Freezing Stuffing

When you freeze leftover stuffed turkey or chicken, be sure to take out the stuffing and freeze it separately. Use it within 6 months.

Date the Packages

The Mt. Vernon Signal Thursday, November 24, 1977 P-9

Be sure to write the date frozen on the package label. That will help you to remember to use the turkey, broth, gravy or stuffing before it goes over the recommended storage time and loses some of its quality and flavor.

Refreezing Turkey
If raw or cooked poultry thaws, you can refreeze it if it still contains ice crystals. But thawing and refreezing will lower its eating quality, so it would be better to use it in a meal right away instead.

Timesavers
You might want to make up a casserole with the leftover cooked turkey and freeze it for a quick meal on a busy day this winter. Plan to use it within 6 months.

Another idea would be to make turkey sandwiches and freeze them. You can tack these frozen sandwiches into a lunchbox in the morning and have them thawed and still safe to eat at noon. They'll keep in your freezer up to 1 month.

Frozen broth is good in soups or for making gravy.

Thawing Turkey
When you thaw turkey, stuffing, broth, or gravy do it in the refrigerator. Don't thaw it at room temperature because that gives food-poisoning bacteria a chance to get up on it.

You can pop a frozen casserole in to the oven and heat it without thawing. Just be sure to start with a cool oven.

"SHORT ROWS"

interfere with the blades of the power mower. But one thing to keep in mind, if your lawn and garden are suddenly infested with a lot of moles, you probably need them to do away with a lot of harmful underground insects.

Although we have never had much luck with either method, some mole experts banished by planting daffodil bulbs and castor beans in the vicinity of the infestation. We know that both daffodil bulbs and castor beans are poisonous, but how do you dine on poisonous beans and bulbs?

Some say tiny windmills low on the ground will irritate moles and cause them to depart. We have tried this too without any luck. The only way we have ever been able to thin the ranks of mole populations was with several of these patented mole traps that you can buy at your seed store and set a-straddle the runs.

Handshakes Don't Count
Many business agreements have been sealed with a "handshake" and enforced in the courts. But when it comes to the world of Real Estate you cannot - and should not - rely on oral promises. In fact, legislation in each of the fifty states specifically requires that all agreements and conditions relative to the sale of real estate specifically be in writing.
In real estate, oral promises or conditions have little standing. If they are not contained in writing within the agreement of sale, or on other papers relating to the transaction, they are binding. In fact, the typical agreement of sale provides a clause to the effect that all oral statements relative to the transaction made prior to the signing of the written agreement are invalid.
The only way to put any teeth into oral promises, is to insist that everything which you think is significant be put in writing.
If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at Ford Realty & Auction Co., Inc., Mt. Vernon, Ph. 256-4545. We're here to help!

Poetry Corner

FAITHFUL IS HE
By John E. Zoller

Are you passing through a testing,
Is your pillow wet with tears,
Do you wonder what the reason,
Why it seems God never hears?
Why it is you have no answer,
To your oft-repeated plea,
Why the heaven still is hidden, as you wait on bended knee?

Do you remember as you suffer, whether
God does understand,
And if so, why He ignores you, fails to hold you in his hand,
Do black doubts creep in, assail you,
Fears without and fears within,
Till your brave heart almost falters, and gives away to deadly sin?

All God's testings have a purpose,
Someday you will see the light,
All He asks is that you trust Him,
Walk by faith and not by sight,
Do not fear when doubts beset you,
Just remember, He is near,
He will never, never leave you,
He will always, always hear.

Faithful is He who has promised,

He will never let you fall,
Daily will the strength be given,
Strength for each and strength for all,
He will gladly share pain with you,
He will gladly give you peace,
Till your tired and weary body, finds its blessed glad release.

When the darkened veil is lifted,
Then dear heart,
You'll understand, why it is you who had to suffer,
Why you could no feel His hand,
Giving strength when it was needed,
Giving power and peace within,
Giving joy thru tears and trial,
Giving victory over sin.

So till then just keep on trusting,
Thru the sunshine and the rain,
Thru the tears and thru the heartaches,
Thru the smiles and thru the pain,
Knowing that our Father watches,
Knowing daily strength He'll give,
Victory for each passing hour,
This is life, so let us live!

Amos McFerran, an employee of the City of Mt. Vernon, used the city's backhoe to remove the first dirt from the construction site of the recreation project which the city is undertaking at Lake Linville. Present for the ceremony last Saturday were Mayor Roland Mullins, members of the City Council and several other interested persons.

Ground-Breaking Ceremony Held at Lake Linville

The first step was taken Saturday toward construction of the city's recreation project at Lake Linville with a ground-breaking ceremony held at the site.

According to Mayor Roland Mullins, the project will be located on an 18-acre site above the campground and will be a $41,500 project.

One-half of the money is coming from Land and Water Conservation funds obtained through the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation by the city and the city's share of the monies will be in-kind contribution (i.e., the city will pay its share in work on the project by city employees and with the use of city equipment).

The facility will include restrooms, shelter houses, picnic facilities including tables and grills, a softball field, portable aluminum bleachers, a tennis and basketball court, fencing, gas, electricity, roads and parking facilities.

Construction is already underway and Mayor Mullins said the project was expected to be completed in the Spring. Right now, the city council is looking for some civic organization or group to take responsibility for operation of the park after its completion. It was originally thought the Mt. Vernon Lions Club would fill this need but that organization has turned down the responsibility and the city, at this point, is uncertain who will be handling operation of the park for the city.

Frank Phillips 11 and Tim Arvin 5. Rebounds went as follows: Browning 17; Harmon 13, Thompson 8, Arvin 6, Cash 4, Hammonds 8, Farthing 1, Pensol 2 and Phillips 4.

Following the Clay County game, the Rockets will host their annual Thanksgiving Tournament this week end.

Mayor Mullins explains the various stages of the project [which is expected to be completed by Spring] to those gathered for the ceremony. Also in the photo are, from left: Councilman Chester Holland, Floyd McCure and Councilman Conrad Parrett.

Rockets Open With A Bang; Destroy Annville Bulldogs 116-49

By: Rick Anderson

The Rockcastle County Rockets opened their season last Friday night by defeating Annville 116-49 - avenging a season opener loss last year to the same team.

The Rockets played fine basketball in all aspects of their game, shooting well, rebounding well and mainly hustling for all they were worth. Coach Riddle said after the game that he felt his team handled the ball well while running with it all night long. Riddle also kept his players fresh by substituting frequently during the game. His troops especially rebounded well but Annville was no match for them in size. Walter Browning, the Rockets starting pivot man, grabbed the most rebounds - pulling down 17 of them. Larry Harmon and Steve Center, the Rockets two forwards, added the scoring punch with 20 points each - Harmon also grabbed 13 rebounds.

The Rockets provided a great show of offense for the crowd, but they also displayed some very tenacious defense. Browning blocked several shots during the game along with Harmon and Eddie Thompson. However, the Rockets suffered a loss in the game when their starting guard, Jack Farthing, was decked on a rebound attempt and nine stitches were required to repair the damage around his mouth. He is definitely out for the Tuesday night game with Clay County (a game we will not be reporting on because of coming out a day early due to the holidays). Riddle will have to make a decision on who to start in Farthing's place - Tuesday night, either Jeff Hammonds or Warren Cash.

Larry Harmon, No. 25, Steve Center, No. 26, and Walter Browning, No. 52, all avail the return of the ball from the basket after a shot by an Annville Bulldog last Friday night in the Rockets season opener played at home. Harmon led Center for high point honors with 20 each while Browning gathered in 17 of them, collecting 17 of them.

In case school is called off, due to weather conditions, an announcement will be made over WRVK and WHAS by 6:30 a.m. If possible, Supt. of Schools Charles E. Parsons said Monday.

Supt. Parsons further said that everyone is urged not to call the radio station but to listen for the announcement.

1978 Forestry Incentive Program Announced

The Kentucky Department of Agriculture, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee and Elmore Grim, Director, Ky. Division of Forestry, jointly announce the 1978 Forestry Incentive Program (FIP) and receipt changes. FIP, which is a separately-funded program authorized by Congress for the purpose of increasing the Nation's supply of timber products, is administered through local county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) offices. The Kentucky Division of Forestry works closely with ASCS in providing technical services. According to Mr. Duncan and Mr. Grim, "We have a lot of work that needs to be done in Kentucky relative to forestry. FIP, hopefully, is our incentive to get needed land planted in trees and to improve our standing timber."

ASCs provide cost-share up to 75 percent of the actual cost to the "non-industrial" private forest landowner for tree planting and timber stand improvement. Landowners may earn up to $10,000 in one fiscal year.

Petition for Recount Filed In Circuit Court by Mason

A Petition for Recount of General Election Votes and Contest Petition has been filed in Circuit Court by Ernest Mason, defeated in his bid for re-election as Magistrate of the Fifth District in the November General Election.

Mr. Mason was defeated by Joe Clark who waged a write-in campaign in the general election after being defeated in the primary.

Named as defendants in the civil action are Mr. Clark and the Board of Elections of Rockcastle County: Clyde Barnett, Victor Hysinger, Manuel Shephard and Money Ed Cummins.

In the petition for a recount of the results of the November General Election, Mr. Mason states that he believes the total number of votes cast for him are correct but that the total number of votes counted for Joe Clark is incorrect and further states that Mr. Clark was prohibited from being an announced, active candidate in said General Election.

The petition further states that Mr. Clark "circulated" a notice to be circulated in Rockcastle County, Kentucky, certain newspaper advertising, posters, circulars and radio announcements with reference to his "write-in" candidacy for said office in violation of K.R.S. 121.190.

Mr. Mason's petition also contends that election officers in the three precincts in question - East Mt. Vernon, East Livingston and Orlando - assisted voters in voting for Mr. Clark by themselves writing in Mr. Clark's name on the voting machines without obtaining any oath in writing from said voters as is required by K.R.S. 117.255(2).

It is also alleged that election officers in East Livingston prevented three voters from voting for Mr. Mason by pulling up the "write-in" lever thereby "blocking" the voting machine in the race for Magistrate or Justice of the Peace. An election officer in the Orlando precinct is also accused in the petition of violating K.R.S. 117.255(2) by electioneering in the polling place for the write-in candidacy of Mr. Clark and that a voter in the same precinct voted twice on the voting machine with the assistance of two election officers.

The petition also contends, under County Two, that Mr. Clark was an announced active "write-in" candidate for said office though he was a defeated candidate for the same office in the primary and that all of the write-in votes cast for Mr. Clark in the three precincts cast in question should be declared void and that Mr. Mason should be declared the duly elected Magistrate or Justice of the Peace in the Fifth Magisterial District of Rockcastle County.

Under County One of the petition, Mr. Mason asks that all voting machines, ballots, boxes and all papers be transferred to the Circuit Court and that the Court recount the ballots cast in the General Election for the office of Magistrate or Justice of the Peace in said magisterial district.

Under County Two of the petition, Mr. Mason asks that the election of the defendant, Joe Clark, "if such result obtains," be declared void and that all "write-in" votes for Mr. Clark in the three precincts be declared void.

The petition is expected to be heard by Circuit Judge Phillip K. Wicker in the near future.

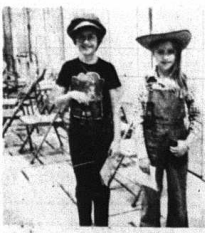

A Civil Action Petition tells only one side of the case.

How Narrow is Religion?
Is it wrong to be narrow in religion? Some people leave the impression that the Bible says, "Thou shalt not be narrow minded." There seems to be an insatiable desire for broadness in religion, and if one maintains a narrow conviction he is considered to be "out of step" by many.
Frankly, I get weary of hearing the word "narrow" used as a slur against Christians by those who lack authority for all that is done in religion. Sure Christians who love the truth are narrow, but so are factory workers, surgeons, pharmacists, and teachers.
The factory worker is so "narrow" that he uses micrometers and measures to the thousandths of an inch in his precision work. The surgeon is so "narrow" that he insists on proceeding with the latest diagnostic procedures and sterilizing his instruments before use. He even insists that those in the operating room wear masks over their faces. The druggist is so "narrow" that he just has to have a prescription before he will dispense certain drugs. He has to be "narrow" because the government regulations are narrow. The teacher is so "narrow" that he insists upon correct answers to problems in mathematics.
Jesus was very "narrow" which He said, "Every plant which my Heavenly Father hath not planted shall be rooted up" (Matt. 15:13). This is to say that every religious institution which God has not established stands condemned. The New Testament is very "Narrow" when it plainly declares that there is but one body - one church (Eph. 4:4, Col. 1:18; 1 Cor. 12:20). Those who serve Christ acceptably must be "narrow" in steadfastly rejecting the sinful works of the flesh, and adding the graces to their lives (Gal. 5:19-21; 2 Pet. 1:5-11; Rev. 2:10).

When we stop to think about it, it is a blessing that some people are "narrow" minded in vital material matters. And surely we can see that we must be even more exacting in spiritual matters. Jesus said, "...and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it" (Matt. 7:13-14). Beware of those who are not NARROW-Minded in religion!

Summary of Significant Changes In Tax Law for 1977

Some people like changes; others prefer things the way they are. But whatever side of the fence you're on, one thing is certain: When you fill out your 1977 tax return, you won't be able to avoid the many changes in the tax law that have come about through recent legislation.
You have probably heard standard deduction has been replaced by a zero bracket amount which is a flat $2,300 for singles and $3,200 for marrieds filing jointly. And there has been quite a bit of publicity about the new tax tables with the zero bracket amount, personal exemptions, and general tax credit built right in.
These changes affect most taxpayers but don't require you to plan ahead. Because some of the new provisions do, however, demand pre-planning, it makes sense to start gathering your records together and examining the tax consequences of some of your actions.

For instance, if you own a capital asset, such as stock, bonds or real property that you intend to sell this year, you are aware that in order to qualify for long term capital gain or loss treatment, you must have owned that asset for more than nine months? The holding period prior years was more than six months.
Do you also know the amount of a capital loss you can use to offset your taxable income has increased from $1,000 to $2,000?
Both of these changes can make a significant difference in your tax bill for 1977. Suppose, for example, that you never heard of the new nine month holding period and you sell your capital asset after seven months, thinking that you will have to pay tax on only one-half of your profit. When you fill out your 1977 tax return you might be surprised at the amount of tax you owe.

If you have moved, or plan to move, in 1977, you will find several changes in the tax law. The distance requirement of 50 miles has been changed to 35 miles, so you won't have to move as far in order to claim moving expenses.
In addition, the maximum deduction for pre-move househunting and temporary living expenses has gone up from $1,000 to $1,500, as has the deduction for expenses related to buying, selling or renting a home which increased by $500, and is now $3,000.
Older Americans who sell their homes in 1977 will be glad to learn that there has been a sizable change in the tax break available to them. Previously, anyone age 65 or over who sold his or her home did not have to pay any tax on the gain if the adjusted sales price of the house was $20,000 or less.

Freezing Cooked Turkey
Bone and freeze leftover turkey as soon as possible after the meal. Pack the pieces of meat tightly together to keep out as much air as possible. Otherwise an off-flavor may develop. Package in freezer bags or freezer wrap.

A good way to freeze small pieces of cooked turkey is to cover it with broth or gravy. Leave 1 inch of headspace in quart containers and 1/2 inch in pint containers.

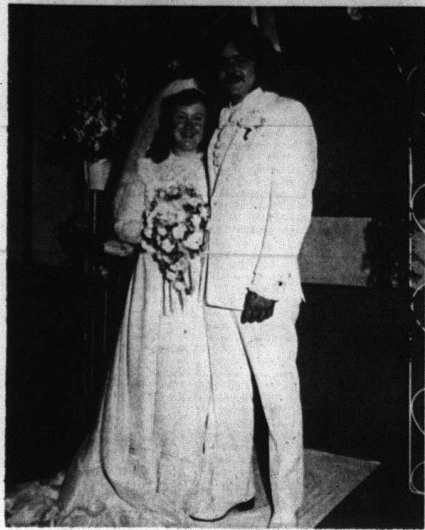

Plan to use cooked turkey within a month if packed separately. If packed in broth or gravy, however, it will keep well up to 6 months in your freezer.

Freezing Broth, Gravy
If you want to freeze broth separately, remove bones, skin and excess fat, then cool broth for 30 minutes by setting the pan in another pan of cold water or ice water. Pour into freezer containers, leaving 1 inch headspace for quarts and 1/2 inch for pints. Use frozen broth or gravy within 6 months.

Cool gravy in the same manner before freezing. Allow some amount of headspace. The thawed gravy won't be as thick as it was originally.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Bro. Ernie Johnson of Mt. Vernon.

Wedding music was provided by Mrs. J.D. McFerron.

Matron of honor was Patricia Ponder Kirby, cousin of the bride. The bridesmaid was Sonya Thomas, sister of the groom. Both wore royal blue floor-length dresses of ruffles and lace with matching hats. Their bouquets were of daisies and baby's breath with blue and white satin trim.

Serving the groom as best man was his brother, Steve Thomas. Jeff Thomas, brother of the groom, Greg Neeley and Roger Payne were groomsmen. They were dressed in blue tuxedos with flowered vests and bow ties. All wore blue carnations on lapels. The groom wore an ivory white tuxedo with a bow tie and white accessories.

The ring bearer, Timothy Wayne Mink, was dressed in black pants with a checked blue jacket and a black bow tie and blue carnation on lapel. He carried a satin pillow, trimmed in lace, with two miniature wedding rings.

The flower girl, Carmen Kinne, Steward, wore a floor-length, blue dress trimmed with white lace. She wore a blue satin ribbon in her hair and carried a little white basket trimmed with blue ribbons and filled with blue flower petals.

The bride wore a lovely satin and silk gown with a high ruffled neck. The gown had long lace sleeves with ruffled trim. The bodice was trimmed with white daisies and French imported lace. The dress had a lovely train with ruffles and small daisies. The waist-length veil was trimmed with daisies, small seed pearls and ruffles. The brides bouquet was of white orchids and miniature carnations, babies breath and ivy trimmed with white satin lace.

The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, William Mink.

The church's altar was decorated with white gladioli and ivy. Its trim was of blue and white lace and bows. The wedding arch was trimmed with white carnations, greenery and white satin bows.

The reception took place in the lovely decorated reception room of the church where punch and a four tiered wedding cake was served by the matron of honor, the bridesmaid, a cousin of the bride and the bride's mother, Mrs. Alwanda Falin.

Blue rice was thrown at the bride and groom as they left for their brief stay at Cumberland Falls. The couple are now making their home in Mt. Vernon.

County Agent's Notes

Lice Control For Livestock

Lice control is a problem most livestock producers become concerned with during the winter months. Lice are small insects that remain on the animal all the time.

There are two basic types of lice that can be found on animals. The chewing lice have chewing mouthparts and feed on bits of skin, hair, blood serum, and other secretions found on the skin. The chewing lice are the major pests found on poultry but a few species also infest mammals. Horses, cattle, sheep, goats and goats all have their own species of chewing lice.

The sucking lice are of more concern because they suck the blood of their hosts. These lice are found exclusively on mammals and each species of animal has its own species of sucking lice. For instance, cattle have at least four species of sucking lice that are only found feeding and living on cattle. Humans have three species, hogs only one (why do the hogs lack out?) and horses one and sheep two. Sucking lice feed on the blood of their host using their piercing-sucking mouthparts. When they are present in large numbers they can cause anemia, reduce weight gain and/or milk production and cause severe irritation.

The life cycle of lice compounds the damage they do to their host animal. The entire life cycle takes place on the animal. The eggs are attached to the hairs of the host animal. The young lice look much like the adults and feed in the same way. Therefore you have the whole group feeding, causing damage and irritation.

Lice populations build up during the winter. Apparently the higher temperatures, increased light intensity and thinner hair coat in the summer all work to keep lice populations at a minimum during the summer months.

Lice should be controlled before they build up to damaging populations. Check some of the animals in your herd or flock to see if they are infested. Look carefully and closely because lice are small insects. Look around the eyes, behind the ears, on the brisket, near the tail and in other protected locations. Treat animals if you find they are infested.

Beef producers that use systemic insecticides get the added benefit of lice control. However they do not control the eggs so they can expect to have lice populations build up again later in the winter. Retreatment with an insecticide spray or lice control pour-on two to three weeks after calving. More than likely, it is one of the better cures that produces the better calf. Feeding of additional energy feed such as grain or corn silage can help alleviate the problem.

When a dry pregnant cow calves and is nursing her calf, her nutrient requirements double for all practical purposes. Feeding the beef female and her daily requirements are outlined in detail in Extension Bulletin ASC-8.

don't forget forced-use dustbags or backrubbers.

Hog producers can use sprays, bedding treatment, dusts or a pour-on (Tiguvon R 3%) for lice control. Sheep producers are limited to dusts or sprays.

Whatever control procedure is used be sure to treat all animals in the group. If an animal is too sick to be treated, isolate that animal until it can be treated. Do so allow new animals into the herd until they have been effectively deloused.

Winter Tetany

Beef producers with fall calving cows report brood cows with symptoms of grass tetany. It can be from the same cause, magnesium deficiency, or from an energy deficiency or a combination of the two. In any case, a metabolic disturbance is caused, and good feeding and management will reduce those losses.

Magnesium deficiency (hypomagnesemia) and its causes and prevention is explained in Extension Bulletin ASC-16.

Death of a cow due to ketosis or low energy occurs when a cow is on a low plane of nutrition and normally 4 to 8 weeks after calving. More than likely, it is one of the better cures that produces the better calf. Feeding of additional energy feed such as grain or corn silage can help alleviate the problem.

When a dry pregnant cow calves and is nursing her calf, her nutrient requirements double for all practical purposes. Feeding the beef female and her daily requirements are outlined in detail in Extension Bulletin ASC-8.

Beef Check List For Pre-Winter

1. Keep mineral boxes filled with CA, P and salt.
2. Fall calves should be vaccinated for blackleg, and magignant edema, castrated and dehorned early in the calf's life.
3. Plan for good winter water supply. Solid water will meet the bill or meet daily intake needs.
4. Don't forget winter lice control by the use of well-charged backrubbers.
5. Utilize stalk fields after corn picking as a source of fall feed.
6. Supplement herd with Vitamin A.

7. If your farm has no handling facilities, now is the time to plan one to build this winter. One headgate is cheaper and less painful than a broken bone.

Tips on Storing Pesticides and Winterizing Equipment

Providing proper winter storage conditions for pesticides and winterizing application equipment this fall can save lots of time and trouble next spring when you start the annual battle against insects, diseases and weeds.

The likely problems - if you don't - are "weak" pesticides that fail to control the pests effectively and equipment that does a poor job or breaks down the first time or two it is used.

I offer these suggestions for storing pesticides - not only to protect them from losing their ability to control pests but also to provide the safety of people who may come in contact with the chemicals:

Protect liquid pesticides from below-freezing temperatures. Most liquid pesticides won't freeze unless they are exposed to very low temperatures for several days in a row. However, they may lose some of their effectiveness if allowed to cool down to 32 degrees or lower.

Keep dusts, wettable powders and granules dry. Their performance next spring can be reduced if exposed to high humidity. Store opened containers slightly in plastic bags. Dry formulations of pesticides are not affected much by low temperatures.

Never store any pesticide in anything but the original container so you are sure what chemical you are working with. Storing in a different container runs the risk of using the pesticide improperly on something for which it was not formulated, resulting in failure to control the pests or injury to the crop, livestock, or whatever you are trying to protect.

From the standpoint of safety, always store pesticides out of sight and reach of children preferably under lock and key.

The following recommendations will winterize pesticide application equipment so that it will function properly next spring.

Wash dusters and granular applicators thoroughly with a detergent in the water. Then dry them before storing.

Sprayers and spray lines should be washed with a detergent, flushed with an ammonia-water solution and then flushed with clean water. Put a coat of light weight oil on sprayer parts that likely will corrode.

Woollybear Caterpillars: Pests or Winter Forecasters?

According to folklore, you can tell how severe a winter is coming by checking how thin a coat woollybear caterpillars grow in the fall. Or, some say, it's the width of the black bands on the caterpillar's body the more black, the colder the winter.

Either way, local weather prognosticators have an abundance of help for making their winter forecasts this fall. There is an unusually large crop of orange and black caterpillars that you may have seen on walls of buildings, in yards, on sidewalks, and crossing roads. They are larvae of the Isabella Moth, more commonly known as "Banded Woollybears," seeking a pupate to overwinter. These larvae will pupate into moths next spring.

Meanwhile, unless you are looking for signs of what kind of winter to expect the caterpillars are more of a nuisance than anything else.

I don't want to stick my neck out and say. My advice is: Make your own interpretation of whether the caterpillars are putting on a heavier or lighter coat than usual. Or, ask someone who has observed the winter-weather signs of the caterpillar for a number of years for an opinion of what they mean this fall.

New Program Possible For Somerset Community College

Somerset Community College expects to be approved for a two-year program in Dental Hygiene beginning June 1, 1978. The program is completing a three-year stay at Ashland Community College, Ashland, Ky. The program is completely mobile including library materials, staff, and all necessary equipment to implement the program in Somerset.

The staff accompanying the program includes Dr. Joe Lynch, Director of the program and Ms. Lynn Flannery, Dental Hygienist. Additionally, one hygienist, a secretary, and a receptionist will be employed locally should the program move to Somerset. The program is designed to operate at three different sites in Eastern Kentucky on a rotating basis. The program is scheduled to return to Ashland following three years in each of two other sites in the Eastern part of the state.

The University of Kentucky Administration has given its approval to have the Dental Hygiene program move to Somerset provided certain conditions can be met. These conditions include the selection of an appropriate site for Somerset Community College, the establishment of need for the program in the service area of the College, the availability of sufficient voluntary faculty members from dentists within the service area and the accreditation of the program by the American Dental Association. To date, an appropriate site has been selected at the College and blueprints and cost estimates have been completed for installation of the equipment accompanying the Dental hygiene program. Three separate needs surveys have been conducted among the Dentists in the service area and sufficient placement possibilities for graduates of the program have been established. A number of dentists in the area have volunteered their time as instructors to assist Dr. Lynch. An application for accreditation has been submitted to the American Dental Association.

A Lay Advisory Committee has been established by Somerset Community College in order to assist College personnel in meeting the necessary conditions in bringing the program to the Somerset area. Heading this advisory committee is Dr. Byron Owens, a Somerset dentist. Other committee members include: Dr. Darward Salisbury, Albany; Dr. Barry Lay, Columbia; Ms. Denise Thompson, Campbellville; Dr. Gary Combs, Corbin; Mr. Edward Webb, Somerset; Dr. Ed Struss, Washington; Mrs.

Sheryn Shearer, Burnside; Dr. M.A. Shepherd, Somerset.

Members of this committee were selected as representatives from the South Central Dental Society Region from Mt. Vernon-Corbin-London area of the South Eastern Region and from the Stanford area of the Bluegrass Region. Dental Hygienists work under the direct supervision of the dentist. An individual with this training can take X-rays, fill teeth, clean teeth, assist in four-handed dentistry, take medical and dental history, and provide dental education. A major portion of the training of these individuals will include practical experience. Work will be done with local health agencies in soliciting individuals for students practical experience. This program will be a limited admissions program. Facilities will be available for only twelve students per year and only a maximum of 24 students will be graduated during the three-year program. Individuals who are interested in applying for admission to the program should contact the admissions office at Somerset Community College immediately. One of the entrance requirements is the completion of the Dental Hygiene Aptitude Test. The deadline for registration for this test is December 23, 1977, with the test being given on January 13 and 14, 1978. Other requirements for admission are available at the College's admission office. Those interested should contact the College at 606-678-8174, ext. 29.

Normal Operating Levels Set for Lake Cumberland

Mighty Lake Cumberland, operated at lower-than-seasonal levels since October, 1973, should return to normal elevations by next spring.

Col. Robert K. Tener, Nashville District engineer for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, said detailed evaluation of remedial work on the massive Wolfe Creek Dam in southeastern Kentucky has resulted in the decision to remove lake level restrictions imposed since repair work started.

Tener pointed out that the decision to remove the restrictions does not alter the fact that it may require several months for lake elevations to rise to what is considered normal. All reservoirs are lowered during the winter to store the traditionally heavy rain and snow runoff, as part of the flood control functions of the project.

Owens and Mark, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Burton and all of Mason, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cromer of Goshen, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Burton, Dough Burton, Jimmie Burton, all of Loveland, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burton of Connersville, Indiana, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Garner, Mr. and Mrs. James Gill, Roy Gill, J.C. Gill all of Anderson, Indiana, Betty Lou Vaughn of Frankfort, and Lewis Brown of Indianapolis, Indiana.

Recent visitors of Mary Jane Randolph and Arvil were Mrs. Rhonda Gill, Lewis Brown of Indianapolis, Indiana, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burton of Connersville, Indiana, Mrs. Ruby Thompson, Mrs. Wethlie Todd, Betty Lou Vaughn of Frankfort, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Burton and Janet, Mrs. Clara Mae Denney, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Ping, Mrs. Verla Brown, Mr. and Mrs. G.D. Burton, Sherry Goff, Mrs. Lillian Gooch, Mrs. Dessie Taylor of Brodhead and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cook of Somerset.

Assuming weather conditions during the coming winter and spring are average, the colonel added, there should be sufficient rainfall to bring Lake Cumberland up to the full power generating pool elevation of 728 feet.

Since October of 1976 water levels of the sprawling lake have been maintained approximately 23 feet below the seasonal norms so that exploratory drilling and other work could be performed on the eastern portion of Wolfe Creek Dam.

Seepage problems developed in the limestone foundation of that portion of the dam in 1968. An extensive program of drilling and grouting was undertaken in an effort to fill voids which had developed in the eroded stone. Continued monitoring of the dam led to the conclusion that a permanent concrete wall would have to be installed along the upper axis of the eastern abutment in order to correct the foundation defects.

A contract was awarded for construction of the first phase of the wall in July, 1976. This would provide 1,000 feet of the wall which extends into bedrock, as deep as 278 feet in places. That contract presently is 85 percent complete and is ahead of schedule.

A contract for phase two of the work has just been awarded and should be completed in 1980.

Work on the wall, Col. Tener said, has advanced to the point that lake levels could be raised to normal operating cycles without hampering phase two work, or compromising the safety of the dam.

One of the larger lakes in eastern America, Lake Cumberland is known for its scenic qualities. Last year more than 6.2 million visitors were attracted to lake which dominates the upper reaches of the Cumberland River basin.

To the ancient Inquous Indians, corn was "queen" — being the most important of three life-sustaining sisters: corn, beans and squash.

A popular substitute used by the early American colonists was corn mixed with the juice of boiled hickory nuts and chestnuts.

"TAX LAW CHANGES"

it on your tax return. The advantage of an IRS, of course, is that contributions are not taxes until they are withdrawn at which time the individual would normally be in a lower tax bracket.

Other changes that could mean a difference in your tax liability are in the areas of alimony, child support, and child care expenses.

Alimony, previously an itemized deduction, is now an adjustment to income, which means that anyone can claim on his or her tax return the amount of alimony paid during the year.

If you make child support payments to a former spouse, you may have to pay more money now in order to claim your children as dependents on your tax return. In prior years, if the tax exceptions were not allocated in the divorce decree, and you were the noncustodial parent, you had to contribute $1,200 or more for the support of one or more children in order to take the dependency exemptions. That amount has now increased to $1,200 for each child.

Expenses you pay for work-related child care may now be claimed as a tax credit. The credit is 20% of the amount you pay during the year for child care. The maximum amount of the credit allowed is $400 for one child and $800 for two or more children.

It's obvious there are changes in store for many Americans when they prepare their 1977 federal tax returns. To get a head start on your taxes, contact the IRS for free publications on areas that will affect your taxes. You may order the publications by filling out the order form that is enclosed in the tax package you receive, or by calling IRS toll-free, in Louisville, phone 884-1361; Lexington, 255-2333; elsewhere throughout Kentucky, 1-800-292-6570. We all know why a turkey is the traditional Thanksgiving main course. The pilgrims back at the first Thanksgiving, served turkey, so we've been doing it ever since.

But did you ever wonder why a turkey was featured item on that first Thanksgiving menu? Very likely, because it was really available—same pilgrim father just opened his cabin door and shot one in his garden.

But that situation didn't last long. The wild turkey, a bird once seriously considered for our national emblem, could not tolerate the influx of settlers, the clearing of the forests and the rise of towns and villages. With wholesale habitat destruction and unregulated hunting, this magnificent bird virtually disappeared from the eastern half of this country, and by 1920 most naturalists believed that the wild turkey was doomed to extinction.

But the 20th century, while it ushered the whole new set of environmental problems, also saw the rise of sportsman-financed fish and wildlife agencies on both state and federal levels, the development of modern, scientific wildlife management and the return of the wild turkey, along with several other species which, if there had been endangered species lists 100 years ago, would surely have been included.

While flocks of wild turkeys will never roam the countryside in the numbers they once did, the progress in restoring this fine game and table bird to huntable numbers has been gratifying. One of the largest drawbacks to these restoration efforts is finding areas of proper habitat. Turkeys seem to require rather extensive tracts of unhabited forests and they are rather intolerant of human intrusion.

Another problem is that pen-reared turkeys are poorly equipped to cope with the wilds, as years of experimental stockings (with very poor results) of artificially raised birds have proven. The current, more successful technique is to live-trap wildbirds, then transport them as quickly as possible to the release site and turn them loose.

The only known native flock of wild turkeys in Kentucky is in Land Between the Lakes in the western part of the commonwealth. These birds, with some additions from other states, have formed the nucleus of flocks in several portions of the Daniel Boone National Forest in eastern Kentucky and, more recently, in several counties in west and west central Kentucky.

Wildlife biologists estimate that there are now about 2,200 turkeys in the state, up from an estimated population of 1,600 two years ago. With a new project now underway, biologists hope to learn more about the survival, movements and habits of wild turkeys by tracking them with radio telemetry equipment.

In addition, other areas of the State will be investigated to see if they contain suitable turkey habitat. When good habitat is found, biologists will attempt to establish turkey flocks there. In a large measure, the success of these projects will depend upon the cooperation of the citizens of the areas where the birds are stocked.

With support and cooperation, we can have wild turkeys in Kentucky. Although we will probably never be able to count on harvesting one on Thanksgiving morning for an evening feast, we should, in a few years, see a marked upturn in turkey populations, along with increased hunting opportunities for this most wary of big game birds. *****

Off-peak rates . . . We've offered them for years on electric water heating.

As a result, about 34,000 KU residential customers save money each month on their electric bills.

With off-peak electric water heating, most of your day's supply of hot water is heated at night while you sleep, when there is less demand for energy. You can store it for later use without altering your lifestyle. This energy use is measured by a second meter, and you're charged a lower electric rate. Water can still be heated in the daytime if needed, but at the regular rate.

Even though KU's rates are relatively low, many customers still find off-peak water heating a helpful savings on their electric bills.

Offering an off-peak water heating rate is only one of the ways KU is working to keep down your costs. The amount you save depends on how much hot water you use.

Electricity . . . use it wisely!
