Finish Job or Lose Sale

The Johnsons had a problem. A leaky roof. Now that their home was about to be put up for sale, Johnson arranged to have it repaired. Good thinking. Johnson. Almost. Only after two men of the best prospects had come out of the other. The moral is obvious. The fewer apologies you have to make for your property, the easier it is to sell. If you have any obvious red flags waving remove them. If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at Ford Realty & Auction Co., Inc., Mt. Vernon, Ph. 256-4545. We're here to help!

JOB OPENINGS

If you can type 45 wpm or more, the door to data entry is now open to you.

Appalachian Computer Services, Inc. in cooperation with the Laurel County Vocational School, is presently organizing a keypunch training class. The class will start on January 2. It will be held Monday-Thursday from 5:00-8:00 p.m. This course will introduce trainees to the operation of Univac's CADE equipment. This equipment is the most modern up-to-date equipment in this area.

ACS usually hires over 80% of its trainees even though there is no job placement guarantee. ACS anticipates many job openings in January and February that must be filled.

To enroll in this class, just stop by ACS's corporate offices and put in your application between the hours of 9:00-4:00. We are located on HWY 229 in London, Ky. ACS is an Equal Opportunity Employer. For further information, you can call 864-4151. There will be openings throughout the class for new trainees as each person only trains for about three weeks.

THE TIME IS RIGHT - COME IN NOW. 15x3

Joe Clark Loses Appeal: Will Take It to High Court

The Kentucky Court of Appeals upheld a lower court's decision in favor of Ernest Mason in the election fraud case of Ernest Mason vs. Joe Clark, et al. Appeals Judge Phillip Wicker in District Court, that some of the votes cast were illegal.

Attorney Carl Clontz, representing Mr. Clark, said he is filing a petition for a rehearing and will appeal the case to the State Supreme Court, if necessary. "We are appealing because we think we have the correct legal position," Mr. Clontz said.

Mr. Mason has charged in his suit that he should be magistrate from the Fifth District in the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court. Mr. Clark currently holds the office.

In the original suit, Mr. Mason, represented by Charles Coy of Richmond, alleged that election officers actively solicited votes for Mr. Clark, he placed newspaper ads illegally and that voting machines were rigged in Mr. Clark's favor in the November 1977 election. At that time, Mr. Mason had the Republican nomination for magistrate and Mr. Clark was running as a write-in candidate.

Judge Wicker ruled that there was insufficient evidence to prove the above charges, but he ruled that at least 34 votes were illegally cast because election officials did not fill out proper affidavits when they assisted voters in writing Mr. Clark's name.

A handwriting expert testified during the trial that of 42 votes, only eight were in different handwritings, making 34 votes illegal. The 34 votes would have been enough to throw the election to Mr. Mason, who lost by only 22 votes.

The illegal votes were from the counties of East Livingston and Orlando. Mr. Clontz said that the votes never argued the fact that the voter was technically illegal because the affidavits were not filled out properly. He said the legal issue involved "tampering" every illegal voter in the election.

Judge Wicker ruled that there was not enough proof to name any one illegal voter.

The case was originally tried December 29, 1977. About 20 witnesses appeared, including voters, election officials, newspaper editors and the handwriting expert. Judge Wicker's opinion was handed down July 3.

Because the opinion was affirmed by the Court of Appeals, the next step would be to ask for a rehearing before that Court. If it is denied, the case could be appealed to the State Supreme Court. The process might take about two more months.

Burnam Baker Guilty

In Earl Smith Murder

A District Court Jury found Burnam Baker guilty in the murder of Earl Smith, and recommended that he be sentenced to 20 years in prison. The jury was out for three hours Friday morning, after the trial finished Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Earl Smith testified for the prosecution. The shooting death occurred the night of May 25, 1978, in Mr. Smith's home in Brodhead.

Mr. Baker is 64 years old, and a resident of Mt. Vernon. His sentencing is set for December 20.

The City of Livingston's new $433,000 sewer plant, which was completed in late summer was covered by flood waters from the Rockcastle River Saturday morning. The plant was covered by insurance but residents are being inconvenienced by the loss of their plant. The top of the sewer plant can barely be seen on the right side of the

Flood Damage Estimated at $360,000, Judge Thacker Asks Disaster Help

By Jane Kundtz

Rockcastle County may be declared a disaster area because of flood damage estimated at $360,000, Judge-Executive Hubert Thacker said he and others are contacting state and federal officials to find out if this area could become eligible for help under the federal disaster plans. Seventeen counties in Kentucky have already become eligible.

Judge Thacker is asking everyone whose property was damaged to call his office a 256-2310. These reports will be turned over to the Disaster Emergency Assistance branch of the Civil Defense system, who will then determine if the county is eligible for federal disaster programs.

These programs include help from the Small Business Administration, the Housing Department (HUD), among others.

People who call Judge Thacker will also be referred to Red Cross services, if necessary.

A "County Emergency Board" surveyed the damage Monday, and submitted a report to the state that lists damages, with $250,000 of it in Livingston and Lamer.

This report is printed following this article. It is a rough estimate, according to Mr. Ballinger, and not the final report submitted to Civil Defense.

Board Chairman Harold Ballinger, who is director of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said that between 30 and 50 families were affected, though no one was hurt and no buildings were completely washed away. The contents of many houses were damaged in the flooding, however, and several families were evacuated.

Families who need help should contact the Human Resources Department at 256-2481, according to Linda McClure, staff member. She said that certain people who meet the federal guidelines for low income will be eligible for food stamps and emergency assistance.

The heavy rains began Thursday and continued through Friday evening, when temperatures turned to freezing. Buddy Cox of Mt. Vernon, who keeps the official rain gauge, said that 7.43 inches of rain fell between 8 a.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. Saturday morning—more than twice the amount that fell the entire month of November in Lexington.

On Friday morning, it looked as if the Roundstone-Conway Wildlife Area would be the hardest hit. Areas there were covered with water and impassable and there was some flooding in houses and land. Renfro Valley looked like a swamp, though the buildings were not affected.

School superintendent Charles Parsons announced that all schools would close Friday. He and Willard Whitaker, director of school transportation had been driving around the county since 4 a.m. Thursday and concluded that at least 18 buses could not have made it through.

Brodhead, meanwhile, was without water when its main water line under a

City Council Hears Expert's Advice About Getting Government Grants

Mt. Vernon's problems with oil being dumped into the sewage system are apparently over. Matt Powell, Jr., water superintendent, said that whoever was dumping the barrels of oil has stopped, since the City Council announced last month it would take action to find the guilty person.

Mr. Powell said the oil was being dumped at least twice a month. The oil was putting the city's sewage system in violation of federal environmental standards, meaning that the city could be fined up to $10,000 per day.

Mr. Powell told the City Council at its regular meeting Monday that the major problem he has had lately is downspouts connected to the sewage system. The Council asked attorney Carl Clontz to draw up an ordinance concerning this matter.

The Council heard from an expert on getting government grants, Hal Linder of Hal Linder and Associates in Berea. Mr. Linder is helping the city secure a Community Development Block Grant, through the federal Small Cities program.

Brodhead Owes $2,000 to EDA

Terril Chandler, D.A. Robbins and David Cash were sworn in as councilmen at the regular meeting of the Brodhead City Council last week.

The Council voted to change the water tap ordinance, because it was costing the town more than the amount charged, Elizabeth Mullins, mayor, said. The new ordinance is printed elsewhere in this issue.

She said the Council also discussed paying the Environmental Development Agency for sewer service. About $2,000 may have to be borrowed to pay the $20,000 owed the EDA for service this year.

The Council voted to fix the bullet holes in the police cruiser, which are causing the vehicle to rust. Mrs. Mullins read a letter from administrators of the Comprehensive Education and Employment Act (CETA), which said Brodhead may get five adult workers in the spring with salaries paid by the federal government.

The next Council meeting will be held at the old jail house building, which has been renovated for use as a city hall. Mrs. Mullins said that no tax money was spent on the renovation—the money was from private sources, including a three-day garage sale held last spring.

He said that $12,451,000 would become available for rural counties in Kentucky, about $2 million less than last year. He said chances of getting money were only fair last year, only 30 or 40 applications were funded. Mt. Vernon's application was not funded last year.

Mr. Linder said that the city must show that it has a project that will eliminate blight, solve a health and safety problem, or help low-income families. The public is invited to submit ideas at two public hearings, to be held Dec. 28 and Jan. 4 at City Hall.

A project can have a single purpose, such as building a nursing home. Or a project can be a plan to solve a variety of problems in one area—for example, rehabilitating houses, putting in sidewalks and a park all in the same neighborhood.

Western Water District Plans Major Expansion Program

The Western Rockcastle County Water District is making plans to almost double the number of people it serves.

At a meeting last Tuesday, night, Harry Grier of Kenyon Engineering told members of the District's board that his company is completing a survey of potential customers and an outline of engineering plans. The Board adopted a resolution to request funds for the project—which will cost an estimated $1,300,000.

According to Glenda Riddle, a staff member at the District's office, about 400 people have indicated they would like water service. Each paid a $75 deposit.

She said the company has been operating since 1976 and has about 500 customers. It was financed through the Farmers Home Administration, she said, and buys its water from the city of Mt. Vernon.

The FHA will be contacted for a loan on the new project, and some money is being requested through the Appalachian Regional Development Agency.

There is no way of knowing when the project will be finished, because it can sometimes take months to secure the loans.

The following is a list of roads where the new water service will be: Red Hill Road, Wildcat Road, Poplar, Shirley Caldwell Road off Hwy. 461; Old Mt. Vernon and Brodhead Road; Hubert Brown Road off Hwy. 70; #1250 off Hwy. 150; Door Hill Road off Hwy. 77; Sand Springs Road, Carl Brown Road; #1000 Ridge Road, Poplar Grove off Hwy. 70;

He said the second kind of project has a better chance of being funded.

The Council discussed projects for the Poplar and Locust Street area, or Shirley Street, as well as sidewalks and sewers for Paul Street, Dr. G.W. Griffin, Floy Owen, Virgie Sowder, Billy Hiatt, Tommy Parsons, Tom Welch and Ernest Stanley will be asked to serve on the Citizens Participating Board, necessary to the funding process.

In other business, the Council did not accept an agreement submitted by Roscoe Gustafson of Michigan. Mr. Gustafson was willing to allow the city and Industrial Authority to put water lines through land he owns near the Industrial Park if the city would agree to furnish water and sewer lines to 200

Negro Creek left its banks Thursday night and took the City of Brodhead's six-inch water line with it. All of Brodhead is serviced by the water line and service was not restored until early Saturday morning when a temporary line was hooked-up.

Cam Halcomb, asst. Water Superintendent for Brodhead, Shirley Rogers, who donated his time, and Deavla Busell, Sr., Water Superintendent, are shown looking for the water pipe which services the City of Brodhead and which was washed out by flooding Thursday night. The pipe was found and temporarily connected to the bridge which spans the creek. The Brodhead City Council met Tuesday night to discuss how to re-install the pipe permanently.

Legislative Report

By Harold DeMarcus

It is well known that there are two major drawbacks caused by increased government spending. One is that taxes will be raised, usually by raising the middle-class working people; in order to increase revenue needed to increase spending. Second, big spending fuels the fire of inflation.

A very good example of increased spending is Kentucky's 1978-79 executive budget, which totals $7.5 billion dollars. This represents an increase of $3 billion dollars over the $2.5 billion budget established by Gov. Nunn ten years ago.

In Kentucky, the governor submits the budget to the General Assembly at the start of each legislative session. This process gives the legislators only three months to review and approve the whole two year budget, but in fact, the legislature can only spend six weeks on the budget. Because there are other matters of concern to be dealt with, and as a result budget view and the remaining legislative concerns suffer.

There are two obvious reasons why present state administration was able to increase spending, in addition to increased taxes and fees. One is the new real severance tax, which will generate an additional $33.9 million in revenue. This is a tax increase that will affect you through increased utility costs.

Also a new law was enacted to require manufacturers of products likely to wind up as litter to pay a 3-cent tax on every $100 of sales. The revenue is to be used by the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection to combat anti-litter programs.

I was very opposed to this law, not

Items Added for Special Session

Gov. Julian Carroll last week added three items to the call for a special session of the General Assembly on Dec. 13, including specific aspects of the state budget.

Carroll said in the afternoon press conference that consideration of both appropriations and spending is required by the Kentucky Constitution and that reductions in the budget would require equal reductions in spending.

"We don't expect a surplus by the end of this fiscal year that concludes in June 1979," Carroll said, although he said there could be substantial surplus in the first two quarters. "We don't make quarterly estimates and the first quarters are usually the best," he said. Carroll also asked the General Assembly to clarify legislation dealing with the state's welfare fraud unit and to "make it absolutely clear to the courts of our intent to deal responsibly with crime against the payers."

Finally, Carroll is asking the legislature to appropriate revenue to because there is no litter problem, but because it is a tax that will be passed on to you by the manufacturers when they increase the price of their product. Approximately one million dollars will be generated from this program in fiscal year 1979. Natural Resources officials say that the bulk of this money will be used primarily to fund educational programs to convince people of their individual responsibility to keep the environmental clean.

You see, the money is not going to be spent to clean up litter but to tell people how bad litter is. I think most everyone knows that they must do their part in keeping our environment clean. Besides, why shouldn't the Commonwealth direct all able-bodied welfare recipients to get out and clean up the litter. After all, if they are physically able, they should be required to do something to earn their money.

In Tennessee a law was passed to put a limit on how much money their state government can spend. The reasoning here is to limit spending so that taxes will not be raised and at the same time help stop runaway inflation.

California's Proposition 13, on the surface, served to reduce property taxes. But if you look deeper, Proposition 13 delivers a message from the people that kills the notion that government can finance social services with the dollars of the middle class, even if the people of the middle class lose their homes and other necessities of life in the process.

Another major problem with Kentucky's $7.5 billion budget is that it is a mixed blessing. On one hand you have needed dollars for education and health care and on the other you have litter abatement programs and increased spending for welfare programs. The way the system has worked you can't have one without the other.

To alleviate these problems and provide some legislative input into the development of state government's biennial budget, the Interim Joint Committee on Appropriations and Revenue has subdivided the budget into subcommittees in order to give an indepth of budgetary areas of state government cabinets and funding needs. The result of which will give the legislature two years to review spending needs and priorities of all state agencies and programs, in order to write a budget that reflects more careful and much needed inspection. In the same vein, the Lieutenant Governor's calling of a special session constitutes a glaring back of recognition of the problems caused by inflation. However, it is important to note, that if spending and tax cuts are to be made, education in Kentucky must not suffer any decrease in funds.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The City of Mt. Vernon will hold a Public Hearing as required under Sub-sections $70.303 and $70.431 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 on Dec. 28, 1978 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall.

The first purpose of the Public Hearing will be to solicit comments on Citizen Participation Plan for the Small Cities Grant Program in Mt. Vernon, Kentucky, which was adopted by the City Council, on Dec. 11, 1978 to determine if that plan continues to adequately meet the informational and participation needs of Mt. Vernon.

The second purpose of the Public Hearing will be to discuss the rules and regulations as established by the Federal department of Housing and Urban Development for a Small Cities Community Development Block Grant application. The Public Hearing will address eligible activities, amount of available funds, areas of the community which are eligible to receive Block Grant Funds, and the procedures by which HUD which select applications for approval. All residents are encouraged to attend this Public Hearing and become informed about how the Block Grant Program can assist your community to upgrade housing, public improvements, and other community development activities. Questions regarding the program will be answered and citizens are encouraged to bring ideas for the program.

A copy of the Citizen Participation Plan for Mt. Vernon, Kentucky is on file at City Clerk's Office in City Hall and is available for public inspection between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Any questions about the plan or the public hearing should be directed to City of Mt. Vernon, ph. 256-2879, Mt. Vernon, 40456. Roland Mullins, Mayor Lincoln, Rockcastle, Boyle, Mercer, Washington, Marion, Casey and Anderson counties.

This meeting will be the Annual Christmas Dinner. Each person will be requested to bring one pot luck dish. All members are urged to send or bring a set of mittens or hat for a boy or girl, gift boxed, and labeled boy or girl, to be given to a local agency for the children they serve at Christmas.

Please call in reservations to Betty Roller, 606-206-4121, ext. 350, between 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Lancaster and Mt. Vernon are the hostesses for this meeting.

"The Inn at Bethlehem," is the title of the Christmas play to be presented Sunday, December 17th at 7:00 p.m. at the Mt. Vernon Christian Church.

The children's program will be presented Wednesday, December 20 at 7:00 p.m. The children, under the direction of Rachel James, have worked very hard to give you the true meaning of Christmas through songs, narration and slides.

In Memory

The church has received a donation from Dr. and Mrs. Jack Perciful in memory of Bill Henderson.

A Christmas donation has been received in memory of J.O. and Steven Machal from Sarah Machal.

Sympathy Extended

We extend our loving sympathy to Mrs. Bernice Cox upon the recent death of her mother, Mrs. Kittie Snodgrass. From the Proclaimers First Christian Church

Used Stamps Help Feed the Hungry

[Reprinted from the November 25 edition of the Courier-Journal.]

To provide one meal to a hungry child in Bangladesh takes about 240 canceled American stamps of the ordinary variety; about 150 commemorative stamps, some 160 Christmas stamps and maybe 80 foreign stamps. That sounds like a lot, but not when hundreds of people are saving used stamps.

That's the basis of the success of the Food for Stamps program founded by Liberman Perera of Louisville in January 1978 through the Salvation Army in Louisville.

Used stamps, now collected for the program in all 48 states and 25 countries, are sold through the Salvation Army to dealers, who in turn sell them to collectors.

To date, $3,549.30 has been raised. Every dollar serves 10 plates of food to undernourished children in Bangladesh. Miss Perera, a native of Sri Lanka, is very pleased with the growth of the program. The amount of money raised during the first year was almost quadrupled this year.

Two sources of foreign stamps are former students of Berea College, where Miss Perera graduated, and graduates of the University of Louisville, where she received a master's degree in community development.

Last year, Kenneth Thompson, retired dean of instruction at Berea College, taught at Suchow University in Taiwan. He and his wife spoke about Food for Stamps, and a story appeared in a newspaper in that country.

"So we have been getting thousands and thousands of stamps from Taiwan," said Miss Perera, who is doing research at U of L.

Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts have joined the campaign and a Buechel church this year sent in 317,000 stamps. Companies are saving envelopes and members of Senior House, residents of Rose Anna Hughes Presbyterian Home and other facilities volunteer time to trim stamps from the envelopes.

Recently, a Berea graduate donated money to print 20,000 handbills to publicize the program.

Used stamps may be mailed to Miss Perera in care of the Salvation Army, P.O. Box 2040, Louisville 40201, or may be hand-delivered to the Salvation Army at 216 W. Chestnut St.

Preferably, about 3/4 inch of the envelope should be left around the stamp.

Miss Perera wishes that a box would be placed in every home and office for the collection of stamped envelopes. If donations continue to increase "we can look forward to expanding the program to another needy country," she said.

Rockets Lose to Laurel, Beat Panthers; Will Play in Tourney This Week-End

By Rick Anderka

The Rockcastle Rockets stayed at .500 on the season by splitting two games they played last Friday night and Tuesday night.

Friday night, the Rockets journeyed to Laurel County and lost 68-60. The Rockets were in the game all the way - especially in the first half when they jumped out to a 6-0 lead. But, Laurel County quickly retaliated and went to the locker room at half-time up by two.

David Mullins, junior reserve forward, came off the bench and tried to take up some of the slack with 13 points but he just wasn't able to spark the rest of the club. The Rockets fell into their usual mode in an attempt to cut-off Laurel's inside game - they did not, this left Laurel County guard Keith Gilbert free to bomb in 28 points from the outside.

Steve Centers had a fine night scoring 18 while Walter Browning had 12. Others scoring in the game were: Jack Farthing, 8; David Pensol, 6 and Eddie Thompson, 5.

The Rockets were home on Tuesday night to host the Knox Central Panthers who they defeated 73-69.

The game was a see-saw battle with the two teams staying very close. Rockcastle did manage to hold on to the lead most of the game however. The win came for the Rockets at the free throw line in the late going. David Pensol, who turned in his best performance of the season with 16 points, calmly sunk 5 out of free throws in the last three minutes to keep the Rockets on top.

And, once again, David Mullins came off the bench to help the cause by getting 12 points. Another junior who helped the cause mightily was David Riddle who got 10 points in a fine effort.

Steve Centers had his usual good scoring night by getting 13. The Rockets simply outlasted the Panthers in a very physical game.

Browning had an off night but still did a good job on the boards and got 6 points. Jack Farthing also turned in a fine performance with 10 points. Matt Foynter had two points on the night.

The Rockets will return to Laurel County this Friday and Saturday night to participate in the Laurel County Invitational Tournament.

Jack Farthing shoots over a Laurel County defender in the Rockcastle-Laurel Co. game. Jack had somewhat of an off-night but came back Tuesday night to turn in a fine performance as the Rockets defeated Knox Central 73-69. (Photo by Kenneth Pillion)

KSD To Begin Pre School Program
Kentucky School for the Deaf, in conjunction with the Berea Pediatric Clinic and United Cerebral Palsy of the Bluegrass, is starting a preschool program in Berea. The classroom is the newest of eight such preschool satellite programs set up across the state by KSD. The Berea program will serve hearing impaired children up to age 6, and their families in Madison and surrounding counties. Classroom activities and home activities are included to help the children develop in their total environments. Speech, language and auditory training are the areas in which the most effort is concentrated. In addition, observation and activities are included which develop the children's gross and fine motor skills, social skills, self help skills and readiness skills. A lot of attention is given to the families of the hearing impaired children so that the parents, brothers and sisters and other relatives are better able to continue the children's learning after school. The program stresses early identification and early education of

"The Inn at Bethlehem" will be presented at the First Christian Church Sunday evening, November 17 at 7 p.m. The play is under the direction of Mrs. George W. Griffith. On Wednesday evening, November 20 at 7 p.m., the smaller children of the church will

"The Inn at Bethlehem" To Be Presented at First Christian

A drama entitled "The Inn at Bethlehem" will be presented at the First Christian Church November 17th at 7:00 p.m. The action takes place in Bethlehem and portrays the influence of the Christ child on the lives of those who first came to His manger-throne and fell under the spell of His love and purity. Characters include Reuben, the selfish innkeeper who is intent on making money as he turns Mary and Joseph away from his inn so that he may take in better paying guests, including a princess from the house of Herod. The princess is angered by rumors that a King has been born and determines to find the instigators of such treasonous reports. She questions Mary and Joseph's calm and innocence convinces the princess that no treason is intended.

A CHRISTMAS WISH

I wish I could go on Christmas eve, To the hills of Bethlehem. I wish I could hear, as the shepherds did, Of peace and good will to men.

I wish I could see the angel throng, In the midnight sky above, I wish I could rest in the healing rays, Of the wondrous Star of Love.

I wish I could kneel in worship there, Where the cattle and sheep are fed, And loving smooth the fragrant hay, Of that lowly manger bed.

I wish I could do some service small, And there in that stable dim, By a gentle word or a loving deed, Perhaps win a smile from Him.

But, down the miles of the centuries, I hear His voice—"Inasmuch as ye, Have done it unto one of the least of these, Ye have done it unto Me".

And so at this blessed Christmastide, May I serve the children of men, And in doing so, I will also serve, The Christ Child of Bethlehem!

By Mrs. Roy L. Peifer

Forty years later, these same people, who are now faithful followers of the risen Lord, return to Bethlehem to spend the anniversary of Christ's birth in a theologically stable. As they pray, they are blessed with a vision of the first Christmas, and each dedicates his life anew to the service of the Master. At the close of the drama the entire congregation is drawn into the presentation in a moment of consecration, as they too may dedicate their lives anew to the Christ.

The play, under the direction of Mrs. Rachel Griffith, aided by many co-workers, is an effort by the total congregation to present the true story of Christmas and what it means to Christmas the world over. The minister, the cast of the play and the entire congregation extends a warm welcome to all to come and see the play.

On Wednesday evening, November 20th, at 7:00 p.m. the children of the Christian Church will present a program using the Children's Choir and a series of slides taken at various locations in Rockcastle county with the children posing as models for the different scenes telling the first story of Christmas. Mrs. Rachel James is the director and originator of this unique musical. Once again the church welcomes any and all visitors.

crack washed out. Mayor Elizabeth Mullins considered driving to London for tank water, as workmen tried to restore the line temporarily. By 8 a.m. Saturday, the temporary line was working, and water was restored to Brodhead houses. But many there had already found water in their basements.

Friday morning the Rockcastle River was rising about two feet per hour in the city of Livingston, according to Jerry Mink, principal of Livingston School. He was predicting that it might come to the top of the railroad bridge by 4:00 p.m. It did, but by midnight, it was over the bridge and up to its handrails. Trains were backed up almost to Berea. Water covered U.S. 25, as the

Rockcastle County Rescue Squad worked to evaluate families from flooded homes.

One of the hardest hit buildings was the store and post office at Lamero, where water was over the ceiling, according to Mr. Ballinger. All store goods were lost. Other houses flooded included those owned by Ralph Owens, Elmer Bennett, Robert Newcomb, Roscoe Parker, Roy McKinney and Glenn Robinson.

A Livingston man who is over 80 years old said he had never seen the river that high since the 1897 flood. Lee Durkin, County Agriculture Extension Agent and member of the Emergency Board, said it was the worst disaster for Livingston since the tornado of April, 1974.

All over the county, basements and first floors of buildings flooded, as well as roads and land. By Saturday afternoon, the water was subsiding and being carried down the Cumberland.

Areas surveyed and damage assessed:

Lake Livinville Road-mud slides, water over bridge on Mt. Zion Road. Brodhead Conway Road to Copper Creek Road - (contacts: Carl Fingenton and Charles Angle) - water over Les McGuire's soybeans (?).

U.S. 150 between Brodhead and Mt. Vernon - Main wiring line at Brodhead inoperable; water over Cass bottom area. Pond surrounding new house site at Mareburg.

Brush Creek-Orlando Road: Brush Creek four feet in basement of Curtis Vannant store.

Ky. 1004-Salt Petre Cave Road-Roundstone Creek overflowed into John Henaley's house (formerly Ballard Rader's home). Crooked Creek overflowed onto road by Salt Petre Cave.

Brush Creek-Climax Road: Darrell Mullins' house and ? Cook's house (formerly Matt Jones' home) flooded.

Brush Creek-Wolf Creek: Flooded road and surrounding area near Ed Rigby's home. Albert Hayes Clark's fence torn down. Water in George Rader's house.

Salt Petre-Red Hill Road (Trace Branc Road)-Bridge washed out in front of Maurice Robinson's house. Red Hill-Walden Road - road damaged by high water. Red Hill-Three Links Road - road washed out near Wally Phillips' home.

School bus route blocked.

Lamero area: flood waters from both Rockcastle River and Trace Branch. The following houses flooded: Ralph Owens, Elmer Bennett's Robert E. Newcomb, Claud Gilliam, Roscoe Parker, Roy McKinney, and Glenn Robinson. Mobile homes belonging to Della Sturgill, Anita Lewis and Kenn Robsahar flooded. Lamero store and Post Office, operated by Claude Gilliam, heavily damaged by flood waters.

Old U.S. 25 and Indian Creek Road (Horse Lick Area) - 15 to 20 feet of water over road caused mud slides and extensive road damage. Water over Parkers Creek bridge. Water across old U.S. 25 and slides along the road near Castle Rock.

Livingston - North Ky. 1995 (Gaulay Branch Area)-Water in four or five houses and in church building. U.S. 25 south of Livingston-water completely covered Livingston sewage treatment plant and railroad bridge.

Fort Seepoyah-Rockcastle? River over highway in several places. Water almost covered one house and in basement of another house belonging to Carl Carlotta family.

Cleft Rock power out 48 hours - 6 p.m. Friday to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Mt. Vernon - Many basements flooded, as throughout the county.

Roundstone-Conway-Wildie-Houses flooded, roads blocked here as throughout the county.

Renfro Valley-flooding over land and not in buildings.

DISINFECTION OF CONTAMINATED WATER

By Steve Middle

During the recent high water there were several areas of the county where private wells and cisterns may have become contaminated. Before drinking water from these facilities, they should be disinfected.

There are many ways to disinfect drinking water but only the simplest method will be discussed here.

The first method which could be used for small quantities of water would be boiling. The water here and in all other cases should be as visually clear as possible. If you have mud or dirt in the water before disinfection all you'll wind up with is disinfected muddy water.

Another method for the disinfection of water is with household chlorine bleach (example: Chlorox or Purex) which has 5.2% available chlorine (see label). Prepare a stock solution by adding five (5) teaspoonful of bleach to one quart of water. Don't drink that! This stock solution should be placed in a lightly stoppered bottle and kept away from the lightest drinking water, add one teaspoonful of this stock solution to one gallon of water, stir the water thoroughly and allow to stand for thirty minutes.

To disinfect a well use pure chlorine bleach (5.2% available chlorine-see label) and add one (1) cup for each 300 gallon of water in the well. The well should be pumped out 30 minutes after the solution has been added, until the odor of chlorine has disappeared.

To disinfect drinking water in a large capacity cistern add 1 cupful of chlorine bleach to 1500 gallons or 1 pint to 3000 gallons of water.

To figure out how many gallons of water are in a circular well take one-half the distance across the well (in feet) and multiply this by itself. Multiply this figure by 3.14 and multiply this result by the depth of the water. This will give the number of cubic feet of water in the well. There are 7.5 gallons of water in each cubic foot.

For example, a circular dug well 4 feet across with a water depth of 10 feet. One half of 4 feet is 2 feet. 2x2 (radius times itself) = 4. 4x3.14=12.56 (square surface of well water). 12.56x10 (depth in feet) = 125.6 cubic feet of water in well. 125.6 cu. ft. x 7.5 gal./cu. ft. = 942 gallons of water in the well.

For further information on methods or products which can be used, call the Rockcastle County Health Department at 258-2242.

JUST SEVEN-CLASS OF 1928

It was the year, nineteen hundred and twenty-eight. When a class of seven girls did graduate. That was fifty years ago. And one may wonder, why it's so remembered so.

I was numbered in that class so rare, And as Mt. Vernon had a new school there, We seven were the first to have the honor you see, To receive diplomas there, for our high school degree. Nellie Jo Robinson Fowler, whose home is in Lexington, Is with one of three daughters in Anchorage, Alaska, Nora Lynn Fields Jones and son, Call Monroe, Ohio their home, Mary Kathryn Brown Jenkins and Francis, her husband, Reside in the city of Lebanon Junction, Cleo Pennington Chadwell and her husband, Jimmy, Live in North Carolina, in the city of Shelby, Hazel Riddle Elliott and husband, Bill, On Ceila Lane, in Lexington, is where they dwell, Ann E. Christie Morris, the new senior, 50 years ago, Now resides in North Carolina, also, Cepha Davis Kinser, one of the seven, of Cringers, Ky. Consider this an honor and herself very lucky.

Pearl Devalut Jones, who in Rock Hill, Missouri is living, Was a member of the class of 27, which also numbered seven.

BUILDING CONFIDENCE IN CHILDREN

Mental Health Matters

A confident, creative child isn't just born that way! The parents of a child have a tremendous influence in bringing it about. Encourage your young child to make some simple choices. Teach the importance of follow-through once a choice has been made.

Keep in mind that imaginative play is also important! We must be careful not to belittle, shame, or tease the young child about the manner in which he plays or when he or she wants to share thoughts or ideas. Give credit and encouragement so the child can become confident and feel good about him or herself.

Confidence is built on success experiences. Allow young children To help when they offer to do so. Encourage a continuance of it through appropriate praise and thank-yous. Provide opportunities for play and socialization with other young children. Keep toys, puzzles, and books appropriate for the child's age in their play areas.

If at all possible, take preschoolers on outings such as a visit to a park, a zoo, a farm, a forest, a library, a musical program. Each new experience of learning about the world outside of the home brings insight, joy and confidence to children.

CHRISTMAS

Our Christmas traditions and customs come to us from many people. The name of Christmas goes back to early England and the celebration of Christ's birthday called "Christ's Mass". It was the English who originated the custom of saying "Merry Christmas". Our Christmas tree came to us from Germany. It was originally lit with candles and hung with gifts. And Santa Claus came from Holland, where he was known as St. Nicholas, the patron saint of children. Christmas is a time of peace, good will and sharing with others. Your Christmas decoration are a way to infect everyone with holiday spirit.

Door Decorations
There's no better way to greet your family and friends during this season than with a lovely door decoration-it's a personal Christmas card to all.

The most popular decoration is the wreath of Christmas greenery. The prettiest ones combine several types of greenery. Choose from holly, boxwood, pine, spruce, ivy, mistletoe, cedar and magnolia. Other Christmas door decorations are:

1. Decorate an 18x24 branch of evergreens with a red bow and red felt mittens. Use styrofoam balls for "snowballs".
2. Use 27" of red 4" ribbon to make a bell pull. Trim edge and make bows out of red plaid ribbon.

3. Decorate a toy snow shovel with ribbon and Christmas greenery. Add pine cones, berries, or styrofoam snowballs.

4. Wire pine boughs together and tack to a piece of sturdy ribbon. Place a cherub, bells or other decoration in the center.

5. If your front porch has pillars, wrap them with red ribbon and garland of greenery.

6. Trim an S-shaped piece of greenery with gingerbread men and small ornaments.

7. Set a basket of gaily wrapped boxes beside the front door. Trim with ribbons and greenery.

8. Hang 3 wreaths in graduates sizes-topiary fashion on the front door.

9. Cut 4-14"x24" panels out of cardboard and cover with red olefin. Paint on "Noel" and hang on front porch.

10. Make a giant kissing ball by filling a 10" styrofoam ball with boxwood. Add fresh oranges and berries with floral picks. Trim with ribbons.

11. Use an old copper or brass urn and a styrofoam base to create an apple tree. Apples and greenery are attached with florist picks.

12. Use 1/2 of an old hat box covered with red felt and trimmed with gold or green braid to make a basket. Fill with greenery and ornaments. Ribbon forms the handles.

13. A stylized Christmas tree can be made from a wooden doll and elongated pine cones. Trim with ornaments.

14. Spray an old straw purse or fish creel red or gold. Fill with greenery and ornaments.

15. Attach clove-studded oranges to a pine bough. Trim with ribbons.

16. Make an oval door arrangement of magnolia leaves and lemon halves.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY
A very impressive golden wedding anniversary was celebrated on October 8th in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Tipp Davis, 5108 Old Taylor Mill Road, Covington, Kentucky. A beautiful wedding ceremony took place at The Decoursey Baptist Church with their pastor, Reverend Gene Livingston, performing in the 50 year renewal of vows of Tipp and Ollie.

Their granddaughter, Treva Caldwell, and her husband Barry attended as maid of honor and best man.

Their young granddaughter, Lauren Bobbitt, acted as ring bearer.

An afternoon candlelight service was viewed by a host of friends and relatives attending from near and far and the couple exchanged new golden wedding bands as they promised once again before God to love, honor, and cherish each other forever.

Ollie was a radiant and lovely bride in her gold lace wedding gown and carried a nose job of yellow rose buds and daisies tied with gold ribbons.

Trena looked beautiful in her rust colored gown and carried a duplicate bouquet.

Courten was cute and sweet in her gold and rust print dress and carried a gold satin pillow, handmade by Mrs. Jim Gregory.

Nancy Powell sang three very appropriate songs: "Man and Woman," "Keep Us One," and "The Lord's Prayer." They walked down the aisle to the tune of "When They Hear Those Golden Bells For You and Me," rendered beautifully by Mr. Charles Sears, Organist.

Their former pastor and good friend, Reverend C. B. Fisher, officiated with beautiful wedding prayer.

Trena, at the request of her grandmother, read a poem about her husband of fifty years which brought tears to many eyes.

Tipp brought a big laugh to the whole congregation when he kissed his new bride before Reverend Livingston had completed the ceremony, and had to be told "Not Yet Mr. Davis."

Their daughter, Georgia Bobbitt and husband, Larry acted as the parents, sitting in the front of the church and

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adams of Brodhead will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary December 24th. Mr. and Mrs. Adams were married December 24, 1928 in Livingston by Rev. Dan Mullins.

They have one son, Kenneth Adams of Sayersburg, Indiana; four grandchildren; 2 step grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Area Deaths & Funerals

Amanda Lewis

Mrs. Amanda Lewis, 84, of Livingston, died Friday, December 8, at the Rockcastle County Hospital after a long illness.

She was born on January 25, 1894 in Perry County, the daughter of the late Matt and Judy Feltner Lewis. She was a member of the Sand Hill Baptist Church.

Survivors are: two sons, Emmett Thomas of Livingston and Edsel Thomas of Gary, Indiana; three daughters, Ms. Jewell Suivey and Mrs. Chrystle Kirby both of Lexington, and Mrs. Mae Dees of Mt. Zion, Illinois; one sister, Mrs. Mary Johnson of Campbellville, Indiana; 14 grandchildren and 19 great grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by two sons, Denver and Erabel Thomas, and by her husband, William Thomas.

Funeral services were held Sunday, December 10, at the Cox Funeral Home Chapel by Bro. Bill Hamilton and Bro. Jimmy Williams. Burial was in the Sand Hill Cemetery.

Funeral services were Ray Thomas, Denver Kirby, Noah Faulkner, Jeff Thomas, Charles Collins, and Larry Rogers.

Goldie Shivel

Mrs. Goldie Marie Bradley Shivel, wife of the late William E. "Pete" Shivel, of Loveland, Ohio, died December 3. She was formerly of Brodhead, Ky.

She was the daughter of the late Bennie and Alta Bradley.

She is survived by: two daughters, Mrs. Lonell Badberry, and Mrs. Mary Lou Hockney, and one son, Bennie Richard Shivel of Loveland, Ohio; two sisters, Mrs. Hazel Thompson and Mrs. Gladys Mullins of Mt. Vernon; three brothers, Curtis, Thurma and Everett Bradley all of Brodhead; seven grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held December 6 at the Trinity Baptist Church in Hartwell, Ohio. Burial was in the Rest Haven Cemetery in Blue Ash, Ohio.

OTTAWA

Curtis Bradley and Alton and Anthony Bradley attended the funeral of their sister and aunt in Ohio last week.

LIVINGSTON

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ponder of Berea visited friends in Livingston and London, Monday.

The word "biscuit" comes from the fact that it is usually made something twice cooked. The process helped it keep longer.

congratulating her mother and father with a kiss following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Tipp Davis are the parents of "The Davis Sisters" who sang and recorded in the country music field a few years ago. One of the girls, Betty Jack, was killed in tragic auto accident in the 1950's at the same time their hit record "I Forgot More" was the number one song in the nation.

Tipp and Ollie were married November 24th, 1928 in Corbin, Ky, and had two daughters, Georgia and Betty Jack and two granddaughters, Treva and Lauren.

Kentucky Afield

By John Wilson

It was hatched between two and three years ago, one of the slowly growing tumors whose shell did not break prematurely because of pesticide poisoning.

It had not yet developed the snow-white head feathers which distinguished the American bald eagle from all other birds. It was very likely on its way to its wintering grounds somewhere to the south but it will never arrive.

It was shot and killed sometime during the weekend of Dec. 2-3, just over the Franklin County line in Henry County. It was discovered and reported to Franklin County Conservation Officer Buddy Howard on Dec. 4.

It is probable that the killer did not know the bird was the bird which symbolizes this country, a bird which is listed by the U.S. Department of the Interior as an endangered species, a bird whose wintering population numbers only around 100 in the entire state of Kentucky.

The killer probably thought it was "just a big hawk," a tempting target against the skyline as it rested on its long migratory flight.

But whatever he thought is no excuse-not to the law (since all hawks and owls are protected and may not be killed) and not to those of us who might be privileged to see an eagle in the wilds once or twice in a lifetime. If the killer is any kind of an American, any kind of a human being, whatsoever, whatever he would, should be no excuse to his own mind, should bring him no comfort.

But it's doubtful that he is man enough to surrender himself to the authorities and take his punishment-wanton killers of wildlife seldom are.

It is facing the possibility of up to a year in jail and fines of up to $20,000. Right now he is the subject of an intense manhunt by state and federal wildlife agencies, trained men who investigate such cases as thoroughly and as doggedly as if a human had been murdered.

There are also records offered for his arrest and conviction-$500 from the National Wildlife Federation, $500 from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, $100 from the League of Kentucky Sportsmen, $100 from the Frankfort Sportsmen Club and up to $2,500 of its own money (a portion of the fine for killing an eagle goes as reward).

Other wildlife groups will very likely offer rewards too, so the total could grow to over $4,000, anyone having any information at all is urged to call the law enforcement division of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources (606-244-9100), the Louisville office of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (502-582-6989) or the 24-hour "hot line" of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in Nashville (615-251-5322).

All information will be kept strictly confidential.

This killing points out, as do the other two eagle killings in Kentucky during the last year, the old attitudes which view all birds of prey as "chicken hawks" to be shot on sight. Actually, there is no such species as a "chicken hawk" and all hawks and owls are completely protected by federal and state laws-as are virtually all other wildlife species unless there is a specific open hunting season.

Larry Anderson and Leslie Wilson were making the best of a bad situation early Friday morning when this picture was snapped. The water was over the road which lies off U.S. 25 across the railroad tracks at (own). This photo was taken pretty early Friday morning so the situation no doubt deteriorated as the day wore on and the rain continued to come down. In the bottom photo, the home of Dickie and Koula Collingsworth can barely be seen in the right background with water to the eaves. The Collingsworth home is located on the Rockcastle River at Fort Sequoyah. Water also got into Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Carriola's new home, on left, but just into the basement. There were several reports of homes in the Livingston area being flooded and older residents say that this was the worst flood they have ever seen. Several small outbuildings were washed away including a small barn and a chicken house with the chickens still in it. Phone service had still not been restored to all the area as late as Wednesday.

The home of Mrs. Elsie Rowe, on U.S. 25 just north of Livingston, was also inundated by water from the flood. Mrs. Rowe did not manage to get any of her belongings out before the floods came. A home located to the rear of the Rowe house and owned by John Arnsd was also flooded.

BRODHEADS NEW MEETING PLACE

Donations of cash and labor renovate Brodhead's Old Jail to a comfortable, attractive meeting place. No Tax Money was used.

Donations of cash were: $300.00 by C.E. Frish, $150 by the Rockcastle County Jaycees, $100. from a yard sale held by Elnora Gray, Lillian Collett and Elizabeth Mullins, 25.00 by the Brodhead Willing Workers Homemakers Club, for a total of $575.

Many hours of labor were donated by Deava Bussell and Cam Halcomb.

The sponsors of this project really thank these donors and will always be grateful to them. I would like to thank Walter Lee Cash for the electrical work that he has done on the town's Christmas lights which Brodhead Willing Workers Homemakers Club sponsored several years ago and also his work on the electric heat in the old jail.

houses. Other terms of the easement agreement, such as keeping the area clean, were accepted by the Council.

Mayor Roland Mullins said the city could not agree to furnish lines free, although no homes were built there now. The Council agreed to "all reasonable efforts to serve" any future houses in the area.

Three men applied for police jobs, but no action was taken. Patrolmen George Coleman and Arlis McClure both resigned from the force last month. The Council approved Larry Williams' buying a police cruiser for $2,500 from Raymond Ballinger.

Police Chief Williams asked that the speed limit near Mt. Vernon Elementary School be better enforced with signs. The Council voted to contact the Highway Department about this matter.

The Council voted to rebuild 25 parking meters along Main Street, after a suggestion by Officer Frank DeBorde.

Steve Minkiff, county environmentalist with the Health Department, said he checked the source of sewer odors in the Poplar Street area by using basement dyes but could find no evidence of surface liquids. He said he thought there was no major health hazard there.

Floyd Owens will replace Tommy Parsons as the city director of housing. Mr. Parsons resigned last month.

The Council approved the General Audit of the city budget. The Rockcastle County Jaycees were given permission to park a "blood-mobile" on Main Street for their blood donation drive December 21.

It's Beginning to "Look a lot like Christmas"

at RCHS Thanks to Art Students

It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas at Rockcastle County High School. Big colorful figures of the Nativity now fill the long windows at the library. They were drawn and painted in tempera by students in Mrs. Barbara Owens' Art 2 class.

"We sketched them on the windows first," according to Johnny Tyler, one of the students. He said they used pictures from Christmas cards for general ideas, and the class decided where each figure should appear. Each student became responsible for a part of the decorations. The figures are slightly bigger than life-size. The front windows have been turned into "stained glass" by members of the Art 2 class. The Art 3 students painted the designs on paper and glued the paper to the windows. Mrs. Owens said that the library windows were usually done on paper first, but this year, for the second time, the class painted directly on the glass. "I think they are particularly beautiful this time," she said. "We had an unusually talented group."

MIKE MILLER PERFORMS IN CENTER COLLEGE'S CONCERT

Mike Miller, son of Zella Miller of East Main St., Mt. Vernon, was among the performers in Centre college's Christmas concert presented Tuesday night (Dec. 5) in the College's Reginald A. Rice Center. Miller is a bass in the Centre College choir, which joined with the Centre Chamber Singers and the College Community Orchestra to perform the concert.

Both traditional and twentieth century works were presented, including selections by Wolfgang Mozart, Jaz P. Sweelink, Randall Thompson, Arnold Freed, Gustav Holst and Howard Hanson.

Chris Hansel is intent on his part of the bigger-than-life paintings on the library windows at Rockcastle County High School.

Miller, a freshman at Centre plays college football and has been named to the all-state chorus while at Centre. He attended Rockcastle County High.

"Selling the Country"

Mt. Vernon, Ky. Ph. 256-4545

Local SCS is Very Active

By Roy G. Brown, Supervisor

This fall your Rockcastle County Soil Conservation District has been very active in helping farmers in carrying out conservation work on several farms. They helped in installing 15,000 feet of tile drainage. They have been planning and laying out spring development for farm-livestock water supply.

Greg Stephens, District Conservator, has been very active in helping farmers with their conservation measures. Many conservation practices to be carried out on your farm need to be signed up at your ASES office first if it is a cost-share practice and then Greg will assist you in installing it.

Due to the cut off of funds by the President, all RCD work projects have been halted for the present time. In the time of inflation farm programs and conservation are usually the first to be cut.

All land left bare by crops the past summer should be seeded, if not already, to some type of cover crop so as to protect soil erosion by winter rain and snow. I believe we all have become aware of the energy crisis the past few years and will be more affected by it in the years ahead due to shortage and higher costs. We should become very much concerned about conservation and do our part to conserve in every way possible in heating our homes; cutting down on unnecessary trips in cars and trucks so that we might have sufficient energy for our farming operation.

Your Rockcastle County Soil Conservation District has been active for the tickets and program for the Farmer-Businessmen Banquet this year. The banquet was hosted by the farmers with about 150 farmers and guests in attendance. This was the 20th year the farmers and businessmen has alternated in being hosts for the event. This is a good way to bring them together as both have very much in common in working together for better community life.

The speaker (on film) for the banquet was Dr. James H. Jones, Jr., Jerry Litton from Missouri. His topic was "Food Prices too High? Compared to What?"

We, as farmers, farm organizations, and agricultural leaders have failed to counteract and make known the true story. The politicians, news media, consumer advocates, bosses and big business and bureaucrats have pointed their finger at food prices as the main cause of inflation. But the true facts are the consumer can buy more of the best food in the world for one hour's wages than in any time in history.

Being less than 4% in number of population, we as farmers have failed to let the true story where it could be heard in the country.

The American farmer lost a real friend and spokesman with the death of Jerry Litton last year. At our last Kentucky Association Conservation District Board Meeting in Frankfort, November 13th, the Board voted to hold the 1979 Annual Convention at Holiday City, Louisville, September 24 and 25.

State Conservator Gler E. Murray said the SCS budget for Fiscal Year 1979 is about the same as last year but lack of personnel will be serious due to the hiring freeze as of October 15, 1978.

Four supervisors and district conservators of the Rockcastle County Soil Conservation District wishes everyone a Happy Holiday Season and a heartful and prosperous 1979.

Lions Sponsor Four

To Eye Foundation

In the past three months, four Rockcastle children have received special eye treatment from the Ky Lions Eye Foundation at Louisville as a result of the work of the Mt. Vernon Lions Club.

Lions Club President Robert Robinson stated that one of the four required an operation and that all four required treatment that regular eye glasses would not correct, and all at no expense to the child.

President Robinson also stated that the club had bought six other pairs of eye glasses for needy children of the area in the past few months.

Deputy District Governor Billy Bradshaw of Nicholasville, a recent guest and speaker to the club praised the local Lions for their work in providing glasses for the needy children.

President Robinson in accepting the compliment for the club, stated the club is seeking other opportunities to be of service to the county and the community, and made a plan to each Lions member to submit a written suggestion to the club on projects that would better the community and the work of the Lions Club.

The club raises money for their charity projects by sponsoring four summer "Community Flea Markets".

The next regular meeting of the local club is Thursday, December 7th at the Rockcastle Steak House and visitors are welcome, stated President Robinson.

County Agent's Notes

By H. Lee Durham
County Extension Agent
For Agriculture

After repotting, place the plants in a bright sunny window until frost danger is past. Resume normal watering often enough to keep the soil moist. Place the plants outdoors where they get sun most of the day. The pots can be sunk into the ground. Some wind protection is desirable as in light shade during the hottest part of the afternoon. Life sunken pots periodically to keep the roots from growing into the surrounding soil.

Poinsettias

Poinsettias are the traditional Christmas plant. In addition to red, white, pink and bicolor poinsettias are available. Many new long lasting varieties are available. If cared for properly they may last a month or more after Christmas.

Choosing a good quality plant

The bracts should have an intense color and be free of blemishes. The true flowers (yellow in color) should not be mature. If 3 to 5 large bract heads are produced per plant, the pot should be rounded in shape. Make sure the leaves are dark green and do not show insect, disease, or physical damage.

Caring for the new plant

Poinsettias use a lot of water. Check the pot daily. Make sure it remains moist but do not overwater.

Keep the plants out of drafts. Excessively hot, dry air from heating ducts will cause the plant to deteriorate rapidly. Poinsettias are sensitive to cold so avoid location near outside door where they will receive drafts of chilling air.

Keep the plant at temperature from 65-70 degrees. Red poinsettias will retain their color for 4-6 weeks and white poinsettias for up to 2 months if the temperatures are kept around 65 degrees. Do not allow temperatures to drop below 55 degrees.

Place the plant in good light, but do not put in direct sun.

Reblooming poinsettias

The poinsettia is one of the most difficult flowering potted plants to rebloom in the home. Unless you plan make exceptional efforts, discard 1 plant after flowering.

After the bracts fall, gradual withhold water. The plant will become dormant and the leaves will yellow a fall. Store the dormant plant in a cool location (50-60 degrees).

Keep there until spring and water only enough to keep the roots from drying out.

On April or May place the plant in a warm room, and cut the stems back about 6 inches. If there is more than one plant per pot, divide and repot them in regular house plant soil at this time.

As new shoots develop, cut them back to allow 2 nodes or pairs of leaves to remain. Do not pinch back shoots after mid August.

Keep the plants in good growing condition. Water regularly and fertilize with a complete house plant fertilizer about once every two weeks. Watch for insect and disease problems. Discard diseased plants.

Well before the first frost, bring the plant indoors and place it in a bright sunny window. Day length and night temperature are critical for flower development. Beginning about October 1, keep the plants between 60 and 62 degrees at night. Day temperatures may be 70 to 75 degrees.

The poinsettia is a short day plant. Beginning around October 1, the plants should be kept in the dark for a minimum of 14 hours. If the plant is kept in a light room cover it every night at dusk with a light-tight cover or place in a dark closet.

Remove the cover or relocate the plant about 8 a.m. each morning. Even short periods of dim light during the dark period can prevent flowering. Continue the long nights until colored bracts or flower buds are visible. The plants should be well colored for Christmas.

Bible Lesson

"I am writing you in a few words, to give encouragement." I Peter 5:12 New World Translation.

Do you give encouragement? The natural tendency is to think in terms of needing encouragement. It is better to think in terms of giving encouragement. This is the happy way. "There is more happiness in giving than there is in receiving." Jesus Christ (Acts 20:35). Do you enjoy the happiness of giving encouragement?

God caused the various Bible writers to give encouragement, such as Peter in the above example. The writer of the book of Hebrews states: "God...stepped in with an oath, in order that, through two unchangeable things in which it is impossible for God to lie, we who have fled to the refuge may have strong encouragement to lay hold on the hope set before us." (Hebrews 6:17, 18) So God is the Greatest Encourager.

Jesus Christ, the son of God, is a fine example to us in being encouraging to others. When Jesus started the work he was forced to do he applied the words of Isaiah 42:1, 2 to himself in saying: "Jehovah's spirit is upon me, because he appointed me to declare the good news to the poor, he sent me forth to preach a recovery of the captives and a recovery of sight to the blind, to send the crushed ones away with a release, to preach Jehovah's acceptable year." Luke 4:18, 19, New World Translation. The good news that Jesus declared was encouraging to his hearers. It meant the prospect of eternal life (John 17:3) with no more pain, tears or any of the things that make life hard (Psalm 37:10, 11; Revelation 21:3, 4).

Like Jesus and his Father we need to be encouraging to others. But encouragement should also flow both ways between employers and employees, teachers and students, husbands and wives. Though the employer, teacher, and husband have special responsibilities regarding encouragement, yet every employee, student and wife can give more thought to giving encouragement, since encouragement of us," declares the apostle Paul, "please his neighbor in what is good for his upbuilding." Romans 15:2.

Address any suggestions you may have to: Your Weekly Bible Lesson, c/o Raymond Schneider, P.O. Box 705, Mt. Vernon, Ky. 40346.

Home Energy Check

Most homeowners pay higher than necessary fuel bills because their house does not use energy efficiently. With this checklist, you'll discover where your home is wasting fuel and what simple improvements can help reduce your utility bills. The "Home Energy Check" will take you about 90 minutes, but it will pay off with permanent savings. You'll need these tools: flashlight, ruler, candle, gloves, pad and pencil. Let's begin.

In the Attic: Insulation: Use ruler to measure depth of insulation between ceiling joists. Consult a building supply dealer about installation details, special sales.

Vents: Adequate venting reduces build-up of moisture in winter, of heat in summer. This minimizes temperature transfer into living areas and allows insulation to work better. About 1 sq. ft. of venting is recommended for every 150 sq. feet of attic, or 1 sq. feet for every 200 sq. ft. of attic if an adequate vapor barrier is present.

In the Living Areas: Air leakage: Cracks allow heat to escape in winter, enter in summer. To test, hold lit candle by window and door frames, window air-conditioning units, attic door. If flame flickers, you need weather stripping, caulking and perhaps storm windows. Refer to "Outside" section of checklist, and consult a building supply dealer.

Wall insulation: Exterior walls are the second largest area of the house where heat is lost. To see if your walls are insulated, turn off the electricity and remove the plate cover from an electrical outlet on an exterior wall. If there is any insulation, it is generally not feasible or economical to add more.

Fireplaces: Close damper when fireplace is not in use. Otherwise, heating and cooling is lost up the chimney.

Thermostat: set at 68 degrees in winter (turn down 5 degrees more when sleeping), 78 in summer. Turning thermostat on and off throughout the day uses more energy.

Drapes: during winter, open drapes and shades to let sunlight in, and close them at night. During the summer, close drapes and use opaque, light-colored ones to keep sun out.

Unused rooms: close heating and cooling vents, doors in areas seldom used.

In the Kitchen

Seal: to test, close a dollar bill in the door of freezer, refrigerator and oven. If the bill removes with little resistance, the appliance is leaking energy-replace the seal.

Appliances: major appliances use major energy. Use washers and dryers during the morning and later evening hours, and on weekends, when energy requirements are not at their peaks. Some utilities are charging a higher rate for energy used at peak hours.

Lights: install fluorescent light bulb whenever possible; they use less energy.

In the Furnace Area:

Heating/Cooling System: clean or replace furnace and air-conditioner filters once a month. Dirty filters make equipment work harder, use more energy. Have unit serviced once a year.

Water Heater: This is the number 2 energy user in the home. Set temperature between 140-160 degrees. Drain sediments 3-4 times per year.

Duct/Pipes: Hot water pipes plus heating and cooling ducts should be insulated if they are in unheated space.

Floors: heat is lost through poorly insulated floors. If you have a crawl space under your house, install batt-type fiber glass insulation underneath floors.

Venting: Washer-dryer units should be directly to the outside to prevent heat and moisture build up. In an air-conditioned home, close off laundry and kitchen areas when they are in use-cool the room with a fan only.

On the Outside

Windows: storm windows and double panel glass can reduce energy usage. Keep direct sunlight out during summer, but let in as much as possible in winter. This can be done with drapes, shutters, awnings, and shade trees that lose their leaves. Special solar screening can cut summer heat and glare and air-conditioning costs by reflecting the sun's rays.

Weatherstripping and Caulking: as discussed under "air leakage", caulk the cracks around windows, weatherstrip around doors. This can lower your energy consumption significantly.

Doors: Storm doors provide insulation by creating an air space between the storm door and the existing door.

These seven key home improvements have been found to cut energy use significantly across the country: 1) caulking and weatherstripping, 2) storm windows and storm doors, 3) attic insulation, 4) wall insulation, 5) under-floor insulation, 6) maintenance of mechanical systems, 7) maintenance of water heating system. These improvements will pay for themselves. All improvements suggested on this checklist will add to the value of your home and will allow you and your family to live more comfortably. The Home Energy Check is a Search for Savings-and it's your money!

Will Jesus Reign On The Earth For a Thousand Years?

Many believe that He will, but nowhere do we find that the Bible teaches this. The theory that He will do so is called "Premillennialism." Briefly stated, this theory supposes that Christ will return before the millennium. As His second coming only the righteous dead will be resurrected. These, along with living Christians, will be caught up to meet the Lord in the air (usually called the "rapture" of the church). Following this "First" resurrection, the millennium will be established on the earth. This will be one thousand year period during which Satan is bound and during which perfect righteousness will prevail, and the saints will reign with Christ. He will reign from Jerusalem where He will be seated on the throne of David in a rebuilt temple. This states the general theory, though there are manifold variations of it.

Such a theory is based on statements in Rev. 20:1-10. This is the only passage in the Bible that mentions a thousand year reign. We do not believe that the Lord is coming back to reign on the earth for one thousand years. There are two major reasons why we do not believe so: 1) The Nature of the book of Revelation and 2) The clear teaching of other Scripture relating to the end of the world.

It is significant that the only mention in all the Word of God of a one thousand year reign is in the most figurative book in the Bible. We wish to make a literal interpretation of a figurative passage? We believe that the book of Revelation says symbolically what the rest of the New Testament says in literal language and nowhere does it ever imply a literal, thousand year reign of Christ on the earth at some time in the future. The expression, "a thousand years" in Revelation 20 need not mean anything more than a complete period of time known only to God.

We believe in a millennium, but that is the time going on. Now the period of time between the first and the second coming of our Lord, and after we die when He returns. The New Testament teaches that Jesus is now reigning on His throne (God's throne David's throne, Acts 2:30-33). Jesus is now King over His spiritual kingdom (the church). Tim. 6:15-16; 1:13; Mark 9:1; Matt. 16:18-19.

Jesus will not reign on the earth for a thousand years.

How many gifts can say as much?

It's unique. It's personal. It's practical. It comes in all kinds of sizes and styles and decorator colors to match the special character of any friend, and every room. And because a decorator phone has a personality that speaks for itself, it also says exactly what you feel.

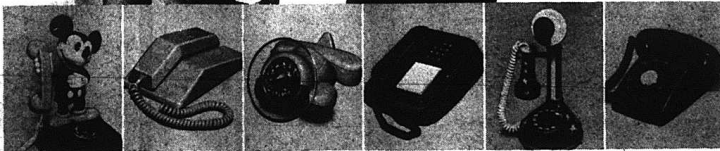

Years from now, the decorator phone you purchase and give will still be talked about.

But best of all, when you give a decorator phone, it will probably leave someone speechless.

And that says just about everything.
