"Elimination of the purchase requirement should make food stamps more readily available to Kentuckians on fixed incomes, such as elderly and disabled citizens," said Gal Huecker, commissioner of the Department's Bureau for Social Insurance.

She added that the revision should help eliminate fraud in the food stamp program, such as illegal resale of coupons.

In changes to be implemented next year, certification of food stamp applicants will be simplified, a lower income limit will be used to determine eligibility, and ceilings on household assets will be increased.

Huecker said the bureau now is striving to implement new regulations stemming from the legislation. She said the regulations were developed only within the past few months.

Huecker said an information campaign has been undertaken "to explain the change. The publicity effort includes brochures, posters and radio and television public service announcements."

Changes in Food Stamp

Law Effective January 1

Effective January 1, Kentuckians using food stamps no longer will be required to buy the coupons each month. Peter Conn, secretary of the Department for Human Resources which administers the Food Stamp program, says a 1977 federal law will make food stamps free to low-income families who qualify.

Up to now, food stamp recipients were required to buy a certain amount of food stamps to qualify for "bonus" stamps at no cost. It is the bonus stamps that provide extra purchasing power for those on food stamps, Conn explained.

As of Jan. 1, food stamp recipients will be issued only bonus stamps each month, without charge.

"The impact of this change of food stamp recipients will vary according to the family situation," Conn said. "Eliminating the purchase requirement will mean that more people with very low incomes may apply for food stamp coupons. But the director income limit may reduce benefits for some recipients with higher incomes, and disqualify other higher income families from receiving food stamps at all."

The new method is one of several significant revisions in the federal food stamp program resulting from the Food Stamp Act of 1977. Other changes will go into effect early next year, Conn said.

Will Only 144,000 Be Saved In Heaven?

Jehovah's Witnesses so teach, but the Bible does not. These people make a literal translation out of the most figurative book in the New Testament- Revelation. They cite Rev. 14:3, but ignore the context of that passage, as well as its figurative meaning.

If the Witnesses wish to conclude that the number who will be saved in heaven will be limited to 144,000, then why do they not take Rev. 7:4 where it plainly says the number was made up of Jews, and the very next verse of their text, Revelation 14:4 says that the number was composed of men who were virgins? Now, remember they are the ones who want to take this passage literally, so we must conclude that only Jewish men who were virgins will be in Heaven!

The teaching that only 144,000 will be saved in Heaven is a result of pitiful Biblical interpretation. Again, the very next verse says that this number was the Firstfruits; a clear indication that there would be others. Again, after John saw the 144,000 he said "After this I beheld, and lo, a great multitude, WHICH NO MAN COULD NUMBER, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues stood before the throne, and before the Lamb." (Rev. 7:9)

Do not be deceived by such false doctrine which could limit the number to be saved in heaven. The Bible says:

(1) All who obey God's commandments will have a right to enter the city (Rev. 22:14).
(2) Eternal salvation is promised to all who obey Christ (Heb. 5:9), and is reserved in heaven (1 Peter 1:4).
(3) If you blindly follow blind leaders, you will fall into the ditch with them (Matt. 15:14).

Home Ownership - A Cash Resource

Sometime in everyone's lifetime, for luxury or necessity, there may be a requirement for a large amount of cash. Today's homeowner is probably the best-prepared individual to cope with this "need for money" problem. His equity in his home is a ready source of cash.

Let's assume he bought his house about ten years ago for $20,000 and has now reduced his mortgage to $10,000. Since home values rise, his house is now worth $35,000 which gives him an equity of about $25,000. On a conventional mortgage basis, a bank may loan him 80% of value or $28,000. Thus, after paying off his existing $10,000 loan, he would come out with $18,000 cash, or nearly what he paid for his home 10 years ago. I'm not suggesting that everyone run out and refinance their homes. I do point out, however, that another excellent reason for owning a home is the increasing equity produced through rising prices.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at Ford Realty & Auction Co., Inc., Mt. Vernon, Ph. 256-4545. We're here to help!

Take Precautions Now To Stop Rat Invasions

Fall is the time of year when rats are setting up household for the winter months in homes and farm buildings—maybe yours, if you don't take necessary precautions now.

U.S. Department of Agriculture experts estimate that each rat on your farm costs $25 a year in food that he may devour and in damage he may do to your home and farm buildings. Rats also can gnaw through electrical cables, possibly reusing in fire, and they may carry human diseases such as salmonellosis, leptospirosis, amoebic dysentery, typhus, and the even more deadly bubonic plague and rabies.

To make it difficult for these pesky varmints to become permanent guests take a few precautions. First, clean up possible "rat feed stores" around the farm and home. Invading rats soon leave for more promising places if they find nothing to satisfy their ravenous appetites.

Since rats will eat almost anything that you would eat and some things you wouldn't think of eating, you must be thorough in your clean-up efforts. Clean up all garbage dumps, tighten up grain bins, and keep food containers closed or empty most of the time. Additionally, limit water supplies where the invaders may drink. Fix leaky faucets, tanks and other sources of water.

Once you have cleaned up food supplies, take steps to prevent rats from entering your homes or buildings. Close all openings over 1/2 inch in diameter on all buildings. Rats can get their teeth into any openings larger than 1/2 inch and enlarge to make an easy access.

Cement up openings around pipes, close holes around floor drains, and keep drains tightly closed when not in use. Also, cover door edges with heavy sheet metal or wire mesh to keep rats from gnawing through and making an entrance.

Slat structures, such as corn cribs, present a special rat-proofing problem.

To keep rats out of slatted buildings, put 1/2 inch wire netting around it to a height of 3 feet from the top of the foundation. Above that point, fasten an 8-inch band of sheet metal.

Protect doors with galvanized sheet metal at the edges.

If you already have a rat problem, start a campaign to ride the place of the expensive gobbler and gnawer. Several effective poisons are available but are of little value unless used correctly and coupled with a clean-up program.

Since rats have keen sense of taste and smell, they're not likely to go for something new to eat, such as rat bait, unless you make it the only thing they can dine on and make it similar in taste to their usual fare.

Use an extended interval rat bait, sold under such trade names as Warfarin, Pivalyn, or Prolin, because of their relative safety features. All three products can be used with relative safety without fear of poisoning farm animals and pets if labeled directions are followed. They can be purchased pre-mixed or straight-to be mixed in grain or other food. These poisons take a week to two weeks to kill the rats and must be available for the rats to eat during this period to be effective.

The active ingredient in these poisons is blood thinner. When the bait is eaten over an extended period, the rat's blood thins, causing it to hemorrhage and die.

Other poisons are available but generally are not recommended unless great care can be used to prevent other animals from eating the bait and pets from eating the dead rat's carcasses. When using rat bait or any other chemical, be sure to read and follow directions on the product carefully to prevent accidental poisoning of farm animals, pets and people.

Weevils

If you grow beans or peas this past season and are saving dried seeds for food or planting, you had better take precautions from letting weevils get them. The weevils lay their eggs on the pods in the garden, but the weevil grubs don't get to damaging size until the seeds are in storage. You can stem the weevil infestation from developing.

You can stem the weevil infestation from developing in the seeds by storing them at 0 degrees in a deep freezer for 4 days, or by heating them in a 140° oven for 30 minutes. The seeds should be placed in shallow pans not more than 1 inch deep so they will be heated all the way through. As an added precaution store the heat or cold treated seeds in canisters or jars with tight fitting lids.

MOUNT VERNON, KENTUCKY 40456

VOLUME 90 - NUMBER 13

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1978

Farmers' Home Administration Loans Hospital $1.75 Million

The Rockcastle county Hospital Board and the Farmers' Home Administration closed a $1.75 million agreement Tuesday morning at the hospital.

The FHA is loaning the hospital the money at 5% interest in order to build an addition that will double the size of the facility.

Tuesday's meeting was officially a bond sale with the FHA the only entity bidding on the loan. Chesley Nell, district director of FHA and Paul Jeffries, also with FHA, signed the elaborate legal papers with hospital board members and members of the county Fiscal Court, which owns the hospital.

Because the county cannot borrow money, FHA is loaning it to the Rockcastle Hospital Improvement Council board created for this purpose.

Bill Bailey, president of the hospital board, called the meeting "The end of three and a half years of hard work."

Construction on the addition has already started by Browning Construction firm.

The new facility will add 32 beds to the hospital. Out-patient areas, emergency, admitting, dietary, central sterile, medical records, X-ray, business offices and patient bed rooms will all be updated and enlarged. Some of these areas will more than double.

The business office will be located in the old dining and pharmacy area. The administration, head nurse and family room will be in the old kitchen area. Admitting and emergency will be in the new addition at the present emergency entrance.

The present lab will be turned into an X-ray room. These wing will contain a kitchen and staff dining room. Physical therapy service center and locker rooms will be in the basement, and reached by an elevator.

The construction should be complete by September, 1979.

Circuit Court Judge Wicker Receives $1,000 Anonymous Cash 'Thank You'

By Jane Kundtz

The Commonwealth Attorney's office is now investigating an envelope received by Judge Philip Wicker containing ten $100 bills and a note that said, "God bless you for your fairness. Love and Respect."

Judge Wicker received the handwritten note and the money in an envelope addressed to his home November 16. He sent everything to Harold Rogers, Commonwealth Attorney, November 17.

Mr. Rogers said that because the matter concerned the state judiciary, the Attorney General will assist in the investigation. He said he is turning the case over to the Pulaski Grand Jury, which convenes Dec. 19.

In his letter to Mr. Rogers, Judge Wicker said, "You may be assured that my reaction to such conduct on the part of anyone, however well-meaning, is one of utter disgust and complete indignation. I need not remind you that Rule 4.300 of the Rules of the Kentucky Supreme Court states that neither a judge nor a member of his family residing in his household should accept a gift, bequest, favor or loan from anyone. This Canon is nothing more than the codification of the basic moral value that every public official ought to possess by instinct."

Judge Wicker presides over the Rockcastle and Pulaski Circuit Court.

He said he had no idea who sent the money or the note, but that the number on the postage meter used to stamp the envelope may provide a clue.

"It is incomprehensible that anyone would insult my intelligence and insult the people of this judicial circuit by attempting such a nefarious transaction," Judge Wicker stated.

DeMarcus Cancels Tour of Russia

Harold DeMarcus, R-Stanford, was one of the three state legislators who cancelled a state financed tour of Russia last week.

DeMarcus returned a $1,100 check to the state treasury and was quoted by the Louisville Courier-Journal as saying, "The editorials made me feel badly that I was spending the taxpayers' money to go to Russia, although it was a real bargain $1,100."

"Of course, I guess it was wrong for me to go to Russia. I don't deny that," Rep. DeMarcus denied making those statements, and said Monday that the only reason he cancelled the trip was because of the special session.

He said he is under obligation to attend all sessions of the state legislature, as minority leader of the House.

Rep. DeMarcus said that Republicans met Saturday and wrote a letter to Gov. Julian Carroll, asking that the following be included in the special session:

There were, however, four minor accidents involving property damage.

Mr. Seigo and a passenger in his car, Sylvia Seigo, as well as Mario Greenlee, age 3, a passenger in Mr. Greenlee's car, were all taken to Rockcastle County Hospital for treatment of injuries.

Sheriff Deputy Resigns

Raymond "Jughead" Ballinger resigned last week from the County Sheriff's office. Sheriff Henry Abney had no comment on the matter, and Mr. Ballinger could not be reached for comment. Mr. Ballinger is now working at Ernest Mason's Custom Hauling.

Garment Factory Talks To Building Supplier

While there is still no official announcement that the garment factory which studied Mt. Vernon's labor market will definitely build a plant here, Bill James said he was optimistic about the situation and hoped to have definite news soon. Mr. James is chairman of the Rockcastle Multi-County Industrial Authority, which is in contact with the factory executives.

He said that the company is currently negotiating with a building supplier about specifications for a plant in the Rockcastle Multi-County Industrial Park. Mr. James said that there are three or four other plants interested in locating in the park also, and that the labor study done by the garment factory has been helpful with these other contacts.

The garment factory is based in Cincinnati, and is a uniform renting business. Some 2500 women responded to the factory's survey of available labor in the county.

Improvement Council Gives Award To Signal Reporter, Jane Kundtz

Jane Kundtz, a reporter and photographer for the Mt. Vernon Signal, won the Rockcastle County Improvement Council's monthly award.

In presenting the plaque at the Council's regular meeting Monday night, Gatiff Craig said, "We wanted to recognize the importance of good press coverage of community events, and the fine job that you have done personally."

Mrs. Kundtz is a journalism graduate of Northwestern University in Chicago. Before coming to the Mt. Vernon Signal in May, she had worked for the television program, "Sesame Street," for the Chicago educational television station, and the "Louisville Times."

Mr. Craig said that the award is presented each month to any organization or any individual that the Council feels should be recognized for their contribution to the county's improvement. Anyone who wants to nominate someone or some group for the award should write to the Awards Committee, Box 292, Mt. Vernon, Ky. 40475.

In other business, the Council heard the following reports:

Industrial Authority Bill James reported that negotiations are in process between the Authority and Mays Construction Company on a contract for the building of water and sewer lines to the industrial park. Mays bid $248,557 for the contract, which included labor and materials.

Western Rockcastle County Water District Mr. Craig said that the District is requesting government money for an extension project.

Rockcastle County Hospital Wayne Stewart said that the building is progressing rapidly, and that the sale of bonds will take place this week (see story elsewhere).

All-Kentucky City Presentation Julie Harris reported that the book prepared for the contest was hand-carried to Frankfort last Friday by committee member Ike Adams. The slide show part will be presented in February before the judges of the contest.

Mr. Craig announced that the next meeting of the Council will be January 29, 7:30 p.m. at the PCA Building. Meetings are open to everyone.

Walter Browning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Browning of Mt. Vernon, and a senior at Rockcastle County High School, was recently named to the All-State football team as a defensive end.

This is the first time a football player at RCHS has received this honor although there have been several to receive Honorable Mention.

Legislative Report

By Rep. Harold DeMarcus

Everyday important issues are raised and discussed within the framework of the interim committee system. In a lot of instances, these issues come to the General Assembly members by way of direct contact with the people of their district.

For example, the Commonwealth's increased traffic fines and the state's road maintenance system are getting close study by the legislature's Joint Committee on Highways and Traffic Safety.

The increased traffic fines also have been the subject of discussion by several other interim committees meeting in the Capitol. The fines were raised by $15 earlier this year. The additional revenue is supposed to go to the Kentucky Law Enforcement Foundation Program to pay for training programs for local police officers in the state.

However, figuring out exactly how much additional revenue has been raised by the increased fines has been nearly impossible. Methods of recording the receipt of the traffic fine money have contributed to this difficulty. The traffic fines are lumped together with other misdemeanor fines when they are reported by the counties to the Administrative Office of the Courts, thus making it difficult to arrive at any precise figure for the traffic fines.

Also, the increased fines were made even worse by increased court costs which have been in effect since the first of the year. Minimum court costs were raised from $19.50 to $27.50 with the implementation of Kentucky's new court system. The two increases have combined to cause a minimum traffic fine of $52.50.

In other action, a subcommittee studying highway maintenance and construction revealed that Kentucky's road maintenance system has remained basically unchanged for the past 30 years. And new programs have been stacked on top of each other as new sources of money have appeared.

The committee delved into several major problems with the maintenance operation. Among the problems are: delays in construction caused by the absence of an effective system for supplying equipment and material for the work that needs to be done; inadequate salaries paid to employees (especially heavy equipment operators); and the confusion caused by the lack of coordination between the state and county maintenance operations.

The key is making better use of the dollars now available. We have to have a system where responsibilities are more clearly defined between the state and individual counties. At the center of the problem is a duplication of effort caused by having two road maintenance crews in each county, one working on state owned roads and the other working on county roads.

As part of its study of the state's road maintenance system, the Highway and Traffic Safety Committee conducted a series of meetings in eastern Kentucky earlier in October. The committee visited London, Hazard, Prestonsburg, Morehead and Winchester studying road problems and talking with local officials about the road maintenance systems in the area. The committee is planning a similar series of meetings for November and December in other areas of Kentucky.

Perhaps there are some who feel that the roads they use everyday could be in better condition. Well you must consider what it costs to maintain a road.

Consider that for fiscal year 1978-79 over $1.7 billion was budgeted for the General Fund and $48 million budgeted for the Road Fund. As of October 9th, there was $695,857 in the Governor's contingency fund and $9 million in the Capital Construction Contingency Fund. Now there should be a lot more people who feel their roads could be in better condition.

Sleigh Bells Ring!

By Christine Ruth Girt
Roselle, N.J.

Sleigh bell ring, are you listening? The manufacturer of sleigh bells years ago was highly specialized trade. Great care went into the making of them.

The best sleigh bells were made of tin and copper and were cast in sand molds. These tin and copper bells had a far sweeter tone. Cheaper bells were made out of steel and brass. They had a more jangly sound.

Sleigh bells were made in many different patterns. The most common were the globe, band and rim. These were all either single or double throated. They had either one split, or two splits, crossing at right angles, this let out the sound.

The bells were made in a range of sizes, from a diameter of 3 1/2 inches to 3 3/4 inches. A strap of sleigh bells would cost from one to eighteen ($1-$18) dollars. The bells were sold in clusters of a dozen, loose by the pound, or as attached to the next strap, or martingale of the harness.

Chimes were open mouthed sleigh bells fastened to the shafts. They were made in a number of shapes—ball, hand bell, gong, band, bevel, beaded, dome, Swiss, and many others. Another smaller variety of the chime bell was horse's collar.

On May 16, 1866 a five cent coin first appeared in America. It was known as a "nickel."

Students in Guitar Class Learn Pickin' and Strummin' Aren't Easy,

By Jane Kundtz

Most of the students in Mrs. Margie Wilcop's second period guitar class are not there because it's an easy class. In fact, the word going around Rockcastle County High School is that guitar-playing is hard to learn.

There is a new vocabulary to master—nuts, frets, fingerboards. There is the challenge of reading music and learning harmony, chords and rhythms.

Then there's the problem of getting your fingers used to the guitar.

"You have to develop little callouses on the tips of your fingers," one student said. "And when you take a bath, the callouses peel off and it's gross." But the challenge and the callouses are worthwhile to members of this class—all of whom want to enroll in the school's first advanced class next year.

This class opened in September with two weeks of learning to read music. Special teaching aids helped such as the Piano Visualizer with a keyboard that lights up the lines and spaces as they are played.

Another aid is tape-recorded instruction, coordinated with the book used by the class. Also helpful is a tape-recorded band accompaniment for each practice song. When the guitars are accompanied by a "Muzak" type sound, the effect sounds professional and not your usual "Squeak-along-with-Mitch" practice session.

Mrs. Wilcop said that the class is given full credit, so that when work is required, there are also tests on performance.

Besides learning to perform, the students said they had learned how to recognize good and bad guitar playing. Some felt that electronic equipment used by some rock groups enabled them to make simple playing sound difficult. The students also said they could appreciate folk music and country guitar more. They had some disagreement over which kind of music is the most difficult to play.

It is Mrs. Wilcop's third year of teaching guitar, but this is the first time that enough students want to go to the advanced level.

"I'm really happy with this class," she said. "They are enthusiastic and they work at it."

But as they played "King of the Road," it didn't look like work. There was a lot of foot-tapping, soft singing and smiles. It looked like fun and sounded terrific.

SHORT ROWS

By Nevyle Shackelford

In a previous column we belabored the subject of digging and storing sweet potatoes. Now, as a follow up, we are going to tell why so much emphasis and space is being placed and given to this product of autumn gardens.

Years ago that famous old English gardener and surgeon, Dr. John Gerard, listed the sweet potato as being of "mighty and nourishing parts," a food that "does strengthen and comfort the body." And now some 377 years later, modern nutritionists are in general agreement with this old Englishman, saying this tuber is rich in Vitamin A as well as a good source of Vitamin C and a whole slew of trace minerals vital to the health. It is high in calories and some food experts think it has the potential for becoming an answer to food problems of the world.

Food Tips

Freezing is one of the simplest and least time-consuming ways to preserve foods at home. It usually keeps the natural color, fresh flavor, and nutritive values of most fruits and vegetables.

All foods, however, do not freeze well. Green onions, lettuce, and other salad greens, radishes, tomatoes (except as juice or cooked) do not freeze satisfactorily.

High quality in frozen food may be maintained only by correctly packaging the product. Packaging materials should be moisture-vapor proof to prevent evaporation. Rigid containers made of aluminum, glass, plastic and tin or heavily waxed cardboard are suitable for all packs, and especially liquid packs.

Care in sealing a product for freezing is just as important as using the right type of container. Most bags used for packaging can be heatsealed (which is ideal) or by using the twist band, or securing with string. The important thing is to keep out the air.

Always allow "head" space in packing items for the freezer. Food generally expands when it freezes so you must allow space.

Jelly is made from fruit juice; the product is clear and firm enough to hold its shape when turned out of the container. Jam is made from crushed or ground fruit, tends to hold its shape but usually is less firm than jelly.

Conserve and jama, made from a mixture of fruits, usually include raisins and nuts. A marmalade usually contains citrus fruit. Preserves are large pieces of fruit in a thick syrup, sometimes the whole fruit is slightly jellied.

There are four essential ingredients in making a jellied fruit product-fruit, pectin, acid and sugar.

Hamburger and other ground meat should be cooked thoroughly because it is handled often in preparation and germs get mixed into it. Raw ground meat should not be eaten.

Check the label when you buy a ham. Some hams need to be cooked; others are already fully cooked and can be eaten as they come from the store. If you are in doubt, cook it!

The best way to thaw frozen meat is in the refrigerator. However, if you must thaw meat outside the refrigerator, put it in a sealed plastic bag under cold running water. The idea is to get products warm enough to thaw but remain cool enough to slow down germ growth-particularly on the surface of the meat.

Whole liver should have a moist, smooth surface when purchased. Sliced liver may appear slightly porous. What good is aging of meat? It develops additional tenderness and characteristic flavor. It should be done using controlled conditions; however, that is why it is not practical to do at home.

Hot dogs and luncheon meat should not be stored in the refrigerator more than a week.

Do not stuff a poultry a day ahead do it just before roasting because stuffing inside a warm turkey is a breeding place for bacteria. Refrigerate leftover poultry and stuffing in separate dishes as soon as possible.

Roast steak and beef rib roast may cost the same per pound, but the round steak will provide 2 to 3 ounces more cooked lean meat per pound purchased. The color of fat varies with breed, age and feed of the animal. It is not an indication of quality.

Lewis Calls For Special Session

Former Kentucky legislator, Richard Lewis, has asked Gov. Julian Carroll to respond to his request for a special session of the General Assembly beginning January 1, 1979. Lewis, a candidate for Lt. Governor of Kentucky, asked Governor Carroll on October 26 to call a special session to reduce the Kentucky income tax. Lewis' recommendation for the special session came after the Commissioner of Revenue called attention to the fact that the state treasury will receive at the expense of the Kentucky taxpayers as the result of the recent reduction of the federal income tax. The Revenue Commissioner reported that the state could anticipate over 5 million dollars in additional revenue because the money Kentuckians save because of the Federal Income Tax cut will be taken in full by the state. Governor Carroll told the press he had no comment until the matter had been studied. In his letter to Gov. Carroll, Lewis asked the Governor to make a decision on the Special Session before January 1, 1978. The date when the withholding of the additional tax will begin.

American Glasgows

It's not generally known, even in the U.S., that there are 11 places called Glasgow in America. It's by no means certain, though, that they are all called after the original Glasgow in Scotland. One or two are said to be named in honor of a Scotch-Irish family, the Glasgows, who moved south from Pennsylvania and started new settlements on the way.

The probable reason for the popularity of the name goes back to the time when most American tobacco was shipped across the Atlantic by Glasgow merchants, who imported at least half of all the tobacco sold in Europe. But the Declaration of Independence put an end to the tobacco trade as far as Glasgow was concerned. Teacher's Scotch Information Centre points out.

Rockets Win Thanksgiving Tourney; Lose to Clay Co. and McCreary Co.

By: Rick Anderkin

For the third time, the Rockcastle Rockets won their Thanksgiving Tournament with a thrilling 63-52 win over the Lone Jack Mustangs. The Rockets had advanced to the finals by defeating Lynn Camp and Lone Jack defeated Madison Model in the preliminaries.

The Rockets opened their regular season Tuesday night a week ago at Manchester with an encounter with a fine Clay County ball club. The Rockets lost 76-57 and were never really in contention. Walter Browning, pivot man for the Rockets, who was also recently named to the All-State football squad, played an excellent ball game coming up with 16 points and 12 rebounds.

Over all, the Rockets shot poorly from the field and from the foul line but did have their bright spots as they came out running with the ball and challenging Clay County at the very beginning. High scorer for the Rockets was Steve Centers with 17, Eddie Thompson got 10, Jack Farthing and Mike Manis had 3 each and Frank Phillips, David Pensol and David Riddle each got 2.

In the annual Thanksgiving Tournament went followed the opening game, the Rockets brought back the trophy for only the third time in 6 years defeating a tenacious Lone Jack team after three overtimes by a score of 63-52.

The Rockets played a good ball game and had to stay with a very fine ball club from Bell County. With 9 seconds on the clock, the Rockets were behind when Steve Center hit a clutch jump shot to throw the game into its first overtime. Lone Jack then stalled the ball almost the entire first overtime, going for the last shot and missing. The Rockets didn't even get a shot and the score was still tied. The Rockets then got behind in the second overtime by four points but some clutch shooting by David Mullins and David Pensol brought the club back into the ball game and another tie at the end of the second overtime.

The Rockets jumped out to an early lead in the third overtime and David Mullins put the game on ice with a free throw in the closing seconds.

High point man for the Rockets in the game was Steve Centers with 18, Pensol got 12, Mullins 9, Browning 8, Thompson, Riddle and Farthing, 2 each.

In the preliminary game with Lynn Camp, Jack Farthing put out a stupendous effort and came up with 24 points. After only scoring 6 points in the first quarter, the Rockets came back to win 51 to 40.

McCreary County Wins

This Tuesday night, the Rockets dropped a heart-breaker to a good McCreary Co. ball club 60-58. Although the Rockets enjoyed a 7-point lead in the third quarter, they blew it to come out on the short end.

The Rockets played a tough ball game but the McCreary Co. Panthers looked better as their shooting percentage from the field and from the free-throw line was outstanding. They connected on almost all of their long, outside shots and hit the boards very well. The front line of the Rockets looked very good however and accounted for 39 of the Rockets points. Walter Browning led the way with 21, David Pensol and Steve Centers had 10 each, Eddie Thompson picked up 8, Jack Farthing got 5, Matt Poynter, 3 and Jeff Hammonds 1.

This Friday night, the Rockets will travel to Berea.

GIRLS DEFEAT MADISON HIGH

The Rockets Varsity and B Team Girls traveled to Madison Monday night and came away with wins in both games. In the Varsity game, the girls took a first quarter lead that they were never to relinquish and came out with a 42-32 win.

Kay Hammonds was high for the girls with 17; Diane Thacker got 11; Tammy Shepherd, 6; Sandy Sturgill, 4 and Kim Howard and Donna Faulkner, 2 each.

The B Team girls had an even easier time of it - defeating their opponents 31 to 5.

China Osborne was high with 7 points, Donna Faulkner got 6; Sandy Clark, Tracy Mulberry and Kim Deatherage got 4 each; Shella Pittman 3, Rhonda Blackburn got 2 and Becky Rowland 1.

And They're Off - Another basketball season was gotten underway last Tuesday night with the opening tip-off at Clay County. Walter Browning, who had 16 points on the night, goes high for the tip. (See other game pictures on P-A7)

Kentucky Afield

By John Wason

That plump, pear raised, pre-basted fowl which graced our Thanksgiving tables bears only a slight family resemblance to the wild turkey, one of the most cautious and cunning of all game species. And according to wildlife biologists with the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, there should be more wild turkeys in Kentucky's future.

Turkeys seem the least tolerant of all game birds to man activities, preferring extensive tracts of isolate, chiefly forested areas. A wildlife project now underway is seeking to identify suitable habitat in Kentucky and stock these areas with turkeys.

Some of the financing for this program will come from the sale of "turkey tags." Beginning with the 1979 spring season (specific seasons dates will be announced Dec. 11) all turkey hunters will be required to purchase a turkey permit, with the $5.50 fee (both for resident and non-resident hunters) going toward turkey research and management.

This is a similar technique to that used to restore white-tailed deer in Kentucky. From a population of less than 1,000 deer just 30 years ago, the commonwealth's deer herd numbers in excess of 120,000 today, with the financing for this deer restoring effort coming from the sale of licenses and permits to sportsmen.

Right now, turkey populations are small and scattered. But as stocking efforts increase turkey numbers, interest in turkey hunting will increase, causing an increase in the revenue from permits—which will in turn allow more turkey research and management.

One of the main stumbling blocks in restocking turkeys is finding enough wild birds. Numerous experiments have shown that pen-reared turkeys, like most other wildlife species raised in captivity, have almost no chance of surviving when released.

The same wariness which makes the wild turkey such as challenge to hunt also makes him extremely difficult to trap for transplanting, so the availability of wild birds is one of the persistent problems facing biologists.

Biologists are now trapping turkeys from Fort Knox and from Land Between the Lakes, but most are coming from Mississippi, where biologists, wanting to introduce some larger deer into their herds, will have fall turkey hunting in time for Thanksgiving, the near future should see more and more opportunity for Kentucky hunters to hunt these fine game birds successfully.

A big factor in how well these turkeys do is the attitudes of the people in the areas where they are released. Although it will probably be many years before we'll have fall turkey hunting in time for Thanksgiving, the near future should see more and more opportunity for Kentucky hunters to hunt these fine game birds successfully.

A new section to provide assistance to local governments in the area of financial management has been created within the Department for Local Government's Division for Local Affairs. Although services in this area have been provided by a one-person operation in the management assistance unit of the department, the demand for such technical guidance has increased sufficiently to add the additional unit with extra staff.

Three Generations Enjoy Quilt Making

[Reprinted from the June 30, 1978 issue of the Lexington Leader.]

By Sharon Thompson

"Like mother, like daughter," is an old cliché, but it's a term which applies to Mrs. Marie Noe, her daughter, Mrs. Carol Ann White and granddaughter, Tammy Marie White.

They are alike in many ways, but one of their similarities stands above the rest. The three share a talent for quilt-making.

Mrs. Noe taught herself how to quilt in 1926. Using a postage stamp as a pattern, she hand stitched the small pieces of multi-colored fabric together and quilted the "pieced-top" on her late mother's quilting frame.

That was just the beginning for Mrs. Noe. Since that time, she has completed more quilts than she can remember. Her latest is the "Neopolitan" quilt she made for grandson, Trenton White. A variation of the "Drunkard's Path" pattern, Mrs. Noe used the colors of Neopolitan ice cream, a favorite of Trenton, to make a "fascious" full-size quilt.

Mrs. Carol Ann White on Lexington daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilse Noe of this county, is shown at work at her favorite hobby—quilt making. Mrs. White is president of Blue Grass Quilters in Lexington.

Like many women who grew up in a rural community, Mrs. Noe made quilts from scraps of fabrics and old clothes. Most of her designs have been created from odds and ends or from factory remnants, she says.

While raising four children, Mrs. Noe made extra money by quilting for other people at $3 per quilt. She has upped her price since those early days, but that has not cut down on demand. "Last year I finished 30," says the 71-year-old grandmother.

Daughter Carol Ann inherited her mother's love of quilts and has become "addicted to quilting."

She has a closet stacked with books, patterns, and fabric. She pulls finished quilts from closet shelves and out from under beds. Some were gifts from her mother and an aunt.

"As a child, Carol Ann helped her mother quilt, but she didn't take a real interest until after her marriage to Charles White.

The couple moved to Lexington and being in a strange community, the young mother started quilting for "something to do."

"I've never been a person to sit still," she says. She picked up a few things her mother had started and with every stitch she took, the fascination grew.

Carol Ann attended a bazaar at Woodland Christian Church and met some of the members of the Woodland Quilters. They exchanged ideas and soon the young Mrs. White was taking customers from Quilters' long waiting list.

Two years ago, Carol Ann and 11 other quilters formed Blue Grass Quilters. She has been president ever since.

The group meets to exchange ideas; it's never a quilting session "Someone always brings something new... patterns, finished quilts or pieced tops. It's just an idea session," she says.

Any new quilt pattern gets Carol Ann excited. "I can't wait to start something new." When an idea hits she begins to work.

Her children, Tammy and Trenton, "always have to be taken somewhere," she laughs. So mom spends many hours waiting. During music lessons, school activities and at doctors' and dentists' offices, she quilts, using a lap loop.

Any of her friends who have some spare time soon get hooked by Carol Ann. She taught her neighbor, Marjorie Rose, how to quilt and the two young women now have their own quilting business.

Each has her own quilts to work on, but if someone wants a pieced-top quilted, Carol Ann and Marjorie share the work and profits.

Tammy, who attends Crawford Junior High, caught the quilting fever when she was 9 years old.

Her first quilt was baby-size with embroidered squares.

Tammy has some difficulties quilting because "she isn't quite into thimbles." She is more interested in macrame and crewel embroidery, which she does between swimming, singing practice and karate lessons."
