Time is of the Essence

You have agreed to purchase a house or piece of property. You have discussed with the seller the importance of a definite settlement date. Whether the reason is personal or for business, it makes no difference. But if closing is important within a certain time limit, be sure that the phrase, "time is of the essence" is inserted into the sales agreement.

If this key phrase is not included, then either the buyer or seller can delay settlement for a "reasonable" time. What may be reasonable for one party may be unreasonable for the other. At this juncture, it may become a matter for the court to settle.

On the other hand, if you anticipate the need for flexibility, avoid the insertion of the "time is of the essence" limitation. This is just another reason why it is important to discuss the sales agreement with your attorney before you sign your name on the dotted line.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at Ford Realty & Auction Co., Inc., Mt. Vernon, Phone 256-4545. We're here to help!

Koomer Ridge Campground To Be Closed This Summer

The popular Koomer Ridge Campground, on the Stanton Ranger District of the Daniel Boone National Forest, will be closed this summer for rehabilitation. Situated in the scenic Red River Gorge Geological Area, the Koomer Ridge Campground has been used intensively since it was first opened to the public in 1965.

Forest Service crews are replacing grills, tables and lantern posts and building a new, 30-car parking area for hikers to alleviate the entrance traffic jams so common in past years. They also are working on new trails, an overlook and eventually plan to construct an amphitheater for added enjoyment.

Later this spring, the Daniel Boone National Forest will award a contract for the reconstruction and repair of roads within the campgrounds.

The tentative opening date for Koomer Ridge is August 31. Until that time, however, osh designated areas on the Stanton Ranger District will be open to the public. They include group campgrounds at Tunnel Ridge Road and Chimney Top Road and picnic grounds at Sky Ridge, Rock Bridge, Grays Arch and Cottage Furnace plus overlooks and scenic areas.

Two Mothers

Author Unknown

Long, long ago, so I've been told,
Two angels met on the streets of gold,
By the stars in your crown, said one to the other.

I see that on earth, you too were a Mother.

Oh, yes, said she, I once had a son,
Full of laughter and fun, but tell of your son.

Oh, I know I was blessed from the moment,
I hold him close to my heart,
And my heart almost burst with the joy of that day.

Oh, yes, said the other, I felt the same way.
The first woman continued, the first step he took so timid and careful,
That sweet startled smile came over his face.

He trusted me so,
Oh my, said the other, how well do I know.

But soon he had grown to a tall handsome boy,
So patient and kind, he gave me great joy.

Just to have him walk down the street by my side,
Yes, yes, cried the other, I felt the same way.

How often I shielded and spared him from pain,
To have him for others so cruelly slain,
When they crucified him and spit in his face.

How gladly would I have died in his place.

A moment of silence...
Then you are she, the Mother of Christ!
And she fell on one knee,
But the blessed one raised her and drawing her near,
Kissed from the cheek of the woman a tear.

Tell me of your son, the one you loved so,
That I may share with you your grief and your woe,
She raised her eyes and looked straight at the other.

He was Judas Iscariot, I am his Mother.

Don't Forget Bike-A-Thon

Spring is here, biking is fun and good exercise, and the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is a very worthy cause. Because of this, Mt. Vernon will sponsor a bike-a-thon Saturday afternoon, May 13, from 1 to 4 p.m. There will be a prize for the person bringing in the most money. The person biking the most miles and one for the participant with the most sponsors.

To enter the bike-a-thon, participants must get entry forms and solicit sponsors for no less than 10 cents a mile. However, the sponsor may put a limit on the miles he will pay for if he pledges over 50 cents a mile. A leader will go to the elementary school with entry forms and information forms may also be picked up at the Bank of Mt. Vernon. A child should be able to ride a bicycle reasonably well to enter. A parent wishing to accompany a younger child is welcome.

Headquarters will be set up in the ball field at Mt. V.E.S., where each child must register and check back after each mile traveled. A one mile circuit from the school and back will be marked and will be supervised. Refreshments will be provided and anyone needing more Diagram shows plans for New Park. Dotted lines indicate Phase One Plans, which should be finished this summer.

Four Community Groups Agree to Build Fully-Equipped Park near Lake Linville

Four community groups have agreed to build and maintain the area's first fully-equipped public park, on 18 acres of city-owned property near Lake Linville.

The plans include a lighted baseball field, sheltered picnic areas and a basketball court to be completed this year. Long-range plans call for a swimming pool, a horse show ring, and a second baseball field, and tennis courts.

"We hope to have the baseball field operating early this summer," Bill James, of the the Rockcastle County Jaycees, said. The Jaycees have secured a loan of $5,000 from the Kentucky Highlands Investment Corporation, which will be used to build the lighted field.

The baseball field, which is being given top priority, will be built according to Little League specifications so that local teams can participate in league tournaments. The sheltered picnic area will be available to groups for events like family reunions or company picnics.

Mayor Roland Mullins said that an additional $20,000 from a federal grant as well as $20,000 in matching city funds will be spent on the project.

The four groups entering the formal agreement, May 2, are the Jaycees, the City of Mt. Vernon, The Recreation Council and the County Judge.

In the agreement, the Jaycees promise to assist in planning the park, to apply for the loan, and to inspect the park as part of its maintenance. The city agrees to spend $1,000 annually for the park's operation, to provide rental funds from the boat dock for the operation and maintenance of the park, to provide construction and maintenance labor, and to assist in planning the park including its equipment and activities.

The County Judge and Rockcastle County agrees to provide employees to supervise and operate the park. The Recreation Council agrees to arrange for programming for the park.

Plans for the park began some months ago through efforts of the city and Jaycees. A "park committee" of Jaycees was formed with members Mr. James, Sam Ford and Luke Dober. Mr. James said the city applied for federal grant last year, but asked the Jaycees to help provide manpower to get the park started.

"The park will be finished in two phases," Mr. James said.

"It will be the greatest cooperative effort in the recreational area for young people that the county has known," Mayor Roland Mullins said.

Phase I will use the $45,000 now available, and should be completed this year. Phase II may take years, he said.

Mr. James said that the road that leads back to the park will be repaired and that guard rails are going to be built along the lake. State Police will monitor traffic.

City Council passes Boat Ordinance: It's Okay to use Small Motors Any Time

The Mt. Vernon City Council approved an amended ordinance Monday night that allows people to use 10 horsepower or less motors on Lake Linville year round, in any area.

The original ordinance restricted the use of motors on the lake except between Memorial Day and Labor Day and then not in Hysinger Hollow. This restriction to larger motors still exists. However, the small motors will have the run of the lake.

The ordinance passed unanimously, with one abstention. Chester Hellard abstained on the grounds that he was not sure if boats would disturb trout and other fish in the lake.

During the two-hour, regular meeting, the Council discussed buying new fire equipment, street maintenance, and building improvements on City Hall.

Fire Chief John Cox told the Council that his department was using equipment that is 40 years old. He said a new truck costs about $45,000, but it could be leased or rented. The Council will advertise for new equipment. Cox said that a fire hose drying tower was also needed to dry out hoses after a fire. The Council will also advertise for bids on this.

Discussion continued on improvements to City hall and a new storage building to house city and waterworks equipment. Last October the City was granted $25,000 from the State of Kentucky for this project.

Gary Hansel was given permission to put Rockcastle County Rescue Squad Boats on Lake Linville without charge for rescue practices.

Bonnie Halecomb was hired as a part-time policeman. She begins this week, three hours per day at minimum wage.

Wayne King, manager of the boat dock for Renfro Valley, Inc., was before the council to request that the lease payment for this year be left at $1,000 instead of the $2,500 it is scheduled to revert to under the terms of the original five-year lease.

Mr. King told the council that approximately $8,000 had been spent on the dock in two years by Renfro Valley over the past two years. Under the terms of the original agreement, the lease fee was reduced to $1,000 for the first two years with Renfro agreeing to spend the additional $1,500 per year on capital improvements at the lake.

Mr. King said that last year, the dock lost approximately $1,300 and that he felt the lease fee should remain at $1,000 for another year.

After much discussion by the council, no action was taken on Mr. King's request and the terms of the lease agreement remain unchanged.

Senior Citizens' Third Annual Crafts Fair To be Held Saturday in Renfro Valley

Crafts available at Saturday's sale are flower pots, ceramics, knitted purses and yarn dogs. Donated items from stores will also be sold.

A Crafts Fair and Auction will be held Saturday in Renfro Valley between 11:00 a.m. and 3 p.m. to benefit senior citizens.

Among the items for sale is a basketball autographed by the Kentucky Wildcats 1978 Champion Team.

Handmade goods such as quilts, yarn dogs, purses and ceramics will be available. Local merchants have donated phonograph records, small appliances and certified for restaurants, gasoline and so forth.

There will be refreshments and entertainment, including a clown who will give away balloons to children. Wendell Lawrence, a Brodhead auctioneer, will begin the auction about 1:00 p.m.

Proceeds from the Fair will go into the transportation fund. Carol Kirby, an employee of the Senior Citizens Program, said. This fund provides transportation to doctors or for shopping to older people who are unable to get around alone.

Free Blood Pressure Checks Offered This Month

You can have your blood pressure checked for free this month at the Rockcastle County Courthouse in Mt. Vernon, according to Nora J. Mullins, registered nurse with the Public Health Department. Ms. Mullins said the service is available between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., Mondays through Fridays.

"It takes only a few minutes and is painless," Ms. Mullins said. If high blood pressure is discovered, you will be referred to your own doctor for treatment, she said.

The free check-ups are part of "National Blood Pressure Month," a government effort to fight this health problem.

High blood pressure or "hypertension" helps to "kill" about 250,000 Americans annually, or about one in every eight deaths, according to statistics by the National Institute of Health.

You could have high blood pressure and not know it, because the disease has no symptoms. But if you do not get treatment, your high blood pressure could weaken your heart or cause a stroke.

High blood pressure can also cause blindness and kidney damage.

Doctors advise people with hypertension to quit smoking, to eat less fat and salt, and to exercise. Sometimes drugs that relax blood vessels or eliminate water from the body are prescribed.

There is no "cure" for hypertension, but it can be controlled in 85% of the cases.

"Even healthy people should get their blood pressure checked every year," Ms. Mullins said. "May is a good month to do it."

Parents Reminded Of School Registration

Parents who have not registered their child for kindergarten or first grade for next school year should take them to the principal's office and register them soon.

It is very important that the school know how many students to expect in new classes next year.

Kindergarten students now enrolled in kindergarten will not need to register for first grade for next year. Thank you for your cooperation.

Young Democrats Club Has First Meeting

A Young Democrats Club organizational meeting was held on May 4, 1978, at the community room of the Bank of Mt. Vernon. Guest speaker was Dale Emmons, National Treasurer of the Young Democrats Club.

Temporary officers were elected as follows: Jennifer Gentry; secretary, Beverly Owens; Treasurer, David Owens; Public Relations Director, Marian Gentry and Membership Director, Gary Kirby.

Membership is open to any young democrat between high school age and 35. Dues are $2.00 and associate dues (democrats over 35 years of age) are $5.00. Anyone interested in joining, please contact Howard Linville at 256-2547. The next meeting of the Young Democrats will be held on May 22, 1978 at 7:00 at the Bank of Mt. Vernon.

Now that the 1978 General Assembly is over, the 1979 race for governor has begun in earnest. Former Louisville Mayor, Dr. Harvey Sloane, has formally announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor in the May 1979 Primary. Last year maverick Republican State Representative Ray Overstreet formally announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor. In the coming months many others are expected to join them.

Gov. Thelma Stovall during the final weeks of the 1978 General Assembly informally announced that she would run for governor in 1979. State Auditor George Atkins, a frequent critic of the Carroll Administration, has been actively laying the groundwork for a campaign for the governor's mansion.

For the first time in over twenty years, two of Kentucky's U.S. Congressmen have shown an interest in running for governor. Democratic First District Congressman Carroll Hubbard, in addition to traveling through his western Kentucky district, has had numerous speaking engagements in central and eastern Kentucky. Fifth District Republican Congressman, Dr. Tim Lee Carter, has been more noticeable at various gatherings around the state in the past year. Congressman Dr. Carter in recent months has stepped up his criticism of the Carroll Administration.

It is generally acknowledged that State Commerce Commissioner Terry McBrayer is Carroll's choice for governor in 1979. That can explain part of the reason Carroll appointed McBrayer to the post. It gives McBrayer much needed public exposure. Many Commerce Commission publications are full of photographs with McBrayer in them.

It is thought that State Senator Larry Hopkins is making a strong bid for a senate seat won every precinct in his district.

An unknown former state senator from Bowling Green is making a strong organizing effort before formally announcing for the Republican nomination for governor. Ray B. White has been traveling around the state actively seeking support. Last week he sent out a statewide mailing asking for campaign contributions.

State Agriculture Commissioner Tom Harsers has many times indicated that he is interested in running for governor next year.

It is interesting to take note of a statewide poll published last summer concerning the 1979 Kentucky Governor's race. This poll was taken by a Cambridge, Mass., polling firm. The results of this statewide poll show the front runners to have been State Auditor George Atkins and Lt. Governor Thelma Stovall. Surprisingly enough, the man thought to be in the front runner, State Commerce Commissioner Terry McBrayer, was ranked down at the bottom at about 9th or 7th place. Another surprise was that State Senator Larry Hopkins finished fourth in the poll, ahead of McBrayer.

As one can see, the 1979 Kentucky Governor's race is going to be quite a horse race. It is very possible that a complete political unknown with the right resources with which to wage a campaign could be Kentucky's next governor.

Legislative Report

By Rep. Harold DeMarcus

Between legislative sessions a state representative has many duties to perform. In addition to serving on interim committees, an assemblyman is obligated to inform his constituents and, in turn, gather information from them.

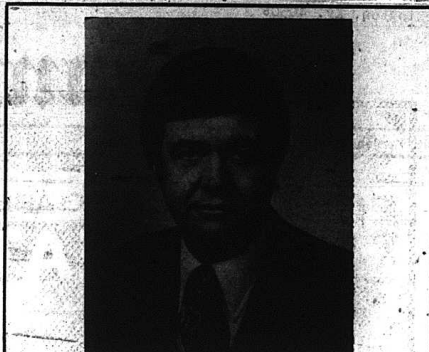

It is my opinion that the furtherance of legislative responsibility is never ending. Although the legislative session garners the attention of the public eye, the time between sessions is spent studying new ideas and unsuccessful legislation with the purpose of producing beneficial enactments for forthcoming sessions.

Also, during the interim, while the representative resides in his home district he is provided the opportunity to speak with the people about the process of matriculating laws for the Commonwealth.

I think a brief discussion of interim committees would be proper at this time. Because much of the input for interim committees comes from the public itself. By amendments of its rules in 1968, the General Assembly has constituted its standing committees as subcommittees of the Legislative Research Commission immediately upon since die adjournment and continuing during the biennial interim.

The LRC by its own rules has defined the General Assembly standing committees, for interim subcommittee purposes, as "Interim Joint Committees." Under this definition, each of the 15 committees in a given house joins with its identical counterpart in the other house and conducts as an interim joint committee.

Biennially, the organizational meeting of interim committees are scheduled and convened by the Legislative Research Commission. Initial business consists of the selection of a chairman and vice chairman, a review of unsuccessful legislation considered during the preceding session, decisions as to the number and jurisdiction of standing subcommittees, and receipt of new proposals. By custom the interim committee chairmanship alternates each biennium between the House and Senate standing committee chairmen.

"Selling the Country"

Mt. Vernon, Ky. Ph. 256-4545

On Saturday, May 6, six Rockcastle Co. 4-H Members presented their demonstrations at the Wilderness Trail Area 4-H Demonstration Contest held at London Elementary School. The youth competed with 4-H'ers from eight counties and came home with one champion and two alternates. Those who competed were: Jamie Cox and Paige Aderkin-junior health-champion; Audrey Morgan-senior crafts-alternate champion; Debbie Witt, senior management-alternate champion; Sharon Caudill-senior home environment-blue; and Steven Caudill-junior management-red. Assisting as judges in other categories were: Nellie Blackburn, Martha Cox and Cheryl Witt. County Extension Agent, Jamie Cox and Page Aderkin will be eligible to present their demonstrations at the Kentucky State Fair this summer.

By the way of House Resolution No. 26 of the 1972 Extraordinary Session of the General Assembly, the LRC was requested to require the interim committees to render adequate public notice of scheduled meetings. The request is fulfilled under procedures adopted by the LRC. Meeting notices are dispatched to those indicating a preference among the following categories: (1) members of the General Assembly not on the committee; (2) interested citizens; (3) registered lobbyists; and (4) news media representatives.

On occasional issues of widespread interest, a committee or one of its subcommittees may decide to solicit public opinion prior to making its final report to the commission. A hearing represents a meeting of the particular group, devoted entirely to the taking of testimony from witnesses specifically invited or attending as the result of public notice. In either event, all witnesses are required to register and their appearances are controlled by the chairman. Proceedings of committee hearings are recorded by a public stenographer, and published by the LRC.

At the close of the interim, each committee submits a final report to the LRC indicating its activity during the interim and its recommendations for legislation to be presented to the General Assembly. Legislation contained in the reports may be prefaced by the chairman of the committee involved on its behalf.

Committee reports received by the LRC are assembled into 2-2-29 document, edited and indexed by committee and subject. This document is then published as an informational bulletin and distributed with a presentation of a synopsis to the pre-session legislative conference.

Interim committee meetings are scheduled to begin somewhere around the first of July. If you have any questions pertaining to interim committee functions, please feel free to contact me.

Many parents attempt to buy their children's LOVE with material gifts or presents. What children really want is your time spent willingly and enjoyably with them.

Time spent by a father sitting on the floor building a city of blocks with his pre-schooler, building a birdhouse, or taking a bike ride with an older child are treasured experiences for a boy or girl ones they will boast about to their friends and remember a lifetime.

Mothers who "bake" cookies with willing little helpers, read to pre-schoolers, teach their 10 to 12 year olds how to sew, or just spend time in a friendly "playing," "teaching," or "just talking" situation, are building never-to-be-forgotten memories and lasting relations ships.

Plentiful Eggs For Easy Omelets
"How do you want your eggs?" That's a familiar question every morning in many homes across the nation. But eggs are at their peak at the clock as an important part of any meal or snack. How they're served depends on the occasion. They easily adapt to many appealing and sometimes unusual dishes.

Eggs are plentiful during May and the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service is spreading the word to encourage their use. Now may be an ideal time to try your hand at some new recipes.

Why not try making some omelets which can be as different in flavor as the various ingredients you choose to add? Here are the main omelet ingredients: 6 eggs, 1/2 teaspoon of salt, a dash of pepper, 6 tablespoons of milk and 3 tablespoons of margarine or butter.

Mix eggs, salt, pepper, and milk until egg yolks and whites are well blended. Heat a large frypan just hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Melt the margarine or butter in the frypan.

Pour the egg mixture into the frypan all at once. It should begin to cook at once at the outer edges. Lift the edges toward the center and tip the pan so that the uncooked mixture flows under the cooked portion. The mixture is set when the egg no longer flows freely.

Slide the pan rapidly back and forth over the heat to keep the mixture in motion and sliding freely to avoid sticking. Let the omelet cook about one minute longer to heat the bottom lightly. Fold one-half of the omelet over the other half. Serve at once.

If you want to vary the flavor, on half the omelet just before folding, spread tart jelly or browned mushroom, shredded cheese, herbs or crumbled cooked bacon or anything else to suit your taste.

Here's another variation: fill the omelet before folding with canned cliny peaches, then fold and sprinkle with powdered sugar. Then flame with peach liqueur and with sour cream for a super dessert.

Adult Protection Act

Passed by Assembly

Do you know an adult who is: Abused, Neglected, Exploited, Unable to care for himself.

Now, there's a service that can help. The General Assembly of 1976 passed the Adult Protection Act which provides for protective services to anyone 18 years or older who is too impaired physically or mentally to act on his or her own behalf and who is without responsible friends or relatives who are available to assist.

This act is now well known or fully understood just as legislation relating to child abuse and neglect was at the inception. Public awareness has made the reporting related to child protection as simple procedure and children are being rescued who might otherwise have continued to remain in an unhealthy and many times, dangerous living situation. The Adult Protection Act is similar but relates to our older population.

Kentucky was one of the first states to pass such legislation. In 1960, 3.1 million or about one out of every 25 Americans, were over 65. Today, 21.8 million, or one out of every 10 are over 65. This is a segment of our population that has to some extent been bypassed in years past and this act is one measure Kentucky is taking to show its awareness of older people and their problems.

The Adult Protection Act is to help these individuals remain independent for as long as possible in their familiar surroundings. Services offered include counseling, homemaker services, home health care, money management counseling, landlord agreements, legal aid and other help. An effort is also made to try to contact relatives and friends who will help care for persons in need.

Reported violations of the Adult Protection Act generally fall into five classifications: physical abuse, self-neglect, caretaker neglect, exploitation or a combination of those factors. While it is usually a concerned neighbor, friend or relative who reports a violation, reports also come from medical personnel, law enforcement officials, school personnel, and social workers. In some cases, adults have requested protective services for themselves.

Names of persons making reports are kept confidential and these persons may remain anonymous. Anyone who reports a case of suspected abuse or neglect is granted immunity from civil or criminal liability and from participation if resulting judicial proceedings are required.

Reports should be made to the Rockcastle County Bureau for Social Services office, telephone 256-4416. Written inquiries may be sent to Mr. John Denton, Department for Human Resources, Bureau for Social Services, 275 East Main Street, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Eastern Kentucky university has honored these retiring faculty and staff members, who have a combined 126 years of service, with a dinner and silver trays. The retirees, their positions, and home towns or counties (from left) are: seated, Fannie L. VanAradale, food service supervisor, Richmond, and Hazel L. Christian, associate professor of English, Richmond and standing: Claude H. Bivins, director of institutional services, London, Tenn.; Dotty Lockridge, director of safety and security, Mt. Sterling; Elmer B. Stephenson, safety and security supervisor, Carlisle; Arthur Y. Lloyd, lecturer in political science, Providence; John Vickers, director of placement and executive assistant, Calhoun; Elizabeth S. Castle, assistant professor of library science, Hopkinsville, and Bentley J. Hilton, assistant professor of economics, Rockcastle County.

Lions Club Seeks Vendors For "Community Flea Markets"

Robert Robinson, president of the Mt. Vernon Lions Club, stated that the local civic club needs "flea market vendors" for the third annual "Community Flea Markets" as sponsored by the club.

President Robinson went on to say that this is the third year the club has sponsored the flea markets as a money raising project for the club, with the profits to be used in the club's charity projects, which includes the buying of eye glasses for the children of the area, whose parents can not afford to buy the eye glasses.

The club at $5.00 for the day, with the vendors to bring their own tables, set their own price and arrange for taxes if they have tax numbers.

President Robinson stated that if anyone desiring a space to sell their wares, to call him at 758-8399 to reserve a space, or to call Estill Hodges at 256-2616 or Ed Hunt at 256-2481 or Floyd Owens at 256-2203.

The club plans to sponsor four such "Community Flea Markets" this summer with the first market set for this Saturday May 13 with hours from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

The location of the flea markets has been changed from the parking lot of the Mt. Vernon Elementary School to Renfro Valley, in an effort to bring more buyers for the vendors. The exact location will be on U.S. 25 in front of the "old tourist cabins" on the left side of the highway going north.

Littering Is Still Major Concern

It could be because spring is here and it is more noticeable now, that the snow is gone, but litter agains becoming a source of concern among people across the state.

Recent articles in several eastern Kentucky newspapers have expressed concern over the problem, and the state Environmental Quality Commission voiced similar concerns at a recent meeting.

The situation, at least for the present, is unchanged from what it has been, previously, according to state officials, but they point to legislation passed by the 1978 General Assembly as at least the beginning of a comprehensive anti-litter program.

The bill levies a three percent per $100 tax on wholesalers of products packaged in metal, plastic, paper or glass. Revenues are to be used by the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection for the purchase and placement of litter receptacles across the state, employment of persons to clean up litter, increased enforcement of litter laws and the recycling of reusable litter. In addition, the department is to use funds for various public education campaigns aimed at preventing litter.

As to how successful the program will be, at least in the first two years that it is to run before re-examination by the 1980 General Assembly, no one is willing to say.

the bill passed by the legislature) can do in the near term is provide for going out and picking up litter," says Norm Schell, director of the department's Division of Hazardous Materials and Waste Management.

"To that extent it will relieve the problem of litter. However, what percentage of it will be eliminated I cannot say," he adds.

Schell says he wants to be as realistic as possible in his expectations for the program, mainly because it will be some time before revenues find their way back to the department. In fact, by 1980 Schell estimates that the program will have "been in place" less than a year.

If the program is going to be a success, Schell believes it will be because of the education aspects of the bill aimed at behavior modification among people of the state. This, however, may take longer than two years to accomplish.

Presently, the only available tool for preventing litter is education through local enforcement of litter laws, but even this is beset by manpower problems at the state level and by patchwork enforcement at local levels, said Schell.

Despite the obstacles facing the program, Schell and other state officials say the important thing is that at least a planned and coordinated attack of litter is beginning.

The division is developing a strategy to determine the roles of state agencies and the all-important local agencies in litter prevention, collection and disposal.

"It is also necessary to determine a strategy for implementation; that is, putting out the barrels, picking it up and determining what kind of education programs might be effective," says Schell.

"What needs to be emphasized, though, is that at least at the state level activity is beginning, and with coordination with local agencies and an active role on their part, particularly in enforcement, the program will be dealt with in a way that hopefully in the long run will be successful," Schell said.

LEIGH ANN HIATT

Leigh Ann Hiatt Receives Annual Home Economics Student Award

Leigh Ann Hiatt, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Hiatt of Mt. Vernon, received the annual Outstanding Home Economics Student Award last Friday at the Future Homemakers Association Banquet. The $25 savings bond is presented each year by the Rockcastle County Extension Homemakers Association. The award is based on creativity, basic homemaking skills, and personal integrity. To be eligible, the recipient must be a senior at Rockcastle County High School and have three or more years of Home Economic classes.

Leigh Ann plans to attend Georgetown College in the fall and perhaps will major in journalism. Serving as first vice-president of FHA and has been a member of FHA for four years. As a member of FHA, she visited the nursing home, serves at banquets and collects money for charitable drives. She also works part time at her father's store, and has enrolled in homemaking classes offered by the Cooperative Extension Service. Among Leigh Ann's interests are playing piano, teaching preschool class in Sunday School, and youth church activities. She teaches Bible School and attends church camps as counselor. Leigh Ann has learned many homemaking skills by taking an active part in running the household of her family.

Melissa Faye Rader, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rader of Orlando, celebrated her seventh birthday, April 30th. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Mason and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rader, all of Orlando.

Young People Are Not Using Voting Rights

Increasing numbers of young people are not voting, experts told a conference on the subject at Eastern Kentucky University in Richmond Tuesday.

A reliable study just completed indicates that only one out of five persons between 18 and 24 years old votes, according to Malcolm Jewell, EKU professor of political science. Voter turnout in Kentucky, while lower than the national average since 1966, reflects a larger trend, he said.

Jewell emphasized that the study was based on actual voting records rather than on data from questionnaires, a frequently used method which is less reliable. The study was conducted under a program to promote voter education among the state's citizens and was initiated 18 months ago by Secretary of State Dressell R. Davis.

The study, based on a county-by-county analysis of voter patterns over a four year period, was directed by Judson Edwards, director of voter education, and Bill Mabry, staff assistant to the secretary of state.

Jewell and other political scientists agreed that while full participation is not expected in our form of government, the discovery that less than 20 percent of young people are not voting is cause for further inquiry into the phenomenon.

In related studies young persons have explained their non-voting in terms of a growing sense of frustration that the political process won't or can't remedy the many economic and social problems that directly affect them.

Dr. Jack Bitzel, chairman of the Political Science Department at Morehead State University, said, "Young persons say 'they don't listen to me, and why don't they listen to some new ideas?'"

Students of voter trends at the conference stressed their position that voter apathy is not necessarily a sign of danger for government, but that if the percentage of persons voting continues to shrink, rigorous analysis of such questions as who is voting and why becomes more important.

How Many Kinds of Light Do Your Rooms Have?

Decorators use and mix at least three different kinds of light to add beauty, drama and utility to rooms. So look around your home. Try to identify the different kinds. Then follow some of the suggestions for making your home lighting easier on the eyes-in the literal and the figurative sense of the phrase.

Focused Glow

This is the sort of light cast by a good lamp. A pool of brightness focused on a reading, work or conversation area. For reading and close work, it should be "soft" or free from shadows and fairly bright. The lamp should be either high enough so the eyes do not see the bare bulb, or low with a bulb-hiding shield across the top. A top-shield will also serve to keep an often-distracting cone of light off the ceiling.

For reading, the shade should be translucent so plenty of light reaches the chair. Opaque shades may be used for dramatic effect, to cast light down on a beautiful table or rug. If you have an especially beautiful painting or art object, lovely draperies or a beautiful garden outside a big window, tiny spotlights can give this center of attention real excitement and drama.

Shadowless Brightness

This is the kind of lighting often called "indirect" - the overall level of brightness or dimness in your room. This kind of soft shadowless light is reassuring, quieting, restful. When fairly dim, it creates an intimate relaxed atmosphere. When bright, it promotes gaiety and activity.

If you want to create a formal effect, arrange the light sources so that the reflecting surfaces are high-above eye level. Light bounced off the ceiling is good in formal rooms. Light coming from sources below eye-level tends to give an informal effect.

The current trend is toward light reflected from walls, draperies, even a pale floor covering. If you have an especially beautiful stone fireplace, spotlight this and let it cast its glow over the room. Focus spotlights or strip lighting downward behind translucent draperies.

If you have a window wall and a green thumb, don't let the wall become a black mirror at night. Bring the outdoors in with garden lighting. Even the simplest shrubbery arrangement becomes exciting when illuminated by floodlights.

Pinpoint Brilliance

Spotlights focused on a shiny mobile, a collection of glass or china or silver, brass or porcelain wall ornaments, or other reflective surface give a type of light decorators call "pinpoint brilliance" used to add drama to a room.

Another source of such light is candles - either real or modern electric bulbs that look so candle-like you can hardly tell them apart at a distance. This type of light gives sharp contrasts of light and shadow, and adds gaiety and brilliance to a room.

If you have mirrors, a glass wall or other reflective surfaces, the light is reflected back and forth to give a room real sparkle. So long as the light source is kept small, the glare is not objectionable. And you will be surprised to see how much drama and excitement pinpoint brilliance can add to an otherwise dull room.

County Agent's Notes

By H. Lee Durham
County Extension Agent
For Agriculture

Harvest Time Can Affect Quality of Hay and Silage

High quality hay is important to a successful livestock program. And, in recent years, Kentucky farmers are also using hay-type silage to supplement hay crops.

For high quality hay and hay-type silage, cut crops at the right time. Harvest time is the same whether a crop is made into hay or silage. The difference is in the amount of moisture in the crop at storage. Most hay is baled when the moisture level is about 14-18 percent, while hay-type silage (wilted) should be stored at 50-65 percent.

The following suggestions are offered on cutting different crops for hay or silage: First Year Alfalfa and Alfalfa-Grass. Late summer seeding of alfalfa and alfalfa-grass made in 1977 should be cut no more than three times this year. The first cut should be ready about June 1, with the second and third cuts ready at 6-week intervals after that. Seedings made this spring should be cut no more than twice this year. The first cut should be ready about Jul 1-10 and the second about August 20-30.

Old Stands of Alfalfa and Alfalfa-Grass. The first cut of old stands of alfalfa and alfalfa-grass can be taken at the early bud stage. Be sure to allow at least 6 weeks for recovery after the first cut before harvesting the second crop. Allow 5 to 6 weeks between the remaining crops. Make the fourth cut by mid-September.

Red Clover (alone or with grass).

The best red clover hay crops are cut at bud and early bloom stage. When making more than one cut from red clover, stack the hay in layers so that you can blend the cuttings when you feed them.

Heavy Grass (with little or no legumes). Cut heavy grass when it is in boot to early bloom stage.

Annual Legumes (Kobe or Korean). Cut annual lespedeza at about 1/4 bloom or earlier.

Tobacco-Anthraxosis

Anthraxosis, a fungus leafspot of tobacco is now present every year in a few beds throughout the state, but appears not to cause damage except in a few areas.

Symptoms: on the leaves of plants in te bed small, pale green, water-soaked depressed spots appear. These tiny spots enlarge to form circular steas up to 1/4 inch in diameter which, as they dry out, become papery and gray and are surrounded by a raised water-soaked border which later becomes brown. Many small veins are killed and as a result the leaves become wrinkled and distorted. Small plants, when severely affected, are stunted or killed. Plants of setting size may have dead, brown, depressed oblong or lens-shaped areas on the leaf midrib. Similar dead areas appear on stems and may be so numerous that the stems break when plants are pulled.

Because the fungus is usually washed onto the bed by water flowing over it from anthraxosis affected grasses and legumes in sods, infection can be almost entirely prevented if the bed is properly ditched to prevent overflow.

Chris Bishop, 6, left and his brother, Shannon, 11 caught these two nice Channel Cats out of a pond on the farm of Paul Marion Bishop last week. The boys are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. David Bishop. Shannon's fish weighed 7 1/2 lbs. and was 28 1/2 inches long. David's weighed in at 2 1/2 lbs. and was 20 inches long.

When a bed is well ditched chemical control is rarely, if ever, necessary, the following chemicals properly applied to the foliage will control anthraxosis: 1 oz. Polym in spray in 3 gal. water; 5 level tsp. spray Ferbam per gallon water, or 15% Ferbam dust per gallon water; 2 1/2 level tsp. Zineb per gallon, or 10% Zineb dust; 1 level tsp. Maneb spray per gallon or 2% dust per gallon. Sprays and dusts should be applied weekly; sprays with a pressure sprayer at 3 to 6 gallons per bed depending on the size of the plants and dusts with a rotary duster that will give good coverage of the plants. The cotton should be removed before these chemicals are applied.

What Is a Mother?

A mother is a wonderful creature constructed almost entirely of love and this she can express in a million ways, from hugs and kisses and good cooking, and patient listening, to stern lectures, strict rules, and repeated uses of the word "no".

Like snowflakes, no mothers are alike, but they have a number of things in common. Name anything...A mother can be found washing it, roasting it, spanking it, packing it, teaching it, redecorating it, loving it, or talking it over at P.T.A.

A mother cares about and for almost everything: gardens, pets, the state of the nation, the worst spot on the rug, hungry people and most of all "father" and her children. For these she can do anything and fight for anything necessary to their happiness.

A mother is not always an angel. She will often disagree with you, expect too much of you, question your choice of friends, and bring up the subject of work when you feel the least energetic. But she is always ready to help when you definition of a Mother, you have come to love and appreciate your Mom a little more. I don't know who wrote it, but it is a very good description of a mother. I copied it from a birthday card I received from my son Wayne and family in 1976. A good mother loves her husband and children dearly. But not every woman that bears children is a Mother.

To me, a mother means love, happiness and understanding. My mother isn't with us anymore but I have sweet memories of her. I'm so thankful my mom and dad were good Christian parents and tried their best to bring us up in the ways of the Lord.

So I wish all you mothers everywhere a happy and wonderful Mother's Day Sunday. If you still have children at home, I can't stress enough the importance of keeping them in Sunday School and church. Tell them often that you love and care for them. God bless you.

Local School Districts Preparing Funding Requests

With state funding for gifted and talented education programs available for the first time, local school districts are busy preparing requests for funding.

The 1978 legislature allocated $565,700 for gifted and talented programs during the first year of the biennium and $1,118,600 during the second year. All the available funds will be granted to local districts to provide for gifted and talented children.

These children are identified as those who, "because of their superior abilities and capability for advanced achievement, need educational opportunities different from those available through the regular program to realize their potential." This ability may include talents in academic areas or in visual and performing areas, such as dance, music, art, drama, and speech.

Public school districts wishing to apply for funding for the 1978-79 school year must do so by May 31. Applications from local school districts will be ranked by a screening committee made of university and local school district personnel. The State Board of Elementary and Secondary Education will select the districts to receive grants at its June 13-14 meetings.

In applying, districts must outline the gifted and talented program they intend to offer and submit a budget for the proposed program. The application will include a statement of the district's need for special programming for gifted and talented children, the means of identifying gifted and talented children, the programs currently available for gifted and talented children and a description of the program they play to offer.

"We hope that the districts' programs that are funded during the first year of the biennium will be able to serve as model programs for other districts during the next year," Joe Clark, coordinator of programs for the 22 Kentucky districts were trained in teaching gifted and talented children under a federal grant. Under the federal program, local school districts were committed to implementing a program for gifted children during the current school year.
