THE FAMILY LAWYER

by Will Bernard

Sunrights

William Ball, of Chicopee, Mass., became increasingly angry about the four large maple trees growing in a neighbor's back yard. Most of the time they kept his house in shadow. One day, when the neighbor was away, Ball went next door and chopped the trees down.

Haled into court, he claimed he had a legal right to receive the sunshine. But the court disagreed.

"The owner of a lot," said the court, "may plant shade trees upon it or cover it with a thick forest, and the injury done to neighbors by mere shade is no violation of their rights."

That decision was handed down in the year 1886. Chief Justice of times since then, it has long represented the general rule of law in the United States. With minor exceptions, you have no kick coming if trees or buildings on a neighbor's land cut off your sunshine.

But now, along comes solar energy. And suddenly a new word is coming into the language: "sunrights." The home owner who puts in solar collectors wants some assurance that his supply of sunshine won't be blocked.

One solution would be for neighbors to work out sunright contracts with each other. But that would call for a staggering amount of individual bargaining.

So the experts have been looking for a better way. The American Bar Foundation and the Environmental Law Institute, armed with a federal grant, are exploring a variety of solutions.

One possibility is an across-the-board law setting limits on what a property owner can build or plant on his own land. Ideally, everybody would come out about even. The value that each owner would lose in traditional property rights, he would gain in new sunrights.

Clearly, the job calls for some delicate balancing. But it is a job that must be done if solar heating for our homes is going to come into its own.

BUY OR SELL FIRST

Should you buy your new home or sell your present one first?

This situation arises consistently when families move up into a larger home in the same general area. In this case, it makes sense to sell the present home first.

The secret, however, is to sell the house under the conditions that the papers will pass and title will be conveyed in, say 90 or 120 days. This way, you avoid the possibility of owning two homes at the same time.

True, it puts you in a position of being forced to buy another home, but this was your original intention ... always. With a concerted effort, one should be able to buy the right property in the 90 or 120 days allotted.

Also, you avoid the possibility of panic-selling your original home at a good way to lose money, plus you'll know exactly how much money will be available for a down payment on the new house. ...

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at Ford Realty & Auction Co., Inc. Mt. Vernon, Phone 256-1545. We're here to help!

By Bennett Roush
[For Burley Growers Assn.]

Extra heavy sales volume and a sharp rise in pool consignments have marked the fast-moving 1977 burley market, now approaching the final selling days before Christmas.

Daily receipts of loan tobacco at one period reached as much as 12 and 13 per cent by the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association, with the total settling down to 7.46 per cent for the season, through December 2.

Last year, the Burley Association's take for the first eight days was 1.42 per cent. For the entire 1976 crop, the pool consignments amounted to 6.76 per cent.

The brisk pickup in Association consignments began in the second week of 1977 sales, when prices turned lower on most grades. The first week the pool receipts were 2.70 per cent. The next week, they climbed to 10.06 per cent. The USDA marketing service said the price drop hit 80 per cent of all grades, but mainly tips, mixed and nondescript, which had $2 to $4 losses. Top average was holding at $131 per hundred for grade B1F, choice tan leaf.

The heavy sales are continuing, and some observers are predicting the crop may be 80 to 90 per cent sold when the market closes after sales on December 15 for the 17-day Christmas break.

For the five-state belt of Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia and Missouri, where the Burley Association handles price supports, the sales this season reached 202,103,950 pounds the first two weeks, as compared with 155,877,723 pounds last year.

As the season proceeds, the contrast with last season's market becomes more pronounced. Last winter's extremely cold, dry weather stretched the market out to 70 selling days, longest on record. This marketing season may be among the shortest, if the present heavy volume of selling continues.

For the entire belt, the crop is still estimated at 611.8 million pounds. Another USDA estimate is due around December 15.

Sales and handling facilities at most markets have been at capacity since the market opened. Unless overcrowding causes a postponement, the auctions will resume on January 4 after the holiday shutdown.

New District Judges Attending Orientation Program

Newly elected district court judges are attending an orientation program this week at Eastern Kentucky University.

The program, which lasts through Dec. 9, is being provided for the 113 judges by the Bureau of Training, Kentucky Department of Justice. Instruction is given by experienced judges, attorneys and court system personnel from across the state.

The instruction will include such topics as the new Court of Justice system, judicial ethics, pretrial release, courtroom techniques, small claims, criminal proceedings, traffic matters, the court and the community, trial records, court management and probate.

The district court system, effective Jan. 2, will be the trial court of limited jurisdiction and the lower level of the four-level Court of Justice system. District courts will replace police, county, quarterly and magistrates courts.

The program in the Stratton Building on the EKU campus is designed by the Bureau's Division of Judicial Training, directed by A. Jack May, under the supervision of the Administrative Office of the Courts, directed by William Davis.

Bureau of Rehabilitation - Serving Rockcastle Countians

In Rockcastle County, the Kentucky Bureau of Rehabilitation Services served 206 people and rehabilitated 63 during fiscal year 1977, according to figures released by the state bureau.

Kentucky remains in the top rank among all states in helping the handicapped reach their full potential as wage-earners according to U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) statistics. "A total of 9,002 handicapped Kentuckians were rehabilitated during fiscal year 1977," said Marshall Swain, head of Kentucky's Bureau of Rehabilitation Services.

Top priority is given to serving those individuals who have serious physical or mental limitations of function in terms of their ability to be employed. Slightly more than 30 percent of the 37,477 individuals served were severely handicapped, according to Swain.

Under the Federal Rehabilitation Act to 1973, priorities for services include individuals who have disabilities resulting from the following: amputations, blindness, cancer, cerebral palsy, cystic fibrosis, deafness, heart disease, paraplegia (motor and sensory paralysis of the lower half of the body), quadriplegia (total paralysis from the neck down, and other spinal cord dysfunction).

Other severe disabilities included may result from mental retardation, mental illness, muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis, renal failure, respiratory or pulmonary dysfunction, musculoskeletal disorders, neurological disorder (including stroke and epilepsy), sickle cell anemia and other conditions causing substantial limitations.

Upgrading medical treatment, counseling, facility evaluation and training services are some of the Bureau's other efforts aimed at helping the severely handicapped.

In addition to improving existing services, the bureau is initiating new approaches and expanding programs, such as the special innovation and expansion of services to the deaf and hearing impaired.

Through this program resources for rehabilitation of the deaf and hearing impaired have greatly expanded," explained Swain. "Last year, 354 persons with deafness or severe hearing loss were rehabilitated through bureau sponsored programs."

Along with these efforts, Kentucky is pioneering the concept of contract funding of private, non-profit community workshops for paying operational costs of vocational rehabilitation units within these facilities.

"The rate of utilization of workshops must increase next year," Swain said.

He continued, "Of those enrolled in rehabilitation programs during fiscal year 1977, college training was provided to 4,856; on-the-job training to 294 and 2,078 attended vocational schools."

"According to preliminary calculations, the cost of rehabilitation was less than $2,200 per person," said Swain.

After rehabilitation, these individuals go into the job market as taxpayers who will pay back much more than the cost of their rehabilitation according to HEW statistics. Swain added, "Among those rehabilitated in Kentucky, 1,520 were previously on welfare rolls."

and Kay Hammonds 4 each; Sheila Deatherage, Tammy Shepherd and Patricia Faulkner 3 each and China Osborne and Brenda Bullen and Sandy Clark all got 2 each.

Then girls then played Berea at home and, after a sluggish first half, defeated the girl Pirates by 16 points, 68-54.

The girls had a real second half after leading by one 4 points at half time. The girls then went to work and led by as many as 20 points in the second quarter.

Gina Ruppe led the scoring with 18; Diane Thacker picked up 13; Sandy Sturgill and Kay Hammonds 10 each; Brenda Bullen and Sharon Fairing got 4 each; Donna Faulkner picked up 3 and Kim Howard scored two.

Monday night, the girls traveled to Garrard County and came away with a 57-41 win leading all the way.

The girls team is considered one of the better ones in the 13th Region and are expected to do very well this season, having gotten off to a very good start.

This Thursday night, the girls will play Oneida and on Monday night will host Madison Model who should be one of their toughest opponents of the season.

KU President Defends Fuel Adjustment Clauses

The president of Kentucky Utilities, Inc. (KU) defended the use of fuel adjustment clauses by utility companies during a hearing held by the state Public Service Commission (PSC).

William A. Duncan, KU president, said the fuel adjustment clauses are "essential" to maintain the financial integrity of utility companies. He added that the Special Advisory Commission on Electric Utility Rates and Regulation in 1975 found that KU's use of the clauses generally "under-recovered" additional costs resulting from higher fuel costs, in comparison with other utility companies' fuel adjustments.

Duncan's remarks came during cross-examination by intervenors on his October 24 testimony concerning a $33.4 million rate increase request by KU. The request, according to the testimony, was necessitated by operating expenses, maintenance and capital costs.

KU serves some 310,000 industrial and residential customers in some 78 Kentucky counties.

The fuel adjustment clauses have been under attack by consumer groups and government officials, including Gov. Julian Carroll, as unfair to residential users of energy. The Governor has urged the abandonment of automatic fuel adjustment clauses, suggesting that any fuel adjustment be subject to PSC approval.

Intervenor in the hearing include C. David Claus of the consumer protection division of the Attorney General's Office, Robert J. White, representing the Black River Mining Co. and Wells World, representing the Green River Steel Co.

Information on The Bank of Mt. Vernon

1900 to 1977 and Beyond

On October 2, 1900, The Bank of Mt. Vernon became the first bank in Rockcastle County. A group of men met in Jonas McKenzie's Store, organized the bank, and made arrangements to rent a building on Church Street in Mt. Vernon.

The original stockholders, twenty-nine in number, contributed $15,000 in capital to begin The Bank of Mt. Vernon. The organizers met on October 3, 1900 and elected S. H. Martin, President, A. E. Ewers, Vice President, W. L. Richards, Cashier, and Directors J. T. Adams, Jonas McKenzie, Fritz Krueger, George Livesay, Rod Perry, Vincent Busing, and A. T. Fish.

In 1905, an illustrated supplement to the Mt. Vernon Signal stated that "It's hard to understand just why a town in which as much business is done as Mt. Vernon should have gone so long without a bank."

The building which the bank originally occupied is currently owned and occupied by James W. Lambert, Attorney. In 1920, The Bank of Mt. Vernon acquired the "Southwest Room of the Rockcastle Hotel" on Main Street in Mt. Vernon. In 1925, a new building was constructed on property owned by M. Pennington, physician. This property is on the south side of Main Street and now houses the Townhouse Cafe.

In 1959, the bus station in Mt. Vernon was leased and converted into facilities for the bank. This property was purchased in 1969 from Norine Milen. This building was the basis for the remodeling and addition completed in 1977.

Through the years, many people have played important parts in the direction and operation of The Bank of Mt. Vernon. The late C. C. Williams, a local attorney, was a director from 1901 through 1939. W. L. Richards was cashier of the bank from the organization until 1923. Dr. M. Pennington was a director from 1920 through 1946 and served many years as the President of the bank. For almost 40 years, T. J. Niceley was an active director of the bank. R. B. McKenzie began his employment with the bank in 1928; his association continued until his death in 1974. N. M. Smock became Cashier in 1932; for 40 years he served the bank as an officer and director.

The new banking house provides the most modern facilities available today. To provide faster service, three drive-in windows and eight teller stations were installed, an increase of two drive-ins and three teller stations. Additional executive offices and loan officers are available to keep pace with the increasing loan demand of a growing community. A new and modern bookkeeping department utilizes the latest equipment and systems to provide the fastest, most accurate services available.

Perhaps the most progressive new service available to BMV customers is the installation of the BMV TELLER/24, "The Anytime Bank". Banking services are available 24 hours-a-day, 7 days a week to customers of the bank. Using their BMV Card, cash can be obtained anytime day or night in Mt. Vernon and in eleven other cities and towns through the Card Interchange system. According to available information, Mt. Vernon is the smallest town in Kentucky and the bank is the smallest bank to have this service available.

The opening of the new facilities marks a new milestone in the progress of The Bank of Mt. Vernon to provide the best banking services available. This progress will continue as the directors and management of the bank strive to meet the needs of an ever-changing community. The commercial, industrial, and residential growth of this area presents new opportunities for The Bank of Mt. Vernon to assist that growth and to provide the banking services such growth requires.

THREE ESCAPE, SERIOUS INJURY—Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kendrick and their four-year-old son escaped serious injury early Monday morning when their trailer home (top photo) at Conway was totally demolished by a severe storm with high winds. Another smaller trailer nearby was turned around on its foundation. The bottom photo shows a barn on the farm of Tip Reppert which was totally destroyed by the same storm. Two other barns in the county, in the Ottawa section, were also destroyed and barn and home roofs throughout the county also suffered damage from the storm.

Tornado Rips Through Ottawa Section; Barns, Trailer Destroyed

Residents of the Ottawa area of the county called it a tornado which ripped through the community about 5:30 a.m. Monday morning, uprooting trees, downing two barns and tearing down fences.

Mrs. Shirley Martin said she awakened at 5:30 and heard the roar of the wind shortly after that. She termed it definitely a tornado. A barn on she and her husband, Frank Martin's, farm was totally destroyed and another barn in the area, belonging to Hubert Brown, was also demolished by the storm.

Rockcastle Civil Defense Director Larry Burdette said the tornado cut a 100-yard-wide swath across portions of Rockcastle County from Ottawa to the Scalford Cane community where former Sheriff Tip Reppert lost a barn. Several school buses were unable to run their route Monday morning because of rain flooded roads and trees and other debris down.

A trailer in the Conway area, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kendrick, was demolished but Mr. and Mrs. Kendrick and their four-year-old son managed to escape unhurt.

Tuesday morning, Rockcastle residents woke up to a white world as freezing temperatures and snow blanketed the area. Schools were forced to close for the second day this winter and schools were also closed Wednesday.

Several accidents on the interstate were reported Tuesday. Two tractor-trailers were overturned on the interstate and a car went through a guardrail.

According to Bud Cox, local weatherman, a total of two and one-half inches of snow fell Sunday night and early Monday morning.

DeMarcus Named Minority Leader

State Representative Harold De Marcus of the 50th House District won a sternly contested battle for the highest position in the Republican House, Minority Floor Leader, by a 14 to 6 margin.

The election of Mr. DeMarcus at Kentucky Dam Village marks his 10th consecutive year as Minority Floor Leader of the Kentucky House of Representatives. Mr. DeMarcus gratefully acknowledged the 11 members of the caucus who voted for him and called for unity from the opposing 6. In one of the more profound quotes at the pre-legislative conference, he stated, "Being as small as the Republican contingent in Kentucky, knowledge is our major source of clout."

With the convening of the 1978 legislative session, Representative DeMarcus will be entering his 15th year as state representative.

Fiscal Court Opens Bids on new Ambulance Garage

The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court opened bids for construction of the new ambulance garage at their regular meeting Tuesday.

Low bidder on the project was Preston Collins of Mt. Vernon with a bid of $36,300. Two other bids were received on the project. Carter Johnson of Berea bid $53,745 and Risk Construction Co. of Richmond submitted a bid of $68,900.

The court decided to review the bid and make a decision within 30 days.

Jackie McClure of Livingston was awarded the bid to haul coal from Barbourville for the courthouse at $6 per ton above the price of the coal.

Christmas Party at Cedar Rapids

There will be a Christmas Party for members of the Cedar Rapids Recreation Center, 6th graders and under, on Tuesday night, December 20 from 6 to 8 p.m. Gifts will be exchanged and each child is asked to bring a $2 gift - girls

If you plan to attend, please contact Gayla Winstead or LaVerne Winstead before December 15th. There will be a special visit from Santa Claus.

Mr. and Mrs. William K. Cunningham of Kettering, Ohio, their four sons and another boy, all escaped serious injury Saturday morning when their van (top photo) was struck from behind by a truck being driven by Charles Abney of Mt. Vernon. Mr. Abney told State Police that he apparently fell asleep as he was returning from work in Madison County when the accident occurred just north of Ernie's T&M Market. The van was propelled over the embankment by the collision and Mr. Abney's truck completely flipped over demolishing it. Mr. Abney was not injured and Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham received facial cuts.

Mrs. Lair, wife of Founder of Renfro Valley, Inc., Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Virginia Frances Crawford Lair, wife of John Lair, founder of Renfro Valley, Inc., died Monday, December 5th at her home.

Mrs. Lair was born in Madison County, May 31, 1901, the daughter of William Timoleon and Mary Moore Crawford. She was a member of the First Christian Church, Mt. Vernon Woman's Club, Eastern Star and D.A.R. Mrs. Lair's mother was born in Madison County on a plantation owned by her father. When the family first settled there, it was part of the state of Virginia. Mrs. Lair, her youngest daughter, was born there in the home they called "The Virginia House" thus, she was named Virginia.

Her father was from Rockcastle County where the family later moved and the children grew up. Besides Mrs. Lair, other children were: Blanche (Adams), deceased; Sydney (Lyons); Hyatt Moore, deceased and Jack Conn Crawford.

Mrs. Lair married John Lee Lair on June 18, 1924. From that marriage came four daughters - Ann Crawford Henderson, Mt. Vernon; Virginia Lee

King, Renfro Valley; Nancy Carolyn Griffin, Annadale, Virginia and Barbara Burke Smith, Red Arsenal, Alabama; twelve grandchildren; a host of friends and 53 years of a happy marriage.

Mrs. Lair helped with Renfro Valley throughout the years since it was first started in 1939, serving as postmistress, manager of the gift shops and as general help made behind the scenes of its founder and her husband, John Lair.

All she asked out of life was what she gave - truth, understanding and love. Her death was quick, easy, without pain and immediate. She had suffered for eight years with a heart condition and yet her heart was the largest - filled with compassion for everyone. She was - it is hard not to say it - what you would like to know in a person. She left this life as she entered it - timid, honest, loving and truthful. A great influence and love which will be missed.

Funeral services for Mrs. Lair will be held Thursday, December 8 at 2 p.m. at Cox Funeral Home Chapel with Bro. Ernie Johnson and Rev. Ford Philpot officiating. Burial will be in the Elmwood Cemetery.

Mrs. John Lair, who died suddenly Monday evening at her home, is shown in the above photo with her family. They are, seated, from left: Mrs. Barbara

School Board Meets

Mainly routine items of business were before the Rockcastle County School Board at their regular monthly meeting Monday night.

Five companies submitted bids for foods and the bids were split among them. Institutional Jobbers won the most bids. Also being awarded bids because of their low bids were: Somerset Foods and Uncle Charlie, Robinson's Sausages, Institutional Distributors and Somerset Foods.

Preston Collins was the successful low bidder to install aluminum siding on the dwelling house at Roundstone School. Mr. Collins bid $2,882. Other bidders were: Charles Shivel, $3,548.10; Jerry Blair, $3,306.49; American Home Improvement, $3,057.

Rathel Collins was the only bidder for the trees being sold off the proposed baseball field at the high school. Mr. Collins submitted a bid of $250. He was also awarded the bid for the bulldozer work to clean up the field at $4,500.

The board also approved the letting of bids for workmen's compensation insurance for 1978 and for a new roof for Brodhead School which will be put on in the spring.

A GED certificate was approved for Donnie A. Doan and the payment of the minimum wage of $2.65 was approved for all wage and hour employees, effective January 1, 1978.

The board also approved the use of school buses for the Jaycees Christmas Party.

RECC Warns that Request by East Ky. Power Will Mean Increase to Customers

A $14-million rate adjustment request by Winchester-based East Kentucky Power, filed November 30 before the Kentucky Public Service Commission, will no doubt mean an increase to rural electric cooperative members of Jackson County RECC.

Ronald Rainsom, EK Power President and General Manager, indicated the major reason for the rate request is "the enormous inflation affecting all of our construction projects."

In 1969, a 200,000-kilowatt generating unit was built at Bereaside for $129 a kilowatt, and the first unit of 300,000 KW's recently completed at the Spurlock Station in Mason County cost $589 a KW. This is an increase of 300 percent since 1969.

The cost of constructing and operating pollution-control equipment in Spurlock Station was said to be another

Special Presentation on Renfro Valley

Over Channel 27

There will be a special presentation on Renfro Valley on Channel 27 this Friday night, December 9 at 9 p.m. The presentation will be entitled "The Valley Where Time Stands Still."

Mr. Ward, an employee of the Department of Motor Vehicles in Frankfort, held a meeting at the courthouse Tuesday night for County Court Clerk's from surrounding counties. Purpose of the meeting was to explain the new staggered registration for motor vehicles which will go into effect January 1, 1978. The new program will only affect - cars and out-of-state cars, which have never been registered before in Kentucky. Those already registered will receive a new decal and plate and they will be due to be purchased by February 28, 1978. Mr. Ward said it would take about eight years to fully implement the system whereby the staggered registration will affect enough motorists to make the county court clerk's job simpler.

An Explanation of the District Court's Jurisdiction

[Ed's. Note: This is the first in a six-part series on the structure of Kentucky's new judicial system, whose implementation will be completed with the opening of the district courts on Jan. 3. We are printing them to help our readers understand the changes with the new system and to help, we hope, ease the transition to the new system for the people it will serve. pm]

Dept. of Public Information

In less than five weeks, the number of lower courts in Kentucky will drop from 600 to 113 as the state's new judicial system takes effect. The state's present system of police courts, county quarterly courts and magisterial courts will be merged into one district court system.

"The new system will be as confusing as the present system," according to William Davis, executive director of the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC). "Citizens with misdemeanor or relatively small civil cases will know exactly where to go, rather than from one court to another to find the right court."

Davis was referring to the present system's problem with overlapping jurisdiction. The jurisdictional problem was one of the major reasons behind the judicial amendment to the Kentucky Constitution, passed by popular vote in November 1975.

"As the system now operates, a misdemeanor committed within a city is received by the police court," he said.

"Unless, that is, the offense was committed in a juvenile. In that case, the case goes to police court."

"County/quarterly, county and magisterial courts can each try civil cases involving up to $500 in claims," Davis continued. "And there is also the question about territorial jurisdiction. Police courts try cases within the city - but the city is within the county, and so the county court may become involved. There is also the question of the county's authority over magisterial districts."

"But after Jan. 1, all misdemeanors and civil cases involving amounts up to $1,500 will be tried in one place - the district court," Davis said.

"The district court will be concerned with all misdemeanor, traffic violations and local ordinance violations," he said. "In addition, juvenile matters, uncontested probate and in some cases, local administrative cases will come under district court review."

Davis said civil cases will be handled either in the district court, for matters up to $1,500, or in the district court with misdemeanor or relatively small civil cases involving amounts up to $500. No attorneys will be necessary for cases in small claims court, although persons involved in cases there are allowed to bring counsel. But the counsel will not be allowed to speak for his client.

Davis noted that a limit of 25 appearances per year will be applied to persons using the small claims division. It is hopeful that private businesses won't be using the courts as a collection agency," he said.

Eternal Truth

This question is sincerely asked by sinners today. Many preachers will give different answers to the question, and confusion results. Finally, the honest seeker of TRUTH decides to see what the BIBLE answer to his question is. He picks up his NEW TESTAMENT and opens to take any ONE of the books of Acts which is often called the "Book of Conversions." To his delight he finds a multitude of people asking the same question he has been asking (Acts 2:37, 16:30). He reads the book through and examines the representative conversions. When he is finished he concludes that God's answer to his question is:

1. LEARN. Discover Christ's plan for saving souls through Him (Acts 8:35).
2. BELIEVE. Conviction based on what one has learned (Acts 16:31).
3. REPENT. Determine to serve God instead of Satan (Acts 2:38; 17:30-31).
4. CONFESS. A simple confession of faith in Christ. "I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God" (Acts 8:37).

By Austin Mobley, Minister
Providence Church of Christ

WHAT MUST I DO TO BE SAVED?

5. BE BAPTIZED. Not sprinkled or poured, but baptized (immersed) as were all who were saved in the days of the apostles (Acts 2:38; 8:12; 10:48; 16:33; 18:8; 22:16).

This is the sum total of what the BIBLE teaches that one must do to be saved from past sins today. We may not take any ONE of the requirements above and make them THE plan of salvation. Rather, in humble obedience, we must obey ALL of what God has said (Heb. 6:19). When God outlines a program for man to perform, he must fulfill every item in the program to obtain the end desired. May we encourage YOU to become a CHRISTIAN (Acts 11:26)?

reason for the rate increase. More than $89 million is currently being spent to install federally required sulfur removal equipment, which, according to Rainson is "non-productive and unrecoverable except through rates."

"In the next 10 years," Rainson continued, "East Kentucky will be forced to spend hundreds of millions of dollars on pollution-control equipment which takes away from the power and efficiency of the plant and greatly increases the cost of construction. And, all of these costs will have to be paid for by the consumer-members in order to meet new environmental water and air standards."

General inflationary costs of equipment, materials, labor and operating costs were also cited as additional reasons for the rate adjustment request. Interest for long-term financing rates in years past were 2 percent, but now interest charges range between 7 1/2 to 8 1/2 percent.

"In the past," Rainson added, "revenues and inflation rose smoothly and almost comfortably together. As we acquired more customers, we built new plants and the additional revenues paid for these plants. Today, neither this techniques nor our attempts to buy power from other utilities as a stop gap to new construction can offset the enormous impact of construction inflation."

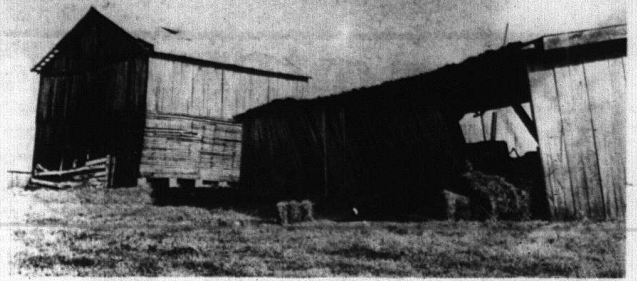

Based on an average monthly residential usage of 775 kilowatt hours the proposed rate increase would raise consumers' bills by a percentage which will be determined when a rate study is completed for Jackson County RECC.

East Kentucky Power is a not-for-profit cooperative selling wholesale electricity to 18 member co-ops in 89 counties in Central and Eastern Kentucky. Nearly one million Kentuckians receive electricity from EK Power's three generating stations, Jackson County RECC is one of the 18 member co-ops.

Lee Roy Cole, President and General Manager of Jackson County RECC stated that the Cooperative has the lowest retail rates for electricity of any of the eighteen member systems of East Kentucky Power except one in the Blue Grass part of the state. He sees no reason why our position will change since all the others will need increased revenue as well. This is true because wholesale power cost is by far the largest item of expense to a Rural Electric Cooperative. When it goes up, the Cooperative must recover the added cost.

SCC Cooperative Education

Program Expands

Presently, over one hundred students at Somerset Community College are enrolled in cooperative education. By the end of the academic year as many as 150 students will be participating in this program. This means that students are earning credit for work experiences which are directly related to their fields of study.

The term "cooperative education" describes the manner in which the program operates. Employers cooperate with the college in providing part-time or full-time jobs for students, and they also participate in the evaluation of these students. Students earn credit based upon the number of hours they work each semester. The college assures that the work station becomes a learning site by providing the student with a list of objectives to be met, and by integrating classroom teaching with the classroom experience.

Students in associate-degree programs in business, allied health and communications have had the opportunity for cooperative education experiences since 1970. In 1975 engineering technology programs were added to the list. With the funding of a project under Title VIII of the Higher Education Act, the college is now able to offer cooperative education to transfer students, as well. In addition to increasing the options for cooperative education, the project is also supporting efforts to establish a competency-based system for all cooperative education stations. This will provide students, employers and faculty with documented evidence of skills either developed or tested in a cooperative education position. The approach is innovative and is receiving considerable attention from other colleges.

Employers are urged to consider cooperative education as a way to obtain skilled employees either part-time or full-time. Studies have shown that hiring cooperative education students is practical in terms of getting skilled help and in terms of recruiting competent permanent employees.

Students, prospective students, and employers who desire to obtain further information should contact one of the cooperative education coordinators at the college, 678-8174. For the associate-degree programs in Business, Legal Secretary, Administrative Secretary, Data Processing, and Business Management Technology, contact should be made with Mrs. Connie Morrow. For Administrative Medical Assisting, Medical Laboratory Technology, Human Services, or Special Education Assisting, the Coordinator is Mrs. Gale Radford. Danny Jasper is responsible for Civil Engineering Technology, and Craig Molnar is responsible for Electrical Engineering Technology. Those interested in obtaining more information about cooperative education in Communications Technology or in liberal arts or pre-professional majors should contact E. C. Story.

Kentucky Afield

By John Wilson

If anyone wonders why the ruffed grouse is not hunted more in Kentucky, a quick trip through grouse country will provide a ready answer.

The grouse's range in Kentucky extends from the western edge of the Daniel Boone National Forest to the eastern border of the commonwealth. And the steeper the hills and the more tangled the vegetation, the better the grouse seem to like it.

A day's grouse hunting will let you know in a hurry what kind of physical shape you're in. If you're used to walking up and down mountains, however you might actually enjoy yourself.

Compounding the problems created by the grouse's habitat is the nature of the bird itself. There are seldom such things as easy shots or second chances. Grouse seem to have a particular talent for frustrating hunters. If there is a tree nearby, the grouse will almost certainly fly behind it as soon as he is flushed. Or he might not flush at all, or fly off so quietly that the hunters are not even aware of his presence. But again, he might burst from underfoot with as much noise as a whole covey of quail.

So to say grouse hunting is a challenge is somewhat of an understatement. Yet the dedicated grouse hunter wouldn't trade his sport for any other. Nor would he trade his grouse dog, if he's lucky enough to have a good one, for any other kind, for a good dog is hard to find.

The dog should be a slow, deliberate worker, with plenty of experience on grouse. A fast, flashy field trial dog is virtually worthless. It would be impossible to keep up with him, for one thing, and for another, training on quail leaves a dog ill prepared for the wily grouse.

Most hunters prefer an old, wise dog, one that stays close to his master and works lightly cover areas carefully and thoroughly.

The hunter who doesn't have a dog will have to use all his senses, work slowly and patiently and be ready for surprises. He should be particularly alert around stands of beech or oak trees, near tangles of wild grape vines, or near abandoned apple orchards.

Favorite roosting spots are along brushy stream banks or in evergreen thickets, but it's the nature of the bird to pop up where you least expect him. So be ready to shoot quickly.

Most hunters prefer lightweight, short barreled shotguns that can be handled quickly. A long barrel or a little extra weight can slow the pointing process down that fraction of a second that often spells the difference between a hit and a miss. High brass no. 6 shells fired through improved cylinder or modified barrels make an excellent combination.

Kentucky's grouse season is the same as the season on quail: Nov. 17 through Dec. 2 and Dec. 6 through Feb. 29, 1978. The daily limit is four grouse, with a possession limit of eight after two or more days of hunting.

The Daniel Boone National Forest offers the most extensive tracts of public hunting lands and hunting regulations on the forest follow regular statewide rules. For specific information about DNF, write the Daniel Boone National Forest Headquarters, 100 Vaught Road, Winchester, Ky., 40391.

Everybody's Problem!

Inflation affects what we pay for food, clothing, shelter and electric energy . . . those things we need to survive.

When an electric cooperative has to raise its rates, it's the last straw. Cooperatives are nonprofit corporations. We are consumer owned, and have as many reasons to keep costs down as we have members.

So even when it asks the Public Service Commission for a rate increase, a cooperative tells its members how to avoid wasting energy. The rate increase is needed to keep the cooperative alive so it can provide needed energy. But the co-op still tries to help members keep their costs as low as possible.

Ask yourself these questions: Does my home have enough insulation? Is it properly insulated? Is my weather stripping sufficient? Are there places around my house that need caulking? Do I have storm doors and windows? Do my storm doors and windows fit properly? If any of those questions fit your home, ask your cooperative for advice.

Potted Plants for Christmas

Many varieties of pot plants are sold at Christmas. Know something about these varieties and what to look for in quality will enable the buyer to purchase a more desirable plant that will give additional pleasure.

Most pot plants sold as Christmas gifts are grown in 6" diameter pots or larger. For the plant to be visually attractive it must exhibit a certain height proportionality with the pot in which it is grown. If the plant is too tall, it will appear top heavy; if too short, it will look stubby. The acceptable proportionality between plant and pot is 2 to 2 1/2 inches. That is, if the pot is 6" high, then the plant should be 12 to 15" in height.

The flowers should have clear or intense color, be free of blemishes and not show any signs of aging. The leaves generally should be smooth and free of blemishes caused by disease or insects, spray residues and physical damage. The leaves generally should cover the stem and touch the pot. The plant should be symmetrical in shape as viewed from the top and should be centered in the pot and not leaning to one side.

The most popular Christmas pot plant is, of course, the red poinsettia. During the past few years many new varieties of poinsettias have become available. These new varieties are very long lasting, the bracts are larger and the color of red more intense. For those interested in pink, white and bicolors are also available. The bracts should have an intense color and be free of blemishes. The true flowers of the poinsettia should not be mature. If three to five large bract heads are present per pot, they should all be of uniform height. If many smaller bract heads are produced per plant, the pot should be rounded in shape.

The well grown azalea is always happily received as a gift. The azalea comes primarily in red, white, pink and some bicolors. It usually is grown in a 6" or 7" pot. The proportionality of plant to pot will be nearer two times the height of the pot. The proportionality of plant to pot will be nearer two times the height of the pot. The azaleas should be close to round in shape as viewed from the top. Approximately 1/3 to 1/2 of the buds should be fully open and the rest should show color. If all flowers are open, the plant will be attractive much longer. There should be no green shoots protruding through the lower head.

The cyclamen is an extremely attractive plant that is not as common as the poinsettia or azalea but is gaining in its acceptance as a Christmas gift. The cyclamen should not be as tall as the poinsettia or azalea because the leaves to the cyclamen droop over the pot, reducing the observable height of the pot. Most well-proportioned azaleas are about 1-1/2 times the height of the pot. Some varieties of cyclamen will have patterns of light green in the leaf. This is a characteristic of the variety and should not be mistaken for a cultural problem. Several flowers should be protruding above the leaf canopy and many small buds at various stages of development should be observable below the leaves.

The kalanchoe has been with us for many years, but this year it is a new face. On the market this year they will be some new varieties of extremely attractive plants. They come in shades of yellow, pink and orange as well as the more common red. These will add a new dimension to the sale of kalanchoes. The heads of the flowers should be at various stages of development. Look for symmetry as viewed from the sides as well as from the top.

The Christmas begonia should be round and symmetrical. Some flowers should be fully open with buds at various stages of development in the axils.

The Christmas cactus is gaining greater acceptance as a gift plant for Christmas. For the person who is looking for something different, the Christmas cactus may be the plant. The plant generally exhibits a white, pink or red at the end of the succulent leaf. The leaves with the flowers trailing over the edge of the pot make it an excellent plant to use in a basket set against the ceiling. A few flowers should be fully open and the rest of the buds just ready to break.

Christmas is almost the off-season for chrysanthemums; however, many are still sold. No other plant grown commercially has as wide a range of color or as many forms as the chrysanthemum. However, relatively few of these are ever seen in local markets. The center of the flower of the pot chrysanthemum should be tight and generally exhibit a slight green color. The flower head should be flat to slightly rounded. As viewed from the top, the flower should be evenly spaced so that each flower is fully exhibited. There should be no broken flower heads.

Many foliage plants and indoor plants will be given this year as gifts. The same characteristics required for quality flowering plants should also be evident in foliage plants. However, the leaves on foliage plants are more important than on flowering plants. The foliage should be blemish-free and should usually be shiny green in color. The shade of green will depend upon the variety.

Many plants being sold this Christmas will be "acclimatized," which means they have been grown in an environment and given the proper care to prepare them for use indoors. These plants will adapt quickly to your home environment.

What to do in December

The first of December is generally considered as the beginning of winter, but in reality, this frigid season does not commence until December 22. This is the day on which the sun reaches the end of its tether (solstice), seemingly hesitates on its southward journey, and again starts its oh-so-slow return, bringing spring back to the Northern Hemisphere.

Although December is frequently spoken of as the "froxy month," it is not usually the coldest month of the winter. By the same token, it is not the most cheerless month. Crackling fires and the good will inspired by the spirit of approaching Christmas spreads a wonderful, warm, and happy glow across the land, mitigating the chill of boreal winds sweeping down from the north. December is one of the months in which all nature seems to come to a halt. Of the manifold activities of summer and autumn, there now remains scarcely a trace. There is not growing, no fruiting, no ripening, no harvesting, but no matter to function successfully, everything must have time for resting and recuperation, and this applies to the inanimate as well as to the animate things that exist on this good earth.

The ancient Romans made Vesta, goddess of the hearth, the special deity of December. For several reasons, this seems most appropriate, but mainly because it is the most glorious month for little children - a month in which chimneys and mantelpieces over the hearth play such important role. Without chimneys, there could be no Santa Claus.

Notwithstanding Christmas, the spirit of Christmas, red holly berries, some snow on the ground, Santa Claus, and some other attributes, December is not exactly the most pleasant month of the year. As the popular naturalist and outdoorsman, Hal Borland, once wrote, it is the price "we pay for June."

As Borland indicated, December may not be the best month of the year for some things but often because of other conditions, neither is January, February, nor any other month. But as another distinguished outdoor writer once said, "not from the parch but of the year can be spared these crystal gems of winter."

Not too much can be done outdoors in December in the way of farming or gardening, but specialists in the various fields of rural living say this way of life can be enhanced if some things are done this month.

December, they say, is the month in which to paint the basement stairs - make sure animals in the barn have plenty of warm bedding and birds in the fields and woods have plenty of seed, cracked corn and sunflower seed - read Isaiah 40:11 and start planning for next year - and make every effort to catch a favored person of the opposite sex under the mistletoe.

Do this all and have a Merry Christmas.

Synthetic Fire Logs Dangerous

If Missed
Synthetic fire logs are a chill-chasing, colorful, easy-to-start blaze in your fireplace, but take care.

Don't break them, pile them up, poke them around, or load them into your wood burning stove. Misused, they can be dangerous, even in a fireplace.

The trouble, according to Larry Pierce, is that they get too hot for safe use if they are broken, piled on top of each other, or used in the wrong type of heating device. This is because they are made with paraffin, in addition to sawdust and traces of natural mineral salts.

So, lay one log on the grate, light it,

The Mt. Vernon Signal Thursday, December 8, 1977 P-9

enjoy it, and leave it alone. But make certain first that it's safe to burn a synthetic log in your particular fireplace.

Some manufacturers of non-masonry fireplaces caution against the use of man-made logs.

Here's Perfect End For Holiday Meal

Turn back the hands of time and treat your family to an honest to goodness mince-meat pie. The most important ingredient to remember is the meat, for without it you just can't expect to have the quality that was characteristic of those wonderful early mince-meat pies, says Reba Stags, National Live Stock and Meat Board.

This recipe is also special since it's seasoned with the season's finest cranberries for an unusual spicy filling.

Homemade Cranberry Mince-meat

1 pound cooked beef, chopped (3 1/2 cups)
1 pound cranberries
2 cups brown sugar

1/2 pound beef suet, finely chopped
2 cups sliced pared apples
2 cups raisins
1 cup diced candied citron
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
1 tablespoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups apple cider
1/2 cup brandy, if desired

Cook cranberries and brown sugar slowly in large saucepan, stirring occasionally until berries burst. Add beef, suet, apples, raisins, citron, lemon peel, spices and salt and stir to combine. Stir in apple cider and cook slowly 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in brandy. Yield: 9 cups (filling for 2 or 3 nine-inch pies).

USDA To Lower Food Stamp Prices For Households With High Winter Utility Bills

In the face of predictions for another cold winter, Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman has announced that the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) plans to ensure lower food stamp purchase prices this winter for households experiencing substantial increases in utility bills.

"We're trying to make sure the food stamp program works the way it is supposed to," Assistant Secretary Foreman said. "Last winter, some low-income families were forced to choose between paying high utility bills and buying their food stamps. Some of these households were unaware that if they took their utility bills to the food stamp office, they would be entitled to a reduction in the cost of their stamps. In other cases, administrative procedures prevented prompt adjustment in food stamp purchase prices."

To remedy this problem, Ms. Foreman said USDA's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) would shortly issue a notice instructing states to make procedural changes aimed at insuring adjustments in purchase prices for households bringing in increased utility bills this winter. This includes households currently certified on the basis of a standard utility allowance.

The forthcoming directive will instruct states to send a notice to all food stamp households, describing the new procedures and informing them of their right to bring increased utility bills to the food stamp office and receive an adjustment in their purchase price.

Under food stamp regulations now in effect, the amounts households must pay for their food stamps are based on their income after deductions. The principal deduction is for high shelter and utility costs. Last winter, however, when many households' utility bills rose sharply, some did not receive a corresponding increase in their purchase price.

Ms. Foreman said FNS is now examining all "standard utility allowances" used by states. States are permitted to use a standard table to estimate a household's utility costs, provided they give households the option to use actual utility bills in calculating the shelter deduction.

"We want to be certain that all states using a standard utility allowance are in compliance with our requirements," Ms. Foreman said. USDA requires states to review utility standards annually to make sure they reflect current needs.

Assistant Secretary Foreman observed that many low-income organizations and several states had asked USDA to ease the likely hardships of the coming winter by implementing by Jan. 1 a provision of the new Food Stamp Act that eliminates the requirement that food stamp households must pay for their stamps. Under legislation recently signed by President Carter, households will no longer pay out any amount in cash and get back a larger amount in stamps. Instead, they will simply receive the "bonus" amount in food coupons — the difference between what they would have paid and their full allotment of stamps.

"We are sympathetic to the concerns of these groups," Foreman stated, "but it would not be legal for us to eliminate the purchase requirement on Jan. 1. There is no way we can follow that course of action and remain within the law."

Foreman said USDA's general counsel ruled on Oct. 26 that it would be illegal to eliminate the purchase requirement without also implementing at the same time the provisions of the new law that lower the food stamp net income limits and recamp the system of income deductions used in the food stamp program. The general counsel stated that under Section Six of the new act, the purchase requirement can be eliminated only when the new income and deduction provisions are implemented. There is no authority in the new act for elimination of the purchase requirement separate from these other provisions, the general counsel noted.

The department plans to implement the new eligibility and deduction provisions next summer, and the purchase requirement will be eliminated at that time, Ms. Foreman said. She noted that these provisions could not be implemented earlier because USDA must issue proposed regulations and then consider comments from the public, before final regulations can be prescribed. And, after final regulations are issued, she said, states will need time to retrain caseworkers, reprogram computers and make other necessary preparations before these new provisions can be put into effect at the local level.

Freeze Pies for the Holidays

Once upon a time many women made a half dozen or more pies in one day, then kept them in a pie safe for eating all through the week. They may have been great pies, but by the week's end they lost some of their home-baked goodness.

With a freezer to capture their freshness, you can have your own baking day several weeks or more before Christmas and tuck pies away for holiday eating. Use your favorite recipes, or those passed down from your grandmother, and count on their staying as mouth-watering good as the day you baked them.

Pumpkin, sweet potato-minicement and fruit pies all freeze beautifully. Chiffon pies freeze well, too. But stay away from cream filling and meringues, because results will be disappointing.

Fruit or Minicement Pie

Use a tried-and-true recipe. This is not time to experiment. Either fresh or frozen fruit or canned minicement will do, but be sure to treat fresh fruit with ascorbic acid to prevent darkening.

Freeze the pies unbaked for best results. Line a glass or aluminum pie plate with crust, put in filling, top with another crust. Seal edges of two crusts together, cover pie with a paper plate, and wrap with moisture-vapor-resistant freezer wrap. Label pie as to what kind it is and date frozen, then freeze immediately.

Fruit or minicement pie will keep well for 2 months. Unwrap, prick holes in the top crust, and bake at 475 degrees F. for 15 minutes. Reduce to 375 degrees and bake 30 minutes longer, or until done.

Eddie Thompson, No. 44, goes for two against the Briar Jumpers. Thompson picked up 11 in a good effort against Somerset and 6 against Berea. Thompson won his starting position in the Berea game and has been playing consistent ball since then.

Larry Harmon, No. 25, tries for a rebound in the Rockets game with Somerset Tuesday night. Harmon got 6 points in the game but was high point man in the Berea game last Friday night

Rockets Embarrass Berea 80-54; Lose to Somerset by 7

The Rowcastle County Rockets played their arch-rival Berea last Friday night at home and thoroughly defeated them 80-54.

The game was close in the first half, with Rowcastle leading by only one point at half time. But, in the second half, the Rockets exploded and left Berea far behind. It was an interesting game for the fans, if the fans liked a very physical game and there were technicals aplenty in the game with the Berea coach being tagged for one after he went onto the floor to dispute a call with the referee. He wound up with two technicals called on him and Larry Harmon very coolly sunk three of the four technical shots.

Harmon was also high point man in the game with 25, many of which came from powerful rebounding over Berea's 6'5" center (who had previously this season scored 48 points in one game - the Rockets held him to 20).

The Rockets' technical came when Walter Browning disputed an official's call. However, Browning was the main reason for the plug being put to the big Pirate center.

The Rockets were forced to shuffle their line-up somewhat due to their starting guard, David Pensol, not play. Pensol was out of town due to a death in his family. But, Warren Cash came on to do a good job and pick up 8 points.

Steve Center picked up 18 points for the Rockets and once again played a fine basketball game. Jeff Hammonds came off the bench to put in an excellent performance and pick up seven points. Other scoring in the game went as follows: Eddie Thompson, 6; Walter Browning, 4; Jack Farthing, Tim Arvin, Frank Phillips and David Mullins all got two points each.

Rockets Lose to Somerset

Tuesday night, Somerset brought their Briar Jumpers to town and escaped with only a 7 point victory as Rockets put on a valiant effort.

Once Again, Steve Center was the scoring punch for the Rockets with 34 - 21 of them coming in the first half. Center had help in the form of another junior Eddie Thompson who got 11 points and had to play against a 6'9" center. The Rockets contained Somerset's big man very well but they couldn't stop the good outside shooting of the Briar Jumpers and spent the night playing catch-up ball.

The Rockets finally tied the score at 48 but that was the best they could do as they never led in the ball game and actually played above their head just to stay within 7 points of a much better ball team.

Other Rockets scoring were: Larry Harmon, 6 and Jeff Hammond and Walter Browning, 1 each.

This Friday night, the Rockets will host Laurel County and it is expected to be a very good game as the Cardinals went to the State Tournament last season.

The Rockets will then play at Knox Central next Tuesday night.

Rockets Girls Still Undefeated

The Rowcastle County Rockets girls team still has a perfect record thus far this season. The girls have not actually had a close game. They opened the season by defeating Whitley County then they traveled to Knoxville and came away with a 27 to 31 win. Sharon Farthing led all scorers in this game with 20 points; Gina Ruppe got 10; Sandy Sturell 7; Kim Howard and Lisa Mullins 6 each; Diane Thacker, Kim Dealherage a losing cause but, since the Rockets were a definite underdog in the first place, they gave a good account of themselves.
