roads, but over all your roads so that each individual benefits from the taxes he pays. I urge you to review the past conditions of your roads, the past performance of your magistrate. Do you honestly feel that this is the best that can be done with your money, with the equipment you bought with your tax dollar? I do not! That is why I urge you to write Joe Clark on the write-in space provided on the voting machine.

I deeply appreciate your support. We can do it. We must if we are to move forward to the improvement of our roads, our community.

Joe Clark

This write-in is new to all of us. Kentucky Election Law KRS 117.265 states that the precinct election officers must be capable of instructing voters as to the write-in procedures. All we have to do is ask them for assistance and I am sure we will get it.

Facts & Figures

Every year, candy makers in the United States use 185 million pounds of nuts and peanuts, 325 million pounds of cocoa and chocolate products—and 1.4 billion pounds of sugar.

Too much candy may not make a good diet—but neither does too much milk, cheese, meat, vegetables or fruit. Taken in moderation, candy is a good source of energy—so important for students and workers to get through long days—and also provides needed nutrition through carbohydrates and fats, and some protein, vitamins and minerals.

The first chocolate factory opened in America in 1765. Today, the average American eats six ounces of chocolate every week—about eleven and a quarter pounds a year.

"GENERAL ELECTION BALLOT"

In Brodhead, only two candidates filed for City Trustee - both women. They are Mrs. Lillian Collett and Mrs. Elizabeth Mullins. After the election, other trustees will have to be appointed by the Governor.

As is the case in Mt. Vernon, Livingston residents have no choice for City Council as all five candidates are unopposed.

THE YOUNGEST TRICK OR TREAT-ER - had to be little Miss Koula Verta Collingsworth, 8 week-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dickie Collingsworth of Mt. Vernon. Mrs. Collingsworth made her daughter a clown suit, used the appropriate make-up, and took her out with the other ghosts and goblins Monday night. The implication from eight-week-old Koula was that it really wasn't that interesting.

Conservation Poster and Essay Contest is Underway

by Wallace Proctor
Chairman, Rockcastle Conservation Dist.

Every year The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times in cooperation with the Rockcastle Board of Education and the Rockcastle Conservation District sponsors the Conservation Poster and Essay Contests. The theme of the 1977 Poster and Essay Contest is "Fish and Wildlife Management-Its Value to Me".

All students in Rockcastle County have an opportunity to participate. Students in grades 1-5 may either enter the poster or essay contest while students in grades 6-12 may enter only the essay contest.

The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times has provided newspaper type pamphlets to all the schools in the County with articles on Fish and Wildlife Management and a list of books with additional information on the topic. The major objectives of the contests this year are:

1. To provide students with factual information about fish and wildlife management, especially as it relates to Kentucky.
  2. To assist students in developing an appreciation of wildlife as a valuable natural resource.
  3. To encourage students to become personally committed to fish and wildlife management.
- The Rockcastle Conservation District has a limited supply of pamphlets on hand. The Conservation District is willing to assist any student or group of students by giving them or obtaining for them information pertaining to fish and wildlife management. Contact any Conservation District Supervisor or call Greg Stephens at 256-2541. The contests end in late November, so if you're a student give it some thought and participate. If you're a parent, encourage your child to participate.

The Country Store; Symbolic of Rural America

Nothing is more symbolic of rural America during the 19th century than the little country store. Along with pungent aromas of tobacco, apples, molasses and pickle brine, lively political discussions and checker games, the country store provided rural communities with a contact to industrial and commercial America.

The country store was the focal center of the community, and the storekeeper was all things to the community—crop consultant, banker, postmaster, social advisor, character reference, and general community "obligator". The storekeeper sold anything from coffin to a postage stamp.

The curators recently received the first donated items for the country store, a tobacco cutter, candy jar and a pair of ice tongs, all made in the late 1800's. The donated items came from Nina Meredith of Grayson County who, until three years ago, ran a country store in the Grayson County community of Wax.

"The tobacco cutter was used to measure and cut a nickel chew," said Nina. "The Kiss Me jar was used to store candy. The lids of these and other candy jars were designed to sit awkwardly so that they rattled should little hands steal inside the containers." The ice tongs came from Nina's cream station which she operated before opening the country store in 1944.

Typical of more country stores, Nina's store offered a variety of services.

A customer could fit a mule with harness, get a haircut, buy gas for automobiles or farm equipment or sit down to a hot meal in the coffee shop in back of the store.

During her 30 years as a storekeeper, Nina grew tobacco, gave Harry Hale sits in the driver's seat of the Laser 917 which he assembled from a kit purchased from Elite Manufacturing Co.

Car Kits Can Furnish A Very "Modern" Looking Car

By: Perla M. Anderkin

For all of you who have ever wished for a little something different from the ordinary mass-produced cars that everyone drives we have the answer—no, it's not a Batmobile—it's a Laser 917 built by Harry Hale of Hillsboro, Ohio. Mr. Hale was visiting his father, Foster Hale of Travis Street in Mt. Vernon this week and we took the opportunity to look over the car which is certainly not something you could overlook.

Mr. Hale said the car came in a kit from Elite Manufacturing Co. of Minnesota complete except for the chassis, engine and transmission and a lot of "nickle and dime" items that Mr. Hale wanted to add. The fiberglass body of the car had the doors and hood attached when received but from there it was all up to Mr. Hale as he proceeded to put everything else where it should go. About 400 man hours went into assembling the car which has a Volkswagen engine with about 60 h.p.

The car will travel as fast as 100 m.p.h., although Mr. Hale says it takes him a little while to achieve this speed. The car averages 33-35 m.p.g. and only weighs 1,800 pounds.

On question, Mr. Hale said the car cost him about $5,000, not including his labor and the occasional help of friends. This is not Mr. Hale's first experience with a do-it-yourself car. He has built others this way including a replica of a 1927 Bugatti also on a Volkswagen chassis.

Mr. Hale is a production foreman and has a garage in Hillsboro, Ohio, and his father, who owned a business in Ohio before retiring to Mt. Vernon, said that, in his business, he sold the miniature cars and, at a very early age, his son built these and would also revise them to his own ideas.

The car is actually beautiful and economical. The seats, which couldn't resist trying, are built to conform to your body and you feel as though you are practically lying down. There is an intricate dash board which contains all sorts of complex looking switches and gauges only to find out they control the windshield wipers, lights and other regular items found on everyone's car—they just look more sophisticated.

My son saw it very early in the morning as he was making the rounds with his paper route and was telling me about it with the final comment of "That thing just about scared me to death." I wouldn't recommend it for those of us too old or too fat to move around easily—the proper method of entering, since the doors swing upward, is by sitting down in the seat sideways and then swinging your legs around. You reverse the procedure for getting out of it.

But, if you have nothing else to do with your spare time and know mechanics it would be fun to tackle one—it's always fun to have something a little different than everyone else has—just ask Harry Hale.

County Agent's Notes

By: H. Lee Durham
County Extension Agent
For Agriculture

Dairy Marketing Outlook - 1978
Current farm milk prices are being buoyed by the support price. The support price was approximately $9.00 while manufacturing grade milk was holding around $8 per cwt. Meanwhile feed prices had moderated. The resultant milk feed price ratio has been favorable for encouraging further expansion of milk production. You remember that the ratio is the pounds of concentrate ration equal in value to 1 pound of milk.

In short, the dairy industry is being plagued by an excessive supply of milk relative to the demand for milk and milk products.

Moderate milk prices coupled with large numbers of replacement heifers should further encourage a growth of the nation's milk herd. By mid-1977 there were 36.5 heifer replacements per 100 milk cows - a very high ratio.

Kimberly Ann Doan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Doan of Rt. 2, Mt. Vernon, celebrated her first birthday, Wednesday, November 2nd, Kim is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arlis Doan of Rt. 3, Mt. Vernon and Betty Bullock of Mt. Vernon and the great granddaughter of Mrs. Bea Bullock of Mt. Vernon.

Production of the rest of 1977 and into the first half of 1978 should continue to post gains.

The main factor influencing milk prices in 1978 will be the support price. In fact milk prices will not move much above the support levels.

The Food and Agricultural Act of 1977 recently signed by President Carter sets a minimum support at 80% of parity as contrasted to 75% of parity in the old legislation. Support adjustments based on an Index of Prices paid-by farmers in required semi-annually. Secretary of Agriculture has the authority for quarterly adjustments if so chooses.

This support legislation will forestall the balancing of production and consumption of milk. To eminent support levels will not encourage chronic surpluses, neither will it bring S&D into balance. It will prolong the current imbalance unless feed or other costs would happen to spurt.

Expect Problems with White Grubs Destroying Lawns

Johnny Darrell McClure celebrated his 5th birthday, October 24th. Johnny is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis McClure of Mt. Vernon and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McClure of Brodhead and Mrs. Bea Bullock of Mt. Vernon.

The majority of the specimens received for identification have been larvae of Masked Chafers (Cyclophala sp.) sometimes called Annual White Grubs, because their life cycle is completed in one year. The larvae that are present now will quit feeding with the onset of cold weather and move to below the frost line to over winter. In April or May they will resume feeding for short period of time before they pupate to later emerge as adults in June or July. Adults have been known to feed on green peaches, other fruits, roses and tree leaves.

Yellow jackets, bees and hornets will be annoying people working around fruit trees, home gardens, etc.

Watch for invasion of homes by face flies, cluster flies, millipedes, sow bugs, spiders, crickets, mice, etc. as cold weather approaches; the return of Alfalfa Weevil adults to alfalfa fields; stored grain pests in grain being stored especially in uncleaned bins; renewed problems with fall armworms unless weather remains unseasonably cool and damp.

We are still getting a lot of complaints concerning white grubs in lawns, but we are hesitant to recommend insecticide treatments this late in the season. Except for one case of Japanese beetles from the eastern part of the state, all the other white grubs have been masked chafers.

William Leon Mason, Jr. will celebrate his first birthday Friday, November 4th. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leam Mason and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mason and Mr. and Mrs. David L. Stewart, all of Orlando.

Masked chafers have a 1 year life cycle, and not a 2 to 3 year cycle as with May beetles, so the grubs are nearly full grown now. In this late they are more resistant to insecticides than they were in early August. Also during this time to year we get more rain than in summer so lawns can tolerate white grub infestations better. Because of the combination of reduced effectiveness of insecticides applied now and the increased tolerance of lawns to grubs, we suspect there would be little difference in damage between untreated lawns and lawns treated now. Any kill of grubs that is achieved will hardly be advantageous to the lawn next year. Grubs that make it through the winter feed only a short time before they become beetles and leave the ground. Diazinon, Dylax or Durban, the insecticides we are recommending, do not remain long in the soil so no protection is afforded against future grub infestations. You will have to treat in August whether you treat now or not. Winterizing equipment will insure proper functioning next year. Dusters and granular applicators should be washed thoroughly with a detergent and dried. Sprayers and spray lines should be washed with a detergent, flushed with ammonia-water solution, and then flushed with water. If the sprayer contains parts that are likely to corrode, a coat of light weight oil should be used to coat the surfaces. You can save yourself a lot of trouble next year by following these suggestions now!
