MORE THAN ANOTHER PRETTY FACE

On the outside, the attractive cabinet is designed to do more than look nice. The leather grain steel is finished in an ivory black color to reduce the effects of fingerprints or possible scratching.

The compact design reduces the amount of floor space needed. The low rear flue connection allows easy adaptability to any installation.

On the inside, the cabinet is lined with fiberglass to keep surface temperatures low. The built-in blower provides a smooth flow of warm air at the floor level. But, most important, the power oil burner (flame retention head) saves heating dollars by operating at a constant 75% efficiency.

No sooting, no lighting problems — just safe, clean, efficient operation. And the entire operation is fingertip controlled by a wall mounted thermostat.

The BRENTWOOD — the new and better way to heat.

this is the former Monogram heater

Decorator designed 200 and 400 Series features handsome walnut vinyl cabinets, trim. Exclusive magic mixer burner is specially engineered to squeeze more heat for extra economical operation and much greater savings over ordinary heaters. The 400 models feature a reverse flow heat exchanger with special baffles to gently direct through the front and bottom grilles, out and across the floor. Warmth you can feel!

Pricing for Best Profit

Without any doubt, the most important element of selling a home is placing the right value on it. When you get right down to it, it's the price more than anything else which will dictate how fast (or slow) how profitably or unprofitably it will sell. What is the best selling price? National experience has proven conclusively that if your property is priced at inception within the above fair market value range, the chance of making a clean, top dollar sale during the early stages is TEN TIMES greater than otherwise.

Buyers buy by comparison. Properties not competing favorably do not sell. Overpricing at inception causes properties to become shop-worn, valueless time and buyers at best forever. Ultimately all properties sell for their true value by comparison unless (if exposed initially at an inflated price. How do you arrive at the "5% plus" key value? Drop into our office if you're thinking of selling your home and we'll show you.

If there's anything you can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at: Ford Realty & Auction Co. Inc. Mt. Vernon, Ph. 256-4545. We're here to help!

School will start August 14 and end May 4 for students this year, Charles Parsons, superintendent of the Rockcastle County School system announced today.

Five From Rockcastle To Graduate From Eku

Five Rockcastle Countians will receive degrees from Eastern Kentucky University at the summer commencement Aug. 9.

Larry Burgess Hammon of Livingston will receive a Masters of Arts degree from the Graduate School of Education.

Stephen Gary Bullen of Mt. Vernon and Sandra Gail Robbins of Broadhead will receive a Bachelor of Science degree from the College of Applied Arts and Technology.

Dwight Griffin of Mt. Vernon will receive a Bachelor's degree in Business Administration from the College of Business.

Lawrence Graves of Broadhead will receive a Bachelor of Science degree from the College of Education.

Graduation will be at 8 p.m. at the Van Dusen Pavilion on the Richmond campus. Dr. Eula Bincham, a 1951 Eastern graduate and the present U.S. Assistant Secretary of Labor for Occupational Safety and Health will be the main speaker.

Livingston Lions Club Helps Fire Volunteers

The Livingston Lions Club guaranteed a payment of $1,000 at its July 27 meeting, to the new Livingston Volunteer Fire Department for the purchase of turn out gear. The Club's next regularly scheduled meeting of August 10 will be held at 6:30 at Lake Linnville, for a cookout and boating.

The Livingston Lions Club is now serving its 38th year in the community and is the oldest Lions Club in Rockcastle County. The Club also received its recently ordered labels to be attached to all its civic projects.

Seniors Won't Get Free Rides to Doctor: Rockcastle Project Can't Afford Them

The Rockcastle County Senior Citizens project announced today that it will no longer be able to provide free transportation out of the county to senior citizens who need rides to the doctor or other necessary services.

Janet Bradley, director of the project, said there is not enough money to provide the service. She issued this statement:

"The Rockcastle County Senior Citizens would like to let the people know of the great need we have for transportation money. Due to the shortage, we will not longer be able to make trips out of the county unless at least $5,000 additional is secured.

"We greatly appreciate any help we might get from any church, social group or individuals. We feel that our project is much needed by the older people

Holiday. December 25 thru January 1-Christmas Vacation

Jan. 26, Feb. 23 and March 23 are in-service days.

April 12 and 13, K.E.A. May 4-Last day for students.

May 7-closing of schools, professional day.

A total of 175 days will be taught. There will be ten days of holidays, meetings and in-service days, for a total of 185 days.

here in our county and we very much regret the cutback we are having to make, but due to the shortage of funds, this must be done.

Ms. Bradley said she "did not know" how the seniors will get to their doctors.

In the month of July, project workers made 25 runs to the doctor in private cars. Twelve of these were out of the county.

Ms. Bradley said the current budget of $21,000 is inadequate to run the office and pay three salaries. Her annual salary is about $3,200 for full time work.

The project provides free lunches to seniors every day at the library with food provided through another government program. Almost every senior in the program must be driven to the library each day. Ms. Bradley said the biggest problem of the seniors was transportation.

Little World's Fair Starts Monday, Will Feature Livestock Competition

The "Little World's Fair" starts next Monday and will run five days at the Broadhead Fairgrounds, featuring competition, special events, and recreation.

The Broadhead Fair Company, Inc. has leased the grounds from the County Fiscal Court, which now owns the land and buildings.

Special events will be held in the day as well as evening hours. Highlights of the Fair include the Dairy and Beef Shows.

Dr. John Shirley, Eastern Kentucky School of Agriculture, will judge the Dairy show at 7 p.m. on Monday. Enter dairy livestock between 4 and 6 p.m. that day. Lee Durham, Agriculture Extension Agent, said.

Mr. Durham said the Beef Show will be judged at 1 p.m. Thursday by Dennis Contrill, the Whitley County Agricultural Extension Agent. Enter dairy livestock between 10 a.m. and noon Tuesday.

There are hundreds of classes of home economics, agronomy, 4-H and horticulture competitors to enter. These will be judged Tuesday at 2 p.m. and the exhibits will be shown for the rest of the week. Judges include Deborah Murray, Denise Waincott, Russell Sparks, Carol Benson, Elwood Combs and Hubert Allen, who are all extension agents working in Bell, Clay, Knott and Laurel Counties.

No one can enter more than one entry in any one class, except in livestock. Two classes may be combined when a class has fewer than three entries, Mr. Durham said.

Among the special events planned by the Fair Company are the Servant Gospel Singers, in concert at 8 p.m. on Monday. Male-pulling and horse-pulling contests are planned, as well as a dog show. Horse shows will be held every evening but Monday, and there will be carnival attractions.

Property Tax Rate Still 21.5 For Fourth Year In A Row

By Jane Kundtz

Tax rates in Rockcastle County will remain the same for the fourth consecutive year.

At their regular meeting Tuesday morning, the Fiscal Court set the rate at $21.55 per $1,000 of assessed value or 21 1/2 cents per $100, after hearing a report from Robert Cromer, Property Tax Assessor.

Mr. Cromer said that about $3 million worth of construction went on in the county last year, of which $2.5 million was in housing.

"Even at the rate of $21.55," Mr. Cromer said, "the county should be able to collect about $10,000 more than last year."

He said that if construction keeps going on in Rockcastle, the tax rate may go down.

County Tax Rates
General County Funds	13.8
Health Department	4.0
Library	1.5
Agriculture Dept.	2.0
Soil Conservation	2.5
Overall rate	21.55

State tax rates, also the same as last year, are: 31.5 on real estate; 15 cents on tangible property; 25 cents on intangible property; 85.5 on bank shares; and 45

County Gets $101,000 For Heavy Equipment

Rockcastle County will be receiving about $101,000 in the next few months through coal severance funds.

County Judge Executive Hubert Thacker and Galiff Craig, director of the Cumberland Valley Area Development District (CVADD) announced that $36,000 will go to the City of Mount Vernon for its firetruck, and some $65,000 will be allotted to the county for road equipment.

The equipment to be purchased includes snow plows, road grader, tractor and mower.

Judge Thacker was a member of the committee that decided how $762,000 of the coal fund would be appropriated among eight counties. He wrote the application for road equipment. Mayor Roland Mullins applied for the firetruck grant.

"We've been needing this road equipment for a long time," Judge Thacker said. "We want to keep the schools open this year if it snows."

The fund is administered partly through the CVADD and the Area Development Fund, which the applications. Money in this fund must be spent on capital projects-not for salaries, etc.

cents on tangible property. These rates are per $100.

Also, three cents per acre of privately-owned forest land will be collected and paid to the state Division of Forest Service for fire protection.

Central Dispatch

In other business, the Court voted to adopt an agreement with the City of Mt. Vernon to cooperate in setting up a Central Dispatch system.

This system will dispatch the County Sheriff's police and the Mt. Vernon Police on a 24-hour basis from one central location, probably in the City Hall. The City and the Court have applied for a grant through the Kentucky Crime Commission to finance 90% of the cost of the project.

In the agreement, the Court, the Sheriff's office, and the City agree to pay $380 a year each toward maintaining the system. If the grant is received, County Judge Executive Hubert Thacker said, "the federal government will be paying about $250 a year. The state will match the local contribution with $1,588 per year."

Most of the money will be spent on salaries of dispatchers. The system may be in effect as early as November if the grants are approved.

Other Business

Two representatives from the Kentucky Bureau of Highways in Somerset told the Court that the county had $113,444 in road funds that was not used last year. The Court voted to spend

Production Credit Holds Meeting And Barbeque at Fairgrounds

Three hundred and fifty-eight stockholders of the Production Credit Association came to its annual meeting Wednesday night at the Broadhead Fairgrounds to hear reports, eat barbeque pork and watermelon, and to talk with friends.

PCA's Tony Colson, a division officer of the Association, was in good financial shape and growing. Rockcastle countians made over 600 loans last year, amounting to $10 million.

But Mr. Colson warned that "if the economy does not become stable, the PCA interest rate of 8 1/2% would have to rise."

John Houston, a long-time PCA member, spoke about his experiences with OCA as a young farmer.

It was also announced at the meeting the D.C. Sherman was retiring as president of Rockcastle PCA, and that Gavriel Gossage would be the new president.

Danny McKinney and Randall Adams, members of the professional staff, made the barbeque pork. Mr. McKinney said that the 325 pounds of meat cooked for 15 hours in a 3 ft. by 4 ft. by 6 ft. pit that the two men dug on Mr. McKinney's property.

"We learned how to cook the pork," said a 14-year-old Laurel County Agricultural Extension Agent, Mr. McKinney said.

After the hole is dug, the men put a truckload of wood into it, and allowed it to burn until nothing was left but ash and coals. Then the meat is cooked until done, sliced and covered with barbeque sauce.

Local Students 'Try Out' College Life In Upward Bound Program at Berea

Ten Rockcastle County students have completed an eight week Upward Bound summer program at Berea College. They are: Gina Bradley, Kary Cooke, Lynn Halcomb, Tim McClure, Virginia Mink, Carol Mink, John Mitchell, Peggy Mitchell, Tim Shumant and JoAnn Smith.

Beginning June 12 and ending July 28, Berea's Upward Bound group was composed of 91 students from Madison, Rockcastle, Whitley, Laurel, Clinton, Wayne, McCracken and Pulaski counties.

The federally-funded program was designed to help students explore themselves and the world around them through academic and work responsibilities.

Under the direction of Dr. Bill Best the program encouraged activities in shop, crafts, athletics, and agricultural projects while offering classes in aesthetics, communications, human relations and technology. Various projects resulted from the students' academic endeavors, including the writing of an original musical play by the communications class.

Students in the Upward Bound Agrribusiness project were given the opportunity to exercise self-reliance and responsibility by investing their own money and labor in the growing and marketing of tomatoes, beans, and cucumber. The profits from this project were shared by those who did the work. Field trips by the group included trips to Cincinnati, Ohio to visit the zoo and watch a Cincinnati Reds baseball game, and to Kings Island Amusement Park; to Louisville, to tour the Patton and Speed museums; to Lincoln Memorial University in Tennessee to participate in the Upward Bound Sports Olympics.

Berea is one of approximately 300 colleges participating in the national Upward Bound Program, which serves some 25,000 teenagers annually. Specific programs are determined, with federal approval, by each project.

Legislative News

By Rep. Harold DeMarcus

The Legislative Research Commission (LRC) has organized the 1978-79 system of interim committees. During the interim the sixteen permanent standing committees become interim joint committees, meaning they are composed of both House and Senate members. Also, there are several and advisory committees established by legislative resolution of the LRC.

The sixteen standing committees which in essence do the bulk of work during the interim are as follows: Agriculture and Natural Resources; Appropriations and Revenue; Banking and Insurance; Business Organizations and Professions; Cities, Counties and Special Districts; Education; Elections and Constitutional Amendments; Health and Welfare; Highways and Traffic Safety; Judiciary; Courts; Program Review; Public Utilities and Transportation; Labor and Industry; Judiciary; Statutes and State Government.

Committees shall consider legislative proposals or conduct investigations on matters referred to them by the LRC. Within its jurisdiction, a committee may initiate a proposal for study or investigation and undertake the project after submitting it to the LRC for approval.

Initial meetings of each interim committee shall be called by the interim committee chairman after his appointment and in keeping with the overall schedule of interim activities developed by the LRC. The Chairman shall call the initial meeting when he feels there is sufficient pending business to justify a meeting and... if the report may be profiled by the committee chairman involved on the committee's behalf.

Since the General Assembly meets but once every two years, you can see why interim committees are of much importance. Many vital issues are investigated and studied during this time, for the purpose of developing competent legislation. A great many pieces of good legislation death with by the 1978 legislature were products of interim committee work. Through this system we hope to be able to provide laws which serve the best interest of all Kentuckians.

Special meetings of committees may be held on call of the chairman, or on written request of a majority of the members. With approval from the LRC director, Special meetings will generally be called at least two or three weeks in advance in order to provide ample time for meeting notification and preparation. Although, special meetings may be scheduled with less than two weeks notice upon approval of the director, who shall make every effort to publicize such emergency meetings.

The Chairman may recognize any person appearing at a meeting or public hearing of the committee who desires to be heard. Such person shall be required to state his name, address, and whom he represents before making his statement. The chairman shall have the power to limit all presentations, and to rule out matters not of direct concern to the duties of the committee. Each committee shall, so far as practicable, require all witnesses appearing before it to file in advance written statements of their proposed testimony, and to limit their oral presentation to brief summaries of their arguments.

Committees shall have no authority, unless prescribed by law, to administer oaths, issue subpoenas, compel the attendance of witnesses or the production of any papers, books, accounts, documents or testimony.

At the close of the interim each committee submits a final report to the LRC indicating its activity during the interim and its recommendations for legislation to be presented to the forthcoming General Assembly. Legislative proposals which are not included in the report may be profiled by the committee chairman involved on the committee's behalf. Since the General Assembly meets but once every two years, you can see why interim committees are of much importance. Many vital issues are investigated and studied during this time, for the purpose of developing competent legislation. Letter to the Editor

Congratulations to Elizabeth Mullins, Brodhead, Ky. When with love and humility, you showed me your honor plaque, I failed to congratulate you. 'Tis true, I've never been very eloquent, but it is not my reason.

My heart was filled with the inadequacy of the expression, the plaque conveyed.

You have dedicated fifty years of your life, with love to the welfare of Brodhead and its people. You have taught the children academics, you have trained them in the role of character building. You have taken personal interest in helping those in trouble or poverty. You have given of your own personal resources, to help the needy and the sick. You have risen above catastrophic illness of your own. Family tragedies you suffered quietly. You deserve a public commendation, for fifty years service of devotion and love to the citizenry of Brodhead. I salute you, all people's friend. My beloved friend, I remain truly

Kentucky Afield

By John Wilson

If you've been wondering why the stocking truck hasn't visited your favorite trout stream lately, the reason is, as usual, the weather.

According to Pete Pfeiffer, assistant fisheries director for Kentucky's fish and wildlife department, last spring's unusually cold temperatures slowed the growth of trout in the Celina National Hatchery in Tennessee, where our trout are raised.

"We try to stock at least nine-inch fish," Pfeiffer says, "but too many of the trout now available are still only around seven inches long too small to be of real interest to anglers."

Trout growth can usually be managed in a hatchery, Pfeiffer explains, to allow a summer-long supply of stocking sized fish. But when continued cool weather persists well into spring, the trout doesn't warm enough to stimulate the trout's metabolism. As a consequence, the fish don't eat as much and thus don't grow as fast as they should.

All trout stockings originally scheduled for July will now be made in August, Pfeiffer says, but he adds that the delay won't mean fewer trout. "We plan to stock 150 fish that we have been allocated, even if I need two deliveries in a single month or stockings later in the fall than were scheduled."

Even when the trout have grown enough to stock, some streams might not get stocked this August because water temperatures are too high. Trout are cold-water fish which cannot tolerate warm waters or rapid rises in temperature. The stocking trucks maintain a water temperature of 60 degrees, but some streams now have temperatures in the high 70s. This difference, Pfeiffer says, is great enough to kill the trout unless they are acclimated to the warmer water.

"Sometimes we can gradually raise the water temperature in the tank trucks on the way from the hatchery, but this must be done with care," Pfeiffer says. As water temperatures rise, so do the trout's metabolic rates and their need for more room and more oxygen. Unless stocking crews are careful, they can lose many trout while the fish are still in the truck.

So continued hot weather could mean that several streams won't be stocked during August. The final decision, Pfeiffer says, will be made on a stream-by-stream basis when the trout are ready.

Trout for Kentucky's stocking program are obtained free from the federal hatchery and the price of the trout stamp ($2.25) more than pays for transporting and handling costs.

RELAXATION

ODDITIES-BEHEFUTIF

By Joy Miller

A well-loved game is tennis and though it came to us from England in 1876, America now boasts well over 10 million active players and more than 150,000 courts.

The greatest crowd at a regular tennis match was 25,578 at the first day of the Davis Cup Challenge Round between Australia and the United States at Sydney, Australia, in 1934. The favorite drink among tennis players this year is the Wimbledon White, made with Seagram's Gin and Schwapp's Bitter Lemon with a slice of orange.

A device of a tip for your backhand is to hold your wrist stiff during the swing. The racket should be almost level when the ball is hit. In the follow-through, the racket is well out from the body and brought beyond the right shoulder.

Taylor, Terry stayed for a week's visit. Mrs. Jalia Reynolds and Mrs. Sella Taylor visited Mr. and Mrs. Austin Taylor Sat. evening.

On Dean's List

Five from Mt. Vernon were named to the Dean's List at Cumberland College, Dr. E.C. Masden, academic dean of the Kentucky Baptist College, announced this week. They are: Catina Cain, Kimberly

Cornelius, Beth Lythe, Connie McGhee and Dale Whitaker.

Cumberland College is located at Williamsburg, Ky.

Students who are registered for 12 or more semester hours and attain a minimum scholastic standing of 3.250 quality points for the semester and have a cumulative average of 3.00 of all previous work listed therefore were not eligible for the Dean's List.

One hundred two additional students were eligible for the Dean's List as far as the grades for the Second Semester. Two convicted felid at least 3,250 for the semester), but did not have a cumulative average of 3.00 of all previous work listed therefore were not eligible for the Dean's List.

HOUSE AND COMMERCIAL LOTS

Sat., August 5, 1978, 1:30 p.m.

Highway 150, Mt. Vernon, Ky.

TRACT #1: Contains 47 of an acre more or less, with 89.5 ft. of road frontage on Hwy. 150. The lot also has city water and sewer available. This would be an ideal commercial or residential lot.

TRACT #2: Contains 54 of an acre more or less with a road frontage of 139.2 ft. along Hwy. 150. City water and sewer is also available to this lot. This lot is improved with the above pictured 5 room frame house. The house has 2 bedrooms, living room, kitchen, dining room, and bath. The house has city water, carpet and linoleum throughout, built-in cabinets, both front and back porch, and stokermatic heat. This tract has plenty of room for a garden and plenty of fruit trees. This tract also has a good small barn. Here is an excellent opportunity to purchase a good commercial or residential lot.

TRACT #3: Contains 39 of an acre more or less with 100 ft. of road frontage along Hwy. 150. This tract has city water and sewer available and is ideal for commercial or residential use.

Each tract will be offered separately reserving the right to combine in any manner to reflect the best returns for the owners. When combined, there is a total of 1.6 acres more or less with 229 ft. of road frontage on Hwy. 150.

AUCTIONEER'S NOTE: Here is a rare opportunity to buy some excellent commercial property in one of Mt. Vernon's fastest growing commercial areas. As a whole, the property would be ideal for a small shopping center, office buildings, or apartment complex. Each individual tract would be an excellent site for most any type business.

English Girl Learning Ways Of Kentucky In The Summer

By Helen Price Stacy

"I enjoyed it very much," said the attractive 17-year-old from Kent, England. "It was so different, being outdoors and all, trees in the background and those in the play climbing the trees and using them as part of the scenery in the play."

Debbie (Deborah) Briggs of Kent, England, about 11 miles outside London, attended the Jenny Wiley Summer Theatre production of "Sherando" with her hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Keeton, Jr. of West Liberty, and their daughters Lisa T, Lori A and Cara Clay, 14 months.

Debbie is spending her second summer with them as a way of gaining experience to become a professional nanny. Partly as a result of her stay last summer, Debbie has been accepted at Tunbridge Wells College in England to take a two year nanny course.

"I hope to return to Kentucky and the Keeton home after I finish the course." This is a change from her original plans. Last year, she had ambitions to get work as a nanny for children of some rock star.

"That was because I want to travel," explained blond, blue-eyed Debbie. "And that is what I get to do, lots of with the Keetons." She told of spending two weeks with them at Myrtle Beach and visiting Gatlinburg, Tenn.

"What I want most to do is see more of Kentucky and get to enjoy all the seasons."

Walter Cummins of Crab Orchard was in Mt. Vernon last week.

Debbie is from a "rancher" well-to-do family in Kent. Her father, Alan Briggs, is with Lloyds of London and frequently comes to the states on business with clients. This explains how Debbie got to Kentucky for her nanny experience. Mrs. Keeton's sister, Myra Tobin, an insurance broker in New York, travels to England and works with Debbie's father. When Miss Tobin learned Debbie wanted to come to America she suggested contacting her sister, the former Jennell Tobin, in West Liberty.

"When she arrived a few weeks ago she said, 'Oh, I feel at home.' She says she has not been the least homesick. 'Only for fish and chips. Yours are not quite the same.'"

"She especially enjoyed taking back to England with her the many ways to enjoy a banana. 'It's so wonderful so jelly, with bananas with chocolate. I tried it and it's lovely. And the many different flavors of ice cream in the shops.'"

The Keetons are active in community and school and West Liberty United Methodist Church. Debbie says she enjoys church here more than in England. "People are so friendly and there are so many young people. I got to help with Bible School."

Debbie will get to see a baseball game in Cincinnati before she leaves in mid-August. "We don't have baseball here. She will see other parts of Kentucky when she visits the Tobins in Hardin County and will see other outdoor games and musicals in state parks. "Now I know why I don't have these."

Canning Corn

Q. Why does corn sometimes turn brown when it is canned?
A. This happens because sugar in the corn caramelizes during processing in a pressure canner. This brown coloration can also be caused by a mineral, such as iron, in the water used in canning.

Q. Who do recipes for canning corn call for an unusually large amount of headspace, 1 1/2 inches?

A. Most vegetables shrink during processing, but starchy vegetables such as corn, peas and lima beans expand instead. This means they need both extra headspace and loose packing in order to have room to swell.

Q. Why should cream style corn be canned only in pint size jars?

A. Corn is an extremely low acid vegetable. Larger containers would require longer processing in order to heat to penetrate the center. The corn near the outside of a quart jar would be overcooked before the center was hot enough. Cream style corn, because of its thickness, takes longer for heat penetration than whole kernel corn.

Blanching Corn

Q. I've heard of corn being de-silked and then frozen successfully in its husk without blanching. Is this a recommended shortcut?

A. No. Blanching before freezing is the only way to stop enzymatic action. It is a necessary food preservation step for most vegetables to be frozen, except for sweet garden peppers.

Enzymes help vegetables grow and mature, and they continue to be active in the freezer. This causes loss of flavor and color. Heating in boiling water stops this ripening process.

Q. Should I cut corn from the cob before or after blanching?

A. Blanch and cool the ears of corn first. For whole kernels, cut about 1/4 the depth of the kernels without scraping the cob. If you are making cream-style corn, cut it from the cob at about the center of the kernels, then scrape the cobs with the back of the knife to force the milk out of the kernels.

Cooking Frozen Corn-On-Cob

Q. When you cook corn-on-the-cob, should you put the frozen ears right into boiling water?

A. No. Frozen corn-on-the-cob has a better flavor if you thaw it before cooking. This prevents the kernels from getting overcooked while the cob is still solid.

Allow the corn to thaw in the refrigerator for several hours before you cook it. Don't leave it to thaw at room temperatures.

Canning Blackeye Peas

Raw Pack: shell and wash blackeye peas. Pack to 1 1/2 inches of top of pint jars and 2 inches of top of quart jars; do not shake or press peas down. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt to pints; 1 teaspoon to quarts. Cover with boiling hot cooking liquid, leaving 1/2 inch space at top of jars. Wipe jar rims clean. Adjust jar lids. Process in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure. Ping jars 35 minutes; quart jars 40 minutes. As soon as you can, jars from canner, complete seals if.

Hot Pack: shell and wash blackeye peas, rinse with boiling water and bring to a rolling boil. Drain. Pack jars in kitchen area presently being used for an office. Two restrooms, city water and is heated by a fuel oil stove. The property also has gas pumps with three 1,000 gallon gas tanks almost new.

The following items will sell with the building and will not be sold separately: 1 large freezer, 1 Warren meat case, 1 Ohawk ice cream freezer, 2 upright merchandising coolers with sliding glass doors, 2 Simpson counter scales, 1 American meat slicer, 1 cash register, 1 large metal desk, 1 Victor adding machine, and a signature oil stove with a 200 gallon oil tank plus shelving, tables, counters, and etc. necessary to the retail trade business.

The excellent up to date inventory consists of brand name canned and boxed items normally found in most grocery stores.

Adjust jar lids. Process in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure. Ping jars, 35 minutes; quart jars, 40 minutes. As soon as you remove jars from canner, complete seals if necessary.

about $75,000 of it to blacktop an additional three miles of Copper Creek Road.

The Court also signed an agreement with the Bureau to repair Mullins Station Bridge, with the state providing timber and the county providing labor.

Clyde Linville asked the Court to provide a half-mile road to the recreation area at Lake Linville.

"We'll try to work something out," Judge Thacker said.

Ken Norton is asking that an abandoned county road on his property be discontinued, and the Court agreed to appoint a committee to inspect the road.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Sowder's GROCERY STORE BUILDING AND INVENTORY

SAT., AUGUST 12, 1978 at 10:30 a.m.

Richmond St.
Mt. Vernon, Ky.

LOCATED: on Richmond St. (Hwy. 25) in Mt. Vernon, Ky., just two miles from beautiful Lake Linville and Renfro Valley and just one mile from Exit 62 of Interstate 75.

Due to other business interest Mr. and Mrs. Sowder have authorized our firm to sell their most desirable store building and inventory for the high $.

The store building is a concrete block structure and is situated on approximately one acre lot. The building is 45x10 ft. including a 14x10 ft. service bay or storage area. The building also includes a kitchen area presently being used for an office. Two restrooms, city water and is heated by a fuel oil stove. The property also has gas pumps with three 1,000 gallon gas tanks almost new.

The following items will sell with the building and will not be sold separately: 1 large freezer, 1 Warren meat case, 1 Ohawk ice cream freezer, 2 upright merchandising coolers with sliding glass doors, 2 Simpson counter scales, 1 American meat slicer, 1 cash register, 1 large metal desk, 1 Victor adding machine, and a signature oil stove with a 200 gallon oil tank plus shelving, tables, counters, and etc. necessary to the retail trade business.

The excellent up to date inventory consists of brand name canned and boxed items normally found in most grocery stores.

Auctioneer's Note: This property is located in one of Mt. Vernon's most desirable and convenient sections and could easily be connected to any type business with plenty parking and ample room for expansion. If you have been looking for the opportunity to be your own boss and reap all the profit, then remember this date Saturday, August 12, 1978 at 10:30 a.m.

The real estate and equipment will be sold separate from the inventory and then combined, selling the way which reflects the highest returns for owners.

TERMS: Real Estate: 20% down day of sale and balance on or before 30 days upon delivery of deed. Inventory; cash or good check day of sale.

For additional information contact Mr. and Mrs. Sowder at the store or the selling agent.

School Personnel Will Meet August 10 For Lessons In New Kentucky Laws

Teachers and school personnel will be attending a meeting August 10 to discuss, among other things, some of the changes that a new law might bring to schools here.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Rockcastle County High School. Among the speakers will be Mrs. Randy Kimbrough, from the State Department of Education, who will talk about the Educational Improvement Act, passed during the 1978 General Assembly.

The new law requires all students to be tested in grades 3, 5, 7, and 10 in April and May. The areas tested will be reading, writing, spelling, language arts, mathematics and the development of learning skills.

There will be no test required for graduation from high school, however. Charles Parsons, superintendent of Rockcastle County Schools, said the students are now routinely given standardized tests at the end of each school year. Under the new system, Rockcastle may save some money since the state of Kentucky will be paying for the tests, he said.

If a student scores low on the new test, and the teacher agrees, the student may be placed in a special remedial program. The new law requires remedial programs for students with weaknesses under the new law, and the state Department of Education is required to provide technical assistance to schools in developing the remedial programs.

One expert, Dr. Donald Van Fleet, head of the education department's Office of Research, is predicting that 15 to 24 percent of the Kentucky school children tested would score below second standards on the new tests.

Boat Safety Books Free for Asking

Summer is in full swing and along with summer comes outdoor activity. With Kentuckians, as with many Americans, a great number of these activities include the use of recreational vehicles such as boats and motorhomes.

It is important to consider the safety of these vehicles when preparing for their use. Perhaps one of the best ways to determine the functioning condition of the vehicle is to gather information that is available through government agencies. The United States Coast Guard Office of Boating Safety suggests that you follow simple procedures such as:

Examining equipment and craft; obvious things such as hull damage may be easier to spot than electrical deficiencies or fuel system problems. Equipment must meet requirements of the Coast Guard, depending on boat size. Examining your own knowledge; do you know all the "how-to's" with respect to boating? If not, you may want to take a course given by the US Coast Guard or the Red Cross to ensure adequate knowledge of the subject.

The Federal government can also give you information concerning motorhomes and campers safety. The U.S. Dept. of Transportation has available a brochure on the subject and is available free of charge. The information includes maintenance safety and fuel conservation tips. It also will help you determine such things as proper load size and safety operations.

The only fun summer activities are safe ones, so take advantage of the free information from your governmental agencies and combine it with good common sense. If you have a consumer problem, write to the Attorney General's Office, Consumer Protection Division, 209 St. Clair, Frankfort, Ky. 40601 or call our toll-free hotline number 1-800-372-2960.

Take stock in America.

E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/2% the first year). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

McDowell, Hodgenville; Matthew Kennedy, Cynthia; Betty Rauch, Alexandria; Henry Hayes, Brodhead; Lanny Given, Bowling Green; Steve Allen, Farm Management Specialist, UK College of Agriculture (non-delegate).

Back row: John Pettingill, representing the Southern Cooperative Development Fund, Inc. and the Southern Rural Policy Congress (non-delegate); Roy McGehee, Cadiz; Seth M. Darnell, Symonia; and James A. Carrier, Waynesburg.

SMALL FARMS CONFERENCE

Henry Lee Hayes, of Rt. 3, Brodhead, has just returned from Montgomery, Alabama, where he was a delegate to the Southeast Regional Small Farms Conference. In addition to Kentucky and Alabama, other states represented were Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia and Puerto Rico. The conference in Montgomery is only one of five being held across the United States which is being co-sponsored by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) and the Community Services Administration (CSA). Incidentally, however, the Southeast Region encompasses approximately 49 percent of the small farmers in the Nation.

The purpose of these conferences is to provide truly small farm operators an opportunity to identify problems that are important to their farm operations and families and identify needed improvements of present programs.

The information and recommendations from the conferences will be used to determine what administrative changes need to be made in USDA and/or CSA and as the basis for new or revised legislation and an administration policy for small farmers.

The ones that didn't get away—Clyde Owens shows two turtles he caught recently. The big one weighs about 16 pounds.

Clyde Owens Is Subject of Feature Concerning Hobby

Clyde Owens of Mt. Vernon catches turtles with his bare hands. This fact caught the eye of Byron Crawford, who produces features for WIAS and WKYC television in Louisville and Lexington. Mr. Crawford and a cameraman came to Mt. Vernon in June, and the three of them went to a creek to catch turtles. "The cameraman was right behind us in the water," Mr. Owens said. "He filmed the whole thing." The whole film shows Mr. Owens wading the creek and putting his bare hands into ridges and holes in search of turtles. He feels in the mud until he finds the edges of a shell, then his sensitive hands follow the ridges until he finds the neck or tail. Mr. Owens grips the neck or tail and pulls very hard until he has caught the turtle. Some of the turtles are as big as 25 lbs. or so, and yet the older ones are not considered as good a catch as the smaller ones. "It's like a chicken," Mr. Owens explained. "The meat gets tough as the animal gets old."

Mr. Owens has been catching turtles for about 25 years, but has more time for the sport since he retired a year ago from the Lexington Blue Grass Army Depot where he worked for 31 years. Sometimes friends or his sons go along, but 18-year-old David refuses to hold the turtles since he was bitten once about ten years ago. David told Byron Crawford that himself. "They are very vicious, nasty creatures," Mr. Owens said, "and I respect their ways. But a turtle is a clean animal. The meat is cleaner than a lot of what people ordinarily eat."

A turtle's natural food is meat, but if he is desperate, he will eat roots and fruit. "I've seen Owens eat the neck of the turtles yields the only white meat, which some people say tastes like chicken, although Mr. Owens said, "there's not much resemblance. It doesn't taste like fish at all."

The meat can sell for up to $2.00 a pound and Mr. Owens has had offers to supply restaurants with the delicacy. He refuses, saying that he gives his catch to his friends only.

Mr. Owens also knows how to spot turtle's nests, which the female digs and puts her eggs into. By transplanting the nest in his backyard, Mr. Owens is able to raise them himself. He now has three nests going.

The turtles are not considered pests at all, and Mr. Owens usually does not keep them for more than a few days. He kills them with a blow on the head and dresses the meat himself.

Mr. Owens admits to the dangers involved. The turtles, which have no teeth, do have a hard lining around their mouths like a bird's beak that can give a nasty bite. They are quick and attack readily. They do not have voices, but they make a blowing sound like a mean cat. If frightened, they can emit an odor that is strong and fishy.

He said that since he knows the turtles' ways so well, and their reach, he is not often bitten. But he has been bitten by a muskrat. Snakes are not a problem, since the poisonous ones do not go near water.

Mr. Owens has not yet seen the television feature on his sport. The three-minute segment was aired in Louisville about two weeks ago, and should be in this area on the evening news sometime in the next few months.

In case of rain the picnic will be moved to the college dining hall.

Juvenile Worker Speaks on Delinquency

One Leporin is a social worker with the Department of Human Resources Bureau for Social Services. Her area of work is in Juvenile Services. Mr. Vernon. At a recent Community Forum meeting sponsored by the Cumberland River Valley Comprehensive Care Center, Mrs. Leporin spoke about juvenile delinquency in Rockcastle County.

The following is an excerpt of her speech: Rockcastle County ranks next to the lowest county in the delinquency rate in our 8 county district.

Some counties, e.g. Laurel, have as many juvenile referrals in one week as Rockcastle County has in one month.

The Kentucky juvenile program is recognized as one of the nation's top three programs in the country.

The Kentucky juvenile justice system has been studied by 7 states since January of 1976. The contributors factors or causes of juvenile delinquency are: family discord, economic deprivation, mental retardation, alcohol and drug abuse, neglect, abuse, lack of parental supervision and control, one-parent families (through death, divorce, born out of wedlock), peer pressure, unemployment and underemployment, sexual dysfunction and maladjustment.

preventive measures or alternative services offered are: protective services, foster care, emergency shelter, relative placement, family counseling/diagnostic services, rehabilitation services, day treatment programs, probation/treatment contracts, restitution, parental responsibility, increased vocational opportunities, increased recreational facilities, increased work opportunities, drug and alcohol abuse education through the schools, educational programs created to encourage delinquent and pre-delinquent young people to remain in school or in alternative learning situations, and community service work programs.

Two Accidents Reported During Past Week

Two accidents involving injuries occurred last week in Rockcastle County, according to State Police.

Donald Barnes of Mt. Vernon was injured July 29 while driving on U.S. 150 about two miles west of Mt. Vernon. He was taken to the Rockcastle County Hospital.

In another one-car accident, Margaret Shields and Phane Rayburn, both of Walton, Ky. were injured about 4 a.m. July 28 and treated at the Somerset Hospital. The accident occurred on Ky. 80-11 miles west of London.

Library is Recording Oral History As Part of our Valuable Heritage

When your grandmother tells you about the old school house and the time the stove fell on the principal's foot, you are hearing "oral history" - something that the state of Kentucky has declared valuable enough to preserve.

The Rockcastle County Library is now participating in the Oral History project by having several library aides tape record the memories of local people. The aides are Aneta Herrin and Kelley Moore, who are working in a summer program through the Comprehensive Education and Training Act (CETA).

According to Debbie Wilson, who supervises projects in several areas and works in Laurel County, the state's Oral History project started in 1976, as part of the Bicentennial celebration. The project proved so successful that it became permanent.

Aneta and Kelley, with help from Mrs. Alysne Davis, head librarian, and Ms. Wilson, have gathered names of about 20 people in the county who may know something of importance to local history.

So far about 12 tapes have been made, each about an hour long.

People who are recorded make an appointment for a session, usually held at the library. Aneta and Kelley have the person sign a release, saying that it is okay to use the information, and then ask questions about the person's topic.

"Some people talk about just one subject," Aneta said. "Wally Phillips gave the history of the stage coach house, and D.A. Robbins gave the history of the Brodhead Elementary School and the high school up until 1970."

"But others are more general. Clay Colson talked about places of interest, historical places or just nice places to walk around the county. John Lair gave a general history."

Aneta said that each person was extremely interesting to record, but some people gave her and Kelley an easier time because they were relaxed and prepared.

Others in the Rockcastle "oral history library" were Nellie Colson, who had worked in the 1940's to 1950's in the Public Health department. Among the episodes she recalled were sterilizing the hypodermics in her own pressure cooker, and walking to the schools to give injections.

John Laswell gave the history of feed mills and the Stewart Fertilizer Company. Harold Ballinger told about soil conservation through the years and different methods of farming. Others recorded were Christine Krueger, Clyde Lanville, Tom Owens, Gessie Hubbard, Midie Faulkner, and Maxine Kincaid.

Anyone who would like to be interviewed or who knows someone who would make a good subject should contact Mr. Davis at the library.

A copy of each tape will be permanently stored in the library, while the original will be kept in Frankfort, as part of Kentucky's history collection.

REVIVAL

Crossbow shooters came from Michigan and Ohio as well as Kentucky to participate in Kentucky's first state crossbow tournament.

Crossbow field Archery originated two years ago in Ohio and is rapidly expanding. In contrast other shooting sports appear to be on the decline.

Crossbow competition has been recommended by the Olympic council for the 1980 Olympics.

Garry Dickey and Jack Bowman are veterans of many crossbow tournaments. They both agree that the Kentucky Championships were the toughest competition they have encountered to date.

The championships are to be held August 19 and 20 at the Rockcastle Field Range. New champions are predicted. The tournaments will be exciting and are open to the public.
