FOOD CLIPS

What do you look for when buying pork? Look for cuts with a relatively small amount of fat over the outside and with meat that is firm and grayish pink color. Remember - for best eating - the meat should have a small amount of marbling.

Improperly wrapped packages prepared for the freezer will allow air to enter and draw moisture from the meat, resulting in "freezer burn" or meat which is dry and less flavorful.

Whipped butter is regular butter whipped for easier spreading. That increases the amount of air in the butter.

Wax or some other protective coating usually is put around cheese after it has been formed. It is then allowed to age for varying lengths of time, depending on the kind of cheese being made.

Lowfat milk can be made at home by mixing half whole milk with half skim or lowfat milk.

Mike Peters and two sons and Mr. and Mrs. Cleus Peters. We wish Barbara a speedy recovery from her illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Chasteen visited their son, Junior, and family in Berea Sunday night.

Rev. Ray Dean remains a patient in the Berea Hospital. God bless him.

Please remember church and Sunday school. Pray much and be a good neighbor. God bless you all.

instant nonfat dry milk.

Always keep cupped butter milk chilled. If allowed to warm, it may separate. If it does separate, just stir it. Dried butter milk, a by-product of making butter, is used in pancake mixes and bakery products.

Regular lowfat or skim chocolate flavored milk can be heated for quick and easy hot chocolate. Use chocolate-flavored milk in cookie or cake recipes that call for both milk and chocolate or cocoa.

You can replace some of the milk in your diet by using yogurt, ice cream or ice milk as well as added cost.

One serving of cooked mustard greens has only 16 calories but provides 91 percent of the vitamin A, 74 percent of the vitamin C and 12 percent of the calcium in the suggested daily adult nutritional requirements.

A serving of cooked spinach has about 20 calories but provides an average adult with 100 percent of the vitamin A for recommended daily requirements.

Iodized salt will inhibit proper fermentation and react with the starch in some foods, causing them to turn pink or blue.

FACTS & FIGURES
 The Panama Canal, completed in 1914, is 51 miles long and employs 13,139 persons, of whom 27 percent are U.S. citizens. Almost all the others are Panamanians.

Under the new Panama Canal Treaties, all U.S. civilians currently employed in the Canal Zone can continue in U.S. government jobs until retirement. Present employees of the Canal Company may continue to work for the new agency until their retirement.

Because the U.S. has more to gain in terms of Canal security from the balanced development of Panama and the inter-American acceptance than it does from hanging on to what the world now regards as an outdated colonial enclave, many thoughtful persons are writing their Senators to make them aware of their feelings.

How Can Realtor Help?

Selling your home through a Realtor will bring you as much or more profit - with none of the attendant problems and headaches you can expect when you try to sell it on your own.

Besides his knowledge of the market and the skill to suggest realistic prices, the Realtor has built up a list of prospects that no homeowner can possibly match... prospects who are honestly interested in finding a home and financially able to buy... not casual lookers. He knows how long to hold out, whether to take a second mortgage, how to handle earnest money, whether to lease with option to buy or sell on contract.

He's prepared to arrange the intricacies of financing and has the "know-how" necessary to close the transaction properly. Believe me - listing with a Realtor will save you time and make you money.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at - Ford Realty & Auction Co., Inc. - Mt. Vernon, Phone 256-4545. We're here to help!

THE "TRUTH IS STRANGER THAN FICTION" COLUMN...

Or, I suppose I could call it a mini rambling, nevertheless, we have it on very good source that a local pharmacist actually caught a fish last week. Now, we have been unable to verify this rumor and since it is reportedly not an everyday occurrence on his fishing trips, we cannot guarantee the veracity of this report but there you have it...

A very nice gentleman, Ray B. White, Attorney from Bowling Green, was in the office Tuesday to introduce himself and to make known his intention to seek the Republican nomination for Governor next year.

We were impressed with Mr. White who is a former state legislator. One of the main reasons I was impressed was when he told me that he was an original non-supporter of the ERA movement - O.K., let's hear it from you ERA supporters in the county. I hesitate to expound my views on this subject. I mainly have an instinctive dislike of the legislation but since I am not a good debater I will refuse to be drawn into one on the subject. Of course, if you feel strongly enough the other way, our letter to the editor column is always open. If the opposition gets too strong I may be forced to do some hard research on the subject to pin my reasons down more clearly...

A tip of the hat to the Rockcastle County Civil Defense squad and to Gary Asher, Coordinator, for the fine performance turned in at Tuesday's "Mock Emergency." The Rockcastle County Hospital staff also performed well along with members of the ambulance service, the fire department and the rescue squad. It's comforting to know that there are individuals in the community preparing themselves to help others in the case of a disaster...

Failing to report income, forgetting to claim deductions, or mistakes in the amount of credit claimed are some of the more common tax return errors that filing a Form 1040X can correct.

Parents of Girls on Basketball Team Meet With School Board Concerning Program

A group of parents of girls on the RCHS girls basketball team met with the Rockcastle County Board of Education Monday night to discuss some grievances the parents had concerning the girls program at the high school.

Cledith Thacker served as spokesman for the group and presented the board with a letter, signed by several parents, which pointed out several areas in which the parents think the girls team are not receiving equal treatment.

Mr. Thacker said that although the boys football program had three teams and 4 coaches, boys basketball - 3 teams and 2 coaches, boys baseball - 1 team and 2 coaches, that the girls program had only one team and one coach.

He pointed out that next year's team will have 7 seniors and when they graduate, the girls team will be left without many experienced players through the lack of a "B" team which would serve as a feeder system. He said that a check with several surrounding counties had revealed that almost all had or would have next year, "B" teams and that neighboring Laurel County who won the state championship last year had a "B" team and would have a freshman team next year.

Mr. Thacker also said that the parents felt the lack of pep rallies for them, student buses to away games and the scarcity of cheerleaders for the girls games. He said that during the girls regional game at Cave Run in the fourth quarter when the RCHS girls were ahead by one point over the highly favored Cawood team which later went on to win the regional and gain a trip to the state tournament, he felt that fan support would possibly have made the difference. Mr. Thacker felt this was lacking because of not enough support by the school.

Several board members expressed surprise that there was no girls "B" team at the high school and Mr. Parsons told the parents that it had never been the policy of the board to refuse to take pep buses to the girls game. After much discussion, it was generally agreed by the board that they would look into the matter and attempt the more equalization of benefits given to the girls team.

Also at the board meeting was Bill James, Chairman of the Rockcastle County Industrial Authority and Bill Bailey, a member of the authority.

They had been invited to the meeting to bring the board up-to-date on the county's industrial site and to possibly give the board members some forewarning of what brings industry into the county might mean in terms of an influx of new students.

Mr. James said that while, of course, he could not guarantee a number of new students into the system because of industry coming into the county, it was almost a certainty since the industrial authority intended to, and was in the process of, seeking industry to locate on the site. Mr. James said there was really no question that industry would be coming to Rockcastle County possibly to the extent of 600-800 new jobs which could mean as much as 400 or better more students for the county schools to absorb.

Mr. Parsons then explained to the two men the board's bonding potential as far as expansion of school facilities and then said he would the board's fiscal agent present at the next meeting to explain the situation to the board. Prior to that meeting, Mr. Parsons said he would set up a time for the fiscal agent, himself and Mr. James if he desired, to visit the State Department of Education in Frankfort to learn firsthand what the board's capital expansion capabilities might be.

In other action, the board: accepted the low bids for school lunchroom food products; accepted Math textbooks, the Burdette series for five years; approved the advertisement for bids for janitorial supplies and a new roof for Brodhead School and the high school; approved the use of school buses for the Shrine Circus April 15th with the Shriners to provide gasoline and insurance; reemployed all certified personnel except where reduction of staff is necessary; approved the new salary schedule, as recommended by the state (100% of the Foundation Program) and approved the purchase of a 35-passenger school bus with wheelchair lift for handicapped students at the state bid price of $12,789. The board also approved GED certificates for Theda Gail Cromer, Shirlene Sue Childers and Gloria Ann Robbins; employed three substitute teachers, subject to certification: Linda Cummins, Laura Lee Durban Speaks and Diana Meade; employed the following bus drivers: Reggie Benge, contract hauler, $30 month; Bobbie Mason, regular driver, $263 month; Paul Harper, regular driver, $263 per month; Lillie Bullock, contract hauler, $3 a day and Raymond Hayes, substitute driver. And accepted the resignation of Craig Denney as custodian at RCHS and employed Everett Albright as replacement.

First "Mock Emergency Drill" Termed Very Successful

The first Civil Defense "Mock Emergency Drill" in Rockcastle County went off well Tuesday from reports of Paul Hansel, Civil Defense Director, Gary Asher, Coordinator and Luke Dober, Administrator of the Rockcastle County Hospital.

Mr. Hansel said that his men, who were assisted by members of the ambulance service, fire department and rescue squad, responded well to the mock disaster at the Harry Sparks Vocational School. Mr. Dober reported that his staff also performed well and that the drill pointed up a few weaknesses, which is of course its purpose, and these could now be corrected.

The drill was built on the premise that at the vocational school caused a fire which resulted in 25 victims, several critical. The call for help was turned in at 1:45 p.m. and all victims, after receiving some first aid from ambulance attendants, were in the hospital within 35 minutes.

The hospital staff was put on alert to receive the injured and all members of the medical staff participated, including Joe Young, pharmacist, who was on hand to dispense drugs directly thus saving time. The "victims" were student volunteers with parental permission and some adults.

Dr. C.W. Griffith served as triage doctor, meeting the patients at the emergency entrance and making a quick evaluation as to treatment priority. Members of the State Police, City Police and Sheriff's Department were also involved keeping spectators from hampering rescue operations.

Mr. Hansel said the drill, which is a twice yearly requirement for the hospital, was held mainly to better coordinate the different local and state organizations in the county.

Dept. of Agriculture Says Winter Cost Farmers More than $194 Million

The Kentucky Department of Agriculture released a final report today showing that severe winter weather this year cost the state's farmers more than $194 million.

The total exceeds last year's winter farm losses by more than $87 million.

"This supply means that Kentucky farmers have had to take out of their pockets, one way or the other, a total of $194 million compared to expenses during a normal year," said state agriculture Commissioner Tom Harris.

"This is money they had intended to use for buying gasoline, seed and fertilizer to start next year's crop, but now has been lost as the result of another tough winter."

Harris said livestock producers suffered the heaviest losses this winter. Their increased feed costs were estimated at $75 million greater than a normal year is an increase of over $28 million over the last year and represents the largest single expense to Kentucky farmers this past winter. The commissioner explained that livestock must be fed greater amounts during cold weather just to maintain body heat.

Labor costs for livestock care amounted to $56 million this year, the second largest expense. "On days when we had over a foot of snow on the ground, farmers had to spend most of the day-light hours feeding and caring for livestock and making sure all of the animals had access to water," Harris said.

Livestock death losses this winter were almost double what they were last year, exceeding $15 million. "The animals were exposed to the cold for so

The Frankfort Report

by Paul L. Whalen

The 1978 session of the Kentucky General Assembly will probably go down in history as just another business meeting for state government. The most significant legislation passed by the 1978 General Assembly was the budget which included pay raises for public school teachers which would finally bring their salaries up to the national average. The emotional issues of the ERA and abortion claimed a considerable amount of the legislators time. During the last days of the General Assembly, a motion was passed by both houses to rescind

Kentucky's 1972 ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment. Later, after the legislature had adjourned and Governor Carroll had left the state, Lt. Governor Thomas Blanton vetoed the rescission measure nullifying the efforts of the anti-ERA supporters in the General Assembly. Ed's Note: This last month during the interim and from $750 to $75 a day when the General Assembly is in session.

Allowing private citizens to use police radio receivers in their homes. Authorization to allow four constitutional amendments to be submitted to Kentucky voters during a general election. Present law allows up to two amendments.

The next regularly scheduled session of the Kentucky General Assembly is scheduled to meet in January 1980. Next year, all 100 seats of the Kentucky House and 19 seats in the Kentucky Senate will be up for election again. In addition, Kentucky voters will have to elect a new governor and eight other constitutional officers. Most of the individuals seeking public office next year should have their records checked by the voters concerning their conduct in or with the legislature. To be fair to an incumbent, one should look at his positions on many issues and find out positively he is to the people he represents by writing him a letter and seeing if he writes back. Also now that the legislature is not in session and there is not an election this fall, look to see if your state representative or senator makes an effort to meet with you and the other citizens of your legislative districts.

Decorations
By Oscar Fain
How to avoid that half-furnished look. In this mobile age, some families find themselves moving into homes with a room just too large for the furnishings. And, because of moving expenses and things you must buy for a new home, budgets are limited. Never mind. There are many ways to make a large room look smaller and better furnished without spending a lot of money. Let yourself go on patterns and colors.

When you select draperies, rugs, wallpaper or anything else for a too-large room, let yourself go a little wild on striking patterns and exciting colors. Here is the place for sharp contrast, for old-fashioned or over-scale patterns. Mix patterns with stripes or checks or plaids. If you're really daring and have an eye for good decorating, mix two patterns in the modern manner. Just make sure they contrast in size - one large-scale, one small-scale - not two of the same dimensions. Think 'big' about new pieces. You'll probably be buying some pieces. So, make them big. Scale to fit your new room. Forget your present furniture. Treat yourself to yards of sofa. Or a cocktail table the size of your dining table. A king-sized bed. Really generous storage pieces in living room, dining room or bedroom. Whatever your budget will permit, select to fit your new scale of living. Create several living areas.

An excellent way to handle a large room is to break it up into two or three different living areas. Furniture sprinkled evenly and sparsely around a large room looks bare and "lonesome." Instead, create several conversation centers. Build a music center around your stereo, piano or TV. A game center around a table and chairs. A reading nook near the bookcases. A sitting area in a too large bedroom. Or whatever fits your needs and interests. Arrange furniture generously, but not sparsely, possibly around an area rug. The effect will be spacious rather than skimpy. Dramatize wall spaces. While you're waiting for your budget to catch up with your furniture needs, you can always do something exciting and inexpensive with the walls. Young people like posters. If you're a bit more formal, make wall panels from a handsome wallpaper or a short-length of nice fabric - possibly framed in with inexpensive wood moulding. If good originals don't fit your pocketbook, buy prints and distemper frames. Or paint your own. You can't draw? Try collage or abstracts. You might surprise yourself. Or serenade around for a collection. Something in your family has probably got some interesting things hiding in a drawer - something that could be displayed on a series of inexpensive brackets, or framed, or put in shadow boxes. Furnish with plants. Bare spaces can also be filled with plants. Tubs, window boxes, pots in a low tray are inexpensive. And there are many green plants that are quite showy for their cost. If you have good light and a green thumb, you can create a dramatic display from a few dollars worth of "outdoor" plants grown inside. Indoor gardening takes a bit of work. But it's a very rewarding activity for people with more time than money. And it can keep a room from looking "undressed" while you're waiting for more permanent furnishings.

Much of the work which faced the general assembly concerned the ever-increasing role of the federal government in state and local affairs. State laws controlling strip mining, workman's compensation and other matters had to be changed to conform to federal regulations.

Some controversy arose when measures with political overtones were introduced. One of these measures was the portion of Governor Carroll's budget which appropriated State Auditor George Atkins' office with 29% of its requested budget. It is generally thought that Governor Carroll did not want to fully fund Atkins' office because of criticism of the Carroll administration's policy of giving patronage to political friends. However, the governor backed down due to public opinion and Atkins' office will receive full funding for the next two years. Controversy also arose when an amendment was introduced to House Bill 319 which would benefit certain legislators in Fayette County, among them being Senator William Kenton. To understand how the amendment benefits Speaker Kenton, one should know that presently Kenton's legislative district is 15th. Kenton's last re-election campaign, he faced serious opposition for the first time in about eight years. Kenton narrowly defeated his black opponent, Lexington attorney David Berry. Berry's district is generally believed that Berry intends to challenge Kenton again next year. The amendment to House Bill 319 adds about 10 white precincts to Kenton's present district.

In one of the last actions by the General Assembly, the Senate passed House Bill 168 which would authorize the state to purchase textbooks for students attending private schools.

Governor Carroll had until midnight Thursday March 30th to veto or sign into law the 447 pieces of legislation passed by the 1978 Kentucky General Assembly. After that date, all legislation passed by the General Assembly became law without the Governor's signature. All other bills passed by the General Assembly become effective on June 19th unless otherwise stated in the bill. Governor Carroll signed the bill ending mandatory motor vehicle inspection. However, effective September 1, 1978 motor vehicles must have a sticker stating that the driver has liability insurance.

A Senate bill proposed by the Governor's Task Force on Education and adopted by the legislature were signed into law by Governor Julian Carroll. These bills included the creation of a State School Building Authority, which can sell bonds to help poor school systems construct much-needed new facilities. Prohibit schools from charging students for most school supplies.

Authorization to begin a competency-testing program to insure that students maintain basic skills. The program would also provide remedial programs for students with academic deficiencies and would require local schools to develop annual school improvement programs.

The bill creating a new cabinet level Department of Energy was signed into law David D. Drake was named to head the new department. Legislation aimed at making Kentucky a leader in cancer research has been signed into law. The legislation will provide over $1 billion in cancer research over the next two years for cancer research. A 13-member statewide cancer commission will be created to coordinate and to finance cancer research.

Governor Carroll vetoed a bill which would have allowed some 14-year olds to be tried in the courts as adults. Carroll said he was forced to veto the bill because the state would lose about $2.3 million in federal funding through the Department of Human Resources. Some pieces of legislation will become law without Governor Carroll's signature. Some of them include: A bill which would allow thoroughbred horse racing on Sundays. Regarding that the Ten Commandments be posted in classroom walls in public schools, provided they are made available free of charge to the schools.

Single-Family Mortgage financing available April 1 for applications

F. Lynn Luellen, Executive Director of Kentucky Housing Corporation announced today that 7 1/4% Single-Family Mortgage financing will be available April 1 for applications. From its most recent bond sale, KHC has allocated $51 million to 36 financial institutions throughout Kentucky for the purpose of making FHA/VA loans for qualified low- and medium-income borrowers.

"This has been, by far, our most successful bond sale and our most successful request for funding. Generally, we receive requests for twice the amount we have available," Luellen said. "However, this time we had requests for four times the amount of money we had available."

"We are very pleased to announce we will have a much better geographic spread of the funds than ever before. More small cities, towns and rural areas will be served from this bond issue and we hope, as future sales are made, we will have even more banks and savings and loans join us in providing financing to Kentucky's lower-income people through the use of our programs.

"As I mentioned before, we have more loan originators than we have ever had. Five years ago, we had seven lenders. Today, we have 36 who have requested funds and we have 12 more prequalified to use our money. Also, we have had inquiries from the three largest financial institutions in Lexington to join our programs.

"A 7 1/4% loan in the mortgage market today means a saving of approximately $29 per month to the average homeowner," Luellen said. "This often means the difference between acquiring a safe, decent and sanitary house, or not. With land and material costs soaring, many people are being priced out of the housing market. We hope, through our program, many can find the home they desire and need. By the end of this fiscal year, we will have 50 lenders throughout the Commonwealth making our funds available to people of low and medium income."

Luellen further stated that he and the staff will be in each Area Development District during the month of April addressing realtors, bankers, savings and loan people and other interested parties about KHC programs. The goal is to have a loan originator in every county so that funds can be made at the least cost to the Corporation and, more importantly, to meet the needs of low and medium income citizens who cannot find financing elsewhere.

Mental Health Matters

Confidence and Trust in Children

Good mental health is demonstrated when people have confidence in their abilities and capabilities. How do children learn to be confident and to be able to reach out to others?

Loving and conscientious parenting in a child's early stages of growth and development helps to insure that confidence and trust will be earned. Notice and acknowledge the infant's day-to-day accomplishments. Allow the infant or young child to stay with a competent babysitter fairly frequently. When an infant or child sees and relates only to his or her parents, there may be a shock or rebellion when an abrupt or forced separation occurs, such as the necessity for hospitalization of child or parent.

Allowing the infant or child to occasionally "stay-overnight" with competent, loving relatives can be useful to facilitate an ease in developing relationships and personal confidence. A child learns by doing. Provide him or her with appropriate opportunities to develop self-confidence.

Rockcastle selected for "Right to Read" project

Kentucky's Right to Read Advisory Council has selected 17 local school districts to participate in the federally-funded Right to Read pilot project. "Right to Read" is a nation-wide project which is attempting to eradicate illiteracy in America by utilizing human resources on the state and local level, said Debra Johnson, Kentucky's Right to Read consultant for the Department of Education.

Johnson explained that the ultimate goal of the pilot project is "to use local resources and local people to improve the reading programs in the local school districts."

Right to Read endeavors to help each American learn to read effectively. The program's goal is to ensure that in the next decade, no American will be denied a full and productive life because of inability to read effectively.

Kentucky has received a federal Right to Read grant of $100,000. About $36,000 of that will actually be sent to 17 districts participating in the state's pilot project.

Five teachers and administrators from each of the 17 districts chosen for the pilot project will attend an intensive five-day workshop designed to help them improve the reading programs in their districts. The workshop will be held June 11-17 at the Stouffers Inn in Louisville.

School districts participating in the pilot project are: Rockcastle County, Berea Independent, Bowling Green, Eastern Kentucky, Dayton Independent, Elizabethtown, Elliot County, Garrard County, Grant County, Green County, Leslie County, Logan County, Muhlenburg County, Murray, Owensboro District, Owsley County and Simpson county.

The workshop will be conducted by university personnel and participants may earn three hours of graduate credit from any of the seven state universities for the course.

Workshop participants will be responsible for holding in-service training and workshops when they return to their own districts.

Kentucky's Right to Read program will be expanded annually to include new and more school districts, Johnson said.

Each January, local school districts will be invited to become a Right to Read district. "Those districts who are not involved in Right to Read this year will still have an opportunity to participate next year and in later years," she said.

All 50 states are involved in the Right to Read program, as well as Puerto Rico, Guam, Samoa, the Virgin Islands and the Trust Territories.

Many disabled workers getting social security disability benefits may want to return to work, even though their condition has not improved. These people can be aided by a provision of the social security law, a social security representative said today.

The provision, known as the trial work period, permits a disabled worker to test his ability to work while still disabled and continue to receive monthly benefit checks. The spokesperson cautioned that disabled widows and widowers do not get a trial work period.

A trial work period ends after the worker has done some work in 9 different months. The work months may not be consecutive; they may be separated by months or even years.

Generally, minor work activity is not counted. The general rule is that only months in which an employee earns more than $50 count. For a self-employed person, only months in which the person nets more than $50 or devotes more than 15 hours to the business count.

At the end of the trial work period, the worker's case is reviewed to see if he or she can engage in substantial gainful work. If the worker can, then benefits are stopped after an adjustment period of three additional months.

One important thing to remember is of Eugene F. Gentry, Mrs. Collie Belle Bowling, John D. Dooley, Mrs. Sue Watkins, Charles Sandlin and Grant Banks in their time of sorrow.

George Burton was in Somerset Monday.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Christal E. Brummett in their time of sorrow.

Mrs. Carl Baker has been confined to her home for a few days due to illness. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Lori Moore of Berea-visited W.R. Coffey and Lillian Anglin during the week end.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Lena Sparks of Lexington in their time of sorrow. Mrs. Sparks was formerly of Rockcastle County.

that people getting social security disability checks should report any return to work, no matter how small their earnings.

Disabled people can get full information about the trial work period and substantial gainful work at any social security office. The people there will be glad to help.

The address and telephone number of the nearest office can be found in the telephone directory under "Social Security Administration."

CANCER Answerline American Cancer Society

A regular feature prepared by the American Cancer Society, to help save your life from cancer.

An architect writes: While my husband and I don't smoke cigarettes our parents do. My five-year-old son has started to imitate them by pretending to "smoke" a pencil. How can we discourage him about this habit right now?

ANSWERline: Research has shown that the fact that neither you nor your husband smoke will be a powerful influence on your son's attitude. Explain to him the positive reasons why you choose not to smoke. For example, you want to live the healthiest life possible. Your local American Cancer Society Unit has a free leaflet called, "Huff and Puff." In this colorful version of the Big Bad Wolf and the Three Little Pigs, the wolf can't blow their homes down because he smokes cigarettes. It should be especially effective if either you or your husband read it with your son.

A reader asks: "Are all tumors cancer?" ANSWERline: No. There are two kinds of tumors. One is called benign (non-cancerous) and is made of tissue that has simply become overgrown. A benign tumor is usually not dangerous because it is self contained and does not invade or spread into other body tissue. The other is called malignant (cancer). A cancerous tumor is always dangerous and must be medically destroyed because it will grow and invade surrounding tissue. In time, cancer cells from the original tumor will travel to other parts of the body where new cancerous tumors will become established.

A woman writes: "I am 55 and my daughter is 30. We are both worried about getting breast cancer. Should we have mammography?"

ANSWERline: Before answering that question, it is important to point out that both of you should learn and practice monthly breast self-examination to help detect possible breast cancer. It will give you both the peace of mind that comes from knowing you are doing something to help. Your questions about mammography should be directed to your personal physician, who best knows your physical conditions and medical histories. However, in general, women over 50 should have x-rays (mammograms) of their breasts, because they are entering the age group where breast cancer is a greater risk. And, any woman of any age who notices breast changes

37,279,232 lbs. Burley Received Under Loan During Season

A semi-final report issued this week disclosed that the Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association received 37,279,232 pounds under loan during the marketing season just concluded.

Though this is the largest loan commitment total for any of the last seven crop years, it is not excessive, according to Alvin R. Beekley, the Association's executive secretary-treasurer, in citing this season's percentage of 7.94 of total sales. This compares with last year's 6.76 per cent, when the total taken under loan was 36,307,806 pounds.

Pool receipts covered the entire range of grades this year.

In other news, the sale of 521,000,000 pounds (about 1.2 million pounds) from 1976 crop pool stocks was announced by Beekley, in a press release made since the market closed. Inquiries and sampling of old stock tobacco have been brisk, indicating a pickup in sales to come.

The USA Tobacco Market News in reporting the 1977 burley crop sales average as the highest on record ($119.90 cwt.) listed gross sales at 642 million pounds, with receipts around 63 million, and reserves quota tobacco amounting to about 17 million pounds.

Despite the higher grade prices, last year's gross returns fell about $75 million short of the previous season's record of $775 million for the entire burley belt. In the five-state area of Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia and Missouri, where prior supports are administered by the Burley Association, the total loan advances this year were $42,623,274.10, compared with $70,327,627.97 last year.

With a slight quota reduction, a small pool inventory, and a 6.3 per cent proposed increase in price support levels above 1977, the 1978 crop outlook is regarded as favorable for burley growers.

In announcing proposed price support levels averaging $124.70 per 100 lbs. for the 1978 crop, the ASC's division of USDA called for comment on the new rates, and also on whether the method of support tobacco should be through producer associations. Burley was supported last year at an average of $117.30 cwt.

A national marketing quota of 615 million pounds has been set by the USDA officials, which is 2.3 per cent less than the 1977 quota of 636 million. Effortful quotas for 1978 are estimated at 651 million pounds, or about 5 per cent less than last year.

long that even some that started the winter in good condition came out of it severely stressed," Harris noted.

The agriculture department also estimated the total cost of repairing farm roads damaged by this winter's weather at $15 million compared to only $6 million last year. Snow removal and barn replacement and repair costs also were placed at $15 million this year.

As was reported earlier, Kentucky tobacco products escaped major problems this winter because of the early stripping season. Frozen water systems were less of a problem this year and a peach crop and greenhouse losses were also less severe.

The Rockcastle County Ambulance Service was very active in Tuesday's "Mock Emergency Drill" staged by the County Civil Defense and Rockcastle County Hospital. They are shown above transporting a "victim" to the hospital and they administered emergency first aid at the scene. Members of the Mt.

Vernon Fire Department were also on hand at Tuesday's drill. In addition to "putting out" the fire, they also assisted in evacuating victims from the disaster.

Shown above is the scene at the vocational school during Tuesday's drill in case of a disaster. In addition to the civil defense, ambulance service and hospital personnel, also giving assistance were the rescue squad, the fire department, the state police, city police and sheriff's department. Hopefully, Rockcastle Countians will never have a need for this service but it is comforting to know that should the need arise there is trained personnel here to take charge. Gary Asher coordinated Tuesday's drill.

Personal Effects

Harry's will left his "personal effects" to the friendly lady next door, and the rest of his estate to relatives. Among his assets was a $10,000 certificate of deposit at a local bank. Should this money go to the neighbor lady?

After a court hearing the judge said no, ruling that a bank deposit did not qualify as "personal effects." He said the phrase generally means items that are worn or carried about the person or (have) some intimate relation to the person.

All too often, language that seemed to be plain English at the time a will was written turns out to be ambiguous later on. "Personal effects" is a typical source of dispute and litigation. Seeking its meaning in a particular situation, courts try to find telltale clues in the surrounding circumstances.

Take another case. A woman left her daughter "my personal effects of every kind and description, including silver, linens, and china." Did this include an automobile?

The court decided that it did indeed, awarding the car to the daughter. Reason: the woman must have had a broad definition of "personal effects" in mind, because silver, linens, and china obviously would not be worn or carried on the person.

In one unusual case the owner of a large yacht left his "personal belongings and household effects" to his widow. Rival claimants argued that the yacht was too major an asset to be covered by such a vague expression.

However, the court held that the yacht was included and must therefore go to the widow. Pointing out that the deceased had been a very rich man, the court said it could have been perfectly natural for him to consider a mere yacht too insignificant to need special mention in his will.

PEST NEWS ALERT

Be Aware That: Spring is officially here and before long the "old" Alfalfa Weevil will be feeding on Kentucky's Alfalfa. Preliminary results of spring samples show that adults are already beginning to lay spring eggs. Add these new eggs to the high numbers of all eggs and it looks like there is a good chance of heavy larval populations in mid to late April.

Expect Problems With: Swarming termites; buzzing attic flies and annoying clover mites.

Tobacco Bed Insect Management: The major insect pests in the bed, year in and year out, are flea beetles and cutworms. There are two strategies for controlling or preventing serious damage from these pests - pre-seeding and post-seeding treatments. Materials and methods for these treatments are covered in ENT 14 (a UK Publication available in the Extension office).

Pre-Seeding Treatments - for cutworms use Diazinon 14% G at 3.5 lb. per bed, applied as a broadcast and worked lightly into the soil. This treatment will also control grubs and wireworms.

For flea beetles, apply Di-Syston

15% G at 3/5 (900 sq. ft. bed) to 3/4 pounds (1200 sq. ft. bed) and work into soil with light raking at seeding time.

Post-Seeding Treatments - Cutworms may be controlled by using either Dylax 5% bait or Sevin 5% bait. Research results indicate that Orthene Tobacco Insect Spray will give good cutworm control. Baits and/or sprays should be applied in late afternoon to maximize performance.

Flea beetles can be controlled, once plants are up by broadcasting Di-Syston granules over the bed and watering material in. Also, sprays are another control alternative. Sevin gives good control but should not be used on plants until they reach an average size referred to as the 7 leaf stage. Smaller plants can be treated with Orthene Tobacco Insect Spray, a 75% material mixed at the rate of 2 table-spoons in 3 gallons of water per bed, to afford flea beetle control without concern over phytotoxicity.

Safe Handling of Anhydrous Ammonia
A number of Kentucky farmers will be hurt needlessly this spring in accidents that involve anhydrous ammonia. These accidents can be avoided with a little common sense and care in handling the substance.

Here are some suggested precautions to take when handling the anhydrous fertilizer:
Double check hoses and connections each time before use.

*Be sure towing connections on trailers are in good condition, correctly adjusted and secured to the towing vehicle.

*Purge all air from containers and connections before filling with anhydrous ammonia. Then pressurize containers with ammonia vapor to check for leaks.

*Wear rubber gloves and tight-fitting ventless or chemical splash goggles when transferring the substance.

*Set brakes and block the wheels of transportation tanks before starting transfers.

*When making transfers, stand upwind.

*Keep head and body out of line with valve or fitting openings.

*Operate hand valves by hand - not with wrenches that may cause damage.

*Do not fill applicator tanks past their safe operating levels. If you accidentally overfill one, bleed off excess immediately to prevent pressure buildup.

*Vent pressure from hose connections before disconnecting.

*Never leave equipment unattended during transfers.

*Carry fresh water with which to flush burns. Federal law requires that at least five gallons be carried on vehicles transporting anhydrous ammonia. A pocket squeeze bottle full of water should also be carried, so that eyes can be flushed immediately if the need arises.

*Eyes splashed with ammonia must be forced open so water can flush the

Huddleston Says He Will Run For Re-Election on His Record

Senator Walter Dee Huddleston, who has filed for re-election to a second term in the United States Senate, said he will run on his record and on the promise of what his experience and seniority can do for Kentucky.

The Kentucky Senator already ranks 60th in seniority and, with retirements already announced and the normal attrition rate, he should be close to the top 50 in seniority upon entering his second term.

In his re-election announcement, Huddleston stressed his committee assignments - Appropriations and Agriculture - and their relationship to the Commonwealth.

entire eye surface and inner lining of the eyelids. If contact lenses are worn, remove them before flushing.

Water is the best and only emergency first aid treatment for ammonia burns. Flush the injured area with clean water for at least 15 minutes before going for professional medical help. Salves and ointments just make ammonia burns deeper. Don't use them. While skin burns usually heal satisfactorily, eye injuries are prone to be lasting and permanent - a good reason to protect against them.

He said his membership on the Appropriations committee was directly responsible for acquiring community development, housing, water and waste treatment and environmental protection funds for cities and counties throughout Kentucky.

Huddleston said he has used his membership on the Appropriations Committee to secure a statewide radio disaster warning system, funds for flood control and the Appalachian Regional Hospital chain, and assistance for reclamation and small coal operators.

The Kentucky Senator said the Agriculture committee position has enabled him to lead efforts to protect Kentucky's tobacco farmers. He chairs the subcommittee which handles all tobacco price support legislation.

"In addition, I have had a role in writing two major farm bills as well as the emergency farm bill passed last week by the United States Senate," he said.

Huddleston said that if re-elected, he would use his committee assignments and seniority for the benefit of all people in all regions of Kentucky.

"I have served the people of Kentucky to the best of my ability and I pledge to continue that service should I be re-elected," he concluded.

Attorneys for the Plaintiffs,
Mount Vernon, Kentucky

If your answer was squirrel (Aug. 19) you're wrong. There's a season about to open in April.

We're talking about the short season on wild turkeys, one which is overlooked by most of the Commonwealth's hunters but one which could become increasingly important in the future.

Right now, the status of the wild turkey in Kentucky is just about identical to that of the white-tailed deer shortly after World War II - very low populations in just a few scattered portions of the state. Modern wildlife management practices have restored the deer to numbers greater than in even Daniel Boone's time; and now wildlife biologists are turning the same kind of scientific attention toward the wild turkey.

But because turkeys have more exacting habitat requirements than deer, there probably will never be anywhere near as many turkeys as there are deer in Kentucky. But we do have suitable habitat for wild turkeys in several portions of the Commonwealth which is currently "empty." By stocking wild turkeys in these areas, biologists hope to re-establish this bird over much of its original range in the state.

As these efforts succeed, more and more hunting opportunities will become available and more and more hunters will start taking advantage of these opportunities. As in other game management programs, the ultimate goal will be an optimum sustained yield - a hunter harvest large enough to utilize the resource without being so large that it causes a decrease in the overall population.

What that optimum harvest level is for the wild turkey won't be known for several years, but biologists are planning to keep a close check on the numbers taken. All hunters who get their gobblers this season must have the bird checked through an official check station. This process, resembling the deer check station system that has been in effect for the past two years, will give biologists a quick and accurate count of turkey harvests.

A list of check stations is available from all county court clerks and wherever licenses are sold in open counties and counties surrounding open ones. The list also gives the names and phone numbers of conservation officers (CO) in open counties. After either the CO or the check station operator checks the turkey, he will affix a free tag to the bird.

Next year, turkey hunting will resemble deer hunting even more. A turkey permit ($5.00) will be required in addition to a hunting license, with the

More equitable compensation set-up for counties and city for use of court facilities

In an effort to remedy what was considered by many local officials to be an unfair method of compensating counties and cities for the use of court facilities, the 1978 General Assembly has passed legislation which provides for more equitable compensation to units of local government. The act is a result of months of study and preparation by the Interim Joint Committee of Judiciary-Courts and the Administrative Office of the Courts.

Senate Bill 298, which was introduced by Senator William L. Sullivan, has two major components not included in previous legislation. Based on the total number of square feet of revenue from these permits helping to finance turkey restoration efforts.

This year's season is as follows: April 22 through April 30 in Jackson, Owsley, Bath, Rockcastle, Lee, Rowan, Pike (except Breaks Interstate Park), Letcher (except Pine Mountain Wildlife Management Area) and Menifee County north of U.S. 60.

contained in the facility in question, local governments will be directly reimbursed for expenditures for operating expenses such as utilities and maintenance, in an amount prorated according to the number of square feet occupied by the circuit and district courts.

Additionally, the bill provides for a four percent (4%) use allowance as an annual return on capitalized expenditures. Computation of the net return to counties and cities is based on a formula to be determined by the executive department for finance and administration which will include the original construction cost and the subsequent major renovations. The total compensation is determined in accordance with the percentage of square feet in the existing structure which is used by the court system. The formula allows units of government to recover a percentage of their costs for providing space.

For example, if capital expenditures totaled $500,000, and the courts occupy 30% of the facility, the unit of government controlling the facility would be reimbursed in an amount equal to 4% of $250,000 or $10,000 annually.

The executive budget passed by the General Assembly contains a biennial appropriation of $8,459,000 to be used to secure court facilities for the unified Court of Justice. A total of $3,588,500 was appropriated for the fiscal year 1978-79 and $4,873,000 for fiscal year 1979-80.

William E. Davis, Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts, stated that the act will become effective July 1, 1978, and that local officials should be contacted by the executive department for finance and administration prior to that date to furnish the information necessary to compute annual reimbursements. He further stated that the legislation will satisfy the need to reimburse units of local government on a fair and equal basis for the use of court facilities.

Circus time is here again and Oleika Shrine Temple proudly presents the 30th Hubler International Circus to the young and old in seven great performances in six progress towns in the Desert of Kentucky.

In order that this great array of animal acts and dare-devil feats of skill and agility in the air can be available for every man, woman and child in these areas, the circus will be shown, afternoon matinee and gala evening performances in Prestonsburg, on April 10th. Hazard on April 11th, Ophion, April 12th, Somerset, April 13th and Frankfort, April 14th and with three great performances in the Rupp arena on Saturday afternoon and evening, April 15 and the closing gala special performance matinee on Sunday afternoon, April 16th.

As guests at all performances with the help of citizens and friends, between 7,000 and 8,000 underprivileged children will thrill at the stupendous acts that will keep them on the edge of their seats. This treat will be made available for them by the generosity of signers of Buck-O-Line cards, of Circus Daddies and Circus Mommies who help, year after year, to make hours of happiness for bright eyes and indrawn breaths at the antics of the animals—lions, dogs, horses, and seals, and daring feats of the acrobats.

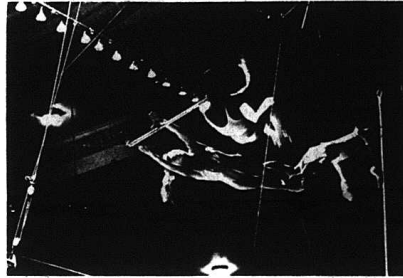

The net proceeds of the circus will go to support the eighteen Shriners' Hospitals for crippled children, and our own unit in Lexington, and the three Burns Institutes in U. S., Canada and Mexico. These institutions are supported wholly by the Shriners themselves as no national or state government money is ever appropriated for these Temples of Mercy. Thousands of children to day have been treated and restored to health and activity thru the Shriners' aid to needy children. Money raised by the nearly 180 Shriners, including circuses such as this, go to the support of the hospitals and children.

Tickets for the local performances can be purchased from any local Shriner or at the door for any performance. So young of age and young at heart are invited to attend this 30th annual circus, labelled by all the "best ever."

George Barreda, sometimes called the Tony Orlando of the Big Top, is now one of America's greatest wild animal trainers, and also the youngest. This is a brand new act consisting of eight big male lions; both the lions and George received a three year training course from his father Jose, and the results are excellent. A fast paced act, with good lighting and music, George has a bright future.

Always a Circus Favorite is the flying trapeze act. Sergio Ramos and his troupe are second to no act in America. His credits include 1963-1974 with Ringling, Radio City Music Hall two years, Deuschhale, Berlin, Circo Americano Rome, and Cirque d'Hiver TV Paris. His two big tricks are the legendary triple, plus a double full twister—two somersaults and two piroettes making four revolutions.

IN OUR CHANGING WORLD

By Austin Mobley, Minister Providence Church of Christ

Women's Liberation

The current "Women's Liberation Movement" is having its impact on Society. Movements come and go in this fast moving world. Some are good, but some are also bad. This movement would lead women into BONDAGE, rather than LIBERTY. It would saddle them with more responsibilities and fewer benefits.

Problems of society usually creep into the church of Christ, and this movement is no exception. We have heard of women leading in public prayers and even addressing a mixed assembly of men and women. This is alarming to God-fearing, Bible-loving people.

Those advocating this "doctrine" are making headway with the following bold assertions:

1. "The idea that women are the weaker sex is a myth that was promoted by men." (Bible answer: 1 Peter 3:7).

2. "Men have no right to expect their wives to be obedient to them any more than women should expect their husbands to be obedient to them." (Bible answer: Titus 2:5).

3. "Women should not be expected to be tied down to home, but to pursue their own interests, just like men." (Bible answer: Titus 2:5; 1 Timothy 5:14).

"Housewives are leeches, parasites and legal prostitutes." (Bible answer: Titus 2:3-5).

4. Woman's liberationists have even tried to have the word "housewife" removed from the dictionary etc., etc.

I say that a "Men's Liberation Movement" is long overdue! As men we should move at once to protect ourselves from further discrimination. Far too long the male of the human species has been saddled with the heavy work. He is expected to be the breadwinner. To him has been given the obligation to stand at the front of the battlefield. He is supposed to be the strong one. He is the member of the "Home Team" who endures the pressures and the stresses involved in feeding, clothing and educating his family. As a result, his life experiences are less than that of a woman. He is more prone to heart attacks. Yes men, it is high time that we launch a counter attack and protest against the "raw deal" we get in life.

Now, you know very well that what I've said about a "Men's Liberation Movement" has been said with "tongue-in-cheek." Yielding to everything a "woman's lib" or a similar "men's lib" movement might demand would only make everyone more miserable. This is simply because the key to genuine happiness and contentment in life is to recognize God's place for each of us and willingly fulfill it (See Eccel. 12:13).

The modern "liberated woman," clad in seductive attire, who is determined to have her "career," in spite of her husband's desire, or what it does to her family, who "wears the pants" in her family, is far removed from that virtuous woman, clothed in innocence, whom God joined to Adam in that first marriage! There is something very wrong with the masculinity of the man who refuses to be the head of his house, and with the femininity of the woman who refuses to be in subjection to her own husband (1 Timothy 2:11-12). It is difficult to determine which is worse - the "henpecked" husband or the "henpecking" wife!

The Land Bank

The American farmer builds two things better than anyone else in the world. He builds the next generation, passing along a special kind of wisdom... respect for the soil, honesty, independence, and faith in the future. And he builds his land, leaving it better than he found it. That kind of building usually requires borrowed long term capital. That's where we can help.
