 Greg HARGADON
 This is the first in a series of six articles presented by Greg Hargadon, owner of Greg's Heating and Cooling Company, of Mt. Vernon, Kentucky. The intent of these articles is to help you, the consumer, better understand what goes into a good home comfort system, plus information we feel will help you select the installing contractor best able to install and maintain this system.
 We'll start with your most important step, the selection of the installing contractor. If you don't know him then ask for names and addresses of people where he has installed and serviced equipment. Then use this information. If none has had a malfunction of any kind, you should probably ask for more names. NO manufacturer or installer has very much equipment installed without having at the very least, a few service calls. Your concern is not the fact of the service call, but how was the service call handled? Promptly? Efficiently? Was concern for the customer's well-being shown by the dealer? Here placement parts were required, how much time was required to secure these parts?
 We at Greg's Heating and Cooling Company will be pleased to supply you with this information, and invite your investigation of one of the oldest and most respected names in the home comfort industry. Bard Manufacturing, established 1914, manufacturer of quality electric, gas and oil furnaces; electric air conditioning and a consumer-proven heat pump.
 Our next article will discuss what to look for in equipment.
 Thank you for your interest,

Kindness is Secret of Nursing, Rockcastle's Margaret Parrett Says

By Jane Kundz

"The sicker they are, the more I want to help them," Margaret Parrett says.

She has been in the business of helping people for 22 years as a practical nurse at Rockcastle County Hospital. She is the only member of the staff to have worked at the hospital since it opened September 2, 1956.

"I remember the ceremony very well," she said. "We had many doctors here, including Dr. Webb, Dr. Jones, Dr. Griffith and Dr. Jim Pennington. They gave some speeches and so forth."

Working at the hospital in those first years was different than it is today. The staff was much smaller, and you had to do more. Sometimes it meant a sixteen hour shift, like the time five babies were born on the same day and only one registered nurse was at work. Or a twenty hour shift when eighteen people were injured in a traffic accident and the hospital was already full.

"We had to work that day to get everyone a bed, and properly registered and so forth," Mrs. Parrett recalled. Still, there were advantages to working at the new hospital.

"I think we may have been closer to the patients in those days," Mrs. Parrett said. Everyone was local and knew one another. Many of her patients were neighbors, friends and relatives, whereas today there are many staff members and patients from out of town.

In her 22 years as a nurse, Mrs. Parrett has had some exciting times. She has ridden on ambulance runs, and this summer came to the rescue of a young man badly hurt in a car wreck.

"His teeth were all broken in his mouth, and I couldn't get the respiratory tube in him," she said. She had to use a screwdriver to remove the teeth, but she was able to help him in time.

There was another tense moment several years ago, when Dr. Lewis was late because of a train. One of his patients, a small baby, suddenly stopped breathing. Mrs. Parrett used mouth to mouth resuscitation to revive the baby.

"By the time Dr. Lewis came, the baby was breathing and bawling," she recalled, "and he said, 'Well, I guess you don't need me!'"

Mrs. Parrett said that the introduction of Medicare patients a few years ago brought changes to the hospital.

"We had to hire more staff, because Medicare wants a certain number of nurses on duty at all times," she said, "and of course, it meant more paperwork."

But she thinks that the changes in the hospital and the proposed $1.5 million addition are all for the good.

"I will do a lot for the county," Mrs. Parrett said. People who have been under Mrs. Parrett's care often comment about her natural talent for nursing.

"I think the secret is kindness," she said. This means treating the person gently, remembering that he might be irritable because he's sick, and remembering to be patient.

But Mrs. Parrett also does special things to help. Some might hold someone's hand in surgery, talk to the family of someone who is dying, or spend extra time with an old person.

She herself has known sadness. She is a widow, and now suffers from an unusual disease called "Lupus," which attacks connective tissues. Parts of her body have become reddened and sore because of Lupus, which has no cure or no known cause. The disease has slowed her down somewhat.

"Fatigue is one of its symptoms," she said, "but I want to keep on working. I think if I stayed home, I'd just worry about it. My attitude is important when we're sick."

And attitude is also important to helping the sick. The secret is kindness, as Mrs. Parrett herself said.

Estate Planning Daily Features Of Farm-Home Week

Estate planning programs to help farm and city families save estate taxes and provide for the distribution of their property will be featured every day during Farm and Home Week on the University of Kentucky campus January 3-12.

The topic is scheduled at 2 p.m. each day of the event sponsored by the UK College of Agriculture and Cooperative Extension Service.

Estate planning involves the acquisition of real and personal property, use of it during your lifetime and disposition of property at death. The series of programs during Farm and Home Week will cover nine phases of estate planning:

- 1) Why plan your estate? This includes what you stand to gain in tax savings through proper planning, use of wills and trusts, and how to make sure your property is distributed according to your wishes following your death.
- 2) Property ownership and rights. Discussion will include Kentucky's law of descent and distribution which governs who gets property in an estate when there is no will.
- 3) Taxes and other costs of settling an estate. Speakers will cover the federal estate tax and the Kentucky inheritance tax. Many changes in the federal law were made by the Tax Reform Act of 1976, pointing up the need for families to review wills and estate plans.
- 4) Use of lifetime gifts to reduce the size of an estate and save taxes. Changes in the federal gift tax under the new law will be covered as well as other phases of using this tool effectively in estate planning.

5) Marital deduction. Farm and Home Week visitors will learn "how proper use of the marital deduction generally allows half of the estate property to pass tax free to a spouse."

6) Trusts. Experts point out that a trust, when properly set up, is an effective tax-saving tool to use in planning an estate.

7) Life insurance. Emphasis will be on different types of life insurance available, how to use it to achieve estate planning goals, and the importance of life insurance to provide cash needed when settling an estate.

8) Providing income during retirement. According to experts, is an important phase of estate planning needed to maintain a good standard of living during retirement. Speakers will cover social security, and private tax-sheltered retirement plans. The latter includes Keogh plans for business and the relatively new IRA plans for individuals.

9) Types of business organization and their effect on estate planning. This program will cover sole proprietorships, partnerships and corporations with emphasis on use of small subchapter S Corporations.

Estate planning is only one of many types of information that will be presented during Farm and Home Week. Programs, workshops, exhibits, and speeches will cover a wide range of topics.

"There will be something for everyone, whether you live on a farm or in a city," says John Ragland, Associate Dean of Extension in the UK College of Agriculture and chairman of Farm and Home Week.

Information will be served "cafeteria" style. You will be able to pick and choose from the many programs to get what you need and want. Each day of the week-long educational event will emphasize a certain aspect of agriculture and homemaking.

For agriculture, emphasis will be on tobacco Monday, markets and marketing Tuesday, energy Wednesday, grain and livestock Thursday and forage and livestock Friday.

For homemakers, emphasis will be on food, nutrition and health Monday, simplifying lifestyles and clothing for all ages Tuesday, housing designs, landscaping and new products for the home Wednesday; developing parent-child values and dealing with emotional stress and crisis Thursday and facing family conflicts Friday.

Removing Dead Plants

Now is the time for removal all dead plants whether they are trees, shrubs, or evergreens. Dead plants do not contribute anything to the attractiveness of the place. Half dead plants come in the same category as those that are entirely dead. You often see half-dead evergreens that are still in the front foundation planting. Homeowners say they have $4 or $5 invested in the plant, and they intend to keep it as long as it has any life left in it. They should realize that very often the effort is terrible when a half-dead evergreen stands beside one that is good-looking.

EXTENSION HOME ECONOMICS

By Cheryl Witt
County Extension Agent
For Home Economics

Sunny Side Up
Don't let inflationary food costs get you down. Enjoy the sunny side. Believe it or not one of nature's best foods—the egg—is almost as low in price today as it was in 1981. Over the past twenty-seven years the price of a dozen eggs has risen only 18 cents, an amazingly small change when you consider the double digit increase of other foods. What a pleasant surprise to find that some of the most nutritious and versatile foods around is still low in cost.

The main reason egg prices are low is efficiency—efficiency in breeding and raising hens, feeding and housing them, and collecting and processing their eggs. Today's huge laying houses shelter thousands of birds, at just-right temperatures with carefully controlled lighting and feeding. In most modern egg operations, conveyor belts gather the eggs. Washing, weighing, grading and packing are all done by machine. It takes only .0006 to .0008 of a man hour or only 2.8 cents in labor to produce a dozen eggs. (Other commodities can cost as much as ten times that amount to produce.)

Eggs are a nutritional bargain, too. The only protein considered better than the egg is mother's milk, while the only protein foods cheaper are peanut butter and beans. Eggs supply 13 minerals, every vitamin except C, and at only 80 calories each!

And eggs can do so many things. Scrambled, fried, baked, poached, cooked in the shell, souffled, omeleted or quiche'd, they make a great main dish. They are also essential ingredients in many recipes for frosting, emulsifying, thickening, leavening or coating. So keep enough eggs on hand. And remember to store them—large-end up in their original carton in your refrigerator—they will stay fresh this way for four or five weeks.

Don't let inflation and meal planning get you down. Let eggs help you! They are easy, economical and elegant!

Casseroles Suprem

This tempting combination of convenient packaged macaroni and cheese and hard-cooked eggs is nutritious, quick to fix, and a satisfying supper.

- 1 pkg. macaroni and cheese dinner (7 1/2 oz.)
- 1/4 cup milk
- 2 eggs
- 1 to 2 tsp. instant minced onion
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/8 tsp. pepper
- 6 hard cooked eggs (1 wedged, 5 chopped)
- 1/4 cup cheddar celery
- 1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 2 T. butter, melted
- Watercress, optional

Prepare macaroni and cheese dinner according to package directions. Meanwhile, beat together milk, 2 eggs, onion, salt and pepper until blended. Reserving 3 egg wedges for garnish, chop remaining egg wedges. Stir milk mixture, chopped eggs and celery into prepared macaroni and cheese dinner. Spread evenly in greased 12x7x2 inch baking dish or pan. Combine bread crumbs and butter. Sprinkle casserole. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes or until hot and bubbly. Let stand 3 to 5 minutes before serving. Garnish with reserved egg wedges and watercress, if desired.

Cheese Omelet

You can concoct this easy-to-eat, low cost omelet with food from your "Fridge". Spark it with your favorite herbs and spices for a zesty, single-serving supper.

- 1/4 cup cottage cheese
- 1 T. chopped chives or snipped parsley
- 2 eggs
- 2 T. water
- 1/8 tsp. basil, crushed
- dash pepper
- 1 T. butter

Combine cheese and chives, set aside. Mix eggs, water, basil, and pepper with fork. Heat butter in omelet pan or skillet (approx. 8-inch) until just hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Pour in egg mixture. Mixture should set at edges at once. With pancake turner, carefully draw cooked portions at edges toward center, so uncooked portions flow to bottom. Tilt pan as it is necessary so uncooked eggs can flow. Slide pan rapidly back and forth over heat to keep mixture in motion and aiding freely. When top is still moist and creamy-looking, place cottage cheese mixture on half of omelet. With pancake turned, fold in half or roll, turning out onto platter with a quick flip of the wrist.

GOOD CENTS

Aged natural cheese costs the most. Process cheese varieties are medium priced. Cheese foods are the least of all, often costing 25 cents a pound less than natural cheese and contain practically all the nutrients in natural cheese.

Some people believe that if a bat lands on your head, it won't leave till it hears thunder.

Improve Garbage Collection, And Keep Courthouse Cleaner, Grand Jury Recommends

The Rockcastle County Grand Jury came back Dec. 21 with a report that was still critical of the "county's difficult garbage situation" and the general condition of the courthouse. The Jury also returned seven criminal indictments.

Regarding garbage collection in the county, the Jury noted that it had been somewhat improved, particularly the cleanliness of garbage containers and the increased regularity with which they are emptied, "since its last inspections July 17."

"However," the Jury went on to say, "we are still a long way from a happy solution to our problem... We urge that law enforcement officials arrest and prosecute those who are found to be littering or missing the garbage collection containers located throughout the county... We urge the public to use the containers in the proper manner, always placing the litter inside the collection containers, and that the entire population of our county take pride in the beautiful countryside in which we live and frequently overlook."

The Grand Jury followed through with the recommendations.

The Jury commended the county Fiscal Court, Judge Executive Hubert Thacker, and the garbage collection service for the progress made so far. Thirty-four warrants for littering have been issued since July through the county Health Department. Eleven have gone to District Court, but all were continued pending further investigation.

Conditions of the Courthouse
"The only portion of the Courthouse we found in excellent condition and repair was the jail," the Grand Jury said. "In addition to being clean and well-kept, the jail now has two television sets for the use of the prisoners."

The rest of the courthouse, however, got "little praise from the Grand Jury."

Improvement could be made in the general cleanliness; there are many places where the plaster on the walls and ceiling is cracked and deteriorating; the ceiling on the first and second floors have numerous leaks... all of which need to be repaired and corrected as quickly as possible.

The Jury pointed to an exposed electrical breaker box on the third floor and a broken hand rail on the stairs leading to the third floor as problems that might cause injury to the public. Other specific problems are: Light fixtures in hallways need repair:

Ceiling tile missing on first floor;
Inoperable thermostats;
Covers off of motor fan belt and a thermostat;
Leaking pipes and paper towels lying loose in the mechanical room;
Numerous leaks in the ceiling on the first and second floors, apparently due to condensation on heating pipes. Better ventilation of the areas might solve the problem.
Plaster deteriorating all over the building, apparently caused by the leaks.

George Poynter, Dr. Rudolph Burdette Installed at School Board Meeting

As the first item of business at Tuesday night's meeting of the Rockcastle County Board of Education, George Poynter and Dr. Rudolph Burdette were installed for their four-year terms by county Judge Executive Hubert Thacker. Mr. Poynter won election, unopposed, as representative from District 1 and Dr. Burdette, also unopposed, was re-elected from District 2. Dr. Burdette was also chosen once again as Chairman of the Board.

Following the reading of the December minutes by Supt. Charles Parsons, the Board, upon the recommendation of Supt. Parsons, changed their regular monthly meeting date from the first Monday night to the first Tuesday night of each month, effective with the February meeting.

Some discussion was then held as to how the section of the high school which was re-roofed recently is holding out, particularly during the recent heavy rains. Supt. Parsons reported that everything seemed to be doing alright in that section.

The single bid received for Workmen's Compensation was then opened and accepted. The bid was from State Farm Insurance for $9,816.00.

In other business, the Board renewed their contract with Attorney Carl Cloutz at the same fee of $900 per year which includes representation of the bus drivers; approved the purchase of a 1976 Dodge window van from Dowdall and Martin Funeral Home for $3,495.00 for use as a school bus; approved Polly Abney and Jimmy McKinney as substitute teachers.

Subject to certification; approved lights in front of Roundstone School, at the request of Board member Kenneth Adams; employed Steve Singleton to drive Board students to transport handicapped students to EKV campus daily at the rate of $5 per day; approved payment of $2,500 to Preston Collins for construction of a tire storage room at the new school bus garage and approved the advertisement for bids for lunchroom food and supplies-bids will be opened January 31 at 1 p.m. for tabulation.

Mr. Parsons also discussed with the Board some recent recommendations received from the State Fire Marshall's office for county schools.

The first recommendation, and the one which will no doubt be the most costly to the school system, is the installation of fire doors at the top and bottom of all stairwells.

Mr. Parsons told the Board that this would not present too much of a problem at Mt. Vernon and the High School or at Roundstone School but would be quite costly at Broadhead and Livingston Elementary Schools.

The second recommendation concerned separating kitchens from the rest of the building with one hour fire resistant materials. Here too, Broadhead School will prove the most costly because of the openness of the kitchen into the cafeteria there. Livingston and Mt. Vernon will require metal pull-downs and the High School and Roundstone are adequately provided for. The third and last recommendation concerned the installation of a fire escape at Livingston School of the back side.

Mr. Parsons said that the school board was not required to remedy these items until school had recessed for the summer.

Pvt. Timothy Chasteen

Completes Army Training

Pvt. Timothy D. Chasteen, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Chasteen, Rt. 3, Mt. Vernon, recently completed one One Station Unit Training (OSUT) at Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. This qualifies the soldier as a light weapons infantryman and as an indirect fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad. Chasteen entered the Army in July 1978.

Mainly Routine Items Before Fiscal Court, Sheriff's Office Asks Financial Support

Mainly routine items of business were before the Rockcastle Fiscal Court Tuesday morning for their regular monthly called meeting.

Irene Bales, Clerk, told the court that the voting machine in the Orlando precinct was ruined by flood waters recently and that she had obtained a price from Harp Enterprises of $1,250 to replace the machine with a rebuilt one carrying a five-year guarantee.

Mrs. Bales said that the voting machine was completely ruined by the flood waters but that Harp Enterprises had agreed to give some trade-in on the rebuilt one. She also recommended that the spare machine, being kept in the courthouse, be transferred to the Orlando precinct and the new rebuilt one kept as a spare machine. The court agreed to let Mrs. Bales handle the acquisition of the new machine.

Mrs. Pat Todd, local administrator of the Weatherization Office, was before the court to request that the court purchase an insulation machine (to blow insulation into walls and ceilings) for $845 to be used in the county. The court approved the purchase but Magistrate Frank DeBorde questioned how the project was being administered and who decided which houses were approved for the program. Mrs. Todd said that the Daniel Boone Development Council under which the local program is administered, decided which homes were improved and that elderly people had first priority on a first-come first-served basis.

Mrs. Anna Rose Mullins, told the court that the Road Material and Maintenance account in the general fund is out of money and there were bills needing to be paid in the amount of approximately $2,600. She said there was approximately $13,000 in the New Road Equipment fund in Revenue Sharing and that money could be transferred from this account to the Road Maintenance account also in Revenue Sharing and the bills could be paid from this account. The magistrates voted to transfer $3,000 from the New Road Equipment account to the Road Maintenance account.

Lloyd Cain was before the court to request the establishment of a new road from 1505 eastward to the W.F. Hasty land and serving adjoining landowners including Mr. Cain. The court voted unanimously to establish this road, and a resolution was prepared for publication.

Fay Thompson Named Director Of Rockcastle Senior Citizens

Fay Thompson, a native of Mt. Vernon, has taken over the job of director of the Rockcastle County Senior Citizens project.

The new job presents a challenge, because the project has been having financial problems for several years. While the daily lunch program is going strong, there is not enough money to provide transportation for seniors to take trips together, or to go to their doctors out of the county.

"I have several ideas for things we can do in the future," Mrs. Thompson said, "but all the new projects will have to depend on volunteers, because of the money situation."

Among the ideas Mrs. Thompson has are art and music lessons, trips to interesting places, handicraft classes, and parties. She is looking for volunteers to teach classes, provide transportation, perform work, and otherwise help the program. She also intends to contact clubs such as Kiwanis, Lions and Jaycees to see if they might raise money for the Senior Citizens.

The project currently serves a hot lunch every day between noon and 1:30 p.m. at the Rockcastle County Library to about 35 people. Anyone over 55 years of age may come for the lunch. People who can afford to pay something are encouraged to do so.

Mrs. Thompson's paid staff includes Lois Philbeck, who manages the site at the library and the lunch program, and Evelyn Poynter, an aide. All three staff members are part-time employees. The volunteer chairman of the senior citizens' Board is Lance Dillingham.

"People may have the idea that because we are a government program, there is lots of money available to us," Mrs. Thompson said, "but this is not the case."

She said that other counties are able to provide more services, including entertainment, to seniors because of volunteers and contributions from local clubs, businesses and churches.

Two Rockcastle Men Serve on State Board

Two Rockcastle Countians have been named to the Board of Trustees of Kentuckians for Better Transportation (KBT). They are John Cox and W. Ed Hunt, both of Mt. Vernon.

A number of community leaders from throughout Kentucky have been asked to serve in this advisory capacity to KBT.

The first meeting of the trustees will be Jan. 5 at the Hyatt Regency in Lexington. Conference sessions on Jan. 5 will focus on some of the crucial transportation issues facing Kentucky and the nation and are for trustees and others interested in transportation, according to John W. Fish, president of KBT. Sessions on Jan. 6 are for trustees only.

Mt. Vernon to Ask For Up to $1 Million for Neighborhood Project

By Jane Kundtz

The city of Mt. Vernon may ask the federal government for up to $1 million to fix up the Fairground Hill neighborhood. The improvements may include laying down sewers, sidewalks, paving streets, rehabilitating houses, and possibly building a playground or acquiring a house for a senior citizens' center.

The streets involved are Poplar, Locust, Quarry, Old Somerset, and Fish (see map).

The money would come through the Community Development Block Grant program for small cities. About $12 million has been earmarked for rural counties in Kentucky this year, but chances of getting a grant are only fair. Last year only 30 out of 120 applications were funded (Mt. Vernon's was turned down).

In order to improve its chances, the city has hired the three consultant firm of Will Linder & Associates. Last year this firm wrote 60% of all the applications that were funded through the Community Development program in Kentucky.

Jennifer Bush, a community development specialist with Will Linder & Associates, led a public hearing Dec. 28 about the Poplar Street project.

She said that Mt. Vernon would have a better chance of getting a grant if it concentrated on one area of the city, and came up with a comprehensive plan for its improvement.

"HUD (the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development) wants money spent quickly and correctly," she said. "They want to drive through an area and see a definite impact that their money made."

Twelve people attended the public hearing, some of whom live in the area in question.

Among the priorities for the neighborhood they listed were: sewers, paved streets, sidewalks, and improved housing. Floyd Owens said that a sidewalk to the high school is needed. Mrs. Virgie Sowder said there was a drainage problem in the area, and that dirty water ran all over the streets sometimes.

Lance Dillingham, chairman of the Senior Citizens' Board, asked if some money might be spent on a van for senior transportation. There was some discussion about setting up a center for senior citizens in the Poplar area.

Ms. Bush said that it would be necessary to take a door-to-door survey of the neighborhood, asking people to answer questions about their income level, number in the family, head of household and so forth. This information would be needed on the application, because the Community Development program was designed to help low income people.

Mayor Roland Mullins said that the survey would be started this week, and hopefully by the next public hearing set for (tonight) Jan. 4, at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

City Hall Improvements

Improvements to Mt. Vernon City Hall are being paid for with money from the coal severance fund. Mayor Roland Mullins said today, and not with local tax money. He said that the coal severance program will only pay for certain kinds of items, such as improvement to City Hall.

Mayor Mullins said that he wanted to make that point clear because of a picture and caption in last week's Signal that may have confused some people.

Besides, the new bricks and improvements, the $17,000 project also includes a metal storage building, that will be assembled and placed behind City Hall.

The project was approved by the Department for Local Government in Frankfort on October 18, 1977.

Fix Up Main Street.

Mayor Asks Frankfort

Mt. Vernon's Mayor Roland Mullins said this week that he and others would like to talk to state officials there about widening West Main Street (KY-1328) and putting in sidewalks to Rockcastle County High School.

The city's application for road improvements to KY-1328 was turned down by the Governor's Development Cabinet in Frankfort. Ralph Coldren, officer of the Kentucky Development Cabinet, said the application was rejected because Main Street would not serve the Rockcastle County Industrial Park, and $201 rural access road funds have been designated to serve industrial parks.

He said that the application was approved in Frankfort, but rejected later by Washington officials who made the final review.

Mayor Mullins said that he thought the road was important to the park and to the community, and that there was a question of public safety involved.

This is a partial map of the city of Mt. Vernon. The area marked in black shows the streets in the Fairground Hill neighborhood which will be improved by a grant from the federal government, if Mt. Vernon's application for funding is accepted. A public hearing into the matter will be held tonight.

Legislative Report

By Harold DeMarcus

On January 8, 1979, Kentucky's General Assembly will convene in a Special Session to begin work for one specific purpose to reduce the Commonwealth's taxes. The state legislature consists of one hundred members in the House of Representatives and thirty-eight members in the Senate.

Today, there is much concern about taxes, their rate and type as well as how the revenue is allotted. First, you know who pays the taxes and in many instances how the revenue is spent. Perhaps it would be of interest to know which Kentucky bureaucratic agency administers the Commonwealth's tax laws.

The Kentucky Department of Revenue is responsible for the administration of the state's tax laws. The department consists of nine divisions, two of which are described as staff divisions, four as tax divisions, and three as service divisions. For this purpose, the tax divisions will be the focal point.

The tax divisions are Property and Inheritance tax, income tax, sales and severance tax and selective excise tax. The Property and Inheritance Tax Division administers the laws relative to inheritance and property taxes and provides technical assistance at the local level for the assessment and taxation of property.

The Income Tax Division administers personal and corporate income taxes and the corporation license tax. The Sales and Severance Tax Division is responsible for administering the general sales tax and the severance tax on coal.

The Selective Excise Tax Division administers the law relative to the excise tax on motor fuel and several other excise taxes, including the alcoholic beverages tax, the cigarette tax, and the amusement tax. Funds from the licensing of motor vehicles, motorboats and driver licenses are collected by the Department of Transportation.

The Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals has been an independent agency since 1964. It has authority to reverse any final ruling or order of the department affecting taxpayer rights but decisions of the board may be appealed to the courts.

Kentucky's state government receives most of its tax reduction in the Kentucky excise tax on motor fuels or the gasoline tax. This tax should be reviewed for two reasons.

The first being the fact that Kentucky has one of the highest gasoline taxes in the nation. Secondly, gasoline prices are going to be raised to a level that will prove to be very uncomfortable for the consumer.

Gasoline and home heating fuel prices will rise because the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries "OPEC" is going to raise their rate for a 42 gallon barrel of oil by 14.5 percent. This is particularly significant when you consider that the United States buys 37 percent of its oil from OPEC. If this business has to pay higher fuel prices, they will increase the consumer price of their products.

The Appropriations and Revenue Committee "A&R" will have a heavy workload in the 1979 special session. Every tax and spending cut proposal will have to be reviewed by the A&R committee.

A&R requested the Lt. Governor to appear at their first December meeting for the purpose of explaining her tax and spending cut proposals. The Lt. Governor refused to appear without giving the committee any explanations. Her lack of action further intensifies the belief that she has no concrete tax reducing plan but only higher political aspirations.

The committee will invite the Lt. Governor to appear at its next meeting. If that invitation is refused, A&R will consider asking the Legislative Research Committee to subpoena the Lt. Governor to ensure her appearance. Whatever happens in the Special Session, you can be sure that one thing will be some form of tax relief for Kentucky's citizens.

Foreign Burley Entering U.S. at Record Rate

By Bennett Roach

While growers are watching the 1978-79 tobacco markets establish record high prices, a rising tide of foreign-grown burley is entering this country. Some observers see it as a threat to the U.S. crop.

Import figures in government reports this week raised new concerns among growers in the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association over sharp increases in stocks of foreign-grown burley. Apparently it is entering the U.S. in record high volume.

For the six months April to October the supply of foreign-grown burley held by manufacturers and growers jumped about 20 percent. The total on hand now is 174,617,000 pounds.

This amounts to about 30 percent of an average year's crop produced in the U.S. At the same time it is noted that domestic use of burley dropped 18 million pounds.

For some time, it has been known in the trade that some U.S. manufacturers were working to set up their own supply sources overseas, but even growing burley on experimental, company-owned farms. This and other import burley is used mainly for blending with domestic tobacco in cigarettes.

As recently as last April the foreign-grown burley stocks in the U.S. amounted to 135,899,000 pounds. Now a gain of 38 million pounds is shown in six months, a rise of over 22 percent. Burley imports have even outstripped incoming flue-cured, whose stocks now total 132,368,000 pounds. Oriental and aromatic types reached 295,201,000 for the period.

The U.S. market for burley during the late 1950's and early '60's imported burley was practically unknown. The same was true of flue-cured, which is the main ingredient.

FISCAL COURT

George Coleman, newly hired deputy in Sheriff Henry Lee Abney's office, was asked to provide some financial support from the court for the Sheriff's office. Deputy Coleman told the court that they had checked with several other counties and had found that most of them did receive some support from their fiscal courts. He said that there was just not sufficient revenue to meet the expenses of the office. There was very little discussion by the court except that Magistrate Frank DeBorde did say that he felt if there were any way the court could help it should. However, the matter was tabled for further discussion with a decision promised by next Fiscal Court meeting.

Some other transfers were made in the general fund budget: unappropriated revenue in the total amount of $40,655.85 from the following sources—$15,216.85 from the Economic Aid Fund, $10,439.00 from the Administrative Offices of the Court for courthouse rental and $15,000.00 from the Cumberland Valley Area Development District was distributed to three accounts in the general fund: New Road Machinery, $30,216.85; Road Maintenance and Material, $5,439.00 and Reserve for Emergencies, $5,000.

Rockets Amble to 57-47

Victory over Whitley Co.

The RCHS boys team won their first game of the new year Tuesday night when they traveled to Williamsburg to defeat Whitley County 57-47.

The Rockets didn't look good against the much smaller Whitley County team who were scrappers nonetheless and managed to stay in the game the entire way.

Leading scorer for the Rockets was their big man, Walter Browning, with 17 points; Steve Center pumped in 13 while David Riddle, who took over the starting position of senior David Penso who recently quit the team, got 10. Eddie Thompson garnered 9; Jeff Hammonds picked up 4 and Frank Phillips and Jack Farthing got 2 each.

in U.S. blended cigarettes. In 1968-69, the government listed yearly imports of burley and flue-cured combined at only 200 thousand pounds.

In the last report on season's sales before the holidays the Burley Assn. listed 18,992,360 pounds taken under loan from the 1978 crop, or 6 pct., compared with 8.62 pct., at this time last season. Baled burley made up 4,998,280 pounds of the 1978 consignments, or 6.40 percent.

Alvin R. Beckley, executive secretary-treasurer of the Association, announced additional sales of old stock tobacco this week, amounting to 1,261,559 pounds from the 1976 crop, leaving 56,104,116 pounds on hand.

The markets resumed sale on Jan. 4. The USDA quota hearing for setting 1979 crop production and marketing limits is set for 10 a.m. January 9, in Memorial Hall, University of Kentucky, Lexington.

Among topics to be discussed at the conference are transportation of coal and farm products; city, county, and state road and highway problems; public transit legislation and funding; and the effects of airline and proposed truck and rail deregulation on shippers and consumers.

The key man in the U.S. Congress in transportation, James J. Howard, chairman of the House Surface

Transportation Subcommittee, will speak at dinner on Jan. 8.

Phi noted that "every part of our state and every person is affected by the kind of transportation system we have and that trustees will be asked to examine transportation problems as they affect our state and people and make recommendations for their solution."

He said that the trustees who have been named "are people who want to work together and with others to provide more adequate transportation for Kentucky's people and products."

Kentuckians for Better Transportation is an association for those who believe that an efficient transportation system is vital to the well-being of all Kentuckians. The organization includes all modes of transportation—pipeline, rail, water, air, public transit, and highway—and providers and users of transportation.

Bible Lesson

"After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in Heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy Kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." Matthew 6:9-10.

Jesus, when he was on earth, helped his followers to know what and how to pray. It is evident in the model prayer that the two most important things to pray about were, first of all God's name, that it be hallowed or held in high regard, (Psalm 83:18). Then Jesus mentioned "Thy Kingdom come." He meant God's government.

But what else may a person pray for? At mealtime he could express thanks for the meal as Jesus did, (Matthew 14:19) He could at times make mistakes and so would need to ask God's forgiveness, (Luke 11:4) All of us need material necessities like food, shelter and clothing, these things could be

Changes Made in Programs

The Kentucky Department for Human Resources today will begin notifying health care providers by mail about new regulations governing federally funded sterilization procedures. One major change requires clients to wait at least 30 days after consenting to an operation before undergoing the procedure. The former limit was three days.

Another change is the banning of payments for hysterectomies (surgical removal of the uterus) performed solely for sterilization, Huecker said.

The new rules were drafted by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and apply to all programs receiving federal funds. The Kentucky Medical Assistance Program (Medicaid) is among several state services affected by the regulations.

Gail Huecker, commissioner of the Human Resources Department's Bureau for Social Insurance, said the changes go into effect Feb. 6, 1979. Physicians, hospitals and health centers participating in Medicaid will be informed of major revisions in a five-page letter, she said.

Huecker noted that the extended waiting period does not apply in cases of premature birth or emergency abdominal surgery. In those instances, the time limit remains at three days.

The regulations also tighten the procedure for obtaining client consent to surgery. The patient must be informed both orally and in writing of the included in prayer. (Luke 11:3) Other things we can pray for according to the Bible include: knowledge of God's will, for God's spirit, on behalf of others and in praise of God.

But Jesus gives us a caution as to how we should pray. In Matthew 6:7 he says: "But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think they shall be heard for their much speaking." Prayer should then be from the heart, not a memorized repetitious prayer, saying the same things over and over again.

Prayer should be directed to Jesus. Father as the Father, words of the model prayer indicate: "Our Father which art in heaven." In order for our prayers to be answered we need to offer them in Jesus' name, recognizing him as the mediator between God and man.

If we listen to Jesus as to his instructions on how and what to pray we can have our prayers answered. Of the righteous man the Bible makes a contrast, it says: "The Lord is far from the wicked; but he heareth the prayer of the righteous." - Proverbs 15:29.

Prayer is one way we worship God. Learn from Jesus' example and what the Bible says and always "preserve in prayer."

consequences and risks of sterilization surgery.

Under the revised regulations, no one under 21 years old may consent to sterilization surgery. Formerly, in Kentucky, the minimum age was 21 at the time of surgery, rather than the time of consent.

Dec. Floods Affected Over Half of Counties, Red Cross Says

The December floods that swept through Kentucky affected almost half of Kentucky's counties according to information just released by Red Cross.

So far Red Cross has committed $731,061 in assisting 2,078 families in 53 counties of the Commonwealth.

In the early stages of its around the clock relief effort, Red Cross provided food, clothing and temporary housing, basic household furnishings and equipment for home repair to the disaster victims.

The organization also distributed 4,000 cleanup kits, 4,000 comfort kits, 1,400 cots and 6,000 blankets.

The expenditure for mass care which included feeding the disaster victims and relief workers totaled $56,334. At the peak period of the disaster, 15 Red Cross shelters were in operation housing those forced from their homes.

Mr. John McGraw, manager of the Kentucky Division American Red Cross, urged any individual that has not received assistance because of flood damage, contact their local Red Cross chapter after the first of the year.

Mr. McGraw stated "while the press, radio and television have repeatedly mentioned that Red Cross help is available, there may still be some people who are as yet unaware of that fact due to the widespread damage of this disaster."

He strongly emphasized that local Red Cross chapters would remain on the job and continue to give assistance to those needing it because of flood related damage.

Offers Financial Assistance

Beginning January 2, the Army will offer a limited number of high school graduates the opportunity to enlist for only two years. The new, experimental program - which includes up to $7400 for college or other training - is aimed at male and female high school seniors and graduates looking for a break before continuing their education.

According to Sergeant Herb Wall of the Richmond Army Recruiting Station, only 12,500 Army jobs will be filled by two-year enlistees. The jobs - both in Europe and the United States - are in a limited number of Army occupations, primarily in the armor, artillery, infantry and missile fields.

These jobs will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis, and we expect them to go quickly," he added. "High school seniors who would like to take this new Army option will give the high school graduate a chance to see the world and to gain valuable experience and maturity," said the recruiter.

Kentucky Afraid

By John Wilson

Winter fishing in Kentucky can be productive and it takes some really bad weather to keep anglers from the water. The "Winter of '78" it was possible to find concentrations of fishermen in some locations.

Although most lakes (and many rivers) were covered with solid sheets of ice, the rapidly flowing waters below many dams remained open. Below Barkley Dam in Western Kentucky, it was not unusual to see several dozen fishermen braving temperatures in the 20s and wind chill factors of well below zero.

They were fishing for, and catching, sauger. The sauger, a close relative of the walleye, is rapidly gaining popularity with Kentucky anglers. Populations of this fish have increased greatly in recent years and fishermen are discovering techniques to catch sauger year-round.

While this sauger fishing is fairly new to Kentucky, cold weather techniques for catching other species are traditional and well established. Crappie fishermen will often break through ice-covered bays to reach the open water of the main lake where they find concentrations of crappies around channel drop-offs, submerged brush piles or other cover areas.

Many bass fishermen look forward to cold weather and high, muddy waters. When these conditions exist, they break out their jigging poles, and catch some of their biggest strings of bass of the year. Jigging, a technique which originated at Herrington Lake, involves using a long stiff cane or fiberglass pole with a fairly short line, a large float and live bait, usually nightcrawlers. The fisherman eases along the shoreline, "jigging" the bait in and around stumps, logs, drift piles and other cover. When a bass hits, the angler hoists him out of the dense cover and into the boat with one heave of the pole.

The muddier the water, the nearer the surface the bass will be. If the water is clear, many anglers cast a bottom bouncing bait, such as a jig (usually black and often dressed with a pork rind trailer). This "jig-n-roll" combination is crawler along the bottom and down the stair-step ledges of rocky points.

The watchword for all winter fishing is slow. Fish are sluggish and require little food. They aren't in the mood to chase after a rapidly moving bait, or even to move a few feet to grab at a lure, no matter how tempting. But dangle one right in front of the fish's nose and he'll usually strike.

Remember to use caution during all winter fishing trips. Cold water is extremely dangerous and survival time for anyone thrown overboard is measured in minutes. Wear a flotation device at all times, and be prepared to cope with emergencies.

We hesitate to recommend ice fishing in Kentucky. Ice can be treacherous, particularly as it starts to melt. Fish are sluggish and require little food.
