TECHNICAL SKILL IS AN IMPORTANT CONSIDERATION WHEN SELECTING A HEATING/COOLING CONTRACTOR

GREG HARGADON

As we said last week, this, our second article, is intended to assist you in the selection of your cooling and/or heating system from the many fine brands offered.

Again, we wish to stress the importance of your dealer. A reputable dealer will be certain that he has a brand such as Bard that has proven itself over the years. There are many fine brands on the market and the advertising would make you think each is the best, however, no brand is better than the dealer and distributor. Make certain the dealer has a technician on his payroll and the distributor has back-up technical help as well as parts immediately available at the local level. Many installers are not technicians. They buy from distributors who offer no local level technical aid and parts must be ordered from a factory with the resultant delays and inconvenience to you.

Again we say, investigate. Only a comparatively few brands offer all of this.

We at Greg's Heating and Cooling stock the basic parts for Bard and our distributor stocks all of the working parts for Bard and has a technician readily available. If we need him.

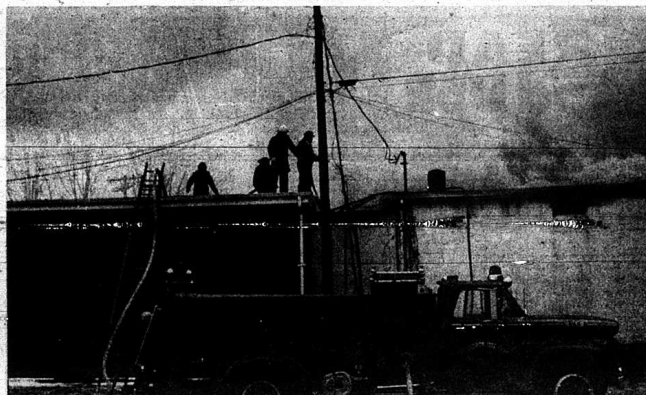

Next week, we will discuss what constitutes an adequate system, as compared to an excellent system.

Best wishes for better home comfort, Greg Hargadon

The fire at the auto parts started in the rear of the building and an explosion occurred which lifted the roof partially off the building. Mt. Vernon firefighters tried to reach the blaze from the rear while Brodhead firemen and other Mt. Vernon firemen worked toward the blaze from the front of the building. The explosion was caused by paint and other chemicals inside the building.

By: Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

Rev. Harvey Pensol filled his regular appointment at the Fairview Baptist Church over the week end. Due to bad weather and slick roads, Sunday School attendance was down to 70 but we thank God for the ones who were able to be there. Some of us just couldn't make it.

We extend our deepest sympathy to the families who have lost loved ones recently - Johnny Allen of Mt. Vernon, Thomas Cameron of Berea and Mrs. Harriett Berry of Disputanta. Our prayers are with you at this time. May God comfort each of you in your sorrow.

leaker, and flammable materials—some of which were in five gallon containers. Aerosol cans exploded everywhere, as the flammable liquids released deadly gases and smoke. There were several explosions—one lifting the part of the roof five inches off its blocks.

The fire was out by about 5 p.m. No dollar estimate of loss has been given. The store was owned by Jack Hopper, whose partners in the auto supply business are Jack Bright and Layton Lay. The men had been in business eleven years.

The business is being run from the store next to Bullock's Shoe Store on Main Street in Mt. Vernon. Hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

BRODHEAD FIRE
The frame house of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Payne was partly destroyed by fire Monday morning about 9 a.m. The house is about two miles from Brodhead on Spiro Road.

Eight members of the Brodhead Fire Department fought the fire for about two hours, according to Everett Bradley, Fire Chief. The fire was extinguished and the Paynes were able to stay in the house.

It was about five hours Sunday before the blaze was completely brought under control at Rockcastle Auto Parts Sunday. The business is now in the process of relocating on Main Street in the building formerly occupied by Radio Shack. The firemen prevented the spread of the fire to adjoining building although some water did seep into the adjacent PCA building.

What Kind of Preaching Does God Want?

Many people today are under the impression that it is unkind to question anyone's religious beliefs. They believe that a preacher must agree with everyone, offend no one, and be sort of a social butterfly that pours honey over everything. However, the Bible says that New Testament preachers were bold and fearless in challenging existing religious beliefs of their day.

The apostle Paul "spoke boldly" (Acts 19:8-9), and "disputed" (Acts 17:16-17). The preacher Stephen also "disputed" (Acts 6:9). The Lord Jesus Christ himself "offended" some (Matt. 15:12), called names when necessary (Matt. 23:13), and stirred up many people (Luke 23:45).

This advice is given to preachers in the New Testament: (1) "Beloved, it was needful for me to write unto you and exhort you that ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered to the saints" (Jude 3). (2) "Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all long suffering and doctrine" (2 Tim. 4:2).

Some bold statements are also found in God's word: (1) "Whoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God" (2 Jno. 9). (2) "But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction" (2 Pet. 2:1).

One who claims to be a preacher today who will not speak out against evil and false teaching is not worthy of the name. Such refusal to stand up may put him on the "in" with his church and the populace, but God has no pleasure in such a "preacher."

District Court Has No Judge

District Court in Rockcastle County has not met since December 18 because it has no judge. Over 100 cases, 18 juveniles, and many small claims are waiting to be tried, according to Money Ed Cummins, Circuit Court Clerk.

District Court is where cases of misdemeanors, traffic violations and minor claims are heard. It was meeting twice a week last year under the jurisdiction of Judge Calvin Aker and Judge Walter McGuire, both of whom regularly work in Pulaski and Rockcastle Counties.

For the last four months or so, Judge Aker had been coming here twice a week himself, and Judge McGuire worked in the Pulaski County Court alone. After Judge Aker won election to the Supreme Court, he resigned here in December.

There has been no court since.

Mr. Cummins said that the backlog of cases is becoming a problem. Bill Thurman, staff member of the Administration of Courts in Frankfort, said that his office has been trying to find a judge for Rockcastle County, but judges are scarce everywhere in Kentucky today. He said he was hoping to locate a special judge, either retired or one currently working in another district, to come here on a temporary basis until a permanent appointment can be made. The temporary judge would come on Mondays and Thursdays for several weeks, hopefully as soon as possible.

The permanent judge would have to be appointed through the Judiciary Nomination Committee made up of four members appointed by Gov. Julian Carroll, two from the Kentucky Bar Association, and the Supreme Court Justice, who would nominate three people. Gov. Carroll makes the final appointment from those nominees.

Besides not having a judge, the Rockcastle courts are lately finding themselves without a defense attorney. Berea lawyer Dale Henley, who was working as Rockcastle's Public Defender, has resigned. Mr. Cummins said that he asked the Office of Public Defenders in Frankfort to send someone here to try certain cases, but sometimes that office can delay three months.

Two Babies Share New Year's Title

At first Rockcastle County did not have a New Year's Baby.

And then, on January 4, there were two babies at Rockcastle County Hospital competing for the title at once. It was close—the babies were born 55 minutes apart, but Billy Dean Cromer beat Crystal Nicole Bowling at 6:20 a.m. Crystal was born at 9:45 a.m.

Billy is the first child of Sherrie and Marvin Cromer, who live in Mt. Vernon. The baby weighs 8 pounds, 4 ounces.

Crystal is the daughter of Lois and Denny Bowling, who reside near Hwy. 70 in Ottawa.

Dr. G.W. Griffith was the physician of both mothers. Dr. A.C. Thomson, the hospital's new surgeon, assisted in Billy's birth.

Both children are strong and healthy.

Flames and smoke shoot out of the Rockcastle Auto Parts Supply Store during a fire which lasted almost five hours Sunday afternoon. Owners say they lost most of their inventory and the building itself was badly damaged. (Photo by Kenneth Pillion)

Fire Destroys Rockcastle Auto Supply Store

Rockcastle Auto Parts store burned Sunday in a spectacular fire that endangered other buildings on Main Street in Mt. Vernon. Mt. Vernon and Brodhead firemen worked over five hours in the rain and sleet to put out the blaze, which destroyed much of the building and its contents.

Fire Chief John Cox called it one of the most difficult fires his men have fought, and said without the help of the Brodhead force, which arrived an hour or so after Mt. Vernon's firemen, "we might have lost the PCA building (next door)."

The fire started about noon in the back of the store, when an oil heater stopped up. A service attendant at Town and Country Standard Station on US 25 saw the smoke, and called Bennett Burton, an employee of Rockcastle Auto Parts. Mr. Burton was able to get the heater turned off, but had to cover his face with a handkerchief because of the thick smoke. Mr. Burton called the Mt. Vernon Fire Department, which arrived in minutes.

Chief Cox said the firemen used total capacity of water pressure and hose, as they tried to fight the fire from the top of the building.

Real problems developed because of the way the store was built. A series of additions to the building gave it three or four roofs and a labyrinth of walls. Chief Cox said it was almost impossible to fight the fire from the top, because of the layers of roofs, although the men were able to make holes into the top of the building.

After about an hour of working in the cold, wet weather, Brodhead's fire department was called in, as well as several men from the Livingston Department.

"In this kind of a fire, you just try to contain it—keep it from spreading," Chief Cox said. Firemen worked from all sides of the building and the top to keep the blaze from spreading. Some went on top of nearby buildings.

After several more hours, the fire had spread to storage area of paints.

(Cont'd to P.16)

Fire Chief Cox Thanks Firemen

The Mt. Vernon Fire Department would like to thank both the Brodhead Fire Department and the Livingston Fire Department for their assistance in containing the fire at the Rockcastle Auto Parts building on Main Street last Sunday.

The Brodhead Fire Department answered our call within a very short time and the efficient manner in which they used their equipment is to be highly commended. Without their additional firetruck and men the loss suffered would have been much greater than that which was sustained.

The Livingston Fire Department members, who volunteered their help were also greatly appreciated. Their additional man-power gave much needed relief to those who had been working hard to contain this fire. We extend our thanks to these men along with many other people who saw our need and came to assist us.

Sincerely,
John C. Cox, Chief
Mt. Vernon Fire Department

Free Insulation

Proper insulation can save you to one-half on your fuel bills. If you can verify that your income falls within government guidelines for a low-income household, you may be eligible for free insulation, caulking, weather stripping and other services from the Rockcastle County Weatherization Office in the courthouse. Call 256-5315 or stop by the office to sign up for this free service.

Brodhead, Livingston and the county of Rockcastle are making application to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for $1.37 million, most of which would be used for rehabilitation of private property.

The money would come through the Community Development Grant program. Mt. Vernon is also applying for up to $1 million to improve a neighborhood in Fairground Hill (see story elsewhere).

County Judge Executive Hubert Thacker said that the county is asking for a $500,000 grant to rehabilitate houses, mostly in the Conway area and Pine Hill (US 25).

Brodhead is asking for $500,000, also, of which $308,000 would be used to rehabilitate private property. Other expenditures would be $300,000 to acquire property for housing for the elderly; $18,000, improvements to the water system; $28,000, improvements to the sewer systems; and $50,000 contingencies, according to Jim Cass, of the Tri-County Community Development Agency in London. Mr. Cass is serving as an advisor to the four counties.

All Three Cities and the County To Ask for Government Grants

Livingston is applying for $379,000, of which $288,000 would be used to rehabilitate private property. Other uses are $30,000 for contingencies; $9,000 for nine fire hydrants; and $3,000, improvements to sidewalks.

Mr. Cass said that people who want their houses repaired and improved would have to apply to the city or county. Elderly and handicapped people would get top priority, and/or there may be guidelines set up as to income level and total assets. Then, the work would be advertised, and the city or county would accept the low bidder.

Chances of getting a grant through this program are only fair (last year about 40 out of 130 applications were funded). Mr. Cass said that HUD would

Old Man Winter Strikes Again!

By Jane Kundtz

Winter pulled a one-two punch on Rockcastle County this week—snow and freezing rain fell Saturday and Sunday, covering the area in a blanket of ice. Then on Monday, winter hit with her third blow—freezing temperatures, which froze solid the rain from the weekend.

Driving conditions were bad all week—if it wasn't raining or snowing to fill the streets with slush, then everywhere it was thick, treacherous ice. The State Police post in London reported fourteen automobile accidents in the county Jan. 17, with three involving injuries.

State road crews worked during the emergency, giving first priority to Interstate 63 and Hwy. 150, and second priority to Hwy. 25. Garvin Scott, a staff member with the Dept. of Highways in Mt. Vernon, said Rockcastle County has a crew of 10 to 12 employees, who worked over the weekend to clear state-maintained roads.

Mr. Scott said the crew was using salt and limestone, but because graders and snow plows were not effective on the packed ice, he said he melted ice only when the temperatures were above 20 degrees, below that, they used calcium chloride.

Children in the county who had been home from school for Christmas vacation got an extension of it. Schools closed January 2 and remained closed as of this writing. Charles Parsons, school superintendent, said that he and Willard Whitaker check road conditions each morning, sometimes as early as 5 p.m., to determine if the buses can make it through.

Of course, sometimes we just have to look out the window to determine the situation," Mr. Parsons said.

Mr. Parsons said that although the children have missed one day because of the Dec. 7 flooding, and the last eight days, the situation is not as bad as last year at this time.

"Also, we started August 10, which gave us an extra week," Mr. Parsons said.

Grand Jury Report Gets 'No Comment'

County Judge Executive Hubert Thacker did not want to comment on the recent Rockcastle County Grand Jury report that criticized the cleanliness and general state of repair at the county courthouse.

The Jury wrote in its Dec. 21 report that ceilings leaked and plaster on the walls in some places is cracked and deteriorating. Then it went on to name ten specific problems, such as a broken handrail on the third floor stairs, that should be corrected.

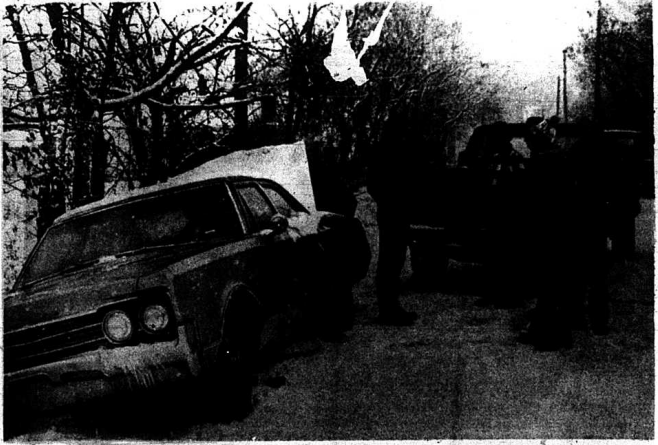

The county employs a full-time janitor who works at night, and an assistant who works 20 hours per week under the "Green Thumb" program, a federal program for retired rural people in need of work. In the summer, two teenage boys worked as janitors under the Summer Youth Employment program.

Judge Thacker did say, however, that he was glad that the Grand Jury said that garbage collection in the county has improved since its inspections in

Rockcastle County Hospital was lucky enough to have two New Year's babies: a boy and a girl—Billy Dean Cromer, left, and Crystal Nicole Bowling, both born January 4th within an hour of each other.

It's the "You just can't win" the ice into a ditch across from Department. Last Friday, Junior Cameron took out his car which slid on Rockcastle Farm Service. Friends helped him chain it to a truck, but as they did, it began to snow again.

CETA Workers To Stay on Jobs

The county's CETA workers will keep their jobs through April 30, but after that, some may be laid off.

That's the word from Judge Executive Hubert Thacker, who said that the county has received 90 percent of last year's funding to operate the 1979 program. Twenty-six are working under this federal program, passed by the Congress in 1974 as the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

Judge Thacker said that the 10% cut amounts to more than that might appear at first, because there have been increases in Social Security taxes, and because the minimum wage went up from $2.85 to $2.95 per hour January 1. Most CETA workers earn the minimum wage, with exceptions such as ambulance workers, who might earn somewhat more.

Judge Thacker said that he did not know how many would be laid off in April, because it might depend partly on the number of "sick days" taken by employees. CETA workers do not get paid for days they do not come to work, so if there are a lot of sick days, it might mean more money for the program.

It may also be possible for some "surplus government money" to appear next spring, which would save some jobs, Judge Thacker said. This has happened in the past.

CETA workers are supposed to work in the program for only 18 months, which means most county workers would have to quit next September. Judge Thacker said he will try to get the 18 month rule waived here.

Ten employees of the Weatherization Office work under the CETA program, but their jobs were renewed one time ago.

It will take most of the day to complete the test with a break for lunch. (If snow and ice conditions exist on roadways, an alternate date—Saturday, January 27, will be used for the testing.)

Anyone wishing to take the test may do so by obtaining an application from the local county or independent school superintendent's office. Applicant must be at least 17 years old and have been out of school for a period of one year or the class of which he was a member must have graduated. The GED test cannot be administered without proper application. Applicant must also bring with him/her some form of identification. Test fee is seven dollars and fifty cents.

Testing procedure is hastened if the applicant will call the procedure and give his or her name. The number to call is 678-3174. Persons who need to take portions of the test can come in at any time during the testing date.

Legislative Report

By Rep. Harold DeMarco

For two hours and twenty-five minutes on December 13, 1978 Kentucky's General Assembly held the most abbreviated legislative session in the Commonwealth's history. The special session had been called by the Lt. Governor, reportedly, to deal with tax cutting issues.

However, due to the worst flood Frankfort has yet seen the special session was adjourned, with another being called by the governor for January 8. The January session will deal substantively with the same subjects as were included in the Lt. Governor's call.

There were eight bills introduced in the 1978 special session, none of which were acted upon.

Three bills were introduced to remove the extra $15 from 32 separate traffic fines. Two bills were introduced to abolish the fuel adjustment charge. One bill was introduced to make welfare fraud that constitutes an excess of $100 a class D felony. One bill was introduced to remove the sales and use tax from residential utility bills. Also, a bill was introduced to remove the $5 per case public defender fee which is currently deducted from the defendant's bail cost. All of this legislation will be reintroduced for the 1979 special session.

Other than adjournment there was only one issue voted upon during the 1978 special session. Originally the session was to begin December 11th, but because of the flood the governor postponed the session until December 13th.

Therein lies the problem not only did the governor fail to consult the legislative leadership but he placed guards to the Capitol door in order to reduce the legislators entry.

No one questions the need for postponement, but the General Assembly has taken an oath to uphold the Constitution. In performance of their Constitutional duty the legislators met and adjourned till December 13th. This brief action had to be taken on the steps of the Capitol.

It is the belief of many legislators that the governor, even in a state of emergency, had no power to delay the session and to allow him to override it and dictate the Constitution would be to adhere to the acceptance of a dangerous precedent.

When the Legislature reconvened the meeting on the Capitol steps was taken in the House Chamber, it became sadly evident that the democrat legislators hold their Constitutional oath second to the whims of the governor. The full ramifications of his unconstitutional action are yet to be felt.

To many that very brief special session is a source of comic relief. The truth is it was more costly than funny. The cost of that one day affair will be in the neighborhood of $25,000 tax dollars.

It was first speculated that the cost to record the 1978 special session and print a journal would equal the above $25,000 figure. But in a moment of austerity, the staff of the Legislative Research Commission decided to couple the proceedings of the one day special session with that of the 1979 special session, thus saving taxpayers the expense of a duplication of printing costs.

Pertinent committees of the General Assembly have been calling department heads of all the state bureaucratic agencies to appear before them. The purpose being for them to tell the legislature where spending in their respective agencies may be cut.

The legislature intends to cut spending so that taxes may be reduced. It is the responsibility of our state agencies to provide some input. However, to date they have given us very little, each agency claiming that it is operating on the most threadbare of budgets.

Since Kentucky has a $7.5 million budget and series do not seem to be greatly improved, it would appear that there is some waste. If the bureaucracy fails to improve the legislature with prompt information, we may have to reduce the state employment roster. Perhaps then these people will realize that it is the responsibility of each segment of government to reduce the taxpayer's burden.

ALL KENTUCKY CITY
 Mt. Vernon will be one of 50 cities competing next March in the 1979 All-Kentucky City convention to be held in Lexington, March 5-9.

The presentation will be made March 6 with a slide show about the city's activities. Scrapbooks with covers designed by students at Rockcastle County High School have been put together by a committee chaired by Julie Harris and Ron Cain.

Among the cities competing are Hyden, Crab Orchard, Cumberland, Somerset, Covington, Harrodsburg, Versailles and Richmond. Awards will be announced in April at a luncheon held at the state Chamber of Commerce headquarters in Frankfort. The competition was traditionally held there, but moved to different locations around the state to make it more convenient for out-of-state judges.

Last year Mt. Vernon lost the competition by only one point.

locations and then presented at church, accompanied by narration and music.

The children saw first hand how Christ spent the first few hours of his life here on earth in a stable, with hay for a floor, and animals for company—no lights with nurses and doctors bustling around. Mr. John Fair's stable at Renfro Valley was the perfect setting for slides of the Nativity scenes.

The children also had the opportunity to see real live sheep close at hand, as they re-nacted the shepherd's scene on the hillside at the farm of Mr. Tommy Harold Mink at Brindle Ridge. The angels, Sara Anderkin, Angie Dowell, Fayla Goforth, Rodney Harris, Amanda Johnson, and Alicia Rush, appeared to them there.

The shepherds, Tobes Harris, Frankie Goforth, Bill James, Ted James, Jerry Makin, and Clark Mullins, then got to hold a baby lamb, not to say a job one might think-at the farm of Mr. Bill Jack Parsons at Wildcat. At Mr. Parsons' farm, we also took a picture of a red and white calf looking very awe-struck at the arrival of so many visitors in such strange costumes. I wonder if some of the animals at the stable in Bethlehem might have reacted the same way?

Mr. G.D. Burton provided with a donkey to portray the one Mary might have ridden to Bethlehem.

Wayne and Ginale King let us use their home, with its lovely high-gabled entrance, to represent the Inn from which Joseph (Bill Towery) was turned away that first Christmas Eve.

The arrival of the Wise Men, supposed by many to have happened several months after Christ's birth, presented a special problem. Joseph and Mary would have been living in a house by then, but not a house as we would think of one. Where could we find a simple, plainly constructed house, to be their home? The answer was found in the backyard of Dr. Joe and Ann Henderson. "Mary" (Julie Dowell) greeted the "Wise-men" at the door of Mary Blanche's old playhouse.

Donna Hopkins' decorating abilities provided us with some lovely slides of a Bible, candles and greenery.

Bill James and Joe Young combined their photographic talents to produce the slide program. Jim Earl and Libby Hammons were the narrators, and the Children's Choir sang beautifully to accompany the pictures. It was a beautiful Christmas experience for everyone, but especially for the children who were privileged to discover what the circumstances surrounding Christ's birth were really like.

Mrs. Sally Cummins

Mrs. Cummins Honored

A very special event occurred on Thursday, Jan. 4, 1979 when Mrs. Sally Cummins was honored with a surprise "In Appreciation" party. "Aunt" Sally was superintendent of the Baptist Church Sunday School Department for over forty years. She will be 89 years old in April and several of those who were inspired by her leadership wanted to pay special tribute. The gathering included teachers who served with her: Mrs. Cola Grace Wilson, Mrs. Margaret Parrett, Mrs. Lucille Hysinger, Miss Alma Pike, Mrs. Hazel Linville, Mrs. Lena Meechel, Mrs. Minnie Lee Barnett, Mrs. Melberda McFee, Mrs. Jeannine Cummins, Mrs. Betty Lewis and special guests Mrs. Betty Arvin.

The program for the evening followed the former Sunday School opening of excellence format including the theme song "Ready" and Aunt Sally's favorite hymn. This was followed by much reminiscing about this group's many service projects initiated by our Aunt Sally. Love gifts were presented to Aunt Sally and refreshments were enjoyed by the group.

Mrs. Sally Cummins is the wife of the late Asher Cummins.

Mrs. Cummins has one daughter and two sons, and two deceased sons.

Guide Book Prepared By Homemakers Association

Rockcastle County's history and description are included in a new book about Kentucky, written by the Kentucky Extension Homemakers Association. The book is called "Kentucky Pressure Trails," and was compiled from information given by Homemaker Clubs all over the state, including those in Rockcastle County.

"Kentucky Pressure Trails" is subtitled "A Historical and Cultural Travel Guide to Kentucky," and that is exactly what the book offers. It is a large-sized, paperback book with 269 pages, and perhaps the most comprehensive and up-to-date guide to sights and things to do available today.

It is arranged by county, and each section includes little known facts. For example, in the section about Rockcastle County, the Chastain House in Renfro Valley is listed as the oldest house and one erected without nails.

Some of the other facts about the county listed are: Mt. Vernon was originally called "The Mount," when it was incorporated in 1817. It played an important part in the Civil War, as the county was the center of major trails for armies of both the North and South.

Points of interest include Saltpetre Cave, a source of gunpowder production; Wildcat Mountain in Livingston, site of a Civil War Battle; and Castle Rock, near Livingston, which was the source of the name "Rockcastle."

Festivals held in Renfro Valley include the Bluegrass Festival, in July; John Lair Day, in July; Old Time Fiddler's Convention in June; Renfro Bedoe in August; and those in Brodhead include the Saddle Club Horse Show and the annual Little World's Fair.

DAR Meets

The Rockcastle Chapter, DAR, met for the December meeting at the home of Mrs. Joe Young in Mt. Vernon. Mrs. Wallace Williams, Chapter Regent, presided, with Mrs. Elbert Eversole assisting with the ritual. Mrs. Raymond Towery read the President General's Message, after which Mrs. V.G. Walker presented the National Defense Report.

Mrs. William James Presented a program of traditional and contemporary holiday music. Two folk Christmas carols collected by John Jack Niles, "Jesus, Jesus, Rest Your Head," and "I Wonder As I Wander" were sung by Mrs. Leah Riddle, Dr. and Mrs. G.W. Griffith, and Mr. and Mrs. William James. Miss Mary Blanche Henderson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joe Henderson, played a piano medley of Christmas carols from various countries. A collection of contemporary seasonal songs were then presented by Mrs. James (Julie Dowell) greeted the "Wise-men" at the door of Mary Blanche's old playhouse.

Volunteers Conducting Survey of Poplar Street Area for Application

By Jane Kundtz

Six volunteers are conducting a survey in the Poplar Street area this week to get information about each household's composition and income level. The information will be used in the city of Mt. Vernon's application for government funds to improve the neighborhood.

The area involved is Fairground Hills near the Rockcastle County High School, and includes Poplar, Locust, Quarry, Old Somerset, Fish and Mill Streets.

The city is planning to submit an application for up to $1 million through the Community Development Block Grant program for small cities. Among the improvements suggested for the area are new sewers and sidewalks, improved streets, rehabilitation of housing and possibly a playground or community center.

The application is being written with the help of a professional advisor—Will Linder & Associates of Berea.

People living in the area are being asked whether they own or rent their house; if the head of the household is elderly, female, handicapped or a member of a minority; or if the total family income is less than $900 per year. Since government grants are more likely to go to low income areas, this information is needed about the area to improve Mt. Vernon's chances of getting the money, according to Jennifer Bush, community development specialist with Will Linder & Associates.

Ms. Bush led a second public hearing into the matter last Thursday night at City Hall. About fifteen people attended.

To further help Mt. Vernon's case for funding, the city water superintendent and the city housing commissioner will write letters about the area's housing and water problems addressed to Mayor James Mullins.

The survey information will be given to Ms. Bush by Friday, Jan. 12. She, Mayor Mullins, and a special Citizens' Advisory Committee will prepare the first grant application, which is due Jan. 23.

If this first application is approved, the city will be notified to submit a second application by April 1. If this is approved, Mt. Vernon might receive money by October.

Members of the Citizens' Advisory Committee are Tom Welch, Dr. G.W. Griffith, Floyd Owens, Ernest Stanley, Jeffrey Sawyer, Billy Hiatt and Tommy Parsons.

Freezing Your Assets

Increasingly, Americans have been turning to the food freezer as a means of combating steadily rising food costs. When used to advantage, a freezer can increase variety in family meals, help avoid last minute trips to the store, let you take advantage of bargain buying, and assist with holiday baking and entertaining. A little applied food science can help you use your freezer to its best advantage.

Foods are complex organic substances and some of their chemical components are more sensitive to freezing temperatures than other foods. While a freezer can preserve a majority of foods, it pays to know which foods are freezer-sensitive. Some foods which cannot be frozen successfully in one form can be frozen with no problem in another form. For instance, fresh vegetables tend to lose texture in some cases when frozen and need to be cooked when thawed. While fresh radishes, tomatoes, and even lettuce will maintain color and nutrient value when frozen, they will be too soft for salads when thawed, but can be used in soups and casseroles.

Fresh onions can be peeled, quartered, and frozen for later use if they are cooked after thawing. Chopping frozen onions is easier and less fearful than chopping fresh ones. Or use fresh vegetables for making soups and sauces to freeze in ice cube trays. The cubes can then be stored in a freezer carton or plastic bag and used as needed. Freezing boiled potatoes or potato in soups or stews is not recommended as they tend to become dark and watery. French-fried potatoes or onion rings can be frozen, however, and "re-crisped" in a hot oven.

Although whole, fresh fruits do not freeze well, prepared fruits freeze beautifully by a dry pack or syrup pack method or in a clear sauce. Fruits also freeze well when prepared as fruit juices or purées. Gelatin-based fruit dishes may "weep when thawed, but can be rescued by combining them with a cream or cheese product. It's best to freeze the prepared fruit ahead and prepare the gelatin at the last minute.

Some proteins are very sensitive to freezing. For instance, bologna and processed luncheon meats and canned beans do not freeze well. However, fresh cuts of beef, chicken, and pork freeze very well. Rewrap them to insure airtightness before freezing and wrap in the portions you expect to use. Buying boneless fresh meats at sale prices for freezing is one of the best uses of a freezer.

Hard or veined cheeses may become crumbly after freezing but still can be used in cooking. Soft cheeses may become crumbly after freezing but still are fine in dips, sauces, frostings or as a cooking ingredient. Whipped cream can be frozen in individual dollops and stored in plastic bags or freezer containers. Butter can be bought when the price is right and stored for months without a loss of quality, to be thawed stick by stick as needed.

Eggs, sugars, and fats in some foods are sensitive to freezing. Mayonnaise, dressings, and gravies and fried foods may lose their crispness. Other foods containing these ingredients in different forms, such as breads, cakes, and cookies, freeze very well.

As a rule, breads freeze very well. Wrap them air-tight to prevent drying out, particularly for storage in a frostless freezer. Many homemade bread recipes freeze very well, partially baked, and rich homemade goodies for the holidays can be baked ahead and frozen with good results. Cake layers and unfrosted cupcakes freeze very well—they can be frosted much more easily when frozen, and then thawed quickly for serving.

Many kinds of pies lend themselves well to freezing. While pumpkin pies are best frozen unbaked, pecan pies should be baked, and then frozen. Most fruit pies freeze well, partially baked or unbaked. To freeze baked pies, cool and cover with an inverted pie plate or paper plate and package in plastic wrap and then freezer wrap. Freeze unbaked pies uncovered and then package in foil or plastic bag. As a general rule, unbaked pie will keep well for two or four months, while baked pie will keep six to eight months. Unbaked pie shells can be made in quantity and frozen in foil or glass pie plates for later baking. Leave thick pastry edges on the unbaked pie shells and flute when thawed and just before baking.

Items which you may have thought to freeze before are coffee, nuts and chocolate. Many coffee processors recommend freezing as the preferred method of long term storage for ground coffee, and in the unlikely event that you see a great buy on coffee, you may want to stock pile some in your freezer. Shelled nuts, whole or chopped, freeze very well and rarely lose texture. Since they keep well in a freezer up to a year, there's no reason to run the risk of them going rancid at room temperature.

A few additional tips for getting the most out of your freezer: package foods in meal-sized portions so that you only have to thaw the required amount. Freeze meal leftovers and serve them later as "planned overs" or make your own customized "TV dinners". Keep your freezer as nearly full as possible. A half-empty freezer becomes a luxury to own and costs more to operate. Be a double batcher—bake and cook in advance and freeze half for another meal. Don't make a habit of wasting space storing bulky, low cost items such as bread and ice cubes. The one exception is to take advantage of freezer space to build up a supply of ice cubes before a party.

For optimum food storage, fresh food section of refrigerator should be 38 degrees F, and the freezer section should be 8 degrees F. Milk and ice cream are best indicators of whether storage is cold enough.

Ideally, your freezer should be located in a cool, dry, well-ventilated area out of direct sunlight, never in a room that is especially hot in summer or heavily heated in winter. Too hot a location can add up to 10% in operating costs.

City Council Meets

At its regular January meeting Monday night, the Mt. Vernon City Council accepted an audit of the city water works operation, performed by Evans and Phillips, a certified public accountant firm in Barbourville. This audit is printed elsewhere in the Signal today.

Bill James, chairman of the Rockcastle Multi-County Industrial Authority, told the Council that a certificate of need, yet arrived from the State Department of Highways approving the laying of water and sewer lines to the industrial park, but that he would follow through in the matter.

Henry Cox told the Council that Mt. Vernon was being considered as the site of an annual meeting of water and sewer plant operators, to be held this June. The Council told Mr. Cox to submit more information, such as an agenda of the meeting, and to outline the city's role at the meeting.

The Council voted to ask Charles Mullins to estimate the cost of producing a map of the city which showed the new city limits.

Verla Scott reported that water is running into her house on Alcorn Street, and she also asked the Council to investigate parked cars in the area, which she said were causing some problems. Mayor Roland Mullins said they would look into the situation.

The Council voted to buy a typewriter for the City Hall office. The Council will meet again at a called meeting next week.

Rockets Drop Close One To Powerful Garrard Co. 68-62

By: Rick Anderkirk

The RCHS boys A-team lost to Garrard County Tuesday night 68-62. It was only Rockcastle's second game since going home for the Christmas break and they played well for three quarters against Garrard County who is ranked second in their region.

The Rockets led at the end of the first quarter 16-14 and managed to put the same number of points on the board the second quarter - going to the dressing room at half-time with a 32-30 lead. Things looked even better in the third quarter and the Rockets took a six-point lead, 46-40, into the fourth quarter. But it wasn't to last as Garrard County came back for the victory. Rockcastle got most of its scoring from their front line as center Walter Browning pumped in 16 points and forward Steve Center, who also had a good game, also scored 16. Eddie Thompson, the Rockets other forward got 10 points while grabbing off several rebounds. Others scoring was David Riddle with 7; Jack Farthing, 5 and Jeff Hammonds and David Mullins, 4 each.

This Friday night, the Rockets will host Berea with the B-Team game beginning at 6:30.

existing housing in rural areas and towns with populations up to twenty thousand. The program is a joint effort of the Farmers Home Administration and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. The program is designed to help low and moderate income families or individuals who are unable to obtain financing through other sources.

Burnette said that families and individuals with adjusted annual incomes of less than $12,000 may be able to get a loan under his agency's regular housing program. Burnette said that the program is designed to help low and moderate income families or individuals who are unable to obtain financing through other sources.

Adjusted income is determined by taking five percent off of the gross income and deducting an additional $300 for each child living in the household under eighteen years of age. Burnette said these subsidized low interest loans are reviewed every two years to determine if the borrower's financial situation has improved. If the family's or individual's income goes up, he said, their payments and the interest rate on their loan will go up as well, but the interest rate will never exceed the rate in force for non-subsidized loans at the time the loan is closed.

The non-subsidized interest rate for Farmers Home Administration housing loans is eight to three-fourths percent. Burnette said that the Farmer's Home Administration also makes one percent loans, and in some instances, grants to very low income families or individuals who own and occupy substandard houses. These loans or grants may not exceed $5000 and may be used to remove safety or health hazards through minor repair and remodeling work eligible for a grant, however, Burnette said the applicant must be 62 years of age, or older, and must be unable to repay a one percent loan.
