

JUNE is DAIRY MONTH CONGRATULATIONS to our DAIRY INDUSTRY

DAIRY MONTH IS A NATURAL TIME TO SAY THANK YOU.

The dairy farmers and their families who live and work around our community deserve a great deal of thanks. Their stability helps our community remain stable and healthy. Their insistence on offering only the highest quality milk and dairy products sets an example for us all, and improves the quality of our lives. We congratulate them now, during Dairy Month, and thank them for their contributions.

June is Dairy Month

This month is a good time for all of us to take a closer look at our Dairy Industry. One thing is certain, it has become big business and is getting bigger every day. And our dairy farmers have done an excellent job in increasing production to meet growing demands. They are using the most modern, up-to-date equipment in rigidly controlled modern plants. We salute them for a job well done!

COMPLETES TRAINING

Fvt. Randy C. Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James K. Thompson, Rt. 1, Brodhead, recently completed seven weeks of advanced individual training at Fort Benning, Ga.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. This qualified him as a light-arms infantryman and as an indirect fire crewman.

He was taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

Thompson entered the Army in January of this year.

Social Security Rep.

To Visit At Library

The Social security representative for Rockcastle Co. will be present at the Rockcastle Co. Senior Citizens Lunch Program on Tuesday, June 13, at the County Library. He will be present from 12:30 noon until 1:00 p.m. and will speak to Senior Citizens on the raise to be made soon on Social Security checks.

Anyone interested in asking questions or hearing this man speak, may attend the talk.

Livingston News

Holiday weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ponder were Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Ball of London; Mrs. Lydia Howard of Mt. Vernon and Mr. James Middleton and daughter Connie of Dry Ridge and Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Ponder of Orlando, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bullock of Lake City, Tennessee visited Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ponder Friday.

X-rays were discovered by German physicist Wilhelm Conrad Roentgen in 1895.

Audrey Morgan, Theresa Glovak To Represent County at Revue

Audrey Morgan and Theresa Glovak will represent Rockcastle County in the 1978 Kentucky 4-H Fashion Revue to be held in the UK Memorial Coliseum June 14, at 7:30 p.m.

Fashionable theme—"Clothes Encounters of the 4-H Kind"—is planned for this state event, in which 135 county winners will compete for state honors, modeling outfits they have made in their 4-H clothing projects during the year.

Theresa, age 15, who is the daughter of John Glovak, Brodhead, will be competing in the Special Occasion unit with her white eyelet summer dress. Audrey, age 16, will be wearing her satin sports pants and jacket in the Mix-Match unit competition. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Morgan of Rt. 1, Brodhead. These two were chosen May 9 as winners of the Rockcastle County Fashion Revue.

Other units represented in the state Fashion Revue will be intermediate dress, advanced dress, outer wear, knitting, and creative design (where 4-Her has designed the outfit or made special changes in a store-bought pattern).

Judging of 4-H Fashion Revue participants is quite different from the judging of 4-H clothing exhibits at fairs, according to Cheryl Witt, Rockcastle County Extension agent for Home Economics. The Fashion Revue gives more attention to the 4-Her and how she presents herself than to the garment she has made.

In Fashion Revue competition, the judges allocate 40 percent to the 4-Her herself, 40 percent to the outfit's overall appearance and suitability, and 20 percent to garment construction. Clothing exhibits, on the other hand, are judged mainly on how well the garment is made.

In the Revue, 35 semi-finalists will be chosen from all participants and, from this group, 10 finalists will be named. The finalists will have the opportunity to submit project records at a later date and be judged for the state 4-H Fashion Revue championship. The overall champion will represent Kentucky in the National 4-H Fashion Revue during National 4-H Congress in Chicago this winter.

The Fashion Revue is being held in conjunction with the annual Kentucky 4-H Week, which is expected to attract some 800 Kentucky 4-Hers. Fashion Revue participants will join 4-H Week delegates for some of their sessions, and all those attending 4-H Week will see the Fashion Revue Wednesday night.

The 4-H Week theme "4-H-You Light Up My Life" also has a contemporary flair, and the program will focus on personal development and 4-H teen leadership.

The Rockcastle County delegation, accompanied by Mrs. Witt, will leave for Lexington, Tuesday, June 13. That evening, Fashion Revue contestants will have an orientation session and will hear professional models discuss make-up and modeling techniques.

Wednesday is devoted to rehearsal for the Revue and judging of the participants and their ensembles. Fashion Revue is Wednesday night.

Wednesday and Thursday's program for Fashion Revue participants will be the 4-H week assemblies, workshops and a banquet and dance.

The Offer To Buy
You are selling your home. A prospect inspects it, likes it, and decides to make an offer. You can depend on human nature. He will try to have you accept an offer lower than your asking price? Now what? First of all, if you are going to even consider an offer, it must be in writing and signed. It must have a definite time limit, and it should be accompanied by a respectable amount of the buyer's money as an indication of his sincerity. The specific amount will depend on the value of your home, the mortgage market and the buyer's financial condition. Respect your Realtor's advice on this subject.

Miss Lucy Bullock stands beside some of the presents she received on her last day of teaching at Blue Springs School.

Miss Bullock Retires After 32 Years Teaching

Some people might think it's sad to leave a schoolhouse for elementary education, but teacher Lucy Bullock thinks it has many advantages. "The children have more opportunity to know one another," she said. "In our little school, we have 54 classmates and 54 teachers. We all learn from one another because we know each other so well."

Miss Bullock retired last week after 32 years of service in the Rockcastle County School system. She has taught for the past 12 years at Blue Springs School, the smallest in the county with only two rooms.

Miss Bullock is originally from Spiro, Kentucky, and became a teacher by attending college one semester, then teaching, then attending college and so on for several years. She has taught grades 1 to 8, but lately her field has been remedial arithmetic and reading.

When asked why she became a teacher, Miss Bullock said, "I wanted to help the children have a better opportunity than I had. I wanted to help them so that they could learn to have a better life."

Miss Bullock's students and fellow staff at Blue Springs honored her May 31 with a party, gifts and a pink heart-shaped cake.

He lived to tell about it. Eddie Ledford of Dabonoga, Georgia, was driving this rig at 4 a.m. May 31 when a front tire blew out. The truck pulled to the left and overturned, as Mr. Ledford was pinned in the cab for an hour and a half. State troopers freed him and he was unhurt. The truck was loaded with ice-packed chickens and owned by Ledford Trucking Company.

Lack of Public Defender Slows Rockcastle Court System

Rockcastle County is without a local public defender, that is, a lawyer who represents people unable to pay. This is creating delays in the court system while defendants wait as long as a month for a public defender from Frankfort to come here and represent them.

"They are sometimes detained in jail," Jack Farley, a lawyer with the office of Public Advocacy in Frankfort, said. "It is hurting the accused the most."

Until January, Nicholas Williams of Berea served a public defender here as indicated on their affidavits that they state costs, given to Rockcastle County every quarter is being deposited into a general fund, according to Arletta Norton, County Treasurer. The state sends the Fiscal Court $1250 every three months for this purpose.

Local attorneys claim that $5000 a year is not enough to entice them to take the job.

Traditionally, the firm of Clontz and Cox has been the local public defender. For about ten years, they did the job for free, but they accepted money from the state of Kentucky when it became available about eight years ago. Last year they quit.

"It was taking up too much time," Carl Clontz said. "The juvenile cases in particular were horrendous. There were so many hearings to attend. Also, if you genuinely feel that everyone is entitled to a fair trial, you will put the proper amount of time into this."

Right now one lawyer is trying to cover the "Bluegrass Area" which includes Fayette and 15 surrounding counties, including Rockcastle. Most of these have at least one local public defender, but some, like Rockcastle and Pulaski, are uncovered.

"I was supposed to handle cases that local defenders lost," James Woods, who is the lawyer for this "Bluegrass area," said. "But when an area is uncovered, I am asked to do all the cases not just appeals."

Walter McGuire, District Court Judge, said that while he does not think that Rockcastle needs a full-time defender, he does believe more help is necessary. He said he is hopeful that the Anaschian Regional Defense Fund will help remedy the situation.

Judge McGuire has been telling certain defendants who sign a poverty affidavit that they should go get a job and pay for a lawyer, if they appear absconded. "These defendants usually indicated on their affidavits that they have no dependents or debts or property. If they do return on the trial date without a lawyer, however, Judge McGuire cannot force them to go on for trial, unrepresented."

"The constitution says that everyone is entitled to a fair and speedy trial, and that the court must appoint a lawyer if the accused is unable to pay," Judge McGuire explained. "However, we do run into an ethical question because the Supreme Court has ruled that a judge cannot force an attorney to work for nothing."

A judge can force an attorney to work for the amount of money that the state provides, however, according to Mr. Farley of the Frankfort office.

Mr. Farley said that under the current law, a county can decide whether it wants to set up its own public defender system or let the state of Kentucky do it. The Fiscal Court government of Rockcastle County elected to handle it locally. Mr. Farley said, so the state sends the money here. The public advocates from Frankfort are not being paid by Rockcastle County.

"We feel that the money has been allotted and that the judges are empowered to appoint members of the bar to serve in this capacity," Mr. Farley said.

Some counties have their attorneys handle the work on a rotating basis. In other counties, a young attorney with no regular business often wants the job.

Mr. Clontz said that having a public defender from Frankfort handle Rockcastle's cases puts certain defendants at a disadvantage.

"The key to winning is in jury selection," Mr. Clontz said. A local person knows the habits of the people and can predict how they might decide a case, Mr. Clontz said. He said that while there are many competent, dedicated advocates who ask for continuances to properly prepare a case, some do not come prepared. He said that many public advocates are young and inexperienced in the nuances of the legal system. The whole system creates a disadvantage not recognized by our courts, he said.

A long-range solution to the problem would be to find a local attorney to handle Rockcastle Co., Mr. Farley said. "But for the short range we don't know what we are going to do. We have been working on it."

"We don't feel that the state has the total responsibility," Mr. Farley said. "We don't want to step in and tell a county what to do. But if the county does nothing, then by default, we have to do something."

Rockcastle Dairy Day Canceled

Rockcastle County will not participate in the state-wide celebration of Dairy Day, H. Lee Durham, Agricultural Extension Agent announced today.

He said that the local Dairy Committee, which sponsors the day of events usually held in June, voted not to hold it this year because (1) there has not been much participation in the past few years, and (2) there are no prospects for a Rockcastle Dairy Princess.

A princess candidate must be a recent high school graduate, unmarried,

School to Begin August 14 as Board Tries to Head Off Snow Problems

School will start August 14—the earliest ever—and tentatively finish May 7, 1979, unless days are missed because of bad weather. Following a calendar suggested by the State Board of Education, the Rockcastle County School Board approved those dates Monday night at their regular meeting.

Christmas vacation will be one week only, and spring break is scheduled. Other holidays are New Years, Thanksgiving and Labor Day.

Three in-service days—days when teachers go to school meetings and students stay home—were set for late in the year; again, because of weather.

If the weather is bad, the teachers can meet on Saturday and school can be held instead. These days will be Jan. 26, Feb. 23 and March 23.

The new school calendar anticipates bad weather, which last year closed schools here for 38 days.

"If there are not bad snow storms," Charles Parsons, county superintendent of schools, said, "we can schedule a spring vacation for late April or early May."

Used school buses, a trailer, and panel trucks will go on sale at auction June 23 at 10:30 a.m. at Roundstone School. The Board voted to allow Ford Realty to handle the auction.

J&G Garage Door Co. will install two doors for the garage on Richmond Street at $500 each.

The Board voted to advertise for bids for a roof on the Mt. Vernon Agr. shop building and for part of the high school building, which has been leaking badly this year.

Other bids will be sought for the high school yearbook and class rings, and a gutter for the Mt. Vernon Elementary School.

The Board approved an expenditure of $5,000 for continuation of a rehabilitation program for handicapped students: $1,100 for liability insurance on School Board members and $375 for J. Courtney Horton, CPA, to perform audit of financial records. Other bills were paid routinely.

Present at the meeting were M. Parsons, Mr. Burdette, Mr. Sawyer, Kenneth Adams, Isabelle Mason, Billy Burdine, and Willie Taylor.

Extension Office Asks Court For Funding for New Agent

County Extension Agent Cheryl Witt asked the Rockcastle Fiscal Court to consider hiring another extension agent to take over the 4-H program here.

Ms. Witt presented a report at the regular monthly meeting of the Court held Tuesday at the Rockcastle Co. Courthouse.

She said another agent was needed because the 4-H program had grown from 200 youth in 1971 to 1180 enrolled today. The clubs meet during school hours but the students have the right not to join.

Rockcastle has two agents paid by the state of Kentucky. They are Ms. Witt, who is in charge of Home Economics and 4-H, and H. Lee Durham, Agricultural agent.

Ms. Witt said the county would pay about $5,000 toward the new agent's expenses with the state paying about $6,000. There will be only ten new agents funded to start in July, 1979, and about 20 agents are eligible, Ms. Witt said.

The Court voted to consider the matter after studying the 1978-79 budget further.

"If other business, the Court approved the hiring of Buell Marler as a grades operator at $4.00 per hour, and agreed to buy tires for county vehicles from Goodyear in Richmond.

D.E. Cross, Route 3, Crab Orchard, told the Court that Copper Creek Road from Dix River to the Garrard County line was "a terrible shape and there is nothing left to patch." He also said the Court should improve garbage collection in the county. These matters were discussed briefly.

Present at the meeting were Judge Hubert H. Hecker, Frank DeBorja, J.R. Croner, Sherman Sargent, Amos Burdette, and Joe Clark. Next meeting will be July 5 because of the holiday.

Memorial Week-End Traffic Accidents

Seven traffic accidents occurred in the area over the Memorial Day weekend, according to records at the Kentucky State Police in London, Ky.

William and Esther Stringer of Dayton, Ohio were injured May 27 on Hwy. 461 four miles south of Mt. Vernon at 4:30 p.m. They were taken to a hospital in Somerset, for treatment.

Roger Irvin and Melvin Irvin of Crab Orchard and Ralph Davis of Brodhead were all injured in a two-car accident, May 29 on U.S. 150 five miles west of Mt. Vernon at 3:10 p.m.

Robert Roush of Columbus, Ohio, was hit by a bit-and-run driver six miles south of Mt. Vernon on Ky. 461, May 29 at 10:15 a.m.

No injuries were reported in an accident between Mark Fletcher, Springfield, Ohio and Tommy Clark of Berea, at 6:20 a.m. on I-75 two miles north of Mt. Vernon.

Tonya Daugherty of Livingston and Dean Carpenter of Livingston had an accident one mile north of Livingston on Ky. 1955 at 7:55 a.m. June 1, but no one was injured.

Fred Griffith of Livingston and Ernest Thomas of Mt. Vernon had an accident June 2 on US 25 at 2:45 p.m. No injuries were reported.

Truck driver Eddie Ledford escaped injury when his rig overturned on I-75 at 4 a.m. May 31.

Burger Queen Coming Soon

A Burger Queen restaurant is being built on Hwy. 25 near the I-75 Mt. Vernon exit, and it should be open for business by the end of August, according to its owner.

Wayne Reid, who holds the franchise for the restaurant, announced today that contractor John Stephenson of Berea is in charge of the building, which will be 37 x 73. It will handle 90 people for breakfast, lunch and dinner.

"We will be serving chicken, fish and breakfast foods as well as hamburgers and cheeseburgers," Mr. Reid said. He said that Mt. Vernon was considered a "prime" location because it is "just off the interstate highway, has a good labor force, and there is nothing like a Burger Queen in town right now."

Mr. Reid said that a local man will manage the restaurant and its 30 employees, who will also be local people.

There will be a drive-in window service as well as a dining room.

The restaurant is being financed through The Bank of Mt. Vernon.

Police Investigating Three Break-Ins

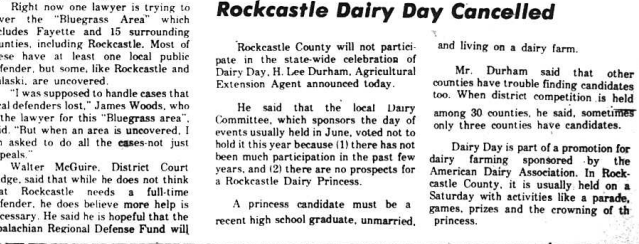

No arrests have been made yet in connection with three robberies that occurred last week in this area.

Two of the break-ins took place Thursday, June 1, between 8:00 and 9:30 a.m. The first was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jones on Ky. Hwy. 461 about one mile from Mt. Vernon. Thieves used a screwdriver to pry open a door, and stole guns and jewelry among other things.

Mr. Jones said that he was unsure how much was missing, but it was at least $1,000 worth, some of which were irreplaceable things.

Later that morning, the home of Vernon Cummins in Crab Orchard was burglarized.

Thieves also broke into the home of Mr. and Mrs. William McClure, in the Blue Springs area, June 5, but no official reports have been made at this time.

First grade teacher Kena Jordan says good-bye to her students on the last day of school at Mt. Vernon Elementary.

It's not much yet, but soon this spot will hold a Burger Queen. Wayne Reid, franchise owner, holds the shovel at the ground-breaking with contractor John Stephenson (wearing hat). With them (from left) are Bill James and E.H. Hamon of The Bank of Mt. Vernon, which is handling the project's financing.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I would appreciate it very much if you would print the following letter in your newspaper. Thank you.

To Whom It May Concern:

On Thursday morning, May 25th, I arose at 5:15 from a very comfortable bed in order to make a 300 mile trip from Ohio to Berea and later to Mt. Vernon to help celebrate in a very small way, the graduation of the 1978 Class of Rockcastle County High School. As I settled into my seat and the ceremonies began, I noticed the beautiful gymnasium and the large mass of people which were there. This was an event which comes but once in a person's lifetime. Glancing over the program, I noticed that there was to be some singing from a group of young people who were willing to give of their time and talents to share in the special day for proud parents, friends, and graduating students. I anticipated the hearing of challenging words from a man who had probably spent hours in preparation for this day. This day belonged to many a speaker, singers, band members, parents, relatives, friends, and especially to the graduates who had worked four long years to fulfill their dream but a great injustice was done. A gigantic robbery took place last evening for all these participants were robbed of their small bit of glory by inconsiderate people who evidently could not have cared less for the singing and the words. My words were brought forth but I could not share in their message because I could not hear them. Yes, the P.A. system was not in proper working order but that did not create the problem. The problem was created by many who evidently thought they had entered the gym to witness an athletic event and acted as such.

To you, Mr. Ford, singers, band members, and those who were my company for the night, I thank you. Mr. Sawyer, for your repeated efforts to stop the "Theives".

There were 181 students graduating from high school but there were many, many more "students" who graduated from the school of no respect for God, for their fellowman, and for themselves. If this applies to you, congratulations! You destroyed a memorable evening with a most dangerous weapon-your tongue.

Respectfully yours,
J. Patrick Hale,
Danville, Ohio

Dear Editor:

On February, 28th 1978, in the wake of the State Supreme Court's ruling that cities and counties no longer can grant tax-free status to industries by levying taxes on the 1000 employees of a retail revenue bond, I held a press conference to announce my intention to introduce a bill which would modify taxation of households in Kentucky.

County Agent's Notes

County Extension Agent

Your Help Needed In UK Survey Of Fever-Causing Ticks

We are interested in determining the range and seasonal distribution of tick species in Kentucky. People finding ticks are being asked to bring them to the County Extension Office, second floor of the Rockcastle County Courthouse, or send them to: Tick Research, Entomology Department, University of Kentucky, Lexington, Kentucky 40506.

If at all possible, ticks should be kept alive. Place specimen (s) in a small plastic bottle or vial along with a slightly moist cotton ball so that they will not desiccate while going through the mail service. (If specimen is dead, place it in a vial of alcohol for shipment). Be sure to include the following information with the specimen(s): County where tick was collected (also nearest town if possible). Date collected. Name of Collector. Host such as human, dog, cat, etc., or site such as blanket, tent, tall grass, etc.

In the course of this study we will be trying to determine the percent of ticks carrying Rocky Mountain spotted fever and their distribution. However, this research is not necessarily designed to diagnose if a person is going to contract Rocky Mountain spotted fever. The procedures used are very time consuming and if the tick is found to be carrying the disease organism it is not a sure indication that the person would contract the disease. Persons who have been exposed to and/or bitten by ticks and suffer from a skin rash, headache, intense aches in the lower back and fever should contact a physician and indicate that they have been in a tick infested area.

Remember that most ticks do not carry Rocky Mountain spotted fever. Also, remember that the chance of getting Rocky Mountain spotted fever from an infested tick is very low if it is removed before or soon after it begins to feed. Therefore, people who are exposed to ticks while working, hiking or camping should examine themselves closely for ticks, and parents should be reminded to examine their children if they have been playing or hiking through tall grass or underbrush. Remember timely removal of ticks is a good preventative measure against Rocky Mountain spotted fever.

Face Fly and Horn Fly Control

This cold wet spring has been a blessing in disguise for cattle producers because it has kept face fly and horn fly numbers at a low level. However, these pests are out now and NOW is the time to begin fly control efforts.

Forced use dustbags are the most effective means of controlling both of these pests. Set up the large flat canvas covered dustbags to that cattle have to use them daily to get to water. This is not always practical (for instance, watering out of streams) but use this method where you can. Fence off water sources with wire or board fences. Electric fences work very well for this type of fly control.

Hang those dustbags low (about knee high to mid-thigh high) so the cattle have to pick them up with their heads when they walk under them. That is the way to get face fly control.

If you can't use forced use dustbags around water, then hang bags off the front of mineral feeders, or use face mops and backrubbers. When you use backrubbers be sure to hang strips of cloth at 4 to 6 inch intervals along the back rubber to increase the chances of getting insecticide on the animal's head.

Remember the best back rubber or dustbag set-up is worthless if there is no insecticide in the device. Check them often and add insecticide as needed. See ENT 21 and 22 (available at the Extension office) for proper insecticides.

MORE THAN ANOTHER PRETTY FACE

On the outside, the attractive cabinet is designed to do more than look nice. The leather grain steel is finished in an ivory black color to reduce the effects of fingerprints or possible scratching.

The compact design reduces the amount of floor space needed. The low rear flue connection allows easy adaptability to any installation.

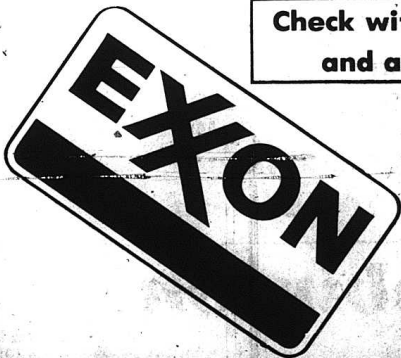

On the inside, the cabinet is lined with fiberglass to keep surface temperatures low. The built-in blower provides a smooth flow of warm air at the floor level. But, most important, the power oil burner (flame retention head) saves heating dollars by operating at a constant 75% efficiency.

No sooting, no lighting problems... just safe, clean, efficient operation. And the entire operation is fingertip controlled by a wall mounted thermostat.

Legislative Report

By Rep. H. C. "Mac" Marcus

There are some 43 parks, museums and shrines located in Kentucky which are owned, maintained and operated by the Commonwealth. The bureaucratic agency that administers the affairs of the Kentucky state parks is entitled the Parks Department.

In addition to providing recreational areas for the citizens of Kentucky, the Parks Department is one of the few bureaucratic agencies which generate income for the Commonwealth.

Most of Kentucky's state parks are centered around many of the Commonwealth's man-made lakes. They range in size from the 250 acres at Lake Cumberland to the 127-acre John James Audubon State Park.

There is an abundance of wildlife existing on the protected acres of our state parks. Lake Cumberland State Resort Park, the largest of Kentucky parks, spans an excess of 3,000 acres of wooded forest and finely sculptured landscape.

Many of Kentucky's shrines and museums are dedicated to and depict the lifestyles of persons who were born in or performed noble deeds while residing in Kentucky. President Abraham Lincoln, naturalist James Audubon, Gov. Isaac Shelby, Dr. Ephraim McDowell and composer Stephen Foster are examples.

The Parks Department is responsible for a chain of resort lodges and hotels located in state parks across the Commonwealth. They concern themselves with the orderly function of these parks, the improvement of picnic docks and golf courses.

Kentucky is said to have one of the finest systems of parks in the nation. With a proclaimed motto of "Let Us Entertain You."

Recently the Parks Department released a statement that in 1977 our state parks made very little profit. I find this difficult to believe, because of their noted high rates.

As a point of fact, there are some within the Commonwealth who feel that the rates at Kentucky parks are too expensive for the average citizen to afford. It is my opinion that first and foremost, our parks should be for the recreation and enjoyment of our own citizens. Especially since these parks were initially funded by our tax dollars.

When some of our most beautiful parks are located on the border of other states, it is clear to see that these parks were designed to serve the enjoyment of out-of-state residents; just look at the license plates on the cars in these parks. As evidence to this point, I submit Kentucky Dam Village, Lake Cumberland State Resort Park and General Butler State Park.

I do realize that any source which generates income for Kentucky is important. However, there should be a change to gear state resorts for Kentuckians as well as out-of-state tourists.

Recently, the Governor informed the public that he will authorize funds to be allocated for the construction of a new golf course at Kentucky Dam Village State Park. Incidentally, the Governor revealed that the course will be designed by famed golfer Jack Nicklaus.

It should be noted that there are 181 public and private golf courses in Kentucky. Also, there are 5 golf courses located in the immediate area of the site of the new course. This obviously expensive golf course will be located a little over 20 miles from Gov. Carroll's hometown of Paducah.

The Kentucky State Horse Park and Museum located in Lexington is scheduled to open in the fall of 1978. For several years the current administration has been pouring tax dollars into this project. The Governor has publicly announced his full support of this endeavor. In 1970 when this idea first surfaced, the park was considered to be a needless burden for Kentucky taxpayers. Apparently in 1978 our Governor thinks we can afford it.

This time the yard is really for sale, as the Wayne Renner Family of Richmond Street is planning on moving to Berea little money from those items a family no longer needs.

MODERN SCHOOLBOY'S PRAYER

This poem was clipped from a Masonic Journal of the late Willis C. Johnson.

Now I sit me down in school,
Where praying is against the rule.
For this great nation, under God,
Finds public mention of "I'm odd."
Any prayer a class recites,
Now violates the Bill of Rights,
Any time my head I bow,
Becomes a Federal matter now.
Teach us of stars or pole or equator,
Tell me mention of Denmark and Sweden,
But not one word on what Eve did in Eden.

The law is specific, the law is precise,
Praying out loud is no longer nice.
Praying aloud in a public hall,
Upsets believers smooching at all.
In silence alone can we meditate,
And if God should get the credit, great
This rule, however, has a gimmick in it,
If you've got to be finished in less than a minute,
So all I ask is a minute of quiet,
If I feel like praying, "God may be listening."

If not, O Lord, this plea I make,
Should I die, may I be buried in a grave,
Take

Livingston, Ky.

LOCATION: Turn off US 25 across the bridge in Livingston. After crossing the bridge turn left and go approximately one mile to the property. Auction signs are posted.

The farm consists of:

TRACT 1: The above pictured house and approximately one acre. The house has 5 rooms with 3 bedrooms, living room, kitchen and bath. The house is heated by a woodburner and has a large front porch. The kitchen has built-in cabinets and the water is provided by a well. This is a good cozy country home with a lot large enough for a garden. TRACT 2: Contains 61 acres more or less with some bottom land and a lot of land that could be adapted to pasture. There is some young timber on the property. This tract has an excellent building site along the road so you could build a home to suit your needs and yet have plenty of land left.

City Firemen Eddie Moore, Chief John Cox and Garry Hansel work to extinguish a fire in Bonnie Lav's car last Saturday about 2 p.m. at the junction of Richmond and High Streets.

The fire started when the engine shorted and gasoline leaked. It destroyed the wiring and back of the automobile. (Photo by Kenneth Pillion).

Kentucky county government now can reform. Judges and fiscal courts are just beginning to explore what can be done.

The change comes from a series of actions taken by the 1978 General Assembly. The legislature has said: "The county judge shall be the chief administrative officer of the county. He carries out the daily business and presides at fiscal court meetings."

Fiscal courts are legislative bodies. The magistrates will approve budgets, appointment, contracts and pass ordinances covering a whole range of functions, regulatory or service, because:

Counties have home rule. Fiscal court decides if the county wants or needs a park system, or garbage collection, better dog control, or a countywide fire safety code for homes. Counties will adopt an administrative code.

As part of its revamping of county government's powers and duties, the legislature also repealed many statutes "permitting" counties to act in a given area.

The "home rule" grasp of power allows a county to select and design the service or regulation it needs. The statutes no longer spell out for counties how to do it except in limited areas of overriding state interest such as finance.

The Home Rule Act simply lists the functions or areas for which county government has the power to provide services or regulations.

This does not mean that no guidelines will exist. "Permissive" statutes will be replaced by the county's own spelling out of detail.

The judge/executive must prepare and submit to the fiscal court a set of administrative procedures to clearly state "who does what" and "how it shall be done."

This code must cover the management of county funds, appointments, hiring and firing, bid-letting, other county purchasing control and the organization and supervision of county services.

What has been done traditionally may well be written up as the code. The law says: The fiscal court shall adopt a county administrative code which includes, but is not limited to, procedures and designation of responsibility for:

General administration of the office of county judge/executive, county administrative agencies and public authorities.

Administrative of county fiscal affairs, including budget formulation, receipt and disbursement of county funds and preparation of records required for the county audit and the filing of claims against the county.

Personnel administration, including description and classification of non-elected positions, selections, assignments, supervision and discipline for personnel.

Other county purchasing control and the organization and supervision of county services.

employee complaints and the county affirmative action program.

County purchasing and award of contracts.

Delivery of county services.

The requirement that a judge/executive prepare a code became effective January 1, 1978. The legislature shall adopt a code effective as Jan. 1, 1979.

The administrative code is essentially a "regulator" issued by the judge/executive with the approval of fiscal court. The court's close involvement in its preparation will give the magistrates a clear understanding of county administration and confidence in the assignment of responsibilities.

Senator Ray White Announces Candidacy

Former State Senator Ray B. White said today he will officially declare his intentions as a Republican gubernatorial candidate "before the end of June."

White, Minority Whip during part of his Senate service during 1970-74, said he wanted to "make known my plans now for two reasons."

A lot of my supporters are urging me to make it clear throughout the state as to whether or not I'm a candidate for the Governorship in 1979, and also we want to make it clear to Republicans across the state that we will be working hard for our U.S. Senate nominee this November.

Our gubernatorial campaign, should we decide to run, should not interfere with our Party's chances to capture the U.S. Senate seat this year.

Concentrating his efforts thus far primarily on strong Republican counties, White said he has visited more than 50 counties with several repeat trips to the most populous GOP areas in the 5th District and Jefferson County.

The gubernatorial primaries are next may for the 1979 contest.

White is a 42 year old attorney in Bowling Green and originally from Clay County.

He is a graduate of Western Kentucky University and of the University of Kentucky Law School.

He and his wife, the former Juanita Murray of Bowling Green, and their three children reside in Bowling Green.

POETRY CORNER

The following is a poem composed by the late Willis C. Johnson in 1975, as an eulogy to his deceased wife.

Our loss is great
It does create
Much grief as all can see.
But she has gone to Christ above
Forever there to be.

My children cry
No mother by
To take them on her knee
But why should I
Lament my case, since God thought it best

To take her soul from hence away to its eternal rest.

Come my dear friends
And mourn with me
In my afflicted state
I am bereaved
I am bereft
Of my dear loving mate.

Her heart was bound
With mine in love
Good works to maintain
But our loss here on earth
Is indeed Heaven's gain.

By the late
Willis C. Johnson

The memory of Uncle Willis will always be in the hearts and minds of his many friends you see,
And before his going to be with the Lord,
He sang the songs of Zion with sweet chord,
Along with many relatives especially Dorothy and Sue.
Here on earth he is greatly missed by all as he was going on 102.

Eric Scott Thomas, son of Patricia Thomas of Mt. Vernon, Ky. and Bonnie Thomas of Berea, celebrated his first birthday June 7th with several friends and relatives attending. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Pete Mullins of Berea, and maternal grandparents are Mrs. Iola McKinley of Mt. Vernon and the late John I. McKinley.

AMERICAN INGENUITY

PRESERVING FOOD LIFE

Now food can be stored uncovered up to five days in a new refrigerator without drying out.

Foods go into a special moist-cool compartment of this latest 20-cubic-foot three-door refrigerator. Frigidaire engineers designed it with a unique "Food-Life Preserve" refrigeration system, featuring an "unwrapped food" drawer where movement of cold air is held to a minimum. Uncovered foods will not dry out as in conventional refrigerated storage. The system also includes specialized storage facilities for fresh meats and vegetables.

A small "third" door on the freezer section reduces cold air loss because it can be opened for removal of ice cubes without exposing the entire vertical freezer area of about 20 percent.

A new solid state ice maker is optional, and the refrigerator has an "Electric-Saver" switch that controls cabinet energy.

Engineers have reduced energy consumption across the 1978 new line of refrigerators by a weighted average of about 20 percent.

Your Changing County Government

First part of a six part series on changes in county government. These are a result of 1978 General Assembly actions becoming effective June 17.

If you've gotten a speeding ticket lately, the first of many changes in the county courthouse has hit you. The county judge doesn't hold court anymore. The sign on his office door (and it may be in a new location) reads: County Judge Executive. So what's new? You may ask "What's in a name?"

Judge executive marks a historic shift in Kentucky county government. Judges and magistrates don't hold a court anymore, but they're still the folks to see about graveling a road, cleaning out a ditch, fixing the park shelterhouse or getting the trash picked up around the dumpster sites.

How they go about taking care of your problem may be no different; then again, it may be a lot different.

Counties have served well the Kentuckian's individualism his or her need for a sense of place and of local control over public affairs.

But more recently, counties across the country have been viewed as a weak link in the chain of government, unable to respond adequately to demands for services of a municipal character.

William McClure's Whittling is on Display At Smithsonian Institute in Washington

William McClure was born about a mile from where he now lives and where he has raised his 13 children. All his life he lived in Rockcastle County, and his education stopped at 4th grade in Gum Springs School. Yet his whittling has been seen all over the state of Kentucky, and some of his work is now on display at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C.

In the next few months Kentucky Educational Television will be filming a special about him. "I was strictly farming," Mr. McClure explained, "until about 11 years ago."

At that time some government poverty workers through the VISTA program were in the Mt. Vernon area. "One good thing these people tried to do was set up a Headstart School," McClure said. He allowed them to use a 150-year-old log house on his property for their school.

One day he noticed the teacher using a dogwood stick to point out charts to her class. Mr. McClure went into his house and whittled her a pointer with a handle trimmed with marbles. When the VISTA workers saw how nice the stick was, they asked him to make others for them to sell. In a few months, he was approached by the Kentucky Guild of Artists to make five pieces for their Standards Board.

As a member of the Guild, Mr. McClure held exhibits and demonstrations at fairs and craft shows, and sold items to stores in Kentucky, Missouri, and Illinois. He now has a contract with a shop in Berea.

Besides the pointer sticks, Mr. McClure makes furniture, salad bowls, and dough trays as well as small wooden knickknacks such as pocket knives and figurines. He is such a good craftsman he uses a chain saw on the salad bowls, and some people say "he could shave with that saw."

"I could be doing this work full-time," Mr. McClure said. "I turn down jobs. I just can't do it all myself, ever with Will Bussell."

Mr. McClure trained Mr. Bussell several years ago to follow his designs. "Mr. McClure also makes shingles for walls siding and roofs. Last year he sold over 32,000."

Most of his 13 children are grown and living away from home. He has encouraged them all to go to college. McClure said that before his trip to the Smithsonian and the three days he spent in Washington as a representative of the state of Kentucky, he was not sure if education was a good thing. But that experience changed his thinking and he is now in favor of it.

In fact, Mr. McClure is a college teacher himself. Twice a year he teaches wood crafts at Berea College, and every June a class of 20 from Union College in Barbourville spends a day at the farm learning his trade.

Mr. McClure has become somewhat of a local celebrity, and the journalists from the Louisville Courier-Journal, the Lexington Herald and other newspapers have mentioned something about his philosophy. He is not afraid of being laughed at, and he can laugh at himself.

but he can't be serious sometimes too about what he thinks is important. "I'm setting out some black walnut trees," he said. "People think I'm crazy because they won't ever do me no good."

They won't do my children no good. But they might do my grandchildren some good someday. So I don't care if they think I'm crazy. I'm setting them out anyhow."

William McClure shows his hand-crafting technique on a dough tray he is making. Modern folks call it a bread tray, he said.

Mr. McClure's son, Bobby, is a freshman at Berea College. Here Bobby shows a finished salad bowl, and a cane with a snake carved into it. The chair is uniquely fashioned from a black walnut tree trunk and is not for sale.

County Children Win Medals at Special Olympics in Morehead

Five from Rockcastle County won medals and ribbons at the state-wide Special Olympics June 2-4 at Morehead State University. Competing against more than 1300 athletes from all over Kentucky were Mary and Larry Singleton, Mike and Joe Cummins, and Gene Jones.

"We had a wonderful time, and we thought Rockcastle did fantastically," said Mary Singleton, a family service worker with the Cumberland Valley Comprehensive Care Center. Ms. Singleton, Kathleen Alcorn and Alma Kendrick accompanied the Rockcastle group to the Olympics for the three-day event.

Gene Jones won first place and a gold medal in the 50 yard dash and third place in the standing long jump. Mary Singleton won first place in 50 yard dash and second place in 220 yard dash. Mike Cummins took first place in the softball throw and third in the 40 yard dash. Joe Cummins won a first place in softball throw and fourth in 50 yard dash.

Larry Singleton was third place runner in 220 yard dash and first place in 50 yard dash.

Special Olympics was established by the Kennedy Foundation in 1968 to create opportunities for mentally retarded people to become involved in sports. It is the world's largest sports program for the mentally retarded with all 50 states and 13 foreign countries participating.

The weekend began with a parade Friday and opening ceremonies at Jayne Stadium followed by a carnival and fireworks. Saturday competition was held on track and field, gymnastics, volleyball, floor hockey, swimming and diving.

There were clinics where paralympians could get advice on sports like trampolining, volleyball, tennis, soccer, fencing and table tennis.

The Rockcastle group has been practicing for months for the Olympics. Eleven participated in regional events held in May at Corbin, of which the five named above were selected to go to Morehead.

SCHOOLS OF 11 Children at Mt. Vernon Elementary School seem happy on June 2, the day school closed.

Softball Season Ready to Get Underway

Nine men's and nine women's softball teams are ready to start playing ball this week, according to Bob Kundtz, director of the playground at Mt. Vernon School, sponsored by the Recreation Council. A scheduled of games follows this article.

The women's games will start at 6:30 p.m. sharp, and the men's follow at 8:00 p.m., Mr. Kundtz said.

We expect games to start on scheduled, and teams without enough players will forfeit the game, he said. A concession stand serving soft drinks and candy will be open during all games including Little League, which will be played during the day. Bro. Ernie Johnson is in charge of the Little League games.

A peewee league of children under 12 years will be forming next week, Mr. Kundtz said. Anyone interested in forming a volleyball or basketball league should contact Mr. Kundtz evenings at the playground.

Games will be played every night but Wednesdays and Sundays. Make up games will be played the last week of July. Between July 29 and August 5, a play-off tournament will be held between winning teams. The top team receives a trophy.

All games are open to spectators. The men's teams are Rockcastle, Jaynes, Mt. Vernon, Signal, Heat's Transmission, the Thunderbolts, Carter's Market, Jones' Restaurant, Hale's Builders, Mike's A-1, and David Owen. Women's teams are the Royals, Jim's Girls, the Hustler, Joan Parsons's Girls, Sem-Tough, Stars, Sluggers, Angels, and the Big Mamas.

Schedule: Thursday, June 8, Jim's Girls vs. the Royals. (Cont. to A1)

Room for County Youth at 4-H Camp

There's still room for more Rockcastle County youngsters to attend 4-H Camp, July 3-7. Special fun that includes making new friends, swimming and boating, sports and games and craft and nature study is in the offering for youngsters at 4-H Camp this summer.

Last year, seventy-five 4-Hers from this county attended a Monday-Friday camp at J.M. Felner Memorial 4-H Camp at London. This year, boys and girls will go to camp there July 3-7 with 4-Hers from Knox and Estill counties.

J.M. Felner Memorial 4-H Camp is one of five 4-H camps in the Commonwealth, all offering a wide variety of summer fun activities for kids in the 9-19 age range. Fun and learning, along with a chance to enjoy the outdoors, are the main ingredients to make this year's camp exciting.

The more active sports, such as basketball, volleyball, and swimming are favorites of most campers, but many also find time for table tennis, shuffleboard and even an occasional game of checkers. Archers and hunters can improve their arms on camp target ranges, and those who like to fish will be able to improve their casting skills. 4-H Camp this year: Young nature lovers can learn more about their environment and its resources, collect specimens and hike the many nature trails. And in craft classes, the 4-Hers will have a chance to be creative and make something useful or decorative.

Trained instructors will help with these and other activities, teaching beginners and helping the more skilled campers observe safety rules. In addition, special training in such subjects as nutrition and first aid are often part of the 4-H camp program, and electricity classes, with instructors provided by Kentucky Utilities Co., are part of each week's camping experience.

Extension agents, adult and teen leaders also provide supervision for the young campers. And, coordinating the total camping program at J.M. Felner Memorial Camp this summer will be camp manager, Jessie Moberly, teacher at Jackson County High School. The Kentucky Association of Electric Cooperatives (KAEC) provides salaries for managers of all the Kentucky 4-H Camps.

For many 4-H campers, staying in cabins with other young people and adults is their first experience in group living, and they learn a lot about getting along with others. Getting to know other people, sharing fun and learning, both, are the valuable lessons in interpersonal relations for the campers, and informal training in citizenship and leadership is an added benefit of 4-H camping.

Sharing three meals a day with two hundred other people is another first-time experience for many of the young campers, and the appetite-arousing activities and nutritious food make meal time at camp even more regarding this year. Kentucky 4-H camps will be participating in the federally funded Summer Food Services Program for Children, which operates under guidelines similar to those of public school food service program. Taking part in this program will enable the camp staff to hold costs down so that most families can afford to send their child to camp.

Like all 4-H programs of the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service, the 4-H camping program is open to any youngster between the ages of 9 and 19, regardless of race, color, sex or national origin. For more information on Rockcastle County's participation in 4-H camping this summer, contact Cheryl Witt, at the County Extension Office, Box 297, Mt. Vernon, or phone 526-383. Deadline for registration is June 15.

Plenty of 15¢ Stamps Available Says P.O.

The Mt. Vernon Post Office has plenty of the new 15 cent stamps, according to Postmaster, James Smith. If the stamps do run out, he said that 18 cent stamps will be used with 2 cent stamps. Post offices all over Kentucky have run out of the new stamps. When asked how the public has responded to the increased price of first class postage, Mr. Smith smiled and said, "Most people are nice about it. And they don't blame us personally."

Kentucky Afield

By John Wilson

If you've been putting off cleaning up those fence rows and mowing weeds, good—put it off a while longer, says Lee Nelson, chief wildlife research biologist with the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Most ground nesting birds, including upland game birds such as quail, will be actively nesting until about the middle of July. Mowing operations before this time are among the prime destroyers of nests, according to Nelson. Of course, hay must be cut when it's ready and when the weather is right, but leaving an eight-foot strip around the edge of the field uncult will provide wildlife cover and allow most nests to survive, Nelson says. Wildlife tends to concentrate around field borders. Idle fields must be mowed periodically to keep down brush, but if this mowing is done in strips on alternate years, much wildlife habitat will be preserved and the new growth in the mowed area will provide additional food for rabbits and other species. But again, remember to wait until after the middle of July to do your bush-hogging. Some farm "clean up" operations are "clear out" signals to wildlife, Nelson says. A clean fence row offers no food or shelter, but one allowed to grow up in brush and shrubs provides excellent habitat. Odd corners of the farm should also be allowed to grow naturally instead of being cleared just for the sake of appearance.

"Clean" farming, growing huge fields of a single crop, plowing to the fence and other current agricultural practices, they may be necessary from the standpoint of economics, nevertheless destroy much wildlife habitat, Nelson says. Wildlife thrives in areas with varied landscapes and vegetative types, with an abundance of "edges" between croplands, meadows, pastures and woodlands.

The loss of these edges, Nelson says, makes it increasingly important for landowners to be aware of the techniques of wildlife enhancement—and there are many things a landowner can do to help wildlife. The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources will offer technical advice and assistance to anyone wanting a wildlife plan for their property. Interested landowners should get in touch with their local conservation officer for details, or write to Dept. of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Division of Public Relations, Frankfort, Ky. 40601 for the free pamphlet, "Fish, Wildlife and the Farm."

changes their flavor, texture and color.
Q. Must all vegetables be blanched before freezing?

A. No. Green peppers and onions retain their quality without blanching. Unblanched, both of these vegetables can be just slightly thawed and used in fresh salads.

Q. Which blanching method is best, steaming or boiling?

A. The boiling-water method is easier and quicker. Steaming or heating in fat is recommended for mushrooms. Some people prefer to steam broccoli, pumpkin, sweet potatoes and winter squash.

Adrian Salt

Blanching
Q. What is blanching, and why is it necessary to blanch vegetables before freezing?

A. Blanching means to heat by boiling or steaming. It takes anywhere from 1 to 5 minutes, depending on the vegetable and on which blanching method you use.

Blanching stops further action of enzymes, a substance that causes vegetables to ripen. Without this pre-treatment, the frozen vegetables will continue to ripen slowly, which

Q. Do you have to add salt when canning vegetables?

A. No. Salt is for flavor only and has nothing to do with preserving the food. If someone in your family is on a low-salt diet, by all means leave it out when you're canning.

Sterilizing Jars

Q. Must you sterilize canning jars before using them?

A. Only when you make jelly by the open-kettle method and do not plan to process the jars. Otherwise, the jars are sterilized while the food is processing in a boiling-water-bath or pressure canner. Just before using them, wash canning jars in hot soapy water and rinse them in hot water.

Canning and Freezing Cherries

Q. Why are you supposed to wash cherries before you remove the pits?

A. If you pit cherries before washing them, grit, and dirt will get in the fruit. To wash, lift fruit from the water so that dirt and grit are left behind.

Q. Can you use the open-kettle method of canning cherries or other fruit?

A. No, this method is not recommended for any fruits because of the danger of mold and other types of spoilage. All fruits, cherries and berries need to be processed in the boiling water bath for the correct length of time after they are packed in jars and sealed. Follow an up-to-date canning guide.

Q. Is it safe to eat cherries without sugar?

A. Yes, but the fruit will hold its color better if you use some sugar. When you make pies from canned cherries, make allowance in your recipe for sugar already added.

Q. Last year when I froze cherries, I thought I would never get the pits out. Is there an easy way?

A. To help with large quantities you might want to buy a cherry pitter or stoner. For a homemade pitter, sterilize a wire hair pin or wire paper clip by boiling in water. Stitch loop end through the stem end of the cherry and lift out the pit.

Q. I froze cherries [I froze turned brown. What caused this?

A. When the pit is removed from the cherry and air hits the open area, the cherry turns brown from oxidation. To prevent this, pit only a few cherries at a time, then package at once. You may also want to add ascorbic acid to the sugar syrup to help hold the color and flavor.

Q. What causes fruit to float in the canning jar?

A. Fruit is lighter than the syrup. Pack fruit tightly in jar, but do not crush it. Use a light syrup; add 1 cup of sugar to 3 cups of water, stirring until all the sugar is dissolved, and bring it slowly to a boil. Keep syrup hot until ready for use. For each quart of fruit, you will need from 1 to 1 1/2 cups of syrup.
