

Rockets Lose to Jackson and Corbin; Girls Win Two

Brenda Bullen and Diana Thacker put the double whammy on a Jackson County player in last Friday night's contest at RCHS which the girls won convincingly 65-35. Bullen got 8 and Thacker got 9 in the game.

The Rockets led all the way in Friday night's game at home against Jackson County -- all the way that is until Jackson County took the lead 48-47 with 4:21 left in the fourth quarter. After that, it was nip and tuck until Jackson pulled the game out of the fire 61-60. The Rockets had beaten Jackson County by 9 points on their home court just two days earlier.

The Rockets held a 30-22 lead at half time and were ahead by seven, 45-38, in the fourth quarter. But, with one Jackson County player hitting everything he shot at, with a final game high of 39 points, the Rockets were not able to hang on for the win.

High scorer for the Rockets was Steve Center with 18; Larry Harmon got 12 points but pulled down 13 rebounds; David Pensol was deadly from outside and was second high scorer with 13 points; Jack Farthing got 8; Eddie Thompson, 6; Jeff Hammonds, 2 and Walter Browning, 1.

Saturday night, the Rockets traveled to Corbin and suffered a 6 point loss at the hands of a team whom they had beaten by one point on the Rockets' home court earlier in the season.

The Rockets never saw daylight in the game, trailing at all the quarter stops. Pensol was high point man with 16; Browning got 13; Center, 10; Harmon, 9; Hammonds, 9 and Thompson 2.

The Rockets last game of the season will be against Casey County this Friday night at Casey and will begin district tournament play next Thursday night when they meet Clay County at Jackson Co. High School.

GIRLS WIN TWO; LOSE ONE

The Rockets' girls team lost to Jackson County by 12 points, 48-36 last week but completely turned the tables two nights later by defeating the same team by 30 points, 65-35.

In the first game, the Rockets were ahead at half-time 22-19 but Jackson County came back to take the lead in the third quarter and to outscore the Rockets 13-5 in the fourth quarter for the win.

Gina Ruppe was high scorer for the girls with 13; Diana Thacker got 9; Brenda Bullen, 8 and Sandy Sturgill, 9.

In the second game, the outcome was never really in doubt as the girls jumped on top and stayed there. They were ahead by 12, 32-20, at half-time and outscored the Jackson County girls 18-4 in the third quarter for the lop-sided victory.

Ruppe was again leading scorer with 22; Sturgill got 13; Thacker, 9; Bullen, 8; Kim Howard, 6; China Osborne, 4 and Tammy Shepherd, 3.

Monday afternoon, the girls hosted Whitley County and came out with a 57-38 win.

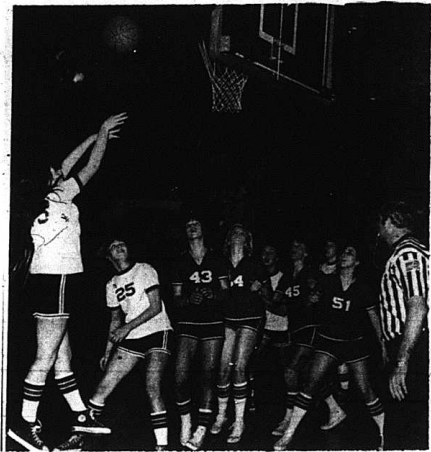

The girls led all the way with Ruppe getting 23 points. Others scoring for the girls were: Thacker, 11; Bullen, 8; Howard, 6; Sturgill, 5 and Shepherd, 4.

The girls also begin district tourney play next week, taking on Oneida Tuesday night at 6:30 p.m. at Jackson County.

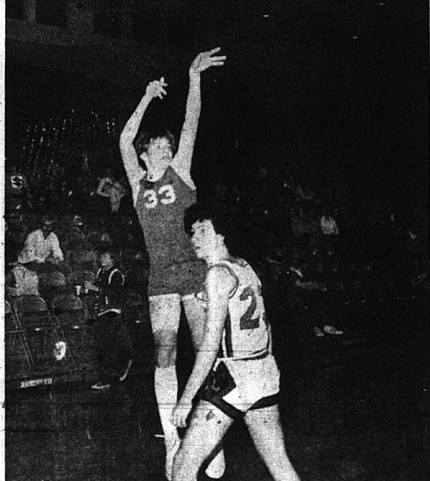

Larry Harmon, No. 25 for the Rockets, looks for a little help during action at Corbin Saturday night. Harmon picked up 9 points in the losing effort. Walter Browning, No. 54, is shown attempting to help his teammate out.

Sandy Sturgill goes for two in the Friday night game and picked up a total of 9 points for her efforts. The girls had earlier been defeated by Jackson Co. by 12 points.

David Mullins, a forward on the Rockets B Team goes for two in action Saturday night at Corbin. The B team lost badly to Corbin and so did the A team by a score of 64 to 58.

Eddie Thompson tries for two against Corbin Saturday night. The Rockets lost the game 64-58 after suffering a one-point defeat at the hands of Jackson County on Friday night. This Friday night, the Rockets close out their season with a trip to Clay County.

The Best Advertising

Selling your home? Then your first thought will, no doubt, be advertising it. You may start by planting a "For Sale By Owner" sign in your front lawn. But will this be seen by enough - or any - prospective buyers?

Then - newspaper advertising! This can become more costly and less effective than you think if done improperly. It could even lead to over-exposure of the house to the point where, if you should decide later to consult a Realtor, good prospects already will have seen the property and, having failed to buy, will be harder to interest, a second time. The basic reason for advertising is to attract interested prospects who are ready, willing, and financially able to buy. There's more effective and faster way. List with a Realtor! He has prospects already in the market for homes realistically priced. One of them may be looking for just such a home as yours.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at Ford Realty & Auction Co., Inc., Mt. Vernon, Phone 256-4545. We're here to help!

The Mt. Vernon Signal Thursday, February 23, 1978 P-13

For they are tired and full of woe.

Give them your tender loving care. That shall make their spirit soar: Give them Thy gift of eternal life. That they may rejoice evermore-

Make room for them in Thy glorious house. And prepare for them a bed. On a soft white cloud with a pillow of satin.

Where they may rest their weary heads. Sometimes when the loss and grief we feel.

Are almost more than we can bear. We look to Heaven with wide open eyes. And we can almost see them there.

Grayson Acknowledges Mayor's Letter

Ed's Note: The letter below is in answer to Mayor Roland Mullins request to the Department of Transportation for guardrails along Lake Linville. Two date, two cars have gone into the Lake in the area where the rails have been requested. Luckily, no one has been injured in the mishaps.

Mr. Roland D. Mullins, Mayor
City of Mt. Vernon
Mt. Vernon, Kentucky

Dear Mayor Mullins:

This is to acknowledge and thank you for your most recent letter concerning the need for guardrail near Lake Linville, Rockcastle County.

As you know Green Hill Road, CR-1333, is a county road and the responsibility of Rockcastle County. However, it is included in the County Road Aid Program for maintenance. Mr. John Sturgill, District Engineer for the Bureau of highways in Somerset, tells me that guardrail is included as an item in the County Road Aid Agreement. As soon as the weather improves, an engineer from the District Office will investigate this situation to determine if guardrail will improve the safety of this road near the lake.

When this investigation has been completed, I have asked Mr. Sturgill or a member of his staff to contact you and tell you what decision has been made. Your interest and concern is appreciated.

Very truly yours,

Calvin G. Grayson, P.E.

Secretary
Department of Transportation
Commonwealth of Kentucky
Frankfort, Kentucky

Rockets Must Beat Clay Co. To Advance to Regionals

Rockcastle needs to win one game to get into the Regionals - a win over Clay County will do it and the Rockets lost to Clay County earlier in the season by only 2 points in a game played at Clay County.

Students Return to School Tuesday is Short-Lived

A short, heavy snowfall beginning about 10:30 a.m. Tuesday morning and colder temperatures seemed to put the kids to Rockcastle school administrators hopes of getting students back into school.

School was resumed Tuesday morning after being closed for 33 school days due to the severe winter weather but classes had to be dismissed at 1 p.m. because of the rapidly worsening conditions of the roads due to the snowstorm.

Supt. Charles Parsons said Tuesday that plans for making up the lost days cannot be finalized by the local board of education since it is not yet certain what the state board of education will approve - or even whether or not the 10 "calamity" days will be granted.

In past years, the state board of education has granted five "calamity" days because of bad weather and this year, Gov. Julian Carroll said he would sign an executive order adding five additional days. This would lower the total number of instructional days from 175 to 170. Gov. Carroll also said he had no reason to doubt that the elementary and secondary board would grant five "calamity" days. However, board member Bob Brown of Lexington said, "This board has never routinely granted calamity days - ever. And, there's no reason to believe that we will this year."

Supt. Parsons said that the local board of education was hoping to make up the lost days by extending the school day for a shorter period of time than last year and going to school possibly through the first week in June. He also said that, along with several other superintendents, were drafting a request to the state board of education asking that they meet in special session to decide the alternatives which local boards could employ to make up the days - and to decide if or how many "calamity" days would be granted. Mr. Parsons said until this was done, no definite plans could be made by the local board.

The state board is scheduled to meet again March 14-15.

Former Tenn. Governor To Be Featured Speaker

Former Tennessee Gov. Winfield Dunn will be featured speaker at the Fifth District Lincoln Club's 40th annual dinner on Saturday, March 4.

Dunn was elected in 1970 as the first Republican governor of his state in 50 years. He will share the rostrum at the Dupont Lodge in Cumberland Falls State Park near Corbin with Rep. Tim Lew Carter, of Hopkinsville.

Tickets for the 6:30 p.m. EST dinner may be purchased from county chairmen and co-chairmen for $10, according to Lincoln Club President Dennis Patrick of Williamsburg.

Dunn gained a citizen-politician campaign against John J. Hoover, Jr. to gain the governor's mansion. A dentist before seeking public office, he now is with the Hospital Corporation of America in Nashville.

The son of a former Congressman from Mississippi, Dunn became active in Tennessee Republican politics after moving to the state to study dentistry at the University of Tennessee. He has served as chairman of the Education Commission of the States and on other commissions. He was vice chairman of the Republican Governors' Association in 1974.

Congressman Carter has served as Fifth District Representative for 13 years and has risen to the top Republican spot on two important House subcommittees in Washington, D.C. He announced formally in December that he would seek the Republican nomination for an eighth term in Congress.

If unable to obtain tickets for the dinner locally, individuals may write or call Lincoln Club Vice President Allen Trimble, P.O. Box 690, Corbin, Ky. 40701. His telephone number is 696-328-9900.

City Council Meets in Special Session

The Mt. Vernon City Council met in special session last Thursday night with several items of importance on the agenda.

A representative of Schimpeler-Corradino Associates and Jack Crawford of Crawford and Crawford, Engineers presented six alternatives for the 201 facilities survey which they are drawing up for the city. Alternate number 2, with revisions so as to enlarge the existing water plant and route the industrial site to the existing plant, was tentatively approved by the council.

Another item up for discussion was a complaint against city policeman Joe Howard brought by Tim Bullock and Glen Hammond and a complaint about the city policemen leaving the city limits.

To discuss this problem, the council went into executive session and - upon returning to open meeting - reiterated to city policemen that they were not to leave the city's limits. Howard then submitted his resignation as policeman effective in 30 days.

The council also voted to ask the Industrial Development Authority to look into and make a decision on the advantage of annexing the industrial park to the city limits.

PHI KAPPA PHI TO INITIATE 80 AT EASTERN

Eighty seniors and graduate seniors at Eastern Kentucky University will be initiated into the national honor society of Phi Kappa Phi February 27 for demonstrating superior scholarship and leadership in their fields of study.

The nominees, who will receive the society's key, have attained an academic standing of 3.7 or higher on a scale of 4.0 for their undergraduate or graduate career or both.

The annual initiation and banquet will be held in the Keen Johnson Building, beginning at 6 p.m. Dr. Brantly Branson, EKV professor of biology, will be the speaker.

Invited to membership from Rockcastle County is Nancy Irene Hale, of Mt. Vernon.

LOCAL STUDENTS ON DEAN'S LIST AT EKV

Several students from Rockcastle County have been named to the Dean's List for the 1977 fall semester at Eastern Kentucky University. Named, with those making a perfect 4.0 academic standing in bold type, were: Janice P. Baker, Stephen G. Bullen, Nancy L.B. Hale, Donald R. Ramsey, John L. Rice, Jr., Norma D. Robinson, and John W. Shivel, all of Mt. Vernon; Rita E. Brown, Wanda E. Brown, Lajoy Graves, Janet S. Burdett, and Janice R. Holbrook, all of Bradenton.

Dr. John E. Rowlett, vice president for academic affairs, said the list, totaling 1,339 students, includes 368 who made a perfect 4.0 academic standing.

To attain the list, a student must make a scholastic average of 3.5 or better for 14 or more semester hours.

BACK TO SCHOOL FINALLY - BUT - not for long Rockcastle students found Tuesday when they returned to school for the first time since January 6th as classes were called off at 1 p.m. because of a snowstorm which hit about mid-morning and immediately put the roads in bad condition. Until Tuesday's snow, a total of ten and one-quarter inches had fell this month and the temperature range had been from a high of 46 degrees to minus 6.

Thirteen BCBG girls were nominated for basketball queen and attendants this year but, due to the inclement weather, keeping school closed, there was never any voting on the issue. So, at last Friday night's ballgame, the girls were presented to the audience as candidates and they decided there would be no queen or attendants named from the group this year. In the above photo are, from front row, left: Sherry Hanel, Kelli Cummins, DeeAnn Sargent and last year's queen, Lynn Burton. Second

Legislative News

By Rep. WM. Harold DeMarcus

Will the winter never end; yet, there are good things to be derived from withstanding difficult times. Such traits as self-confidence and endurance are developed or enhanced in times like these. We of the General Assembly are endeavoring to represent the people. In a previous installment I enumerated issues that I felt were important, however, stating there are many important pieces of legislation. And at this time, I would like to briefly describe three significant bills introduced in the Kentucky House of Representatives.

House Bill 264, sponsored by Representative Herman R. Battifol of Campbellsville, is an act relating to the payment dates for property tax. The act would extend the end of the discount period for property tax payments from November 1 to December 31 and to change the beginning and end of the delinquency period from January-January 31 to February 1 to the last day of February. This bill, if enacted by the General Assembly would be of some benefits to farmers, in that they will be able to cash in their late tobacco and grain crops and still have enough time to pay their property tax and realize a 2% discount thereof.

House Bill 179 sponsored by Art Schmidt of Gold Springs, in effect forbids the use of public funds for abortion, unless in the opinion of the physician the abortion is necessary to save the life of the mother. Of course, House Bill 179 deals with the sensitive issue that many of us feel strongly about, that being the right of human life.

Committee substitute to House Bill 180, sponsored by Gross Lindsey of Henderson, is an act which makes Saturday's legislative holidays. In essence would lengthen the 1978 General Assembly session by approximately one week.

As you may ask how may I keep fully abreast of the business being conducted by my Legislature. One way is to utilize the multiplicity of resources provided by the Kentucky media. Also, the Commonwealth of Kentucky provides a toll free number (1-800-372-2998) that citizens may use to receive the status of bills introduced in the Kentucky General Assembly. Once again, if you have any opinions on any legislative business, please feel free to let me know. In order to do you in better informed opinion, I know, I am including an opinion poll for your use.

Mail to: Rep. W. Harold DeMarcus, House Minority Floor Leader, Room 404, State Capitol, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

- 1) Extension of property tax payment deadlines. Favor ..... Oppose .....
- 2) A law establishing "home rule" for all counties. Favor ..... Oppose .....

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:
In receiving with me check for the renewal of my subscription to the Signal, a poem which expresses my sentiments about Kentucky. The poem was given to me by a friend here in Nashville, who is originally from Ashland, Kentucky. It was composed by her sister, the late Bessie Fossom, also of Ashland.
If sometimes you should have some space in your paper to print the poem, I'm sure the readers would enjoy it. If there should never be space to be printed, it's yours to keep and enjoy.
Thank You,
Sincerely,
Gladys Albright Jones

Where the waves dashed around on a bed of sand,
The moon came out and I sat alone,
Closed my eyes and thought of home.
And where could home ever be,
Other than old Kentucky for me,
It is a place where folks live,
Who know how to love, to laugh and forgive.
And it is a place where they still say,
"You all" come and spend the day,
No such hospitality was ever found,
As in Kentucky homes and on the old Farm Grounds.
Voices are gentle, soft and sweet,
Personalities are charming, vivacious, complete;
And the beauty of ladies they have their share,
Poets and writers say, there are none to compare.
Our men are courageous, gallant and true,
Ready to give their lives for the red, white and blue.

Agriculture Suffered Severely Because of January Weather

By Paula Alexander

The figures are still coming in, but January's heavy snow and related blizzard-like weather conditions may claim a $50 million toll on Kentucky's agriculture industry, according to state Agriculture Commissioner Thomas O. Harris.

Harris said the loss is about one-half that of the more than $107 million lost by the state's agriculture industry last year during the now legendary "winter of '77."

Harris said the state's dairymen were probably hit the hardest as, unable to travel on ice-covered roads, they were forced to dump their milk. He said that some 100,000 pounds of milk was lost in 1977, but that figure was increased perhaps 20 times this January.

Harris noted that while January produced an unusually heavy snowfall (28.4 inches for the entire month, compared to an average 5.2 inches), temperatures have not remained as frigid as those in 1977, thus preventing losses as great as those of last year. However, he added, the overall monthly temperature this January was still 10.4 degrees lower than normal.

Harris said overall farm production has been difficult to maintain and put this year's loss at $5 million, compared to $12 million in 1977.

Too, the agriculture commissioner put a $3 million loss on livestock, as opposed to more than an $8 million figure accumulated last year.

In other areas of agriculture production, Harris estimated a $13.5 million loss in machinery, explaining that many farmers had to use expensive equipment to clear roads to get to market. In fact, Harris said some $67 million would probably be required to repair farm roads damaged by this winter.

The commissioner said feed losses were similar to last year, at about a $20 million level.

Many farmers lost barns this January when the heavy snow caused roof collapses. Harris said that while the figures were not in on building losses, "it is going to be large."

Moreover, Kentucky's orchards were not spared by the snow. Harris put a $2 million tag on the loss of peaches, but predicted that the apple and strawberry crops would escape unharmed.

Harris applied in vain for federal disaster relief last year following heavy agriculture losses experienced during the severe winter. However, he said some farmers would probably be eligible for low-interest agriculture loans and some may even qualify for federal disaster relief funds because of flood damage in January.

Harris said that in Powell County alone, several miles of fences and a large amount of hay were destroyed by high waters.

"Those people ought to be given some help...I know we have many people in Kentucky working on it," he commented.

"As far as I'm concerned, it doesn't make any difference whether a $100 million loss is from floods, drought, or snow. A loss is a loss and the farmers of Kentucky cannot continue to carry this burden every year," Harris continued.

Harris said the Department of Agriculture was advising distressed farmers calling his office to contact their County Emergency Commission, a three-member group in each of the state's 120 counties, composed of a member of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, the county agent and a member of the Farmers Home Administration.

Harris cautioned that "we're not out of the woods yet," as heavy snow still remains on the ground with several winter days left in 1978. He also noted that extensive flooding was still a very real possibility. "I just hope it (the snow) does not leave at once," he said.

Short Rows

By Neville Shackleton

Since nearly 90 percent of its food consists of insects, most of which are harmful, a toad is a true friend of the gardener. In three months a toad will eat up to 10,000 insects and it is quite a bluebird in its fondness for cutworms. It also delights in slugs and crickets and relishes such other pests as wasps, roaches, beetles, ants, moths, caterpillars, flies and squash bugs.

Unfortunately, toads are not as plentiful as formerly in many areas. Thousands are killed annually on nighttime highways where in spring and early autumn they gather for the daytime warmth stored up in the asphalt. Many others fall to natural predators like snakes, hawks, crows and jaybirds—so any gardener who finds a toad hopping about among his vegetables should try to protect it and encourage it to stay.

To do this, a gardener can put out toad houses. A clay flower pot with a small hole knocked in under a tomatoe vine or some other plant or shrub will answer the purpose very well.

Since toads drink through their skins and not through their mouths, a shallow pan of water should also be placed nearby for them to sit in and to satisfy their thirst.

In a dry atmosphere, toads will waste away and die in a short time. Toads stay hidden most of the day and hop out at night to patrol their areas and do their good deeds of insect destruction. When porch or yard lights are turned on of a summer evening, toads often can be observed snapping up insects attracted by the light.

The toad is seldom interested in motionless insects, but let a beetle or a moth crawl into its patrol their areas and wham! like a flash of light, a tongue snaps out and goody, insect.

If the weather is moderate, toads usually emerge from their winter quarters in March and remain active sometimes until mid-November. In the meantime, their main business is catching bugs but they also have another attractive attribute. Few sounds in nature are more soothing than the tranquil trill of a toad coming from some swamp, pond or meadow.

As a matter of fact, early visitors to America were highly impressed by these "invisible choruses." "Thought these were mainly tree frogs," in his Travels, written in 1802, W. Priest wrote that to a stranger walking these shores for the first time at night, the "thousands of voices of toads made it appear a land of enchantment."

Today over most of America, the roar of traffic drowns out the voice of toad and the draining of swamplands has cut heavily into its nocturnal chorus. In many places, though, its timeless voice still gladdens the ear of the night and any gardener with a toad can consider himself a lucky person.

STRETCHING YOUR FOOD DOLLAR

Before another winter storm closes in on you, lay in a good supply of foods to eat "as is" at night. "Thousands of foods frozen or canned juices, canned fruits, vegetables and meats. Don't forget about fresh carrots and dried fruits for nutritious munching, too. This tip comes from Extension food specialists with the UK College of Agriculture.

Dry skim milk can substitute completely for fresh milk when you're snowbound. The biggest buy is usually the best buy. In case the plumbing freezes up, keep five gallons or more of drinking water on hand in tightly-closed glass or plastic jugs. This survival tip comes from Extension nutritionists with the UK College of Agriculture.

Working Parents May Receive $$$ From IRS

Working parents who earned less than $8,000 last year may again be eligible for payments of up to $400 from the government, according to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS).

To qualify for Earned Income Credit (EIC), persons must have had an adjusted gross income or earned income of less than $8,000 in 1977 and must have maintained a household for the entire year for their child who was under 19, a full-time student or a disabled dependent.

For eligible persons the credit is 10 percent of the first $1,000 of earned income, with a maximum credit of $400. The credit is reduced by one dollar for each $10 of earned or adjusted gross income over $4,000, phasing out completely at the $8,000 income mark. The credit must be used to reduce income taxes owed or can be received as a refund where there is no tax liability.

And our friends are coming, so we can't go.

To disappoint friends would seem unkind But to neglect worship we don't mind.

Eligible persons can qualify for Earned Income Credit even though they may have paid in no income tax during the year, but the IRS stressed that they must file a 1977 Federal income tax return to get it. The IRS will automatically compute the credit for taxpayers. Eligible Form 1040 filers must write "EIC" and the name of the qualifying child on line 37 of the return. Taxpayers who file Form 1040A need only write the name of the qualifying child on line 10.

A MILE AND A HALF

By T.G. Laswell

We're a mile and a half from church, you know,

And it rains today so we can't go,

We'd go ten miles to a dance or a show,

Though the rain should fall and the wind should blow.

That's why when it rains we just can't go,

But we always go the things we like,

And we ride if we can, if we can't, we'll hike,

We're a mile and half from the church you know,

And a tire is flat so we can't go,

We'd fix it twice to make a visit.

Your Electric Bill Is As Unique As Your Fingerprints

The amount of electricity you use at home is a reflection of your living habits: such as your energy conservation efforts; thermostat settings; how often you entertain, and the number of guests; whether you eat out often; bedtime hours; efficient appliance operation; and the type of food prepared. Home construction and the number and ages of family members are factors, too.

You and your family alone determine how much electricity is used. If you're wasting energy, put thumbs down on unnecessary use.

Whether "Calamity Days" Will Be Granted is Questionable

By Pat Benson

Whether local school districts will be granted five "calamity days" because of bad weather this year remains to be seen. The decision has been delayed until March since a quorum was not present when the State Board of Elementary and Secondary Education met today.

Without a quorum present, the board could not take action, although members were scheduled to hear a recommendation that local school districts be allowed to take five "calamity days" that would not have to be made up.

The board did, however, hold an information session and heard from local superintendents concerning amendments to school calendars. Charles Brown, superintendent of the Fleming County schools, recommended that the board adjust regulations concerning school calendars to allow for missing days due to bad weather in future years.

Brown represented 30 superintendents from the Eastern Kentucky Superintendents Association.

Brown said he was "opposed to students missing any of the 175 days allotted for instructional time," but said that the parents and teachers in the local districts assume that 10 "calamity days" will be granted. He was referring to five days that the board may grant and five additional days that the governor may grant.

Earlier in the month Gov. Julian Carroll said he had no reason to doubt that the elementary and secondary board would grant five days that would not have to be made up and pledged that he would sign an executive order adding five additional days. That would lower the total number of instructional days from 175 to 165.

Board member Bob Brown of Lexington said, "This board has never routinely granted calamity days—ever. And, there's no reason to believe that we will this year."

Dr. James B. Graham, superintendent of public instruction, told the board that local school districts did not prepare adequately enough for this year's bad weather. The Department of Education last summer recommended that districts allow 15 days for bad weather in planning their school calendar.

Although about half of the districts started one or two weeks early, districts that have missed 30 or more days face extending the school year to make up missed days. Superintendents at today's meeting said their school calendars are already extended into late June and expressed belief that the bad weather is not yet over and more days may be missed.

Graham also told the board he advocated determining funding for local districts on the basis of the average daily attendance (ADA) of the first two months of school.

Under the present system, funding for local districts is calculated on the basis of ADA for the entire school year. If schools are in session on days when bad roads or emergency conditions cause a higher than normal rate of absenteeism, they stand to lose funding.

The state board will meet again March 14-15.

Co-Op Says Tactics

'Cast Cloud' Over Farmers

By Bennett Roach

The Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association this week condemned what it called "the interperate anti-tobacco publicity accompanying HEW Secretary Joseph Califano's crusade."

"The excesses" of rhetoric and publicity-seeking, said the co-op's board, are "shocking and appalling" to burley farmers and their representatives. "A key element in our nation's agriculture."

The Califano campaign tactics, said the co-op, have "cast a cloud over a valued and honorable pursuit held in respect since colonial America—the growing and marketing of tobacco."

The board gave the opinion that the Califano campaign "has far exceeded the bounds of propriety for a Federal regulatory agency," and that its proposals "smack of over regulation, repression, prohibition and behavior-control."

The Mt. Vernon Signal Thursday, February 23, 1978 P-7

the charges were made in a resolution passed by the board, and sent to government officials, including Kentucky's Congressional delegation.

The board urged that Califano and members of his HEW task force "reassess the duties and proper functions of their agency, in the light of the President's earlier expressed views that prolonged government campaigning against tobacco is neither justified, desirable nor proper."

"We hope and pray," added the resolution, "that those calling for a smoke-free America awake to the realization that they are playing with the livelihood and welfare of 600,000 farm families who grow tobacco, the fifth largest cash crop, and an industry that pays $6 1/2 billion in taxes, affords jobs for millions of Americans and exports $15 billion annually toward the plus side toward the U.S. balance of trade."

In its report for the 11th week of auctions, the Burley Association said 38,023,833 pounds have been taken under loan from the 1977-78 marketings, or 7.79 percent.

Medicare Deductible Is Raised for 1978

The Medicare hospital insurance deductible will be $144 for benefit periods beginning in 1978, a social security representative said today. This represents an increase of $20 over the $124 deductible effective during 1977.

The deductible is the amount people pay toward the cost of services covered by Medicare hospital insurance during the first 60 days of hospital care provided during a benefit period. The increase will not affect people whose benefit periods began in 1977, the spokesman added, but will apply to people who start a benefit period in 1978.

A benefit period is the way of measuring a person's use of services under Medicare hospital insurance. A person's first benefit period starts when he or she enters a hospital after hospital insurance begins. It ends when the person has been out of the hospital or other facility primarily providing skilled nursing or rehabilitation services for 60 days in a row. There is no limit to the number of benefit periods a person can have.

The increase in the deductible will also cause increases in the other coinsurance amounts people are responsible for under Medicare hospital insurance.

For the 61st through the 90th day of hospital care, the patient will be responsible for paying $36 a day, up from the $26 a day

And when our country calls for a hurried defense, Kentuckians work hard, there is no pretense.

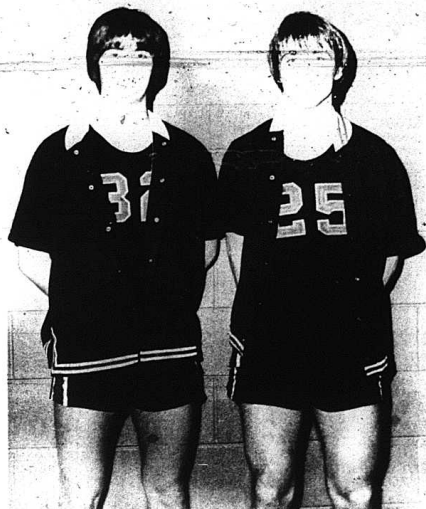

Oh, I love Kentucky the whole year round, The cities, the rivers, the mountains and towns, But nothing is nicer than the early spring, In the bluegrass section, when the cardinal sing.

And if you feel tired and need a change, Take a vacation in Kentucky's mountain The rhododendron, the laurel, the spruce and the pine, Do something for you and make you feel fine.

Peace and contentment you can never know, As when you've heard the twilight singing soft and low, The beauties of nature can not be described, But in them Kentuckians take the greatest of pride.

Now, can you hear Dixie and then not say, I'm going to Kentucky some fine day? So come down, come up, come over and across, And you will soon know your time isn't lost.

Yes, I sing because I'm happy, I sing because I'm free, I sing because there is a home, In dear old Kentucky for me.

These two senior RCHS players will be playing their last regular season game for the Rockets Friday night when the team journeys to Casey County for their last game. The boys are Tim Arvin, left, son of Dr. and Mrs. Orson Arvin and Larry Harmon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harmon, all of Mt. Vernon.

Bond Sales

Kentuckians purchased $91,641,363 in U.S. Savings Bonds during 1977. Record numbers of Kentuckians also became regular savers through the Payroll Savings Plan for buying bonds with more than 52,000 new or increased allotment savers signed up in 1977. The goal for the year had been 45,000. Americans now own over $76 billion worth of Savings Bonds.

James W. Lambert, Volunteer Savings Bond Chairman for Rockcastle County reported sales of Series F and H Savings Bonds during December were $3,785, while sales for the year totaled $39,777 or 80.9% of the County's annual goal of $49,050.

rate for 1977. For each of the 60 "reserve" hospital days available to people with Medicare, the patient will be responsible for $72 a day. For the 21st through the 100th day of care in a skilled nursing care facility available in a benefit period, the patient will be responsible for paying $18, up from the $15.50 paid in 1977 benefit periods.

The staff in any social security office will be glad to answer any questions people have about Medicare and the new deductible. The address and telephone number of the nearest office can be found in the telephone directory under "Social Security Administration."

The two senior girls on the Rockets cheerleading squad are, from left, Gaylen Phelps and Karen Harding, Miss Phelps has cheerlead for one year while Miss Harding has been a Rockets cheerleader for three years.

Salt Supply Across State is Low Says Maintenance Director

By Leonard Kimm

Even if promised deliveries of road salt arrive in Kentucky this week, the state Department of Transportation expects to have just enough on hand to "go after the known trouble spots," according to George Asbury, maintenance division director.

"We expect delivery of 2,400 tons of salt this week," Asbury said today. "But it's still not enough to pull us out of a critical shortage if we have another storm."

"Highway maintenance crews in January started the month with thousands of tons of road salt," but those supplies have been almost totally used up, he said.

Lexington, with 4,300 tons of salt Jan. 1, currently has only 76 tons. Louisville had 2,935 tons and now has 157 tons on hand. Covington had a 3,259 stockpile which is now down to 74 tons, Asbury reported.

The situation should improve by the end of the week when 500 tons are to be delivered in Louisville, 600 tons in Lexington and 500 tons in Covington.

"But these relatively small deliveries

Energy and Litter

By Wayne Gregory

The Senate squabbled today over two issues of intense interest—energy and litter.

After a floor debate, the Senate voted 26-12 to recommit Senate Bill (SB) 100 and House Bill (HB) 83 to the Senate Appropriations and Revenue Committee.

Both measures pertain to fuels and utilities taxes.

The move to send the bills back to committee was attacked by Sen. Larry Hopkins (R-Lexington) who claimed that such action would lead to sudden death of the measures. We also said the measures were an opportunity to provide tax relief for the citizens of Kentucky.

But Majority Leader Tom Garrett (D-Paduach) said relief would be provided in an administration bill he introduced today, SB 279. That bill provides direct aid to the needy by furnishing financial help from the state for utilities bills.

An attempt to bring the so-called "bottle bill" to the Senate floor was rejected just a short time after the measure failed to be reported out of committee.

The measure, Senate Bill 141, was lost when members of the Senate Judiciary-Statutes Committee rejected it. But a minority report submitted by Sens. Lowell Hughes (D-Ashland), Doug Moseley (R-Columbia) and Michael Moloney (D-Lexington), recommended passage.

A motion to bring the minority report up for a floor vote was ruled out of order by Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall, president of the Senate.

Her ruling was appealed by Moloney and Sen. John Berry (D-New Castle). The 20-16 vote on the appeal upheld Lt. Gov. Stovall's decision. The matter ended with a remark that some way would be found to get the issue back before the Senate.

In other action, the Senate passed without opposition SB 225, which is designed to protect consumers from fly-by-night business schemes, and Senate Joint Resolution 5, calling upon the Kentucky Historical Society to do research on the history of black families in Kentucky.

Bills introduced in the Senate today include:

SB 274, sponsored by Sen. Jon Ackerson (R-Louisville), which prohibits sewage companies from applying for a rate increase for 36 months after a previous rate increase request has been granted.

SB 270, also sponsored by Ackerson, permits civil suits against persons whose negligent or wrongful actions cause another person's death.

SB 277, sponsored by Sen. Jim Hammond (D-Prestonburg), which would prohibit the use of automatic fuel adjustment clauses.

SB 279, sponsored by Sen. Tom Garrett (D-Paduach), which would establish an energy cost assistance program to aid needy persons.

SB 281, also sponsored by Garrett, statutorily establishes the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement within the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection. Gov. Julian Carroll ordered the creation of the bureau last fall in response to federal legislation on strip mine reclamation standards.

SB 273, sponsored by Sen. Ken Gibson (D-Madisonville), which outlines strip mine reclamation standards and procedures.

Children can still get such serious preventable childhood diseases as polio, measles, whooping cough, lockjaw and mumps. Yet, many children have not been getting the shots they need to be protected from them.

What about your children? Have they had all their shots? If not, or if you're not sure, check with your doctor. Letting your kids go unprotected is an unnecessary risk of their health.

BUILDING A NEW HOME THIS SPRING?

We want you to build an Energy-Efficient Home, one built to save you energy and money. How much saving? About one-half as much as you would spend on a home with the normal amount of insulation can be saved if you build an Energy-Efficient Home.

We recommend the following guidelines for new home construction:

Attic Insulation — R-38; Side Walls — R-18; and Under Floors — R-19 (under floors over crawl space, garage, or unheated basement).

The "R" is a term used in the insulation business referring to the thermal resistance of the insulation. Buy a rating, not an inches of insulation! Our cooperative also has recommendations on other phases of home construction, as well as on heating equipment and energy efficient appliances.

A Grape Industry For Kentucky?

How can a farmer make money from land that has severe water problems, virtually no soil structure and little fertility? Sounds like stripplined land, doesn't it? In this case, it is.

One profitable answer to this difficult question may lie in a potential grape industry for Kentucky. A research project just begun by the UK College of Agriculture is searching for the proper combination of cultivars, root stocks and proper management tools to make the fruit produce at a profit on ravaged land.

"We didn't pick that (stripplined) land for our research because it's ideal land for growing grapes," says Carl Chaplin, horticulture research scientist in the UK College of Agriculture. "But it's there, and something has to be done with it."

Chaplin's initial research is beginning on stripplined land owned by Falcon Coal Co. in Breathitt County, through a grant from the Mining and Minerals Research Institute. He says that success in this initial area might mean the beginning of thriving fruit industry in Kentucky, an industry that includes not just grapes, but apples, peaches, and brambles such as blackberries.

"In recent years, there has been a growing interest in the possibility of wine production in Kentucky from French-American hybrid grapes," Chaplin notes. "This interest received impetus from the passage in 1976 of the Small Wineries Act."

The researchers have begun variety tests, evaluating grapes for their wine-making qualities. Data will be recorded from four cultivators on various rootstocks, in regard to production, bunch and berry size, soluble solids, acidity, skin toughness, firmness, juice yield and color, plant vigor, insect and disease resistance and cold hardiness.

With the enormous amount of stripplined land in Eastern Kentucky, Chaplin notes rising interest in crops that produce well under adverse soil conditions. Major problems he mentions in connection with reclaiming this land include high soil acidity, toxicities, lack of fertility and structure, and retrieval water-holding capacity.

To water the test plots, researchers will use drip irrigation—a method they hope will overcome special problems that accompany the stripplined land.

"There are laws that say you can't build ponds on certain stripplined areas," Chaplin says, noting that ponds may cause earth slides and other hazards. "And with possible toxicity problems in area water, we want to see as little as possible to avoid harming the crops. Drip irrigation can help us meet those needs."

Chaplin points out that a fruit industry is not a cure-all for stripplined land in Kentucky, noting that acres reclaimed with grapes and other fruit crops would be relatively few.

"The bulk of reclamation must be on a wider scale, as with reforestation or forage production," the scientist says. "You wouldn't put fruits just anywhere. But they would be high income crops for people who grew them, bringing needed money into stripplined areas."

Define Student For Social Security Use

Almost everyone knows that unmarried sons and daughters of retired and disabled workers and survivors of deceased workers can get social security benefits on a parent's social security record if they are full-time students between 18 and 22, a social security representative said today. But, many people are confused as to just what is a student.

There are two rules, the spokesman went on: one for university, college, and junior college students, and another for high school, trade, or vocational school students.

For social security purposes, a university, college, or junior college student is considered full-time if the institution considers the student in full-time attendance according to its standards for day students, provided course of study lasts at least 13 weeks.

A high school, vocational, or trade school student is considered full-time if the school considers the student in full-time attendance, the student is enrolled in a course of study lasting at least 13 weeks, and the student is enrolled for at least 20 hours a week.

A student is not eligible for benefits, however, if he or she is paid by an employer to attend school because the employer asked or required the student to attend.

Another point that seems to confuse people, the representative continued, is just what kinds of schools qualify. Students of the following kinds of institutions can get social security student benefits:

- A high school supported or operated by a State or local government, or the Federal Government.
- A vocational or trade school supported or operated by a State or local government, or by the Federal Government.
- A State college, or university or a community college.
- A private school or college approved by a State or accredited by a State recognized or nationally recognized accrediting agency.
- An unaccredited private school or college, provided that at least six accredited schools or colleges accept its credits on transfer on the same basis as credits transferred from an accredited school.

Schools outside the United States may qualify under certain circumstances. The people at any social security office can provide information about a particular school.

Students' benefits can continue during a vacation period of not more than 4 months if the student was full-time before the vacation period started and intends to return to full-time attendance after the vacation ends.

For more information about social security student benefits, interested people can get a copy of the leaflet "Social security checks for students 18 to 22 free at any social security office."

Fewer Average Income Families Able to Afford a Home

In a report entitled "The Nation's Housing, 1975 to 1985" released in early March 1977 by the Joint Center for Urban Studies of Harvard University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, families of average income are increasingly becoming less able to afford a home. The report charges that, "despite half a century of government support to help American families realize the traditional dream of home ownership, families of average income are now less able to afford a home than 10 or even five years ago. If the trend of the last five years is projected into the future, a typical new house will cost $78,000 by 1981. If this price, not only will the poor be hared out of home ownership, but so will the middle class. Then only the most prosperous will be able to afford new homes.
