Rockts Stunned by Corbin; Lose to Clay County 66-56

By: Rick Anderkin

The Rockcastle Rockets traveled to Corbin last Friday night and through three and one-third quarters, it looked like they would bring home an easy victory but to their surprise it turned out to be a completely different story.

After leading by as much as 14 points and going into the fourth quarter 11 points up, the Rockets lost to the much smaller and less-talented team 63-52.

At the end of the first quarter, the Rockets were breezing along with a 9 point lead which increased to 12 at half-time and remained about the same at the end of the third quarter and into the fourth. But, Corbin's full-court press and some very poor officiating by referees combined to prove the Rockets undoing. Only four fouls were whistled on the Corbin Redhounds in the fourth quarter and, with the aid of a technical foul on Walter Browning, the Redhounds managed to outscore the Rockets 32 to 8 in the fourth quarter.

Leading the Rockets in scoring was Eddie Thompson with 13, David Riddle and Steve Center each got 11, Walter Browning and Jack Farthing got 8 each and Jeff Hammonds added 1.

Rockcastle then played host to district rival Clay County Tuesday night and were stuck with their second loss in as many attempts, 66-50. Rockcastle has never beaten the Tigers from Clay County in the school's seven-year history; out, it looked like there might be an upset in the making Tuesday night as the Jets jumped out to a 4-0 lead and led by the same margin at the end of the first half.

However, it was evident that Rockcastle wasn't going to be able to hold on as the number one team in the 13th Region began to pull away midways through the fourth quarter. Rockcastle gave the Tigers a good battle but it was not to avail.

In the third quarter, the Tigers' cause was aided by a technical foul on Coach Bill Riddle which served to give them a further boost to their eventual victory.

Rockcastle is definitely a district contender and since the district will be held at Rockcastle this year, it will be interesting to see who prevails as winner of the 49th District.

Leading scorer in Tuesday

Eddie Thompson, No. 44, muscled in two of his 13 points against Corbin last Friday night. The Rockets came away losing 63-52.

night's game was Steve Center with 22. David Riddle got 14, Thompson garnered 9, Walter Browning picked up 7 and Jack Farthing scored 4. Jeff Hammond and David Mullins both saw action but failed to score.

This Friday night, the Rockets will host Monticello.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Freedom of Non-Speech

Joe, an ardent surfer, took umbrage at a county regulation banning surfing along certain stretches of beach. In a court challenge he invoked the First Amendment to the Constitution.

"Surfing," he argues, "is my way of expressing myself. Therefore, the county is suppressing my freedom of speech."

But the court upheld the regulation, saying that surfing was not the kind of "speech" the Founding Fathers had in mind. As the Supreme Court once put it: "We cannot accept the view that an apparently limitless variety of conduct can be labeled 'speech' whenever the person intends to express an idea."

True, Joe had a point. Courts have recognized that the First Amendment does cover more than pure speech. Symbolic acts, when used to make a serious political statement, may also qualify for constitutional protection.

In a case that arose in the Sixties, several high school students wore black armbands to dramatize their opposition to the Vietnam war. Although disciplined by school activities, the students were later vindicated in court.

"Wearing an armband for the purpose of expressing certain views," said the court, "is the type of symbolic act that is within the First Amendment."

But symbolic speech, while protected, is not protected to the same extent as pure speech. A man, arrested for burning an American flag in a crowded park, claimed the shelter of the First Amendment. Rejecting this defense, the court said:

"Emotions are so linked to (the flag) that its desecration in public is an invitation to violence, not because of the ideas symbolized because of the nature of the act itself. Such an act is not essential to any exposition of ideas."

Building Project at Hospital About One-Fourth Completed

By Jane Kaudts

Rockcastle County Hospital's $1.5 million building project is about one-fourth finished, and should be ready by fall, according to Luke Dober, hospital administrator.

"We were going great guns for about two months," he said, "but the weather slowed us down."

The project will be like adding two new buildings to the existing one. One of these, the "skilled nursing facility" will be the size of the current building. The other new building will be about half the size of the current one, the "acute care facility" for emergency and out-patient treatment.

"It's going to be first rate," Mr. Dober said, "and more modern than a lot of bigger hospital in cities."

The acute care facility is being built around the concept of out-patient care, an idea that didn't even exist several years ago. Instead of being admitted to the hospital for tests, vaccinations and routine emergency care, the patient is treated in a unit equipped for almost everything but overnight stays.

Three treatment rooms like those of a doctor's office are being built next to laboratory, where the tests will be processed. The Emergency Room entrance will be in this building also. The entrance to it is being completed—the land is being leveled to an electric door entrance, so that ambulances won't have to go up a ramp.

The acute care facility will also have a "Holding Room," for patients under observation.

"Say a person thinks he has a heart attack, and we think it might be indigestion," Mr. Dober said. "Right now we would have to admit him and charge him the full room rates. When the building is completed, he could stay in the Holding Room where we could monitor him for 12 hours."

Brookhead County Park Gets $10,192 Grant

Congressman Tim Lee Carter said he is pleased that a grant has been approved to develop the Rockcastle County Park at Brookhead.

The Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service has awarded a grant of $10,192 to the Kentucky Department of Parks to enable Rockcastle County to develop a county owned park by constructing sports facilities and playfields. A total of $10,192 will be provided by local sources, bringing the project cost to $20,384.

Committee Nominates Three for Judge

Dan Venters, Dale Mitchell and John Mandt—all attorneys from Somerset—were nominated for judge of the 28th Judicial District by a committee that met in Rockcastle County Courthouse Tuesday.

The names were submitted Tuesday afternoon to Gov. Julian Carroll, who will make the final choice Wednesday.

The nominating committee, which deliberated for an hour and a half, included Kentucky Sup-

The Skilled Care building, unlike the Actual Care, is being built on two levels with an elevator (the first for Rockcastle County). On the ground floor will be a physical therapy department, including hydrotherapy and respiratory therapy. The dietary department will be enlarged, and include a dining room open to visitors.

On the second floor of the Skill Care Building will be rooms for 32 patients and nurses' stations. The hospital is currently unable to treat only short term care patients, those who stay 3-5 days. In the Skilled Care building, patients will average several weeks' stay.

"People won't have to go out of town to be treated," Mr. Dober said. "It will mean a lot to be able to treat patients right here in the community."

Each room will have a separate heat pump, so that patients can control the temperature themselves.

The present hospital building will be completely changed too. Certain departments will have to be enlarged, such as X-ray, medical records, and supply rooms. Some "frills" will be added such as a gift shop.

"We want to have a hospital auxiliary," Mr. Dober said, "and a volunteer staff."

Mr. Dober said that while the current hospital meets 1956 fire and safety standards, it will be meeting 1978 standards next year. This is an extremely expensive part of the project. For example, an emergency generator of 250,000 watts housed in its own building will cost $50,000 alone. But, in case of an emergency, it will provide complete electrical power to the hospital for as long as it gets fuel oil.

Right now, if there is a power failure, the generator can provide only enough electricity to heat and light part of the building. Food would have to be catered in such an emergency, and the offices would have no power at all. Such a power failure lasting three days occurred in 1974.

"That's the kind of improvements we're talking about," Mr. Dober said.

'Pilot Plant' Starts This Week To Train Garment Factory Workers

Rockcastle Manufacturing Company, the first factory to be built in the Rockcastle Multi-County Industrial Park, is setting up a small operation at the Jasper Building in Mt. Vernon.

Lee Gosham, manager of the company, said that he will start training 19 people as soon as machinery arrives, hopefully by the end of the week. He said that it will take between seven and eleven working days to train the people, and the "pilot plant" may continue until the factory is built in the park, perhaps by April.

He said he hopes to have 40 operators at the new factory at first.

He said the nineteen people trained will probably become supervisors at the new plant.

Rockcastle Manufacturing Company will be making workclothes for a Cincinnati-based firm that is currently in the business of renting uniforms.

"The manufacture of uniforms is new for us, and we are excited about starting," Mr. Gosham said. "Mr. Vernon will be the first to start on the manufacturing end."

Mr. Gosham said that the Cincinnati Company is "up and coming" and fast-growing, and that its executives hope to realize $50 million in business within the next five years, and $100 million in the next ten

Lee Gosham

Mr. Gosham is a native of Kansas City, Mo., and is currently living in a motel in Mt. Vernon. His wife and teenage children hope to join him here in June, and they are now looking for a house. He said the children wanted to finish out the school year in Missouri.

Snow has stopped construction of the Skilled Care Facility at the Rockcastle County Hospital, although workmen were able to get the ground level walls up. Lower level will contain physical therapy department; upper level will be rooms for patients requiring skilled nursing care. Working is being done by Browning Construction.

Sparks Vocational School Wins Award For Many Contributions to Community

Harry Sparks Vocational School won the Rockcastle County Improvement Award Monday night at the regular monthly meeting of the Rockcastle County Improvement Council.

Wayne Stewart, Council member, presented the award to Lloyd Cain, school coordinator, and said, "We wanted to recognize the contribution the school has made toward making the community a better place. Not only do they train people, they have become one of the best vocational schools in the entire state."

Mr. Stewart also mentioned the school's help in the recent labor survey and other community projects.

"We sure appreciate this because we are out there trying to be of service," Mr. Cain said. Also accepting the award were Donna Hopkins and Shelby Fathergill, commercial education teachers.

Sparks Vocational School, named for a Rockcastle man who became state superintendent of schools, is in its tenth year. It trains about 125 out of a typical graduating class of 200 from Rockcastle County High School, in such skills as typing and accounting, welding, television repair, auto mechanics, and electrical wiring. Juniors and seniors generally spent half their day at each of the schools.

Sparks also has night classes for adults, and an active program of job placement. The Improvement Award is given monthly to any group or individual or business that makes a contribution to the county. Nominations for the award can be sent to Box 292, Brodhead, Ky.

Other Council Business
Bill James, chairman of the Council, introduced Lee Gosham, new manager of Rockcastle Manufacturing, the Rockcastle Co. Multi County Industrial Park's first factory.

Gatloff Craig told Mr. Gosham that the community was "anxious and willing to have you succeed. We will do whatever we can."

The Council voted to adopt a resolution recommending that all government representatives support legislation to fund the Appalachian Regional Commission, an agency created in 1966. This Commission serves an area of Appalachia in 13 states, and has

Abandoned Coal Mined Lands Qualify for Reclamation Money

Federal Soil Conservation Service (SCS) officials will have nearly $2 million in Kentucky to implement the new Rural Abandoned Mine Program (RAMP), it was announced here today.

"The cost-share assistance funds will be used to reclaim orphaned mine lands that present an extreme danger to public health and safety," says Glenn Murray, SCS state conservationist.

The voluntary program was established under the Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977. It is designed to promote the development of soil and water resources by stabilizing unclaimed mined lands, controlling erosion and sediment, reclaiming land and water for useful purposes, and enhancing water quality and quantity where disturbed by mining.

According to Murray, "People who own or control no federal land that has been mined for coal and remains unclaimed, may be eligible for cost-sharing." Nearly 55 acres of abandoned coal mined land in Rockcastle County are causing problems for landowners and communities. If you own or live near these lands, this new federal cost sharing program can help you and your neighbors.

The Soil Conservation Service (SCS) has a brochure which explains the Rural Abandoned Mine Program (RAMP). RAMP can help reclaim property that is threatened by landslides or sediment from mines or water polluted by mine chemicals.

Under the Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977 SCS can provide financial and technical aid to landowners. For a copy of the brochure and to learn more about RAMP, contact the local Soil Conservation Service by calling 558-2541 or stopping by the office on the 2nd floor of the Rockcastle County Courthouse.

Helicopter Flies

Blood to Patient In Mt. Vernon

An Army helicopter landed at Mt. Vernon School's baseball field Friday with five pints of blood, as part of an effort to save the life of Ellis Marshall, of Livingston.

Mr. Marshall died early Saturday after emergency abdominal surgery at the Rockcastle County Hospital.

According to Luke Dober, hospital administrator, doctors determined that Mr. Marshall needed to be operated on at once Friday afternoon. When the surgery began, the hospital had two pints of Mr. Marshall's type blood on hand, which is the routine number of pints kept by most hospitals for that situation, Mr. Dober said.

However, some complications developed during the surgery, and Mr. Marshall required more blood.

The helicopter was secured through the Army's MAST program, Mr. Dober said. (MAST stands for Military Assistance to Safety and Traffic). The plane flew from Fort Knox, Ky. to Lexington, where the crew picked up the pints at Central Kentucky Blood Center.

Mr. Dober said that the helicopter service has been used in the past to shorten the time it takes to transport a patient.

Lambert Criticizes DeMarcus For 'Not Voting' On Income Tax Cut Bill

Joe Lambert, Republican candidate for State Representative, today criticized 16 year incumbent Representative, Harold DeMarcus, for not voting on HB 48, a bill to cut state income taxes.

Lambert said, "By not voting on a bill that would reduce state income taxes, Mr. DeMarcus has shown that he is not representing the people of this district. He was sent to Frankfort and is being paid a substantial salary. It is his duty to stand up and be counted, not abstain."

Lambert added, "Low and middle income taxpayers desperately need tax relief. So far, the Legislature has done nothing but spend money."

The official record of the House Appropriations and Revenue Committee for January 25, 1979, shows that Mr. DeMarcus voted "pass" (abstain) on HB 48, the income tax reduction bill.

On another tax issue, Lambert pointed out that the House of Representatives has passed the Stovall endorsed bill to remove the sales tax for residential utility bills by a vote of 96-1. Lambert said, "I approve of this action by the House of Representatives. It would be very dishonest, however, for any one house member to claim the credit. The real credit belongs to the people of Kentucky for demanding tax relief."

Joe Lambert

Paid for by Lambert Campaign Fund, D.S. Reynolds, Treasurer, P.O. box 278, Mt. Vernon, Ky. 40356.

More importantly, the present administration is seeking to increase the size of the state's bureaucracy. Even though the people are telling us "less government," there are some elected officials trying to force more government on Kentucky's taxpayers. This accusation can be substantiated by looking at three bills, sponsored by the democrat leadership that have been introduced during this Special Session.

House Bill 46 seeks to establish a Kentucky Horse Park Board consisting of 15 members with authority to control property now under custody and control of the Department of Parks, including the power to maintain the property, to promote the tourist industry and events of interest to the public. If this measure becomes law, you can rest uneasy knowing that the state bureaucracy will be expanded by more than 15 people.

House Bill 28 intends to authorize the Department of Transportation to conduct inspections and investigations into all aspects of rail safety and rail car service. Just how much bureaucracy will be needed to police the railroads has not been established but it would have to be substantial.

Another bill which will be introduced is the Department of Transportation to conduct inspections and investigations into all aspects of rail safety and rail car service. Just how much bureaucracy will be needed to police the railroads has not been established but it would have to be substantial.

Another bill which will be introduced would serve to establish a new division within the Department of Natural Resources to regulate virtually everything

Need Evidence For Social Security Card

People who anticipate that they or their children will need social security numbers in the near future might well take some time to get together the evidence they will need when they apply, Bob Anderson, social security branch manager in Richmond said recently.

Everyone, no matter how young or old, must furnish evidence of age, identity, and U.S. citizenship or lawful admission status when applying for a social security number. In addition, a person 16 or older must apply in person.

It is a good idea to apply well before the number is needed, Bob Anderson said, since it takes about 8 weeks to receive the number after the necessary evidence is submitted.

Only original or certified copies of documents should be submitted. Photocopies are not acceptable, and documents are subject to verification.

A birth certificate or church record of birth or baptism recorded before a person's 5th birthday is preferred as proof of a person's age and place of birth for people born in the United States. A school record or census record can be used if these are not available.

Evidence of identity should show the person's name and signature or photograph.

Naturalized U.S. citizens should show their citizenship papers. Non U.S. citizens should show their immigration papers. Foreign students should bring their passports, I-94, or I-151.

Bob Anderson said that if parents are having trouble getting evidence of identity for young children, they might consider clinic or doctor's records, vaccination

County Agent's Notes

By H. Lee Durham,
County Extension Agent
For Agriculture

Evaluating Landscape Design
With winter here, there is more time available. This time can be well spent in taking a critical look at your home landscape and the conditions of the plants around the home. Winter is also a good time to do some reading and planning for spring landscape additions.

Landscape Your Home, by W.R. Nelson, is an excellent, inexpensive book for homeowners. It discusses all phases of home landscape planning, installation and maintenance. It is available from the University of Illinois Agriculture Extension Service, Mailing Room, Urbana, Illinois. You can write them for the current price.

Another good publication is available from the County Extension Office. The UK Agriculture Report, Plants and Plans for Kentucky Yards discusses procedures for planning your landscape and information on different plants and maintenance are included.

Two of the faults of most older home landscapes are overgrowth and monotony. If your home is hidden by a line of monstrous shrubs which all look the same, it's time to plan for something new.

When shrubs become too large for their location, usually the best decision for landscape improvement is to remove them totally and start with new ones. This solution is not always easily accepted. However, the natural, soft lines considered important in many landscape designs cannot be developed from old, severely pruned, out of proportion plants. Many plants, such as juniper, cannot recover from severe pruning.

Here are a few things to keep in mind when planning or revising your landscape: 1) Don't block the view of the house with trees. Trees are most effective when used to frame the house, provide shade during the hottest part of the day. 2) Around most modern houses there is no need to plant a continuous mass of plants along the front of the house. In older homes where there is a tight exposed foundation a denser "foundation" planting may be desirable.

3) Learn the ultimate size of the plants you are considering, especially those planted close to the house. Choose plants that will "do the job" rather than trying to force a plant to grow shorter than was intended.

4) If you have favorite shrubs that grow large, make sure the area selected for them provides adequate room. If there is no such spot, plan to prune them annually to keep them in bounds without ruining their natural shape.

5) Use plants in borders. The uninterrupted lawn area gives a look and feeling of spaciousness.

6) Plants in groupings rather than scattering plants around the yard.

7) Use accent plants sparingly. Shrubs and trees with colored leaves or unusual form call attention to themselves. One placed in a special location to call attention to the spot is sufficient.

Look Out For Lice
Winter is the time to be on the lookout for lice build-up on beef cattle. Unthrifty, poor-looking animals with a rough looking coat should be checked for lice. If your cattle are doing a lot of rubbing against posts, etc., they probably have a lice infestation. In severe cases cattle will rub off patches of hair and injure their skin.

Good animal management is the first step in lice control. Proper nutrition and sanitation go a long way in decreasing lice populations. Delouse new animals before they are added to your herd.

Chemical control may be necessary. Systemic insecticides, pour-ons, or insecticidal dusts have decided advantages over sprays during the winter. Wetting cloth down with sprays during cold weather increases their susceptibility to pneumonia. Back rubbers also aid in lice control.

For more information on specific chemicals check with your county agent and Extension publications ENT 3, 11, 12, and 23.

Deibert Wayne Leger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Leger of Rt. 2, Mt. Vernon, celebrated his 11th birthday, January 25th, at his home. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leger and the late Mr. and Mrs. Jim French.

Mrs. Delbert Leger, mother of Deibert Wayne Leger, is shown in a portrait. She is wearing a light-colored, patterned top and has short, dark hair.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Reams of Orlando escorted their granddaughter, Michaela Reams to the Miss Kentucky Universe Pageant which was held in Paducah January 27. Michaela is a Sophomore Marketing Major at Northern Kentucky University. She has captured a number of titles including Miss Boone County, first runner-up in the Miss Alexandria Fair, third runner-up in Northern Kentucky County Fair and Miss Northern Kentucky in June of 1978, making her eligible for the Miss Kentucky Pageant. Forty-five girls were judged on face, poise and personality. Mr. and Mrs. Reams said they were extremely proud to watch their granddaughter but that it was a surprise to be back home on the farm. Mark McFerron demonstrates his technique on a water color picture of space ships. Colors in the picture are red, blue, yellow and white.

"Translation of the Mind" is Mark's favorite oil painting. It shows how the mind can imagine fantastic events that could not occur in reality.

Mark McFerron Envisions Future Through Artistic Ability

By Jane Kundtz

Everyone has dreams full of pictures, but it takes a special person to put the pictures on paper. Mark McFerron, a junior at Rockcastle County High School, has that special ability. He can see fantasy in his mind, and translate it into pictures so that anyone seeing them can enter a strange world of futuristic images.

One of Mark's favorite paintings is entitled "Translation of the Mind," and shows what could be an outer space area with a skull melting in the center.

"I'm not saying skulls can melt in reality," Mark said. "It's more about how fantastic the mind is—how these things can be seen in the mind and then translated into a picture. The mind can envision almost everything."

His pictures are full of visionary images of the future—space travel, rockets, airplanes, and other planets. He said he can take objects that already exist, such as an airplane, and make it look more futuristic by taking off propellers and computerizing the inside.

"It isn't hard for me to picture the future," Mark said. By reading non-fiction and watching television documentaries, Mark keeps up with trends that indicate future developments. Some things happening now that portend the future to Mark are calculators, picture telephones, videotape machines, and especially space travel.

"I don't draw monsters or anything like that," he said, "because I don't picture the future that way."

Mark has been drawing since he was a toddler. In fact, his mother, who died when Mark was 13 years old, used to tell how he would sit on the sand on a certain beach and try to draw trains—even before he could talk.

He has been studying art in Mrs. Owens' classes, and yet does not intend to pursue it as a career. "Art is strictly enjoyment," he said. "I want to have adventure and do something exciting with a career. I'm thinking of the Air Force Academy or being a pilot. Lots of travel."

Mark is just as interested in math and science and astronomy as his art, and frequently makes observations through a telescope that he owns. He feels all these interest may point to a career someday with NASA.

"It really isn't hard to see the way the future will look," Mark said. "The trends are all around us, everywhere."

Mike Miller Performs in

Centre Musical

Michael Miller of Mt. Vernon is one of 32 Centre College Singers who helped set the pace for Gian Carlo Menotti's "The Unicorn, the Gorgon and the Manticore" presented Jan. 12-13 in the College's Regional Arts Centre. The performance also featured the Centre College Dancers in their first formal performance in several years.

The Menotti work, a madrigal fable, featured three mythical creatures, each representing a different stage in the life of the poet-hero. The story unfolds as the poet appears to the townsfolk with a different creature on each of three Sundays of his life.

The Centre Dancers portray the human characters and mythical creatures in the story. They performed wearing masks and headgear suggestive of the characters they play. The Centre Singers and instrumental accompanists were also integral in unraveling the plot.

A freshman at Centre, Miller is the son of Mrs. Zella Miller of East Main St., Mt. Vernon. He is a member of the varsity football team at Centre and the College Choir. Miller is a 1978 graduate of Rockcastle County High School.

Shonna Jean Albright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everitt Albright was 6 years old, Saturday, Jan. 27. Twenty-five friends and relatives helped Shonna celebrate with a party at her home. A birthday cake decorated with a clown and ice cream were served. Shonna received many nice gifts.

UK's Nutrition Program Providing Real Help to Families Locally

About this time last year the Swannie Cummins family was having money problems. For one thing, Mr. Cummins did not think they were getting enough value for their food money. The cold weather was costing them in fuel bills. It was harder and harder to make Mr. Cummins' salary as a janitor stretch to provide for the family of eight.

"Most people are afraid to admit they have money problems," Mr. Cummins said, "but I was willing to get help and shiftily enough to learn new ways."

The help came from the Expanded Foods and Nutrition Education Program administered through the University of Kentucky and the Cooperative Extension Service. This program consists of home visits in which a trained worker teaches a family about nutrition, food preparation, and budget management. The program is in its tenth year in Kentucky and beginning its second in Rockcastle County.

The nutrition aide sent to the Cummins' home was Margaret Owens, who, along with Icie Poynter, are the Rockcastle EFNEP Assistances working with about 95 families.

Mrs. Owens and the Cummins family worked together at first, sometimes as often as four times a week. Together they planned menus, went to the grocery store, and practiced new recipes.

"I learned to shop comparatively," Mr. Cummins said. "Where you shop, catching things on sale, writing out your menu in advance—they really make a big difference in your food bills."

Last summer the family put out a vegetable garden and raised potatoes, cucumbers, tomatoes, green beans, cabbage and beets. Mr. Cummins and his wife, sometimes working until 3 a.m. together, canned over 300 jars of vegetables from the garden.

"The money we saved through the garden more than paid for our fuel bills this winter," Mr. Cummins said.

The Cummins, like other families Mrs. Owens works with, learn to shop for foods in the Basic Four groups: Milk, Bread, Meat, and Fruit and Vegetables and eat at least one serving of each every day. Although the families are getting more nutritious foods, they are paying less for their foods through shopping and preparation tricks taught by the nutrition aides.

Last week, Mrs. Owens visited the home of a mother with four teenage children. No money would come into the house for at least six days; and all that was in the woman's kitchen was some flour, frozen pot pies, and peanut butter. Together Mrs. Owens and the woman planned how to make what was on hand stretch six days, and before she left, Mrs. Owens showed the woman how to make biscuits and gravy.

At the home of a mother with young children, Mrs. Owens went over newspaper food ads and planned a week's menus with her—picking out the best buys in the paper and using advice from the Extension Service. The service says pork is a good buy for February, and sure enough, it was on sale at a local store.

"But you don't need meat every night," Mrs. Owens said. "Eggs and pinto beans can have the same protein as meat and cost less."

Then she gave the woman a cookbook of low-cost dishes prepared by the Cooperative Extension Service.

The EFNEP program is for all age groups, but is of particular benefit to pregnant women homemakers with young children, according to Cheryl Witt, County Extension Agent for Home Economics and supervisor of the program in Rockcastle County.

If a woman eats properly when she is pregnant," Mrs. Witt said, "she is more likely to have a healthy baby. Also, young children can learn good food habits from the beginning."

Mrs. Owens said that she really enjoyed her work, partly because she can see a change for the better in the way the families manage after taking the EFNEP

State Senate Removes Sales Tax From Utilities; Takes Other Action

The Senate today unanimously took action to remove the five percent sales and use tax from residential utilities bills.

The measure applies to water and fuel utilities.

Sen. Ed Ford (D-Cynthiana), who introduced the bill, said the action is the most immediate means of offering "some relief to citizens" in the face of rising utilities bills.

"The primary aim is that removal of sales taxes from utilities bills," Ford said.

"Now this will sound like a little thing," she said, "but one family had never had coleslaw. With the price of lettuce going up, they thought they would try it. We made some together, and then they went out and bought a grater to make their own. That sounds like a little thing, but believe me, it was really something. It showed that they were willing to try."

the sales tax will save the average consumer about $50 a year, Ford said.

Ford noted that Senate Bill (SB) 2, which becomes effective June 1 if it becomes law, will result in a "$37 million impact upon the state budget." He said he had been informed that funds are available to offset this deficit.

The measure applies to water utilities and all forms of household gas, including coal, natural gas, electricity, fuel oil, bottle gas, coke and wood.

Telephone and sewer utilities are not included in the exemption.

In other business, the Senate passed 35-1 a measure raising the dining fees allowance for jail prisoners from $3.75 to $6.75 per day. The measure also requires that the local government provide medical care for needy inmates of county jails. The determination of the medical need must be made by a licensed physician.

Sen. Gene Huff (R-London), who sponsored SB 5, said the measure is of primary importance to rural counties. The increase in the food allowance will help alleviate financial problems faced by jail facilities in many areas, Huff said.

The Senate also unanimously adopted Senate Resolution (SR) 13 introduced by Sen. Bert Ed Polittle (D-Harlan). The measure urges the federal Environmental Protection Agency to take action to protect the rights of Kentucky coal producers to sell their coal to utilities in Ohio.

Polittle said Ohio has sought relaxation of federal pollution restrictions so that Ohio's high-sulfur coal be used instead of Kentucky's low-sulfur coal.

His bill's expansion of Kentucky coal from use in Ohio would have a devastating effect upon the Kentucky coal industry.

Nutrition Aide Margaret Owens with her clients, Mr. and Mrs. Swannie Cummins and their son, Mike. Placed on the table in front of them are jars of green beans, tomatoes and cucumbers that the family canned themselves from their own garden.

ENERGY SUPPLY IN STATE IS GOOD THIS YEAR SO FAR

So far so good, is the assessment of Kentucky's energy supplies this winter by the state's commissioner of energy management.

Damon Harrison, who is also the state energy department's deputy secretary, said today that cold weather and periodic snows have not affected the availability of heating fuel for most Kentucky residents.

Harrison said that while flooding in early December slowed some deliveries and caused damage to several cities' energy systems, no outstanding problems have arisen since then.

No Sun Please--Just Clouds And Rain and Fog--On February 2

By Helen Price Stacy

The one day of the year that Kentuckians smile when storm clouds send rain on hills, knobs, bluegrass, lake country, mountains, the just and unjust, is Feb. 2. It's a good day in the Commonwealth if Groundhog Day dawns dreary and sunless and stays that way. It can rain, hail, sleet and snow and no one will murmur or complain.

As every one knows, Feb. 2 is a day that foretells six weeks of bad weather if the groundhog sees its shadow.

If the day is a sunny one, there are those who would be frustrated enough to say to a hunter, "Pick up your gun, whistle up your dog, go to the woods and get a groundhog -- Groundhog!"

And what to do with the creature one caught in the net? Many early Kentucky families used groundhog meat to fill in at the table when the country ham and home canned sausage ran low. Some oldtimers get homesick to feast on groundhog cooked the way they remembered as youngsters on the farm.

"Ma would use a tub of water to wash the animal in after Pa had taken the hide," explained one aged mountain man. "She washed and washed, then simmered it in a kettle of water, then put that water away and put in a clean water, added a dozen onions, and cooked it till tender. Grandma always used spicewood twigs instead of onions. It took away the gamey taste."

After cooking the meat, some cooks placed it in the oven to bake to a golden brown along with a pan of sweet potatoes to roast to a tawny yellow. A pone of cornbread or a pan of homemade biscuits, a bowl of gravy and a cup of coffee or glass of milk made the meal complete.

Farm boys made their first slingshots with a small square patch of groundhog hide. A length of the cured leather might have provided a belt or suspenders to hold up scratchy linsey-woolsey trousers of schoolboys. Other scraps might have been used for change purses for the family and pocketbooks for the women.

In earlier days, the cured skin of a groundhog was useful for powder pouches for the long hunters and frontier scouts. Often scraps were used to mend saddles, harnesses and the bellows in the Stephens of Frankfort. They are: Miss Mary B. Hamm, Mt. Vernon, County Heart Fund Chairman; Mrs. Oma Kay Owens, Brodhead, County Heart Fund Co-chairman; Cleston Saylor, Brodhead, County High School Chairman; Raymond Anderson, Brodhead, County Heart Fund Treasurer; Big Tawery, Jr., Mt. Vernon, Brodhead School Chairman; Jerry Mink, Livingston, Livingston School Chairman; Buford Parkers, Mt. Vernon, Mt. Vernon Elementary School Chairman and Tom Payne, Jr., Mt. Vernon, Roundstone School Chairman.

The month-long Heart Fund will be launched Thursday, Feb. 1 with Coffee Day. The house-to-house solicitation will be conducted on Heart Sunday, February 25.

Robert F. Stephens urged full support of the 1979 Appeal, noting that 425,000 Kentuckians suffer from heart disease and that 54 percent of all known causes of death in the Commonwealth are due to heart and blood vessel diseases.

He also announced that Mrs. Sam Norton, Mt. Vernon, will serve as the 1979 County Heart Fund Chairman for Rockcastle County. The total of $916,543.25 was debuted last year to the Heart Fund in Kentucky, Stephens said.

Then there were the musicians. An artisan skilled in hand-work could fashion a banjo using groundhog leather for the banjo head.

At one time, groundhogs not only helped feed a family and provide material for many uses around the home and farm but helped as the base for home remedies. For deep chest trouble, groundhog grease and goose oil were mixed, then rubbed on the chest and covered with a warm cloth. If a baby had the croup, groundhog grease was rubbed on the chest and covered with hot flannel cloths. For a sore that would not heal, groundhog grease was applied then sprinkled with sulfur.

Groundhog oil also has been touted in times past as a skin softener and wrinkle-eraser.

Of all the uses of this animal who makes a winter home in a burrow in the ground or under old buildings, the most appealing to farm youth is as a pet. A groundhog is lovable, gentle and loyal.

Most people would prefer that groundhogs stay in their home until early summer, late spring at the most. Then they can surface, be fed and petted till another winter. But, if the groundhog decides to come above ground on a sunny Feb. 2, that groundhog better look out!

Temporary Workers in Bureau Needed by U.S. Census Bureau To Help Prepare Address Lists For Use During 1980 Census

The U.S. Census Bureau has issued another call for Rockcastle County residents to apply for temporary jobs which are now open.

The work involves compiling lists of addresses in the county for use during the 1980 census.

Temporary census workers usually work three to four weeks each and will be paid on a per-address collected basis. For an eight-hour day, the average worker will earn $27 to $30 per day plus 17 cents per mile for any driving done in a private vehicle. Applicants for the jobs must be 18 years old or over, a U.S. citizen, and pass a written test.

The work involves driving or walking to compile lists of addresses of each dwelling unit in designated areas of the county. These address lists will play a vital role in taking the 1980 census. Then, a few weeks following the April 1 Census Day, census officials will use the address lists to determine which households have not returned their completed questionnaires. Census takers must then make personal visits to each non-responding household to collect the information required on the census form.

The 1979 address collection activity in the county is part of a Census Bureau program involving 35,000 temporary workers nationwide to compile lists containing approximately 30 million addresses. Another 50 million addresses have been purchased from commercial mailing list companies.

The Census Bureau is an equal opportunity employer.

County residents interested in applying for the temporary census jobs should contact your local employment agency.

House Plants

Be careful not to over-water or over-fertilize plants during the winter months. Light is not as intense, days are shorter and temperatures are lower; plants need less water and very little fertilizer at this time. Give as much natural light as possible.

Insects such as mites, aphids or white fly may become troublesome. Mites and aphids may be washed from the foliage in most cases. However, the plants may be sprayed with an insecticide. If you spray, use recommended materials and follow directions on the container. The plants should be sprayed in an area where damage to other things is not likely to occur (garage, outside on a warm day, etc.) Contact the County Extension for information on controlling insects.

Vocational School Welding Class Creates Sculptured Eagle

Flat steel-rolled out and shaped and welded together-became sculpture during an evening class at Harry Sparks Vocational School.

Joe Pack, left, and Charles McBrayer made the eagles that were judged to be the best in a class of welding students at the Sparks Vocational School.

Eagles made by a night class at Sparks Vocational School show sophisticated welding techniques. Though the students used the same blueprints, each is unique.

Each of the seventeen students in instructor Bill Case's welding class worked up to 60 hours to create the heavy metal statues. The blueprint used was that of an eagle perched on a branch, but each eagle made was unique, as each student interpreted the blueprints himself.

Making the eagle required a lot of patience and control, according to Robert Pack, whose eagle was judged one of the best in the class. The wings had four pieces each, and the branches were from pipes using two different types of welding techniques. The bird itself was from flat steel, shaped and feathered using arc welding and riffling. The sculptures weigh up to 60 pounds each.

"However, we don't just learn to make birds," Lloyd Cain, principal of Sparks School, said.

In fact, the students will have had instruction in all phases of welding when they complete the 10-month course in February, including arc, oxy-acetylene, tig and mig welding. The length of the course is 1920 clock hours and will train the students to entry level employment, Mr. Cain said.

He said that many of the students will be needing jobs, and should call the school at 256-4346, if you need to employ welders. The students are from Rockcastle, Laurel and Whitley counties and are looking for work within driving distance of where they live.

Inflation Fighting Ideas

Inflation is the number one domestic problem facing us as a nation and as an individual consumer. It requires each of us to make extra effort, just to stay even—just to keep up with where we are in recent years, prices for your basic necessities—food, housing, energy, and health care have led the inflationary trend. These four items account for at least 70% of the family budget for most Americans.

Here are some suggestions to help you stretch your dollars and help you cope with inflation.

Food—Extra, Extra, Read All About It. Before you go to the grocery store, take a few minutes to look in your newspaper to check for sales at neighborhood stores.

Remember though, not everything in an ad is on sale. You can save money by stocking up on sale items. A recent study has shown that generally there are fewer specials at the beginning of the month. It might be worthwhile to change your shopping habits accordingly. Also the prices of many farm products move up and down rapidly. Some of these price changes occur on a regular basis—fresh fruits and vegetables cost less in the summer. Others are the result of specific events like the frost in Brazil which caused coffee prices to go up so much. If you pay attention to these changes, you may be able to shift your purchases and save money. For example, all meat prices do not rise all together. Sometimes chicken may be the best meat bargain around; at other times it may be beef.

Energy—Don't Wait, Insulate! No matter how you heat or cool your home, adequate insulation can save you as much as 20 to 30 percent on your utility bill.

Find out if your home needs insulation. Your needs will depend on the climate in which you live and the amount of insulation, if any, you already have. For guidance, consult a reputable insulation dealer in your community or with your local building inspector, county agent or utility company. R-values or numbers are insulation efficiency ratings. As a rule, the higher the R-number, the more effective the insulating capability.

Find out about R-values before you buy your insulation materials. Then buy the thickness of insulation that will give you the R-value you should have.

You will find that R-values on insulation labels tell how much the products insulate. The R stands for resistance to winter heat loss or summer heat gain. But be aware that the relationship between cooling and energy use is less precise than that between heating and fuel consumption. But you should know that far more fuel is saved by the first inch of insulation than by subsequent inches.

Health—the Emergency Room is Just That. Hospital emergency rooms are and should be for mere emergencies. Do not hesitate to see them if a genuine medical emergency occurs. But, if it is possible to wait until tomorrow, and if a regular physician or clinic can be visited, you will usually save some money. Also, emergency room fees can vary from hospital to hospital. If you have a private care facilities in your area, call and Inquire about the basic costs so you can compare prices before you find yourself in a crisis situation. Housing—Can You Afford to Buy? For most people purchasing a home means that you will need a mortgage loan. Lenders will examine your financial condition to see if you represent a good risk. Many will have a general lending formula which will suggest that the cost of the house should be not more than two or two-and-a-half times your annual income. Others may suggest that total payments for all housing costs should not exceed one-fourth of your entire monthly income. Lenders will be happy to explain their standards and to detail the required qualifications for a loan.

connected with mobile homes and recreational vehicles. Obviously, the end result would not be less government.

An analysis of the three week old 1979 Special Session would be the commonwealth cannot afford to be loose with its finances, the state government needs to cut its frills and become more responsible to the people and most certainly state government does not need to increase the bureaucracy.

helped Rockcastle County in many ways, Mr. James said.

The Council voted to write letters to United States senators and congressman asking them to support ARC.

Mr. James gave a report about the Industrial Park, saying that several companies have contacted him and the Kentucky Highlands Association about building factories.

Mr. Stewart gave a report about the progress on an addition to the Rockcastle County Hospital (see story, front page).

Julie Harris said that the All-Kentucky City presentation about Mt. Vernon is complete, and will be given before judges in March. Mt. Vernon is trying to win the award for the third straight year, having lost last year by one point. Mrs. Harris said the presentation, which includes slides and information about Mt. Vernon, will be given in front of local clubs also.

At the close of the meeting, Mr. Craig outlined how many individuals had worked for many years to secure industry for Rockcastle County, mentioning by name Mr. Stewart, Clay Colson, Lee Durham, Roy Brown and others.

At the left of the picture you can see a retained wall that looks like a pile of cardboard boxes. The land from the top of that wall to the wall to the right will be filled in to make a level entrance for ambulances for the new addition at the Rockcastle Co. Hospital.
