HEART FUND GIRL
(Cont'd from front)
Four years to the day of her first operation, she went in for a second similar surgery.

She started school at Brodhead last year, and the other children, just little kindergarteners themselves, seemed to know she was sick and looked out for her. She sits a wheelchair at school but sometimes still over exerts herself trying to keep up with the others. Peggy is in Mrs. Baker's Special Education class, doing first grade work.

Because of her stroke, Peggy was slow to learn to talk and walk, but she is quick about many things.

"She amazes us sometimes at how shrewd she can be," Bigge Towery, principal of Brodhead School, said. "Some of the things she says and does are quite advanced. When you ask about the operations, Peggy will matter-of-factly lift up her dress and show you the two scars on her chest that she calls "The little snakes." But there is something soulful when she looks back for your reaction, although she keeps talking and smiling, like she can size you up the way a much older person can.

Mrs. and Mrs. Benge do not know if Peggy will need more operations in the future. They are hoping that research will solve Peggy's problem by developing an artificial heart or new surgical techniques. Most children with Peggy's problem, called "Tri-cuspid Atresia," do not live to be adults.

Peggy has beaten the odds for so long, however, no one around here is without hope. In fact, the worst thing you can say is "poor little Peggy."

"No, it's not poor little Peggy," Mrs. Benge will remind you of her daughter. "It's just plain Peggy. She's just herself."

"MARKERS"

Kentucky's highways," Wells said.

Guide to Kentucky Historical Highway Markers" is available to members of the society for $1.50 and to non-members for $2. The supplement may be purchased by member for $2 and by non-members for $2.25. Copies may be ordered by writing to Dianne Wells, Kentucky Historical Society, Box H, Frankfort, Kentucky, 40601.

"CITY COUNCIL"
"It is very much like hunting conditions there," Mr. Bowman said. "We feel that Rockcastle is one of the few counties in Kentucky where sportsmen have no place to hunt and trap and meet and tell all their hunting stories and we'd like to start something like that here."

Both groups would be bidding competitively against anyone else interested in the properties, Mayor Mullins said. "We are pleased to have the Archery Club and CAP's interest in these areas," he said. "And we hope that the Rockcastle County Recreation Council and the Jaycees will continue with their plan for a park at Lake Linville.

Rockets Get Wins Over Cumberland and Jackson County

Walter Browning and Frank Phillips try for a rebound against Cumberland last Wednesday night in a game the Rockets won 65-48. Browning had 18 points in the game.

Jeff Hammonds, No. 15, and Eddie Thompson, No. 44, are shown in the above photo passing the ball in the Cumberland game. Hammonds and Thompson both had good nights, scoring 17 and 9 points, respectively in the Rockets win.

By: Rick Anderkin

The Rockcastle Rockets won both their ballgames this week, defeating Cumberland on Wednesday night, 65-48 and Jackson County at McKee Friday night, 48-47.

Eddie Thompson, one of the Rockets senior starting forwards, was their biggest weapon for the wins. Thompson scored 17 points Wednesday night and 16 in Friday's game. Thompson was helped greatly by the other senior starting forward, Steve Center, who scored 17 points against Cumberland and 15 at Jackson County.

The Rockets ran away with the Cumberland game and then, to make sure of victory, held the ball the last four minutes of the contest. Others scoring in the game were: Walter Browning, 14; Jeff Hammonds, 9; David Riddle, 8 and Jack Farthing and Matt Poynter, 2 each.

The Rockets then avenged an earlier loss to Jackson County Friday night when they came away with a one-point decision at Jackson County. The lead was swapped back and forth with Rockcastle eventually coming out on top.

Scoring in that game besides Thompson and Center were: Riddle with 8; Hammonds got 4; Farthing and Poynter, 2 each and David Mullins and Browning, 1 each.

Rockcastle will end their regular season this Friday by hosting Williamsburg and will also hold their homecoming festivities.

District play will get underway next Tuesday night when Rockcastle and Oneida girls play at 6:30 p.m., followed by the boys game 25 minutes after the end of the girls game.

Oneida and Rockcastle's girls teams will kick-off play in the 49th

Jack Farthing, No. 22, scored his only two points of the Cumberland game on this lay-up Wednesday night when the Rockets came out on top. Friday night, the Rockets traveled to Jackson County and came away with a one-point win.

ship of the General Assembly, you'll notice they are all democrats, primarily did three things. One, the passage of minimal tax cuts; two, it expanded the state's bureaucracy; and three, it spent an additional $14 million. It is disheartening in final analysis, when you realize that in addition to the expansion of state government, the legislature permitted the expenditure of $14 million over and above the $7.5 billion biennial budget, which will force the Commonwealth to spend at a deficit.

Mrs. Owens' fifth grade class at Brodhead School celebrated Valentine's Day with a party last Wednesday afternoon. It was also a celebration of returning to school, after several more "snow days." School's opening was short-lived, however. On Monday it was closed again after a six-inch snowfall over the weekend.

Also, it is important to note that the state Constitution requires that the budget must be balanced, but currently the present administration is manhandling the bureaucracy in order to delay this balancing. Yes, it is disheartening that all of this was done in the name of democrat party politics, and under the guise of a tax-cutting session. Instead of a session for the people, it was an extraordinary session for state government and democrat gubernatorial candidates.

Above is the architect's sketch of a comprehensive plan for the Broadhead Fairgrounds, now owned by the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court. Housing for the elderly and low-income families is proposed (at bottom of map), and these would be built by private developers. A senior citizen's center near the housing project has been funded and will be built this summer. The old skating rink is to be torn down and replaced by a park (left side) with a baseball field, tennis court and horseshoe pit and other facilities. Other existing buildings (shown shaded) will remain, except for the grandstand and at the left of the Show Ring. It will be rebuilt with exhibit halls and bleachers. The plan also calls for walkways, landscaping and parking areas. The Fiscal Court has about $168,000 left from a federal grant to use toward development of the project this year.

CAP and Archery Club May Share Linville

Both the Christian Appalachian Project and the Rockcastle County Archery Club may come to an agreement with the Mt. Vernon City Council about using city property at Lake Linville for recreational purposes. The Council voted at a special meeting Saturday to advertise for bids on the property.

James Bowman, president of the Archery Club, said that his group would rent the 7 or 8 acre tract across from the Leo Hunt residence on old Lake Linville to use for tournaments and other club events. He said they would want the property on a long-term, perhaps 25 year, lease.

Father Beiting, representing the Christian Appalachian Project, a non-profit charitable organization, said his group was interested in renting the boat dock property near Renfro Valley on a 3-year basis. He asked many questions of Mayor Roland Mullins about the obligations of the lessor or lessee.

"Our responsibility is to provide service to the community," Father Beiting said. "We naturally have many ideas to enhance it, but we would never do anything unless it was brought to you first because we think you know more about this community and its needs than we do."

He said his group would maintain "24 hour presence" at the dock, and allow the public to boat, fish, and so forth, according to the rules established by the City Council.

CAP is currently building a Family Life Center at the former Seelye View Motel near Renfro

Valley. Director Lee Spanjers said the center would provide counseling services, marriage retreats and other services, and that there is a possibility that the boat dock may sometimes be used in connection with the Center's services.

The Archery club originally considered renting the boat dock, Mr. Bowman said, but after a meeting last week the members decided to ask for the other tract.

Mt. Vernon's City Council told people who live on Poplar Street that their road would be gravelled as soon as possible.

George Phillips, representing the group who live in the area, told the Council at its special meeting Saturday, that the road was impassable, and that several drivers had damaged their vehicles when they tried to drive on it.

Comprehensive Care Workshops

Cumberland River Comprehensive Care Center in Mt. Vernon will host a program on Rape Prevention, Feb. 27, 1979 at 7:30 on the second floor of the County courthouse. Ms. Vickie Combs of the Lexington Rape Crisis Center will conduct the program. The public is urged to attend.

If you would like to learn more about the growing problem of teenage pregnancy, and how to cope with the problem, Cumberland River Comprehensive Care Center will be having a workshop on Teenage Pregnancy March 2, 1979 at 1:00 p.m. at the Holiday Inn in Corbin.

For more information, call 256-2129.

Basketball Games

Start Next Week at High School

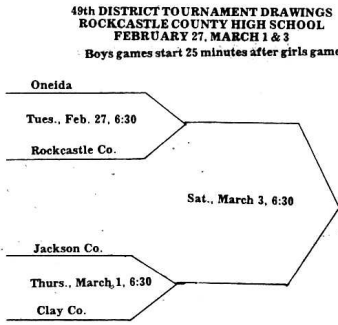

The 49th District Basketball Tournament will be held at the Rockcastle County High School on Tuesday, Feb. 27, Thursday, March 1 and the finals on Saturday, March 3. (Seepairing elsewhere in this week's Signal.)

The girls' games will start at 6:30 p.m. each night. The boys' games will begin 25 minutes after the finish of the girls game.

The doors will open at 5:45 and admission will be $1.50 per person. There will be no advance ticket sales. Doors in front of the building and the ones near the football field will be open for the convenience of fans.

The tournament committee voted to allow each school 45 passes for teams and coaches. Regular season passes or other passes will not be honored during the tournament. The committee also agreed to allow bands, but members must pay to get in. Bands are not allowed to play during progress of game.

The area between the vocational school and high school will be reserved for team, band, and pep buses. Parking attendants will direct others to parking spaces.

"You can also buy typewriters and cash registers or whatever your office needs in the way of equipment," he said. Mr. Harmon will also handle office furniture.

Among the supplies available are roll paper for cash registers, adding machines and other equipment, ribbons for all kinds of machines, pens and pencils as well as paper and so forth. Mr. Harmon also sells school supplies.

Hours for the new store are 8 to 5, six days a week.

County's Heart Fund Girl Shows Courage After Years of Surgery and Trauma

By Jane Kuntz

Peggy Drummond, Rockcastle County's Heart Fund Girl, is a fighter. Although she is only 8 years old, she has been to the hospital, and had more surgery than most grown-ups, but her attitude is "I can beat this," rather than, "Why me, when the other kids are okay?"

Peggy was born with a defective heart, but the problem was not diagnosed until she was six months old and went for babyhood vaccinations. A doctor noticed her fingernails looked bluish and puffy, and suggested they take her to the University of Kentucky for an examination.

She had seemed healthy, except she slept propped up because she breathed easier that way. Her parents thought that might be adenoids, but they learned that the breathing difficulty was caused by a heart that did not form properly before birth. The chamber that pumps blood to the lungs had not developed.

A few weeks before Peggy's second birthday, she suffered a stroke.

"She woke up and seemed to be falling to the left all day," her mother said. "She wasn't using her right hand anymore."

The baby was partly paralyzed for 24 hours, as doctors used medication to thin her blood. The next day some movement in her right side returned, but the stroke weakened her right leg permanently so that she now walks with a brace.

The first surgery was March 13, 1973—an eight-hour operation to insert a "shunt" into one heart vessel so that the blood could flow more easily to the lungs. A few days later, Peggy's chest filled with fluid and she could not breathe. She amazed the doctors by "fighting with the strength of a five-year-old."

Peggy has been in and out of the hospital with pneumonia, bronchitis and other infections, and she has had extensive dental work with caps on every tooth.

Livingston House Repairs

The city of Livingston Monday accepted a bid from Larry Brook of London to rehabilitate housing. The house in question will get insulation, storm windows, roof and work on its porch, at a cost of about $5,000, according to Bertie Rice, Mayor.

Mrs. Rice said this was the second house in Livingston to be rehabilitated using a grant from the federal government. Two or possibly three more houses will also be repaired, she said.

State Investigating Local Trash Dumps

State and local health officials are currently making a survey of dumps in Rockcastle County. According to Steve Midkiff, county health environmentalist, he said the owners of several dumps have been contacted and have agreed to clean and otherwise raise the standards of their operations.

Working with Mr. Midkiff are Jim Denton and Earl Myers of the state Division of Hazardous Materials and Waste Management.

"Mr. Midkiff said that some county roads may be cleared of trash this spring."

Litter Cases

Forty-one cases of littering are still pending in court, Steve Midkiff, environmentalist with the Rockcastle County Health Department said today. Two cases have been dismissed, but the rest are pending further investigation.

Warrants for the people accused of littering were served last fall, he said, but the cases were delayed in court because the county was without a District Court judge for almost six weeks.

Peggy Drummond, Rockcastle County's Heart Fund Girl, has been through two major operations and many stays at the hospital. Heart Fund Sunday is February 28.

Markers Commemorate Pvt. Smith and Boone Way

Rockcastle County has received two new markers from the Kentucky Historical Society to commemorate Army Pvt. David M. Smith and Boone Way, now US 25.

Marker No. 1643 honors David M. Smith of Livingston, Rockcastle County, who served as a gunner in the Korean conflict. On Sept. 1, 1950, Smith and the rest of the mortar section were encircled by the enemy in Yongsan, Korea. He saw a grenade thrown near him and threw himself on it to smother the explosion. This display of valor cost Smith his life, but he saved the lives of five other men. He was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor posthumously. The marker will be located at the Livingston Pentecostal Church.

Marker No. 1643 designates a 96-mile stretch of road called Boone Way, which runs from Crab Orchard to Cumberland Gap. Col. James Maret, who established the first newspaper and telephone exchange in the county, was responsible for the cutting of the roadbed and for its first paving. The highway, no US 25, was in use by 1918.

Maret served as executive secretary of Kentucky's Good Roads Association, and in 1929 published a routing guide, listing over 1200 points in the United States and Canada. Marker No. 1644 is located in the courthouse yard in Mt. Vernon.

Rockcastle County now has seven historical highway markers and the state has more than 1,350, according to Dianne Wells, Chairwoman of the markers program. For 1978-79 the society has budgeted funds to erect 35 new markers and replace posts as needed.

The society makes available a guide which contains numbers that correspond to those on the markers, along with descriptions and locations. "It is a kind of history book for all family members to enjoy while riding on" (Cont'd to p. 13)

Legislative Report

By Harold DeMarcus

After five weeks of work in the 1979 Extra-ordinary Session and its twenty-eight item call, Kentucky's General Assembly adjourned sine die on Saturday, January 11th. And as you would expect the results are good and

H. Randall Adams Named Co. Chairman for Easter Seals

H. Randall Adams, of Mt.
 Vernon, has been named chairman of the 1979 Easter Seal campaign for crippled children in Rockcastle County. He was Easter Seal chairman for Rockcastle in the 1978 campaign.

The announcement was made by Smith D. Broadbent, Jr., Cadiz, state campaign chairman. The annual appeal will be conducted from March 1 through April 15,

but more than anything else
 this special session provided a ring for democrat candidates to box in, incidentally, the taxpayers of this state funded the fight.

The results of the session, in legislative terms, take the form of the twenty-one bills that passed, although the governor can still veto any of these bills before January 22 of this year.

The General Assembly passed a bill that will remove the 5% sales tax from residential utility bills, a measure supported by the House Republican Caucus since 1974.
 However, legislative bills will continue to be taxed, and the Committee system refused to address itself to any reform of the automatic fuel adjustment charge.

The legislature passed a bill that puts a 4% rate ceiling on local property taxing districts. But the Republican income tax reducing bills were never passed in committee. One democrat legislator went so far as to call a reduction of income taxes a fraud on the people.

Thanks to senators like Walter Baker of Glasgow, the General Assembly will have more control over the appropriation of capital construction funds. But on the last day of the session, an amendment that would have balanced the budget was defeated, which will force the Commonwealth into deficit spending.

A bill passed that will reduce thirty-two separate traffic fines by five dollars and another bill passed that will reduce court costs anywhere from $2.50 to $12.50 depending on the offense. As the Republican Floor Leader, I introduced a bill to remove $15 from the traffic fines.

The Kentucky Horse Park was taken out of the state parks system and placed under a private board.
 This in effect creates a new bureaucracy that will spend a substantial amount of your tax dollars in order to administer the Easter Sunday.

Contributions to the annual appeal will be used by the Kentucky Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults to provide rehabilitation services for physically handicapped Kentuckians.

Easter Seal centers operated by the society include Cardinal
 Hill Hospital, Lexington; West
 Kentucky Easter Seal Center, Pa-
 dueah; Northern Kentucky Easter Seal Center, Covington; the Easter
 Seal Hearing and Speech Center,
 Louisville; Geiger Easter Seal
 Center, Ashland, and Camp Kysso and Camp Green Shores, at Carrollton and McDaniels, respectively.

According to Broadbent, the Kentucky Society also supports the National Easter Seal Research Foundation. More than 385 grants have been made by the foundation for research investigating the causes and means of preventing crippling and for improving rehabilitation techniques.

"Handicapped children are the reason for Easter Seals," Broadbent said. "We are hopeful that they will prompt generous giving for crippled children in keeping with the Easter tradi-

(Cont. to 14)

Horse Park.
 The General Assembly passed
 a bill that will increase the state fee paid to county jailers for feeding prisoners by one dollar, this measure is $3.25 less than the bill I introduced. But the legislature also passed a bill which the state was given authority to inspect mobile homes and recreational vehicles. This bill will enable state bureaucracy to spend $100,000 of federal tax dollars which are, of course, your tax dollars too.
 A usury bill was approved to allow Kentucky banks to charge the same interest rates as other states on loans of $15,000 or less.

This bill will allow Kentucky citizens to more easily acquire small loans. Also, small coal mine operators will be given technical assistance in complying with federal strip mine regulations. But the session as a whole provided for $91 million in new programs and tax cuts that will be funded by a revised budget that combines slight cuts in state agency programs with surpluses. This will leave a very small amount of state funds for emergency purposes.

The 1979 special session which was called by Lt. Governor and controlled by the governor and his allies in the majority party leadership.

SPAKING WHERE
THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY AUSTIN MOBLEY, MINISTER

By Austin Mobley, Minister
 Providence Church of Christ

The Church - The Body

A short time ago on television, there was an attorney who was representing a group opposed to posting the Ten Commandments in the schools. Among other things, he argued that there are so many forms and translations of this document that one could not possibly come up with a version that would please everyone. (The Ten Commandments themselves even in their original form written by the finger of God, did not please everybody but that didn't prevent writing them.) That, of course, is not the issue under consideration. I'm sure the attorney knows that all versions of the Ten Commandments, recognized by Hebrew scholars as authentic translation, teach the same principles. For example, "Thou shalt not bear false witness" (KJV) means "do not lie" in all versions. "Thou shalt not commit adultery" means "illicit sex is forbidden" regardless of which version one reads. The issue is not, what version should be used, but rather, should these principles of morality be posted in school buildings. Obviously, the man's objective was to hide the real issue in a cloud of rhetoric, hopefully causing the people to believe there are so many unsolvable problems surrounding it that they might as well forget it!

It is not my purpose to argue the advisability (or lack of it) of posting the Ten Commandments in schools. They are available in all versions of the Bible to which school children have easy access. However, as I listened to this man speak, I wondered why people would go to such lengths to discredit the word of God and it occurred to me (certainly not for the first-time) that just such rhetorical sophistry is nearly always used by opponents of scriptural truth. They cloud the issues to the extent that those listening to them are thoroughly confused. Consequently, they believe the Bible is a mysterious book that cannot be understood and they stop trying! Not being able to "see the forest for the trees," they blindly follow the deadly ways of proponents of false doctrines. The Bible is twisted, mishandled, words and phrases are taken out of their context, and every other perfersion devised by Satan is used to lead folks away from true Bible teaching. There are false doctrines born and propagated and poor followers suffer for it right along with their leaders.

Why should this be? Why not let the Bible speak for itself. God did not cause a book to be written in such a way that those to whom it was written could not understand it. Paul spoke and wrote with "great plainness of speech" as did the other inspired writers. We can and must understand it.

I am saddened by all the religious ignorance, confusion and division, much of which is caused by men who "cloud the issue." We have long since learned to disregard the rhetoric of political leaders which "holds no water," will never learn that there are religious leaders who are using the same bucket?

"On The Strip In Berea"

Picture
 Your Town
 Without Electricity

Imagine no Saturday night at the movies... or dining out at your favorite restaurant... No basketball games after sunset... or routine television programs after supper.

Worse still... imagine your home without the necessities you've come to depend on. What would you do, for example, without your clothes dryer, electric range or refrigerator?

In fact, picture your town without any electricity at all. A pretty dim view, isn't it?

Since we all have abundant electricity now, it's easy to take energy for granted... even waste it if we aren't careful.

But, we can no longer afford that waste. By 1988, we'll need 40 percent more electricity than today, just to supply the energy needs for all the new people and their jobs.

New power plants - both coal and nuclear - are needed and must be started soon to be ready in time.

Next time you flick on a light switch... just imagine what your town would be like without electricity.

Roy Brown, right, of this county and Mrs. Jean Murphy of Whitley County represented the Wilderness Trail Area at the annual meeting of the State Extension Advisory Council February 6 - 8 in Lexington. [See story elsewhere on this page].

Local Needs Reflected at State Extension Advisory Council Meeting

The needs and concerns of the people in Rockcastle County were reflected in recommendations of the State Extension Advisory Council during its annual meeting in Lexington, February 6-8.

The annual meeting summed up a year's grassroots efforts in helping to develop statewide educational programs conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service for the people of Kentucky.

Each of the 14 Extension geographical areas in the state are represented by two members of the State Advisory Council. The Wilderness Trail Area, which includes Rockcastle County, was represented at the annual meeting this year by Roy Brown, Rockcastle County, and Mrs. Jean Murphy, Whitley County.

Members of the State Extension Advisory Council serve for a 2-year term on a rotational basis.

One of the two members from each area is replaced each year. Recommendations of the 28-member Council will be used by Extension administrators in the UK College of Agriculture to develop educational programs that continue to serve the needs and concerns of people throughout the state. Recommendations cover ongoing programs, expanded programs and new programs in Agriculture, Home Economics, 4-H, and Community Development.

The grassroots process for developing Extension education programs in Kentucky starts at the county level, according to H. Lee Durham, County Extension agent for agriculture.

"Our county and every other county in the state has an Extension Advisory Council," Durham says. Members of the county council elect four of their members to represent the county on their Area Extension Advisory Council. Two members from each area serve on the State Council.

The state group, which met in Lexington, counsels with the Cooperative Extension Service's Director, Associate Director and their designated administrative and program staff. The Council serves in an advisory capacity on statewide aspects of the Extension program development, implementation, and evaluation, and on changes in organization, policies and procedures.

To coordinate total efforts, the Council invited the presidents of the following organizations to the annual meeting: Kentucky Extension Homemakers Association,

Blue Cross Blue Shield Delta Dental of Kentucky

Give 'em a shot in the arm.

Children can still get such serious preventable childhood diseases as polio, measles, whooping cough, lockjaw and mumps. Yet, many children have not been getting the shots they need to be protected from them.

What about your children? Have they had all their shots? If not, or if you're not sure, check with your doctor. Letting your kids go unprotected is an unnecessary risk of their health.

At Blue Cross and Blue Shield and Delta Dental of Kentucky, we're concerned about rising health care costs. That's why we're working with consumers, doctors and hospitals to find ways to hold these costs down.

You can help by taking care of yourself. Staying healthy is the best kind of health care—and the least expensive. Write us for information on enrolling in quality health care prepayment plans. For a free booklet on childhood (limit one), write for "Childhood Booklet" at the following address: Blue Cross and Blue Shield and Delta Dental of Kentucky, 9901 Linn Station Rd., Louisville, KY 40223.

We want you to stay healthy.
